Chapter 25

This song primarily described the vibrant energy of university life and the longing for the future, while including pure and innocent love. It was an inspiring and beautiful folk song that was catchy and heartfelt, and it subtly enchanted listeners and left them deeply immersed.

The song "Heart's Desire" quickly sparked a song craze on the internet when it was released.

Its success far exceeded Jack's expectations.

In this era of paid music downloads, the song exceeded 10 thousand dollars in paid downloads within the first day, which was undoubtedly an impressive achievement. The number of downloads of this song advanced rapidly as favorable reviews spread, surpassing 100 thousand dollars within a week.

Online streaming and clicks also reached an astounding level of over a billion, astonishing many musicians and platforms. Discussions about this song on major forums, Twitter, and other social media platforms remained high.

Countless influencers expressed their love for the song, some praising its beautiful melody, others admiring its heartfelt lyrics, and even some who felt a strong resonance after listening to it.

"Heart's Desire" became so popular that it transcended age and gender boundaries, seemingly becoming a divine song in everyone's heart.

The song seemed like a gift from the heavens, regardless of who performed it, allowing people to experience the power and beauty of music. Although the singer, Soul, was an online artist with a mysterious identity, this did not diminish his high status among fans.

Even many professional singers regarded him as a mentor.

The once-popular song "Time" had already become a widely sung classic and was destined to be a timeless masterpiece for the next decade. Now, the "Heart's Desire" had revealed his limitless potential in the music industry.

With the success of "Heart's Desire" and the foundation laid by "Time" before it, its ranking on the Billboard Hot 100 chart rose rapidly.

Despite two long-established music industry giants using votes and money to maintain their positions in the music scene, they were still unable to stop "Heart's Desire" from dominating the charts.

The power of this song was overwhelming! Any singer would have felt deeply despairing in comparison.

In less than ten days, "Heart's Desire" arrogantly topped the Billboard Hot 100 chart, briefly surpassing "Time" and becoming the focus of everyone's attention. Such a dominating chart performance sparked discussions on the future development of the online music scene and the domestic music industry.

Could the rise of such a powerful independent singer signal the dawn of a new era in the music industry?

No one had the answer, but the emergence of Soul undoubtedly brought new vitality and hope into the music world.

At the same time, countless fans had formed various fan support groups to promote Soul. Despite not knowing his true identity or appearance, this did not affect their love and support for him. Soul's voice and talent had deeply moved them.

Jack himself was also surprised when faced with this great success. The huge number of downloads and shares not only brought him over a hundred thousand dollars in income in a short period but also served as a recognition of his musical talent.

Jack had not forgotten about the development of game plug-ins while achieving success in the music industry.

He dedicated a lot of effort and hard work to the development of plug-ins for the upcoming game "Bloody Dawn". However, it inevitably attracted hacker attacks due to the excellence of the plug-in.

Jack immediately rushed to Patrick's studio for help. He saw several employees lazily dozing off upon entering the studio, while Patrick was smoking on the balcony. His girlfriend, Sienna, was sitting in a chair and playing a game.

Jack asked Patrick about the recent situation and learned that due to the overwhelming popularity of plug-ins, they had been met with a collective boycott from their peers. Now that the plug-ins had been banned, they were out of resources.

Jack secretly rejoiced upon hearing this news.
