

Last Days 72

Chapter 72 The Cracks

Time passed quietly.

Riya swiftly eliminated most of the magic beasts on the surface around the academy and then went to check the cracks where these magic beasts came out.

For her, who had reached rank 3, these magic beasts were nothing. In fact, it could be said that she dealt with them so easily that Riya felt no challenge. Aside from the consumption of her mana, she was uninjured.

It took Riya some time to find the correct crack where these magic beast came from.

After all, the earthquake itself had caused countless cracks to appear. Some cracks were just a small crack but some others were so big and deep that they didn't know what was down there.

Looking at the crack in front of her where the magic beasts were climbing out, Riya pursed her lips.

"Found you."

Swish!

Raising her hand, the formation started to form and these magic beasts were all stabbed with her magic and fell down once more.

*roar!*

Some of the magic beasts roared and attempted to come out once again. But with Riya killing them here, they basically couldn't even get close.

Looking at the large number of magic beast in front of her, Riya pursed her lips. She knew that it would be impossible for her to eliminate these magic beasts so quickly if their number were too many like this.

So she had to use another way.

Looking around, Riya silently grabbed one of the magic beast and then collected the beast blood. With her mana wrapping the blood, Riya started to draw on the side of these cracks. On the surface, it would not be visible as this place was already bloody, but if they were to pay attention, they would see there was a specific drawing of the blood.

Using her mana, Riya quickly finished drawing a formation on top of this crack with the magic beast's blood.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

She could faintly heard these magic beasts activating the formation and dying one by one, falling down once more.

"It's good."

Riya nodded in satisfaction.

The blood of the magic beast should be able to last for some time.

Riya watched for a while, calculating the used mana and after some consideration, it should be able to last for a week unless these magic beasts turned crazy and attacked in a large number.

"They wouldn't do something so stupid, right?"

Riya was not sure.

She simply took another magic beast corpse and then used the blood to create another formation on top of this one formation.

Double layer formation.

This kind of formation required the formation master to understand the lines better than before. Because if the lines were to overlap each other, they might interfere with the other formation and instead of enhancing the performance, it would only bring the performance worse.

After looking for a few times, Riya then stepped back and used the last bit of the blood to create a concealment formation outside these two killing formations.

The concealment formation was the type of formation that could be used to cover the large area to prevent them from seeing what was inside. What they could see could be determined by the pattern of the formation depending on what the one who made the formation wanted them to see.

It was not that difficult.

At least, for Riya, it was not.

Within a few minutes, she had set up the concealment formation. Since this formation was set for a wider range than the killing formation, there was almost no overlap in the formation lines.

"Done." Riya nodded in satisfaction.

She couldn't do much to the other magic beasts that were scattered in a large area. But at the very least, the number of the magic beasts wouldn't increase anymore.

Would it?

Riya frowned as she looked at the crack in front of her. Even though there was a concealment formation here, Riya was still able to see through the formation as long as she knew how to crack it.

Of course, she would not disturb the formation she had just set up.

The magic beast's body had been thrown to her world as it could be used as fertilizer for her world.

What she was thinking right now was whether there were any other cracks like this nearby. After all, if there were more cracks, then there would be more magic beasts coming out and possibly cover the entire area.

'Let's check it, then.'

Riya looked at her phone to determine the time and seeing that it was still early, she decided to go out and hunt more of these magic beasts while trying to take a look at the other cracks.

But before that, she had to recover her mana first. Making 3 formations within a short few minutes was not easy and she almost bottomed out her mana. She had to recover first before going out or she wouldn't be able to fight against these magic beasts.

*sigh*

This would be a sleepless night.

Time passed quietly.

Riya only returned when it was about dawn. And after searching for almost the entire night, Riya was basically sure that there was no other cracks near the academy. Since she still has to return here, Riya basically only checked the area within certain radius of the academy.

Further away?

Sorry, there was not enough time.

And Riya was really tired.

Upon returning, she sat down to recover her mana.

Even though she was already a rank 3 mage, but Riya knew very well that rank 3 mage was still at the bottom of the ranking. Their abilities could only at most kill a rank one or two magic beast.

To be honest, if the world hadn't changed, a rank 3 mage could do many things and become a superhuman or something like that.

But now that these unranked magic beasts appeared...

Riya knew that she had to strengthen herself to reach rank 4 as soon as possible.

So when Riya got back, she sat back on her place, set the stones and then meditate.
