

Last Days 41

Chapter 41 Hospital Visit (2)

Amelia was worried for Riya, but after getting the doctor's words of confirmation that Riya was fine, Amelia finally stopped.

She left not long afterwards and on her way back, she complained to her brother.

"Brother, help me to look up for the Taylor Family! I don't believe that they have nothing to do in this incident!" Amelia said in annoyance.

"I know, but it wouldn't be easy," Samuel answered lightly.

As someone who dabbled in this business, Samuel knew more than his younger sister. If they were confident enough to the point of doing things openly in this place, it meant that they were prepared to face whatever would be thrown to them.

Amelia heard this and frowned but she still said, "I don't care. I just don't want to see them swaggering after doing this to Riya!"

In her eyes, Riya is her best friend and if these people dared to do such a thing to Riya, it meant that they had offended her too!

Samuel glanced at his sister and hummed. "I know."

Even if the chance was low, he would still try it out. Not only because this is his sister's request but also because he didn't like the thought of these people messing around and acting as if they owned the world.

It could also be said that they were doing good deeds without leaving a name.

Besides, Riya is his sister's friend and Samuel didn't want to let his sister be sad.

Taylor Family

Mrs. Taylor and Ciera have been waiting for the news to arrive. But the news they received were not the successful kidnapping but instead the big failure. The two people she asked to kidnap Riya were instead injured that they were hospitalized.

This made Mrs. Taylor so angry that she almost vomited blood.

"How come it's a failure? Didn't I ask you to make sure that Riya will be hospitalized and then everything can be discussed later? Where is she now?"

"Riya is now in public hospital...."

Hearing the name, Mrs. Taylor frowned. It would be harder to get their people into that hospital. Moreover, the hospital was also full of people and taking Riya out wouldn't be easy.

But if her injury was severe...

"She only twist her legs and she's going out tomorrow."

The next piece of news only made Mrs. Taylor even angrier.

"How come such a big accident only cause her to twist her legs? Are you even doing your job properly? You #$%^&*!"

Series of cursing came out of Mrs. Taylor's mouth as she finished the call with this person. She knew very well that this operation was a big failure and that there was nothing that she could do.

If Riya was seriously injured, she could secretly transport the other party out of the hospital with the pretext of having a surgery. Now that Riya only twisted her leg, what kind of surgery were you talking about?

Mrs. Taylor was annoyed.

Ciera, who was listening to her mother's words, also found out that the plan they had been making would not work at all. This made her annoyed, but she also knew that they couldn't make a move right away again.

Making successive move would only arouse suspicion.

And would Riya even give them this chance?

Even if Riya couldn't find the evidence that it was done by the Taylor Family, it was estimated that she would try not to come out in the slightest bit so that there was no chance for them target her.

This was frustrating.

Ciera was about to enter to talk with her mother when she saw her father coming with a dark face. Her words were swallowed back and she retreated.

She didn't want to see her parent's quarrel.

When they did, there was simply no peace at home. She didn't want to accidentally gets in their way.

So before her father could come any closer, Ciera was long gone.

Her brother saw this and silently turned around too to avoid being hit by their father's scolding.

Bang!

"Why are you slamming the door?!"

"Do you know what you have done? I was informed that the Jones Family is investigating my business!"
Mr. Taylor was angry.

He thought that everything was fine and nothing would happen. As for dealing with Riya, he planned to do that with some other methods in the future as there was no need to hurry so much.

His daughter's condition has relatively stabilized right now.

But his damn wife just had to go out and made trouble for him. Did she really think that they were invincible and could do anything they wanted?

Mrs. Taylor's expression froze for a moment and then said, "So what if they did, they can't do anything to you! And it's just one Jones Family. What are you afraid of?"

She was full of confidence that nothing could happen to them. With their backgrounds, who would dare to step forward and made trouble with them?

If they dared to, she will go and find someone more powerful to cover it up. Anyway, Mrs. Taylor didn't lack money at all.

Seeing his wife complacent look, Mr. Taylor was so angry that he scolded.

"It's not just! Don't you know...."

Riya's side.

Riya didn't know that Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor were fighting against each other.

She was discharged the next day and then returned to her dormitory, determined to stay there and spent her time practicing.

As for the matter of the Taylor Family, Riya didn't have much hope.

Her magic was not investigation type.

And she also had no idea where to start looking for evidences for what Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor might have done.

In that case, she could only put this matter behind.

But if there was a chance in the future... Riya would not hesitate to take this revenge. She would not let them off so easily for making her suffer like this.
