

Chapter 15

From childhood she has been a protected child because of belonging from the mafia family and above that her speaking disability made her homeschooled so she is completely untouched from the cruelty of the outer world. She will not be able to face the cunning people's always trying to get their profit, who will use her for their own good.

And now that she is grown enough they can't follow her everywhere to protect her like how Mikhail says. It is not possible for them to follow her everywhere, it will spoil her life. Her freedom, her moments her individuality. Liam pushed these thoughts aside for now people he didn't want to made his mood sour by thinking all these things. He was returning back to his penthouse with Cristina oblivious of some pair of eyes on them.

One of them fished his phone out and dialled a number. After a few moments the call get recieved making the man gulp in fear.

"¡Ladrrar!" the person from the other side spat in his thick Spanish accent and he regretted calling him.

(Translation: Bark!)

"Señor, la señora se casó con ese joven Gorbachev ahora mismo." the person said in his scared voice fearing of his life.

(Translation: Sir, madam got married with that junior Gorbachev right now.)

There was a long silence on the other side making his heart beat fast. He knew that he will be doomed now. He heard some shufflings on the other side and then again a voice came but some other one's.

"¿Por qué te pagamos bastardo cuando no puedes hacer ni un solo trabajo correctamente?!" the person hissed at him making him gulp and he wanted to cry so bad.

(Translation: Why are we paying you bastard when you can't do a single work properly?!)

"Señor, mantuvo la boda tan repentina y privada que tampoco llegamos a saberlo)" the man said with his trembling voice and a loud sound of crashing came from the other side of the phone.

(Translation: Sir he kept the wedding so sudden and private that we also didn't get to know.)

Again there was some silence like the person was thinking something. He was scared of the order which will be given by that person because it can be anything, in his favor or not.

"¡Queremos a ese bastardo y a nuestra hermana dentro de veinticuatro horas frente a nosotros, vivos!" the person ordered him in his deadly voice making that man to tremble at his place like a leaf.

(Translation: We want that bastard and our sister within twenty four hours in front of us, alive!)

Before the man could reply again the voice came halting him in the middle "Si esta vez fallarás, considera que estás muerto como la carne." when the man registered the words he silently hung up the call looking at his fellows who were as scared as him.

(Translation: If you will be fail this time then consider yourself as dead as meat.)

They all immediately went towards Liam's penthouse where he will probably come after their wedding.

---

"¡MIERDA!" Emiliano cursed loudly and snatched the phone from Alejandro's hand throwing it out of the window but this time Alejandro was so angry to even care.

(Translation: FUCK!)

Emiliano threw all the things away from the table like a seething angry beast. He was furious would be an understatement. They were shocked that how come they don't get to know what was going between their sister and Liam. Their spies were always around then how come they don't notice it.

They wanted to tear those spies apart who weren't able to do a single work properly and they will make sure of that once they will return back. They wasn't able to register that their own blood betrayed them by marrying their rival. They were so ready to kill both of them or burn them alive so everyone get to know what it takes to betray them.

Emiliano was thrashing the things all around while Jaoquin was silently sitting on the chair lost in deep thoughts. He was swinging continuously on the chair but his mind was else where making Emiliano to charge towards him.

"¿Cómo puedes estar tan silencioso y tranquilo como si nada hubiera pasado?" he shouted at him gaining his attention but Joaquin chose to stay silent.

(Translation: HOW CAN YOU BE SO SILENT AND CALM LIKE

NOTHING HAPPENED?!)

Alejandro who was watching all this with fire in his eyes also came towards Joaquin because him being silent was irking him a lot.

"Hermano, esa chica nos traicionó y tú estás sentado en silencio." He said to Joaquin punching his fist in the wall bruising his knuckles.

(Translation: Brother, that girl betrayed us and you are sitting silent.)

"Ambos me conocen muy bien. Estoy pensando en alguna forma de matar dos pájaros de un solo tiro." Joaquin said evilly smirking at them making both of them confused at his words.

(Translation: You both know me very well. I'm thinking of some way to kill two birds with single stone.)

"¿Quiénes dos pájaros?" Alejandro asked him.

(Translation: Who two birds?)

"Mijaíl y Liam." Joaquin answered him making Alejandro to smirk at his words while Emiliano roll his eyes because he don't like to think much but to use violence.

(Translation: Mikhail and Liam.)

"Yo haré la parte de matar, sin discusiones." Emiliano meddled in between making both of the brothers to nod at him and Joaquin stood up patting him shoulders.

(Translation: I will do the killing part, no arguments.)

They wanted to take both the son and father down with a single stone considering them as birds but little did they know that they will find a single bird to kill to stones.

On the other hand Vanessa woke up from her deep slumber and frowned not seeing Liam with her. Then she remembered that he has gone to his company but shouldn't he be returned back by now. She pouted feeling lonely and got down from the bed.

But suddenly his gaze went to his bed's side wall and her gaze softened. There was their family photos in which she, their mama, papa and Liam was smiling and playing around. Since childhood they both had made a lot of memories with their parents and she came clearly see all of them at that wall. She knew it no matter how much he tried to show his disliking towards their father but from inside he loves him a lot.

She giggled to herself knowing now she will tease him again for pretending to be all tough because from inside he is just like a soft puppy more like angry puppy. She again giggled to herself and her stomach growled reminding her that she didn't have her lunch because of over sleeping.

Caressing her stomach she went towards the open kitchen and started finding something to eat. When she didn't find anything she to the fridge and saw a plate of pasta in it knowing surely Liam has prepared it for her. She took the plate out and reheated the pasta. Meanwhile she started playing with the cutleries.

After the pasta got heated she took it out and went to the hall. Sitting on the couch she started finding something to watch on TV. N****x was already on, so she started surfing through it and saw some inappropriate and adult content playing on it which made her startled and she immediately turned the TV off.

Heat started crawling to her cheeks and she embarrassingly blushed turning her head side to side checking if anyone saw her coming across those type of things but then she slapped her forehead realising she was alone at the home. She decided not to turn the TV on knowing what weird type of content was playing on it according to her. She picked the plate of pasta from the couch and was about to eat her first bite the door bell rang halting her actions.

She smiled ear to ear thinking that Liam has come back so she stood up skipping towards the door and as soon as she opened the door and a frown etched upon her lips seeing some other person instead of Liam who was none other than the spy sent by the Fernandez'.

"Who are you uncle?" Vanessa asked him innocently making the man's eyes widened because of her calling him an uncle because he was just thirty only.

But shrugging he didn't waste any time and put the choloform cloth on her nose making her sea blue eyes widen. She tried to struggle against his hold, panicking but somehow the choloform got inside her system making her feel weak and dizzy. After few minutes of struggling she went limp in his arms making him smirk and he took her inside.

His fellows also came inside after killing the two bodyguards out of the penthouse. As soon as the men saw Vanessa they turned confused not knowing who she was. But the man who made her faint came back with some files in his hand indicating that he took the useful information with him.

"¿Quién es ella?" One of the fellows asked him.

(Translation: Who is she?)

"En una de las habitaciones vi unos marcos de fotos, tal vez sea alguien cercano a él. Creo que deberíamos llevarla con nosotros también y pedirles a los jefes que nos perdonen vidas." the man answered and all of them nodded in agreement.

(Translation: In one of the room I saw some photo frames, maybe she is someone close to him. I think we should take her with us too and ask bosses to spare our lives.)

Then the man hid those bodyguards' dead bodies and hise inside the penthouse waiting for Liam to come back. After twenty minutes Liam and Cristina came and saw the door of the penthouse opened while the guards were not there.

Liam immediately got worried and ran inside the penthouse searching for Vanessa. As he was about to go more ahead a man came from behind him and hit at the back of his head with something hard making Cristina to turn around and gasp loudly. Before she could help Liam the same man came with the chloroform cloth putting it on her nose making her unconscious.

Liam also fell on the floor with a thud and blood started oozing out from his head making his vision to get blur and he got weak. He tried to keep his eyes open and hissed feeling the pain. Collecting all the strength in his body he tried to get up but lost his consciousness and fell back on the floor making the man who attacked on him from behind.

Then the men started to lift the unconscious bodies of the three of them and walked out of the penthouse leaving for Spain as soon as possible and wanting to give their bosses what they were waiting for so eagerly. But little did they know, what havoc they were going to bring my submitting that sea blue eye girl to those monsters.

Comments

Support