

Last Days 211

Chapter 211 Victoria (2)

But since the military departed to pick people before the incident happened, the soldier didn't know about this and couldn't tell Victoria about it.

In his impression, there were still four big power in City A Base.

Aside from these four power, there were a few smaller families with some influences. Most of them was based on the fact that they have a lot of resources in their hands and exchanged it with contribution points.

In City A Base, it was easy to exchange resources for contribution points.

After all, resources were lacking and it was impossible for them to get resources out of nowhere. So when someone wanted to exchange resources for contribution points, no one will stop them.

Even if the amount was limited, that should be enough to increase their influence.

One of them was naturally the Carson Family.

Their deal with Samuel back then was to let him get back their resources from the warehouse area. Since Samuel brought a lot of resources back to City A Base, Carson Family could also exchange their part of resources for contribution points.

After all, so many medicines, it was impossible for their family to use it up.

With the parts that were exchanged to City A Base, Carson Family gained firm foothold in City A Base. Through this method, there were many people who were unhappy and also wanted to get their resources back.

But the half division system that Samuel proposed made them waver.

There were too much resources that Samuel wanted!

So they have planned to take it themselves.

How it was going, though, was not something that they knew. Anyway, Samuel would not force them and there was already a lot of resources that he obtained in this way. He could obtain other resources through other ways first.

'The Carson Family has some influence but it's very limited because it's just bought with resources but they didn't have high position.'

Victoria thought to herself.

When she heard about Carson Family's situation, she guessed that their influence was relatively small.

Despite them trading a lot of resources with City A Base, they didn't take many high level positions. Those were either dominated by the Jones Family, the military, and the two associations.

Even then, the associations were not exactly nominated as leaders in City A Base.

They were there to increase their association's influence and also to make sure that they were able to gather more people into the association.

Now that the world pattern had changed, where would most people be?

Of course it was in various bases.

So these two associations were working hard to integrate into various bases and tried their best to recruit people. Anyway, the website was one of the way for them to introduce themselves and their own association's existence.

But now that the Magic Association was kicked out by Samuel, they could basically forget about increasing their influence in City A Base.

In fact, Murin's action had made many people in Magic Association dissatisfied.

It was one of thing for him to have a grudge with Samuel but it was another thing to cause a beast tide to City A Base.

So many people criticized them during that time and Murin was also punished.

But of course, this was their internal matter.

No one knew about it.

Samuel also didn't pay much attention to the Magic Association anymore and chose to stay away from them. He was closer to the Martial Arts Association mostly because Peter was also there.

Moreover, this association didn't really coerce people to join and more willing to share their methods.

Well..

It might be because to become a magic warrior or warrior, they have to have perseverance. Without strong enough willpower and talent, they would never be able to become a magic warrior or warrior.

So the people in Martial Arts Association still spread the basic.

But this was not something for Victoria to worry about.

"Do you want to find Mother first, Father?" Victoria pulled her thought back from the messy matters of City A Base. She knew that since she would be a newcomer here, it would be better for her not to do anything and cause a mess.

Otherwise, it would be hard for her to gain a foothold here.

Additionally, Victoria could also take her time to pay a visit to Amelia, Sophia, and also Ruby. She had heard about their situation through her chat with Amelia.

At the very least, Victoria knew that Amelia has a good position in City A Base. Sophia was given a relatively easy job. While it was not very good but it clearly reflected that her family still favored her to a certain degree. The Carson Family was truly a good family that didn't think about sacrificing their younger generations for their own profit.

Unless it was necessary.

Victoria didn't believe that the emotions in the family was so strong that they would keep Sophia if it was necessary to throw her out for their own sake.

This has always been part of human nature.

As for Ruby, Victoria heard that Ruby was staying in the research institute as an intern. Unfortunately, because she was exposed to many secret matters, it was estimated that she wouldn't be able to get out so easily.

Even if Victoria wanted to pay a visit to Ruby, it might be hard.

For this matter, Victoria could only think about going with Ruby when the latter had a break. She didn't believe that Ruby would stay in the research institute all the time.

As for Riya...

Victoria didn't know anything. Riya's position in City A Base was actually quite special, but Samuel purposely blocked the news. Those runes were very important for many people in the world and if they were to know Riya's ability, it was estimated that there would be many people who coveted Riya.

For the sake of Riya's safety, Samuel could only hide Riya deeply and even warned Sean and Amelia not to tell others.

Chapter 212 The Two Sisters Met

Both Amelia and Sean knew why Samuel asked them to hide this matter.

After all, they have enjoyed the talisman and had seen the bloody battles due to these talismans. Just the cool talisman alone had caused some people to break up their family' ties.

How could it possible for others not to covet it if Riya came up with better ones?

Because of this, there were not many people who knew about Riya's ability.

Riya had only shown it to a few people, who were her close friends.

Amelia also hadn't told Victoria about this matter because in her opinion, it might be a bit dangerous for her to spread this matter out through their chats. Who knew if someone could hack it?

So Amelia choose to wait.

Anyway, Ruby and Sophia knew because Riya showed her ability to them and when Victoria came, Riya might also show her.

The six of them were friends but Amelia didn't know how close Riya was to the other girls. After all, they didn't have much contact with each other before the earthquake happened back then.

In City A Base, Riya was also staying with Amelia. It was mostly because of Samuel's arrangement, but Amelia didn't dare to say it like this to Victoria. She could only say that she asked for Riya to stay with her.

Anyway, it was not a complete lie.

She did ask it.

Though, her brother disagreed until he saw Riya's real capabilities in forming runes and magic scrolls.

But in Victoria's eyes, she knew that Amelia's family would not accept Valeria and others but might accept the rest. It just depended on who they favored more.

"Of course, I want to find your mother first," Victoria's father said calmly and then looked at his daughter. "Don't you dare to think of staying away this time, you brat. Let me see where you can go without me."

Victoria rolled her eyes but didn't refute.

In the past, she could basically stay in the dormitory and Victoria's father could not find her at all. After all, there were security measure and if Victoria reported that she was busy and didn't want to be disturbed, Victoria's father would not be allowed to enter.

Those times could be said to be the most peaceful time in Victoria's lives.

Now that they were in City A Base, Victoria just had to pay more attention to how she behaved and if possible, figure out a way to stay away from her family members.

No matter what, she didn't want to be dragged down by Victoria's father and mother.

"Come on, it's time to register." Victoria's father saw that they had reached City A Base's gate and quickly climbed down to register their names.

His wife and other daughter had already arrived a long time ago and he could reunite with them.

He wondered how their treatment in City A Base was. After all, they were still relatives with Mr. Jones and the others. They should be treated specifically well, right?

"Hmm?" Victoria had just registered her name and then waited on the side when she saw Valeria standing not far from the gate. Her eyebrows furrowed because she didn't think that Valeria should have nothing to do.

Did she not work?

Aside from this situation in City A Base, Victoria also found out that the basic system. One of them was the use of the contribution points and how the contribution points could be earned.

To put it simply, they have to work for the base if they wanted any contribution points.

Idling around and doing nothing would not give them any contribution points.

"Valeria!" Victoria's father saw his daughter and quickly rushed forward towards Valeria happily. He didn't expect that he would be able to see Valeria so soon after entering City A Base.

"Father." Valeria also smiled brightly. She was roaming around the mission hall this morning but all the missions were taken and her mother was also unwilling to take other missions. It was just that their contribution points had bottomed out and they couldn't even live well.

The resources that this pair of mother and daughter bought to City A Base was not much.

It could only be exchanged for a bit of contribution points.

Now, the missions left were either physical work that she couldn't do with her weak strength or the specialist type of work. For either of these two works, Valeria expressed her unwillingness, but she truly didn't want to work.

So she hang around the area where she could freeload the cool temperature.

Aside from the mission, it was only this registration gate.

After all, the person in charge in the mission hall had already looked at Valeria with black face. If she stayed there any longer, she would definitely be reprimanded.

As someone who cared for her face, Valeria didn't want to be scolded in public. So she switched place and gave an excuse that she was waiting for someone and wanted to see if they had arrived.

This was basically all that Valeria do all day long.

As for eating...

She could only eat once a day and this made Valeria felt weak. While she did try to maintain her figure but it didn't mean that she didn't have to eat at all. After all, Valeria was still a human being.

Who would have thought that her father would finally arrive in City A Base?

But this was also a good thing.

Because this meant that there would be someone who would protect her.

"Dad, you have to help me! Uncle didn't let me stay with them and we're struggling to live here," Valeria immediately shouted her complaint to her father.

The few people nearby who had gotten used to Valeria's presence silently looked at this girl.

It seemed that a drama is about to begin.

Victoria's face also turned black.

As expected of Valeria and her mother. It could be said that no matter where they were, they would definitely cause troubles.

Chapter 213 Debate of the Two Sisters

"What?" Victoria's father was stunned. "How could they do this?"

In Victoria's father's eyes, his brother was the leader of City A Base. It should be easy for them to arrange some light work for them. Even if it might not be the best, they should also provide for them.

This made Victoria's father felt annoyed.

"Yes, they're very arrogant and even scolded me, Dad! You have to help me and Mom," Valeria immediately added, pouring out the grievances she had felt in City A Base.

She sneered in her heart when she thought about Amelia's arrogant appearance not long ago.

Didn't she act so high and mighty at that time?

Now let's see what she would do when she was facing Victoria's father's instead.

He was still Amelia's uncle and normally, Amelia would have to respect her uncle well. So Valeria wanted to see how Amelia would handle this matter.

"This shouldn't be!" Victoria's father was angry. "Let's go there and see them!"

"Father, you can't expect them to provide for us, right?" Victoria interrupted from the side, wanting to stop her father from losing their faces more. They have only arrived at City A Base and they already wanted to cause trouble?

She felt that her father's temper was really bad.

But even if he wanted to do that, Victoria also knew that she couldn't really stop him.

This made her feel rather helpless and annoyed.

"What are you talking about? Of course I have to talk to him!" Victoria's father snorted. "Where's the Jones Family?"

"There in the inner area, Father. No one can enter there," Valeria quickly answered. After the incident where she came to find Amelia and the others back then, the inner area's guards were strengthened. No one was allowed to enter there without permission of the people they wanted to visit.

In this way, Valeria couldn't even trouble Amelia even if she wanted to.

Coupled with the fact that she was so hungry because of the lack of food, Valeria truly didn't have the energy to do anything else. All she wanted was to find some places to take advantage to escape from the hot temperature.

It was only after she saw her father again that Valeria thought about her original goal.

She wanted to live better in City A Base.

"I'll go there!"

After that, Victoria's father rushed over without hesitation, not listening to other people's words anymore.

Seeing this scene, Victoria knew that her father would definitely try to find her uncle. As for whether he could really do it or not... Victoria felt that her father was most likely would be beaten.

There was no way her uncle and others who were in City A Base would tolerate him.

"Hmph!" Valeria snorted arrogantly and then looked at Victoria not far from her. "Don't think about stopping Father. I want to live a good life. If you don't want to, then don't bother to associate with us."

Victoria pursed her lips and said, "Even if I want to live a good life, I would not come and make trouble from the very beginning. You will only worsen your impression in their hearts."

"So what?" Valeria snorted. City A Base was led by the Jones Family, why can't they who have blood relationship with them not enjoy this blessing?

Valeria refused it.

Anyway, their family members were living well, so why not bring them all along to enjoy life?

This was what Valeria wanted.

"You..." Victoria looked at Valeria's complacent look and felt that it was hopeless to talk with this brain dead sister of hers. Sometimes, she even wonder if they were all from the same family considering how different their IQ were.

"Let me tell you, if you don't help, I'll complain to father and mother," Valeria threatened. "You have good relationships with Amelia and I'm sure you can talk to her about it."

"You're shameless!" Victoria said in anger when she heard what Valeria said. Now that they were in City A Base, Victoria really didn't know where she could go. If she didn't listen to what her parent said, they might as well kick her out.

But even if that was the case, Victoria didn't want to help her selfish relatives at all.

They only thought about taking advantage all day long and if Victoria were to side with them, she knew that she would lose her friends' favor. This would undoubtedly make her own future path even harder.

There was no way Victoria would be willing to trade her own future for the sake of her parents and sister.

They didn't even think whether it was good for her and just wanted to benefit from her.

How could Victoria accept it?

She refused.

"So what?" Valeria snorted. "Don't think that you can enjoy all the benefit without doing anything. Your family should be more important to you than your friends!"

Victoria sneered.

If her family cared for her well being, then Victoria was more willing to treat them as her family members. But from what she knew, neither her father or mother cared for her. IN this City A Base, Victoria was sure that her friends would care about her well being more than these three.

"Stop talking nonsense. I won't help you ask unreasonable demand from my cousin," Victoria said simply. She refused to be used by her family members no matter what.

They should do it themselves if they have the ability.

"You're not in the position to refuse!" Valeria glared at her sister angrily.

"I won't help you." Victoria snorted and turned around. She thought that she could live peacefully with her parents for a while in City A Base, but if they insist on her approaching Amelia for the sake of making their lives better, she would rather not stay with them.

Anyway, she could think of a way to survive by herself.

"Tsk." Valeria snorted and rushed forward, her hand stretched towards Victoria.

Bang!

Chapter 214 Conflict

Bang!

Victoria was stunned when she heard the loud noise from behind.

Turning around, she saw Valeria was being pressed to the ground and the person on top of her was Amelia.

Both Amelia and Riya had already arrived some time ago but because both Victoria and Valeria were busy quarreling with each other, they didn't notice their arrival. These two people also had no intention to disturb the conversation of these two sisters.

Who would have thought that Valeria was so shameless.

Riya thought that after coming to City A Base and knowing that the situation was now different, Valeria would change her behavior.

But it turned out that she was wrong.

Valeria would not change so easily.

"What makes you think that you can force others to do what they didn't want? This is City A Base and not your backyard," Amelia's said coldly. She couldn't stand Valeria's attitude and even more so when she heard how Valeria wanted everything to be handed over to her on a silver plate.

This made her furious.

Did she really think that the Jones Family owned City A Base?

They were one of the leaders but it didn't mean that they could do things arbitrarily. There were many people who were watching her brother and wanted to make trouble should her brother behave in a way that put danger to other people.

Blatantly asking for others to give preferential treatment...

Hehe, she didn't eat this set.

"You're my cousin!" Valeria shouted in anger as she struggled to get up. Amelia was really strong and a weak woman like Valeria who had never trained in her life could not possibly compare with the other party.

This made Valeria even more aggrieved.

"Yes, I'm your cousin but I'm not your father or mother. I have no obligation to raise you," Amelia said coldly. City A Base had their own regulation and she would not break it just because of Valeria.

"You're #$%^&*!"

Bang!

Seeing that it had turned violent, Riya blinked her eyes.

She had the feeling that after becoming a magic warrior, Amelia seemed to have opened a new door and would use her fist whenever she thought it was appropriate.

And this situation...

Well, it was quite appropriate.

*cough* *cough*

"If you dare to talk nonsense again, it won't just be a beating." Amelia looked at Valeria in disgust. The other party was really weak and it didn't take any effort at all on her side to beat the other party up.

In any case, Amelia had no interest to continue making trouble.

She glanced at Victoria. "If you don't want to stay with them, you can apply for a different housing. Normally, one family will stay together but there are already some cases where they live separately."

City A Base asked a family to stay in one place just to save places but there were some cases where not everyone in the same family couldn't stay together in one place. In such cases, they might have to separate or the family members would end up killing each other.

Amelia could only sigh when she heard about this matter her mother.

After all, she was not the one in charge for those people's arrangement. She only heard about some of their conflicts from time to time.

There were many dramas.

Even the City A Base was not immune to those people's dramas and there was basically nothing that Amelia could do but listen.

"Thank you." Victoria nodded and said, "I would like to apply for a different place if possible."

"From what I know, they still stay in the shared house, so you just have to pick a room. What you need to do is to separate your family because one family can only stay in one room for free," Amelia explained.

If Victoria wanted to stay in other places that required contribution points, she could do that. But Amelia was not sure that Victoria would be able to bring resources with her when she came here at this time.

So the best way was to separate their families.

Anyway, separating the household residence was a common matter in many people's opinion. When a child become an adult, they were qualified to separate their household residence.

"I know." Victoria's eyes flashed.

"Damn it! You're such a stingy person!" Valeria was furious. "I want to stay in your..."

Plak!

Before Valeria could finish speaking, Amelia had already given the other party another slap. Perhaps many other people would not dare to raise their hands and beat up others. But Amelia never had such scruples.

She was not that much ladylike and if anything, she has long been known for her fierceness. Now in City A Base, Amelia also knew that if she made trouble there was still her brother backing her.

So why should she be afraid?

It's just Valeria anyway.

"My house is off limit." Amelia looked at Valeria coldly.

Valeria looked at Amelia coldly and then said, "No! I heard that you have a friend staying there, isn't this like opening up a personal back door for her?"

Amelia frowned.

She never thought that Valeria would know this.

The problem is, this is Samuel's arrangement and not hers. Well, if she was allowed to make a choice, then Amelia would never hesitate to let Riya stay with her because she wanted to.

Riya also looked at Valeria with a strange look.

The inner area was no longer the place where they could pay a visit as they wished. How did Valeria know that she was staying with the Jones Family?

She was sure that none of them would tell them.

And the guards in the inner area have already been warned since the last incident. But even if Valeria saw Riya at that time, how did Valeria know that she was staying in the Jones Family?

There were cases when others were only paying a short visit, right?

It seemed that they have to investigate carefully.

Chapter 215 Conflict (2)

City A Base was not perfect.

There were still many places that needed to be reevaluated. But Riya was sure that they would not joke around about the safety of the people within the base. So they would not share the information about the people in the base so easily.

But some people might not be able to stand temptation.

Riya's eyes narrowed as she looked at Victoria and Valeria in front of her.

If she had to say, she was not too close to Victoria and Claire. The main reason was because these two people rarely stay in the university and usually busy with other things. Claire's hometown was not in City A, so she often stayed away to stay with her family members, which made it harder to contact her.

Because of this, Riya didn't know much about them.

The few times she came into contact with them was when Amelia had conflict with Valeria.

'Oh well, they're still Amelia's cousins and also her friend.' Riya sighed in her heart.

Even if she wanted to stay away, it would be inevitable to see them in City A Base. After all, the base was still under construction and there were many places that were still being built.

With such size, how could it be possible for them to avoid others completely?

Especially since they might be the one looking for them purposely.

"You're free to let others stay in your place if you want to," Amelia said after calming down slightly and her IQ turned again. "And I don't want to let you stay with me."

She looked at Valeria with the look, 'what are you going to do with me?'

Valeria's chest heaved up and down, her hair was messy and she looked like a mess. In the past few days, she had been living in difficult situation because she was not used to such simplicity.

Being the pampered daughter in her family, Valeria felt that lives were really difficult lately.

Naturally, she had no time to care about her appearance so much like how she used to be. This made her look rather ugly, especially after being beaten up by Amelia two times.

Even if the beating was considered light, it was still quite heavy for someone like Valeria.

"You're such a b$%^&*(!"

Bang!

Three times.

Riya looked at this scene and sighed deeply. "If she's just asking for a beating, you can ask the guards to be the one to make a move, Mel. There's no need for you to do it yourself."

After Riya spoke, Amelia nodded and then glanced at the guards nearby. These guards of City A Base had been trained by her brother and naturally understood what she wanted.

"Rest assured, Miss. We'll do a good job!"

"Yes!"

These guards saluted and then swiftly dragged Valeria away to reprimand her. They knew that they should move fast or it would be impossible for them to escape punishment from Samuel.

Even if Samuel didn't exactly give his siblings high position, but everyone knew that he cared for his family members. If someone dared to bully either one of his siblings and parents, they would never end well once Samuel made a move.

In this case, they didn't dare not to listen to Amelia's words.

"Let me go $%^&*!"

Valeria screamed again but the guards didn't relent.

Riya looked at this scene and silently lamented how much Valeria had changed ever since the world changed. Back then, Valeria would care for her image but lately, she seemed not to care about it that much anymore.

Perhaps, this was caused by the lack of food.

After all, Valeria didn't have many contribution points and could barely fill her stomach. Without working and without her parents taking care of her, her situation naturally worsened over the years.

And if Riya was not wrong... this had happened once before, right?

That Valeria seemed that she would never learn.

"Riya..." Victoria saw Riya and blinked her eyes. After staying outside for a few days, she looked tired and her appearance was not very good. It was naturally far from Amelia who was staying in the base and had comfortable life. Aside from being pushed to train by her brother, Amelia could be said to be the famous young miss of the Jones Family.

But seeing Riya's appearance, Victoria could see that Riya was also living a good life. She was very clean. There was not even any trace of fatigue as if Riya was not doing any work at all.

"It's been a while, Victoria." Riya nodded her head at Victoria.

"Yes, it is," Victoria showed a faint smile on her face and then ignored Riya and turned her head to look at Amelia. "Thank you for today. Can I trouble you to show me the way to separate the household?"

"No problem. Various administration problems are handled in one building for now. City A Base didn't really have that many buildings yet," Amelia explained with somewhat embarrassed expression.

It has been a while since City A Base was built but this matter has not been solved at all. This naturally made Amelia a bit embarrassed.

It seemed that she could mention this to her father later.

"It's fine." Victoria smiled in return.

With that, Amelia started to lead the way and asked, "How did you manage to separate from your family, Victoria? I thought that you will come together back then."

"Ah? There are some troubles on the way and I don't think it's convenient for me to travel with Valeria," Victoria replied.

She had no interest to stay with her brainless sister.

Besides, she purposely went later than her sister in order to communicate more with some people who had some influence in City A Base.

Through this method, Victoria could be said to have gained a lot.

"Is that so?" Amelia nodded and then sighed. "Living outside must be hard."

She had stayed in the dormitory for a while and the fear of those magic beasts coming was still deeply imprinted in her mind.

Chapter 216 Secret

If Amelia had to say, she really didn't want to repeat it again.

Unfortunately, her brother seemed to have different opinion because he really wanted to bring her and her younger brother out to hunt those magic beasts.

Thinking about this, Amelia really felt headache.

If only she could beat her brother, she would have long done that.

"Yes." Victoria only nodded and didn't explain much. She didn't really suffer that much when she was outside. Aside from the fact that living was not as convenient as before, Victoria didn't really suffer.

But she couldn't really tell this to Amelia.

"Speaking of which, I should have told you that you can pick jobs in the mission hall, right? Try to come earlier because I heard that many temporary missions are snapped very quickly and the rest might not be very convenient for you," Amelia said.

She couldn't possibly take care of everyone around her and could only help to a certain degree.

One of them was to introduce Ruby to the research institute but what truly allowed Ruby to stay was her own talent.

As for Sophia?

Her own family had the connection necessary to arrange a job for their daughter. There was truly no need for Amelia to be the one to step forward.

And then Riya...

Amelia didn't do anything and it was Riya who showed her ability and made her brother unwilling to let her leave.

Well, anyone who could have ability like Riya would definitely attract many people's attention.

"If you have any special abilities like Ruby, I can also help to introduce you," Amelia added but she looked at Victoria with an apologetic look.

Because Amelia knew very well that Victoria had no such talent like Ruby. If they were so valued by their professors that they could stay in the laboratory, they might have long come up with some kind of good research result.

Victoria pursed her lips.

She knew very well what Amelia meant but how could she have the same ability as Ruby? That girl was really talented and had long been noticed by many people. It was also because of this that Ruby was able to get scholarship and eventually become well known in the university.

If things hadn't changed, she would have been accepted in some kind of research institute to continue working in this field.

But since things changed...

Well, her path hadn't really changed.

She was still in the research institute but the subject become different due to the appearance of these magic beasts.

"I don't think it's possible," Victoria said in a low voice.

"Don't worry too much, everything will work out in the end." Amelia grinned and they reached the building. "It's here, you can go inside and ask for the change in your household residence. I and Riya will wait outside."

"Ok."

After Victoria walked inside, Riya glanced at Amelia. "Do you not plan to find a light work for her?"

From what Riya knew, Amelia and Victoria's relationship could be said to be quite good. She thought that Amelia planned to arrange some light work for Victoria.

"... I don't have that qualification," Amelia said with a wry smile.

Her brother has been drilling her in training more and more lately, which made Amelia very tired. Moreover, Amelia also had work and had to finish it and train during break time with her brother.

In terms of connection and power in City A Base, Amelia was actually not very good. It was also because of this that she didn't really expect to help Victoria much in this matter. She could only help if Victoria had some kind of outstanding ability.

Otherwise... her brother would not even listen to her.

"Ah..." Riya saw Amelia's appearance and guessed that Samuel should have been drilling Amelia more.

Moreover, the world was a bit different from before. Money could make a lot of conveniences but at the same time, not everything could be solved with money. There were many things that were restricted in City A Base.

Samuel might be the strongest here but there were also others who were strong like him out there.

Riya knew very well that Samuel couldn't do anything arbitrarily either.

People who might have similar experiences as them would be much stronger and they might be out there.

Who would want to make enemies out of nowhere?

No one wanted it.

"Well, just do what you can without harming yourself," Riya said after thinking for a while.

Amelia nodded. "Well, I know."

She was not that selfless to sacrifice everything to help others. After all, Amelia still cared for herself first and foremost.

The two of them chatted about some daily things while waiting for Victoria to come out. The main reason why Amelia didn't want to enter the building was because there were so many people there and it looked messy.

Anyway, she was holding a cool talisman in her hand and there was no need for her to come inside just to enjoy the cool temperature.

Yes, some people shamelessly came here just to enjoy the cool temperature.

After all, there were not many public places they could come for free that contained the cool talisman.

"By the way, are you not planning to tell her about the cool talisman?" Amelia asked as she held the cool talisman in her hand. If Amelia was not wrong both Sophia and Ruby knew about this matter.

"I'm not that close to Victoria." Riya shook her head. "And don't you know that the fewer people who know about this, the better it would be?"

"Ah, why?"

"Because some people might want to kill me," Riya replied with a faint smile.

She might have lived low key in that world but it didn't mean that she had no enemies. If by any chance the people who were her enemies were also someone who came from the Green Planet...

Then it was estimated that she wouldn't be able to stay silent.

Chapter 217 Secret (2)

Amelia frowned. "Are you talking about the Davis Family? They won't be able to make any move."

Riya's father, Mr. Davis, was not really a magic warrior. As an ordinary person, the threat that Mr. Davis could give to Riya was very limited.

Even if he did something, Amelia was sure that Riya would be able to deal with him easily.

"Ah." Riya just remembered about her annoying father and shook her head. "Not him but there are also others."

"Others?" Amelia tilted her head in confusion and then asked, "Your mother? But I thought she's just a crybaby."

Riya: "..."

The description was appropriate but she also has some background back then. Riya didn't know how much the earthquake had affected her mother's maternal family and her new husband's family.

So unless it was necessary, she had no intention to make trouble with the other party.

It would be good if the two of them could pretend they were strangers with each other just like how they have been so far.

Anyway, Riya didn't care about the other party.

Hatred was too tiring.

It would be better to be indifferent and didn't care about the other party at all. To be honest, if not for Amelia mentioning this matter, Riya really couldn't remember about her mother at all.

"No, there might be others who hate me," Riya said quietly.

Amelia arched her eyebrows and then thought about the fact that Riya mentioned about the inheritance magic. Perhaps Riya had offended someone because of that matter.

After all, there were many people who wanted to study powerful magic.

If they couldn't get it, they would try to snatch it.

"Your identity is surprisingly complicated," Amelia complained.

"It couldn't be helped," Riya replied with a bitter smile. Thankfully, she was used to wear long robe in the past when she was in that world. Magicians usually wear robe and also covered their heads, so not many people were familiar with Riya's appearance.

Otherwise, there would be a lot of troubles.

Thinking about Samuel who was already facing Peter and then faced Murin...

Riya didn't know how many more people Samuel had offended who will come to the door next.

After all, that man was not exactly low key.

As one of the greatest genius among the younger generation, Samuel fought with many people to temper himself. The result was naturally many people knew about him and also had either friendship or grudge towards him.

Oh well, it was not her business.

Riya shook her head and stopped thinking about this matter.

Victoria came out and Amelia waved her hand. "Have you finished?"

"Yes." Victoria nodded, somewhat absent minded. She didn't expect that the process of separating the household residence to be so easy.

It used to be so hard in the past because her parents would always make trouble here and there.

But now that the world had changed, these processes were simplified. These people knew that there were many people who wanted to separate their household for various reasons. One of them was naturally due to the death of their family members.

The earthquake had caused the death of so many people and it was hard to record all of them.

In this way, it was not possible to get the death certificate.

But some people would feel burdened when they were still in the same household residence with their 'dead' family members, so they came here to separate it. In this way, the process was much faster.

These people had no intention to make trouble to them.

"Alright, let me take you to where the free residences are located," Amelia said.

Victoria looked at Amelia and nodded. "Okay."

The free residences were very small. Riya had already heard Amelia mentioned it before and when she came there, she was silent.

Even if she was abandoned by her parents and tossed to various relatives houses, she never lived in such place.

It seemed that the situation was really bad.

Victoria was also silent when she saw these small rooms and the thin wall. It was clear that the noises outside could be heard by them very clearly and it was hard for one to live comfortably in this kind of place.

But how many people cared for comfort?

The most important thing for them was to have a place to stay for the night and rest. After all, they didn't really dare to expect too much with their current situation.

But for Victoria who was used to live a good life, this was indeed really bad.

No wonder Valeria chose to make trouble over and over again. The difference between life before the changes and after is too big.

"Well... after you find a job, you can find some better room that only cost 1 contribution points per day," Amelia said tactfully.

Victoria looked at Amelia and nodded. "Ok. Thank you, Mel."

"Ahahah." Amelia could only scratch the back of her head and wondered whether she should ask her brother for help.

But Samuel never cared for anyone from her uncle's family, including Victoria. Only Amelia still had a relatively good relationship with Victoria and would play with the other party from time to time.

The two of them talked for a bit more while Riya waited at the side, feeling bored.

She glanced at the white tiger behind her who had been following her and then at Victoria who didn't even give the white tiger any glance.

'At the very least, her physiological ability is still very strong.'

If it was any other people, they would have long been scared when they saw the white tiger. This was because they had seen those magic beasts killing people out there.

Now that a white tiger appear in City A Base, how could they not be afraid?

Only after a while would they calm down.

But Victoria's expression never changed from the very beginning.

"That should be all, is there anything else?" Amelia asked.

"Well, can I ask something? Have you met with any beast master on the way?"

Chapter 218 Victoria's Determination

Victoria heard Riya's question and looked at Riya in confusion.

What kind of question is this?

But she did see beast master outside in the past. Because she waited a bit longer than the others, she saw some people from the Magic Association passed by their people. The person at the front was riding a magic beast, which caused many people's eyes to turn big.

They have seen these magic beasts killing people without hesitation and now they saw a magic beast was actually being ridden by others.

It simply changed their worldview.

Later on, Victoria saw the announcement in the Magic Association that they have a powerful beast master who will come and help them to get rid of the magic beasts along the way.

When Victoria read that, she understood that the Magic Association had figured out a way to tame these magic beasts.

It was really interesting.

Unfortunately, the Magic Association was not stupid and would not reveal this matter so easily. They hid the technique and only showed various videos where Murin controlled these magic beasts.

It was really cool.

"Yes, I have seen it before." Victoria nodded and then looked at the white tiger behind Amelia and Riya.
"This white tiger is your magic beast, right?"

She had seen it following the two of them but since the people In City A Base didn't say anything, she guessed that this should be Amelia's magic beast. After all, only the magic beast recognized by the people here would be able to roam freely.

Riya arched her eyebrows when she heard Victoria's question and said, "Yes."

Amelia looked at Mo and then at Victoria. It seemed that his cousin had some interesting experience.
"What else did you see on the way?"

"Ah?"

"Can't you tell me? I'm curious~."

"Haha, of course I can." Victoria smiled.

Afterwards, Victoria told the story about how his family stayed in their original place for a period of time. The military came and then brought them away but there were too many people in the team.

They had to be separated into groups.

Valeria and Valeria's mother went on the first group while Victoria and her father went with the second ground. Along the way, Victoria also saw the way these military people fought these magic beasts and met with some people from Magic Association and Martial Arts Association.

Speaking about these two associations, Victoria expressed her willingness to join.

"If you want to join, you have to pass their assessment," Amelia said after a while. "There's no other way."

Amelia and Sean could only join after they become rank 1 magic warrior and their strength were recognized by the people there. Otherwise, just relying on Samuel's prestige was simply not enough.

"Assessment." Victoria frowned.

She felt that it was really difficult now. Some things that used to be difficult has become easier but there were things that used not to exist has become very difficult.

"Yes, as long as you can become a rank 1 magician or rank 1 magic warrior, you can enter either one of the two associations," Amelia said heartily.

Riya listened from the side and passed a look at Amelia.

She knew very well that Amelia also took a long time to train before because magic warrior trained their bodies and their physical strength was somewhat limited. But it still took around half a year for Amelia to reach her current rank.

Unless Victoria was extremely talented, it would be hard for her to become a magic warrior so quickly.

As for becoming a magician....

There might be hope because the mana concentration had increased much more compared to before. But it would still depend on their talent.

Without talent, they wouldn't be able to do anything.

Riya sighed in her heart.

"Yes..." Amelia explained a bit more about the two associations before they finally separated. Victoria still have to take care of her new living place while Riya and Amelia wanted to go back and do other things.

First of all, Amelia had to go back to work.

Secondly, Riya wanted to bring Mo to walk around the base and familiarize himself with it. Not only him that need to familiarize with City A Base but also the people in this base to get familiar with Mo.

She didn't want any case of people hurting Mo or vice versa in City A Base.

Victoria watched her two friends leaving and her eyes calmed down.

She knew very well that her family members were unreliable. Aside from dragging her down, they have no other value.

And now, she was finally free from them.

Victoria didn't have to listen to their annoying nonsense anymore. But at the same time, Victoria knew that she had to fend for herself.

Asking help from friends?

It was useless.

These people would not bother taking care of others so much.

At most, they would come forward and helped a little bit like this.

Victoria looked at the messy corridor behind her and there was a cold smile on her face. It was really annoying.

...

Riya and Amelia's side

The two of them separated after they went out.

Amelia went back to work while Riya head to Jones Family Residence. When she reached the house, she saw Samuel was there.

Samuel nodded at Riya. "Riya, try not to get out of the inner area so often in the future. Some people start to pay attention to you."

Riya blinked her eyes. "Is it because I can live in your place, Senior Samuel?"

She felt that staying so close to Amelia and the others were actually quite a hassle. These people definitely attract problem to her.

"That's one of the reasons," Samuel replied helplessly.

Riya nodded thoughtfully.

It seemed that because of her friendship with Amelia and Samuel, there would be some troubles that followed them.

It was really troublesome.

Samuel saw Riya's expression and asked, "Do you regret it?"

Befriending people with high position or have some power or wealth was not that easy.

Chapter 219 Thompson Family

Because they might be dragged into various troubles that they should not have faced with their family's situation before.

Moreover, there was no guarantee that they could protect them.

Riya glanced at Samuel and said, "You're thinking too much, Senior Samuel. I'm not afraid of them."

Yes, she used to hate troubles.

But Riya also knew that it was impossible for her to avoid troubles.

Even if she did nothing, there were some people who would like to step forward and made trouble with her.

In that case, why should she stayed silent?

Samuel was silent for a moment and said, "I'll investigate the people who worked in the inner area."

He also didn't want to be watched by others all the time. It was tiring.

"Thank you, Senior Samuel." Riya smiled.

Samuel nodded and then went out to start checking and cleaning up. Once this was done, he wanted to go back and spent his time training.

Rather than going out to meddle in this kind of matter, Samuel preferred to train with his swords.

Riya watched Samuel's back for a moment and then went back to her room. She wanted to take a look at her farm and so on first.

...

Thompson Family's side

Mrs. Thompson, Riya's mother, was not feeling well. She thought that she could make her daughter listen to her, but reality told her that Riya would not listen to her anymore.

Mr. Thompson looked at his wife and asked, "Didn't you say that Riya is an obedient child?"

When Riya was young, she knew very well that she couldn't fight against her parents. So unless they did anything that crossed the lines, she still maintained a respectful and obedient appearance in front of them.

But if they were to threaten her safety...

They had to be prepared for the consequences.

Both Mrs. Thompson and Mr. Taylor understood their daughter's personality because she had nearly caused both of them to be put into detention because of their neglect. They had seen her cruelty and also the fact that she would lose nothing.

In the first place, Riya had nothing to lose.

But both of them have their own career and their own families, so they couldn't possibly let Riya cause their lives to be destroyed.

They had to care for their faces.

So they would never do anything that crossed the lines and when Riya became an adult, they severed their ties with her.

"She's usually quite obedient." Mrs. Thompson frowned when she heard her husband's words.

"Mom." Their child, Pera, looked at his mother and said, "I'm hungry."

Their family of three was not very lucky.

When the earthquake happened, they were confined in their home and they didn't have much resources.

Going out on their own?

It was impossible.

They had to wait until military people came and checked on them before they could come out and finally came to City A Base.

The amount of food and drinks they have so far was very limited.

And in this scorching hot temperature, it was nothing short of torture.

"Baby, we'll exchange some things for food, okay." Mrs. Thompson looked at her son with distressed look. Her son was only 18 years old this year. She had him after her divorce with Mr. Taylor and got married to Mr. Thompson.

This child came at the right time.

Because of this child's existence, Mrs. Thompson didn't think too much about Riya anymore.

"Tsk." Mr. Thompson frowned.

He could see that Riya has been in this base for some time and should have some contribution points. As long as they could borrow some, there was no need for them to be so embarrassed like this.

They barely brought anything here.

If not because the base would still allow refugee to come, they would not even be able to enter City A Base.

It was really miserable.

"Should we try to find Riya again?" Mrs. Thompson asked. She was also really hungry and they hadn't eaten anything today. If not because they couldn't see Riya at all, they wouldn't have been so miserable like this.

"No, people without proper ID couldn't enter the inner area," Mr. Thompson said with a frown.

"Then..."

"Let's find some work." Mr. Thompson sighed. It was really hot but they couldn't do anything.

"No... I'm going to see my sister. She's also here." Mrs. Thompson gritted her teeth.

"Mom..."

Bang!

And then they heard yelling and crying from outside again.

To be honest, both Mr. Thompson and Pera were already used to this scene. Mrs. Thompson would often make trouble when she couldn't get what she wanted.

Because of this, it was hard for them to have any peaceful days.

But this was what Mr. Thompson himself liked.

Pera himself felt that his mother was right, so he would always try to listen to his mother's words and followed her lead.

"Dad, can we finally eat meat?" Pera asked, feeling greedy when he thought of those magic beast's meat. He had heard that the meat of these magic beasts required purification magic to be done first before they could eat it.

So along the way, only the soldiers were able to eat these magic beasts' meat.

Because there was only one person who could use purification magic.

The others had no other choice but to stay behind and couldn't participate.

"We'll see later." Mr. Thompson's eyes flashed. He also wanted some meat and if they could get it one way or another, it would be great. But for now, it would be better for him to wait for his wife and then looked for some work tomorrow.

Relying on their relatives all the time would be highly impossible and Mr. Thompson didn't want to live so ordinarily.

"It'll be great if we can eat meat," Pera added.

"You go to work with me tomorrow."

"Ah? Why?"

Pera was unwilling when he heard that he had to follow his father to work. He knew what work there is in City A Base and those construction work was really tiring.

Not many second generation like Pera could withstand working like that all day long.

Chapter 220 Magic Beast's Contract

"Because the amount of contribution points would be lacking if you don't follow to work," Mr. Thompson snorted.

He might pamper his son on daily basis but now that the world has changed, he couldn't let his son stayed that way. If they wanted to live well, they had to work and Mr. Thompson couldn't let his son relax all the time like he used to be.

Pera had to work too.

"But..." Pera frowned but he found his father looking at him coldly.

"You're 18 years old, not 8 years old." Mr. Thompson snorted.

Hearing this, Pera could only stay silent. He actually wanted to go to his mother and file a complaint about his father. But knowing that his mother would side with his father rather than siding with him in some cases, he chose not to.

If he did, his father might only punish him.

These days hadn't been easy.

Before long, Mrs. Thompson returned with a bright smile. "We can eat in the canteen today. Tomorrow, I'll try to find that b*tch again."

The relatives of Mrs. Thompson were all poor and couldn't afford to have a lot of contribution points.

But Riya was staying in the inner area.

Even if this was mostly because of her friendship with others, but Mrs. Thompson believed that her daughter had more contribution points.

In that case, why can't she share some?

It would be good if they could also enjoy this blessing.

"Yes."

Mr. Thompson and Pera agreed.

They came out and headed to the canteen to eat. Of course, their meal was the cheapest porridge and water. Otherwise, their contribution points would not be enough for them to eat.

...

Sophia's side

Stephen, Sophia's older brother, looked at his sister who looked a bit different after coming back home from work today thoughtfully.

"Did you make a contract with Melly?"

Considering Sophia's talent, or more like her lazy behavior, none of the people in the Carson Family expected Sophia to become stronger or anything like that. After all, not everyone was suitable to become magic warrior or magicians.

If Sophia just wanted to live a comfortable life for the rest of her life, then they would help to raise her until she got married or able to take care of herself.

But for the time being, it was enough.

"Yes." Sophia nodded and smiled. "Is it obvious?"

She had a conversation with Melly and formed an equal contract with Melly. In this way, Melly's ability would be shared to her and she would be able to give order to Melly. In return, Sophia would help with Melly's training, more than before.

Stephen looked at his younger sister and sighed. "Didn't I tell you before that if you choose this path, you have to train Melly?"

Melly indeed become a bit stronger than before because of the non elemental magic core.

But the Carson Family had no intention to raise a powerful magic beast. They had heard from Samuel that raising the rank of a magic beast consumed a lot of resources.

This was one of the reasons why these magic beasts were rampant outside.

They would kill other magic beasts for the sake of themselves to become as strong as possible.

Now that Sophia formed a contract with Melly...

Stephen sighed.

"I know, Brother," Sophia said and patted Melly's head. She was sitting beside Sophia, acting very obedient and quiet.

"Then..."

"You mean that I have to fight against those magic beasts," Sophia interrupted her brother before he finished speaking and she looked at her brother deeply. "I don't like fighting but I don't want to be weak either."

If the Carson Family was still the leading family, then there was no problem with Sophia not doing anything and only enjoying her life.

But the Carson Family is not the leading and powerful family like how it used to be.

And Sophia didn't want to stay behind all the time.

So she made this decision.

Stephen looked at his sister's determined look and then nodded. "Tomorrow, you'll come with me to pay a visit to Riya and Samuel. They should be able to know how high is Melly's talent and how to train him better."

Even if those two were not professional beast master, but they have more knowledge than them. Rather than training Melly's blindly, it would be better to leave it to someone who knew this matter better.

Sophia smiled brightly. "Thank you, Brother."

*Woof!* <Thank you, Master's brother>

Hearing the way Melly called Stephen, Sophia almost laughed out loud. It turned out that Melly always called Stephen that way.

Stephen noticed the amusement in Sophia's face and then turned to look at Melly. "What did this brat say about me?"

*Woof! Woof!* <I'm not a brat! You're the brat!>

"Hahaha! She's calling you a brat," Sophia laughed and patted Melly happily. It turned out that talking with a magic beast was really fun.

Stephen: "..."

He looked at his sister who was laughing and the dog that was looking at him with an innocent face.

He sighed deeply and could only shake his head. "Go back to rest. I'm going out first."

"Where are you going, Brother? It's late." Sophia looked at his brother suspiciously.

Unlike Sophia whose work was light, Stephen had more important position in Carson Family.

At the same time, Stephen's work was also higher and more busy. But he usually didn't go out when it was night time.

"Don't worry." Stephen patted his sister's head. "I'll come back soon."

"Uh..." Sophia frowned but seeing that her brother didn't want to say, she didn't force him to say anything. Instead, Sophia rubbed Melly's head and then lead her back inside.

She wanted to tell her father and mother about her decision to make Melly as her magic beast.

Hopefully, they would not be too angry about it.

...

Jones Family

Samuel looked at the uninvited guest in front of him with a dark face. He has just finished his training after giving order to investigate and clean up the people in the inner area. There was truly no need for others to come and give him more troubles.
