

Last Days 65

Chapter 65 Earthquake

After getting the jade needed, Riya was busy to make the formation plate and talisman. Formation plate was the type of formation that was drawn on the surface of the medium and needed to be injected by mana in order to activate it. It was much more convenient than having to draw or to place the formation flags to make the formation.

The talisman using the jade could be used repeatedly as long as it was infused with Mana. The way to activate it needed mana or some trigger mechanism, so this kind of repeatable talisman using the jade was usually not used by ordinary people.

Riya also made ordinary talisman, especially the cold talisman.

The temperature was increasing rapidly that when Riya checked the temperature outside, she was shocked. It was over 50 degree Celsius (122 Fahrenheit).

It was so damn hot that it would be hard for them to get out without sweating. Even if Riya had already put on those cold talismans and used air conditioner, the temperature in this dormitory was barely enough for them to live normally.

'Should I make the advance one?'

But it required much more mana and Riya was a bit unwilling to spend so much time making it.

Forget it, it should be enough for the time being.

If the temperature continued to increase, then she will think about what she should do in the future.

"Little Riya, what are you busy with? Oh right, do you need help to open those rocks? I can ask them to help you." Amelia recalled that Riya had just obtained those rocks and hadn't checked them.

"No need. It's fine." Riya shook her head. She didn't need anyone to help.

"Okay~. Oh right, Ruby said that she'll be resting in her dormitory today because she's tired. Do you want to pay a visit to her?"

"Did she finish another experiment?" Riya asked. If she was not wrong, Ruby was doing an experiment the last time they talked.

"I think so."

"Let's pay a visit later. Have you had your breakfast?"

"Yep, my nanny come and send it not long ago." Amelia grinned. "There's your portion on the table."

"Ok."

When Amelia was staying in the dormitory, her nanny often came to deliver food. When Riya was also here, Amelia would instruct them to prepare for her portion too.

Well, the time during the mist was the exception.

Because Amelia was 'running away' from home and there was no one who would dare to get out in that situation.

She had no other choice but to wrong herself with Riya's barely edible food. Well, it was not that bad, but for someone who had been pampered all her life, that couldn't be called good.

"Ok."

"Oh right, after you finish your mean, come with me to play with Sophia. This game is making me frustrated." Amelia pursed her lips.

"As long as you're willing to spend time and learn, you will get better at playing the game. After all, a game had its set of rules and if you know how to maneuver within the set of rules, you can technically win." Riya smiled.

Amelia pouted and focused on her game again.

On the other hand, Riya finished her meal and then returned to the living room. Pasting a few more cold talismans to regulate the temperature. As the temperature got hotter, it would be impossible for them to live normally without these talismans paper to make sure the temperature would not increase too much.

At the very least, she wanted to make sure that they could live normally in this room.

On the other hand, it seemed that Amelia didn't notice anything wrong with this temperature.

It was good enough since it meant that what she did was not too noticeable and they simply thought that it was the work of the air conditioner.

Just as Riya was about to make more, she felt that there was tremor coming from below. Her eyes shook.

"Get under the table, Mel!"

"Yes!"

Amelia was stunned by the sudden tremor and quickly hid under the desk not far from her. They were in the fourth floor, it was unrealistic to run down when the floor was shaking so badly like this.

Riya felt that she couldn't even keep her balance, but she still rushed towards her desk, sat down and took out the defensive formation plate and infused mana inside. This formation plate would create an invisible cover around them that could protect them.

The range was not big, but it was enough for Riya and Amelia.

All she could hope was that the building would not collapse because there were still other students in this dormitory.

Not to mention, Ruby was also there.

Boom! Bang!

The crashing sound could be heard from outside along with screams and others.

At this moment, countless people's lives were on the line.

BOOM!