

RUNEMASTER IN THE LAST DAYS

Chapter 6 Gathering Supplies (2)

"She's gone." Cero snorted. He didn't like Riya at all.

Ciera pursed her lips. Ciera naturally didn't care about Riya. The only reason why she pestered Riya was because she wanted to establish a good sister image in order to coax Riya to agree to donate her kidney.

She had been suffering from having to go to the hospital every three days and hearing that this b*tch Riya matched her, she wanted to get the kidney.

But the persuasion seemed to be useless.

In truth, she really didn't like Riya.

Ever since they were young the two of them had been compared to each other. But thankfully, her parents only liked her, so Ciera always felt comfortable.

"Yes, I know. I just think that there's no need for Father to drastically kick her out," Ciera said slowly.

Mrs. Taylor showed a face of disgust. "Why does the family want to keep her, anyway? Just looking at her makes one feel annoyed."

For Mrs. Taylor, Riya's existence was nothing more than reminder. Reminder that her husband used to have a relationship with another woman.

Thus, she would rather have no relationship with Riya as much as possible.

If not because of her beloved daughter's situation, she would rather never come to Riya and asked for that poor ghost's help.

Riya's personality was also quite direct, in which she asked for severance letter and also money for nurturing because the family had never raised her.

"She can't ask us if there's anything. I'll figure out a way for your situation. Come on, we're here to buy some horse for your brother to play."

Ciera showed a kind smile. "Yes, Mother."

Riya paid no attention to the small disturbance.

She had always thought of herself as an orphan because of the extremely poor relationship between her and her parents.

They have never been there when she truly needed it.

Now that she had become an adult and these two had their own family members, she would not disturb them. As for the so called nurturing grace and whatsoever, they had neglected her and caused her to nearly die many years ago.

Thus, the law would not support her even if she was asked to pay their pension.

Besides, the Taylor Family and the other families were rich and had several companies under their name. She was not clear about the business world, but she knew that they wouldn't bother with her.

Until a few days ago.

Riya pursed her lips.

After she had obtained this ability, she didn't want to make trouble with these people if it was possible. But if they were truly unkind and wanted to make trouble, then don't blame her for being ruthless.

She's not a soft persimmon who will not retaliate if her interest and well being is touched.

Riya cleaned up her bag and set off, but she didn't head to the tracking area immediately. Instead, she went to the few villages and bought a lot of grains and some other vegetables. It was really fresh from here. She just wanted to stock them up.

After all, even if she wanted to plant them, it would take time.

Thankfully, freezing the time was easier and didn't consume much of the world's mana.

Riya wanted to stock up food and many others.

After the grains, Riya brought some seeds from vegetables seed to fruit seeds and tossed them to her world. She bought a lot of varieties, especially the fruits that she liked. When it was night time, she sorted them all up and begin her planting process.

Farmer Riya is online~.

"Hmm, apples, oranges, grapes." Riya was busy transplanting the seedlings while controlling the world to create an area suitable for planting. Thankfully, the world had gotten wider again after absorbing a lot of mana.

After hours of working, Riya was barely satisfied with her garden.

"Uh, forget it, Farmer Riya is not very good at her work." Riya joked with herself and smiled.

It was quite lonely.

moo

Turning to look at the farm at the side, Riya smiled helplessly yet there was a smile in her eyes.

Alright, not that lonely.

She proceeded to milk the cow and goats, checked the coop and then fill the food with the necessary feeds that she had bought a lot before.

For the time being, she still couldn't produce these feeds by herself, so she bought them all.

"This world is filled with more mana than outside, but I can't practice here for the time being unless I want the world collapsed." Riya shook her head with pity.

She looked at the animals and wondered whether they would have some changes because of living in a world with more mana.

Riya kind of anticipating it, but she was not in a rush.

Anyway, this world is hers and she could do anything she wanted here. The only reason why she hastened the process to gather these animals was because she had no intention of going to the farm again for the next few months.

It was better for her to be ready.

"If only I'm still a magician, I can also use some water spells and growth spells."

With that thought, Riya doubled her determination to meditate.

She left the world and appeared on the hills. Looking at her empty surroundings, Riya sat cross legged and began to meditate.

Anyway, there was no monitoring here and it was near the tracking points. Tomorrow, she would start her journey of collecting delicious food.

The money she earned before had to be used.

What was the use of her earning a lot of money if she couldn't use it for what she wanted in the end?

She liked delicious food and being able to hoard them is also good.

So, hamster Riya is now online~

The tracking area was famous and it was cheap to set tents along the route because a lot of people came every day.

Riya only need to buy the tickets and then stopped by the few stopping points.

Along the way, she bought a lot of takeaway food that she liked. This way, she would be able to eat her favorite food while she was staying in her small world without the need to come out.

How nice would it be?

At this point, Riya had made the small world as her second home. She bought a lot of daily necessities and when she was bored, she would enter the small world to build a small house for herself at the edge.

The size of the small world was still expanding slowly but surely.

It depended on the mana that she and the world gathered.

Her own magic was getting better and Riya also felt rather satisfied with her current progress.

The progress might be slow for many other people, but it was fast for this world with such thin mana.

Riya spent an entire month in the tracking area before she came back to the university and signed up for the last semester.

The holiday has come to an end and Riya still has to face the last semester of university.

She sighed when she thought about this.

"Too bad I can't collect more food."

Feeling a bit of pity, Riya silently went to the supermarket and bought a lot of supplies including snacks. Anyway, she was not the type of person who would care too much about whether the food was healthy or not as long as it was delicious and she had eaten enough for her nutrition for the day.

She visited a few supermarkets to make her move not so noticeable. This was because if people were to ask why she bought a lot of food, she wouldn't be able to answer.

The millions of NA that she previously had was dwindling at rapid speed as Riya stock up for other items in the supermarket. With so many items, it looked a bit hard to carry, but Riya simply tossed them into her world after entering an empty alley.

Many things were bought including medicines and so on that she deemed important for her to live a 'seclusion' life.

After it was done, Riya headed to her dormitory.
