

Last Days 137

Chapter 137 Request

"Brother?" Sean saw Samuel fell into deep thought while staring at the magic scroll in his hand and called out.

"Yes?" Samuel raised his head and looked at Sean. He sighed and said, "I'll ask more from her later and exchange with some things that she might need."

If the world's order hadn't partially collapsed like this, Samuel could just use some money to buy the talisman from Riya. But now that money was almost completely worthless, there was no way Riya would accept money as payment.

He could only think of other things that they could trade with her.

"Ok." Sean smiled but didn't pester his older brother. He knew that this since his older brother had promised, he would fulfill it. But it might not be that easy to obtain this magic scroll.

He sat down and silently meditated not far from his sister.

With this cold talisman, he felt that he was able to calm down and no longer so bothered with the hot temperature outside.

It was really comfortable.

When Riya finally came out, Mr. Jones and Mrs. Jones had returned from outside. It seemed that Mrs. Taylor was satisfied with the water situation while Mr. Jones looked indifferent.

Riya was not sure what to make from his expression and chose not to think too much.

"Mel is meditating?" Riya looked at Amelia who was sitting and then silently feel the fluctuation of mana in this place. Her expression turned strange as she looked at Amelia helplessly.

How did she fall asleep when she was meditating?

"She's sleeping again." Sean shrugged but didn't mean to wake Amelia up. Because when Amelia woke up, she had to return this cold talisman to the other party.

Isn't it a loss for him?

Sean chose to keep the cold talisman for his own use for the time being.

It was very comfortable...

Riya's lips twitched when she saw the cold talisman on Sean's hand and guessed why he didn't want to wake Amelia up. She had only made one cold talisman and gave it to Amelia.

"Riya?" Samuel came back and beckoned for her to come with him to the study room. "I have a request."

Request?

Riya looked at Samuel and then said, "Please say, Senior Samuel."

"Is it possible to trade the cold talisman with the base?" Samuel asked slowly. "I can provide you with materials you want or with contribution points if you prefer that way."

More contribution points?

Riya's lips twitched when she thought of the large number of contribution points under her name that she might not be able to use up. She had almost everything in her world, but if there were anything that she wanted...

"Is it possible to trade for some jade?" Riya asked.

"Jade?" Samuel arched his eyebrows and then nodded. "There are a lot of jade and we can trade it with you. Do you want the processed jade or the unprocessed ones?"

Carson Family had a lot of jade in their possession because of their side business. Their own family also had quite a lot of them and it was all piled up. After the earthquake, no one cared for those things anymore.

"The unprocessed ones would be better," Riya replied. If the jade had been cut and processed, she would have to redesign the runes' structure so that it would not destroy the existing shape. For Riya, it was too troublesome.

If she were to make the shape herself with the formation, it would be better.

"Alright, how's the ratio?" Samuel asked.

"How much do you think will be worth it, Senior Samuel?" Riya asked the question back. She was not entirely sure about the suitable price to buy the jade and would rather let this matter be handled by Samuel.

Rank 1 magic beast' blood didn't worth that much and Riya have several buckets in her world. Even though she didn't collect all the blood from the rank 1 magic beasts, she still kept quite a lot of them. The rest were rank 2 and rank 3 magic beasts' blood, which she kept for herself.

Making cold talisman was extremely easy and there was no problem for her to make hundreds of them in just a few hours. After that, she had to stop because her mana was exhausted.

"How hard is it to make the talisman for you?" Samuel asked back.

"Not that hard but I don't have that many paper and beast blood with me," Riya replied and then thought about it. "Do you have rank 1 magic beasts' blood? It's better to use beast blood when making the talisman or too much mana would be wasted and the talisman's effective time would be greatly reduced."

Without the special talisman paper from that world, only by using the magic beasts' blood would it be possible to reduce the consumption.

"We'll provide the materials," Samuel replied. "Could unranked magic beasts' blood be used?"

There were a stack of unranked magic beasts out there. While using rank 1 magic beast's blood might be more effective, but there were not many rank 1 magic beasts around them. It would take some time to hunt these magic beasts.

As for paper... there were more than enough around here.

If it was not enough, he could ask for them to drag the machine from the factory and then cut down some trees to make more paper.

Thinking about this, Samuel felt that there were so many things for him to do. He was eager to drag his father here and replace him to work because he wanted to train more.

"It's usable." Riya nodded and after she thought for a moment, she said, "Since you had provided all the materials, how about 10 cold talisman for 1 jade? If it's a rank 1 magic beasts' blood, it'll be 20 cold talisman for 1 jade."

"Is the difference between rank 1 magic beasts' blood and unranked magic beasts' blood so big?" Samuel asked.
