Limits 274

Chapter 274

Luna started questioning her judgment as she looked at the man who had an uncanny resemblance to Jack. Could it be... that really was him?

Soon, however, she smiled self-deprecatingly. How could a peasant who'd worn cheap imitations of expensive brands suddenly turn into a wealthy man? It was as ridiculous as a frog turning into a prince in a fairy tale.

There was a reason why fairy tales were just stories-they would never come true.

Inside the private lounge, a staff member helped Jack complete the necessary paperwork. Andrea smiled and said, "You might have to wait until tonight to collect the car, sir. The exhibition isn't over yet, and a new vehicle will only be sent over tomorrow.

"However, if you need to take the car now, we'll do our best to get it done for you. We'll help process your purchase as soon as possible."

She knew what the company's protocol was like, but she also knew she couldn't let small details get in the way of bigger gains at this critical juncture. All rules meant nothing compared to money.

Another staff member hurriedly asked, "Would you like us to register your car for you, sir? We can do it for you for free if you so wish, and we guarantee it'll be completed within two hours."

Normally, it was impossible to process the paperwork so quickly, but as a top-tier luxury car brand, they naturally had exclusive channels to assist VIP clients.

The model sliced a lemon and added some honey to Jack's glass of water before topping it up. She handed it to him and softly rubbed her body against his, feeling his toned muscles and warmth.

"Thanks." Jack accepted the water, feeling the respect and envy everyone felt for him. He could also sense the hint of attraction in the model's gaze as she looked at him; it made him feel rather proud.

He tapped the table. "The car..."

Just then, his phone rang. It was a call from Bella. He hurriedly answered, "Hello?"

She sounded a little downcast on the other end of the line. "Where are you, Big Bun?"

"I'm still at the car exhibition. What's wrong? You sound upset," he answered. "Remember to come back to campus soon. My mom wants to treat us to a meal at Paradise Hotel."

Paradise Hotel was an upscale hotel located in Alnewgo City's city center. Bella was worried Jack would have trouble finding his way there or would show up late, so she wanted him to return to campus before they headed there together.

He checked the time, feeling that he would probably be late if he had to collect the car, return to campus, and head to the hotel. So, he decided to meet Bella at the hotel. "How about we meet at the hotel? I'm worried I'll be late if I head back to campus first."

"Do you know the way there?" Bella asked, sounding worried.

"I think so." He only had a vague idea of where it was, but there probably wouldn't be any issue in getting there with guidance from a GPS.

"Okay, then. Remember not to be late!" she said. Then, she hung up.