

Lord of War 55

Chapter 55: .Because i need you

If Alfred's momentum is said to be the sea, then Sean is a rock at this moment. No matter how strong Alfred's aura was, he even faintly moved a bit of murderous aura, but Sean was completely unafraid, he just stared at him quietly.

There was no confrontation like swords and shadows, nor any fierce words, but with the two at the core, the strong momentum spread out in waves, and many drinkers around felt a little palpitation. There are many people who are also Tier 3 professionals. Although they are only the strength of the lower bronze, no one has really seen blood, or has struggled with life and death? However, under Alfred's aura and coercion, they only had the thought of fear.

At this point, their performance is not as good as Sean, an apprentice who can't even count as a lower bronze.

"Cough cough." A soft cough, suddenly sounded in the quiet tavern, looking a little abrupt.

No one knows who made the sound, but at this moment, Alfred seemed to have suddenly awakened to something, suppressing the aura that he had erupted. The tavern, which had originally felt the cold air, regained some heat at this moment, and it was a little warmer.

Shaun glanced at the owner of the tavern thoughtfully: This guy is not an ordinary person, but why was there no record of him on the forum?

Seeing Sean's gaze, the tavern owner smiled and nodded, and raised the gold coin in his hand, which meant that he was thanking Sean for his boldness. Faced with such a person, of course, Sean smiled back. In fact, he didn't particularly care about five gold coins. He also had five gold exchange coupons from the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance. If they were exchanged for Portoroa Gold coins can be exchanged for almost seven thousand one hundred and fifty.

The exchange rate of Pan-Continent Gold Coins and Portoroa Gold Coins is 0.7:1.

"Let's continue to talk about business." Sean turned his head and looked at Alfred, "Do you really think this is good for your daughter?"

Alfred was silent.

"First of all, how can you make money besides being a mercenary?" Sean unceremoniously pointed out Alfred's current weakest place, "It depends on your scattered physical work in this village. How much money can you make in a day? Look at your dinner, five copper coins and a bowl of minced meat pot, your daughter has lived in Sir Fregan's mansion for so many years, what is it that you eat?"

Alfred clenched his fists: "She is not particular about what she eats!"

"Well, don't talk about food, clothing and living?" Xiao En snorted, "We assume that your daughter is not particular about food and clothing, but can you let your daughter sleep on the street like you? Even if she can Bear it, what if she is infected with a disease like wind chill?"

Alfred, although he is the future God of War, he is actually a daughter-in-law. He did leave Cerroda Village later that year. The reason for leaving is unknown, but when he returned to Cerroda Village, a war broke out between the Kingdom of Portoroa and the Kingdom of Cerion. Count Mario's ambitions and desires once fell, and his daughter also died in this war.

In that battle, the Forest of Starfall became a must-see for the two kingdoms, but all related to it were player tasks. Later, the Kingdom of Portoroa even rebuilt the outpost in it. It was precisely because of this war that players discovered the Tier 5 copy in Xingyuhu Lake, but Sean only learned about these things from the forum. At that time, he had already moved to the mainland with the strategic plan of the contracted company. Of the east.

The wife ran away with someone, and the daughter later died. Alfred is indeed a tragic figure. But perhaps it was precisely because of these tragedies as motivation that completely inspired Alfred's potential and made him one of the most powerful NPC characters in the subsequent game.

"If you want your daughter to live a better life, then you have to go back to the old profession." Sean saw that Alfred kept silent, and of course it was impossible for him to continue to sit down with him. So he said again, "But if you let your daughter live with you and you are often not at home, what should she do? Or to put it in a nasty way, if something happens to you, what will she do? Let her go back and find that Fu Sir Reagan? Is it possible?"

Alfred was completely silent.

"If you are really good for your daughter, then you should go with me."

"Follow you?" Alfred froze for a moment, and then sneered. "What is the difference between being a mercenary with you and going back to my old business? It's more free, and it's much less dangerous."

Adventurers, mercenaries, and pioneers are the three largest guilds on the Marvel Continent. Unlike the Warriors' Association and the Mage's Association, these three have strict requirements for professional status. Any profession can join. But not everyone can join. If you want to join these three guilds, you have to go through a test to prove that you have enough strength. After all, the benefits of these three guilds are pretty good.

Among them, the missions in the Adventurer's Guild are the least dangerous. They are mainly regional exploration or intelligence gathering missions. Although combat is inevitable, there are generally few targeted battles, even if they are occasionally dealt with. The combat missions of Warcraft are also carried out with the people of the Demon Hunter Guild, and the degree of freedom is not comparable to that of the other two guilds. It doesn't matter if you don't accept the guild mission for a year or a half.

The disadvantage is that the task pay is the lowest among the three guilds, and a task is likely to take several months or even one or two years to complete.

The mercenary guild, compared with the pioneer guild, is not particularly dangerous. Generally speaking, only the stronger the guild will encounter the more dangerous tasks. In the mercenary guild, the difficulty and danger of the task are directly proportional to the reward, but the degree of freedom also varies from person to person. Compared with the leader of the mercenary group, it is entirely up to him to do the task or not to do the task. Forget it, and the members of the mercenary group can only act according to the command of the group leader.

As for the Pioneer Guild, its mission is the most dangerous, and it also has the principle of absolute command. In other words, if there is no proper reason, once you receive a letter from the Pioneer Guild, you must report it to the Pioneer Guild to discuss the purification of the black soil or the collection of resuscitation fire. However, because of the high risk, the welfare is the best among the three guilds, and the guild will also be responsible for the families of the members of the war dead.

Alfred had been the head of a mercenary group before, and he was very clear about some of the doorways in it. It was not that he had never thought about returning to the old business, but it was not easy for him to regroup a team. So at this moment, when he said that he wanted to be an adventurer, it was not an angry word or a silly remark, but a sign that he really thought about it, because the adventurer can be a lone ranger or a team, but the degree of freedom is Much higher than the mercenary group.

Unlike the mercenary group, once you join, you must obtain the consent of the group leader if you want to leave. Otherwise, you will have lost your job in this business.

In view of Alfred's dissatisfaction with Sir Fregan, and of course there are some grudges against Sean, who looks like a nobleman, but he will never admit or say these things.

"Follow me, hope is great." Xiao En smiled and said confidently, "As I said before, my mercenary group is destined to be famous in the world, so follow me, you won't suffer. ...And I can assure you that if you want to leave any day, I will never embarrass you. You can leave whenever you want."

Hearing this, Alfred was already obviously moved, but his years of experience still made him calm down quickly: "What do you use as a guarantee?"

"My personality and credibility." Sean said naturally.

Alfred has a black line on his face.

"Trust me, no one wants to damage his reputation." Seeing Alfred's expression, Sean knew what he was thinking, even when he said one of Alfred's most common words back then.

Sure enough, Alfred was taken aback. After a while, he raised his head and looked at Sean, and said in a deep voice, "Why would you want to recruit me?"

"Because I need you." Sean said naturally, the future God of War, who doesn't want it, "In my opinion, you are more important than you think. And I promise you, up to three years, three years. You can definitely reunite with your daughter afterwards, and whether you stay or leave, I will respect your choice."

Hearing such sincere words from Sean, Alfred finally nodded after being silent for a few seconds: "I understand, Commander."

Alfred is a very real person. Now that he has decided to join Sean's team, the head of this voice is also extremely natural, without any tweaking at all.

When Alfred uttered the word "captain", Sean knew he was right. Since it is already a real world, many things no longer need to follow the so-called strategy and task line. In addition to some necessary events that take time to form, he can start trying to get in touch with many things now.

But the most important thing at the moment is that I must set up a mercenary group's framework as soon as possible. Only in this way can Alfred's daughter be taken over, so that their family can be reunited, and Alfred will have a sense of belonging to his mercenary group, because at present, although Alfred has agreed to join, But in fact, he didn't have any sense of identity or belonging, let alone loyalty.

"Since you have decided to join, then I must also understand your strength." Xiao En suddenly said, "After all, you haven't had a weapon for more than a year, and you don't know if your skills are unfamiliar, so before noon tomorrow Go to the warm wind house in the south of the village to find me, I will test you, is this okay?"

"No." Alfred shook his head simply.
