Limits 126

Chapter 126

The contract was indeed generous, a clear display of Starlight Entertainment's determination to sign Jack. The terms were lucrative, and the pay was tempting enough to make him seriously consider the offer.

After carefully reviewing the contract to ensure there were no hidden traps, Jack finally nodded, picked up the pen, and signed his name before pressing his fingerprint onto the document.

The signing process went smoothly, and Felix's mood visibly lifted.

During their celebratory dinner, the atmosphere was lighthearted and pleasant.

As they talked, Felix shared more details about the upcoming concert.

It would be a massive event featuring nearly ten stars, all from Starlight Entertainment's roster. Some of them were household names-icons of the entertainment industry. But this time, they would be the supporting acts.

Soul's name had already taken the music scene by storm, overshadowing even the biggest A-list celebrities.

After dinner, Jack and Felix parted ways.

Felix wasted no time, heading straight to the company that night to report the successful signing.

As for Luca, Felix had long since forgotten about him.

For now, Starlight Entertainment's deal with Jack was officially sealed.

...

Sure enough, by the next morning, the news of the phenomenal music prodigy Soul signing with Starlight Entertainment had taken over every entertainment headline.

The moment the news broke, it shot straight to the top of all major search engines, becoming the undisputed hottest topic across entertainment media.

Adding fuel to the fire, reports confirmed that Soul would be making his live debut at Eirene Music Academy's upcoming concert. He would perform "Time" and "Heart's Desire" alongside Starlight's biggest stars.

The announcement was like dropping a nuclear bomb into the industry.

The music world erupted into complete chaos.

Even Starlight Entertainment, a company known for its mastery of media hype, was stunned by the sheer magnitude of the reaction.

They had anticipated Soul's popularity, but this? This was next-level.

The company had paid a hefty price to sign him, but judging by the overwhelming buzz, it was already proving to be the best investment they had ever made.

And as Soul's hype continued skyrocketing, Starlight Entertainment's stock price also began climbing rapidly.

What shocked them even more was the concert ticket sales.

Originally, ticket sales for the Eirene Music Academy concert had been lukewarm at best-steady but far from a sellout.

But the moment Soul's participation was announced, the tickets were gone instantly, completely sold out.

Fans who had missed out flooded online forums, desperately searching for scalpers to buy resale tickets- at any price.

Before this, the concert's ticket prices had been relatively stable, with no major resale demand.

But now, thanks to Soul, ticket prices skyrocketed, with some even being resold at ten times their original value. Scalpers were making an absolute fortune.

Even the event organizers at Starlight Entertainment were caught off guard by the insane demand.

Faced with the unprecedented frenzy, Starlight had no choice but to contact Eirene Music Academy to discuss the possibility of expanding seating capacity.

The fan reaction was simply unbelievable.

This level of ticketing madness had never happened before.