

Last System 500

Chapter 500 Pro-Creation (Part 2)(R18)

"Ah..."

Mia screamed out in shock. She pulled her head back. All of her muscles tensed up, making her wrap herself all around me tighter than ever before.

My own head suddenly went bad, filling with feelings and sensations I could've not experienced.

For but an instant, I felt everything about Mia's body just as well as I could feel my own. I could feel my dick in her... and all the pleasure that having it scrap against her insides brought the girl.

And judging from Mia's reaction, the full range of my own pleasure, desire, and affection filled her mind as well.

This strange weave of both of our mana flows that connected and then entangled... It was so complex, so fine in its foundations, that it apparently connected our minds together!

"Arty!"

A bout of fear filled Mia's soul, only to resonate with my own soul.

I felt my... no, it was her head that moved. Fueled by the fear I could feel, Mia's head rocked forth as she sought my lips, seeking assurance in a kiss.

My hips jerked up.

'So lovely,' a sense of adoration filled my mind... and likely struck Mia as well.

In this chaotic moment, we all shared our feelings, thoughts, and deepest sensations. As such, there was no use hiding anything, as a mere attempt at doing so would only cause the matter to come up at the top of our shared mind.

Responding to Mia's wish that I felt, I grabbed her closer and pulled her head, aggressively assaulting her lips.

Zink!

As if some playful god turned up the sensitivity of the spell, the second our lips pressed, everything increased by tenfold.

Now, Mia's feelings weren't something that I could just feel, something that I was aware of.

Now, Mia's feelings simply became mine.

As if we turned into a single organism that instantly reacted to its needs and desires, we now moved in tandem, in perfect symphony.

Despite how Mia's cultivation still didn't allow her to be well through a sustained influx of energy from my cum, it didn't matter to her so deeply it instantly voided all the worries that could be born in my heart.

My sperm from before now turned to a lubricant that made Mia's pussy an even better fit for our bodies to connect and lock together.

At this moment, there was no sense of me or her. It was only us.

Connected in the shared sea of consciousness, instantly responding to everything that as much as only ever flashed in our minds.

Mia accepted every sort of desire burning in my heart, moving her hips to make her pussy act in a way I only ever could experience with my hand before. My own dick reacted to Mia's wishes too, tensing up and standing at attention even mid-move, just to press against the part of the girl's insides that felt particularly good.

My hands sought all the points that the girl wanted me to caress right now, constantly moving all over her body.

The most complex thought that I could form in my current, messy state of mind, was how her reactions to my dick and hands made her even more adorable, squirming while holding me in a tight embrace... This only served to fuel Mia's desire to be touched even more, making her even more adorable, both in the flesh and in the soul, which closed the virtuous cycle of affection.

Bit by bit, even though we did absolutely everything that we could to provide for all the desires that burned in our hearts, our passion only even kept on growing.

It was as if the fire inside of us couldn't be stopped, forever seeking to grow until it would consume the two of us.

Somewhat vaguely, I could sense my cultivation starting to merge with Mia's.

The second I realized it, the girl noticed it herself. And although we both went through a bout of fear of what it could mean...

In a mere second, we both came to accept whatever was happening.

It just felt right to merge on every possible level, even if it would lead to some sort of disaster and ultimately the end of our lives.

After all, if we could be so closely connected, then what else could ever matter in the world?

Suddenly, a thought surfaced. A mere memory that could not come from this world.

And in it...

Our bodies froze.

As if the floodgates have burst open, a memory of a single photograph from my former life led to the tsunami of all the thoughts that were connected with it.

Mia didn't even need to ask. She simply felt the desire to know more, eager to indulge herself in me even further. And the second I felt it, my thoughts innocently responded, flooding her brain with all sorts of pictures, knowledge, and facts.

I experienced this flood as well, noticing how Mia seemed to instantly absorb and digest all of the information flowing into her as if it was all part of her own life as well.

This thought, served to create another logical tangent of thoughts that all filled our shared consciousness, giving Mia a precise and detailed insight into everything that was related to the original thought.

"Mwah!"

Suddenly, the connection weakened by a massive margin.

I could still feel the echo of Mia's everything... but now it was all dulled down.

After experiencing the full connection for what had to be like a mere moment in reality, my mind was no longer numbed by this partial one.

"We need to stop..." Mia managed to breathe heavily out.

She was horny out of her mind, eager to devour every last bit of cum that my body could produce. She was deadset on having my seed blossom in her womb, regardless of how impossible of a feat it would be for cultivators like us...

And I felt all of that. And despite all of those feelings of hers, she still managed to rein herself in.

"We will be out of our minds if we keep at it," the girl struggled to speak, clearly forcing her lips to move over just transmitting her thoughts over our weakened connection. "If an attack comes... Or if this will lead us down a wrong path..."

I scoured my mind, trying to make sense of the situation.

Now that Mia took the struggle to voice her worries, I just couldn't think about anything else but solving them.

And in a mere instant, a set of thoughts went back and forth between the two of us.

"Master!"

I called out with my mana, somehow borrowing the complexity of the energy structure connecting our cultivation to reach out through the walls, through all the distance that separated me from Levi.

And from the sound of someone jumping up and hitting his head with something, my call succeeded.

'Now then,' I thought, reaching down and grabbing the sheets from under my ass before throwing them in the air and ultimately pulling them down to cover our bodies.

A mere moment later, Levi burst into the room, ready to ward off any invader who dared to invade the two of us in our private time.

He stopped across the rubble of the doors that he broke during his entrance... and froze.

"Where?!" the royal called out, all ready to unleash his full power to squash any damn bug that managed to infiltrate the city.

"Levi, that's not it," I replied in a low voice while making sure Mia's entire body was now perfectly hidden under relatively loose sheets.

And just like before, all of my sense of jealousy, unwillingness to let anyone get even a single idea of how Mia looked like... It all resounded within her mind as well.

"I kinda need you to stand guard and make sure no one will bother us for... heavens only know how long," I explained with a troubled smile.

Levi looked up at my face and then down to a huge lump below the sheets that I was covering my chest with.

At first, a look of bother appeared on his face. And then, as he raised his eyes back to look at me, his face froze in astonishment.