Chapter 63

Since Phoebe was very clever, she accurately ascertained Jack's worries. Yet, she felt even more frustrated and upset. "Is that your actual reason?"

Jack nodded awkwardly. As Phoebe looked at him, she felt many emotions rushing through her.

Meanwhile, their conversation stirred quite a commotion among the students.

All of them were shocked.

Goodness! They weren't mistaken, right?

Everyone looked at Phoebe's expression and listened to her words.

It seemed that Jack and Phoebe weren't just normal classmates! Their relationship was more complicated than that.

Though no one knew what had occurred between them, their conversation left much to the imagination.

Samuel and the others chided Jack for being unloyal and decided to interrogate him about his relationship with Phoebe later on.

Meanwhile, Joshua, Ronnie, and the girls in the shared dorm room were upset. They were wondering why Phoebe knew Jack. After all, even though they were from the same university, their social status was miles apart.

However, judging by the way Phoebe treated Jack, it seemed that their relationship wasn't so simple. It was unimaginable to those present.

This was humiliating to the girls of the shared dorm room. They felt awkward and furious, but couldn't say anything in retort.

On the other hand, after looking a little confused, Luca appeared to be thinking deeply.

Once again, Jack's demeanor was contrary to his expectations. Suddenly, he realized that Jack was a mysterious and unique individual.

Yet, the most frustrated person in the room happened to be Bella.

At first, she wanted to talk to Jack about what occurred the previous day. But she was interrupted by Phoebe instead. It seemed that Phoebe and Jack had an interesting relationship. This was not what she expected at all.

As such, she felt anger and resentment toward Phoebe.

On the other hand, Flynn was also staring at Phoebe and Jack furiously.

Ever since he met Phoebe, he had always wanted to woo her. Besides, he felt that other men apart from him couldn't get close to her.

However, the aloof Phoebe said such shocking things to the strange Jack. Thus, Flynn was extremely angry and jealous.

Yet, when he noticed Jack's basketball uniform, Flynn smirked coldly.

It would be easier to carry out his plan because the latter was from the basketball team at the School of Finance.

Once the match started, Flynn could humiliate Jack in front of everyone. Then, Jack would realize that he wasn't good enough to compete for Phoebe just because they used to be classmates.

Flynn believed that fools would only remain fools and that Jack wouldn't be able to compete with him.

Soon after, the whistle was blown and an intense match began!

Phoebe was pulled away by her friends, leaving Jack standing alone.

After she left, the tension in the air grew. Ronnie and her friends regarded Jack strangely. After all, Phoebe rarely treated others as kindly as she just treated Jack.
