

Lord of War 47

Chapter 47: .Effects

Kobold guard is a second-tier profession in the kobold race, and it can be regarded as a profession that pays more attention to strength and endurance.

But unfortunately, these two attribute values are not their natural development direction. As for the kobold guards, in Sean's existing system judgment, it happens to belong to the category of "full creatures", so for the attribute data of these nearly twenty kobold guards, Sean doesn't even need to know their names. Learned.

Strength and endurance hover between ten and twelve points, but the agility value generally has fifteen points.

On the other hand, Sean, in the case of naked buff and equipment, strength, endurance, and agility are fourteen, thirteen, and twelve respectively. Endurance and agility are as high as twenty-two, sixteen, and twenty, respectively. Compared with the average Tier 3 professional who has just started their job, this data is not much better.

So how can these kobold guards be seen by Sean?

For him, it was like a tiger entering a flock.

There is no commander, no leader, and if the low-level ranks of the kobolds cannot form a sufficient scale, they will not be able to pose too much threat at all. But the people in the Medusa Chamber of Commerce are also worried that the kobold tribe in their hands will evolve into a unitary leader after they have a commander, and then there will be no way to control it, so there will be no commander at all. Once it is discovered that there is a tendency to evolve a commander among the kobolds, it is directly strangled.

This is also doomed. At the moment, the attacks of the nearly twenty kobold guards are completely out of order, and are purely separate actions.

But if there is a commander's kobold gathering place, I am afraid it will be a third or fourth-order copy.

With a swipe of the long sword in his hand, one pick and another, just a few simple sword moves, forcing the four kobold guards to retreat several steps in a row. The weapons such as spears and spears in their hands are even more impressive. Was cut in two. It wasn't that Sean deliberately indulged and didn't want to kill, but just as he wanted to kill the killer, a kobold rushed up next to him, forcing him not to rush forward.

After all, there is a Cecilia behind him, and there are so many kobolds, even if they are only Tier 2, it is enough for Sean to deal with it cautiously.

After all, he is not a real Tier 3 or higher professional, and he is alone in dealing with so many kobold guards. In fact, Sean is still relatively struggling. Therefore, although the direction of his sword might seem simple, after careful calculation, it is quite similar to the situation when he fought Hank.

In this way, it naturally made this middle-aged man from the Medusa Chamber of Commerce even more surprised.

is just a Tier 2 professional, who can actually have such a tough willpower, and even the swordsmanship in his hand shows extraordinary aura. Such a person can never be an unknown generation. In fact, even if Sean did not say the enemy, this middle-aged man would actually treat Sean as an enemy. After all, he had been attacked by the Black Cat Chamber of Commerce for several days before, and he stopped for a day in the camp. If something happens directly, anyone who makes a little association will understand it.

"What benefit did the Black Cat Chamber of Commerce give you?" The middle-aged man saw that nearly half of the weapons of the kobold guards who protected him had been cut off, and he couldn't help being shocked. If the weapons guarded by these kobolds were all If it is cut off, then who will protect him?

At this time, he couldn't help but regret it a lot. Why didn't all the kobolds in the camp be equipped with more sophisticated weapons? That way, at least he could hold on for longer. Having controlled these kobolds like this for so long, he is very aware of the habits of the kobold race. Without the compulsory order of the leader, once these kobolds see things that cannot be violated, they will immediately disappear like sand. .

After all, he is a human and not a kobold after all.

"We can give you three times!" Seeing that Sean ignored his words at all, and changed his hand with another sword. This time even the kobold was also beheaded, and the middle-aged man immediately panicked.

"Triple?" Sean paused slightly with the sword in his hand, and smiled, "Hehe, can you afford it?"

"I..." The middle-aged man wanted to say that he could afford it, but then he thought about who knows what bargaining chips the Black Cat Chamber of Commerce has offered. People with exceptional talents like Sean must not offer a low price. Changed his words: "I can't afford it, but the people behind me can afford it!"

This time, Sean did not chuckle, but directly sneered: "Medusa can't afford the price."

If he changes to any other chamber of commerce, Sean may still negotiate with the other party, anyway, he is just trying to save his life. But only the Medusa Chamber of Commerce, Sean will never enter into any transactions or negotiations with these people, because this Chamber of Commerce is completely affected by the temperament of the top leader behind the scenes, and the creatures like demons are well known. There is no credibility at all.

So even if Sean trades with the devil, he will never trade with the devil.

The middle-aged man finally couldn't help his face change drastically when he heard Sean utter the three words "Medusa" without hesitation.

Taking advantage of this momentary gap, Xiao En's expression condensed, and the sprint was launched immediately. It is impossible for Xiao En to reach the middle-aged man at a distance of nearly seven meters, but if you count the length of the Charles Sabre in his hand, this seven meters It also makes the impossible possible. Even when Sean launched the sprint, it felt like Sean had already calculated everything, just to wait for the flaw that appeared at this moment.

The strong killing intent is condensed like a horse, and Sean's upright sword has no concealed desire to attack at all.

The middle-aged man who woke up felt murderous until the time, the distance of seven meters had already rushed halfway. But at this time, instead of the slightest fear on his face, his face was replaced by a solemn face. As a magician who specializes in spirit magic, his own will attribute must be high enough, because many spirit systems The judgment requirement of magic is that the will attribute must be higher than the cast target.

Although the current rank is only a third-tier magician, and there is no significant difference in will, but the ranks starting from the fourth-tier are completely different.

However, as the real boss of this copy of the Kobold gathering place, Sean remembers that this boss has a will attribute of up to 32 points. The high-volition attribute also means stability on the spot, calmness in the face of danger, and so on.

"Barrier!" He only heard the middle-aged man suddenly snorted.

Immediately afterwards, the air in front of him suddenly oscillated, and a peculiar sense of turbulence radiated away from this center, but it did not arouse any fluctuations.

Shaun's sword stopped one inch in front of the middle-aged man.

With the tip of the sword as the core, the air is like water, and ripples are rippling away, but Xiao En's sword can no longer move in.

The corners of Xiao En's mouth raised slightly, but he was not making any attempts at all. He immediately retreated back when he moved his figure, turned and killed the kobold guards. But this time, Xiao En's shot has no reservations anymore. Although it is still the same swordsmanship method before, but the momentum is completely different, obviously much more fierce than before.

Air barrier, a high-level arcane protection magic, can resist almost all physical and magical attacks.

The reason why it is said to be almost because this protection magic actually has a limit. If it exceeds this limit, the magic effect will disappear, so it is also called "little invincible" in the game. It's just this limitation. At the beginning of the game, no one can break through it. Only when Tier 5 occupations are popularized by the whole people, the protective effect of this magic becomes a defensive magic that can withstand an attack.

The middle-aged man himself does not know this magic. The reason why he can display the air barrier is purely because of the magic ring on his right hand.

And this ring is the best piece of equipment dropped in this dungeon-the people who used this dungeon in the game originally came for this piece of equipment, but it's a pity that the drop rate of this equipment is too low. NS. At least in the game, when Sean was inaugurated at Tier 5, his team had not played this ring, which made Sean feel that it was an extremely regrettable thing.

But it is precisely because of regret, so Sean is very clear about the effect of this magic: when he surrounded the boss in the game, he would cast this skill every time he had his blood remaining, and the duration was one minute. In other words, you have to resist for a minute in his hand before you can get rid of the boss. Of course, it was said that there was a 100% way to drop this item in the game, and that was to prevent him from displaying this skill. It's a pity that this method has always been in a theoretical state.

And now...

This pesky magician has already used the skills on the magic ring, and Sean does not intend to continue to pester him, one minute of invincible time, who has the time to take care of this stuff, it is better to kill a few more kobold guards with this time Isn't it better to reduce the pressure that may be faced next?

The middle-aged man saw Sean retreat so swiftly and neatly, which made him hate it. If Sean continues to attack unwillingly, he is going to give Sean a mental shock, as long as he can be staggered for a little while. , He can command those kobold guards to cut him into pieces. However, the vigilance that Xiao En showed made him completely unable to start. When facing Xiao En, he always felt as if he had been thoroughly seen through.

It's just that he can't please Sean, so the apprentice magician who came with him can't run away?

The middle-aged man who had also been an apprentice of a magician was very clear about the will of an apprentice of a magician. There was absolutely no way to compare with him, a formal magician. He has made up his mind to control that lovely female wizard apprentice, and then use her to torture Sean fiercely.

The magic spell began to be chanted in a low voice. With the protection of the air barrier, the middle-aged man's self-confidence has increased a lot. He is not afraid that Sean will continue to attack him, or that he wants to see Sean. Continue to trouble him.

And Sean, when he saw the middle-aged man start singing the magic of "Spirit Invasion" again, and the target was Cecilia, Sean had already begun to feel sad for the middle-aged man.

"Hey, you have chosen the wrong opponent." Sean couldn't help but laughed loudly.

The middle-aged man really ignored it completely. When the mantra was sung to the end, his eyes were firmly locked on Cecilia, and his anger was full: "Spiritual invasion!"

Next second...

But it was the middle-aged man who uttered a terrible scream!
