Limits 24

Chapter 24

At the same time, various club activities unfolded, officially starting a new chapter of university life.

The new students began familiarizing themselves with the campus, exploring which faculty had the most beautiful girls, which cafeteria served the most delicious food, and where the most popular spots for couples to hang out were.

Some talents determined to stand out over the next four years of the university began quietly showing their potential. Some demonstrated leadership skills, while others were meticulous and diligent.

At the same time, some displayed melancholic temperaments paired with astonishing talent. Some even stood out for their exceptional athletic abilities, good looks, and wealth.

However, Jack and Ronnie appeared relatively ordinary, with few distinguishing qualities.

Apart from participating in the mandatory military training, Jack spent most of his time working on his plug-in.

He quietly built his strength, laying a solid foundation for the future and giving himself a competitive edge. This understated lifestyle almost made him forgettable.

The only moment that stirred Jack's attention was when Bella suddenly appeared during military training and bought him a bottle of mineral water.

This trivial act, however, became a topic of conversation among the new students.

After all, Jack appeared quite inconspicuous compared to the beautiful and charming Bella.

Many were curious about what made Jack special enough for a beautiful girl like Bella to take notice of him.

However, after Ronnie and Joshua revealed the truth, their admiration for Jack gradually turned into sympathy and mockery.

After the military training, two stars from the School of Finance emerged at the welcome party.

One was Phoebe from Finance Class Five, who had already caused a stir upon her arrival because of her beauty.

She played a piano piece at the party, dressed in a simple white gown with her long hair flowing. She embodied a noble elegance, like a fairy descending from the heavens. Her appearance caused a huge commotion, leaving everyone in awe.

Jack had already heard that Phoebe's singing voice was as good as Feena's, but he never expected her piano performance to be so enchanting

The entire hall erupted in applause as the performance ended. Phoebe's name quickly became the center of attention at Alnewgo University, solidifying her reputation as the campus beauty and goddess.

Complementing Phoebe was Luca from Finance Class One.

His strikingly handsome looks and magnetic voice captivated all the girls present. His self-composed songs and free-spirited guitar playing drove everyone wild. Some even referred to Luca and Phoebe as the legendary duo of Alnewgo University, predicting that they would stir up a huge wave over the next four years.

There were even speculations that they might become the legendary iconic duo, creating a legendary story together.

Luca's musical talent not only drove the girls at Alnewgo University crazy but also caught the attention of the dean of the Music School, Zoe. The next day, she personally visited the School of Finance to invite him to represent Alnewgo University in the upcoming "National College Singer Competition."

Securing a position in this competition could bring instant fame and a bright future in the entertainment industry.

It was a rare opportunity for Luca, and he agreed without hesitation. If he could place well, it would solidify a strong foundation for his future, and his parents would certainly support his entertainment career.

As preparations for the singer competition were underway, another sensational news in the music circles emerged.

The mysterious singer, Soul, released another astonishing masterpiece following the success of "Time".

The song, "Heart's Desire", was a track that Jack was inspired to write after reflecting on his experiences with university life. Building on the experience from his previous song, both the lyrics and composition of this one have reached a new level.