

Lord of War 33

Chapter 33: .Guess who I am

The face of the young man flushed.

Even the other four people around looked at Sean in disbelief.

This is not because Shaun's words are too shocking or make those scholars feel recognized, but because Shaun's words are too vulgar. For these scholars, such discourse is simply difficult to be elegant, even if they think this metaphor does have such a bit of image.

"You...Do you know who I am!" The young man finally got angry, not sure if it was because of shame.

When he heard the young man's words, Sean was a little lost. He hadn't heard anyone say such things for a long time. In the game that year, at the very beginning, people often told him that there were enemies, people from the same family, and well-known masters in the industry, but later he became famous and even led the family. After his group, no one ever said anything to him.

When the popularity has reached a certain level, this kind of regulation that relies on identity background to speak is no longer useful.

It's like, if this young man asks the three academics who are responsible for invigorating the exam with this sentence, the other party will definitely sneer. Because even members of the Royce family need to be polite when facing these studies, so how can ordinary people be regarded by them? For them, only people with the same knowledge and extensive knowledge will be valued by them.

But at this moment, everyone saw Sean's loss of consciousness, but thought he was scared.

"I'm afraid, let me tell you..." The young man's chattering began again.

He likes the appearance of others because of fear, which greatly satisfied his vanity. Although his father was not a nobleman, his family was rich. Even if in many people's eyes his family was just a nouveau riche, it could not conceal the fact that he was rich. His father wanted to make the family famous. It's better to listen to it so that he can participate in the assessment of scholars.

As long as it is successfully passed, no one will dare to say that his family is just a nouveau riche.

But seeing the last question is about to be answered-even if the answer is reluctant, but if this question is answered correctly, he can indeed get a scholar's certificate. But all this was broken by Sean's sudden action a few minutes ago. How could this keep him from being angry? Especially after being ridiculed by Sean so much, it reminded him of the people in the business district laughing at his father's face.

Because of being young, so ignorant.

Because of ignorance, so fearless.

Sean doesn't know the young man's inner thoughts, but even if he does, he won't care, because this is a person destined to two worlds.

Listening to the young people clamoring about something, Sean shook his head and laughed, "I was a little lost just now, not because I was scared, but just thinking of the people who had said this to me before." Suddenly, the corners of Sean's mouth lightly raised: "Want to know their fate?"

The young man shuddered suddenly, and even he himself did not understand why this happened. And Xiao En's smile also made him feel a little scared at this moment. He may not be wise enough, but it does not mean that he is not smart. A person's background often determines his identity and background, and the situation in the business circle is more or less. They are all a little bit irritated, and even have some understanding of some things.

He also tried to say something, but he didn't know how to say it.

Shaun was too lazy to pay attention to the young man. He turned his head and looked at the three scholars, and said, "I'm here to participate in the academic assessment. Can I start?"

The three academics glanced at each other. Perhaps the young man and the female priest hadn't noticed anything, but the three of them felt the  breath emanating from Xiao En at that moment!

Have not experienced a real  killing, it is impossible to have such a solid murderous aura.

And usually such people are naturally not favored in front of scholars: do a group of muscular guys know what knowledge is?

Even if it is the scholarship of the Temple of Wisdom, they are mundane people after all. Many opinions are indistinguishable from ordinary people, and the older they are, the more stubborn they become. Basically, they already have some rejection of Sean, but the Scholars Hall of the Temple of Wisdom also has clear rules. Any favoritism is forbidden here, and Sean has already said so. Of course, they also need it. Let him participate in the assessment.

However, there are still some methods that can be used.

"Yes." The old scholar in the middle nodded, "Lina, take people out."

The young female priest nodded, and then immediately led the young man out, and Shimen closed again.

The old scholar in the middle nodded to Xiao En, and said, "Then let's start."

After that, he took Xiao En to the leftmost table in the hall.

On this table is a dried flower. On the surface, this flower seems to have been processed by some means, because the roots are light yellow, which is in obvious contrast to the dark black that ordinary flowers and plants appear after drying; and the part above the roots, it is a deep yellow with melanin. This is because the water inside has been completely evaporated, and it even has a scorching effect on the inside of the plant.

However, although it is said to be flowers and plants, its buds have been removed, which makes it difficult for the participants in the assessment to distinguish this dried plant.

"Judging from the degree of color and the fracture of the buds removed, this should be a strong flower." Xiao En glanced at it and Yun Danfeng said lightly, "This is a very common plant, it is sweet and slightly spicy. It has a wide range of uses, and the most common one is to make seasonings. Although it is an ordinary plant, the roots and pedicels of the dried flowers are one of the raw materials that alchemists must have to make neutralizers, so they are widely used. Planted."

From the analysis of the appearance, to the taste, the properties of the medicine, the use, etc., Sean's words are reasonable and well-founded, and they appear unusually clear. And the most rare performance is that Sean can make such a correct answer with just a glance, even without Touching and recognizing carefully made all the old scholars feel a little surprised. If it weren't that Sean had never appeared before, and the decorations in this scholar's hall were changed every day, they would even think that these things were all arranged by Sean.

Seeing the appearance of several old scholars, Sean naturally knew what they were thinking.

The scholar assessment was the simplest [casting class] assessment trial in the game at the beginning. Those party players who were energetic and idle, even listed thousands of detailed information about the assessment content of the scholar hall. . As an extremely energetic person back then, Sean had also read these materials. Although it is impossible to remember all of them, he was naturally impressed with many things that he had come into contact with in the game later.

What's more, now, he also has two special abilities, 【Desperate Life】 and 【True Eyes】 .

But for the details of this Liehua, he really didn't need to use the real eye. Back then, there was a priest who liked to make flowers and plants in his team.

Of course, Sean did not act too magically.

Like this dried Lily Flower, it is actually a bit flawed. Such Lily Flower rhizomes can only be used in general neutralizers. If you want to refine high-purity neutralizers, you can't damage the Lily Flower rhizomes. Replace it. In other words, at least a little bit of water must be retained, so that the sun's rays cannot have an scorching effect on the roots of Liehua.

Just these words, Sean doesn't need to say it.

Several old scholars glanced at each other, and although they were shocked and didn't want to admit it, they brought Sean to the second table.

"It's just some iron slag." Xiao En glanced at the small black stones on the table with obvious traces of refinement, and said faintly, "Of course, if you have to say a result, then I will only It can be said that these are just the stone chips left after the general iron ore is condensed together. The purpose is to fool or deceive other examiners."

Old Xue Xue's face was a little reddish, or it was obviously not good-looking, especially the one in the middle. He obviously came up with this idea.

"This is a black clover. Although it is similar to the clover, the flower center of the black clover has a little dark spot. It is difficult to find if you don't recognize it carefully."

"This is the colorful monster lizard. It is a Tier 4 monster. It usually grows in a poisonous jungle..."

"This is the copper iron stone, the associated mine of the red copper vein..."

"This is ice crystal tears..."

In the palace of scholars, the things placed on hundreds of tables are not difficult for Sean at all. Of course, there are also some things that really need him to use [True Eyes] to distinguish them, and once they need to use [True Eyes] He would pretend to bend over and observe carefully, and even pick it up from time to time to smell it. But even so, the three veteran scholars were still very surprised, and it could even be said that they had a subversive understanding of the warrior, which is a profession with well-developed limbs and simple mind.

"Ahem, your performance really surprised us." It was the old scholar who said, "You are the best examiner we have seen in recent years, so we are here to prepare for you again. You can choose whether to accept an exam question. Of course, it's okay if you don't accept it. If you accept and answer it correctly, we will give you a small gift. This is a gift from the God of Wisdom to those extraordinary."

The highlight is coming!

Shaun's thoughts and thoughts have finally gotten excited, this is his goal! So naturally agreed.

Old Xueqi nodded, and then triggered a mechanism in the hall. When he saw the originally confined ground, he suddenly separated to the left and right, and then an iron cage about two meters high and eight meters in diameter, covered with black cloth, went from the ground. Rose up. It seemed that it was because of the vibration caused by the mechanism. There was a low and muffled roar from the iron cage. The creatures imprisoned in the sound were obviously weak, but even so, it was still full of majestic aura.

can have such a momentum, and the iron cage has been specially reinforced and combined with a special magic circle. Xiao En guessed that the monsters in it were definitely Tier 7 and above. A beast of this level is enough to destroy a territory. For those small countries with weak strength, although it will not be destroyed because of such a beast, the vitality is definitely injured.

Unexpectedly, the Temple of Wisdom is so generous, dare to grab a monster like this to study it.

However, Sean's mind has not yet recovered from this shock. The next actions of these veteran scholars almost made Sean spray—he was fortunate that he did not drink water at the moment.

I saw an old scholar stretched out his hand and pulled the black cloth up a bit, revealing the four legs of the beast imprisoned inside.

Judging from the revealed situation, this monster should be a mammalian creature, and it should have a beautiful black fur. Judging from the fact that the gloss and brightness of the fur of the higher-level Warcraft is more obvious, if this warcraft develops well, its fur should be as smooth and bright as satin, but now only from the exposed fur of the four legs, The living standard of this Warcraft is obviously very bad, because its fur has completely lost its luster and even looks messy.

But for Sean who has the real eye, with the special ability of "Desperate Life", he already knows what this monster is when he only observes these four legs.

As he had guessed, this was indeed a seventh-order beast, called the shadow magic pupil leopard. This is a very rare beast. Although its speed does have the ability of a seventh-order beast, its power is not as good as an ordinary fifth-order beast. It is just as a seventh-order beast. In addition to its inherent high-ranking majesty In addition to its aura, it also possesses very powerful mental abilities. The crystal core of this monster is what the magician who specializes in the spiritual energy system needs most.

Although Xiao En already knew the answer, he couldn't say it. While he was waiting for the scholar to continue to pull the black cloth away completely, he heard the old scholar say: "Come on, you come. Guess what this monster is called."

This sentence is the reason that Sean almost sprayed it, because he remembered a joke that was popular on the Internet.

So, Xiao En turned his head to look at the old scholar in the middle, and said, "If I fail this assessment, I can get the scholarship, right?"

The three old scholars were taken aback, and they all thought that Sean thought this question was too difficult and was about to give up. In fact, if Sean's previous performance hadn't been too enchanting, they didn't even bother to deal with Sean. Compared with someone as young as Sean, these old scholars are completely unable to beat him in the knowledgeable and widely known, and of course they are somewhat dissatisfied.

As long as Shaun accepts a little bit of softness, of course they will not be too embarrassed for Shaun.

So at this moment, the old scholar in the center nodded and said: "Yes, you are already a scholar now."

Sean nodded, and continued to ask: "Then, regarding my identity, do you also have to register in the register, and then issue magic certificates to each of the wisdom temples for backup?"

"This is natural."

This time, Xiao En nodded very clearly, then turned his head to face the old pedant who was in charge of Rab, and directly lifted his trousers up to the thigh, and then said; "Come on, Guess what my name is."
