

LLPD Chapter 1371

Chapter 1371 You Are Just Cowardly

Amber took a deep breath, "It's about what happened between you and Sheila."

When these words came out, Cole's pupils contracted visibly.

About what happened between him and Sheila?

What does it mean?

Is it possible that she knows something?

Cole's hand, holding the milk tea cup, couldn't help but slowly tighten up.

Amber saw it and sighed softly, "Cole, you're on edge."

Cole pursed his lips.

Amber added, "You're nervous if I know something, right?"

Cole looked up at her sharply, the shock in his eyes unconcealed.

"It seems that I guessed right." Amber smiled lightly, "We grew up together, you know me, I naturally know you, so I can easily guess what you are thinking by a look, an expression, or even an action of yours, and you agree to do the same, can easily know what I am thinking, we know each other best. "

Cole was silent for a moment and finally spoke up, "So what? What do you want to tell me about me and Sheila?"

Amber took another sip of milk tea, "Now that it's over, I'm not hiding anything from you, in fact, I know everything that happened between you and Sheila."

"What?" Cole's face paled, "You know all about it?"

"That's right." Amber nodded.

"Did Sheila tell you that?" Cole's face was hard and his voice clearly held a bit of anger.

Amber shook her head, "Of course not, how could you think that? Cole, everything that happened between you and Sheila, I would know, not necessarily what Sheila told me, so you can't just blame everything on Sheila all at once without proof, it's not fair to her, I would know, it's totally because the two of you are not lifting right."

Cole didn't say anything, just looked at her with a clear meaning in his eyes, hoping she would continue on.

Amber rubbed his temples, and did continue on, "Sheila is your college classmate, after graduation also in your side as a chief secretary for many years, the relationship between you has always been very good, is subordinate, more friends, so many years together, even if there is no love, there is also a deep friendship, with your character, is felt that will not suddenly to Sheila produce ill feelings and dislike, unless something happened between you that you can not accept."

"And then what?"

"The relationship between you and Sheila deteriorated too quickly, the day before was still normal, the next day the relationship dropped sharply, especially your disgust for Sheila, not to mention Sheila herself, that is, I feel alarmed to see, and Sheila herself in that period of time, is in a trance, often out of shape, you two are to each other's performance too obvious, without the slightest concealment, so I was then curious about what happened between you, I asked you, also asked Sheila, but ..."

She paused, "But neither of you told me what happened between you, you're both my friends, how could I not be worried when you were suddenly like this, so I kept an eye on you, but two months have passed and I still don't know what happened between you."

Speaking of this, Amber let out a bitter laugh, "no matter how I ask you guys, you all always shut up, you will even directly reveal your disgust for Sheila, and Sheila will also reveal a sad look, this side of the more worry me, so I was ready to secretly investigate what happened between you guys, but not before I find someone to investigate, Sheila The matter of pregnancy was exposed to me, the two to three months of a woman's pregnancy, there will be a dry heaving reaction, I guessed that Sheila was pregnant because of this, so I asked her directly, she also knew that it could no longer be concealed, only then will everything and tell the truth."

Cole's handsome face was filled with a mocking sneer, "So in the end, it was her who told you everything, what? She wanted to get concern sympathy from you, and then let you come out to me to make me forgive her?"

Amber frowned, "Cole, how can you think that? Sheila never asked me to do that, she told me because I guessed that she was pregnant, so she couldn't hide it from me, she didn't feel like telling me in the first place, and she didn't ask me to intercede for her with you, if she had asked me to do that, how could I have waited until now to come to you to talk about this? "

Cole also knows that his words just now were too unreasonable, so this time he was lectured by Amber, and did not retort.

Amber took another sip of her milk tea to calm down a little before continuing.

"Sheila told me about the things between you, so only know that between you will suddenly become like this, to say the least, that happened between you, there is also my fault, that day you confessed to me, I rejected you, you are very sad to leave, but we grew up together, I take you as a brother, see you so leave, I am also very worried that you will do something stupid, but And not good to go after you yourself, it will only look like I do not love you but not willing to let you go, so I then asked Sheila to go to you, let her watch you, do not let you do something stupid, after all, Sheila is your friend, but also in your side together for so many years, with her watching you, I also rest assured."

"But that woman went against your wishes and watched me see me come to bed." Cole clenched his fist and said coldly.

Amber shook her head helplessly, "Cole, admittedly Sheila is at fault in this matter, she was wrong to get into your bed without drinking, but do you dare to tell me unequivocally that you are not at fault either?"

Cole was stunned and wanted to say he was right, but for some reason, he could never say it.

Amber looked at him like this and smiled lightly.

"Look, you can't even say anything yourself, which means that in your heart, you know you're at fault. Medical science shows that a person who is really drunk can't do anything, and you can do that with Sheila, which means you're not really drunk at all, at least you're still conscious, and you might even recognize who the woman you're with is, but you? But what about you? You didn't push Sheila away, did you? So that night, you and Sheila could be said to be mutually willing, then you can't blame the fault on Sheila alone, you are at fault too."

"I ..." Cole's thin lips twitched to retort, but there was no way to do so.

Amber see him milk tea are cold, pick up the teapot to him to add a little hot, "Sheila love you, so you pulled when you did not refuse you, but you can push her away when you recognize her, but you also did not, between you happened that thing, not only you both willing, also shows that you actually to Sheila is not so resistant to The fact is that you still have some feelings for her in your heart, otherwise why would you want to be with her? Afterwards you disgusted her, put all the fault on her head, think that night she climbed into your bed, but is just a manifestation of your cowardice, do not want to recognize the reality."

"I didn't." As if stimulated by something, Cole's face went white and he jerked to his feet to retort.

Amber sat calmly in her chair and just looked up at him, "You did, because you had just confessed your love for me and the next moment you were sleeping with another woman, you couldn't accept that about yourself, you felt that you had done that, you had betrayed me, you had betrayed your emotions, but you didn't want to admit that you were at fault, so you blamed everything on a girl, thinking She was the one who seduced you and deliberately led you to make the mistake of betraying me, so you hated her, you loathed her."

"It's not like that, it's not like that!" Cole shook his head violently and shouted.

Chapter 1372 Think About It

He's not a coward, he's just ... It's just that ...

Yet just what, Cole himself did not know, his face was full of bewilderment.

Amber saw this and also stood up, "Cole, calm down for a moment, I know what I just said was a little too much, but I have to say this, otherwise you will never know where you are wrong and will always blame the fault on Sheila, Sheila is at fault and you are equally at fault, so you blame everything on Sheila, which It's not fair to Sheila, you should even blame me, I was the one who let Sheila go to you that day, and honestly, I've always regretted it too."

She closed her eyes, her emotions were a bit low, "If I didn't let Sheila go to you that day, wouldn't Sheila and you have happened, wouldn't Sheila have been blamed by you, wouldn't Sheila have gotten pregnant and wouldn't have been in so much pain? I think it must be, so I've been regretting and blaming myself, even if Sheila doesn't blame me, but I've been feeling sorry for myself, and I've thought about going to you to talk about this, but Sheila stopped me, and I didn't want to make her more upset, so I held back."

"And why are you telling me this now?" Cole's eyes were red and his voice was hoarse.

Amber bit her lower lip, "I did not intend to tell you this, but I have no choice, I heart Sheila, I worry about her, Sheila has been very scared after the pregnancy, do not know what to do, or talk to me a lot before deciding to take the child, Sheila never wanted to have that child, and use that child to Sheila never wanted to have that baby and use that baby to threaten you to get on, what she wanted all along was to get rid of the baby and make a clean break with the past, as long as there is no more baby, maybe there will be no more entanglement between you, so her thoughts were always very firm, but ..."

She stared at him, "You ruined it, to be honest, I can't figure it out, since you hate Sheila so much, blame everything on Sheila, Sheila also admitted that it was all her fault, she was willing to get rid of the baby and no longer involved with you, also willing to put aside her feelings for you to start over, so she resolutely went into the hospital, but you Why did you try to stop it? Isn't it a good thing for you that she took the baby?"

This question left Cole speechless.

In fact, he himself knows very well that it is only right that Sheila take the baby.

But for some reason, when he heard that day that Sheila was pregnant and ready to take the baby, his first reaction was not happiness, not that Sheila had done the right thing.

Rather, it is anger.

He was angry with Sheila for not telling him she was pregnant, and even angrier that she chose to abort the baby without permission.

She is simply not putting him in her sights.

Even in his anger, he was completely unable to accept it, so he ran to the hospital in his head to stop it, and finally arranged for her to be inside a villa in his name that was not known to him, ordering her to give birth to the child.

To be honest, he still doesn't understand why he did it.

See Cole does not speak, Amber only then slowly speak, "at the beginning I indeed can not think of these, until later Jared enlightened me, I understand why you obviously did not get very drunk, you did not push away Sheila, why you obviously disgusted Sheila, know Sheila to remove the child but also to stop, it is because you actually It was because you had Sheila in your heart for a long time, you had fallen in love with her for a long time, and it was only because of my existence that you couldn't see your heart, you thought you were still in love with me, so you couldn't accept that you were with Sheila while you were in love with me, but you did fall in love with her, so you couldn't accept that she took your child, and that's why you had to stop it."

"It's not." Cole couldn't accept it and shook his head repeatedly, "It's not true, I can't be in love with Sheila, I'm not in love with her!"

"If you don't love, then how do you explain these actions of yours?" Amber questioned him as she walked up to him and stared up at him intently.

Cole's mouth opened, completely unable to speak.

Yeah, why does he have to behave like that?

For a moment, Cole was vaguely convinced that Amber was telling the truth.

But it was the possibility that it was true that made it all the more unacceptable for him to break down and crouch down.

Amber saw him like this, how could he not be heartbroken, went over and put his hand on his shoulder, living a gentle life, "Cole, I'm telling you this, not to make you emotional breakdown, I hope you can openly accept your own heart, of course I also know, if you do any one, may not be able to accept their own obviously love a person for more than ten years, so will suddenly love But Cole, no matter who you love, follow your heart is the most important thing, in the past you love me, now you love Sheila, you can accept it openly, to treat Sheila well ah."

Cole's two eyes remained dull.

Amber sighed again, "I know that it will take some time for you to accept, I originally did not want to reveal your true heart, but you locked Sheila up, and also let Sheila claim to the public that she went abroad to further study, even her mother is hidden, I am afraid that you will eventually do the wrong thing, completely hurt Sheila, by then regret also It's too late, so I decided to tell you this, so that you understand your heart, I do not want you to regret in the future ah Cole."

"How can I regret it?" Cole lifted his head, an icy, wicked smile on his face.

Amber saw this and wrinkled her good-looking eyebrows, "Why not? You love Sheila, just can not accept it now, so you will do things to hurt Sheila, but you will one day realize that you really love her, when you think about what you do to her now, you will regret, I am telling you this now, just want to stop you, so you do not make mistakes again, otherwise completely break Sheila's heart, you can not even regret."
"

No, he definitely won't!

Cole gritted his teeth, his eyes firm, confident that he would certainly not regret it.

Amber saw that he was stubborn and uncertain, and couldn't help but shake her head, "There are times when accepting it openly can also make you live a little easier and happier, but I know that you must still be stubborn and convinced that you are not in love with Sheila and will not regret Sheila's actions, I can't stop you, after all, you are a separate individual, but I would like to say that since you chose to let Sheila have the baby, then during this period, you better not do anything to Sheila and the baby, so that in the future, even if Sheila is hurt by you, you still have a chance, otherwise you won't have a single chance, Cole, think about it."

After saying that, she got up and walked out of the warming room.

What she should say has already been said to him, but he is always unwilling to accept that he loves Sheila and does not want to believe that what he does to Sheila now will be regretted in the future, so it is useless for her to say more.

In that case, she might as well not say anything and leave her alone to cool off and calm down, maybe he'll figure it out?

And she knows him, she has told him so much, in the future he will certainly produce some changes in his attitude towards Sheila, and will not treat Sheila as before, but will do so at his discretion.

This is why, she did not open her mouth to ask Cole to let Sheila go, because she knew that with these words of hers, Sheila's safety or whatever, is absolutely nothing to worry about.

For the rest, let Cole figure it out for himself.

If Cole could figure it out, he would naturally let Sheila go.

If Cole can't figure it out, even if she asks him to let Sheila go, he won't, and he might even make it worse for Sheila.

Chapter 1373 Getting Fatter

So many times, talk to the end on it, do not keep talking, keep persuading, that not only may not achieve the purpose, but also may be botched.

After all, it is annoying to talk people into making more irrational moves in case they get hot-headed.

Instead of that, it's better to say almost stop, leave the rest of the time to him, let him calm down and take his time to think about it, and maybe soon he can figure it out.

Amber, who walked out of the warm room, stopped and looked back at Cole, who was still squatting and unable to see his expression, and after a faint sigh of relief, continued to lift her feet and walk away.

When she returned to the villa, Mrs. Lyon happened to come down from upstairs and saw Amber alone in the living room, she couldn't help but ask, "Amber, why are you alone, where is Cole?"

"Cole is in the garden conservatory, I just talked to him about something and he had some trouble getting out, so he stayed there to think alone." Amber returned with a smile.

Mrs. Lyon nodded in a dazed way, "So, what did you talk about?"

"Auntie, I'm sorry, I can't tell you for now, we have to see if Cole can figure it out, if he can, maybe he'll tell you himself without me telling you, if he won't, I'll tell you all together before Cole does something wrong, so Auntie, please forgive me." Amber bowed in shame.

Mrs. Lyon waved her hand, "In that case, then Auntie won't ask, and you don't have to, but what you said about Cole possibly doing something wrong, is it something against the law?"

She was a little nervous.

Amber shook her head, "I don't think so, I don't think Cole would be that irrational."

What Cole did to Sheila, call it not exactly illegal, after all, the fact that Sheila was able to get out meant that Sheila was able to call the police.

But Sheila didn't do it, which means that she herself was voluntarily locked up in the villa by Cole.

So a willingness to fight one thing, can no longer be called a violation of the law.

What she calls Cole's likely wrongdoing is to break Sheila's heart even more than the legal aspect of the act.

When she heard Amber say that, Mrs. Lyon was relieved and patted her chest, "It's good that we won't break the law, as long as that brat doesn't break the law, let him do the rest."

She waved her hand and was not impressed.

Amber was relieved to see that Mrs. Lyon didn't pursue the question, and then lifted her bag, "Auntie, it's getting late, so I should say goodbye and leave."

"You're leaving now?" the old Mrs. Farrell obviously some reluctance, "the time is still early, stay a little longer, eat dinner before leaving."

"No, auntie." Amber shook her head and insisted on leaving, "Jared is still in the hospital waiting for me to go back and take care of him, you know that person, he never likes people to be close, so we didn't even find a caregiver, I've been taking care of him, I've been out for half a day, and I'm worried about him, so it's time to go back and take a look."

"So." Hearing her lay out Jared, what else could Mrs. Lyon do? Go with her, of course.

"Well then, then Auntie won't keep you, you can bring Jared over when he's ready, your uncle loves to talk to him." Mrs. Lyon said smilingly.

Amber hummed, "I will."

"That's fine, then wait a little longer, I'll have the kitchen load up the dishes left for Jared and hello bring them back." Mrs. Lyon said and headed for the kitchen.

Amber was not so bad for a moment, so she also sat back down on the sofa and waited.

After waiting for about ten minutes, the old Mrs. Farrell came over with the packed food, handed her the bag and told her to carry it well and not to spill it.

Amber took the trouble to say that she would mention it properly, and then was escorted out of the villa by Mrs. Lyon and drove away.

Back at the hospital, it was after 1pm.

Jared has been awake for a while now and is leaning against the head of the hospital bed, a book in his hand, reading again.

Amber opened the door and went in, Jared heard the sound and looked up, seeing that it was her coming back, his handsome face lifted with a clear light color of joy, "Back?"

"I'm back." Amber returned a smile, then put her bag down and walked over, "When did you wake up?"

"Half an hour ago." Jared said back as he closed the book.

Amber was slightly surprised, "So early, so you didn't sleep long."

"You weren't there, so you didn't sleep much." Jared shook his head slightly.

Amber smiled helplessly, "Then you really can't leave me, if I go to work again afterwards, do you stay awake all day?"

"No." Jared looked at her and said back clearly, "I know you'll worry if I don't sleep, so even if I can't sleep, I'll force myself to rest."

"That's more like it." Amber listened to the man's answer with a satisfied look on her face, then walked over and put the bag on the bed, "Did you eat?"

"Didn't eat." Jared pointed to the meal on the small table not far away, "Ben had it sent over from the hotel, but I didn't have much of an appetite, so I left it there uneaten."

"I knew it." Amber sighed.

This guy, can't accept others to take care of his meals, so he would rather not eat than to be taken care of.

It was because she knew this that she planned to come back at this time, in order to serve this grand master who wouldn't let anyone else get close to him for dinner.

Otherwise, she also wanted to spend more time with Mrs. Lyon at The Lyon Residence and have a heartfelt talk with Mrs. Lyon, so she would not have rushed back, but for him.

"Auntie asked me to bring you back the meal, said you like it, you ate a lot of it last time you went to The Lyon Residence." Amber said while opening the bag and took out several packed lunch boxes inside one by one, still hot.

Jared looked over, "Thank my aunt for me."

"Don't worry, thanks, let's eat first." Amber finished and handed him the cutlery.

Jared took the utensils and finally started to eat.

Amber was sitting right next to him, her eyes looking at him with love.

After looking for a while, she suddenly realized something and narrowed her good-looking eyes to survey the man's face.

The man was so uncomfortable by her look that his meal didn't smell good, and he looked towards her suspiciously, "What's wrong?"

"Honey, I noticed that you seem to have gained a little weight." Saying that, he came over and took a closer look at his face, "Really put on a little weight."

It's not too obvious, but when you look closely, you can still see it.

Jared couldn't help but let out a low laugh when he heard her say that, "It's put on some weight."

His own body he himself can not know it?

So fat or not, he knows very well.

"It's normal, I can't exercise, and take so many hormone-containing drugs, naturally will gain weight, and the fat is not obvious, has been a special care of God to me." Jared is very open about the fact that he has gained weight.

After all, it's not like he hasn't experienced it before.

He also gained weight after his first heart surgery, a full twenty pounds, and only took time to lose it after he recovered later.

"So you already know you're fat, then you don't feel bad about being fat?" Amber saw that the man had something in mind, so she didn't worry about it.

Jared continued to eat, "Fat is not good, but later to reduce the line, but you, found me fat, will not think I become ugly?"

Fat and ugly anxiety, in fact, not only women only have, men also have, especially not single men.

Because they are also afraid of object dislike themselves ah.

Chapter 1374 Acquisition Of Shares In Goldstone Co.

"It's not ugly." Amber shook her head, "If I hadn't just taken a closer look at you, I wouldn't have noticed that you've gained weight at all, so you haven't gotten ugly at all."

Jared had a smile in his eyes, "So should you resent me if I become ugly?"

"How?" Amber denied, "I'm not that kind of person, besides, you have not become ugly, but I did hear that men in middle age will be easy to get fat, bald, obese beer belly or something, you ..."

"No way!" Seeming to know what Amber was going to say, Jared shook his head in a hurry, indicating that there was absolutely no way he would turn out that way.

And he couldn't stand to be that way, just thinking about it gave him a bad chill.

Looking at the man's face avoiding the image of his mouth, the look haha laugh, "In that case, then you should take good care of yourself in the future, do not let yourself become like that oh."

"Sure." Jared lifted his chin with a look of assurance.

He would never allow himself to become that way.

"Well, enough about that, you should eat." Amber stood up and headed for the bathroom.

By the time she came out from the bathroom, Jared had almost finished eating.

She walked over, gathered up the dishes and went to the kitchen to clean them.

Elias came by at this time to check in on Jared, once a day, to do a simple checkup.

When he was done, he suddenly thought of something and looked at Amber who came out of the kitchen and said, "Trenton's wife came back to the hospital in the morning."

"She came to you guys to save Trenton again?" said Jared, narrowing his eyes.

Elias does not deny, "She is the person who does not want Trenton to die, so it is impossible to give up any chance to save Trenton, I guess ah, the next time, she will come to the hospital, even if not to me this hospital, other hospitals will certainly go."

"Wherever she goes, as long as Trenton is indeed hopeless." Amber walked over and said with a light expression.

Jared's eyes twinkled for a moment, "There really isn't much that can be done about Trenton's situation, is there?"

Elias pushed the eyes on the bridge of his nose, "That's right, that old man's body, simply can not support for a long time, not to mention the lack of a suitable kidney source, even if there is, it is impossible to walk off the operating table, unless there is so little miracle happens, but the miracle of such a thing, if it can happen so easily, then it is not called a miracle."

Therefore, Trenton must die.

"I get it, after that the Gardners don't even have to care." Jared said as he looked at Elias.

Elias shrugged his shoulders and didn't say anything else.

After that, he stayed a while longer and was called away by the nurse, saying that a patient had registered for his number and he had to go.

After he left, Amber went back to Jared's bedside and sat down, "How's the Trident Group doing now?"

"the Trident Group many industries have been suspended, the above has found some evidence about the collapse of the mine, so ordered the suspension of the Trident Group most of the industry, only a small part is still functioning normally, but this small part of the industry generated by the interests, can not maintain this the The Trident Group, the Trident Group many shareholders have realized the danger, began to sell their shares, ready to cash out of the shares, and Trenton has been lying in a hospital bed can not do anything."

"Dumping shares?" Amber mocked, "But I'm guessing that no one is buying their shares?"

Jared nodded, "That's right, the Trident Group was thoroughly investigated by the top for a while, long ago in the business world, everyone knows the Trident Group is in trouble this time, simply will not go to buy the Trident Group shares, in case the Trident Group goes bankrupt, that If the Trident Group goes bankrupt, the shares will not be of any use, so they will not take the risk, and now the Trident Group's shareholders are selling their shares at a very low price, and no one dares to buy them."

"What's the price of the dump?" Amber suddenly asked.

Jared narrowed his eyes, "You want to buy it?"

If you want to buy the Trident Group, I will ask the top to be lenient and keep the Trident Group, not to let the Trident Group go bankrupt, or at least to leave some clean properties. The Trident Group will at least be left with some clean properties that will be integrated into Goldstone Co."

Amber didn't pay attention to the man's later sentence, but was only curious about the man's earlier one.

She looked at the man, "Why are you saying that the Trident Group was supposed to be mine?"

The dark light in Jared's eyes flashed, and soon disappeared again, explaining in a light voice, "Trenton harmed the Reed Family, so naturally the Trident Group should be used to compensate, that's why I said it was yours."

Amber nodded, "So, I'll consider looking into it. Speaking of which, I do have an interest in some of the Trident Group's properties."

"What industry, tell me, I will help you analyze the suitability of Goldstone Co." The man asked.

Amber readily agreed.

After that, the two talked about dividing up the Trident Group.

Now the Trident Group is still under investigation and has not really been liquidated yet.

And the two are already dividing the Trident Group, if Trenton is here at this moment, it is estimated that they will be angry on the spot.

"You look at these properties is not bad, since you want, I asked Ben to organize a the Trident Group all shareholders in the hands of the share data, you look at the data and then go to contact with these shareholders, so that, also not afraid of their price, you also have a way to pressure their price, with the lowest price than the current price to buy the shares in hand. " Jared said with a slight nod.

Amber smiled, "That's going to be hard on Ben again."

"He's just getting paid to do something."

"Be that as it may, but he's the one running the errands, and it's really hard work." Amber said while seeing that it was almost time and handed him the man's medication, "Well, it's time to take today's anti-rejection medication."

Jared did not pretend to dawdle, took the medicine and dropped it directly into his mouth, swallowed it with a drink of water.

The next morning, Ben put together the data on the shares Amber wanted, not just the data, but the information on the holders, especially the personalities and some of the handles they don't know about.

With these things, Amber can more easily hold the Trident Group's shareholders and buy the shares over at the lowest price.

Although the use of other people's handle to achieve the means of the end, is so some unseemly, but do not forget, this is the mall ah.

The mall as the battlefield with, anti-conventional means to achieve some of the purposes, it is also reasonable.

So in the afternoon, Amber went to meet with a few of the shareholders she had chosen as the best ones to deal with and bought out the shares they were holding.

All this, Amber's carried out so stealthily that Trenton's group did not even notice.

So she soon became the second largest shareholder of the Trident Group after Trenton.

As soon as Trenton steps down, she can rely on Jared's relationship with the top to completely dismantle the Trident Group, leaving only the few properties she has her eye on.

When she thought of this, Amber's whole mood was about to fly.

Time passed, the Christmas holiday passed, and the employees returned to their respective jobs one after another.

Amber also went back to Goldstone Co. and started working.

She hadn't been in the office long when she received a call from the receptionist, "Hello, Chairman, I have a gentleman here to see you."

"Sir?" Amber frowned suspiciously, "Which gentleman? What's the name?"

Is it Hayden?

But it's not right. The receptionist knows Hayden.

If it was Hayden who was coming, the receptionist must have just said it was Hayden who wanted to see her, not a gentleman.

So this gentleman, for sure, is unknown to the front desk.

Who could it be?

Chapter 1375 - Jeremy Arrives

"This gentleman didn't say." The receptionist looked across at the man with sunglasses and dressed in a dark rock style back, "But the chairman please wait a moment, I'll ask this gentleman first."

"Well, go ahead and ask." Amber responded patiently.

The receptionist put down the phone and smiled slightly at the man across the table, "Sir, the chairman asked for your name."

"Tell her my name is Jeremy," said the man, taking off his sunglasses to reveal an exquisitely handsome face.

The receptionist's eyes widened and she covered her mouth in disbelief, "Jeremy ... Jeremy? You're Jeremy?"

Her face was red with excitement.

Jeremy is a big name.

He is not mixed with the entertainment industry, but mixed with the fashion industry, the past is an international male model it, looks and body are the top.

It's just a pity that he announced his retirement six months ago.

As for the reason for his retirement, no one knows, but fans are very sorry to hear about him from all sides and want to know about his life after retirement.

However, no matter how the fans inquired, they could never find out, and gradually, the fans gave up.

Six months down the line, the fans never heard of Jeremy's whereabouts again, and they never expected to see him in front of her now, and to find the chairman.

I had heard that Jeremy knew the chairman before, but I never thought it was true.

"That's right, I'm Jeremy," Jeremy winked at the receptionist and did a flying kiss, looking flirty as hell.

But the receptionist did not feel the slightest bit greasy, after all, his face is here, it will not make people feel that he is greasy, it will only make people feel that he is so charming and handsome.

"Please talk to your chairman." Jeremy put his sunglasses back on his face.

The receptionist nodded excitedly, "Good, good, I'll say it now, Mr. Lynch wait a moment."

The receptionist then picked up the microphone she had just put down and said to Amber with hidden excitement, "Chairman, it's Jeremy who wants to see you."

"What? Jeremy?" Amber was startled and jerked to her feet, her face filled with disbelief.

Obviously, Jeremy's arrival made her whole person unable to calm down, and it took her a while to reopen her mouth, "Are you sure it's Jeremy?"

"Yes chairman, it's Mr. Lynch," the receptionist nodded back with certainty.

Amber didn't suspect anymore, but frowned and pondered deeply.

Some time ago, Jeremy called her out of the blue, but she didn't get it, Jared did.

Jared hung up on Jeremy after that, and Jeremy didn't call again after that.

I didn't expect to see any further calls indeed, but the person came in person.

What does he want here?

"Chairman, would you like to see Mr. Lynch?" The receptionist asked.

Amber sat back down and rubbed her temples, "You tell him to come up."

Since the people are here, she will meet them, and she wants to know, what he is doing here.

And for Jeremy, she has mixed emotions.

If it had been Jeremy of the master frame, she would certainly not have hesitated so much, but would have met him directly.

But the problem is, the Jeremy now, not the Jeremy of old ah.

So her emotions for this Jeremy, is very complicated, do not know what mentality to face him.

"Okay Chairman, I'll convey this to Mr. Lynch."

Amber gave a hmmm.

When the call was disconnected, Amber sat down in her chair, her eyes downcast and wondering what she was thinking.

Soon after, Jeremy appeared outside her office door.

Amber heard a knock on the door and looked up to see Jeremy in a trendy outfit. She took a deep breath and her mood instantly hit rock bottom.

Originally, she also had a glimmer of hope, thinking that this time Jeremy came over, is changed back to the master frame, so to find her.

But now see this and the master extra face different dress Jeremy, she knew that her brother did not change back, this Jeremy in front of her, is still the second personality.

"Sister." Jeremy saw Amber meet him and took off his sunglasses to smile brightly at her.

Seeing this smile on his face, Amber's red lips pursed up.

Jere will laugh, but the smile are very restrained, only not like this guy, smile so big, but does not make people feel harmless, but can clearly feel from this Jeremy's bright smile inside the unintentional.

As expected of the second personality of the darkness, just a smile, let people feel uncomfortable.

"I'm sorry, I'm not your sister, please don't see me." Amber pursed her lips and said in a cold voice.

Jeremy also does not mind her attitude, fingers waving sunglasses to walk over, "sister, you are too heartless to me like this, although it is true that I am not the stupid one before, but I am also Jeremy, you call him brother, you should also call me brother ah, you treat me differently, it will make me sad, in saying that, I compared with the stupid one before, that stupid one but gave sister you poison, while I have not done anything to sister you, sister you treat me, but is still far more than Jeremy who hurt you, you are not too unfair?"

That said, Amber suddenly had nothing to say.

Indeed, she also knew that her attitude towards this Jeremy, indeed the previous Jere had the most obvious difference in treatment.

It is also known that this Jeremy indeed did not do anything to her, but she just can not like this Jeremy.

"What is it that you came here to see me about?" Amber didn't want to talk to him about anything else and asked straight to the point.

Jeremy pulled out the chair opposite her and sat down, "I came to see you, of course there is business ah, the last time I called you is to talk about this matter, but the result was Jared hung up the phone, so I had no choice, I came here to find you personally, intend to personally tell you, but also to give an explanation to that stupid, right."

"What do you mean?" Amber's body straightened slightly and her eyes locked on his, "Jere ever wake up?"

If Jere had really woken up, why didn't she grab back the body's initiative?

Looking at Amber's excited look, Jeremy's smile became more and more dense and evil, "Sister guessed right, that stupid bastard did wake up once, not enough to steal this body from me, but for me to completely devour him."

Amber's face changed violently, and her brain even boomed, unable to believe what she heard, "What are you talking about? Jere let you devour him as the master frame? How can that be! It's impossible!"

She could not accept this fact.

"There's nothing impossible about that." Jeremy spread his hands, "That's just the way it is, sister, do you know why that idiot let me appear immediately after the matter of poisoning you came to light? In fact, I split early, as early as his teenage years, I appeared, but sister you never knew I existed, it is because that guy suppressed me to death, simply do not let me have the opportunity to come out, but after giving you poison exposure, I appeared, what does this mean? It means that Jeremy chose to escape and took the initiative to release me."

Amber clenched her palms and subconsciously tried to retort, but was unable to do so.

Jeremy added: "That guy is a coward, he is afraid to see your eyes resenting him, afraid that you will blame him, so he hid and let me out, so that I can bear his mess for him, otherwise how could I be so coincidental and come out at that time, after all, that guy has suppressed me for almost ten years, which means that he himself is stronger than me, and even if he wanted to, he At any time he can devour me as a second personality, but he did not do so, because I am the tool person he specifically left behind to bear for him all the things he did not dare to face."

Chapter 1376 Jere Is Gone

"So?" Amber looked at him, "Do you mean anything by telling me that?"

"Of course I did." Jeremy picked up her pen and kept turning it in his fingertips, "I just want to tell you sister, Jeremy is not at all as soft as you think sister, he can suppress me for ten years, it means that he, the master character, is obviously much stronger than me, as long as he is willing, he can actually snatch back the initiative of the body at any time, but he didn't, that's because he is not willing to snatch Back, he is a coward, just not willing to face you, not willing to face all the things he has done to you."

Is that really the case?

Amber drops her eyes.

Rationally, she was reluctant to believe the words of this second personality, but in her heart she vaguely understood that he was not lying to her.

Jere, really don't want to come back.

"So, Jere doesn't have it now, does she?" Amber's eyes reddened and her voice choked.

Jeremy does not deny, "because he does not know how to face you, but also afraid that you do not forgive him, so two months ago, he had a note conversation with me, voluntarily fused with me, and dominated by my consciousness, so he really does not exist, now this body, only I have a personality, from now on I am Jeremy. "

Amber blacked out and almost passed out from the blow, "Fool! How could he think that?"

Tears slipped from her eyes.

She has always considered Jere as her favorite brother, admittedly she was angry after learning that he had poisoned her, but it never occurred to her to blame him all the time ah.

How can he have so little confidence and let the second personality devour him?

"Sister, you don't have to be like that either." The second personality propped up his head and looked at her with superior comfort, "I have all his memories and I am him, so you can totally think of me as the old Jeremy ah, I don't mind."

"I mind." Amber's eyes were red, "Even if you were born out of Jere's body, even if you have all of Jere's memories, you were never my Jere, and there is no way I can treat you as the Jere of the past."

"If you think so, then I can't do anything about it." Jeremy shrugged his shoulders, "But before that stupid guy asked me to devour him again, he once asked me to help him finish something, and I thought that guy was going to cease to exist in the future, so I agreed, and the thing he asked me to finish for him was still about you, sister."

"What?" Amber snapped her head up.

Jeremy put the pen down, "That guy always knew that you were looking for that woman named Makenna, so before being devoured by me, he asked me to help you find her, and I agreed, so in the past two months, I gathered hackers from all over the world inside the dark net and launched an online reward for finding her, so I quickly found her, and also collected all her movements as well as deeds in the past six months. I've collected all of her movements and deeds in the past six months, and here they are."

After saying that, he fished out a flash drive from his shirt pocket and handed it over.

Amber took it with a trembling hand, "In here, is Makenna's whereabouts?"

"That's right." Jeremy nodded, "Since I promised that guy, I naturally won't go back on my word, and from now on, this body, completely belongs to me."

Hearing these words, Amber heart on the back can no longer be taut, holding the flash drive in her hand directly out of tears.

Now Jeremy is not the old Jeremy in the end, see her as very important, although the mouth called her a sister, but ultimately will not be like the past Jeremy, really treat her as a sister, as the most loved woman.

He is a completely independent of the master's mind, and what the master likes, he does not necessarily like.

Like Amber, for example, he doesn't love her.

He was only willing to follow the owner's attitude towards Amber and call Amber a sister, but when he saw Amber really sad and upset, he didn't have the slightest ripple in his heart, nor did he want to comfort her, and sat there calmly to see her cry.

Until she was tired of crying, after the sound of crying gradually reduced, then she reopened her mouth, "Well, my purpose of coming here has been completed, it is also time to go, I know that sister does not like me, I will not be in contact with sister you, you and Jeremy has passed, now I, not the old Jeremy, I think we do not have that need to contact again. "

He got up and headed for the office door.

Amber thought of something and called out to him, "Wait."

"Is there anything else, sister?" Jeremy stopped and turned back.

Amber clenched her hands and asked hopefully, "Jere, is it true that you can't disappear back?"

Jeremy raised an eyebrow and smiled, "Of course, there are no other personalities in this body, it's just me."

Amber closed her eyes in despair, and after a few seconds, opened them again, "What about Stella? How is she doing? I contacted her earlier and said that you had moved her away from the side."

"Exactly." Jeremy shrugged, "That woman was obeying that idiot from before, so of course I had to transfer her, do you think I'd keep someone around who wasn't loyal to me? I think anyone else would have done the same with me."

Amber's mouth hung open, speechless.

Indeed, there is really no point in staying around a person who is unfaithful.

"But don't worry sister, I just transferred her away, I didn't try to do anything to her, it was for the sake of that stupid bastard giving me his body, and I did it for her own good, she and her father have been wandering on the edge of the most danger, I transferred them away so that they can be out of danger and can enjoy their happiness in the future." Jeremy said.

Amber could see that he wasn't lying, and her heart dropped a little.

It's good that Stella is okay.

She then worried that he would not be able to tolerate Stella and do something to Stella because she was from Jere before.

Good thing things weren't as bad as she thought.

"Is there anything else you'd like to ask, sister?" Jeremy asked again.

Amber shook her head slowly.

No more.

He is not Jere, and she has nothing to say to him, anymore.

Jeremy saw that she had nothing more to say and turned his head back, "Since sister has nothing else to ask, I'll take my leave and I'll never see you again."

He turned his back on Amber and walked towards the door, waving his hand, and his figure quickly disappeared outside the door.

Amber powerlessly sat back in the chair, two eyes dull looking at the direction he left, so easy to stop the tears, in this moment, and broke down.

Jeremy's words really made her realize that she would never see Jere again.

The brother that she used to care for and protect with all her heart has really disappeared.

Amber covered her face and cried with sadness and despair.

When Lina came in with the documents in her arms, she saw her crying like this and hurriedly put them down and went up to care, "Chairman, what's wrong with you?"

Amber lifted her head, revealing a pair of somewhat weepy eyes, her voice bleak, "I'm fine, it's just that one of my best brothers is gone, and I'm sad."

Lina thought that the no more in her mouth is dead, can't help but sigh, "chairman of the board of directors, my condolences, since he is your best brother, then I think, he also do not want to see the chairman of the board of directors you cry like this, so that he went not at ease, so chairman of the board of directors, you must take care of yourself, crying like this, is also not good for the body."

"I know." Amber wiped her tears, "I just suddenly knew he was gone, so I had an emotional breakdown, thank you for your concern."

"It's nothing." Lina waved her hand, then pointed to the documents she had just put down, "Chairman, these are all the documents that have piled up during the holidays and need your personal signature to handle them."

"Okay, I get it." Amber was a little more stable this time, and barely managed to squeeze out a smile in response.

Chapter 1377 Jared'S Surprise

Lina saw that she was okay and breathed a little easier, "Then Chairman, I'll go out first."

"Wait." Amber called out to her.

Lina retracted the foot she had taken.

Amber said, "Didn't I say I was going to talk to Cole about Sheila before? Over Christmas, I already talked to Cole, and although Cole has no intention of letting Sheila go, don't worry about Sheila's safety, Cole won't do anything to her."

At that, Lina was ecstatic, "That's great, I was worried that Mr. Lyon would hurt Sheila, after all, the way Mr. Lyon treated Sheila before was really some ..."

The latter words she did not say, meaning we all understand.

Amber rubbed his temples, "I told Cole quite a lot, I think Cole will figure out that his attitude towards Sheila is wrong, by that time, Sheila will be free, so I did not ask Cole to let Sheila go now, because I know, even if Cole let Sheila go now, he will not agree, and maybe he would overreact and do something irrational, so I am going to give Cole some time to calm himself down and cool off, so he should be able to figure it out soon, and in the meantime, he is not going to do anything to Sheila."

"Anyway, as long as Sheila is okay and Mr. Lyon won't hurt Sheila, I won't worry about it, as for the rest, it's a private matter between Sheila and Mr. Lyon, it's really not good for us outsiders to interfere too much, in case we interfere too much and make Mr. Lyon feel that everyone is refuting him and saying he's wrong, he's very So as long as we make sure that Sheila is safe, let the two of them toss the rest." Lina said with a smile.

Amber hummed, "That's what I thought."

"Then, Chairman, I'll go ahead and work on something else."

"Go ahead." Amber waved her hand.

After Lina left, the office, Amber was left alone again.

She spread her palm, looking at the flash drive in her hand that she was already holding hot, and her heart became sour again.

It was Jere's last gift to her and a token of reparation for what she had done.

That's what she knew, that's what Jere meant.

But that's what makes it even harder for her.

She didn't need any gifts from him, let alone an amends from him.

She just wants him to come back.

But he's never coming back ...

Amber gripped the object in her hand once again, not meaning to check it out.

She was still in the grief of Jeremy's disappearance and was in no mood to see anything else.

What is Makenna in her mind? It is not as important as Jere.

On this day, Amber was not in the mood to work at all. After finishing the pile of documents, she was alone in the office, dazed until the end of the day, when she picked up a little spirit and drove back to the hospital.

She didn't want to tell the man that Jeremy had come to see her today, but the first time he saw her, he asked, "What did Jeremy want with you?"

She then reacted to the fact that it was impossible to hide this matter from the men.

After all, the man arranged for her bodyguard, twenty-four hours a day to follow not far away it.

So Jeremy's presence at Goldstone Co. is something that could not have gone unnoticed by the bodyguard, who would have told Jared when he found out.

"He came to see me to talk to me about something important." Amber put down her bag and walked over, "You, on the other hand, were so stoic that you didn't call me and ask me?"

Jeremy came to her in the morning, and the dog man obviously knew about it in the morning, but actually did not move at all.

This is not like him to be jealous.

Jared put the book in his hand aside and took her wrist, pulling her into his arms, "I did get upset when Jeremy went to you, but I knew the Jeremy who went, wasn't the Jeremy who had a thing for you, so I could hold it in even if I was upset, and I didn't want to pressure you into thinking I was a man who was always checking up on the man."

"But you asked when I came back, didn't you?" Amber looked up and gave the man a pout.

The man laughed lightly, "I wasn't going to ask, but I see your eyes are a little swollen, you've been crying, right?"

Amber pursed her red lips and didn't say a word, which is considered acquiescence.

"Because you're crying, I have to ask, tell me, did Jeremy bully you?" Jared looked down at the woman in his arms.

The woman shook her head, "No, he didn't bully me, he just told me something that I couldn't accept as the truth."

"What is it?" The man frowned.

Amber got up from his arms, her eyes turning red once more, "Jared, Jere disappeared!"

"What?" Jared was stunned at first, then understood the meaning of her words and looked surprised, "You mean, Jeremy the master frame disappeared?"

Only the master frame, only she will be called Jere.

Amber hummed, "Jeremy said that Jere was because he couldn't face me, couldn't face what he had done to me, was afraid of seeing my eyes resenting him, afraid that I wouldn't forgive him, so he put Jeremy the subpersonality out, in order to escape it all and let Jeremy the subpersonality face it instead of him. "

Jared nodded, "It's not impossible, Jeremy's always had a very low self-esteem inside, and it's not uncommon that he does have some cowardice and would choose to run away."

Amber throat dry, "Jeremy also said that Jere even if the escape, but the guilt has not been put down to me, finally two months ago Jere can no longer tolerate this guilt, choose to take the initiative to carry out an exchange with Jeremy, a secondary personality, said the exchange, rather than a deal."

Jared quickly guessed what the alleged deal was, "Jeremy had the secondary personality actively devour himself?"

"Yes." Amber smiled bitterly, "Jere couldn't face me, or himself, so he chose to escape completely and let Jeremy devour him, so there is no longer my Jere in this world, only the Jeremy of today."

Jared gently wrapped his arms around her back, seeing her so sad, his heart was also a bit uncomfortable.

To be honest, he was happy to see the disappearance of Jeremy, his love interest.

After all, who wouldn't be happy to have one less love rival to steal his wife from?

But he also knew that Jeremy's disappearance would be so painful and upsetting to her that he couldn't be happy to see her in pain and upset.

"Jeremy has always been a person with extremely low self-esteem and bigotry, he is afraid that he has long wanted to disappear from this world, otherwise he would not have split a secondary personality to, I think the reason why he split a secondary personality, and did not immediately let the secondary personality to replace him, because at that time, he met you, so he has been the secondary personality suppressed to death, in front of you, also has been behaved like a good brother, until he did something to hurt you later, he was afraid that you hated him, and could not accept you who hurt himself, so he chose to disappear, in fact, his end, from the beginning is predetermined."

Jared brushed her hair and spoke in a cloudy voice.

This is how people like Jeremy are, and sooner or later, they will go to self-destruction.

So it really doesn't come as much of a surprise that Jeremy would choose to disappear.

"But why didn't that silly boy come and ask me? Not ask if I would forgive him or not, or if I would hate him or not. If he had come to ask me, I would have told him that I would forgive him and not blame him, and perhaps, he would not have chosen to make himself disappear in such a way." Amber said with a sobbing voice.

Chapter 1378 Alice Is Makenna

"But now Jeremy has also said that Jeremy is a coward and he doesn't even know how to face you, so how can he come and ask you?" Jared looked at the woman.

Amber couldn't speak anymore, and her heart became even sadder.

Jared stroked her soft hair, "Don't be sad, maybe this ending, it is also good for Jeremy, he had a bad time in the past, and has long wanted to understand himself, it was your appearance that kept him alive, he loved you, but you only treated him as a brother, so he couldn't accept it before he poisoned you, but you will never be with him, with his paranoid character The first thing you should do is to go on being depressed like this, and there is even the possibility of more irrational behavior, so it's good that he disappeared, at least he won't be bound by all kinds of feelings to walk out."

Amber closes her eyes, "Jere ..."

"This Jeremy, is that what he came to you to tell you?" Jared asked again.

Amber opened her eyes and shook her head, "More than that, he said that before Jere disappeared, he asked him to promise one thing, and as long as he did, he would give him his body willingly, and he agreed, and that's what he came for this time."

"Something to do with you?" Jared guessed at once.

Amber hmmm, "Yes, Jere always knew that I was looking for Makenna, so let this Jeremy help to find, this Jeremy inherited Jere's hacking skills, so contacted some of the former world famous hackers to jointly look for Makenna, and now has found it. "

After saying that, she opened her bag and took out the flash drive from it, "Is it right here?"

"Did you look at it?" Jared asked as he glanced at the flash drive.

Amber shook her head, "No, I haven't read it yet because I'm so sad to know that Jere disappeared that I couldn't even care to read this, otherwise what would I be? Wouldn't I become someone who doesn't care about Jere at all?"

"It's okay, we'll watch it together." Jared squeezed her hand.

"I'll go get the computer." Amber said, pulling her hand out and going to the den to carry a laptop out.

Jared patted the spot beside him, gesturing for her to come up so it was easier to see.

Amber didn't refuse either, taking off her shoes and climbing onto the hospital bed, leaning over him and placing the laptop between them.

Jared connected the flash drive, tapped his fingers on the keyboard a few times, and then a document popped up.

Jared clicked inside the document and many photos and information appeared in front of the two.

Jared took a closer look at the photos and information, which were organized by date, and just view them next to each other.

So, he clicked on the first profile.

Inside was a ticket for a flight from Olkmore directly to Country K. The ticket holder was none other than Makenna, and the date on the ticket was the third day after Makenna's fraudulent death.

"So, Makenna really did go to Country K. Erika Russell and Chloe aren't lying to us." Amber said with pursed lips when she saw this.

Jared didn't answer, but clicked on the second profile, a profile of a plastic surgery hospital.

Amber was surprised to see this, "What do you mean? Plastic surgery hospital? Is it possible that Makayla has gone for plastic surgery?"

Jared narrowed his eyes, "She knows that with my power if I want to find her, is not a difficult task, so in order to make me not so fast to find her, the best way, is to change the face, so plastic surgery is not impossible, and we have been into a thinking misunderstanding, generally not easy to think of people to plastic surgery, so more difficult to find Makenna."

"So that's it." Amber pursed her lips, "She's pretty smart, then."

Jared slid the disk and continued to look down, and sure enough, underneath was a plastic surgery consent form signed by Makenna, and the consent form carefully indicated Makenna's plastic surgery project.

Amber looked down and sucked in a breath of cold air, "Oh my God, so many, this is a complete and total change of her entire face, right?"

"Not a single resemblance to the original face is the most reliable." Jared was not much surprised and continued to click on the third profile.

This is a medical bill for plastic surgery. The name of the plastic surgeon is Makenna, but the payer is not her, but Connor.

Seeing this, both Jared and Amber had a momentary blank in their heads.

Connor paid for Makenna's plastic surgery, which means that Alice, who appeared next to Connor, is Makenna?

The two men looked at each other and both saw the same speculation in each other's eyes.

But neither said anything, both had a tacit understanding to keep looking down.

The fourth document changed, not from a plastic surgery hospital, but again from a hospital, but from a very famous orthopedic hospital in Country K. This document was very straightforward, a consent form for bone padding and height enhancement surgery.

Elias said at the beginning that Alice not only had a full face-lift but also had a height increase surgery.

So, it is now quite certain that Alice is Makenna.

Sure enough, the information that follows is not from inside these hospitals, but from photos of Makenna's plastic surgery process, from being pushed into the operating room, to being covered in bandages, to removing the bandages, the whole process.

Amber and Jared were able to simply and straightforwardly see Makenna turn into Alice little by little through these photos.

After watching, Amber and Jared did not speak for a long time.

It was only after a while that Amber clenched her palms and spoke, "I really didn't expect that Makenna, who we had been looking for, was actually around, but none of us suspected."

Also, no one would think that Makenna had gone for plastic surgery, so how could Alice and Makenna be associated together?

In particular, Alice's mannerisms are completely different from Makenna's, looking like two completely unrelated people.

Since they are not related, it is natural not to think of the two people as one person in this regard.

"It's not too late, knowing that Alice is Makenna, right over at Connor's, it would be nice to tackle it together and save some work." Jared said with a gloomy look in his eyes.

Amber thought so and nodded, "So when are we going to strike?"

"No hurry, there is still one last step, I still have some things to collect complete, still need a little time, but these two people are in my surveillance range, but do not worry about the extraneous." Jared narrowed his eyes and said.

Amber saw that he was sure of himself and said nothing more, put the computer away, then thought of a very important point and asked, "Honey, how did you say Makenna and Connor met?"

This question, also Jared most puzzled, pursed his lips back, "I do not know, these two people's identity gap is too big, it is impossible to know each other, and will not be able to intersect, but Makenna fraudulent death, immediately after the connection with Connor, there must be something in it that I do not know."

"It's okay, no matter how these two people know each other, they are our enemies, just deal with them together." Amber was thinking ahead.

Indeed, ah, are the enemy, together to solve, and do not have to worry about dragging the innocent.

So naturally there is no need to think about how they met each other.

None of this matters.

The important thing is to get rid of these two people and not to care about anything else.

"You're right." Jared took her by the shoulders and gave a soft laugh.

After that, Ben came in and gave Jared a report on his work.

And Ben arrived just in time, and Jared handed him the flash drive.

Ben took it with a puzzled look on his face, "Mr. Farrell, this is?"

Chapter 1379 Her Responsibility

"Alice is Makenna," Jared said in a cold voice, "Here are the details and process of Makenna's transformation into Alice, take it and read it."

"What? Alice is Makenna?" Ben was so shocked that his voice rose much higher.

Jared was noncommittal, "Yes, they are one."

After a while, Ben finally calmed down and said with a sullen face, "I know Mr. Farrell, I will read the information, and then I will arrange more people to keep an eye on them."

That's what Jared meant when he gave him the flash drive, "It's OK to pull back the people sent to Country K and the capital to look for Makenna."

After all, the Makenna people have already been found, so naturally there is no need to be looking.

Ben nodded, "Yes, I'll arrange that in a minute."

"Also, tell Erika and Chloe again about Makenna being Alice, I'm sure they're interested too." Jared thin lips hooked up a cool curve and said.

Especially since Erika, that crazy woman, knows that after Makenna's downfall, there will be a good show for sure.

"Of course, after telling them, by the way, and then instructed them, want to trip to the Su family and Makenna better sneak to, not good openly, or fall into the hands of Connor, then not to mention revenge, even life must be careful." Jared instructed.

He just wants Erika and Chloe to take on Connor and Makenna and cut Connor's power.

Most importantly, he wanted to see if these two women, could get Connor to reveal some clues he wanted in the process of dealing with Connor.

This way, he can save a little time on his side.

"Okay Mr. Farrell," Ben also understood Jared's thoughts and immediately responded.

It didn't take long for him to leave the hospital to do as he was told.

Amber returned from the OB/GYN side of the room to get her medication and saw the man sitting in his wheelchair, head bowed in contemplation, and asked, "Ben's gone?"

Jared looked up, his eyes softening, "Let's go."

"What's on your mind?" Amber asked as she put the medicine down.

The man didn't hide it from him and told him what he had just thought.

Amber nudged his brow, "Don't frown, no matter what, it's a lot easier to deal with Connor and Alice once we know they're both together and under our watch."

"Point taken." Jared let out a laugh.

Amber looked outside, "It's dark outside, but the light is good, want to go down for a walk?"

Now Jared has been able to get out of the hospital room and go for a short walk.

Jared didn't want to stay inside the ward all the time, so he agreed to the woman's proposal.

Amber pushed him through the garden.

There are still quite a few people in the garden at this time of year, plus it's Christmas time, so it's quite lively.

Amber knows that men actually do not like this kind of hustle and bustle, so she pushed him to a quiet cool chair to sit down.

After sitting down, Amber put the scarf around him again, taking care of him like a porcelain doll, looking at Jared funny.

"Am I that vulnerable?"

Amber nodded, "Yes, now in my heart, you are just very fragile, and the reason why I do so, but also because I hope you get better quickly ah, after all, you do, my heart hurts ah."

Jared took her hand and sat her down next to him, "Thanks honey, I'll get better soon."

"That's good." Amber leaned her head on his shoulder.

Jared then told her about what he had instructed Ben to do.

Amber smiled, "It's really time to tell Erika and Chloe that Makenna has done so much wrong, and of course it's only fair that those victims get justice together."

She said as she handed a hot milk to the man to drink.

The man doesn't like to drink these at all, but all this time, he didn't drink much, and it was all prepared for him by her.

Said drinking these is good for his health.

So, he was forced to drink, he did not drink she wanted him to look good.

So, he had to drink it hard even if he didn't.

Suddenly, Amber's cell phone rang.

Instead of staring at the man and supervising him drinking the milk, she took out her phone and looked at it.

"Who's calling?" The man asked, biting down on his straw and collecting the pain in his eyes.

This milk is really boring and unpleasant to drink.

"It's a call from the police department." Amber gave him a glance at the phone, "I think it's Bernardo, I'll take the call first, you hurry up and drink the milk, it will get cold later."

Jared responded with a hmmm, as much pain as he could muster.

Amber didn't notice the man's difference and took the phone to her ear to answer it.

Two minutes later, she put the phone down and hung up.

The man also finally finished his milk and breathed a huge sigh of relief.

Amber took the milk box over and threw it into the trash can next to her before saying, "The police department said that Bernardo's trial is due in a few days, so don't forget to attend."

"I'll go with you." Jared said.

Amber shook her head, "No, you'd better stay in the hospital, you don't need to accompany me, in saying that, you can accompany me in the future, there are many places, not in a hurry now this moment."

Jared was a little reluctant, but in the end he didn't say anything more

He knew that even if he was talking, she wouldn't be right to say yes.

"Okay, don't be upset." Looking at the man's sullen look, Amber cupped his face and coaxed.

The man looked at her, "I'm not upset, I just hate that I can't accompany you anywhere with this body now."

Amber smiled, "Who hasn't had an inconvenient time? You just can't be with me now, but you can be later, so don't feel bad."

Jared took her hand off her face, "Don't treat me like a child."

"So I treat you like a big kid?" Amber blinked at him.

The men were amused.

Amber saw him laugh, also followed the smile, "That's right, happy is the most important, well, it's almost time, let's go for a walk in front, it's time to go back."

Jared hummed and agreed.

After that, Amber pushed him around again and went back to the ward.

Later in the evening, while Jared went to wash up, Amber called Cole again.

Anyway, Cole and Jere are also good friends, and now that Jere has disappeared, this matter, how should also talk to Cole.

Surprisingly, Cole wasn't too surprised to hear that Jere had disappeared.

He told her that he had actually known this day would come.

He and Jared thought the same thing, probably because they were both men, so they knew better than she did what kind of person Jere really was and what exactly he would do.

So for Jere willing to disappear this thing, Cole also have long expected.

Now when he heard Amber say that, he just replied that what comes around always comes around.

And Cole and Jared reacted in such a way that Amber was also quite lost.

Not to them lost, but to themselves.

She claims to be Jere's sister, but never seems to know Jere too well.

How else would you even know that Jere would go down the path of self-destruction?

In the end, it was also her negligence that Jere would be like this; she neglected Jere too much.

But where she understood him a little more, more understanding of his heart a little more, more with him, more guidance to guide him, perhaps he will not take such a path.

Jere is partly to blame for this downfall.

Amber didn't talk to Cole after that, nor did she ask Cole if he had figured it out after so many days.

She knew Cole's, and if Cole figured it out, he would definitely reach out to her.

But Cole didn't, so he simply hasn't figured it out yet.

Chapter 1380 - Nightmare

Just give him some more time.

Amber thought.

The washroom door was then opened from the inside and Jared came out with his wheelchair under control just in time to see Amber fidgeting with her phone and asked, "Who were you just talking to on the phone?"

When he was inside, he heard her talking to someone.

At this time of the day, there were no outsiders in the ward other than the two of them, so she had to be on the phone with someone else.

Amber didn't hide it from him, pushing him towards the hospital bed, "It's Cole. I should tell him about Jere's disappearance, he and Jere are also friends, so I don't think we should hide it from him."

"And then what, what was his reaction?" Jared inquired, sitting on the edge of the bed.

Amber lifted the covers for him, "Cole had the same reaction as you, and said he knew this day would come."

"Not surprising." The man sat half-leaning on the head of the bed, "Jeremy's performance was so obvious that anyone could have known where he would end up."

"But I don't know." Amber's eyes drooped bleakly.

Jared rubbed her hair, "It's not your fault, Goldstone Co. has you so busy, you don't have that much energy to think about anything else, well, stop blaming yourself and go to sleep."

Amber looked at the man, squeezed the corners of her mouth, mewled, and got into bed and laid down next to him.

This night, she did not sleep well and dreamed about Jere.

In the dream, Jere was standing in a dark place and was smiling at her.

She was happy to run over to her, but Jere stopped her from passing and then gave her final words of farewell.

After saying that, Jere turned around and walked towards the deeper darkness. After a few steps, Jere's figure turned into stars and disappeared into the air and disappeared.

She was anxious and rushed over to try to stop Jere's disappearance, but it was simply too late and she ended up only catching some of the starlight that Jere had turned into.

Yet that little starlight, which she couldn't keep, eventually disappeared into her hand.

She was devastated and crouched directly in that darkness and cried sad tears.

After crying for a while, she heard someone in the void calling her wife.

She slowly lifted her head and saw a sudden white light above her head, and then a large, long, good-looking hand came out of the white light all the time.

She subconsciously also stretched out her hand to shake that big hand, after holding it, the darkness around her began to disintegrate, and finally completely dissipated, and in its place, a light.

Amber's body shuddered and suddenly opened her eyes, only to find that she was actually still lying next to Jared, and it was daylight all around.

Jared also breathed a sigh of relief when he saw Amber open her eyes, "Finally awake."

Amber turned her head to look at the man.

The man was looking down at her with a worried look on his face.

She blinked and asked, somewhat bewildered, "What's wrong with me?"

"You were having a nightmare." Jared took a tissue and tenderly wiped the corners of her eyes, "Almost dawn I heard you talking in your sleep, woke up and found you shouting Jeremy's name again, shouting and crying, I knew you must have dreamed about him, originally did not intend to wake you up, but saw you crying even more at the back, only then decided to wake you up, the result did not expect, shouted Half a day you did not wake up, let me worry about it."

Looking at the faint blue-black under the man's eyelids, Amber knew that he must not have slept well because of himself, and her heart could not help but feel a little guilty.

She turned sideways, wrapped her arms around the man's waist and buried her head in his chest, "I'm sorry for making you worry."

"I'm your husband, it's my job to worry about you." Jared patted her back gently, "So what, what did you dream about Jeremy?"

Amber bit her lower lip, "I dreamed that Jere said goodbye to me."

After that, she told him everything in the dream.

After hearing this, the man soothed her, "Although the dream is false, but this is good, at least you still saw him, take this dream as a final parting gift."

Amber gave a hmmm.

Jere has already disappeared, what else can she do but to take this as her last parting words?

She could no longer recall Jere back into the world.

It's really time for her to accept this reality.

Amber looked at the ring on her right middle finger.

This was given to her by Jere just after her divorce from Jared, and she wears it all the time.

After getting back together with Jared, several times Jared looked down on her and tried to take the ring off her, but she stopped them all.

Only because this ring, which was given to her by Jere, she cherished it extraordinarily, so she did not want to take it off.

But now, she is forced to take it off.

She will take the ring off for safekeeping and keep it as a final memento, and will not wear it on her hand again.

She worries that if she keeps wearing it, the ring will be damaged sooner or later, and by then she won't even have a souvenir to remember Jere by.

Amber sat up from Jared's arms and eased the ring off in front of Jared.

She wears three rings on both hands, one from Jeremy and the one she's taking off now, which she always wears on her right middle finger.

There are two more, her and Jared's wedding rings. One is the one she went shopping at the mall when she and Jared got married six years ago, which she took out to auction later and was bought back by Jared for millions, and after they got back together, he gave her the ring again and she has been wearing it on her left middle finger.

There was another one, a new wedding ring he asked Ben to help buy when she and Jared re-married for their license years ago, which she wore on the ring finger of her left hand.

Now after taking off the ring that Jere gave her, she is also left with only the two wedding rings on her left hand.

Speaking of which, also wearing two wedding rings is Jared, also on his left ring finger and middle finger.

Jared's eyes visibly lit up as he watched Amber take off the ring that Jeremy had given her, then resisted the urge to hook up the corners of his mouth and asked, "Take it off for what?"

Amber took tissue paper to wrap the ring, "put it away, not wear it in the future, keep it as a souvenir, want to Jere when you take it out again to see, have been wearing damaged is not good."

Jared nodded, indicating that he knew, the joy in his eyes unconcealed.

He has long looked at this ring with displeasure.

It has always been the case that things like rings, which are supposed to have a special meaning, cannot be given away indiscriminately.

Jeremy sent Amber a ring, which obviously shows Jeremy's small mind, and only she really thought that Jeremy sent the ring to represent his brother's admiration for his sister, not his love for a man or woman.

So, all along, he wanted to take the ring off her hand and throw it away.

But she has never agreed ah, and he did not want to force the ring off to make her angry, so he could only persuade himself to see no evil, just pretend not to know.

Despite this, but every time he saw her suffer this ring, he really can not pretend not to know, but can not do anything, only by enduring.

So a tolerated it until now.

He originally thought that this ring, she will never take it off in this life, but I did not expect the peaks and valleys, she now actually took the initiative to take it off.

Although she took it off only to put it away properly and not to throw it away, he was still happy to see that she would never have another ring from another man on her hand again.

The man's joy radiated from his heart, how could Amber not feel it.

No, as soon as she looked up, she saw the obvious and total joy in the man's eyes.

She couldn't help but laugh a little, "You're so happy that I took the ring off?"