

Little Girl 90

Chapter 90: One Furnace

Xin Lin was absolutely furious, and with a close of her eyes, she directly went to confront the Heaven-defying Book.

"Sister..."

In her burning rage, Xin Lin didn't hear the pitiful call of Little Xinzhuo.

Near the burial mound, the area was quiet, and after dusk, night fell.

As the night began, phosphorescent lights flickered on the mounds of graves, glowing intermittently and producing strange sounds.

Little Xinzhuo looked around at the mounds fearfully, terrified that a Ghost Evil might appear at any moment, his face full of fear.

He was indeed a ghost, but a "Dead House Ghost," who had always lived in the Luoyin Ghost Cave, which was far safer than this place.

He really wanted to tell his sister that he didn't want a physical body anymore.

At that moment, a disturbance arose.

Startled, Little Xinzhuo glanced stealthily and saw several suspicious white figures swaying not far away, unsure if they were humans or ghosts.

Woo-woo... Little Xinzhuo had tears in his eyes.

Could he become the first ghost to be frightened to death by another ghost?

Meanwhile, Xin Lin was furiously questioning the Heaven-defying Book.

The Heaven-defying Book showed no response at all.

After shouting herself hoarse, Xin Lin finally came to her senses, questioning why she was getting angry with a mere book.

This thing had a thicker skin than anything else, no matter how she cursed, not a single word appeared.

Thinking of the Opportunity Dice and that glaring "three" from her dream, Xin Lin suddenly snapped out of it.

Could that dream have been a premonition?

Could it be that this time, the Opportunity Dice would bring her some luck?

Skeptically, Xin Lin considered her remaining 10 or so Heaven-defying Values and decided to take a bold gamble.

She didn't believe in any Life-breaking Book, but she trusted her own superpower, which had saved her life several times in her limited past twenty-something years.

"Heaven-defying Book, I want to exchange 10 Heaven-defying Values to activate a Human-level Heavenly Destiny Book."

With the experience from the last two times, Xin Lin was now adept at exchanging; as soon as she finished speaking, a line of text promptly appeared on the Heaven-defying Book.

"Congratulations life master, 10 Heaven-defying Values exchanged, you have obtained one Opportunity Dice."

The same Opportunity Dice that Xin Lin both loved and hated appeared again.

Xin Lin thought for a moment and was about to act when the Opportunity Dice began spinning on its own.

This time, Xin Lin didn't control the Opportunity Dice at all.

"Stop! Life Book, you're cheating!"

Xin Lin's eyes widened as she watched the Opportunity Dice spin for a moment and then stop on the number "three."

"Congratulations life master, you have obtained a wood stove."

On the Heaven-defying Book, another line of text appeared, leaving Xin Lin dumbfounded.

The Opportunity Dice disappeared, and from the Human-level Future Book, a golden light shot out and landed in Xin Lin's hands.

Her palms felt heavy, and she now held a dusty old stove.

It really was a stove, looking no different from an ordinary incense burner.

Except it was broken, old, and seemed to be made of wood.

Could a wooden stove really be used?

Just a stove, what trouble could it cause?

Xin Lin was puzzled and opened the stove lid, when a thin booklet fell out from it.

Ha~ A book really did appear.

Xin Lin picked up the booklet and instantly laughed, as it seemed the Heaven-defying Book still had some conscience. It swallowed her copy of the Martial Arts Extreme Scripture, and now it had returned one to her.

As she examined the booklet closely, the corners of her mouth twitched again.
