Chapter 391: Assault and Slander

When the Long Family's patriarch suddenly fell into a coma, the company's stock prices instantly dropped. Of course, this was considered normal as the company's future is now uncertain under the new acting chairman Long Yi. Because of this, many stockholders chose to sell their stocks in a panic. Some even sell the stocks at low prices simply because they wanted them gone.

Of course, Shen Qui took advantage of this.

Not only did he started buying shares from Long Corp., but he also bought some shares from Huang Security. In this type of war, winning overnight is almost impossible. And Shen Qui was actually planning to take it slow slow and painful.

He was planning to take everything that was taken away from his wife, and he would make a big show out of it. He wanted to make sure that Lyca would sit in the front seat to watch this beautiful show.

"You "

Shen Qui just walked out of a restaurant with Ronan when he heard a shrill voice.

"How dare you!"

He already expected to see Huang Ying, but he never expected to see her just a day after her husband signed the acquisition.

"Where is your wife!? Where is she? How dare you bully my family like that?"

"Call the police," Shen Qui said in a low voice as he removed his shades and smiled at Huang Ying. "Miss Huang I am surprised that you are not still in prison. How are you?"

"You What kind of question is that? Why would I be in prison?" Huang Ying glared at Shen Qui. She stood a few feet away from him. "Where is your wife? Let me talk to her!" Since the other night, Huang Ying had been looking for ways to talk to Lyca.

She already visited the mansion where she was staying, but she refused to say her. All the people in that mansion said she was sleeping. How could someone sleep all day?

Obviously, it was a silly reason just so she would stop standing outside of the mansion.

"My wife is not feeling well. Do you need something?"

"You forced my husband to sign that acquisition, didn't you?"

"Miss Huang, I don't understand what you are talking about."

Huang Ying squinted. She took a step forward.

"I would advise you against that. Hurting me would surely land you in jail." Shen Qui gave a tightlipped smile. The confidence in his face only made Huang Ying more and more furious. She wanted to slap that man's handsome face. She wanted to wipe off that smug smile on his face. She wanted to hurt him!

Unfortunately, she knew that wouldn't be possible at least not right now.

"Your wife already destroyed my life! Why isn't she satisfied? Why does she want to destroy my family too?"

"What family? I thought Mr. Zhang already kicked you out?" Shen Qui asked. "He said "

"I don't care what he said! I am the mother of his children, and I am still his wife! I didn't sign the divorce! Meaning, I am still a part of the Zhang Family!"

"Oh." Shen Qui said as he started walking towards the parking lot, a place where CCTV was located. He then eyed Ronan, who was walking ahead of him. "Miss Huang I am in a hurry." He wanted to finish all the meetings as fast as possible so he could go home to his wife. "If you want to say something "

"Give the company back to my son!"

"Does he have five hundred million? If he does, then I would be thrilled to give it back to him."

"You I am still your wife's aunt! How dare you disrespect me?"

Shen Qui halted his steps. He turned towards her, confusion painted on his face. "So you can disrespect your own father, but I can't disrespect you who is merely stranger to me? Where did you get this logic?"

"You You "Huang Ying pointed at him, but Shen Qui already ignored her. He put his shade back on as he walked towards his car. "I said, don't disrespect me like that! I am an elder! Don't you dare walk away while I am still talking!" Unable to stop herself, Huang Ying used her handbag and threw it towards Shen Qui's head.

The sound of her bag hitting Shen Qui before it hit the ground made her pause. Taking a step back, Huang Ying instantly paled. Unfortunately, she couldn't see the look on Shen Qui's eyes as it was covered by the shades, but she knew he he was furious.

"I won't hit back," Shen Qui's voice rifted towards her like a hot electric current. It made her shiver in fear. "I don't hit women."

"I I didn't mean to do that."

"The CCTV would say otherwise." Shen Qui only smiled at him.

And that was when she realized that this man this evil man, must have wanted her to hit him. "You you actually "Huang Ying tried to curse at him, but no words left her mouth when she spotted the two police officers coming her way. "Help! This man is trying to assault me! He He wanted to kidnap me!" In a desperate attempt to escape, Huang Ying blurted out the first words that she could think of.

She knew it was stupid.

And she knew she shouldn't have said something like that.

But it was too late.

"Sir, I am Ronan please check the video from the footage of my car just now. This woman was attempting to hurt my boss." Ronan was quick enough to defend Shen Qui as he showed his phone. "This is connected to the front camera of the car." He instantly explained to the two cops.

"That That is not true! I didn't do anything!"

"Miss Huang you didn't just hit me. You are also slandering me. As you know, I am a businessman. reputation is very important for me." Shen Qui smiled at her. "I hope you still have money for your lawyers because I will assure you. This is going to be a very long case."
