

LLPD Chapter 1331

Chapter 1331 Successful Surgery

Amber's hands were clenched tightly together and she was fidgeting.

Ben, on the other hand, couldn't sit still for a long time and stood up and kept walking around, "Damn, how long has it been, why isn't the surgery over yet?"

He paused to look at the red light above the operating room, wishing he could just turn it off, so maybe the results of Mr. Farrell's surgery would be available right away.

Amber pursed her red lips and didn't say anything, but her heart was thinking pretty much the same thing as him.

She would also love to see the red light go out.

Of course, it's best if the result is good when it goes out.

If not

No, there is no if!

There are absolutely no ifs.

Whether the red light goes out or not, when it goes out, the result is already good.

Just thinking, the red light above the operating room, snapped, dimmed from red and finally changed to gray.

The red light is out!

Amber's pupils shrank and she stood up from her chair in a hurry.

Ben also stopped walking around and stopped completely.

The two walked together to the middle of the operating room door, clasping hands and waiting expectantly for the door to open.

After waiting for about several minutes, the door to the surgery finally opened and Elias came out of it with a deflated face and an open bottle of glucose in his hand.

He has taken off his mask at this moment, revealing a pale, handsome face covered in sweat.

The handsome face is full of weakness and exhaustion, which shows how long the operation lasted and how exhausting it was.

"Dr. Lansdale," Amber and Ben rushed up to him, "Dr. Lansdale, how is Mr. Farrell? Was the surgery successful?"

Ben asks.

Amber didn't make it, but the hands clasped together and the restless expression showed her eagerness and nervousness at the moment.

Elias looked at them, did not answer immediately, but tilted his head and drank the glucose in his hand, recovered his strength, then said, "The scourge of a thousand years, how can it be so easy to die, all right, all right, you guys get out of the way, let me go back to sleep, what's the matter, wait until I wake up."

When he finished, he pushed aside the two men in front of him and headed out.

After two steps, and suddenly stopped, turned his head to look at Amber, the voice is obviously softer than just a lot, "you also hurry to go to rest, a day and night without rest, the body can not hold up? Don't take care of people and fall ill."

Now after this, he is really gone.

Ben looked in the direction he was leaving and his mouth dropped open, "Miss Reed, did you hear what he was saying? Is that what I think it is, right?"

"Yes, it was what we thought it would be, Jared's surgery was successful." Amber was crying with excitement and joy, her body was shaking with joy, "Jared's surgery was successful, Ben, the surgery was successful, it was successful!"

Ben, equally red-eyed and teary-eyed, nodded fiercely, "Yes, Mr. Farrell's surgery was successful, and Mr. Farrell he will never be in danger again."

The words fell, he suddenly squatted down, squatting on the ground whimpering and crying.

Seriously, a big man of a few meters crouched into a ball crying like this, it is really some funny.

In other words, Amber would have laughed.

But now, she wants to cry like this, otherwise she can't express the joy and excitement in her heart at the moment.

After crying for a while, Ben was clearly in a much better mood, got up from the floor, took off his glasses to wipe them, and said embarrassingly, "Sorry Miss Reed, I made you look funny."

"No." Amber was likewise wiping her eyes, "What just happened, is human, I understand, in saying that, I'm no better than you."

She wiped the corners of her eyes with the back of her hand.

Ben hemmed and hawed, put on his glasses and didn't say anything.

The two continued to wait at the door, waiting for Jared to come out.

After another wait of almost half an hour, Jared was pushed out, in a green surgical gown, his handsome face pale on a trundle bed, his face still on a respirator, looking extra vulnerable.

Jared has just had surgery and naturally cannot be admitted to the general ward, or to the intensive care unit for 72 hours of uninterrupted observation, mainly to observe the adverse reactions after surgery, and rejection reactions, etc.

Amber and Ben didn't say a word and silently followed behind, watching Jared being taken inside the ICU.

"Nurse." Amber pulled a nurse who came out of the ICU, "Excuse me, when will he wake up?"

The nurse thought for a moment and replied, "Based on Mr. Farrell's current condition, we can deduce that he will wake up in about three days."

"Okay, I got it." Amber let go of the other man and nodded.

The nurse looked to Ben behind her, "Mr. Channing, our Dr. Lansdale asked me to ask you what to do with the heart that Mr. Farrell had before? Should you handle it yourselves, or should we arrange it on our side of the hospital?"

"We'll handle it ourselves." Ben thought for a moment and answered the other side.

The nurse responded, indicating that she knew, and left.

After all the doctors and nurses in the ICU had left, Amber then asked Ben, "That heart, you guys are planning to return it to Mikel, right? I heard that Mikel accepted Jared's invitation to come over just for the time being."

"Yes, after all, it is Mr. Schafer's brother's heart, we can not just deal with it, Dr. Lansdale should also take this into account, so he specifically asked the nurse to ask about it, otherwise he would not even make the extra effort to deal with it directly." Ben said.

"This is good, you have also found out the truth about Mikel's death, you can give it to Mikel together."

Ben nodded, then looked at Jared inside the intensive care unit, "Miss Reed, Mr. Farrell should not have any major problems now, the next also do not need to keep watch, you go to rest first, a day and a night without rest, do not really sick."

"I will, you go rest too, Jared needs you next too, and the Farrell Group, you don't want to break your body either." Amber let out a hint.

Ben was indeed tired, his brain was faint and aching, "I will go to rest in a while, until then, I will arrange bodyguards to keep the place under guard, don't let some inexplicable people arrive, even if I blocked the news of Mr. Farrell's accident, but I am not at ease without being completely prepared."

"Indeed you should, then I'll leave you to it, I'll go back to my ward and get some sleep." Amber finished, gave Jared one last look, yawned and turned to walk away.

Back in the ward, Amber spoke to the caregiver a few more times before collapsing on the hospital bed, her head next to the pillow, and immediately falling asleep.

A day and a night without sleep, plus the mood has been tight during this period, the spirit is also, never a moment to relax down.

It was only after learning that Jared's surgery was successful and that there would be no major problems for the time being that her mind and body relaxed a little.

And after relaxing, all the fatigue immediately came at her, almost so that she couldn't even walk back and collapsed on the road.

So this time fell on the bed, the body has a support, naturally all of a sudden do not care about anything else, directly to sleep is.

Amber this sleep, straight to sleep for more than ten hours before waking up.

And after sobering up, not even caring to eat, and regardless of the hungry rumbling, immediately ran to Jared's side.

It was quite lucky that when I got there, I happened to see Elias talking to Ben about something.

As soon as Amber passed, she caught the attention of both men.

"Miss Reed, you're awake." Ben greeted her with a nod.

Amber gave him a nod in response and then immediately turned her attention to Elias, "Dr. Lansdale, how is Jared he?"

More than ten hours have passed and Jared has not had any adverse surgical reactions.

This is what she wants to know most at the moment.

Love Letters, Divorce Papers (Jared and Amber)

Chapter 1332 Braylee Reed is coming out

"There's nothing wrong with him." Elias closed the folder of medical records in his hand, "the heart and his match degree is very high, these ten hours down, there is no adverse phenomena and rejection, this is a very phenomenon, as long as seventy-two hours have passed, there is still no adverse reaction, then it means that there will be no rejection, and then when he wakes up, he can almost be transferred to the general ward. "

Hearing this, Amber breathed a huge sigh of relief, "That's good, that's good, I've been worried about all this, so I rushed over here, and now I'm finally much more relieved."

She patted her heart.

Elias pushed the glasses, "or that saying, good people do not live long, the disaster remains a thousand years, this guy did two heart replacement surgery can successfully survive, that can only mean that God does not want to accept him, since they do not want to accept, then naturally there is no need to get him some other problems, so you can rest assured."

Although the man did not speak in a good metaphor.

But the message is good, Jared is fine, he just hasn't woken up yet.

As soon as you wake up, it means that there is absolutely nothing to worry about the life of the problem.

So neither Amber nor Ben bothered to take into account that he spoke badly.

Elias didn't stay much longer and left after those words.

After all, he's not just a patient of Jared's, he's busy.

Amber and Ben didn't hold him back. Jared's condition was no longer a problem anyway, so he could leave if he wanted to.

"That's wonderful." Ben looked at Jared in the intensive care unit and gave a small smile.

Amber had the same smile on her face, "Yeah, it's great."

But isn't that too good to be true?

Jared survived, and it was the best thing that could have happened to them.

"Now, I can finally stop worrying so much and put most of my energy into my work, because Mr. Farrell's surgery has not been carried out in the past few days, a lot of work I have suppressed, not in the mood to deal with, now that Mr. Farrell is out of danger, I can finally go to work, so Miss Reed. The Farrell Group needs me to hold up, so Mr. Farrell's side, we have to completely trouble Miss Reed, I have to get the work done before Mr. Farrell can return to the group, I can't let Mr. Farrell to work with his body still not well, right? "

Amber smiled and nodded in agreement, "Don't worry, I'll take care of him without you saying so just work and don't worry too much."

"I believe you Miss Reed, then I will go first, there is a meeting this afternoon is quite important, is Mr. Farrell before the eyes of the program, my go to deal with."

After saying that, Ben bowed to Amber and left.

After he left, Amber was alone outside the hospital room.

Although she couldn't get in, she knew that she could stay with Jared that way.

Even if he is not awake, even if he does not know she is outside, but as long as this can see him at any time, she is also happy.

Amber sat just outside the hospital room, silently keeping Jared company.

Sometimes, it will say something to Jared through the glass, and sometimes it will take out the phone to look at the online news to convey with him.

Even if the person inside through the glass can not hear, she did not give up.

These days, there are actually quite a few things happening.

The two biggest events are the Jones family and the Kampwerth family declaring bankruptcy one after the other.

The two bankruptcy, is everyone knows things, after all, Jared gave up the Jones family, the Jones family in the past and offended so many people, Jared gave up the Jones family, not to mention that these people will not let the Jones family, just say Norah murder, will also bring devastating blow to the Jones family's business So the Jones family bankruptcy, is everyone can foresee.

As for the Kampwerth family, the Kampwerth family is also the same, the Kampwerth family dare to blatantly withhold compensation from employees, and dare to disregard the law to force employees to go to sea in that kind of weather, and obviously have done other illegal legal things, netizens have been calling on the top to test the Kampwerth family, the top in order to quell the anger of netizens, naturally will also do so.

This is not, an investigation has found a lot of outrageous behavior, the top directly spoke to block the Kampwerth family, confiscate the Kampwerth family all the property, the Kampwerth family owes a big ass debt, which is not bankrupt.

Of course, the Kampwerth family also made a joke, that is, Mrs. Kampwerth unbearable debt, actually ran away, leaving behind a vegetable Mr. Kampwerth, and disabled daughter Miss Kampwerth, is also saddened.

As for how this father and daughter will live in the future, it's none of their business.

Amber doesn't bother to pay attention either.

In addition to these two news items, there were other news items, both big and small, that Amber basically told Jared about in relation to them.

For example, Norah the two followers of the family, but also by the above seized a lot of industry, I heard that someone reported.

Amber knew that it was Jared who had done it before.

These two were seized so many industries that they were directly reduced from third-rate gentry to the standard of ordinary rich families.

It is estimated that you can never get up again, and is also considered to be removed from the Olkmore gentry circle.

The two daughters who were kicked out by their two families, I heard that they went to the police to report Norah, as to what was reported, Amber does not know, and did not inquire, anyway, when Norah went to court, together with the trial will know.

The old Mr. Jones also woke up, knowing that the Jones family had collapsed and that Norah had literally had a stroke and collapsed after killing someone.

But because Ben had arranged for someone to keep an eye on him in the shadows, the old Mr. Jones got the best treatment immediately after he fell and was then saved.

Other than speaking more unclearly and moving more slowly, the rest is still the same as normal people.

After all, Jared said that the old Mr. Jones should never be allowed to have anything happen to him, let alone paralyze the old Mr. Jones, before Professor Booth's evidence was checked out.

How else can you go to jail?

the old Mr. Jones is not old enough to be in jail.

Of course, the old Mr. Jones, who had been kept in custody, kept cursing Jared, cursing very hard.

Amber has not been to see, but listened to Ben described, but also can probably imagine the situation.

All in all, the old Mr. Jones now looks like an old scholar, not an old shrew.

Amber rambled on and on with Jared, and was finally reminded by the nurse that it was almost time to visit, and only then did she reluctantly leave.

She didn't see that the man in the ward moved his fingers after she left, but quickly regained his composure.

The next day, Amber had breakfast and was ready to go visit Jared again.

But before going again, suddenly received a phone call from the police.

Turns out it's Braylee who's getting out.

It's not even Braylee's release date yet!

Amber puzzled, asked the police exactly what the reason, and finally learned that Braylee actually also in prison merit, although not her initiative to want to merit, but indirectly merit, but also merit, so it came out early, the time is three days later.

Amber put down her phone and sneered, not expecting Braylee to have this kind of shit luck.

But it's good to get out, and it's time to implement the previous plan.

It just so happens that Ben is here at this time as well.

Although the visit is not as frequent as before, several times a day.

But every day Ben also comes to see Jared once.

"Miss Reed, did something happen?" Ben looked at Amber's face and asked.

Amber shook her head, "Nothing, it's just that Braylee is coming out."

"Braylee?" Ben froze for a moment, then remembered the person and said in surprise, "How come she's coming out so soon?"

Love Letters, Divorce Papers (Jared and Amber)

Chapter 1333 Jared finally wakes up

Amber shrugged her shoulders and, with no intention of hiding, told the content of the phone call she had just made.

After Ben heard this, his head was full of black lines, "Is this considered shit luck? This can even let her indirectly take credit."

"Maybe there is a blessing from heaven." Amber's eyes flashed a hint of mockery, which was fleeting, "Well, regardless of that, it's a good thing she's out, just so Elias can see how her body is now and if she can get pregnant."

She also wants Braylee to give the Reed Family an heir.

"So Miss Reed, do you need me to send someone over to the prison to keep an eye on her? Bring her here when she gets out so she doesn't wander off." Ben asked for instructions.

Amber nodded, "Of course I need to, so I'll trouble you Ben."

"It's a small thing, I'll just make a phone call and when I recognize it, I'll let you know right away." Ben pushed his glasses and said.

Amber hummed and thanked again.

After that Ben left.

He came to the hospital very early and visited Jared before coming to see her.

Now that I've finished watching, I naturally won't linger any longer, I have to rush back to the Farrell Group for a meeting.

In the past, when Mr. Farrell was around, he didn't have as much work to handle as he does now.

Now Mr. Farrell is unable to work, which means that in addition to dealing with his own work, he also has to deal with Mr. Farrell's share, and usually has to inspect various departments and care for all the subsidiaries below, so it can be said that he is very busy, and can come to the hospital is also some of the time squeezed out.

After Ben left, Amber also headed over to Jared's side to talk with him as usual.

Even if he remained deaf, it did not dampen any of her enthusiasm.

This time, Amber spoke, and as she spoke, she looked up and saw the man's fingers raised in the ICU ward.

She froze for a moment, thinking she had misread it, then hurriedly rubbed her eyes and looked again, the man's index finger still moved.

Amber mouth grows, how can not control the surprise on his face, the whole person excited body trembling, tears big big tears left, "Come on people ah People are awake, people are awake!"

She rushed over to the nurse's desk, shouting that the person was awake as she ran.

Soon, the paramedics who heard the sound, rushed this way, led by none other than Elias.

Amber saw Elias and excitedly took his arm in a rush, "Dr. Lansdale, Jared's fingers are moving, is he waking up? Is he waking up?"

Elias patted her shoulder to reassure her, "If nothing else, that should be the case."

"Great, great!" Amber clasped her hands together with unbearable joy.

"Well, you wait here while I go in and check it out." Elias took his hand back.

Amber nodded her head repeatedly, "Go on, you go on."

She hurriedly urged him on.

Elias went in with a group of people.

Amber was pressed against the outside of the glass, looking in with baited breath.

After watching for a while, I saw the man in the hospital bed slowly open his eyes.

At that moment, Amber burst into tears and hastily covered her mouth to keep herself from crying out for fear of disturbing the inside.

He's awake, he's finally awake.

Great!

In the ward, Elias also found Jared's eyes opened, but only opened, after opening, there was no movement, the eyes turned without turning, pupils are also lax, just look at the ceiling, some dull.

A nurse asked in disbelief, "What's going on with Mr. Farrell? Why does it look like he's lost his soul?"

Elias snorted, "He is not losing his soul, his brain is rebooting it, some people waking up from a long coma, there may be a concentration situation, the first, first open, then the brain will slowly regain consciousness, the second brain first regained consciousness, but the eyes can not open, the third is together."

"So Mr. Farrell's case is the first one, I guess." The nurse nodded indistinctly.

Amber couldn't hear what was being said inside, and the excitement on her face suddenly froze when she saw Jared open his eyes and then stop moving.

What is the situation?

Didn't you wake up?

How come they just opened their eyes, but otherwise they didn't react at all?

What is going on?

She was so anxious, but she didn't dare to go in and ask directly.

I could only stand outside alone, hesitant.

In the hospital room, Elias glanced at Jared, "What a dumbass this looks like, too bad we can't film it."

If only we could capture it, it would be worth a lot of money to send it out, right?

Looking at Elias with a look of regret, the other doctors and nurses were all in black.

Director, you are not afraid of Mr. Farrell's revenge, we are.

Of course, they dare not really say these words, Dr. Lansdale is known to be a pervert. The pervert.

If he had known what was in their minds, he would have had to do it.

So it's better to pretend that you didn't hear anything head.

The crowd continued to give Jared the seat check.

Not long after, Jared's open eyes finally began to respond, no longer just motionless.

His lax and lightless pupils gradually focused, with a high light, and his eyes were no longer frozen in place, but began to turn.

Elias saw it and raised his eyebrows, "Yo, the reboot is done."

Jared had just woken up to these words.

He does not know what reboot is finished, he only knows that his body is now so heavy, so stiff, want to move a little can not move, it feels like the brain and body disconnected, can not control the body in general.

He rolled his eyes and looked at the clean white ceiling, his thin lips moved, his voice hoarse and thin and almost inaudible, "Where is this?"

"The hospital." Elias took a moment to answer him.

As if realizing that there was someone else, Jared looked down and saw Elias, realizing that he was really in the hospital at the moment.

As for why you are in the hospital?

Jared closed his eyes again, and soon a whole bunch of memories came flooding back like a tidal wave.

He remembered that something had happened to him and Little Leaf and they were locked up inside the factory and a fire was set outside the factory, trying to burn him and Little Leaf alive.

And during this time, he inhaled a hit of smoke, as well as the bad chemical reaction in the smoke, which caused his heart to be overloaded, and then he simply vomited blood and passed out.

What happened after that, he didn't know.

But now he is lying in the hospital, he did not die and survived, that means, he and Little Leaf in the back is saved.

Just what about Little Leaf?

Jared opened his eyes, a hint of anxiety appeared on his face and lifted his neck to get up.

Elias saw this and nudged him right in the neck, and Jared fell right back onto the pillow, staring at him with two angry eyes, "What are you doing?"

"I was going to ask what you were going to do?" Elias gave him a faint look.

"I'm going to find Little Leaf," Jared said in a hushed voice.

He didn't see Amber and he was relieved.

He wanted to know how she was doing, if she was okay, if she was hurt.

Looking at the eagerness in Jared's eyes, Elias sighed, "You're really affectionate, you don't even ask about yourself, you care about her, and you deserve her."

When he finished, he pointed to the opposite glass wall.

Jared narrowed his eyes, "What do you mean?"

"You'll know if you see for yourself."

Jared turned his head suspiciously to look and his eyes immediately widened, it was Little Leaf!

Amber also didn't expect Jared to look over suddenly, and in her excitement, she quickly waved at the man and told him she was here.

When the men saw that Amber was alive and well and not wearing a hospital gown or anything like that, they understood at once that she was fine and unharmed.

Jared breathed a huge sigh of relief and then tried to raise his hand in response, but found that he still couldn't move his body.

Love Letters, Divorce Papers (Jared and Amber)

Chapter 1334 Everything is better

His face changed slightly, and a bad feeling of foreboding, as well as a sense of panic, sprang up in his heart.

He's not, like, partially paralyzed, is he?

Just now the body can not move, he did not worry much, think it may be just woke up, the body does not adapt, so it can not control.

But now, he has woken up for a while, but his body still can't move except for his head, which makes him wonder if he is paralyzed except for his head, below his neck?

Jared turned his head back in a hurry and looked at Elias with red eyes, "Tell me, what's wrong with me? Why can't I move?"

Elias as if he did not see the panic in Jared's eyes, pushed the glasses faintly back, "you just did a heart replacement surgery, so I gave you a paralyzing injection, so you can not move the parts below the neck, in order to prevent you from moving around, resulting in problems, but you can rest assured that the paralyzing injection is not anesthetic, so you do not have to worry about side effects. "

"So, I'm not paralyzed am I?" Jared clenched his fists.

Elias sneered, "You weren't in a car accident, you didn't fall down the stairs, what are you paralyzed for?"

Jared breathed a huge sigh of relief when he heard that.

It's good that it's not paralysis.

Just now, really scared him to death.

He is a proud man and would never be able to accept his paralyzed self.

What's more, after being paralyzed, how can he love his beloved?

Jared turns his head and looks out the glass at Amber.

Amber had confusion written all over her face, as if she didn't understand what had just happened to him.

Jared blinked at her, telling her with his expression and eyes that he was okay and that she shouldn't worry, then looked back to Elias and asked, "Did you just say that I had heart replacement surgery?"

"Yes." Elias nodded noncommittally.

Jared pursed his lips, "My previous heart no longer works?"

"It's already full of holes, you tell me how it works? To last you until you were rescued from the fire and then sent to me was the last limit of that heart, so you had to have a heart replacement operation or you would have to go to God in less than a week, so thank your assistant, he was the one who chose to end the carrier's life early in order to keep you alive, otherwise it would be you who would be dead now." Elias said.

Jared's pupils crinkled, "The carrier dead?"

"Where else would you get the heart for surgery?" Elias opened his medical folder, scribbled on it, and took the time to say something back to him.

Jared blushed a little.

Elias snapped the medical record folder closed, "Okay, the examination is over, the final confirmation of no adverse reactions and no rejection, after a few days of observation, you can be sent to the general ward."

Several doctors and nurses behind him nodded their heads and took note of his words.

"Go and dispense the medicine." Elias ordered again, "When people wake up, they have to start taking medicine, rejection medicine must be taken, even if there is no rejection phenomenon yet, but there may be posterior symptoms, so the anti-rejection medicine must not be missing."

"Don't worry Dr. Lansdale," a doctor said back.

Elias hummed, then thought of something and glanced outside at Amber who was staring intently at Jared, "Also, open up the visiting slots in the ICU ward, two per day, ten minutes per officer."

"Yes." A nurse nodded in response.

Elias glanced at Jared, "Amber will be able to come in and see you in a few minutes, you guys can grab anything you want to say, it's only ten minutes so just get to the point, plus you can't get too emotional when you talk, unless you want to go into surgery again, take note of what I said, right?"

Jared looked at him as if he were a fool.

Who can't remember such shallow words?

Elias, as if he didn't see Jared's eyes, finished this and went out.

The other doctors and nurses also finished the task at hand and followed them out.

Outside, Elias and Amber are talking, and she's jumping for joy to learn that she can go in and spend ten minutes with Jared every day from now on.

Elias called one of the nurses who came out and told Amber to follow her to change into a sterile gown, the only way to go inside the ICU ward is to wear this, otherwise you can't go in.

So Amber hurriedly followed the nurse to change her clothes.

After changing, she opened the door of the ward and walked in, and when she walked to the man's bedside, her eyes were red and she cried straight away.

Jared saw her crying, his heart also followed the hard, would like to lift a hand to wipe her tears, but he could not do it for a moment.

Because he can't move anywhere but his head.

"Don't cry." Jared spoke up, softly soothing her, "When you cry, it makes me feel bad inside too, I just had surgery, this isn't good for me is it?"

When she heard this, Amber reacted to the fact that she was prone to pulling the man's emotions, and hurriedly took a deep breath and wiped her eyes haphazardly to keep herself from crying.

After a while, she finally stabilized her emotions, didn't cry, and squeezed out a smile at the man, "I'm sorry, I forgot all about it."

"Sit." The man's eyes gestured to the hospital bed.

Amber ummed and ahed twice, nodding her head and sitting sideways so that the good side looked at the man.

"How many days have I been in a coma?" Jared asked.

Amber broke her fingers and counted, "Six days."

Jared was slightly surprised, "I can't believe it's taken this long."

"It wasn't that long." Amber shook her head, "Not long after you passed out, Ben felt outside the plant, rescued us, and then sent you directly to the hospital, Dr. Lansdale said your heart was out of order, if not hurry to replace the heart on So we waited nearly three days again, the heart finally arrived from abroad, you surgery were carried out a day and night, and then slept for two days until just now to wake up."

"So that's it." Jared nodded his head, indicating that he understood.

Amber grabbed his hand, "Do you know, you've been scaring me to death these past few days, I was so scared that you'd suddenly be gone like this."

Her voice choked up again.

Jared wanted to hug her, but couldn't, so he could only smile at her helplessly, "Sorry to worry you."

"You do deserve an apology, if it wasn't for this accident, I wouldn't have known about your heart"
Amber bit her lip, "Jared, you hid it from me so hard, hid it from me for so long!"

"I'm sorry, I just don't want to make you feel guilty for this, I was thinking that I could just wait for my own excuse to travel later and have the surgery done quietly, who knew that things were not going at all towards what I envisioned."

"You think you're God and you can develop whatever you want?" Amber gave him a blank look.

Jared knew he was in the wrong and didn't say anything.

Amber looked at him lying on the hospital bed, her heart also softened at once, sighed, "In the future, don't hide everything from me, and, in the future, we all don't want this to happen again either, it's too scary and abrasive, I don't know if I can hold out next time."

"Good." Jared spoke up and agreed with him.

This time, it was also an oversight on his part.

He didn't have a bodyguard following.

Otherwise, the people behind the curtain would not have succeeded at all.

"By the way, have you found the person who set the fire?" The man asked.

Amber nodded, "I found out, this time I still dragged you into it, the person who set the fire, was Bernardo."

"It's him!" Jared was slightly surprised.

Apparently, he didn't expect it to be this person either.

He thought of many people, but Bernardo was the only one who did not come to mind.

Let Bernardo drill a hole.

"Yes, he has now been arrested, and the evidence is conclusive, three months after the trial, but this time I have been worried about you, so I did not go to the detention center over to see him, he wanted to see me, I did not promise, and do not want to see him."

"If you don't see it, you don't see it, but what kind of downfall do you want him to get?" The man asked, looking at her.

Chapter 1335 Elias' Threat

With his character, there is no way he would let Bernardo go.

If Bernardo didn't have a layer of relationship with her, he would have just ordered down and disposed of Bernardo.

But Bernardo and she have a relationship, Bernardo is the patriarch of Goldstone Co., also to Goldstone Co. credit, or her father together with the business friends, then this friendship with Bernardo's mentality imbalance problem has been turned into nothing, but the past love still in the past time.

Plus she is soft-hearted and will most likely not go too far with Bernardo for these reasons.

Although he did not want to see her really do this, but he respects her intention, that's why he wanted to ask.

Amber did not know what was in the man's mind, hearing him ask about Bernardo, a hint of hatred immediately appeared on her small face, "Of course he is to make him pay a terrible price, he almost caused two of us to die, we absolutely can not take it lightly."

She clenched her fist, her small face was full of anger, "But I asked the police, the police said Bernardo's case, at most, is life, but it is not possible to say, there may be a dozen years with a term, so this quite makes me uncomfortable in my heart, life is okay, if there is a term, it is disgusting enough."

"So, you want Bernardo to take life?" The man looked at her.

Amber nodded, "Yes, only the domestic life is not literally the kind of life imprisoned to death, up to 20 or 30 years or will be released, I really want him to be imprisoned to death, so as not to be released after 20 or 30 years to pollute the cityscape."

Life in this country is actually a general term, 20 or 30 years is made life, there is no such thing as a real life.

There are foreign countries.

Hearing Amber's words, Jared's thin lips curled up in reassurance.

He was really afraid that she would be soft-hearted. He didn't expect that her hatred for Bernardo would reach such a level.

Is it because he almost died?

Jared's heart can not mention how happy and pleased, if there is a tail, it is expected to have wagged it up!

"If you want Bernardo to get a real life sentence, I can do that, even if it's the death penalty." Jared said, narrowing his eyes.

Amber never doubted the man's words, first a happy, then shook his head, "the death penalty even if, in the end to Goldstone Co. have grace, he also does not constitute a death sentence, off a lifetime off to death, can never be free, in fact, more painful than the death penalty, death instead is relief, or life, but what do you intend to do. "

"There is no real life at home, but there is abroad, and I will change Bernardo's nationality and send him to an overdose where there is a real life sentence, and he will spend the next few decades in a tiny cell in a foreign country."

"That's fine." Amber nodded.

Jared added, "Just call Ben and tell him this, he'll know what to do."

"Good." Amber agreed, then thought of something and smiled, "Speaking of which, Ben still does not know that you are awake, it is really time to give him a call, let him be happy, these days, he ran around for you, a while group, a while hospital, but also to go to the airport to pick up your heart, every day the dark circles under the eyes as heavy as a panda, I look at it are worried that he will not be able to hold on to collapse! Now that you're awake, he can finally breathe a sigh of relief. When you're well and can be discharged, you should reward him properly."

"I will." Jared nodded.

He knows very well that if he falls, all the pressure will be on Ben alone.

And he has never been the kind of boss who owes his subordinates the Chowder.

Ben's payment, he will naturally double the compensation.

"I'm going out to make a call then, it just so happens that ten minutes is about right, so let's talk through the glass if there's anything." Amber pointed to the glass wall.

Jared was also very clear that he was not in a normal ward, his thin lips pursed at once, "These walls are bulletproof and soundproof, you can't hear them."

"It's okay, I'll write it for you on a writing pad." Amber smiled unconcernedly.

The man frowned, "But I can't write."

Amber thought about it, "It's okay, I'll write something nice to understand, you just need to nod and shake your head so I know."

After saying that, she was about to get up and go out.

Jared called out to her, "Wait."

"What's wrong?" Amber stopped in her tracks.

Jared's eyes landed on her face, "I just forgot to ask, why are you wearing glasses all of a sudden?"

Amber knew the man would always ask about this, and did not think to hide his intention, after touching the glasses, frankly returned: "That day the eyes were smoked by the smoke is a bit serious, so the ability to see things weakened, need to wear glasses to see things clearly."

"What?" Jared's pupils crinkled, "It's because of me isn't it?"

He guessed at once that it must be because after he passed out, she was not worried about him and kept an eye on him all the time, that's why she smoked her eyes like this.

Amber lowered her head and gently dropped a kiss on the man's forehead, "Well, it's just a small thing, don't take it to heart, Elias said that I can be cured at this late stage, so don't worry, if you don't believe me, you can ask Elias and Ben, they know it too, anyway, don't think too much, all you have to do now is to rest well, accept the treatment, and try to get out of the hospital sooner. I'll go out first."

She waved her hand and exited the ward.

Once outside, she smiled through the glass at the handsome, dark-faced man inside, then took out her phone and dialed Ben's number.

When Ben heard that Jared was awake, he was so excited that he dropped his work and rushed over.

Big deal, just work a few more hours at night.

When Ben arrived at the hospital, Amber had already gone back to her room to rest.

In fact, although she is not serious, she still has some physical after-effects after being rescued.

She stood for too long and became short and sharp in terms of breathing, as if she couldn't catch her breath.

Elias said that in her case, she inhaled a lot of smoke and dust, which hurt her lungs, plus lung washing or something is also a kind of damage to the lungs, so there will inevitably be some after-effects in breathing.

Of course, if you take good care of yourself, you will be fine for a few years, but if you don't take good care of yourself, there is a good chance that it will turn into asthma or lung cancer or something like that.

This, she didn't let Elias tell Jared and Ben.

After all, there's enough going on right now, and she doesn't want a lot of people worrying about her, especially Jared.

Then, she was threatened by Elias.

Elias told her that he would supervise her recuperation, and gave her a schedule of work and diet, and ordered her to follow it to the letter.

If she doesn't listen, he'll tell Jared.

So, when the time came, she dutifully went back to her ward to rest.

Even when she left, Jared looked at her with such reluctance, she ruthlessly did not look back to stay.

No way, she didn't dare to go against that devil Elias.

Not long after Amber left, Ben arrived, changed, and entered Jared's room.

Seeing Jared, Ben clenched his fist in excitement, "Mr. Farrell, you finally woke up, we were worried sick these days."

Jared opened his eyes and looked at Ben, whose eyes were glowing red, and a few black lines slid down the corner of his forehead.

This guy, made it look like he was dead.

But Jared also did not say Ben, he knows that Ben has given a lot for him these days.

"These days, it's been hard on you." Jared spoke, his voice hoarse as he thanked Ben.

Love Letters, Divorce Papers (Jared and Amber)

Chapter 1336 Braylee's release from prison

Ben waved his hand, "No hard work, this is what I should do, as long as Mr. Farrell you are okay."

"Sit." Jared gestured with his chin to the sterile stool by the hospital bed.

Ben nodded and went over to sit down, "Mr. Farrell, do you feel any discomfort?"

"Other than the fact that I can't move my body, no." Jared shook his head slightly.

Ben was relieved, "That's good, Dr. Lansdale gave you a numbing injection to stop you from waking up and moving around and letting the wound open up."

Jared's eyes narrowed at the word wound, "Elias said that you took it upon yourself to end the carrier's life?"

Ben lowered his head, "Yes, I'm sorry Mr. Farrell, this matter is my own initiative, but I really have no choice, you were in danger, if there is no heart replacement within a few days, you may Mr. Farrell, you do not want to die and leave the old lady and Miss Reed sad, right? The old lady is very old, if she knows that she is sending the old lady away, maybe you just left before, the old lady will leave with her, and Miss Reed, Miss Reed has always thought that your accident is affected by her, if you die, Miss Reed will feel that she killed you, self-blame and guilt will also crush her, maybe Miss Reed Maybe Miss Reed will not be able to hold on and choose to go down to you. That's why I chose to go this way."

Jared looked at him and sighed for a long time, "This thing, does Little Leaf know about it?"

Ben shook his head, "I didn't tell Miss Reed, if Miss Reed knew, Miss Reed's heart will be an additional guilt, feel that they not only harmed you, but also harmed the carrier, so I didn't tell her anything, of course, the old lady's side, including you and Miss Reed accident, I also first blocked the news, now the outside world still does not know what happened between you and Miss Reed. Now the outside world still does not know what happened to you and Miss Reed."

Jared hummed, "That's good, then."

"Mr. Farrell, you don't blame me?" Ben looked at him cautiously.

Jared closed his eyes a little wearily, "You also said how I would want to die if I died, with the actions that my grandmother and Little Leaf might do, so how can I blame you."

He does not want to die.

The world is such that the carrier's heart was predetermined by him long ago.

If he does not want to die, then the death, it is only the carrier.

People are selfish, he thought, even if Ben didn't do it, if he was still conscious at the time, chances are he would have done the same.

That's human nature.

"Did you compensate the carrier's family?" Jared inquired, opening his eyes.

Ben nodded, "Of course, the carrier's wish was for his wife and children to stop worrying about money for the rest of their lives, and I agreed and gave them an extra house."

"Hmm." Jared responded, "Good, but not enough, give his children another good choice of education, and even try to grant them whatever they want in the future, as long as it's not too much."

"Yes." Ben nodded his head.

"Tell me about what's been happening these days." Jared asked in a hushed voice.

Ben started telling about all the things that happened these days.

However, due to the time here, Ben did not say too carefully, basically picking the key points to say.

Just finishing up, it's about time.

After that Ben took some orders from Jared and left the hospital.

And Jared, too, could not hold out and fell into a deep sleep.

He is not in good health now, and he does not wake up for long every day, and basically spends his time in sleep.

But that's a good thing for Jared, too. Sleep makes it easier for the body to repair itself.

In the blink of an eye, three days have passed.

The iron gates of Olkmore City North Women's Prison opened and Braylee emerged from it with short hair and a baggy outfit.

When she came out, she saw the vehicles parked outside that were specially designed to pick up and drop off inmates, she twisted her face and gritted her teeth, "Amber, I can't believe it, I'm out, you dared to send me to prison and make my life in there worse than death, I will never let you go, absolutely not! Just wait, I will return the pain you put on me, ten times a hundred times back to you!"

After saying the oath, only to see two people in bodyguard uniforms rushed out from both sides, covered her mouth, and took her to a private car not far away.

Braylee's entire eyes widened in horror.

She didn't know where these two men had come from, or why they wanted to capture her, or where they were taking her.

Her whole body was terrified and kept struggling and also kept sending distress signals towards the prison gatekeeper where, "Ooooooooo!"

Help me, help me, I've been kidnapped.

Naive gatekeepers do not even care.

Obviously, they all saw it, but as if they didn't, they didn't pay the slightest attention to it.

Braylee was desperate, tears left large, and finally was forced into the car by two bodyguards and taken away.

Two hours later, Braylee was lying unconscious on a clean white operating table, next to which Elias and Amber were standing.

Elias in a white coat, hands in his pockets, looking at Braylee on the stage, just like looking at a sacrificial bite, without any temperature, "just OB/GYN side did a test, her body is now able to conceive, it seems that the prison side has strictly implemented Jared's instructions, regularly supervised her medication."

"With the benefit of Jared over there, how could it not be strictly enforced." Amber pushed up her glasses and smiled.

"So she's being given a test tube today?" Elias lifted his chin toward Braylee.

Amber nodded, "Of course, the sooner the better."

"That's fine, I'll have the OB/GYN side come over and do it, come on, let's go out first." Elias took out his cell phone and called as he did so.

Soon after, the OB/GYN got Elias' word and came over to try Braylee.

Amber then waited outside for the results and waited until the OB/GYN said the bed was successfully laid before she left with relief.

Then that night, Braylee was sent away to a secluded villa, where Braylee would stay for the next ten months, to nurse her baby and know that she would not leave until after she gave birth.

Braylee woke up not long after being taken to the villa and kept fussing.

Amber went to see her.

The moment Braylee saw Amber, hatred poured out, "I see, it was you, the man who kidnapped me at the prison gate, you ordered it right!"

She pointed at Amber's nose.

Amber was noncommittal, "It's me."

"What the hell do you want!" Braylee tried to struggle to get up.

But nay, her hands and feet were tied to the head and foot of the bed, unable to move.

She was now scared to death inside.

Amber tied her up here and tied her up like this, wouldn't she want someone to bully her and film her and use it to threaten her later?

It's all played out on TV.

Braylee's body was trembling badly, and her eyes were full of panic.

Amber stood by the bed, seeing such Braylee, her red lips hooked up, "This look of yours now, it makes me feel a lot smoother, in the past, you never had eyes on the top of your head, an appearance of not being afraid of anything, so now I'm quite happy to see you afraid of me, but don't worry, I won't do anything to you, I just let you behave I just want you to stay here, stay for ten months, and then give birth to the baby."

Braylee's mind boggled, "A child? What child?"

Amber didn't say anything, just looked at her stomach with a smirk.

Love Letters, Divorce Papers (Jared and Amber)

Chapter 1337 Braylee's Delusions of Grandeur

Braylee followed her line of sight as she struggled to look up and down, her eyes falling on her stomach.

At that moment, a huge panic attacked her.

The blood faded from her face and she looked at Amber in disbelief, "What do you want? Are you going to do this to me?"

Amber rolled her eyes, "Why would you think that?"

"How could I have had any children if you hadn't tried to do it to me!" Braylee yelled in horror, "Amber, you're breaking the law, I'm telling you, you're breaking the law!"

She's scared, she's really scared.

This Amber is a nutcase.

She shouldn't have come back to the country.

Braylee whimpered as she thought about what she might face next.

Looking at her crying with a snotty nose and a tear, Amber averted her eyes in disgust.

There's no way around it, it's just too hot to look at.

"I don't want to do that, you're the one who's overthinking it." Amber skimmed her red lips and said coldly.

Braylee cried out and paused for a moment, somewhat unable to believe what she was hearing, "What did you say? You're not going to let people Let someone"

"I couldn't do something so vicious." Amber rolled her eyes, "Although I do hate you, but the same position of women, I will not do things to deliberately bully women, after all, I am not like you, if we exchange now, you can do it, right?"

She stared coldly at Braylee.

Braylee's eyes kept flickering and finally turned her head to the side sheepishly.

Amber completely spoke to the darkest side of her heart.

Indeed, she was not a good person in the first place, as long as someone messes with her, she does not care if it is the same woman, she only uses the most painful way to retaliate against the other party.

Even if she let someone strong the other side, she would not feel anything wrong.

As long as you avenge yourself, you will be fine.

"Sure enough, people like you are pure garbage." Amber snorted coldly, then added, "Although I won't let you bow though you, but who told you that pregnancy can only be conceived with a man? Don't you know about test tubes?"

Braylee blushed profusely, "Test tubes?"

Amber is non-committal.

Braylee's pupils contracted to the size of pinpoints as she realized what was happening, "You're giving me a test tube?"

Amber smiled, "Yeah, and it's been in vitro bonded and the blanks have been planted in your belly."

"What?" Braylee's mind went red and blank, clearly unable to believe what she was hearing.

It was only after a while that she suddenly reacted, staring at Amber with emotion, her body struggling violently, her voice full of bone-chilling hatred, "Amber, Amber! I want to kill you, let go of me, I want to kill you, you dare to leave a wild seed in my belly, I want to kill you."

Looking at Braylee, who had fallen into a state of madness, Amber took a step back and pulled away from her.

Even though, Braylee was completely unable to break free from the ropes and get off the bed, she didn't want to get too close to Braylee.

Elias looked at Braylee with even more disgust, "Do you need me to sedate her all the time?"

"No need." Amber shook her head, "She's pregnant now, using any medication, it's not good for the fetus, and being tied up anyway, I'm not afraid that her moving around will have any effect on the fetus."

"Ahhhhhhhhh!" Listening to the two talk, Braylee felt like she was really going crazy.

She never thought that Amber would be so mean and shameless as to just let her get pregnant.

"Why? Why are you doing this to me!" Braylee stared at Amber with a deadly stare, "Are you asking me to give birth to you because you can't get pregnant yourself?"

Speaking of which, she suddenly calmed down and thought of something.

Yeah, Amber can't get pregnant and let someone else give her a baby, but the baby is certainly not hers alone, but also the man's.

Then it is self-evident who this male party is.

So, the baby in her belly is Amber and Jared's?

The thought of Jared's handsome face, as well as the wealthy family fortune, Braylee's eyes are bright green, the whole person is excited.

Out of his mouth, he even let out a greedy laugh.

Elias raised an eyebrow, "What's wrong with her?"

Amber knew her well enough to know what was going on with Braylee based on what she had just said.

With a cold laugh, Amber opened her mouth to answer, "She, I guess, thinks that the baby in her belly is Jared's."

The corner of Elias' mouth twitched, "What makes her think that?"

Amber shrugged her shoulders, "Didn't she think I couldn't have it, and I just happened to want her to have it, so she subconsciously thought that what I was letting her have, was mine and Jared's baby."

Elias finally got it, chortled, and stopped talking.

"Too bad, the baby she's carrying is just an ordinary man's." Amber smirked and looked at Braylee.

This sentence she said in a much louder voice.

Braylee heard it and her whole body was confused and couldn't stop laughing, "What are you saying? The baby isn't yours and Jared's?"

"Or what?" Amber spread her hands, "I never said I can't give birth to a child, in saying that, even if I can't, I will not let other women to help us give birth, so I can only say that you are whimsical, you just smiled so happily, is that you think that in the future to give birth to the child, is also considered half the mother of the child, think you can use this as a request, let us support you, right, maybe then think deeper Think deeper, you can also be followed by the child as a reason to drive me away and replace it?"

Braylee's face stiffened and she looked at Amber with the same eyes as a monster, "You You"

Apparently, Amber had hit the nail on the head once again.

Amber laughed mockingly, "Unfortunately, your ideas are destined not to reach reality, the father of the child in your belly is a man whose family is innocent and whose character is pure, only the genes provided by such a man will make it possible for your child not to become as sinister-minded as you are, to say the least, you should thank me, after all, I helped you improve your genes ."

"Fuck," Braylee couldn't control it any longer and just spilled out an expletive, "Amber, what the hell do you want? Why do you want me to have a baby?"

She doesn't get it, doesn't understand it.

Amber smiled, "Because who made me not the Reed Family's biological daughter, I want to leave the Reed Family an offspring to inherit Goldstone Co. in the future, so I have to let you have it, after all, you are the Reed Family's only bloodline now."

So that's how it is.

"So this is what you want, then I tell you Amber, I will not let you achieve your goal, this child, I just get rid of it alive, I will never give birth to it, absolutely not!" Braylee towards Amber harshly yelled, and then hands and feet twisting and turning, trying to abort the child.

Amber looked at her like a fool, "What's the use of you being so excited now, the billet has only just been in vitro, it's the equivalent of not even starting to develop in your body yet, you can't even say you're pregnant now, you won't do any harm to the billet by moving again, you'll just make yourself tired like a dog."

Braylee was instantly dumbfounded by these words.

Amber added: "And don't worry, even if the embryo begins to develop, I will have someone watching you twenty-four hours a day, and will not give you the opportunity to lay hands on the child, you will stay in this villa for a year, until the child is born safely."

When she finished, she turned around and headed for the door of the room.

Elias naturally followed her.

Braylee looked at the backs of the two, eyes scarlet, and kept shouting for Amber to go back.

But Amber turned a deaf ear to it and was soon out of the villa and into the car.

Love Letters, Divorce Papers (Jared and Amber)

Chapter 1338 Desperate Mrs. Gardner

This was the last time she came to see Braylee, and after that, she wouldn't even come back.

When Braylee gives birth, the baby will be taken directly from Braylee's side.

As for Braylee herself, she will send Braylee to jail again as soon as Braylee is out of the month.

After all, she hadn't settled the score with Braylee for the poisoning of her dad.

Back at the hospital, it was already afternoon.

She hadn't gone to see Jared today, so when she went, Jared boss was not happy, a handsome face stink.

Amber coaxed him for half a day before she could get the sulking man to settle down.

It's funny to say that he's noticed that since men have been sick, the whole thing has become more childish.

Just like a child, a day late did not go to see him, to have a tantrum with you.

Amber sits at Jared's bedside and talks to Jared about her visit to Braylee.

Jared heard her talk about Braylee thinking she was pregnant with both of their children and the whole thing made him sick to his stomach.

What kind of person can brainstorm these things?

"By the way, Mikel will be in Olkmore tonight," Jared said, not wanting to mention the disgusting woman and changed the subject directly.

Amber froze for a moment, "So soon?"

"Ben told Mikel about the heart, so he came early." Jared said back.

Amber nodded, "That's good, sooner the old Mr. Jones gives an account of what happened."

"Ben's already gone to the airport to wait." Jared picked up, "He'll go over to the old Mr. Jones and finish what I told him to do before he comes over."

Amber's eyes lit up, "So that means we'll know the evidence of the old Mr. Jones Professor Booth tonight?"

Jared was noncommittal, "I've asked Ben to send someone over to the old Mr. Jones to install surveillance, so we can watch in real time over here, as well as the police side."

"That's great." Amber clapped her hands in delight.

Then she thought of something, she frowned, "In the past few days, Mr. and Mrs. Jones always come to the Goldstone Co. and the Farrell Group downstairs to harass, yelling to see us, if not for the security guards to stop, probably have to break in. Ben was smart enough to arrange for someone to block the outside of the old house beforehand, so they didn't let these two go and disturb Grandma."

"This matter Ben told me, do not worry, two jumping clowns just, do not care, they can not jump outside for a long time, the two couples certainly will not be clean hands, just did not find evidence, but the old Mr. Jones must know, tonight the old Mr. Jones will explain all the things, then, their family of four, they can go Inside the reunion." Jared narrowed his eyes and said faintly.

Amber laughed a little, then picked up a glass of water, dabbed some water with a cotton swab and moistened his lips, "Well, it's about time, you get some sleep, don't talk, your lips are dry."

Jared pursed his lips, his tone obviously a little less than happy, "How did it get here so fast."

Amber laughed, "Of course, because it's only ten minutes, okay, I'm not going to talk to you, I'm going out first."

After saying that, she tucked the man in, and at the man's uncolored gaze, turned and walked towards the door.

After going out, she was looking back at the man, and not surprisingly, she met his dark eyes.

It turns out that the man's gaze has been chasing her, never moving away from her by half.

Seeing the reluctance in the man's eyes, Amber's heart is also more or less unpleasant.

Especially the aggravation and longing written in the man's eyes made her heart ache.

The man then aggravated himself to leave, and then to lie alone in that cold ward, not even a person to talk to, not sleep can only stare at the ceiling, can not do anything.

And the longing, but the longing is to be free, to get out of that ward, that hospital bed with yourself.

The spirited man should not stay here, lying there, he should come out and point the way in the shopping mall, and be by her side to protect her from the wind and rain.

However it was all to no avail, his current body was destined to only allow him to lie there, unable to move.

Oops Sigh.

Amber picked up the writing pad, wrote some words on it then held it up for the man to see.

It says: Don't be sad, as long as I am free, I will come over to keep you company.

Even if you can't go in, but you can also be outside with ah.

Sure enough, after seeing this line, Jared was in a significantly better mood.

Amber smiled, looked down and continued writing again: Elias asked me to go get my eyes checked later, I'll be back with you afterwards.

Jared nodded his head.

Amber waved at him, put away her writing pad, and turned to leave.

I thought it should not take long just to check the eyes, but I did not expect that it would already be more than two hours when I came out.

Now the man is expected to have a temper again.

Maybe even wondering if she gave her word and broke it on purpose?

Sighing, Amber rubbed her temples as she headed over to Jared.

Regardless of whether the man is asleep at this time, she should also do what she said and go over to keep him company for a while.

This way when the man asks tomorrow, he will have a reason to explain.

"What to do, what to do oooooooooo" Just as Amber was walking out of the ophthalmology doors and heading for the elevator, she suddenly heard a sad, desperate cry coming from her right.

This is a hospital, in fact, such cries are not uncommon.

It is reasonable to say that it is not her business, and she is at most sympathetic, and will not stop at all.

But this time the cry was very familiar to her.

For it was the cry of Trenton's wife, Mrs. Gardner.

With Mrs. Gardner in tears, it was clear that something had happened.

And this is the hospital, she heard from Jared some time ago, Trenton's body completely unable to support has been admitted to the hospital thing.

In other words, Mrs. Gardner is crying about Trenton?

Could it be that Trenton is dead?

Amber's eyes lit up and she turned around in the direction of the cries.

Sure enough, on a cool chair outside one of the consulting rooms, she saw Mrs. Gardner sitting there, covering her face and sobbing uncontrollably.

Amber stopped across from Mrs. Gardner, leaned against the cold wall with her arms wrapped around her, and spoke lightly, "Why, is Mrs. Gardner crying like this, or has Mr. Gardner died? If that's the case, that's a very good thing."

At these words, Mrs. Gardner's sobbing stopped, then she dropped her hands and looked up, glaring at Amber, "It's you? How dare you curse my husband?"

Amber blinked and expressed innocence, "No, I didn't curse Mr. Gardner, I still saw Mrs. Gardner crying like this and ventured a guess, after all, Mrs. Gardner crying really makes people think more ah."

"You" Mrs. Gardner was trembling with anger, pointing at Amber in anger, unable to speak.

Amber ruffled her long hair and smiled in a charming way, "What? It looks like Mr. Gardner didn't die. Hey, what a pity, it would have been great if he had died, and saved me from taking revenge."

Mrs. Gardner's eyes were scarlet, "You are too vicious a girl."

"I'm vicious?" Amber covered her lips and laughed, her tears came out, "Mrs. Gardner, I am not as vicious as your husband and your adopted daughter, your husband was jealous of my father and stole the secrets of Goldstone Co. more than twenty years ago, causing Goldstone Co. employees to jump to their deaths. Seven years ago, you forced Goldstone Co. to almost go bankrupt and forced my father to jump to his death, isn't that evil?"

Chapter 1339 Shedding Tears for the Enemy

In the face of Amber's questioning, Mrs. Gardner's mouth dropped open, unable to speak.

Amber did not let her go, step by step approach, "and your adopted daughter, deliberately impersonate me, let me suffer six years of humiliation, and after that also repeatedly kill me, is my life, so I survived, otherwise I would have died, Mrs. Gardner, please tell me, you the Gardner family to me, to me the Mrs. Gardner, please tell me, isn't what the Gardner family did to me, to the Reed Family, evil?"

"I I" Mrs. Gardner turned pale and stammered, unable to say a complete sentence.

In fact, she is not a person who is completely devoid of the right three views.

On the contrary, she has.

She also knows the two families, really, it is the Gardner family's fault the most, it is the Gardner family sorry the Reed Family, and knows how ruthless her husband and adopted daughter have done.

But she is the Gardner family, so even if she thinks her husband and adopted daughter are doing the wrong thing, she can only stand by their side.

But now, in the face of Amber's questioning, she not only can't say a word, but also inexplicably feels ashamed in her heart.

This shocked herself.

Shocked at himself, he actually feels guilty about the little girl in front of him.

She is so crazy.

Just then, a sound of high heels, coming from next to the two.

"Mom!" Makayla shouted in a rush when she saw Mrs. Gardner sitting there.

Then she saw Amber across from Mrs. Gardner and her face immediately changed.

How did they get together?

What did they say again?

Makayla, worried about her secret being exposed, hurriedly took up her feet and trotted over, "Mom."

"Makayla, you're here." When Mrs. Gardner saw her daughter coming, she wiped her tears and gave her a forced smile, "Why are you so late?"

"There was a traffic jam and I was delayed for a while." Makayla handed over the bag in her hand, "Mom, this is the food I brought for you, you can have some."

"Good." Mrs. Gardner took the bag.

Makayla then looked at Amber this time.

She deliberately walked in front of Amber, relying on her high heels to be taller than Amber, blocking Amber's view completely so that Amber could not see Mrs. Gardner, and only then did her heart breathe a little easier.

"Hello Miss Reed." Makayla looked at Amber and squeezed an extraordinarily forced smile at Amber.

Amber glanced at her lightly, "If you don't want to laugh, you can not laugh, no one is forcing you."

Makayla's face was awkward as Amber unceremoniously pierced her false face.

But in the end, after being in the Gardner family for so long, many things have been practiced, such as expression management.

Soon Makayla's expression straightened out and returned to normal, ruffled her hair around her ears and said, "I'm sorry for laughing just now and giving Miss Reed a bad look, it's my fault."

Amber rolled her eyes, not wanting to pay too much attention, and turned around to leave.

Makayla called out to her, "Miss Reed, may I ask why you are at the hospital? I heard that you are not out of the country with Mr. Farrell?"

Amber had a dark light in her eyes, stopped in her tracks and turned back and said faintly, "If you go abroad, you won't come back to your country? Something happened at home, so I came back first, and I was a bit uncomfortable abroad, my body has been uncomfortable, so when I came back I came here for a checkup, it should be reasonable, right?"

"..... That's true." Makayla smiled, "But this is a nephrology department, Miss Reed shouldn't be here even if she wants to be examined."

Amber narrowed her eyes, "What exactly are you trying to say?"

Makayla smiled slightly and walked over to her, lowering her voice, "Miss Reed, I don't care exactly why you are here, but I only have one request, and that is I want Miss Reed you to stay out of my parents' presence, and I want Miss Reed to grant me that request."

"Oh?" Amber raised an eyebrow, intrigued, "Why? I suddenly noticed that you, seem to be afraid of me appearing in front of your parents, Miss Gardner, is there a particular reason for that?"

Makayla's eyes flickered, a little afraid to meet her.

"Miss Reed is joking, of course not, and I'm not afraid of you appearing in front of my parents, I'm just afraid that my parents will get overly emotional if they see you, nothing more."

"Oh?" Amber raised her eyebrows again, "Why I don't believe it somehow, Miss Gardner, you don't even seem to be able to look at me, you're lying."

She narrowed her eyes and gazed suspiciously at Makayla.

Makayla was already weak-hearted gas, see Amber and look at her like this, look at her heart more and more panic, and finally simply turned around directly, "Miss Reed think too much, no matter, anyway I hope Miss Reed you promise me, Miss Reed you also do not want to be here to hurt it, after all, you and my parents before the hatred , I also do not guarantee that my parents see you, will not directly hurt you, especially my father's life is now almost at the end, if you are not afraid of my father and you to come to the same end, then please Miss Reed never appear in front of my parents."

After saying that, she ignored Amber and helped Mrs. Gardner up from her chair, "Mom, let's go see Dad first."

"Good." Mrs. Gardner didn't hear what Makayla had just said to Amber, she just assumed that Makayla thought Amber had just bullied her and was confronting Amber.

Mrs. Gardner stood up and followed Makayla to the front.

For some reason, after walking a few steps, Mrs. Gardner suddenly turned her head and looked at Amber.

Makayla noticed Mrs. Gardner's movement and turned her head to see Mrs. Gardner paying attention to Amber, and felt jealous, angry and panic.

"Mom, what are you looking at?" Makayla gazed at Mrs. Gardner.

Mrs. Gardner withdrew her gaze somewhat sheepishly and shook her head, "No, it's nothing"

Makayla grunted and didn't ask.

Mrs. Gardner's actions just now, Amber naturally all see in the eyes of the heart, there is a kind of indescribable feeling.

She, however, didn't think much of it and headed for an office.

The doctor in this office, who happens to be one of the chief nephrologists, also happens to be Trenton's primary care physician.

Amber walked in and asked about Trenton's current condition.

When she learns that Trenton's body is at the end of its rope and that even if a suitable kidney is found, his health will not support a kidney replacement and he will have to resign himself to death, Amber understands why Mrs. Gardner was crying like that before.

Amber said goodbye to the doctor and left the office, heading for Jared's room.

On the way, she was a little distracted, her mind was full of Trenton is really dying, not long to live this thing.

In theory, she should be happy to learn that Trenton is really going to die, and she should even jump up and say that he deserved it, Trenton got his comeuppance.

But I don't know why, her heart is not only happy, but also blocked and astringent, it is very difficult.

It was so hard that she couldn't help the heat welling up in her eyes.

She raised her hand and found herself in tears, and her whole being was not well.

She actually shed a tear for Trenton?

She is really crazy!

Amber hurried to shake the tears out of her hands, then hurried to wipe her eyes other tears, never accept that she cried for Trenton this thing.

It was a shame for her.

Crying for the enemy is about to die, it is estimated that in this world, she is the only one.

If Dad knew, he would probably be angry with her to come alive.

Amber took a deep breath, wiped her face, took a moment to calm the mixed emotions in her heart, and reentered outside Jared's hospital room.

Love Letters, Divorce Papers (Jared and Amber)

Chapter 1340 Capricious Man

Upon arriving outside the ward, Amber saw that there was someone else in the room, Elias in a white lab coat.

When she saw Elias, she was surprised for a moment, then tensed up.

Isn't he off duty?

After her eye exam was over, he told her that he was leaving work.

At that time, he even dragged down the white coat on his body, out of the office after death, he punched the off-duty card.

How come this time, he is back?

And it showed up in Jared's hospital room!

Could it be that Jared's health condition has suddenly changed again?

The thought of this, Amber heart are raised, hands propped up on the glass, frowning, worried to look inside.

Jared remained in his hospital bed with both eyes closed.

Elias, on the other hand, stands by the bed, spreads out the medical folder in his hand, and after glancing at Jared, writes a few words on the folder.

After several repetitions, he closed his medical record folder, put away the pen and raised his eyes towards her.

Amber saw that he had spotted her and hastily opened her mouth to ask about Jared.

Elias couldn't hear and simply walked out dryly, "What took you so long to get here?"

He asked.

Amber couldn't answer his question and took him by the arm, her face full of anxiety and worry, "Dr. Lansdale, tell me, what happened to Jared? Didn't you leave work already? Is there something wrong with his health that he suddenly came back and you had to stabilize him?"

Elias saw that she was so agitated, pulled his arm out and returned without panic, "Don't worry, there's nothing wrong with him, he just wants to wait for you to come back, so how can he refuse to close his eyes and sleep, resulting in a somewhat rapid heart rhythm, I am his attending doctor, just at that time has not completely left the hospital, so was called back, just gave him a sedative I've just given him a tranquilizer, and now he's sleeping through, and his heart rate is back to normal, so you don't have to worry. "

Amber was relieved to hear that Jared was okay, "I'm glad it's okay, I'm glad it's okay, I was scared to death."

She patted her chest.

Then in his heart he couldn't help but be a little angry, "Why is he waiting for me? I told him that I was going to have my eyes checked and would come over to keep him company after the checkup, why didn't he listen?"

This man, really pissed off.

Such behavior, let alone worry, is also irresponsible for his own life.

"He said he didn't expect your checkup to take so long either, and he was afraid you'd come back and see him asleep and alone and bored out there, so he braced his consciousness to stay awake." Elias took Jared's words from before and told her the truth.

Amber squeezed her palms, "Who wants him to worry about me being boring or not? I just want him to get his body well enough, he did this, instead, only more worrying, really, angry me."

She stomped her foot with an ugly little face.

Elias pushed his glasses, "I've studied psychology, and what Jared is doing right now is typical of a patient with a lack of security. Rather than him worrying about you being bored, he's afraid you'll forget about him and not come back."

"Huh?" Amber froze, "How did he get that idea?"

"It's normal." Elias shrugged his shoulders, "People who have such thoughts are usually found in people who are about to die, or people who have survived a great disaster and have just regained their lives, Jared is the latter, he just came back from the edge of death after nine deaths, so he will care more about the company and attention of the most important people, because he is afraid that he will suddenly lose, when his body recovers, this The situation will improve, so don't you worry about it."

After Amber heard his explanation, the fire in her heart instantly dissipated.

She was still angry that the man is now like this, actually still do not care about the body, is not trying to make everyone to be afraid of his behavior.

But now, she doesn't think so.

In the eyes of someone who is insecure, yet very dependent on him, his own body and life, indeed, are not as important as her as a person.

This man is really

Amber sighed and smiled shyly at Elias, "I see, thanks for the enlightenment, and thanks for having to worry about us even though you're off work, I'm really sorry."

She bowed to Elias in shame.

Seriously, she just pulled him out of the water when she was a kid.

But he has repeatedly saved her and Jared's lives. He has long since paid back the favor he received as a child, and now it is she who owes him.

"It's nothing, and you don't have to be." Elias put his hands in the pockets of his white coat, "But you, didn't we come out of my office together? What took you so long? I walked out the door of the hospital, made a return trip, and gave Jared a sedative before you came back, where have you been?"

Amber didn't lie either, saying straight out that she got out and met Mrs. Gardner.

Elias raised his chin in a daze, "Trenton will not live long, it is estimated that these two months, his wife cried every day in the nephrology department, let people save Trenton, also came to me, but I did not care, the nephrologist side of the doctor was very patient with her, Trenton's current body is incurable, even if there is a kidney source, Trenton's health, there is no way to support until the end of the operation, will die on the operating table, but she refused, stay in the hospital is not meaningful. Trenton's physical quality, there is no way to support until the end of the operation, will die on the operating table, persuaded her to take Trenton home, stay in the hospital is not meaningful, but she refused, crying every day over there, you came out of the ophthalmology side, met her also normal."

"I know, I asked the doctor there." Amber returned, "Mrs. Gardner has refused to discharge Trenton and cries every day at the hospital, is not giving up hope yet."

"She dared to give up, Trenton a death, the Gardner family collapsed, the Trident Group will be divided by shareholders, they are orphans and widows, where is the opponent of those old foxes, will be eaten even crumbs are left, out of the love of husband and wife and future survival path, she have to find a way to save Trenton. "Elias did not think, faintly said.

He had studied psychology, and she knew exactly what Mrs. Gardner had in mind.

"If you're okay, don't go over there, it's not a good mood to watch." Elias said to her with his glasses backlit.

He remembered what Jared had said in the past, that she was the real Makenna, the daughter of the Trenton couple.

Bloodline is a very magical thing, even if the children and parents are separated, do not know each other, bloodline will be meditated to create opportunities for them to meet, as long as they meet, they will be subconsciously attracted to each other, the heart subconsciously will produce an idea.

An idea that this person seems to have something to do with himself.

So he also but heart Amber see the Gardner family see more, also will produce some strange emotions, and thus find their own identity.

Jared was right when he said that she and the Gardner family were not meant to be a family in this life.

In that case, it would be better not to know about their relationship from the beginning to the end.

Bury this secret, in eternity.

Amber does not know what Elias heart is thinking, heard Elias said obscure, but also can not help but some funny, "OK, I just happened to meet today, after that will not go to carve the opinion of them, do not worry."

"That's fine, then you stay here with Jared, with your nature, plus Jared's previous capriciousness, if you don't stay with him, you'll always be put down in your heart, so I won't advise you to go back and rest, I just hope you remember to do as you're told by the nurse to go back later on."

Having said that, Elias crossed over to her and walked away.