

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 577

Posted by

By

Chapter 577 Meticulous Plan

"It's been handled. We've eliminated all enemies," Sylvia said.

"That was fast! Great work," Caspian praised without hesitation.

"It was all thanks to Chief Sanders that we were able to deal with it so quickly. She had led her subordinates to watch over this area. We worked together to annihilate the enemies." Sylvia was not the kind of person to covet credit. She gave a brief explanation about the situation here.

"Is that so? You're saying that Joey led her team of inspectors and joined the battle?" Caspian asked, feeling rather surprised.

"That's right. If it wasn't for her leading her subordinates to guard this place, I'm afraid it would've been too late by the time we arrived," Sylvia said.

"Joey is really the cream of the crop," Caspian praised.

"That's right. Back then at the Cliff of Death, she was the one who turned the tide. Indeed, she's really incredible," Sylvia said.

If Joey could be trained systematically, she would definitely become very strong.

"I got it. When the war is over, I'll reward you based on your merits," Caspian said.

"Lord Caspian, although we've destroyed the enemy, the entire garrison at the hospital has been killed. These invaders are really despicable!" Sylvia said with indignance.

"Sooner or later, I'll make them pay a heavy price," Caspian said through gritted teeth.

"Lord Caspian, what should we do next?" Sylvia asked.

“All of you should just stay at the hospital, lest the enemies show up again,” Caspian instructed.

“Yes, Lord Caspian!”

At the South Aridlands War Zone, Benjamin, John, and the others had already come up with a strategy to rescue Alicia and Henry.

Their plan was for Task Force Rose to find out about the situation on Robert’s side.

1/4

+15 BONOS

There would definitely be enemy troops setting up defenses outside the Hudson residence.

First, they would determine the locations of the enemies in the periphery of the residence and kill them stealthily. Then, they would dispatch some soldiers to barge into the Hudson residence at lightning speed.

Caspian thought this strategy was pretty good and planned to implement it.

“Not bad. Let’s just go with this plan,” Caspian said.

“Lord Caspian, as the vanguard will be barging into Hudson residence, they need a good team leader. Who do you think is suitable for this position?” Benjamin asked.

“Macy Osborne,” Caspian said.

Caspian was familiar with Macy’s abilities. Even though she was usually aloof, she was never imprecise when it came to executing her tasks.

“Macy Osborne? Is she familiar with Southlake City? Also, if she were to be the leader, would the others be dissatisfied?” Benjamin asked.

“That’s not a problem. We’ll let the members of Macy’s Phoenix Vanguard team come over. They’ll be able to build rapport if they carry out the operation together.

“But the situation’s critical now. It’ll take time for the Phoenix Vanguard team to rush over there,” Benjamin said.

“We’ll have Task Force Rose evaluate the enemy’s quarters first. By that time, the Phoenix Vanguard team would’ve almost arrived in Southlake City,” Caspian explained.

“Yes, sir! We’ll carry it out according to your arrangement.” Benjamin nodded. “The reason Robert had Alicia and Henry captured was to lure me. Their lives are not in danger for the time being. ‘If you know the enemy and know yourself, you need not fear the result of a hundred battles’.

“Let’s have a clear picture of the situation before we make any decisions.”

Caspian was also not in a hurry.

Robert would definitely not kill Alicia and Henry before he got to meet Caspian.

“Lord Caspian’s right. We mustn’t rush this matter,” Benjamin said.

“By the way, what should we do if there are reinforcements at the Hudson residence? We need a troop to hold out against the reinforcements,”

2/4

+15 BONOS

“The reinforcement troop will definitely come forward if all the troops within the Hudson residence are annihilated. This isn’t a trivial matter. We’ll just leave it to the armored battalion!” Caspian said with a stern expression.

The armored battalion was a troop that was led by Caspian. Each and every single one of the members had gone through extremely rigorous training. They could handle any exigency that arose.

“Okay! Let’s have the armored battalion dispatched, then. With them around, the enemy will surely be defeated!” Benjamin said emotionally.

“This matter is just a sideshow. Our ultimate goal is to defeat Vadesia and Astronia,” Caspian said with a calm expression.

The top priority was still to find a way to repel the enemy.

“Lord Caspian, do you have any feasible plans?” Benjamin asked.

“Yes. Even though the enemy troops have entered Southlake City, they’re fighting in a disorganized manner. Now that Estrya has been repelled out of East Aridlands, let’s have the maritime troops from East Aridlands be their reinforcements.

“This way, the enemy’s escape route can be cut off. When the time comes, they’ll have no reinforcements. They’ll surely die in Southlake City!” Caspian said.

He had already thought over the battle when he was at West Aridlands.

“Your idea is not bad, but even if the aviation battleships are to be dispatched, they might not necessarily defeat Vadesia and Astronia. The opponent’s maritime troops are very powerful,” John said.

He suffered a lot when he was leading the maritime troops.

“What John said is right, Lord Caspian. Estrya has just been repelled. If they find out that the troops have retreated from East Aridlands, they might come back!

“It would be bad if that happens.” Benjamin also has his worries.

“You have a point, but we can use super–large missiles to defeat the enemy!” Caspian said.

“Lord Caspian, I’m afraid it will give rise to opposition from every country if we use super–large missiles!” Benjamin said.

“That’s not a problem. We’re just forced to fight back. Besides, does it have anything to do with them if the missiles explode in the waters of Diatoran?” Caspian asked disdainfully.

1

3/4

+15 BONOS

“You’re so wise!” Benjamin praised,

“The enemy troops entered Southlake City, brutally killed our people, and committed arson and robbery, We must get rid of them completely. If we don’t, it’ll be a disgrace on our part!” Caspian said through gritted teeth.

“I finally understand the gap between myself and you, Lord Caspian,” Benjamin said.

“What gap?” Caspian asked, puzzled.

“You’re vigorous and resolute in your work!” Benjamin praised.

“That’s enough. Take command of the battle now,” Caspian said with a smile.

He had long grown tired of hearing such compliments.

“Yes, sir!”

Benjamin delivered Caspian’s orders immediately.

Phoenix Vanguard began their preparation of the ammunition and equipment

There was a tough battle waiting for them.

All of the members in Phoenix Vanguard were female, with Macy as the leader.

Under Macy’s leadership, the vanguard team created many miracles.

Now that the plan had been finalized, Caspian looked at everyone and said, Southlake City is currently in a precarious situation. I’m going to command the battle operation in Southlake City!“/

Everyone was a little surprised to hear this.

“Lord Caspian, it’s very dangerous in Southlake City now. You must not put yourself in danger!”

“Yeah! You’re the leader of the Five War Gods. You only need to command the operations remotely.”

“What if you’re attacked by the enemy troops in Southlake City?”

Everyone started to dissuade him from going.

“That’s enough. I’ve already made up my mind. Robert and Viktor are also champions.

“If they can lead their troops in person, why can’t I?” Caspian said with a look of determination in his eyes.

Last updated on February 15, 2024

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 578

Posted by

By

Chapter 578 Caspian’s True Intention

The others remained silent after hearing what Caspian said.

What he said made sense. The leader of the enemy’s troops was personally leading the battalion. Caspian should also be able to do it since he was the Diatoran God of War.

“Robert and Viktor are both known as the invincible Champions. This is the perfect opportunity to fight it out!” Caspian said.

“Lord Caspian, I’m willing to go to Southlake City with you,” Benjamin said.

“There’s no need to. You should just stay and command the battle at South Aridlands,” Caspian rejected his offer.

“Lord Caspian, even you’re going to the front line when you’re the head of the Five War Gods. So why can’t I?” Benjamin asked.

“If both of us leave the South Aridlands War Zone, who will be here to command the battle when something goes wrong?” Caspian asked.

“Roger that. I’ll obey your instructions.” Benjamin nodded, not daring to go against Caspian’s wishes.

Then, Benjamin asked again, "When do you plan to make the move?"

"Time waits for no man; I'm going now," Caspian said.

"I'll have a VIP car send you to Southlake City," Benjamin said.

"There's no need. I'll just go there in the armored vehicle," Caspian refused the offer once again.

"Take care, Lord Caspian!" Benjamin said.

"I hope you can do a good job in commanding the battle in South Aridlands," Caspian said before leaving the command center.

Benjamin, John, and the others ran after him.

They were preparing to send Caspian off.

Caspian actually had something else in mind when he proposed to go down to Southlake City in person.

He knew very well that the plan to rescue Alicia was very difficult and that he would have to confront Robert head-on when the time came.

+15 BONOS

Caspian had planned to take Phoenix Vanguard with him to compete against Robert in person.

However, he could not reveal it.

He knew that John and the others would definitely raise their objections again.

That was why Caspian thought of this plan.

As long as he could go to Southlake City, no one could interfere with his plan.

Macy and the armored soldiers were waiting for him outside.

"Return to Southlake City with me," Caspian said as he looked at Macy and the others.

"Yes, sir!" Macy and the others responded.

Their duty was to protect Caspian's safety.

As for what he planned to do, they would not ask at all. They had no right to question him.

Meanwhile, the Stewart family was restless over the captivity of Alicia and Henry.

"We don't even know where Caspian is. We can't reach him as well. How are we supposed to rescue Alicia and Henry?" Melinda was utterly anxious.

"The only option left is to find Willow. She might be able to contact Caspian," Marilyn said.

"That's right! Willow is Caspian's wife. She would definitely know where Caspian is now," Melinda said. She had a moment of sudden realization.

"Have you guys forgotten? Willow no longer has anything to do with our family. Do you think that she'll help us?" Donald asked.

"Willow and Caspian might not hold a grudge against us over such trifling matters. Alicia and Henry are in grave danger now. If Caspian finds out about this, he'll surely come forward to their rescue," Carl said.

"Carl, please contact Willow and have her pass the message to Caspian," Donald said eagerly.

"Okay, I'll ask her," Carl said before dialing Willow's cell phone.

Willow had not gone to sleep. When she saw her father's phone call, she answered it immediately.

2/4

+15 BONOS

"What's the matter, Dad?" Willow asked.

"Willow, I have bad news," Carl said.

"What is it?" Willow asked in surprise.

“Alicia and Henry have fallen into the hands of the enemy,” Carl said.

“How could this happen? Didn’t they already leave Southlake City?” Willow asked in a rather surprised tone.

It was true that she had severed ties with the Stewart family. Nevertheless, she was not a heartless person. Even though the capture of Alicia and Henry had no impact on her, she could not bear to watch it.

“I can’t say for sure what actually happened. Anyway, they’re all at the Hudson residence. They’re being held captive by Robert, the Champion of Vadesia,” Carl said.

“What? They’re at the Hudson residence? What’s going on?” Willow became even more confused.

“The Hudson family was preparing to defect to Vadesia. They held a banquet for Robert, but Alicia and Henry were both captured in the end.” Carl ended up revealing everything he knew about the incident.

Willow was stunned when she heard this.

Alicia and Henry had actually fallen into Robert’s hands!

“But there’s no use in calling me either,” Willow said.

“Only Caspian can rescue them. Willow, can you talk to Caspian and ask him to come forward to rescue Alicia and Henry?” Carl asked.

“He’s the Diatoranian God of War. Besides, he has an encrypted satellite phone. I don’t know how to contact him either,” Willow said.

“The Stewart family can only rely on you now. If Caspian doesn’t show up, Alicia and Henry are going to die,”

“I got it. I’ll try my best to find a way,” Willow said.

Indeed, she had already severed ties with the Stewart family. Nevertheless, she could not just stand idly by at such a critical moment.

Willow could still distinguish between right and wrong.

“I’ll hang up first, then. Call me if you have any news,” Carl said.

+15 BONOS

“Okay,” Willow said before hanging up the phone.

Willow was now feeling really anxious.

“Zoey, Alicia, and Henry had been captured by Robert, the Champion of Vadesia. If Caspian doesn’t show up, they’re going to die. But I can’t reach him either,” Willow said anxiously.

“Didn’t they leave Southlake City? Why were they captured?” Zoey asked in surprise.

“I have no idea what’s going on as well. But one thing’s for sure, the Hudson family has renegaded,” Willow said.

“I can’t believe they renegaded! How outrageous!” Zoey said indignantly.

“Hurry up and help me think of a way to get in touch with Caspian,” Willow said.

“Have Finn try contacting Caspian. He might just have a way,” Zoey said.

“Got it, Zoey. I’ll look for Finn and give it a try,” Willow said before getting ready to go look for Finn.

Coincidentally, her phone rang right at that moment.

The number on the phone was familiar. It was Caspian calling.

Willow was a little surprised. She quickly answered the phone.

“Hubby, where are you? Why are you using your personal phone to call me?” Willow asked excitedly, unable to control her emotions.

The armored battalion was making preparations. This allowed Caspian to have some free time, so he called Willow.

For the past few days, he had not been able to contact Willow. He missed his wife very much.

“I’m now at the South Aridlands War Zone. I miss you, that’s why I’m calling. I don’t need the satellite phone for personal matters,” Caspian said, smiling.

“Have you come back? I happen to have a problem that I need you to solve,” Willow said rather anxiously.

“What is it, honey?” Caspian asked.

Last updated on February 15, 2024

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 579

Posted by

By

Chapter 579 To Live and Die Together

“My dad called me earlier and told me that Alicia and Henry are being held captive by Robert. Only you can save them now,” Willow said.

“I’ve heard about this already,” Caspian said.

“Oh? So you’ve heard. Do you have a plan on how you’re going to save them?” Willow asked.

She was worried that Caspian would not be willing to help because of what happened in the past.

For this reason, Willow said, “It’s true that we’ve severed ties with the Stewart family, and Alicia and Henry have also always been causing trouble for us. But at the end of the day, we’re all still a family. I don’t wish to see them fall into the hands of the enemy.”

“I understand. I’ll handle this matter. There’s no need for you to bother about it anymore,” Caspian said calmly.

“Really? You’re willing to come forward and help them, hubby?” Willow did not expect Caspian to agree so quickly. She even found it hard to believe.

“That’s right. When have I ever lied to you?” Caspian asked.

“They were enigmatic and mean to you before. Aren’t you bothered by that?” Willow did not really believe that Caspian would forget about the past and save Alicia and Henry.

“I’m the Diatoranian God of War. Why would I think at their level? Sure, Alicia was captured, but she would rather die than surrender.

“For this reason, I’ll save her. After all, she’s still a citizen of Diatoran,” Caspian said.

“How did you know about Alicia’s incident?” Willow asked, confused.

“The video of her being degraded by Robert was posted online. I’ve seen it,” Caspian said.

“What? Something like that happened? What about Henry? Is he okay?” Willow asked.

“He’s fine. He’s only suffered some external injuries,” Caspian said.

As for why the two were captured, Caspian was puzzled as well.

1

+15 BONOS

However, now that Task Force Rose had already gone over to investigate, they should be able to get some updates soon.

If Henry had also betrayed the nation and renegade, then he would be an eternal sinner of Diatoran.

Caspian would never show mercy to people like him.

“Hubby, you must bring them back safely no matter what,” Willow said.

“I got it. You don’t have to worry about this matter anymore,” Caspian said.

“Can I ask how you plan to rescue them from the enemy?” Willow asked.

“No, this is classified information,” Caspian refused.

Even if Willow was his wife, he could not reveal the battle plan.

“Okay, I won’t ask, then. I’m now in Garthram. I miss you. When can we meet?” Willow knew that Caspian was at the South Aridlands War Zone, which meant he was on the outskirts of Garthram.

For this reason, she really wished to see her husband.

Willow felt really insecure now. She needed Caspian’s consolation.

“Now that Southlake City is raging with war, I’ll go there to command the battle. Let’s get together when the enemy troops are defeated.”

There was no doubt that Caspian missed Willow as well. However, with the grave situation and the threat of the enemy in front of them, he had no time to chat lovingly with Willow.

“Are you going to Southlake City?” Willow asked, surprised.

“That’s right. Southlake City is now in great danger. I must repel the enemy,” Caspian said.

“I’ll go with you to Southlake City, then,” Willow said.

“There are enemies everywhere in Southlake City. Why would you even go back?” Caspian said.

“I don’t care. I just want to be with you. I miss you.

“Let’s go back to the villa. As long as you’re with me, I’m not afraid of anything,” Willow said in a rather stubborn manner.

“Fine. You can come if you really want to,” Caspian said.

Hearing this, Willow was stunned again. Caspian agreed so easily.

2/4

+15 BONOS

She had expected that Caspian would never let her go to Southlake City.

Caspian had his reason for letting Willow follow him.

It would be the safest choice for Willow to be with Caspian.

Even though there was an armored battalion protecting Willow, Caspian was still worried.

Hence, Caspian wanted to keep Willow by his side. This way, no one would dare to harm her.

“I’ll pack my things, then. And then I’ll meet you,” Willow said excitedly.

Like a young lady in love, she could not wait to see Caspian.

“I’ll lead the army across the bridge at the river. You just have to ask the armored soldiers to escort you and wait for me there,” Caspian said.

“Alright! I’ll be waiting for you then, hubby!” Willow said before hanging up the phone.

She told Zoey the good news.

Zoey told Willow that she wanted to come with her. If she was with Willow, she would feel a little safer. After all, there were many soldiers guarding Willow.

She would be terrified if she had to stay in Garthram alone.

Both of them packed their things quickly and prepared to leave.

Willow called Carl to let him know that Caspian was already thinking of a way to rescue Alicia and Henry.

Carl hung up the phone and immediately conveyed the good news to the Stewart family.

“Caspian actually agreed to rescue Alicia and Henry so quickly? Doesn’t he hate us?” Marilyn asked, surprised.

“Could he be deceiving us? What if he’s all talk?” Melinda was still skeptical.

She did not believe that Caspian would really rescue her children.

“Yeah. Is Caspian really that kind? Shouldn’t he be wishing that all of the Stewart family members are dead?” Kate asked enigmatically.

“You’re all really looking down on Caspian. He is the Diatoranian God of War! Would he be so petty with insignificant people like you?” Carl asked.

After hearing Carl’s words, all the family members of the Stewart family were

+15 BONOS

“Do you have any other choice now? Only Caspian has the ability to rescue Alicia and Henry. We must believe in Caspian!” Carl added.

Everyone was silent. Carl was right. They could only rely on Caspian now.

“I hope that Caspian is sincere and goes to help Alicia and Henry,” Donald said.

“We’ve really been blinded. If we had treated Caspian well, our family would’ve already become prosperous long ago,” Marilyn said.

She had suspected that Caspian had a prominent background. She just did not expect that Caspian would be so powerful.

“Yeah! Who would’ve thought that Caspian had been hiding something all this while. As the Diatoranian God of War, he was willing to come and be the matrilocal son-in-law of our family,” Melindă said.

“It’s obvious that Caspian’s love for Willow is unquestionable! Everything he had done was for Willow,” Marilyn said.

Meanwhile, Willow and Zoey had already packed their clothes. Under the escort of the armored soldiers, they were getting ready to cross the bridge of the river.

At the South Aridlands War Zone, the armored battalion had finished preparing. “We leave immediately! The destination is Southlake City!” Caspian swung his arms and shouted.

“Yes, sir!”

Sixty thousand armored soldiers began to leave for their destination.

Countless armored vehicles and tracked vehicles departed for Southlake City with great momentum.

Caspian and Macy rode in the same armored car.

Last updated on February 15, 2024

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 580

Posted by

By

Chapter 580 Rushing Toward Southlake City

“Lord Caspian, you’re the head of the Five War Gods. Why would you want to risk your life and go to Southlake City?” Macy asked, puzzled.

“I’m very familiar with the geographical location of Southlake City. If the enemy dares to do anything in Southlake City, I’ll never forgive them,” Caspian said firmly.

“Well said! This is the Lord Caspian I like! Once you show up, that crappy Robert and Viktor will be defeated!” Macy said excitedly.

“We mustn’t be careless. When we go to Southlake City this time, we must be prepared for a bloody battle. I have a secret mission I need you to do,” Caspian said.

“Please give your instructions,” Macy said in a serious tone.

“Willow’s sister and brother have been captured by the enemy. Robert did this on purpose to lure me into rescuing them,” Caspian said.

“Didn’t all the residents of Southlake City evacuate? The Stewart family should have already left Southlake City. How could those two be captured by the enemy?”

Macy asked, puzzled.

"It's still unclear as to what actually happened. But one thing is certain, the Hudson family has renegaded," Caspian said.

"What? The Hudson family has actually renegaded? Is your purpose in going to Southlake City this time to rescue Alicia and Henry?" Macy asked.

"Rescuing them is just something we're doing in addition to our main goal, which is to repel the enemy forces in Southlake City," Caspian said.

"What do you need me to do?" Macy asked.

"I need you to lead a vanguard team to barge into the Hudson residence and rescue the siblings," Caspian said.

"Seeing as he deliberately designed this scheme to lure you out, he'll surely have something prepared. If I go, won't that be a suicide mission?" Macy was not stupid. If she went, it would be like walking into a death trap.

"Why? Are you scared?" Caspian asked.

"I'm not scared. I just think it's not worth going when you know the other party already has something planned. Besides, Robert is not someone who's easy to

+15 BONOS

Of course, Macy was not afraid. She just did not want to be sacrificed in vain.

"Don't worry, we already have a plan. We'll never put you in danger." Caspian did not reveal his true intentions.

He had only wanted Macy to have some peace of mind.

"What strategy is it?" Macy asked.

"It's not the time yet. When we're about to make the move, I'll tell you the plan," Caspian said.

"Okay. Where will the members of the vanguard team be allocated from?" Macy asked.

“They’re already on their way. You’re familiar with the members as well; they’re from Phoenix Vanguard. When the time comes, you’ll lead them to attack the Hudson residence,” Caspian said.

“Phoenix Vanguard? They’re here as well?” Macy asked in surprise.

“That’s right. You’ve always been the leader of Phoenix Vanguard. Initially, there was no need for Phoenix Vanguard to join this battle.

“However, the situation this time around is an exception. You’ll definitely be able to work more smoothly when you lead Phoenix Vanguard,” Caspian said.

“Yes, sir! I’ll definitely not let you down!” Macy saluted.

Thirty minutes later, Caspian’s troops in the armored car arrived at the bridge.

Willow and Zoey had arrived here in advance.

Both of them stood on the bridge. As they watched a group of armored vehicles approaching in the distance, they suddenly became very excited.

There was no doubt that Caspian was in one of them.

Caspian saw two people on the bridge.

During this period, Caspian had been fighting in battles everywhere. He missed Willow very much as well.

When the armored vehicle came onto the bridge, Caspian ordered the vehicle to stop. He then walked out of it.

When Willow saw Caspian, she was extremely happy. She finally got to see her

+15 BONOS

“Hubby...” At that moment, Willow’s emotions were jumbled up. She even burst into tears when she saw Caspian.

“There’s not much time. Let’s get you in the vehicle first and then we’ll take our time to talk,” Caspian said.

Time was running out, and they could not waste any more time.

“Okay! Zoey, let’s get in the vehicle.” Willow took Zoey’s hand and followed Caspian into the vehicle.

Then, the armored vehicle convoy headed toward Southlake City.

When Willow and Zoey got into the vehicle, they were very surprised to find Macy inside.

At first, Willow was very excited. However, once she saw Macy, her expression changed instantly.

“Why are you here, Macy?” Willow asked.

“I have to protect Lord Caspian up close. I suppose there’s no problem with me being here in his vehicle, yeah?” Macy answered calmly.

Caspian rolled his eyes at Macy and explained, “Honey, Macy has also been sent by the higher-ups to protect me.”

“Will she be following you closely to the point where she never leaves your sight?” Willow began picturing indescribable things in her head.

Macy was good-looking. What if she were to seduce Caspian?

Caspian was a little bit speechless to hear that.

The two women confronted each other as soon as they met.

“Willow, it’s been a while since I’ve seen you. I missed you so much.” Caspian looked at Willow and smiled.

“Did you really miss me? Then why did you not contact me?” Willow asked.

“I had no choice. The war situation is critical. I really couldn’t get away from it,” Caspian answered helplessly.

He had been busy repelling the enemy troops in West Aridlands and had not slept for more than ten hours in the past few days. How could he have the time to contact Willow?

“You’re lying. No matter how busy you are, I’m sure you have at least a few

+15 BONOS

“Willow, Caspian is busy with official affairs every day. When he goes into battle to kill the enemies, there really is no way for him to escape. It’s not easy for you to get together, so stop bickering already,” Zoey advised.

Willow thought that Zoey’s words made sense.

She was the wife of the Diatoranian God of War. She should not be stooping to Macy’s level.

“Hubby, do you have a way to rescue Alicia and Henry?” Willow asked.

“Don’t worry, I already have a countermeasure,” Caspian said.

Meanwhile, at the Hudson residence, Robert did not rest at all. He kept waiting for Caspian to appear.

“I have something to report!” the guard standing outside said.

“Come in,” Robert said.

The guard entered the house and closed the door.

“What’s the matter? Tell me,” Robert said.

“I’ve got the latest information. Caspian has left the South Aridlands War Zone. He’s coming here to Southlake City with his armored battalion,” the guard said.

“That’s great! The wait is finally over! It seems like Caspian can’t hold back anymore!” Robert said excitedly.

“General, do you think Caspian will make the move himself?” the guard asked curiously.

“He will! Pass down my order. Strengthen the patrols and vigilance. When Caspian appears, kill him!” Robert said emotionally.

“Yes, sir! We have another important matter to report. Caspian’s wife, Willow, has also returned with Caspian,” the guard said.

“Oh, is that so? That works well, then. I heard that Caspian’s wife is an extremely beautiful woman.

“If Caspian dies, then his wife will belong to me!” Robert said as he leered. His mind was filled with obscene imagery.

Last updated on February 15, 2024

