

Last Days 38

Chapter 38 Insidious Plan

BANG!

There was explosion everywhere.

"KYAaaaaaaa!"

The truck crashed directly to the supermarket, countless people were screaming with fear. They were either got involved in the crash or they were lucky enough to avoid the impact. Many people were injured and many others were unconscious.

Everything happened so suddenly that no one had the time to react.

cough

Riya was lying on the ground, her eyes flashed with ruthlessness.

She had a lot of talisman in her body, which was something that she could easily use to block the truck and keep her body safe. But if she used these talisman, what should she do about the surveillance?

So, Riya used the speed talisman and jumped to the side, avoiding the truck that crashed to the supermarket.

Her speed was a bit faster than usual, but it would not look that strange. At the very least, it could be explained that her 'potential' exploded in the face of danger, giving her speed that was much faster than usual.

She pushed her body up and looked at the chaos in front of her, feeling that this incident shouldn't be that simple. Why did this truck suddenly come crashing down to the supermarket?

Those who were familiar with this intersection knew very well that they had to brake to avoid crashing during the bend.

In the midst of chaos, Riya saw a van stopped at the intersection and two people came down.

Her pupil shrunk.

'That b*stard man dared to kidnap people in the daylight?'

No wonder that they choose to use a truck at this place. With the size of the truck and the damage, it would be enough to block the surveillance camera.

Riya slowly stood up as she raised her hand and looked at these two people warily.

Want to take her away?

It wouldn't be that easy!

...

<Long distance away, Taylor Family>

Mrs. Taylor snorted as she played with her phone. In front of her husband, she was still trying to keep her image. After all, she didn't want to make a lot of troubles in front of him.

But she would never shallow this grievances down.

That b*tch Riya dared to contradict her and even threaten them back. Then she would teach that b*tch a lesson.

Her family was also a rich family, much richer than Taylor Family.

Even if she was now part of Taylor Family, she could still use the force and power from her maiden family to make troubles and achieve her goals.

Threatening with the certificate?

It was not enough.

"Mother, can we do the operation soon?" Ciera asked while clinging on her mother's arm. She was acting like a baby in front of her mother, hoping that her mother would be able to fulfill her wishes.

Ciera was only a few years younger than Riya. After all, Mrs. Taylor was together with Mr. Taylor after Riya's mother. So Ciera was still younger than Riya.

But the difference was not much.

"Don't worry Baby." Mrs. Taylor patted Ciera's head tenderly. "Since she refused to listen, then we'll just use the hard way."

Ciera's eyes flashed.

Over the past few months, she had been trying to talk with Riya about this matter again and again. After all, she felt that her condition was already deteriorating and it was time for Riya to step forward and used her kidney.

Ciera only wanted Riya's kidney.

In her opinion, it was only natural for Riya to donate her kidney for her to use.

That b*tch was only a lowly girl whom no one wanted, so why not do more good deeds and donate her kidney for someone like her who needed it more?

Hmph!

"Mother, will Father be opposed to this?" Ciera asked again.

"Don't worry, he didn't need to know." Mrs. Taylor shook her head. "In some matters, you just have to leave it to me and not your father."

"I know, Mom~." Ciera clung to her mother happily and there was a flash of ruthlessness and smugness flashed with her eyes.

That Riya had been avoiding her and refused.

But in the end, isn't she had to donate her kidney willingly?

Ciera even wanted this b*tch to just give her the two kidney and not just one. This way, it would be much better for her.

But of course, Ciera couldn't say it to her mother like this.

"Shall we go to the hospital now?" Ciera asked.

"No hurry, after they caught her, they still have to do operation to remove the kidney." Mrs. Taylor patted her daughter's head. "We just need to wait at home for news of the successful operation."

Ciera nodded and felt that her mother is really smart.

She looked at her mother's phone, eagerly waiting for the phone call from the people Mrs Taylor sent.