

Lord of War 191

Chapter 191: . Fear

Sean did not stay in that simple camp.

Perhaps he felt that his strength might not help much, so neither Bruen nor Rena kept Sean, but they said goodbye to him very sincerely. Before leaving, Sean wanted to take away the rags of the banshee. At first, Rena refused to give it. In the end, Bruen persuaded Rena to let Sean take it away.

In the middle of the night, this small camp outside the town of Cyan Hummingbird seemed a bit lonely and lonely.

Before, when every two people squeezed into a tent, they would curse and dislike each other, wishing they could dominate. But now that there are four tents, one for each, everyone starts to miss the previous situation again, and even some of the disputes and curses between each other at that time are full of warmth.

"Sister Rina, does any banshee really have it?" A young mercenary poked his head out of the tent, and then asked.

At this time, none of the four mercenaries were asleep. Although they were exhausted after a day of running around today, they didn't know why, they just didn't want to sleep. So chatting became the only way for them to pass the time. Perhaps only in this way could they feel some warmth with each other. As for the night watch... the four of them are all awake, so what night do they need to watch.

"I don't know." Rena didn't know the truth of this matter.

Banshee, she has also heard about it. It is said that after a very beautiful woman was brutally murdered, her soul was condensed because her heart was unwilling. At this time, if some special magical methods are used at this time, she can probably be condensed. Magic creatures like demon come. But this kind of magical creatures full of malicious obsessions may not necessarily be honest. If the producer who made them is not strong enough, they will even tear their souls to pieces.

The magic of Banshee's Howl was created based on the nature of the banshee that tears apart the soul.

Although I have heard of such creatures as banshees, I have only seen them in books.

"I would rather hope that the man was telling lies." Rena said softly.

In her tent, there was a crimson spear. When Rena said this, she reached out and touched the spear, and then held it tightly. It seems that only this way can she feel a sense of security in her heart.

For a while, this small camp fell into a certain silence, and no one spoke again. Perhaps in the eyes of many people, the banshee is just a relatively common foreign object, but for the small mercenary group Bruen and Rena, the banshee is not a common magical creature. , Maybe it is rare to meet once in a lifetime, so it is normal to be full of fear for this unknown creature.

It's just that the truly brave will choose to face fear, while the weak will choose to avoid fear.

As time goes by, the cold night seems to be fading away, and the sky begins to turn white. All these signs indicate that they have ushered in a new day.

The silent and suppressed atmosphere of panic, at this moment, finally became more active and relaxed.

"Ha, I knew that man was a liar." The young mercenary who had just asked Rena if there was a banshee had become very active and excited at this moment, "What kind of banshee, it's a lie at all. ...If I see him next time, I will definitely beat him up."

"I didn't know who was so scared yesterday." Another young mercenary began to laugh at his companion, "You still want to punch someone, maybe you are not the opponent of the Zenas."

As the topic unfolded, the two young mercenaries began to scold each other and tear down the stage, but the atmosphere became more active because of this. Bruen and Rena looked at each other and both showed a knowing smile. Only the two of them can realize this feeling. It is a sense of "It's good to be alive" and look up at the sky. Rena, who finally started to brighten up, and her spirits tense all night, finally felt a little sleepy.

"I'll go and make it easier. I held it all night." The young mercenary who said he was going to beat Shaun got out of the tent, and then hurried to the grove.

Bruen and another young mercenary showed knowing smiles. They ran for a day yesterday, and then tightened their nerves for the whole night. Until now, they can finally relax a little bit, and this kind of emotional ups and downs brings great ups and downs. The impact that comes is to expand their fatigue tenfold and one hundredfold. Rina's mental exhaustion is the most violent, because her strength is the strongest, so at this moment she has started to fall asleep in a daze. The last voice heard in her consciousness should be her companion who got out of the tent and walked into the woods. Footsteps... I don't know how long it took before Rina finally opened her eyes, and she seemed to relax a lot because of this. He seemed to feel a foreign object in his hand, turned his head slightly, only to find that he was still holding the spear tightly when he fell asleep, and he couldn't help but smile, and secretly said that he was really frightened.

Rina is not ugly, but she is not beautiful enough to shock anyone.

Compared to women like Cecilia and Elizabeth, Rena is of course unremarkable—regardless of her figure or appearance, Rena can at best only be in the posture of a human being. But perhaps because she was born in poverty and was a mercenary, Rina has a kind of cordial temperament on her body. This temperament makes her easy to arouse the goodwill of others, at least it will not make people hate her too much.

Only in this way, Rena is not like Asuna, who will only let people notice her temperament and ignore her looks. Fortunately, although Rina's skin is darker, her facial features are still pretty, and her short hair looks very energetic and capable. When she picks up her spear, she has a valiant and heroic spirit. So in fact, in many places, Rena can be regarded as a very conspicuous woman.

Getting out of the tent, Rina glanced at the sky. It was noon. She was going to wash up first, and then see if she could catch some game or something. If it doesn't work, she can only continue to eat dry food. Although the taste is not very good, for the mercenaries, the first prerequisite is to consider eating first. If you are full, then you will consider the taste.

But at this moment, a sound of footsteps suddenly came from far and near.

Rina turned around vigilantly, only to see Sean stepping forward.

Seeing this Chenas, Rina's face looked a little bulging. If the other party hadn't been so alarmist yesterday, how could they have prevented them from sleeping all night, so Rina did not give Sean anything to do. His face: "How dare you come! If it wasn't for you yesterday, how could we not sleep well all night."

"Are you all right?" Sean could hear the smell of gunpowder in Rena's words, but he was also puzzled. Did he make a mistake in his judgment?

"Do you want something for us?" Rena snorted, her eyes a little bit more unkind.

"What's going on." As if hearing the dispute, Bruen hurried out of the tent and asked what was going on.

The head of the old mercenary group, perhaps because he lived long enough, he was much mellow. Hearing Rina's words, old Brune smiled embarrassedly at Sean, but didn't say anything serious. It's just that in his tone of voice, he also expressed his dissatisfaction to Xiao En very vaguely. Obviously, the words that Sean said yesterday that the banshee would come to them really scared them all to death.

"I'm just here to take a look, since you are all right." Xiao En smiled bitterly and nodded, he found that the * stick was also a bit awkward.

"It's not good!" At this moment, the mercenary behind Bruen and Rena suddenly broke out with a horrified cry.

Brien and Rena turned around and looked, Xiao En's expression also became a little serious.

"Jack is gone!" The mercenary's eyes widened, and he collapsed in front of a black tent, his face was extremely scared, and his face turned white at an astonishing speed, as if blood. At this moment, he was exhausted, "He is gone! He is gone!..."

Rena and Bruen both changed their faces, and they felt chills.

However, Bruen was much more experienced after all, so he rushed up and raised the front curtain of the tent, only to see the empty inside. In this tent, apart from Jack is missing, other things including blankets, Jack's saber, armor, and even money bags are all inside. Although it's a bit messy, it can be seen at least at first glance. There is no sign of fighting.

"How could this be...how could..." Old Bruen was also shocked, "it's already dawn..."

"Who told you to be safe at dawn!" Xiao En suddenly yelled, "Do you think the banshee is an evil spirit? Even if it is a creature like an earth-bound spirit, it doesn't necessarily mean that it can't appear during the day. Where are you from? It's safe to judge at dawn!"

Hearing what Shaun said, everyone was taken aback, and then it seemed to wake up. But at this time, it was too late to say anything. Both Bruen and Rena fell into self-blame, while the other young mercenary seemed to have a nervous breakdown. He just sat on the ground and kept repeating "He's gone." With words like this, the entire mercenary group's xinxing is completely gone.

Suddenly, Rena, as if thinking of something, rushed back to her tent, drew the crimson spear, and turned around and flew towards the grove.

"Where are you going!" Old Brunn shouted loudly.

"There must be some clue!" Rina replied without looking back.

Seeing Rina's movements, Sean immediately rushed to keep up.

He knew that if there were no accidents, the next thing should be Rena who discovered the clue left by the mercenary named Jack before he died, and then following the clue, he should be able to find the stone cave where the heretics met. But if he can't find it, Xiao En is not afraid. He knows where the entrance of the dungeon is.

Of course, there is still a glimmer of hope in Sean's heart: with his own participation, maybe he can save the last three.

Chapter 192: .resonance

Following behind Rena, Xiao En realized that the woman in front of her was indeed not easy.

Professional origin of a mercenary, but the second-order knight apprentice, and then walked to the dark on the road of knights, and now he is a fourth-order professional spear knight.

The three Tier 4 knight professions, gun knight, sword knight, and bow knight, can be called the strongest knight advancement profession for no reason. Although it is much more mediocre than the special advancement and hidden advancement in those knight professions, it is this mediocrity that makes the balance of these three professions the first, because before stepping into the silver rank, the attributes The maximum point growth limit is forty.

So no matter what kind of advancement it is, basically before stepping into silver, the growth limit will be limited. The hidden advancement and the special advancement are just special advantages in a certain direction of development. As long as the three professional advancements of gun, sword, and bow are not in the wrong direction, two of the three abilities of strength, endurance, and agility must reach the full 40 points.

Like the spear knight, it emphasizes the dual attributes of strength and endurance; while the bow knight emphasizes endurance and agility; only the sword knight has multiple development directions, which can be strength and endurance, endurance and agility, or even All three can be developed in a balanced manner-of course, if this is the case, it is inevitably impossible to reach the full 40 points. Sean remembered that the strongest sword knight in the game was an NPC named Altria Pendragon, a member of the Saint-Joles Empire.

If Rena is not surprised, Tier 5 should be able to become a Gunslinger. If you can embark on this road of knights, then Tier 6 will definitely be able to advance to that of Gunslinger.

There are not many people who can embark on the road of the three knights of the magic spear, the magic sword, and the magic bow.

In the small forest, the branches and leaves are not luxuriant, and Rena travels very fast, obviously very familiar with the terrain of this area. Shaun was able to follow at first, but when he really walked through the woods, he found that he was a little struggling. For this reason, he had to use a light body technique to increase his agility before he was finally able to keep up with Rina's pace. , It's a pity that Rina's attention was focused on finding clues at this time, and she didn't find Sean's abnormal speed.

Soon, Rena stopped.

Followed by Sean, he quickly saw the incredible scene in front of him.

Even if he knew that Rena would definitely find clues this time, he did not expect that the so-called clues would be so frightening.

In front of Sean and Rena, it was like a rain of blood, and the sprayed blood dyed the surrounding green into a shocking red - the blood was sprayed and swept around. All of the ground, branches and leaves, and tree trunks were painted with a layer of scarlet, but the strange thing was that there was no trace of blood right in front of this scarlet.

It seems to cut a space in half, one half is scarlet and the other half is emerald green.

Judging from the situation of these blood stains, it is obvious that this has happened for some time, because the sprayed blood has condensed into a dry dark red. Judging by this amount of bleeding, who knew that the young mercenary named Jack could not be alive, because it almost shed all the blood in his body.

However, if this is the case, it is of course not a clue, at most it can only be killed at the scene.

The so-called clue refers to the row of mud prints left on the ground.

I don't know where this Jack traveled before and how he came here, but there is no doubt that he should have stepped on some kind of soft mud, so a black mud mark was left on the ground, and Is it dripping blood? Various signs indicate that this mercenary came here because of a certain attraction, and was later killed here, and the body was also occupied by the banshee, so this row of mud marks and blood stains were left behind.

Holding the spear tightly, Rina gritted her teeth and started to chase after her.

"Wait a minute." Seeing Rina's behavior, Sean subconsciously reached out and pulled it.

"Hoo——Hoo——"

A sharp breaking wind sounded, and from the corner of Sean's eyes, a crimson light and shadow shot towards him like a poisonous snake.

This is the attack that Rena swept away with a gun!

Sean's pupils suddenly shrank, and with a jump, he immediately flew back and retreated. He didn't dare to take this shot!

Like the spear tip of a crimson red snake, it can be struck across Sean's chest.

The sharp energy has torn Sean's clothes, a small scar appeared on Xiao En's chest, and a few drops of blood were pour out.

Then, the spear that swept past pointed slightly at the ground, and the sharp energy seemed to have finally found a catharsis, all of them gushing out, unexpectedly blasting the ground into a small hole.

"Are you going to stop me?!" Rina's eyes were red, she didn't know if she was crying or she was completely angry.

"Do you want to die?" Sean let out a sneer, but he hadn't drawn his sword yet.

Sean didn't want to go to war with Rina, because Rina's perverted strength and endurance were both forty. Once he really fought, he would never be able to keep his hands. Then he could only kill the killer. And if you kill Rina, he will be in trouble to solve the banshee, at least according to the current plot flow, Sean can be sure that the banshee in the game must have been killed by Rina.

Xiao En's gaze fell on Rena's spear, and it was vaguely visible that there was a weak air current surrounding the gun. This was a phenomenon that vindictiveness was about to condense.

Obviously, because of the anger at this time, Rina has already half-footed into the realm of the lower silver.

"What do you know!" Rina roared angrily, "Perhaps in the eyes of you cold-blooded Zenas, all the people in the world are just pawns, and even yourself and your relatives can be regarded as if necessary. The chess pieces on the chessboard. But to me, they are all my irreplaceable relatives! My relatives are dead, if I can't avenge them, then what is the value and meaning of living!"

Shaun's pupils shrank suddenly.

One-handed gun, Rena's momentum at this moment is really like Tonis's Valkyrie: "If you want to stop me, then I will kill you first!"

"Who said I don't understand?" Sean looked at Rina coldly, "Who told you that Zenas people are ruthless? If you weren't so fond of conjecture, how could your relative die? All this In the final analysis, it is not because of your own reasons!"

Rina glared, her hand gripping the spear harder, her knuckles turned white.

But Sean didn't seem to have any intention of closing his words: "I have relatives too! I also have a lot of people to take care of! Do you really think I'm just a person? Do you really think I've never been a mercenary? ...I can even tell you that I still have a lot of big troubles! I even saw a poor man who can only eat two meals a day, but he has to work hard to be worthy of those who follow him people!"

Being so mocked by Sean, the anger on Rena's face is even worse.

"Have you seen the subjugated princess? Have you seen the Lord of Fallen Souls? Have you seen the unhappy commander? The wife ran away with someone, and the father who had to work hard for his daughter? Have you seen it?...Don't think that you are the only one in the world! There are more unfortunate people than you!"

Finally, as Rina's mood swings became more intense, an unparalleled strong aura suddenly erupted, and the airflow surrounding the crimson spear in Rina's hand became much thicker. And because this aura exploded so abruptly and strongly, that the ground on which Rena was standing suddenly collapsed by an inch. This feeling was as if the ground was pressed harder, and the cobweb-like cracks instantly shattered. After coming out, the crushed stones had just splashed out of the crack, and they had been shaken into powder by the bitter aura of Rena's body.

And Rina's aura, at this time, she even kept climbing like never ending. And soon, the airflow surrounding Rina also began to turn into a crimson red color, especially the part of the spear tip. The unsteady vindictiveness finally solidified, and extended a small section, showing A delicate bright red.

Fiery like fire.

At this moment, Sean actually witnessed the birth of a sharpshooter!

And even more terrifying, Rina has just stepped into the lower silver realm, and this realm has begun to quickly stabilize.

Because of the fighting energy that had been constantly erupting from Rina, she was finally completely condensed back into her body. Being able to control the extension, emission, and fluctuation of the fighting energy in this way was enough to prove that Rina really mastered the know-how of fighting energy.

Only after seeing Rina's breath finally calmed down and the vindictive energy began to condense, Xiao En's heart suddenly sighed.

He glanced at his experience bar, which was 99% at level 9, and Weiwei felt a little regretful: just stick to it for another second.

Just now when Rina's aura became stronger, Sean found that his experience value was rising rapidly, and the stronger Rina's aura, the faster the experience value would rise, so Shaun would continue to speak up to stimulate Rui. Na. Of course, those words were not purely for excitement, part of it was for venting, after all, the burden on Sean's shoulders was too heavy.

But for now, Sean has discovered the fourth way to increase experience: resonance.

The current way of acquiring experience points should be considered the fastest of the four ways of acquiring experience points, and it has soared to nearly two levels in just a few seconds. But at present, it seems that this kind of vigorous resonance will only occur when the Bronze rank is promoted to the Silver rank, and only in this way can a large amount of experience points be obtained. After all, when Cecilia was promoted to the magician, Sean was also present, but there was no such situation.

Take a deep breath. Rina is also a person who can afford to let it go. She took the initiative to lower her posture: "Sorry, I was rude just now."

Seeing the other party lowered his posture, Sean would certainly not be indifferent, and the next actions must largely rely on the lower silver sharpshooter knight, so his voice became softer: "When this kind of thing happens, it's understandable to be angry for a while....I'm not preventing you from taking revenge, it's just that you're so angry just now, you will lose your rationality, so it's easy to happen. We should plan for this kind of thing. A more secure method is better."

"Furthermore, the banshee is a magical creature, and its appearance generally means that someone must shape it and condense it. Maybe there is a powerful magician. That talent is behind the scenes that really kills your loved ones. It's a black hand, so it's not a bad thing to prepare more."

"Yes." Rina nodded slightly.

At this time, Old Bruen finally rushed over, and was slightly taken aback when he saw Rena advance to the lower silver position, but after seeing the tragic surroundings, his eyes became gloomy, and then he said something that made people more attractive. The helpless fact: "Roko had a mental breakdown and suddenly committed suicide...The mercenary group only left us two."

Rina's eyes darkened, and her gun's hand gripped tighter.

And Xiao En, there was a sense of awe in his heart: Could it be that the doomed history, even if I distort the process, the result cannot be changed! ?

Chapter 193: A gathering place for heretics

Dabion Kingdom, there are several mountain ranges, one of which is very strong and very short on the map and spans three territories.

The Sethius collar is one of the territories that have been traversed.

What is the name of this mountain range? Sean can't remember clearly, but there is no need to remember it anyway. He only needs to know that the entrance to the copy of the pagan gathering place is near this mountain range. But in fact, there is no need for Sean to worry about this at all, because the corpse invaded by the banshee perfectly preserves all the clues—the bloodstain disappeared halfway through the road, Sean guessed. It was because the blood in the mercenary body was drained.

But the mud prints have been kept all the way, and several times they have obviously disappeared, but I don't know why they will be stained with new mud prints. It seems that someone is secretly helping.

In this regard, Sean does not express any opinions. The only thing he is thinking about now is whether he can change the original historical plot.

In the original miracle, any copy has a complete story chain. It may be an independent storyline, or it may be related to a certain territory or country's main task line and branch line. It may also involve the storyline of other dungeons, or it may be a story about a certain character or a group of characters, or even It may be a story about the background history of the entire world or a plot related to the missions of the world-class main and branch lines.

And the story of these copies is completely connected, and then written as a text story and posted on the forum, which is the favorite thing for the exquisite party.

[Gathering place of heretics] This copy is an independent story.

is said to be independent because there is no Chaintech connection in this story. At the beginning of this dungeon in the game, Rina's mercenary group was already dead, and she was left alone, and she finally asked the mercenary guild for help when she was desperate, so she could challenge this Tier 4 as long as she accepted the task. The dungeon, of course, if you interact with Rina, you can learn the story of this dungeon from Rina's mouth after completing a small task.

Sean first learned of such a copy after seeing the text story of the plot on the forum, and also knew the progress of the whole story.

Originally, Sean thought that after reminding Rina and them, they should be more cautious, but he did not expect that one of them would eventually die. If this is due to their negligence, then this is not unexplainable, after all, clues were obtained from here in the end according to the development of the story. But when Sean heard that another mercenary had killed himself because of a mental breakdown, his heart could no longer remain stable.

Because of the plot of the original story, it was Rina, Brun and another young mercenary who entered the cave together. No one knows how the story goes. The only thing that can be known is that Rina and others killed the banshee, but Bruen and the young mercenary died in the cave, and then Rina found the pagan in the cave. , So the story of the copy begins like this.

On the surface, this story seems to be nothing, but if you think about it in another way, Sean will have to feel a chill.

Rena, Bruen and young mercenaries.

Aren't the three just getting together now?

Shaun's accidental intervention and attempt to disrupt fate, but instead he was regarded as part of the story by fate, and he replaced the young mercenary who should have died in this copy! In other words, is it possible that he will die in this copy? Or in other words, this dungeon must die two people, and in the end only one of him and Rina can leave alive?

Shaun frowned.

Even with , the gaze looking at the cave became a little frightened.

No one is not afraid of death, especially when they know that they may die soon.

So Sean is no exception.

It's just fear and fear. When Rena took the gun and walked into the cave, Sean didn't hesitate at all.

He has not forgotten his original intention. If he wants to quickly gain a large amount of experience points, he can only continue to challenge the dungeons to strengthen his own strength. If you are really so afraid of death, then why run out to take risks? Isn't it the same to gain experience points by hiding in the territory and not going out, and then slowly developing the territory construction?

The cave is hidden behind a lush weed, you need to bow to enter.

When I first entered the cave, everything around it looked a little dark, but after walking forward for a while, fire began to shine.

This is a corridor with a width of two meters. The length cannot be judged because there is a corner about ten meters ahead. On both sides of the stone road excavated from the cave, a torch is inserted every some distance. The burning flame drives out the cold and darkness of the cave. This cave is not formed naturally, but was excavated by some special method. . It's just that the digging pattern of this cave is too crude, and Sean is really hard to judge who did it, but what is certain is that this is by no means the work of dwarves, goblins, and underground creatures.

Although the walkway of the cave is not narrow, it is really not conducive to Rina's long spear. So after entering the cave, Sean walked in front instead, and at this time he had also drawn his sword out. Since he knew that he might fall in this cave, of course, Xiao En dare not hold it up. So the moment he entered the cave, he had already activated the light body technique.

Go around the corner in front of him, and his vision suddenly becomes clear.

There is no longer a walkway in front of me, but a huge round hall.

This rotunda is a bit like a university classroom, showing a step-by-step downwards. However, the rotunda is actually not big, and can only accommodate about 20 or 30 people at most. And in the middle of the rotunda, there is a magic circle painted with red paint. Because of the familiarity of "Basic Knowledge of Magic", Sean can roughly see that this magic circle is a dedication. Summoning magic circle that is connected with hell.

The plane of hell, that is the land of the devil.

In general, sacrificial magic arrays are drawn. Living human blood is usually used as the drawing material, so you don't need to think about it to know what it is.

In this rotunda at this moment, only two pagans in black hoods and robes were talking about something. Because their backs were to Sean and others, they did not realize that there were three uninvited guests in the cave.

Brown, Sean, and Rena looked at each other, and then Bruen made a gesture.

This is a common gesture used by mercenary guilds, which means to approach an assassination. It is usually used when infiltrating missions. For this, neither Sean nor Rena objected. At the moment, this situation can only be dealt with in this way. It is impossible to run out and yell and fight each other. That is the way. madness.

So when Sean and Bruen started to approach carefully with their swords, Rina, who was holding the spear, did not move, but turned and looked at the entrance of the cave to prevent other infidels from entering at this time. As for the skill of Sean and Old Bruen, Rena has never doubted it. This is purely because of the trust in these two people-of course, in fact, Rena trusts the older Bruen more, after all, this old guy I have been a mercenary for quite a few years, and this basic method is impossible and impossible.

Sean and Brunn approached slowly and cautiously. They both paid attention to the footing point under their feet, fearing that any noise would be caused.

As he moved forward, Bruen glanced at Sean with some surprise, because he found that Sean's pace was fast and steady. It seemed that he didn't need to think at all. It was just a few steps forward, but he didn't. Any sound is made. Compared to his veteran mercenary who is more than half a hundred years old, he not only appears rich in experience, but also obviously better than himself in speed and efficiency.

As a result, Brunn naturally doubted who Sean was.

And just when Sean and Brunn were about a few meters away from the two heretics, the conversation between the two heretics seemed to have ended, so the two got up and stood up.

This caused the pupils of Bruen and Sean to shrink suddenly, because the rotunda is a step-down structure, so when the people sitting in the rotunda get up to leave, they must turn around and walk sideways. To leave the left and right positions. In this way, as long as the two people turn around, they will naturally see the two people, Shaun and Brun, who are gradually approaching. Rena.

While Bruen was still thinking about how to deal with it, Sean had already rushed forward.

Sean, who turned on the light body technique, was naturally faster than the average bronze level person. That's why when Bruen felt that Sean had acted, he saw that Sean had shot out like a whirlwind. The enchanted long sword had already penetrated the heart of the infidel on the left with a sword from behind, and then immediately drew the sword out; at this time, the infidel on the right was shocked and looked sideways at Sean in amazement, but he still Before he could speak, the long sword in Sean's hand was swung down extremely fast, and the sharp blade cut off the pagan's neck in just one shot, leaving only a layer of skin still stuck to it, so he could not die anymore. .

But even so, there was still a horrified scream in the rotunda!

Sean looked down, only to realize that under the two heretics, there was actually a naked woman. It's just that she seemed to be a little delirious before, but at this moment, she was inspired by Sean's fierce and vicious means, and finally recovered, but she also screamed out of panic.

This woman is not a heretic. It seems that she should be a citizen of Cyan Hummingbird Town. She just doesn't know why she was confused and fell into the hands of these heretics. Seeing her nakedness at the moment, she knows what she is. What kind of treatment was received. The long sword that had been slashed down by the hand stopped abruptly on the woman's head, but the sharp air that fell with the sword slightly pierced the woman's forehead and shed blood.

As a result, the woman's screams became louder.

Chapter 194: .Rotunda Battle

The screams are unusually harsh.

Sean also understood at this time that the two people stood up and didn't want to leave at all, but just wanted to play with the confused woman in a different way. It was only then that he realized that his shot just now seemed responsive, but in fact he had lost his sense of measure. If he wasn't in a hurry to take the shot, how could he not see the naked woman who was naked.

Just before Sean could speak to quiet the woman, his face changed drastically. The whole person leaped back, kicked his feet, and departed in the opposite direction faster with a sudden stab speed.

"Boom!"

There was a loud bang, and the scream stopped abruptly.

The body of a heretic who was beheaded by Sean suddenly blasted and exploded, and countless flesh and blood were scattered everywhere. Incidentally, the corpse of that woman and another infidel was also blown up. A shallow pit was left in the rotunda, and scary red blood was spilled everywhere.

Brown was a little lost. The old head was afraid that he had never seen such a fierce battle in most of his life.

And Rina, who heard the sound, was already carrying a spear, jumping from the doorway, stepping on the rock of the third step and collapsed, only parallel to the second step.

This is the terrible thing about vindictiveness.

Don't even think about it, Sean also knows who the human flesh bomb came from.

He had seen the guide on the forum at the beginning. Although this copy of the gathering place of heretics is a Tier 4 copy, there is only one real boss in this copy. The other two monsters that are nominally bosses can only be regarded as monsters. It's just an elite monster, not even the identity of a little boss. However, according to the development of the plot, these two elite monsters probably have not been produced yet, so what Sean and others need to face are probably a banshee and a heathen necromancer who likes to play human flesh bombs. , And maybe there will be ten or twenty heretics.

But these people are not afraid at all.

Sean lightly allocated the experience points gained after killing two heretics, and suddenly raised his level to tenth, gaining two proficiency points again.

So the proficiency points that Sean has accumulated are as many as eleven.

Only this proficiency has just been acquired, and Sean did not hesitate to assign all four of them to adrenal stimulation, and directly raise the adrenal stimulation skill to full level, so that the side effects of adrenal stimulation will completely disappear.

[Adrenal Gland Stimulation: By forcibly stimulating the adrenal glands to make oneself in a state of excitement, the reaction ability is fully improved by 100%, the duration is 3 minutes, the cooling time is one hour, auxiliary second-order normal, level 33.]

Immediately divided into two points to Arcane Swordsmanship, and also raised Arcane Swordsmanship to Level 3. It's just that the upgraded Arcane Swordsmanship didn't gain any new abilities this time, just a little more power and agility.

【Mystery Swordsmanship: When using any sword weapon, strength +4 and agility +4. Swordsmanship special sword, level 310, proficiency 15. Activate the special skill "Wind Pressure": The damage judgment range is increased by up to one meter. 】

In an instant, Sean had once again strengthened his combat effectiveness.

The slight change in momentum was probably only felt by Rena, so she did cast a look at Sean. But it was just a cursory glance and didn't care. Whether it was the pinnacle of the lower bronze or the upper bronze, they were all in the bronze realm. There was still a gap between her and her who had already stepped into silver. , So it's normal not to care much about the Bronze Realm.

It's just that Rena doesn't know that bugs like Sean are absolutely impossible to reason with common sense. Moreover, the mere lower-level silver can't really turn the sky, a hundred-man, well-trained, three-level army can kill a lower-level silver-this is what Shaun has given to all in Tonys Fortress Everyone has a lesson.

"Live and die!"

Along with a cold snort, there was a gloomy wind in the rotunda.

Sean frowned: "Come on!"

A woman with a beautiful face suddenly walked out of the cave at the bottom of the rotunda. As the woman walked out of it, the temperature in the entire rotunda quickly dropped, and a chilly chill came out, Bruen's body had even begun to tremble, even Rina frowned slightly. Come, let alone Sean. Although he has higher physique and endurance than Old Brun, in fact, under the freezing cold, he still feels a little bit frozen in his hands and feet.

There is no doubt that the woman in front of her in almost sheer tulle pajamas is a banshee.

The so-called banshee, mostly after the extremely beautiful woman was brutally murdered, because the heart is unwilling, so the soul is condensed and not scattered, and then it is formed by the evil wizard in a special magic ritual. Therefore, if only in terms of appearance, Sean feels that the appearance and figure of the woman in front of him is only slightly inferior to Elizabeth. It is probably because he is so confident in his body and beauty, that it is even more difficult to believe that he will be affected. Cruelly killed.

The air-conditioning in the round hall suddenly condensed, and everyone seemed to be in the ice, and even their breathing was not smooth.

This time, Rina is not as simple as frowning, exhaling and screaming, the anger on her body surges out, dyeing her a reddish color.

Generally speaking, the grudge formed by the [physical] masters who are new to silver are all transparent and non-attribute. Only after entering the high-ranking silver, due to many relationships such as one's own personality, occupation, beliefs, and natural elemental affinity, will it begin to form a quarrel with attributes, and once the quarrel has attributes, the advanced range of the seventh-tier profession will also This will result in a selective range, like the fire attribute vindictiveness, it is absolutely impossible to become a profession with water attribute vindictiveness restrictions.

And Rina didn't know why, when the fighting Qi formed in the body, it was already a fighting Qi of fire attribute.

Fire-attribute vindictive, heavy-killing, is particularly obvious in combat, and it can even cultivate fire-attribute vindictive with bursting effects.

At this moment, as soon as Rina's body of fire attribute quarrel was exuded, the severe cold within three feet of the surrounding area completely disappeared, but a large amount of white smoke came out of thin air in the air, which really seemed to be ignited in a piece of ice. Like fire. Old Bruen leaned in the direction of Rena, and slightly dispelled the chill that almost froze him; and Sean's movements seemed extremely crisp. With a wave of the long sword in his right hand, the sword suddenly became "fluffy". "The sound of a burst of flames.

This is a real magical flame. Simply speaking of temperature, it is naturally several times higher than Rena's fire attribute vindictiveness.

Not to mention the ice-like chill, or being in the ice cave, it won't make Sean feel the slightest coldness anymore.

Probably because I felt that my method was ineffective, this beautiful-faced banshee suddenly let out a mournful howl. Sean and Rena only felt nauseous, but Old Brune just took a few steps backwards, already a little dizzy, and The chill in the air suddenly turned into a dark black wind whistling and spinning in the rotunda. In the eyes of everyone, the beautiful demon's face began to twist and become hideous and terrifying, his blond hair turned into vicissitudes of white hair, her skin began to dry, and countless wrinkles appeared, and the black wind began to rotate frantically around the female demon, and then ranged Began to shrink gradually.

It looked like an onion that was being peeled, shrinking circle after circle, but the black yin wind disappeared into the body of the banshee. When all the black yin winds disappeared completely, the banshee who was wearing plain white tulle pajamas had changed into a black dress, and her figure seemed to have shrunk several inches, becoming a creature no more than one meter tall, and her feet disappeared. Floating alone in the air.

This is the true form of the banshee!

The banshee itself has the strength equivalent to the upper bronze, but because of its own special abilities, basically with the help of a priest who has not learned soul expulsion and soul hammer, only the magician or master the power of fighting energy Only the silver warriors can deal with it.

At this moment, the banshee suspended in mid-air, after letting out another screaming howl, suddenly swooped towards Shaun, who was standing alone.

The Howl of the Banshee is a ninth-level undead spell. It belongs to life magic and can only be mastered by high-ranking golden powerhouses. And the howl from the banshee itself, the blueprint of this spell, is much weaker. Only those who are not determined enough will be torn apart their souls by this magic at very close distances, and if they are pulled apart For a considerable distance, at most, it is just a feeling of nausea or dizziness.

Under the influence of this Banshee's Howl, Sean himself did not lose his combat effectiveness, although it did make him feel a little sick. But if Sean is the weakest persimmon that can be kneaded only by the strength that Sean has shown, then Sean will definitely surprise everyone-the magic of Entangling Flame is not for nice.

So when she saw that this banshee actually chose to take herself as a target, Xiao En sneered, then raised his hand and waved his sword out.

I saw a line of fire burst out of the burning sword, shooting like a chain at the swooping banshee. No matter from which aspect, it looked like a fire-attribute vindictive that broke through the air, but in terms of temperature, it was a bit higher than vindictiveness.

This move is naturally a special skill of arcane swordsmanship.

Wind pressure!

Moreover, the attack effect of Entangling Flame is added!

Seeing this attack method of Sean, Rina's eyes were shocked. She didn't know what wind pressure was, but she only felt that this attack method was very vindictive, so she regarded Sean as the hidden one. Real master.

As a mercenary, although this is the first time she fought with Sean, she also knew the preciousness of the fighter. Seeing that Sean's attack had already risen, the line of fire shot through the banshee's shoulder, Rina also Without the slightest hesitation, the grudge exploded suddenly, and the whole facility swept behind the banshee with such a rapid speed. The scarlet spear was raised, and his left hand was against the end of the spear, and with a push, the fire-attribute vindictiveness had already stretched out from the tip of the spear, and it suddenly pierced towards the back of the banshee like a serpent.

If this shot pierced the banshee's core, it could completely kill the banshee with one blow.

It's just that Rena's shot that is bound to win actually stabbed in the air!

This banshee disappeared between Sean and Rena!

Chapter 195: .If you don't kill him, you have to die

A shot in the air.

As a result, this shot pierced Sean's throat!

Rina suddenly stepped on her right foot, stamping a footprint on the hard rocky ground of the cave, and she was able to withstand the castration of the shot. And Xiao En is also retracting the sword, if the sword continues to stab out, it will only stab Rina.

The two did not expect that this banshee would suddenly disappear at this moment!

was originally a lore, but it almost hurt himself by accident.

Sean and Rena turned their heads one after another, but they saw that the banshee appeared in front of Old Brun, and her right hand had pierced Brun's heart! The scene when the two turned their heads happened to see all the blood in Old Brunn's body gushing from the acupuncture points on his back. It was just a momentary effort that the blood in Old Brunn's body had been completely emptied. The skin of the whole person became extremely pale.

Old Brun's eyes were dead, and the look on his face could not tell whether it was surprise or fear. His mouth opened slightly, as if he wanted to say something, but he couldn't say anything. All his voice seemed to be completely deprived at this moment, and even the tragic spurt of blood was silent.

Shaun finally knew why when the mercenaries disappeared, there was no sound at all.

All the voices have been deprived of by the banshee!

"Brown!" Rina let out a sorrowful cry, her expression sad.

In the next second, I saw that the body of the banshee suddenly became extremely light, and then it merged into Bruen's body. At this time, Brunn, not only the blood was lighted up, but even the water began to be drained. The whole person's skin wrinkled and shrank at a speed visible to the naked eye, and the body was constantly bursting like beans. The sound of the sound, but it is not getting more and more straight, but more like being compressed.

The old Bruen, who was originally 1.7 meters tall, has shrunk to a height of only about 1.5 meters, and it seems that he is not much taller than a dwarf. Moreover, the appearance of the whole person has become abnormally old, and it looks more like a ghoul crawling out of the grave, but if you look down on the current appearance of Bruen because of this, it will definitely make any Everyone suffers a big loss.

[Name: Bruen (Female Demonization)]

【Race: Undead】

【Personal attributes-strength: 30; endurance: 5; agility: 40; wisdom: 20; will: 40】

In the intelligence displayed by Sean's True Eyes, all of Bruen's data has changed. Not only has the combat class been cancelled, but even some other data is gone. The only thing that is revealed is Personal attributes after being invaded and controlled by the Banshee Mind. Of course, this attribute has also been greatly changed. Both agility and will reach the full 40 points. Although the endurance has been reduced to a terrible situation, if it can't be hit, it is meaningless.

Almost as soon as he gained control of Bruen's body, the banshee had already controlled Bruen in a leap and struck towards both Sean and Rena.

Undead Bruen has five fingers together, just like a sharp sword.

This straight-line attack is almost indistinguishable from suicide. As long as Rina's spear stabs forward, with a long weapon's attack distance, Bruen, the undead, can't even get close to Shaun and Rina. But at this time, Rina's body trembled slightly. She was holding the spear tightly, and she really wanted to stab the spear, but I don't know why, but she couldn't raise the spear, let alone face it. Bruen, the undead, stabbed out.

Seeing that the situation is critical, Sean stretched out his hand and pushed Rena. Because of too much force, Rena even made a circle on the ground, only to be able to avoid the blow of the undead Bruen.

"Jie Jie Jie!" The hoarse and harsh voice sounded in the hall again, "I can't do it anymore! You humans are so stupid and fragile!"

Almost at the same time as the voice fell, at the hole where the banshee had just walked out, several heretics in black robes and hoods ran out. This time, these pagans had a few different weapons in their hands. It was obvious that there were professional differences, but Sean glanced hurriedly and found that these pagans did not hold weapons such as wands. He knew that the Necromancer was not among these people.

Shaun pulled Rena up, and saw her still looking startled, and couldn't help but finally shouted: "Go and deal with those heretics, Bruen, I will solve it!"

"But..." Rena seemed to think about what Sean wanted to do, but she was a little bit reluctant.

"If we don't kill him, we will have to die!" Sean said coldly.

He probably understands what this historical process is all about, and presumably the same is true of the historical plot in the game. It's just that at that time, the banshee's mind invaded another young mercenary who was frightened and stupid. At that time, Rina had not yet stepped into the silver rank, so the final result should be Bruen and the banshee's mind invaded. All of the young mercenaries died together, so I didn't see anything about the banshee in the story of that dungeon.

But this time, at the same location and the same story development, only the role of the acting has changed a little.

Shaun did appear here in place of the young mercenary, but it didn't mean that he would choose to die with Bruen. Maybe Rina can't make a move, but Sean will never make it, and not only can he face Bruen without psychological pressure, he even has the ability to completely kill him!

Perhaps seeing Sean's determination, Rina seemed to want to say something, but in the end she just sighed: "Can you leave the whole body?"

Shaun did not reply.

The only way to kill someone controlled by the banshee's spiritual invasion is to decapitate and pierce the heart!

Rina didn't say anything, she gritted her teeth and rushed towards the infidels with a thunderous force.

Rina, full of grief and anger, is now a real tyrannosaurus. For those infidels whose strength is only the lower-ranked bronze, Sean doesn't need to think about the fate of these people in the face of a lower-ranked silver who is in a rage. And at this moment, there is only one enemy he needs to deal with—because Bruen, the undead spirit controlled by the banshee's spiritual invasion, has reached the pinnacle of upper bronze in strength, but what about?

The long sword burning with flames swung out, blocking the undead Bruen's intention to sneak attack on Rena. Bruen, the undead controlled by the banshee, was blocked by Sean with a sword, turned over and jumped back to the ground, landed on both hands and feet, and roared at Sean with a grin, looking more like a beast.

"Stupid..." The harsh voice sounded again.

However, with the sound of this sound, Sean has directly turned on the adrenal stimulation, which has completely increased the speed to the maximum. In this extreme speed situation, only the upper silver can capture Sean's movement trajectory. However, Bruen, the undead, is obviously not the kind of strong person who can completely capture Sean's movements. Therefore, before the voice of the words is finished, the long sword in the hand of Sean directly cuts the Bruen from the undead. En's right hand.

".....Humanity....."

When the word human was finished, the undead Bruen's right foot had also been completely cut off by Sean.

In an instant, Bruen, the undead, fell to the ground, leaving only his left hand and left foot, it has completely lost its sense of balance.

"Do not!"

seemed to finally realize something, the sharp and hoarse voice suddenly became sharp and sharp.

But Sean did not give the opponent any chance to react. The flames on the long sword suddenly soared out. I saw Sean suddenly swing the long sword and directly cut off the head of the undead Brunn. After being hit hard by this, a shadow that was supposed to break away from Bruen, the undead, immediately became distorted and struggling, and the figure that gradually revealed itself even flickered occasionally, appearing extremely painful.

However, Sean didn't even have any thoughts of keeping his hand at all. This sword had just cut the head of the undead Brunn, and the long sword in his hand was rotated in the next second, it immediately consumed the undead Brun's heart and inserted it.

In an instant, countless black mists erupted from the heart of the undead Brunn, and a scream of screams echoed in the rotunda.

But this time, no one felt dizzy and nauseated, and there was no fear that could tear people's souls apart.

Yes, it's just a crying and screaming like a woman's sorrow and helplessness.

Shaun pulled out the Charles Sabre. The flame on the sword has been extinguished, but it is not difficult to summon it again, but the current battle is no longer necessary. Facing a few low-ranking pagans with bronze strength, it is not a big problem for Sean, who has turned on the light body technique and adrenal stimulation. When he killed the banshee at lightning speed, Rina in the front only relied on anger and the strength to completely suppress the opponent to kill two people.

And when Sean also joined this battle, these heretics have no resistance.

In terms of speed, they are not as good as Sean.

In terms of strength, but not as good as Rena.

With Rena as the frontal attacker, Xiao En assisted, and the two people cooperated with each other gradually from the initial jerky to become a tacit understanding, and the killing efficiency became apparent immediately. However, this is also due to the real world. If it were in the game, it would never be possible to deal with these heretics so easily with the cooperation of Sean and Rena alone.

On the Marvel Continent, there are only two types of so-called pagans: worshiping demons and worshipping demons.

Although other gods may be at odds with each other, and there may even be wars of gods, this is not a strange thing at all on the land of miracles where there are many religious beliefs. Even the races of the dungeons, humans just treat them as aliens, but never call them pagans, because the races of the dungeons are basically gods who believe in the miracle continent.

Only those who admire demons and demons can be called heretics.

And this cave is undoubtedly a hidden place set up to summon a certain demon they believe in to this material world. It's just a pity that their revolutionary cause may not succeed.

Sean's long sword swept away, and a few drops of blood stained on the sword were swept off, and Rina stared at the hole in front of him.

There is an unusually strong breath of death, which is constantly spreading out.

just like the essence.

Chapter 196: .Necromancer

At the entrance of the cave, black death surging.

Expanded, contracted, condensed, collapsed, but suddenly spewed out the next moment, and then began to repeat the previous steps. In this process of cohesion and evolution, although the amount of these dead auras will gradually decrease, the surging darkness has become more lustrous. Finally, when these dead auras spread from the entrance of the cave, It was already fluid like a liquid.

Silver!

Sean's pupils shrank sharply. He remembered that he had written the strategy of the pagan leader on the forum. At that time, it was only a high-ranking bronze, and according to estimates, it did not seem to have reached the peak of the high-ranking bronze. But why is it actually silver now?

Then it seemed to think of something, and Sean's gaze turned to Rina, who was standing next to him.

Is it because of her?

The black death breath finally erupted from the entrance of the cave, and the situation was like an oil blowout.

Sean didn't dare to be touched by these dead breaths.

The Necromancer has a talent ability, Death Surge. This ability can accelerate the mana recovery of the Necromancer, and as long as it is not fatal, the injury will automatically heal slowly.

At Tier 4, this ability can be strengthened once, and the magic recovery speed will not be improved, but the recovery ability of the injury will be greatly strengthened, even if it is a broken limb.

And once the necromancer enters the silver realm, this talent ability will become a swamp of death. The ability is the same as that of Tier 4, but there will be several more random damage effects. Although these damage effects only work one at a time, there is a special damage effect in it for death erosion. Once touched by this effect, a seventy-two hour countdown will appear. If the priest cannot be found to purify and expel death before the countdown ends, it will become an undead creature.

In the original game, this skill is impossible for players to learn. It is a disguised way for game companies to make money.

Now that the world is real, Sean can consider finding a priest who has mastered this skill. Anyway, his territory cannot be without a temple, and his army cannot be without a chaplain. But now, it is absolutely impossible for Sean to try his character. The nearest place to this cave is the small town of Cyan Hummingbird, but there is no temple at all in this small town. Where is the priest?

If you accidentally hit this special effect, then it's basically the same as waiting to die.

So after Xiao En jumped back, he immediately grabbed Rena who wanted to rush up and quickly retreated. If you look at the plot of the story, they should choose to retreat at this time, and then tell the matter to the mercenary union, and the mercenary union will solve it. It's just that Rina looks like you don't want to follow this plot routine. Development, I am afraid that the two sides are already in a truly endless situation.

After death spread over half of the round hall, a man wearing a black magic robe finally walked out of the hole.

The robe on his body is similar to the black robes of the heathens, except that there is no hood and some complicated patterns are added. Unlike Cecilia, the magician holds a pure white staff in his right hand. The shape of this staff is very unique, it looks like a leg bone, but this The bones are indeed a bit thicker, but the fluctuations of magic power emanating from them are by no means comparable to those of ordinary wands.

Any equipment is evaluated according to the same set of rules, and this means that even the wizard's wands and wands are also evaluated according to the casting level, magic level, legendary level, and artifact level.

Although I don't know which level this leg bone-like magic wand belongs to, it is definitely not a casting level.

This necromancer is not as gloomy and thin as Sean imagined. On the contrary, he is very handsome, with short curly red hair, and his facial features are also very strong, slender and tall, if not for him now. And the swamp of death-gas that came out like a fluid, no one would regard this man as a necromancer after seeing this man.

However, when the man spoke, the hoarse and sharp voice like a broken gong completely destroyed his handsome temperament.

"You shouldn't kill my Juliet!" The man looked angry, and as his emotions fluctuated sharply, the dead swamp that spread throughout the rotunda began to boil like boiling water. , One by one, black bubbles kept popping up and bursting, and then exuded a stench, "You shouldn't kill her!"

When speaking of the last sentence, the necromancer had already uttered a roar, and then the wand in his hand pointed forward. Several clouds of black mist suddenly appeared in the air, and then condensed into a long arrow without tail feathers. Shawn and Rena shot away in succession.

These black arrows are the most common corrosive arrows in undead magic. Their lethality and penetrating power are not even as good as Cecilia's Flame Arrow. Plate armor like half-length armor can easily block these. Arrow. However, this black magic arrow has one of the biggest characteristics, that is, it can be corroded. As long as it is shot by this corrosive arrow, any protective equipment will be completely burned through. Although it is not fatal, it is more dangerous. .

The average magician, at most, can shoot two or three arrows of corrosion at the same time. Few people can do it like this necromancer. There are dozens of arrows of corruption at one time—not without necromancers. Can do this, but those who can actually activate so many single magics at the same time, they will not waste these magic powers at all, wouldn't it be more useful to convert these magic powers into a stronger magic?

Rina seems to have no experience in fighting with wizards. She only wields a spear and wants to stab and drop these corrosive arrows with a leap.

Uncertainly, Xiao En grabbed her heels and shook her back. Rena let out an exclamation, and her figure hurriedly turned sideways in mid-air. At the same time, she poured her vindictive spear into the ground and used it as a support. I saw Rina holding the end of the long spear tightly in her right hand, and then taking the long spear as the origin, the whole person turned around the long spear and then pulled the spear with force. The whole person flew out and stepped on the wall of the rotunda. , Cracked the stone wall at the earthquake location, and then jumped back to the ground.

At this time, Sean also jumped to Rina's side.

"What are you doing!" Rina looked at Sean with an angry face. If she hadn't known that Sean would never be malicious to herself, she would have shot it out.

At this time, dozens of arrows of corrosion also fell to the ground because they lost their target. There was a sizzling sound of burning, and a large amount of white smoke continued to emerge from the ground. However, in the blink of an eye, any place where the Arrow of Corrosion fell has been melted into a shallow pit, and it seems that this situation seems to have the meaning of continuing to melt.

Xiao En's brows frowned slightly, he did not expect that the Necromancer would actually strengthen the Corruption Arrow magic to this degree. This is obviously the power of the Arrow of Corrosion at Level 5, let alone being shot from the front, even if it is slightly rubbed down, most of the area will be ablated by the Arrow of Corrosion.

Sean stared at the necromancer, and then said in a deep voice: "When fighting a wizard, don't try to use brute force to destroy the magic they cast. This is no different from looking for death. Especially if the target is still one. When you are a Necromancer, you need to pay more attention to this, and you must also remember not to be touched by the black water under his feet, and not to approach any corpses."

Death Swamp, for the Necromancer, is almost the same as the curse seal to the curse swordsman, it is the core of the core. Basically, as long as the Dead Qi Swamp opens, no one will dare to break in and kill the Necromancer at this time. Not to mention the most terrifying life intrusion, which is weakness, curse, slowness, corpse poison, and stiffness. Wait for a lot of negative states, any one of them is an absolute weakening of combat effectiveness, not to mention that there are so many corpses next to this necromancer.

The corpse explodes, in this world, you die when you explode.

However, the terrifying ability of Dead Qi Swamp is naturally impossible to open unlimitedly. It is different from the curse seal of the curse seal swordsman. Every second of the maintenance of the Dead Qi Swamp requires a lot of mana from the Necromancer, which is directly deducted in the game according to a percentage. The Necromancer who piles mana can only last for five minutes at most, but there is no way to pile it in this world. The magic power props are just the consumption of the death swamp, but I don't know whether it is still based on the percentage of magic power.

But Sean is boldly estimated that the Necromancer can only maintain a dead-gas swamp for about thirty seconds at most. And from just now to the present, the Dead Qi Swamp has been maintained for at least ten seconds, and at most there is only about eighteen seconds left.

After feeling Sean's gaze, the necromancer frowned suddenly, and the wand in his hand suddenly knocked to the ground, and a wave like a drum spread out. In an instant, I saw the surrounding dead swamp immediately surging up, and then constantly retracted towards the necromancer's feet, and saw no other move by the necromancer, but it almost filled the bottom of the rotunda. However, all the death energy in the range of layers disappeared completely.

This time, it was Sean's turn to frown, because he had discovered that the Necromancer was obviously not the kind of fool who didn't know anything, but a truly intelligent, rich combat experience, and combat consciousness. Difficult to entangle opponents.

"It seems that you are very familiar with everything about the Necromancer." The Necromancer with short red curly hair said in a cold voice. If it weren't for his voice is too hoarse and unpleasant, with his current cold temperament, he can really be regarded as a handsome man. Upright man.

Since there is no way to solve the opponent easily, Sean is no longer so anxious. Instead, he squinted his eyes and began to look at his opponent carefully, and said in a deep voice: "I am familiar with much more than you think. ."

Chapter 197: . Romeo, don't be too bad

The Necromancer did not move, and Sean did not move.

Rina wanted to rush forward, but seeing the atmosphere so depressed and low, she didn't rush to attack for a while. She is not lacking in combat experience and combat awareness, but she has indeed never played against a magician. Because of the limited strength of the mercenary group, she seldom comes into contact with high-level battles. Most of the time, she is in charge of finding kittens. Businesses such as dogs rarely have the opportunity to compete with robbers and bandits.

The Necromancer glanced at Sean, and suddenly said, "Want to hear a story?"

"I don't want to." Sean refused without thinking about it.

The Necromancer was taken aback for a moment, and then he let out the hoarse laughter peculiar to the Necromancer: "I am a nobleman."

Xiao En let out a chuckle: I am still a lord, what's so great about the mages and nobles?

On the Marvel Continent, nobles may not necessarily be wizards, but every wizard must have a noble status. Although this title is only for life, if the mage has the heart to develop into the aristocratic circle, it is not impossible to climb up again, or even get a territory, but this situation is relatively rare, because most wizards prefer to use Putting time and energy into the exploration of magic, he is unwilling to get a territory.

"Have you heard of the city of Eteor?" The Necromancer continued to say to himself.

Shaun curled his lips, noncommittal.

Rina on the side of is already feeling a little confused, how can the battle become such a situation?

She has never heard of this kind of nonchalant small talk between the two sides when she is fighting, which is completely different from her life all the time, and Rina feels incredible. But before Sean and the Necromancer did nothing, she knew that the smartest thing she could do was to choose to stay aside, at least this time she didn't want to be the first person to be locked in by the opponent in this battle.

"There, I like a girl, she is really very beautiful." The necromancer doesn't care if Sean and Rena are listening to him. He seems to just want to tell a story that belongs to him. "I have never seen such a beautiful girl..."

"Juliet?" Sean raised his brows, and he suddenly remembered that the necromancer seemed to have called the banshee's name before, "Don't tell me your name is Romeo."

"I am indeed Romeo." The necromancer nodded and admitted.

Sean suddenly scolded the text plot of "Miracle", but then he felt contempt for the sophisticated party in the game at the time, and he didn't unearth the story plot of this copy. If he had known that the last boss of this dungeon was Romeo, he would definitely not go to the mercenary group, but would directly come here to find Romeo, because Eteor, a city called "dispute" in the old saying, has One clue is to have something to do with this Romeo.

At the beginning, this clue made a great sensation in the forum, because it is said to be related to an epic wand, so the magicians in the game were once in a state of madness, just to get this. Pieces of epic equipment. However, this matter is still in the end, because it is said that no one can find the source of this clue, and there is no source, how can they follow the vine?

Until this moment, Xiao En understood that the source of this clue was in this copy. No wonder he was very curious in the game at the beginning, why is there such a completely independent copy of Darbion Kingdom that has nothing to do with other things and tasks? Fortunately, he had always thought that Rena was the protagonist in the story of this dungeon. Unexpectedly, the real protagonist was not Rena, but the necromancer Romeo in front of him.

Sean's gaze, then at the magic wand in Romeo's hand, there is no doubt that this is an epic equipment.

"You know my name is Romeo, so you should know my story?" Romeo's eyes showed a gleam, his body swelled a bit.

"Probably know some." Sean did not deny, "For Juliet, you finally died..."

Speaking of the back, Sean frowned slightly, and suddenly realized that he seemed to be in a misunderstanding.

Because if you look at the plot of the city of Eteor, Romeo and Juliet should have died long ago, but why did Romeo appear here? And if Juliet is a banshee, then according to the circumstances of the birth of the banshee, Juliet should have been brutally killed, all of which are completely different from the clues of Eteor City.

"Huh, the dirty guy in El Otto." Romeo sneered when he heard Sean's words, his expression full of disdain, "I like Juliet, and I am married to her too. But because of one. The nobles liked her, and Juliet's father actually pushed his daughter into the fire pit by himself. What happened? Juliet was thrown into the wild!...Can the nobles cover the sky with one hand and run wild?"

Sean did not speak, but his face was a little serious, because as Romeo's mood fluctuated, the temperature in the entire rotunda was dropping. This was obviously a very abnormal phenomenon, as if something was getting in touch with each other. Romeo resonates the same.

"Juliet will never look down!" Romeo's voice became louder, "I want to resurrect Juliet, I swear to all the gods, as long as they can resurrect Juliet, I will always serve him and become a devout fanatic. But... ..No * responded to my request, so in despair, I chose to die. But what I didn't expect was that when I opened my eyes again, I had become a necromancer.... There was a devil who took pity on me. , Made a deal with me."

Sean felt a sudden chill.

The devil values credibility, but once they have a business relationship with them, the situation will be a million times more complicated. Heretics are heretics because their ideas and beliefs are completely incompatible with everything in this world, and it can even be said that they are completely contrary to order. For the demons and demons, chaos, destruction and destruction are theirs. The main tone of the world.

"I will open up his faith in this world, and my soul after death will belong to him." Romeo suddenly grinned, "In exchange, he will resurrect Juliet.... But now, you will Juliet killed..."

Sean shuddered suddenly, and shouted in a deep voice, "Get out of here!"

"It's late!" Romeo let out a louder growl.

I saw a black gust of wind suddenly whizzing up in the hall, and then the air in the entire rotunda seemed to become viscous, and countless black liquids suddenly gushed out of the aisle behind Xiao En and Rina. The entire aisle was completely blocked. Judging from the rich death aura continuously emanating from above, it is obvious that these black liquids are likely to be the same substance as the death swamp that Romeo just exudes. As a result, Sean, who had been retreating in a hurry, of course had to stop. Come, how dare you bump your head.

"Juliet's body, I am ready, but why..." Romeo has completely fallen into a frantic situation, "Why are you here to destroy! I was almost able to step into the realm of God!"

"Absurd!" Sean snorted coldly, obviously not believing Romeo's words at all.

At the beginning, although there was a heaven-defying skill such as resurrection in the game, this skill is only effective for players. It is obviously a skill specially added for players. It is impossible for npc to learn. Moreover, even if it is a resurrection technique, there are many restrictions for the player. In many cases, it is impossible to use the resurrection technique at all, so how can a person like Romeo know the resurrection technique.

This, Sean would never believe it.

The so-called resurrection methods of the devil are nothing more than just a few types. If Romeo really made it, it would be just an undead creature. Most are high-level undead with self-will and thinking, but their soul will never be Juliet.

It's just that, how many necromancers in this world can create a high-level undead with self-will and thinking?

Even a Lich, he doesn't necessarily have such a handwriting!

Romeo, don't be too bad!

It's just that this battle is now a dead end, and there is absolutely no room for negotiation.

Because of Juliet, he was personally killed by Sean. This Necromancer, whose rage broke out completely, would let Sean have any way to survive. As for Rina, the person who really felt that he had a relationship with Romeo, had been completely ignored by Romeo at this moment. In the eyes of the necromancer, it was the business to kill Shaun completely.

Only with the strength of the silver in his mere inferior rank, he is also a mage, wanting to kill Sean, how easy is it to say?

Of course, there is no way to outsmart the battle, so it can only be broken with brute force.

As soon as his figure stopped abruptly, Sean turned and turned back towards Romeo. Although the speed was not so terrible because of the loss of adrenal stimulation, it was definitely not comparable to a mage.

It was almost a breathing effort, and Sean slammed in front of Romeo. With a wave of the Charles Sabre in his hand, the wind burst out of the sword.

But Romeo didn't evade, letting this sword aura that resembled a vindictive shot through his shoulder blades. However, after this sword energy penetrated his body, Romeo suddenly knocked on the bone stick, and the swamp of death energy suddenly rushed out of him. The momentum was like a tsunami. Of course, Sean did not dare to be hard. Then, Yijian immediately retreated without meritorious service. He didn't believe Romeo could maintain the death swamp for so long.

but didn't want to, the death swamp like a tsunami suddenly slammed the ground, and when a crack was shaken, a corpse was thrown towards Sean without knowing what means Romeo used.

The corpse hasn't landed yet, it is already like a bomb, roaring!

Chapter 198: .Cooperate

Corpse explosion!

As one of the most obvious signature spells in undead magic, the scary part of the corpse explosion is not only the shock wave damage of the explosion, but also the mutated corpse poison and corrosion after being corroded by the dead energy. There is no need to say more about the effect of corrosion, and the toxicity of the corpse poison is definitely the number one existence in the chronic poison-unlike the crazy blood loss of the potent toxin, and even the so-called "seeing the blood to seal the throat", the chronic poison was in the beginning. The in the game are based on attribute decline as a feature.

The corpse poison will reduce all attributes except wisdom, and each cycle time will be reduced a little. Even if the poison of the corpse poison is expelled, the reduced attributes will not be restored immediately, but will also be restored in each cycle. Slowly recover a little in the cycle time. It is precisely because of this feature setting that corpse poison has become the number one terrorist existence in chronic poison.

There was a roar.

Meat, broken limbs, and blood, like a goddess scattered flowers, scattered in mid-air in a mess.

There was a strange little noise, which was not very loud in the explosion.

But it was very ear-piercing.

It was the faint noise of broken glass.

The airflow surrounding Xiao En's body, after blocking the filth, seemed to finally be unable to withstand the continuous shock waves, and finally dissipated completely.

One of the rings worn on Sean's hand, the originally bright gray gemstone became dimmed, and it felt as if all the energy stored in it had been squandered.

On the ground, the death swamp finally rolled in, but Sean had already stepped back at this time and jumped out of the death swamp. If it weren't for this swamp of death, the necromancer named Romeo would have been overthrown by Sean, how could it be his turn to show off here-the magician's combat power is certainly terrifying, but they The defensive ability is also extremely weak. Unless there are some special defensive methods, a pure [spellcasting] magician profession will usually not participate in the battle alone, and there will definitely be a guarding [physical] next to it. Occupation is.

Seeing Sean retreat cunningly again, Romeo roared in anger, raising his hand and firing a dozen arrows of corrosion. At the same time, Romeo immediately stopped continuing to maintain the lifeless swamp. As he walked with big steps, the black water flowing on the ground was quickly gathered back to him, and Romeo himself took a step forward to chase Sean. , Even if his speed is really not fast, but he still has to drive Sean to death.

Corrosive arrows, without accident, all shot into the air.

The shooting speed of this magic is not fast, and it is naturally doomed to fight against Sean, who is known for his speed.

But Romeo didn't seem to care about this result at all. He just stepped firmly to catch up, and the shoulder blades that were shot through by Sean with wind pressure were also stitched in the effect of the death swamp just now, even one. There are no scars, I have to say that the talent skill of Death Qi Swamp is terrible.

Romeo took an inch, and Sean was pushed back by a blow. As Rina, who was supposed to be the true protagonist of this incident, she seemed to be left aside by the two fighting. Only a few seconds before and after, when the woman came back to her senses, Romeo and Sean had already finished each other's hands. The current situation is that Sean is temporarily at a disadvantage. Although Sean may not lose, it is now. The situation is really not good for Sean.

There is no other reason, Romeo is so smart.

He also knew that he could not maintain the swamp of death air all the time, so when he was not close, he would not activate this talent at all, even if he was approached by Sean or even penetrated by sword energy. Rashly shot. Anyway, as long as it is not fatal, Romeo doesn't care at all, because as long as the death swamp opens, these injuries will heal very quickly, so he can completely ignore it.

Seeing that Sean seemed to be about to reach a corner, Rena finally carried the scarlet spear to kill.

The spear in her hand is the kind of sophisticated weapon made entirely of refined iron, not even a high-quality weapon. The gun body is very hard, naturally it is impossible to throw out the beautiful gunshots of dragons and snakes, but Rina's strength is really good, the dual attribute of strength and endurance forty points is not a joke, so when she shoots straight At the time of the stabbing, before using the grudge to attach, the terrible whistling and breaking the air had already caused Romeo's magic robe to continue to waver.

"Go away!" Romeo roared furiously, his face grim.

And at this time, Rena, who was pierced with a gun, was actually really shocked by the roar, and a look of fear appeared on her face.

Only Sean could see that in Romeo's roar of anger, there was a trace of magical fluctuations that radiated from his body invisibly.

Fear technique.

This is a spirit type magic, which is completely different from the life type undead magic. According to the cognition of the magic world, if you want to master two different types of magic, you must at least have a higher level of silver or a higher level [spellcasting] profession, but I don't know why, any necromancer is capable of it. It is very easy to master spiritual magic such as fear, curse, etc.

Like all spiritual magic, fear is also a magic that needs to be verified by will. If the will is lower than the caster by more than ten points, you will immediately enter a state of fear. At this stage, you will completely lose the will to fight. In the beginning, the player's performance in the game was that the attack power was directly zero, while the NPC's performance was like a fly without a head. Running around like this; if by chance you don't enter a state of fear, but you are less than five points or more than ten points lower than the caster, you will lose your momentum and lose the opportunity because of the instantaneous confusion.

If the volition attribute of the caster is within five points or higher than that of the caster, then the fear effect will be completely invalid.

Rena, at this moment, it is this kind of pause state that has lost the opportunity.

As a mercenary, the will attribute must not be too low. Rina has a terrible will of up to thirty-eight points. It is not easy to have such a high will in the bronze realm. As a genius magician, Cecilia is only a lower-ranking bronze, but she has experienced things like coups, assassinations, and pursuits, and her will now is only 38 o'clock; and Alfred De, the middle-aged uncle, after three years of hardship and dormancy of a bloodblade enemy and several years of tempering in the world, he finally only had forty points of will.

Compared with these few, Rina's strength can't be considered low, and now she is stepping into the career advancement path of Gunslinger, and her future development can be described as bright.

But even so, he was still forced to be reluctantly awed by Romeo's fear technique, that kind of unrelenting impulse was interrupted in this way. When Rena finally recovered, Romeo had already left him again and rushed to chase Sean - in terms of the game, Sean was standard.

"Fuck!" Sean cursed, but Sean would not dare to rush forward before Romeo's magic power was completely consumed.

This necromancer, who is like a madman, is determined to let Sean be swallowed by the lifelessness of the death swamp. How can Sean be as he wants? And Sean estimates that according to the current progress of the plot, which one of him and Rena will be involved in the death of the death swamp first, which one will be in the state of "death invading", this is the point. It is the factor that Sean really scruples.

But blindly retreating, it is not the way to solve the battle.

After several consecutive leaps, Sean saw Romeo's desire not to kill him at all, and finally gritted his teeth and stabbed his sword straight again.

Seeing Sean kill himself again, Romeo immediately stood still. He really wished that Sean would kill himself like a moth to a fire. Anyway, as long as it is not a fatal injury, Romeo is not afraid of being injured by Sean, even if he is cut off a hand or a leg, he will not care, because in the area of the death swamp, he will be injured like a limb. , Is completely ineffective for Necromancer.

But unlike Romeo's imagination, when Sean rushed to him only a few steps away, and immediately he could use the fear technique to force a deterrent, Sean stopped moving forward. This made Romeo froze for a moment, and he immediately got annoyed by others. He suddenly raised the magic wand in his hand. This time, instead of the small magic like the arrow of corrosion, he showed a few of them about two meters long. , White and smooth white spears all over.

Bone Spear!

Another attack method of the Necromancer, its power is naturally much stronger than that of the Arrow of Corruption, and its speed is not comparable to that of the Arrow of Corruption.

But before Romeo could shoot the bone spear, Sean had already taken the lead and shouted: "Shoot!"

The obsidian on the other ring in 's hand also became dimmed, and the power stored in the obsidian was also drained at this instant.

On Sean's head, there was a black aerosol rotating, and as the width of the aerosol gradually narrowed, a black spear, which was completely dark and exuding a cold metallic luster, gradually took shape.

The Gun of Darkness!

Almost as soon as the gun of darkness took shape, it shot towards Romeo with a frenzy.

Romeo's face showed shock for the first time, and he hurriedly directed several bone spears to fly out. However, these bone spears were all smashed in front of the Dark Spear. Although they did play a role in blocking the impulse of the Dark Spear, they only weakened the power of the Dark Spear. Romeo knew that if it was penetrated by the gun of darkness, it would definitely be a fatal injury, even if there was a lifeless swamp, it would definitely not be able to support it.

He didn't expect that Sean would summon the Gun of Darkness at such a close distance!

Gritting his teeth, Romeo hurriedly ran to the right at the price of being hit by the gun of darkness with his left hand.

But Romeo just started to move, and Rina, who was shocked by the fear technique, was already full of anger and humiliation. She struck again with a single-handed gun, and a single shot pierced Romeo's heart. With the spear being picked and swinging, Romeo flew away fiercely, and Sean who had been prepared on the side suddenly turned into a cold light, cut off Romeo's right hand with a sword, and kicked the wand directly away.

It wasn't until then that Romeo, who had broken his arms, finally fell to the ground fiercely, just next to the shriveled corpse of Old Brun.

Chapter 199: Dead bone

"Cough...cough..." Romeo, who was dropped heavily and lost his arms, coughed violently.

Along with the coughing sound, blood spurted from Romeo's mouth, not red blood, but black. Romeo's left hand was directly shattered by the Dark Spear, and half of his upper arm remained, but his right hand was directly broken by Sean's shoulders. It was the same black fluid as the Dead Qi Swamp, which kept coming from the fracture. The flow out, but this time it did not spread everywhere, but immediately condensed into a solid when it first came out, and there was no odor permeating out.

"I lost." Romeo lay down on his back, his voice couldn't hear any unwillingness, it was more like a kind of relief that persisted to the end.

Xiao En, who wanted to make up another sword immediately, couldn't help but stop, but his eyes were still very alert.

"Don't be nervous." Romeo seemed to really say a word when the oil lamp ran out. The blood was already coughing up, "Without the dead bone, I will lose all fighting ability. rest assured."

Shaun's gaze swept over the wand that was like a leg bone.

Rena walked forward with a spear, but surprisingly, her eyes did not have the resentment she had before, and the whole person seemed much calmer.

"I have a request." Romeo sighed and said softly, "If you agree, I will leave the dead bones to you."

He seems to be trying his best to make his voice sound softer, but the hoarse and sharp voice will only make his voice sound full of cold horror.

"After you die, I can still take that magic wand." Sean said in a deep voice.

"You can't take it." Romeo still smiled, but his voice sounded much colder, "As long as I disagree, then after I die, the dead bones will return to the hands of the demon lord."

Shaun's heart shook slightly.

He knew that Romeo did not lie, because there was no need for it. Of course, he would believe that another reason for this sentence is because there were so many players in this dungeon, and they all got through, but he didn't see any good things. It is said that the last boss can't even do anything. If it weren't for the experience points and the rewards from the mercenary guild, this instance would not have been visited by anyone in the game.

"What request?" Rina spoke up without waiting for Sean's approval.

"For me, the blood of the Kazes Hodgdi family was cut off." Romeo said, "As long as you agree, the dead bones are yours."

The Hochdi family is the royal family of the Kingdom of Darbion.

And Kazes Hochdi is one of the two surviving princes of the Kingdom of Darbion. In countries like the Kingdom of Darbion, the royal family will not arbitrarily canonize a prince, because this is tantamount to acknowledging their qualifications to form another family. Although the successors of their descendants will be reduced by a title if they have no significant contributions, their territory But there is a righteous heir, and there is no need to worry that the territory will be reclaimed by the royal family after the death of the Patriarch.

Even if Rina doesn't understand anything, she also knows what the name Kazes Hodges means, and naturally she won't agree to it at this moment.

And Romeo seemed to know something, so he didn't look at Rena from the beginning, but kept looking at Sean.

"Okay!" Xiao En just hesitated for a few seconds, then nodded in agreement, "It's just a family of princes. No matter how you look at it, I made the sale."

Rina looked at Sean with a shocked look. She really couldn't understand why Sean's tone was so big that he actually said "just a prince family". It was not a normal nobleman, but a prince. One of the two remaining princes of the Kingdom of Bion! A nobleman at the top of a kingdom like this will surely have a lot of powerful men around him, and this necromancer is not just trying to kill the prince, but to completely wipe out the blood of this family!

"It's yours." Romeo smiled slightly, then closed his eyes safely, "The lord really didn't lie to me. Those who can kill me will avenge me."

As Romeo finished saying this, his eyes finally closed, but at this moment, Sean's face became a little difficult to look, because he was actually put on by a demon! Then Sean saw a bright red fire suddenly shoot out from Romeo's body, directly into his body, and then felt a tremor from the soul, and there were many whispering sounds in his ears. When these low sounds When he disappeared, Sean's face became even more ugly.

The real world is completely different from the game world.

If it is in the game world, Sean will get a mission at most at the moment, even if the mission fails, it doesn't matter. But now, in the low whistling sound just now, Sean heard the voice from the demon lord. He has entered into a contract with the other party. The content is that he must participate in targeting Kazes Huo. In the actions of the Qidi family, at least in a series of actions in which the blood of this family is extinct, he must at least have a certain degree of participation, otherwise it is equivalent to breaking the contract, and the result of breaking the contract is that his soul will be swallowed by this demon lord.

The price is a bit big!

Thinking of this, Sean walked up to the wand, reached out and picked it up, and then yelled again: "Fuck! Nima's teasing me!"

【Dead bone (magic wand), epic, stamina +25, intelligence +25, immortal effect "soul immortality": any soul damage and mental damage will have no effect on you. Immortal effect "form change": the form can be changed according to the will of the host (depending on the form, the additional attributes will also be different). Immortal effect "Bloodline Limit": The attribute increase effect of this equipment will change as the host's strength increases. Perpetual effect "Devil believer": Any skill that detects evil will have an extremely strong reaction to you, but any believer who believes in the devil will have a good impression on you; Perpetual effect "The anger of the enemy": from the purgatory position The enemy in front of you will be your eternal enemy. Every time you kill an enemy whose strength is equivalent to Bronze rank, the attributes of this equipment will be permanently increased by +1. Equipment requirements: Exclusive to Sean Connery. 】

[Item Description: This is a leg bone taken from the Demon Lord Kanternus. It is said that during the Battle of the Ashes, someone held a spear made of this leg bone and nailed Gabriel to the monument of immortality. You can vaguely feel Gabriel's unyielding and powerful aura entwined on it, but this aura seems to be sealed in this leg bone, perhaps when you are strong enough in the future, you should be able to solve this mystery. 】

This piece of equipment, no matter how you look at it, is an extremely powerful piece of equipment.

At least the total attribute is increased by 50 points. This is equivalent to a special effect silver equipment, and if Sean's strength increases, the additional attributes of this equipment will become higher, not just the total attribute of 50 points. It is simple, and even has many other abilities, it is completely worthy of an epic equipment. But it is not this that makes Sean really depressed, but this equipment can only be used by Sean alone, his original intention is to give this wand to Cecilia.

It now appears that this plan is completely in vain.

"It looks like you are not very satisfied?" Of course, Rina next to her looks at attributes like Sean, but she looks disappointed when she looks at Sean, so she naturally feels that this magic wand should not be very good. Look like.

"Oh." Sean sighed, "I'm losing a lot."

But even though he said that, since this piece of equipment has been bound to him, there is no way to say anything.

After a little thought, Sean turned on the form change ability of this equipment.

I saw the whole magic wand began to melt in Sean's hand, it looked like a candle was gradually melting, but the melted white bone water did not drip to the ground, but began to continuously extend and transform.

Rina next to looked at the bone that was held by Sean in surprise, or it should be a candle-like thing now.

I saw that the second half of the candle was continuously integrated into the part that Sean was holding tightly. According to common sense, when the length of a piece of material is reduced, the volume should expand, but this bone completely violates this theorem. , Did not swell due to this at all. Soon, the part that was held by Sean gradually formed a sword hilt, and at the same time, the sword guard began to form at the tiger's mouth.

After the two parts were fixed, the upper edge of the sword began to form a rectangular strip, not the sword body Rina imagined, but a scabbard.

The scabbard is white all over, without any texture, but at first glance, it can be seen that the scabbard is absolutely smooth as a mirror.

Shaun retracted the Charles Sabre into the scabbard, held the scabbard with his left hand, and then pulled out the long sword with a slight pressure with his right hand.

Only hearing the trembling of "Qiang", the long sword was pulled out of the scabbard by Sean.

The sword body is also silvery white, but the point of the sword is not a rhombohedral horn, but a slightly curved arc, which looks a bit like a cutting blade. It's just that the cutting blade is single-edged, and the other side is the back of the sword, which is not sharp, but the dead bone in Sean's hand is double-edged, only with a slight change at the tip of the sword. Just like the scabbard is as smooth as a mirror, the body of this sword can also be used as a mirror, and it has a faint wind breaking sound when it is swung.

"Good sword!" Although Rina uses a spear, she doesn't understand weapons. After all, other people in the mercenary group also use swords.

Sean is not commenting on Rena's praise, this is an epic piece of equipment, can it be bad?

Then I checked the properties.

The inherent attributes of this weapon have not changed, but the additional attributes of endurance and intelligence have changed.

【Death bone (long sword), epic, strength +25, endurance +10, agility +15. 】

The total attribute is still unchanged at 50 points, but the endurance becomes only 10 points, the wisdom attribute is gone, it becomes strength plus 25 points, and agility plus 15 points. This increase in attribute value can be said to be tailor-made for Sean. Because of the double increase in speed of light body surgery and adrenal stimulation, his speed is already extremely terrible, and the only thing lacking is strength. Insufficient, and because he is taking the route of speed harassment, his endurance does not need to be too high, so the increase of this attribute is simply an extremely perfect existence for Sean.

Shaun finally understood why Romeo would say that without a dead bone, he would have no fighting power.

With this piece of equipment, it is easy for Sean to want to kill the next silver-powered person. Even after turning on the adrenal stimulation, he also has the ability to play against the upper silver master. Of course, this ability is only three minutes. If he can't solve the opponent in three minutes, Sean is about to run away.

With such a powerful piece of equipment, Sean's heart is finally a little better.

After retracting the sword and scabbing it, he saw Rena standing beside him, looking at Old Brun's body in a daze. After Xiao En hesitated for a moment, he asked: "What are your plans for the future?"

"I don't know either." Rina shook her head blankly.

"Well, do you want to return to the territory with me?" Sean thought for a while, and found that Rena is indeed worthy of being absorbed, so he said, "I am a lord. But it is not from the Kingdom of Darbion. People, but people from the Principality of Ryan. Now my territory is under development, and there is a great lack of talents in all aspects. If you want, you can return to the territory with me. I will get you a knight, maybe you will be You can also get your own title."

After hearing what Shaun said, Rina did not immediately agree, but after thinking about it for a while, she said, "Let me think about it."

Shaun shrugged and said nothing.

Chapter 200: . Dabron strikes

Sean, the lord, as the shopkeeper of his hand, made William very angry.

A series of matters concerning the development of the territory have been determined before, but these matters are not very clear, especially concerning the long distance of the caravan, the training and integration of the militia, and even the guards of the caravan. And so on, the details of these matters were not clearly stated at all, so when the implementation was really about to start, it was discovered that various detailed problems had occurred.

For example, no one knows the size of the caravan, how many people will be sent to serve as escorts, what the main route is, etc., nothing is said.

Secondly, under pressure, Baige Town selected five hundred young adults to join the Puda Mercenary Corps, and all the armaments and materials should be supplied, but in the end it was discovered that the militia regiment had no training methods at all. A unified regulation looks more like playing around. As a result, William had to work out a series of training content. After all, it was only militiamen. Of course, targeted training was impossible. The main purpose was to let these militiamen understand some military cooperation and related military forces when necessary. instruction.

Although according to Sean, the entire Puda militia group is regarded as a reserve, and some powerful people are selected from it, and they will be added to each unit in the future for more targeted professional training.

But in William's view, this thing is not easy to do. It's not that it's impossible. It's just that we want to truly get a militia regiment to become a reserve force that can provide fresh blood to the army. This is definitely not something that can be done in a few words, especially Baige Town and Hongye Town. There are still some contradictions between each other. If they are allowed to practice their own, it is okay to integrate the training together, this is simply the rhythm of getting twice the result with half the effort.

So William simply changed to another method to train, and directly divided the two groups into two teams according to the different towns where they were located. In the first month, the progress was the same, and they both trained together. Starting from the second month, there will be a small match once a week, and the loser will be responsible for all the chores of the other side for the next week; then once a month, the winner will be able to stay in a better house. Food treatment will be improved accordingly.

As a result, although the contradiction between the two parties has become more irreconcilable, the competitive spirit has been thoroughly stimulated, and this has also improved and strengthened the training rhythm and intensity of the militia, at least for the time being. Outweigh the harm. Although Puda opposed this twice, William still insisted on implementing it, and at the same time he prohibited Puda from teaching these militias, because this middle-aged man would undoubtedly favor Hongye Town. This was in the third month of the month. Xiaobi has already manifested.

At the very beginning, Hongye Town easily won Baige Town with the advantage of previous training. So the militiamen in Baige Town who had been humiliated consciously held back their energy for a week and finally achieved a perfect victory in the second round of competition. Later, according to the development of the situation, Hongye Town should have worked hard, and then Baige Town was unwilling to show weakness and charged again with diligence. As a result, due to Puda's horizontal intervention, Hongye Town relied on its weak advantage and a little cleverness to achieve the third week. victory.

As a result, Baige Town was naturally dissatisfied. In order to calm this matter, William had to sit in the barracks in Baige Town for the next week and personally supervise the training progress of the entire camp. As for Puda, he was temporarily punished by William to become a scout, and was responsible for investigating the movement in Dabron. Because half a month ago, William received a military report from Tonis Fortress, which said Da The town of Broen received reinforcements from troops under the banner of blood. It is very likely that a new round of military operations will be launched against Baige Town and Hongye Town, so Sean must be careful.

At present, neither the intelligence network nor the surveillance network has been established in the realm of Sean, so naturally he can only rely on the intelligence system from the Tonis Fortress. If Tony Fortress didn't talk about this kind of thing, William couldn't help it. Fortunately, Tony Fortress really regarded Sean as his own, so this kind of intelligence work was naturally shared with Sean.

It's just that Sean is not in the territory at this time, so the military management of the entire territory is naturally directly under William's control.

In this case, of course he wanted to send someone to pay attention to the situation in Dabron Town.

According to existing intelligence estimates, the Dabron Mercenary Corps has at least two thousand troops, and this army has experienced various blood and death battles in the wilds. It is a real army- in the words of Sean To understand, that is a three-tier regular army. The last time White Pigeon Town was able to withstand the attack of this army and defeat it, the main reason was that Ivan and Frode were extremely powerful in combat.

At present in this territory, Aiwen ranks first in strength below Silver Peak, and his combat effectiveness is extremely strong; ranked second is Frode, who also has strength close to the peak, but it is still slightly inferior, which is probably fifth-tier and seventh-tier. , Strength at level 8; Dabron is ranked third, who is also a lower silver, but the strength is a bit worse than Frode, only at level 5 and 6.

Ranked fourth is Habind, who has died under the joint hands of Shaun and Puda.

In terms of personal strength, Baige Town still has a great chance of winning, because the sword of bravery cannot be left to Baige Town. Counting their mercenaries and the militia group that has been training hard recently, the overall strength has exceeded 1,700. If the tactics are used properly, it is not without the power of a battle. However, William knew that if a battle were to be started in this situation, even if he could win the battle, he would definitely suffer heavy losses.

William can accept this loss, and Sean would not say anything even if he knew it.

But if you start from the perspective of Baige Town and Hongye Town, it is unbearable.

Nowadays, in addition to personally overseeing the training of the two militias in the barracks, William must also rack his brains to think about where to set up a battle against Dabron's mercenary group if the war really happens. .

"I really hope that guy Alfred can arrive soon." William has been staring at the tactical map these days.

This map is the gift that Asuna gave to Sean to become the lord. It records the entire Pandan collar, Shaofu collar, Modge collar, and several other surrounding territories and the upper ones led from Panda. Although the map of Baili Barren Land is not particularly detailed, there is no shortage of paintings at all. When Sean was leaving, he only copied the maps of the two territories surrounding Maudger and Panda, and left this manuscript to William, because in Sean's view, William should need this more than he did. As a military map.

At this moment, William's eyes moved back and forth between two places on the map.

These are the two places that Sean finally picked out of the territory in the past half a month that are suitable for fighting against the Dabron Mercenary Corps.

The first place is the canyon terrain. No matter which direction Dabron marches from, he must pass through this canyon in the end.

So at the beginning, William had reached an agreement with Ivan. If the war broke out, he would need the sword of bravery to set ambush here and annihilate as many enemies as possible. Aiwen did not object to this, because the decoy unit was the Puda militia-which means that Hongye Town and Baige Town will have a certain loss here, but William estimated that if these militias can perform In the case of seven or eight points training, the battle damage is probably not too high.

But at least one or two hundred people will stay here forever.

If the guys in the militia would become soft-footed shrimps once they were on the battlefield, William thought it would probably be another bloodshed in Hongye Town.

In this way, you can only retreat to the second ambush point. As for how many people can be killed here in the canyon, it is completely resigned.

This second battlefield is a plain terrain.

The plain terrain has a wide field of vision, so the movement of the army is naturally clear. If the Dabron mercenary regiment has cavalry troops, William would never choose this place as a battlefield. According to the existing intelligence, it seems that the opponent There are no cavalry. Therefore, this battlefield was used by William as a buffer battlefield. At least the spirit of the Dabron mercenary group must be worn out here, otherwise, if the opponent has the advantage of momentum, then there is really no need to fight.

So the woods near this battlefield have become a vital place.

This terrain can ambush a troop of about a hundred people as a surprise soldier, and if necessary, it can cause a considerable degree of chaos if it is necessary to penetrate the enemy's formation horizontally. Of course, it is a headache for William to arrange who will be the auspicious troops, because this auspicious troops is a real dead soldier, their dispatch has completely meant that the battle situation is out of control, so they are creating chaos and as much as possible. While killing the enemy, it is impossible for more than one hundred people to survive.

The sword of bravery will definitely not be this fool.

William will definitely not let Anno lead the northern barbarians to do this...

As for those militiamen, William hadn't counted on them at all.

William tapped his fingers on the map, and the current situation really made him feel a little helpless: there were no soldiers available in his hand, no matter how good his commanding ability, no matter how strategic and tactical strategizing, it was true. There is no way. If the sword of bravery is willing to be under his command, it is impossible to completely annihilate it, but if it is only to defeat the Dabron mercenary regiment once again, then William is confident that he can still do it.

But sometimes, fate is so wonderful.

When William was most afraid of something, he was about to come.

Ivan opened the door of the barracks, glanced at William, and said in a deep voice: "If the Dabron mercenary has taken action, it will arrive at the canyon in two days at the latest."