

Little Girl 55

Chapter 55: The Clumsy and Cute Spiritual Beast

Something is off, very off.

This is different from what the superpower had shown.

Xin Lin looked around but failed to find any trace of the Red Toad, feeling that something strange was afoot.

She had dived in at the right time and place in accordance with the scene she had seen through her superpower; logically, she should have found the Red Toad by now.

But where was the Red Toad?

Xin Lin settled on a large rock at the bottom of the pool and pondered.

(Stupid human, I'm right here.)

Below Xin Lin's feet, the "large rock" covered in green moss lazily examined her.

(I'm ignoring you, just ignoring you.)

The "large rock" couldn't even bother to move.

It was the spiritual beast, the Red Toad, which had just molted not long ago.

After shedding its Red Toad Shell, it needed to hibernate for a while, not eating or drinking. Unless its life was in danger, it would not move.

When Xin Lin had trespassed into the territory of the Red Toad, it had already noticed her.

However, seeing that she did not possess even a wisp of True Qi and her Spiritual Energy was so weak that it was virtually negligible, the Red Toad simply chose to disregard her.

(Continue sleeping, sleep like an Emperor.)

The Red Toad lazily prepared to close its eyes and sleep again.

At the bottom of the pool, strands of dark, water algae-like essence quietly approached the "large rock."

(???!?!)

The "large rock" trembled, and its sleepiness vanished instantly.

The instincts of the Spiritual Beast told it that something was amiss. What's this Water Algae doing on its territory?

Xin Lin only felt a tremor beneath her feet; the waters at the bottom of the pool became tumultuous, stirring up dark undercurrents.

The large rock she was standing on suddenly leapt up, shooting upwards right in front of her.

Xin Lin was shocked and upon closer inspection.

She discovered that the large rock was actually moving; each time it opened and closed, the water flow pushed its massive body forward in pursuit.

The Red Toad!

Xin Lin finally realized that the large rock she had been standing on for half the day was the very Red Toad she had been searching for all night.

"This creature is way too massive, isn't it?"

The Red Toad in front of her was at least two to three times larger than the Red Toad Shell Xin Lin had seen earlier; it was like a small hill.

If she really used this creature to refine the Bone Marrow Cleansing Powder, Xin Lin felt she would have enough for a lifetime, able to clear all the blocked veins in her body.

But that's only if she could leave the pool alive.

A mountain was pressing down on her, that feeling...

Xin Lin gritted her teeth and using her hands and feet, swam like a nimble little mermaid towards the surface of the pool.

Behind the Red Toad, those strands of dark "Water Algae" were also doggedly chasing after her.

Just a little more True Yuan and the man would be able to break through the seal.

"Stupid Red Toad, why are you chasing me? I haven't even started."

Xin Lin cursed while swimming.

(Whimpering, help, someone is going to eat me, my flesh doesn't taste good.)

The Red Toad was also on the verge of tears.

Who had it provoked? It was just being lazy and sleeping on its own territory; how had it attracted such a huge problem?

If that thing caught up with it, it was doomed.

One person and one toad, one "chasing" at the back and the other fleeing at the front.

And then there were the strands of dark "Water Algae" joyously chasing after them.

"Miss, look, something's stirring on the water surface."

Beside the stream, the spoiled girl and a group of government officers were waiting for signs of activity in the water.

As time passed, they all thought the little beggar was surely dead.

It was around dawn, and just as the girl was getting impatient and ready to order another search in the water, the officers noticed dead fish, shrimp, and crabs coming to the surface one after another.
