

Last Days 62

Chapter 62 Confrontation (2)

They knew each other?

Riya heard them calling each other by name and felt a bit strange. Granted that she didn't know Samuel's circle of friends, but at this time, she felt that the two of them should have met at that magic world.

As for how.... If she was not wrong, Peter challenged countless genius and some of them managed to fend him off. Samuel might have been among them.

After all, his sword aura was very strong.

Magic Warrior, surnamed Jones and also very strong... putting these pieces of information together, Riya vaguely remember that there was indeed such a person in the magic world. But she was not very sure that he was Samuel because she had never met that person directly.

It couldn't be helped, that person's status was very high while she was mediocre.

"You're with them?" Samuel saw Governor Zachary and guessed more or less what Peter did. For a person without proper background, their continent's governor naturally became the best option for them.

It was just that for someone like Samuel, this option basically didn't exist. He didn't want to hand over his power to other people and put his life in their hands. No matter where, he was more used to keep his life under his control and all.

"Yes." Peter looked at Samuel up and down and sighed secretly. It seemed that their background in that magic world also depended on their background in this world. He was from ordinary background and in order to become powerful, he challenged countless people until he wanted to vomit blood.

His entire body always felt very painful and it was unknown how many times he was beaten up to the point that he visited the gate of hell.

But this was the path he had taken and Peter would not give up so easily. even if he was beaten up until he nearly died, he would still challenge more and more people.

Eventually, he really did visit the gate of hell.

But instead of dying, he came back to his first life.

"I see."

After that extremely short and inexplicable conversation, the two men didn't look at each other anymore. Their identity in this world was unsuitable for them to contact each other.

Not to mention... they had almost killed each other in that world before they come back.

It felt a bit weird to talk cordially with the other party because Samuel was tempted to raise his sword while Peter was tempted to punch Samuel.

The repulsion feeling from both of them were mutual, so they seemed to tacitly agree not to talk to each other.

"Do you know him?" Governor Zachary asked. He only nodded to Samuel because he had interacted with the other party in the past.

"I just know him." Peter didn't want to explain more.

Governor Zachary saw Peter's gesture and didn't pester the other party to talk. Instead, he was talking about the stones in front of them and tried to talk more to know about Peter.

Samuel ignored these two and walked to his sister and Riya. "Go back home. Mother is going to be worried."

"In that case, you tell her that I don't want to practice anymore!" Amelia complained. She really didn't want to practice because her brother was very fierce and always tried to make her train until she was dead tired.

"That wouldn't do."

"Then I'm not coming back yet." Amelia pouted. She didn't want to return only to be forced to practice all the time. It was so tiring.

Samuel frowned, but looking at his sister's appearance, he knew that it would be impossible for him to convince her to come back. Since it was the case, he turned to look at Riya. "Let me talk with Riya for a while. You wait in the car."

"This..." Amelia frowned.

"Don't worry, he won't eat me." Riya patted Amelia's back. "I'll go out soon."

Even though Amelia still felt inexplicably worried, she followed Riya's words and walked out. Anyway, one of them is her brother and the other is her best friend in the university. Nothing should happen to them.

Riya followed Samuel to a relatively empty corner in the hallway. Her clear eyes were staring straight at Samuel. "Senior Samuel, is there anything I could do?"

"The temperature lately has been rising steadily. Mel is not very comfortable in Summer. I'll need to trouble you to take care of my sister," Samuel said slowly.

The temperature was warmer?

Riya had noticed that the temperature was rising lately, but she attributed it to the fact that it was going to be summer soon, so she didn't care. Was the temperature increase this time abnormal?

Last year and the year before that, Samuel had never mentioned this matter to her nor to Amelia.
