

Little Girl 138

Chapter 138: Picked Up a Fool

Xin Lin quickly knocked down several local ruffians, which surprised her greatly.

According to her initial estimation, those fallen ruffians were also practitioners, equivalent to Sikong's previous cultivation level, equivalent to a Martial Arts Apprentice.

Nearly a month ago, she had some difficulty dealing with Sikong Clan.

But just now, she single-handedly took down three local ruffians.

Her physique, compared to when she first arrived in Longteng, had become unimaginably stronger.

Her Five Senses and Six Consciousness, even her physical strength had greatly increased; it was as if her small body possessed endless power.

Could all this be because of the Ultimate Marrow Cleansing Powder?

Xin Lin then realized, the Ultimate Marrow Cleansing Powder was probably not as simple as she had imagined.

A few ruffians who hadn't fallen down showed expressions of surprise; they took money to avert disasters for people, ready to deal with that fool, but an unexpected little ghost had appeared.

They carefully looked at Xin Lin.

They noticed the little ghost had a fair complexion with rosy lips and white teeth, shifty dark eyes, and good moves; she didn't appear to be a child from an ordinary family.

"Are you blind, to dare to insult me, this young master is a student of Qingtian Academy!"

Seeing that her opponents were numerous and powerful, Xin Lin suddenly shouted.

Qingtian Academy!

Once the ruffians heard this, they immediately backed off.

Students from Qingtian Academy, that was no wonder, those from the academy were not to be trifled with.

"Grab that fool, don't bother with the little ghost."

The ruffians exchanged glances, ignoring her, they went to grab the fool.

But unexpectedly, the scene blurred before their eyes, and the previously mentioned little ghost had already rushed to the fool's side.

"Can you understand human speech?"

Xin Lin glanced at the fool.

The fool looked completely clueless.

"Run!"

Without another word, Xin Lin pulled the fool and started running forward.

Though the fool was silly, he was tall and had long legs, Xin Lin yelled at him and he seemed suddenly enlightened, running even faster than Xin Lin.

"Come back, fool!"

Xin Lin almost choked, but to her surprise, the fool in front turned around, lifted Xin Lin onto his shoulder, and sprinted away.

The ruffians followed behind, initially keeping up for a few steps, but eventually, they couldn't even see the fool's figure.

"Damn it! We lost them."

The ruffians were thoroughly frustrated.

"It's all that little ghost's fault!"

"If not for him, we would have completed the task by now."

"What can we do, let's go back to the Imperial Doctor Mansion to report, just say a student from Qingtian Academy interfered."

Xin Lin was carried by the fool in a wild sprint, jolting her intern until she almost threw up her guts.

"Stop!"

The fool beneath her sharply halted upon hearing her command.

"We're safe now. Fool, I must say you run fast; since you can run so well, why didn't you run earlier?"

Xin Lin's face was stern as she jumped down from the fool's shoulder.

Anyone treated like a sack, carried all this way, wouldn't be in the best of moods.

"Home..."

The fool scratched his head and revealed a simple and honest smile.

That smile made Xin Lin realize, this fool was actually very handsome; a kind of beauty drastically different from Gui Hu's wild charm, clean and clear, like a dusty piece of beautiful jade.

"Alright, alright, those people can't catch up now, you go home."

Xin Lin waved her hand, feeling somewhat guilty about using the fool.

After speaking, Xin Lin walked ahead.

After a few steps, the fool followed her.

She walked a few more steps, and the fool continued to follow her.

"Look, you don't forget where your home is, do you?"

Xin Lin said, annoyed.

Why is everyone, one after another, so fond of mindlessly following others?

First, it was Little Xinzhuo, and now this fool.

"Fool... I'm a fool."

The fool once again showed a very honest smile.
