

Celestial Sea city center, inside a private room of a certain café.

"That's the situation, I'm not your wife." Tang Yao sipped her coffee and said calmly.

Just now, Tang Yao had already explained everything, clarifying that she went to the restaurant to meet Ye Huan on behalf of Liu Tianyun.

This made Huan very angry, his teeth gnashing.

Such a beautiful wife is suddenly gone? What a loss!

"Liu Tianyun, right? You're my wife?" Ye Huan sat cross-legged, looking at Liu Tianyun, his tone not so nice.

Though his tone was unfriendly, Huan was very surprised inside.

The wife that the dog master found for him was astonishingly beautiful, comparable to the princesses of Western countries, maybe even better.

The only drawback was, too cold!

Way too cold!

Liu Tianyun had a demeanor that kept people at a distance, her features as if sculpted by the gods, the proportions perfect, and the beauty mole at the corner of her eye added the perfect touch, bringing life to her cold oval face.

She wore a white suit, with a Givenchy women's shirt worth tens of thousands underneath, nicely showcasing her impressive figure.

"Wife, I'm talking to you." Seeing Liu Tianyun silent, Ye Huan urged again.

Liu Tianyun raised her elegant brows and said, "Mind your words, we're not married yet."

"That's just perfect, let's discuss perhaps you should dissolve the engagement?" Ye Huan winked and said.

Liu Tianyun was a bit dazed: "Why?"

She was very surprised, isn't this man supposed to be a lecherous wolf? Seeing her beauty, shouldn't he be relentlessly pursuing her?

The next second, she was annoyed.

"Why, you ask? You keep that stern face all day, those who don't know would think I owe you two hundred bucks, I guess you'll hit menopause at thirty, what a loss for me."

As soon as he finished speaking, the atmosphere plummeted to freezing point.

"Bang!"

Liu Tianyun's face darkened, and she slammed the table standing up.

Ye Huan raised his eyebrows slightly, his swift hand moved as he got up, his right hand suddenly reaching out.

"What are you doing!" Liu Tianyun's face changed, and she defensively placed her hands in front.

But she was a step too slow, the button from the front of her shirt had already been snatched by Ye Huan.

Ye Huan placed the button at his nose, sniffed heavily, and a smirk appeared on his lips: "Smells great~"

"Pervert!" On the side, Tang Yao covered her face in embarrassment, not daring to look anymore.

Liu Tianyun clenched her fists tightly, her gaze as sharp as a knife.

If looks could kill, Huan would be dead a hundred times over.

However, her right hand still covered her chest, otherwise, a sight would be leaked.

"ZHT-7, the latest bugging device developed under the guidance of the US military, compact and portable, capable of transmitting sound sources clearly to distances of up to 1000 kilometers."

Ye Huan said flatly, giving a light pinch.

"Snap."

The button shattered, revealing a headset-like bugging device.

"A bug?" The two women were dumbfounded.

Ye Huan tossed the bug into Liu Tianyun's coffee, producing a sizzling sound:
"Just now, I said and did those things to create confusion, sorry."

"A bug? Why is there a bug in my button?" Liu Tianyun's elegant eyebrows furrowed deeply, her face looking extremely displeased.

The bug in the button must have been able to transmit everything she said. In that case, all the commercial secrets of Tianyun International would have been exposed?

"I know why." Ye Huan opened his mouth to say.

"Let's hear it."

"It's definitely because you keep such a stern face all the time, people think you owe them money, and this is their revenge for not wanting to pay you back."

Liu Tianyun's elegant eyebrows instantly shot up.

"Can't even joke around? How boring!" Ye Huan pouted, "The person who managed to swap the button with a bug with your original button surely knows you, possibly someone close. As for why you're being monitored... I really can't guess, but it's definitely not a good thing."

Liu Tianyun nodded solemnly, acknowledging Ye Huan's statement.

But all her clothes were washed by herself, she never had anyone help. Also, because of the allure of the shadows lately, she's been busy at work, always between the company and home, never going to other places.

There was no trace of anyone at home.

Could it be a company issue?

Liu Tianyun's face slightly tensed.

"President, you still have business to tend to today, don't forget." Tang Yao whispered in her ear.

"Okay."

Liu Tianyun nodded, no longer thinking about the surveillance issue.

The immediate priority was to resolve this arranged marriage issue. She opened her bag, took out a document, and a black pen, and placed them on the table.

"Sign it."

"What is it." Ye Huan looked confused, picked up the document, and his face immediately darkened.

"Temporary marriage contract."

"The parties will start from the marriage date and officially divorce in two years."

"During the marriage, neither party shall have actual relations, and the male party is prohibited from using any means to force the female party, otherwise, the female party has the right to pursue criminal responsibility."

"The male party is obligated to accompany the female party to meet the parents and act courteously, appearing loving and caring."

"As compensation, the female party will pay the male party one hundred million Huaxia Coins after the divorce."

Ye Huan's mouth twitched, this woman was really clever. Not wanting to get married, she crafted a temporary marriage agreement to make a divorce in two years seem reasonable, with countless excuses.

Like the saying goes, to deal with life, sometimes you have to wear green on your head...

"If you don't see any issue, then sign it." Liu Tianyun said coolly.

Ye Huan picked up the pen and swiftly signed his name on it.

Liu Tianyun showed a satisfied expression, folded the contract, and put it back in her bag, saying: "One more condition, you need to live with me for these two years just in case my family suddenly visits."

"No problem, suits me perfectly, after all, living together allows me to conquer you better."

Liu Tianyun felt a jolt in her heart: "What do you mean."

"President Liu, why do you think I signed?"

"For that hundred million Huaxia Coin? Let me tell you first, my two years worth way more than that amount."

"I think it would be interesting to spend two years conquering this beautiful ice mountain of yours, much more enjoyable than that hundred million."

Ye Huan grinned with his lips curling up, smiling as he spoke.

The entire private room instantly fell silent.

Even a drop of water hitting the ground could probably be heard clearly.

Conquer her?

Liu Tianyun turned frosty-faced, slamming the table and leaning forward, her eyes staring directly at Ye Huan: "I must say, you have a pretty dream!"

"I believe my dream is very beautiful, but reality won't be too harsh."

Ye Huan maintained a smiling face while meeting her gaze, sipping his coffee from time to time.

Tang Yao shivered, realizing that this couldn't go on, hurriedly trying to mediate: "President... President, should we... should we head back, there's still work to handle."

Liu Tianyun ignored Tang Yao and continued, "Many have tried to conquer me, they were all better than you, had better backgrounds, yet have you seen anyone succeed?"

"To tell you the truth, in my eyes, those people are just rotten fish and shrimps." Ye Huan shrugged, "Besides, I like challenging difficult things."

The moment he dropped his words...

Liu Tianyun laughed unusually.

A few seconds later, she stopped laughing and picked up her bag before turning to leave.

"You really did it again, angered the president!" Tang Yao gritted her teeth, took out a slip of paper and a key, handed them to Ye Huan, "This is where the president lives, don't go there tonight, the president is in a bad mood. Tomorrow's the weekend, no work, you can go by yourself then."

Ye Huan took the slip, suddenly grabbed Tang Yao's hand, smilingly saying: "Little bunny, why don't you marry me, I'll steal Liu Tianyun's money to take care of you."

"No way!"

Tang Yao, filled with shame and anger, "If you keep saying stuff like that, you'll be cleaning toilets!"

Ye Huan's lips curled up.

"Little bunny, you smell so nice."