

Last System 444

Chapter 444 Drying Up (R18)

Mia's request... was weird.

She just now struggled to take my sperm piecemeal and through her mouth rather than her genitals, greatly decreasing the potency of the fake dual cultivation we were performing.

And while each of the parts she took in was only potent enough to let her energy multiply a few times, there was still some of it left on her face by the time she filled her cultivation to the brim and started to look forward to the next breakthrough.

From a logical, mathematical even standpoint, what she just said didn't make any sense. Because if I were to release inside her, I would ignore all the limitations that I put in place to keep her safe.

And what was even more important, I didn't recall the second stage of the enlightenment to have so much more potential for Mia to bank on it!

But still...

'She trusts in me,' I thought, gritting my teeth. 'And she herself is best suited to judge her own situation.'

To say that I knew more about cultivation than Mia would be an outright lie. Because contrary to her, I never really had to struggle with any of the parts that made cultivation what it is.

While others had to study the past experiences of their ancestors, seek enlightenment by learning more about the world, look for resources to fuel their growth... I had it all put on a silver platter thanks to the influence of my system.

Or, in other words, save for finding the energy-rich resources to fuel my cultivation, I didn't have to worry about anything besides the enlightenments and ascendancies.

As such, it would be nothing but arrogance to claim I knew more about cultivation than Mia did.

And yet...

'It's scary,' I admitted to myself while moving my hands over to Mia's breasts.

With her naked back tightly pressed against my chest and her ass grinding down on my hips I didn't need much to get myself ready.

And to make my job even easier, Mia went the extra mile of raising her hips up all the way to the point where rather than sitting between my legs, she sat on top of my lap.

In this position, the tip of my dick was already pressed against her wet pussy, ready to go in at any time.

"I will be starting then," Mia informed.

Since I was ready, I left her right breast and lowered my hand to grab her fingers and give them a gentle squeeze.

A simple act of encouragement.

That was the limit of what I could do.

With her eyes closed, Mia focused on her cultivation. She pushed it to circulate through her body faster and faster, using a tiny portion of the energy within her to accelerate the rest.

Bit by bit, her energy gained momentum, quickly reaching the limits of how quickly it could circulate within the bounds of Mia's current limits.

And then, as if she was a race driver who suddenly pulled the steering wheel all the way to the side, Mia derailed her cultivation, forcing it to flow through a slightly different path!

'What the...!' My eyes opened up wide when I realized what she was doing.

I didn't understand the point of it, I couldn't tell the reason why she did something so drastic, extremely dangerous, and... basically pointless.

And yet, unable to do anything at this point save for sucking all her energy dry and basically destroying all of her cultivation...

I had no choice but to wait and see.

At first, Mia's own mana started to melt her insides. Unaccustomed to the presence of this purest form of energy, her internal organs couldn't handle it.

Mia's face twisted in an expression of extreme pain. Her cheeks turned red and her eyes filled with tears to the brim.

And yet... She held her pain in, forcing more and more of her mana to take this new, deranged path.

'To whatever god is out there,' I started praying, 'please, allow her to get through this safely.'

I never really bothered myself with religion. It was something that I simply... didn't think much about.

But at this moment, with Mia basically killing herself while in my arms, I saw no other hope but to pray.

And as if some entity actually listened up to my desperate wishes. Mia's situation started to stabilize. Her organs somehow made it through, repairing themselves with the newfound energy at a rate faster than the mana could dissolve them.

A moment later, Mia finally reached a stable state, with her cultivation exploding far past what I considered to be possible for her current stage. Even though I had no idea how the hell it could be possible, she forcefully tore down her limits, furthering her potential by leaps and bounds with her sheer fucking will.

My heart calmed down a little, allowing me to bring my lips towards Mia's neck and give it a little, affectionate kiss.

Yet, as soon as my lips touched Mia's skin... the situation reversed.

The mana Mia had in her body quickly turned out to be just a drop in the ocean that she created. And as it spread thin, the residue damage to her insides left from the forced expansion of her domain... Her insides no longer had enough energy to keep on fixing it!

Mia pressed her eyelids together with so much strength they started to turn red.

'Now!' I realized, instantly raising my hands and grabbing Mia's breast.

The moment of terror and hopelessness that filled my soul when I thought Mia would die was more than enough to kill all the lust I still had left in me.

And now, right when I was supposed to come in and provide the energy for Mia to properly fill her cultivation...

I was too soft to penetrate her!

'Fuck!' I cursed in my mind, desperately groping at her soft flesh while shaking my hips like some sort of junkie in heat, rubbing the shroom of my dick against her gaping pussy.

Mia was drying up. All the mana that she had in herself was dispersing at a visible rate.

I continued to shank the outside of her genitals like mad, taking a look at her inner state at the same time.

And then it struck me.

The only reason why Mia would need to expand her limits like that was to make her cultivation capable of holding far greater amounts of energy than it usually would.

And there was only one reason that I could come up with for her to do so.

'She did all of this just to be with me,' I thought, feeling a strange sensation building up in my spine.

'She was willing to go that far, just to make sure... she could keep pleasuring me?!'

I closed my eyes.

The mix of feelings that filled my soul was so damn complicated even I struggled to figure out what was going on.

But for now, only one feeling out of all of them was important.

With each passing second, Mia was reaching closer and closer to the limit of how much her body could handle.

And with literal seconds to spare, I finally grew hard enough.

So, without any further hesitation, I moved my hands down from her breasts to her hips before pulling her back and nailing her all the way down on my erection!