

Lord of War 59

Chapter 59: . Side effects different from games

Alfred actually hoped to persuade Sean more, but seeing that Sean would insist on going on like this, and Cecilia also agreed to continue, he knew he couldn't say anything.

In the deepest layer of this crypt, there must be something precious enough to attract these two people, otherwise it won't make them so moved.

If Alfred is not curious, then it is naturally impossible, but no matter how curious he is, he will not ask questions. This is due to his personality. So now that Sean and Cecilia insisted on moving on, Alfred stopped talking and walked towards the second windless tunnel from the left.

Holding the long sword in his hand tightly, Alfred felt a peculiar power emerge from the sword and then passed into his body. This peculiar feeling made him feel that his strength was increasing, and his reaction ability and physical ability were also strengthened to a certain extent. The whole person seemed to have become much stronger. At this moment, Alfred knew that he had This long sword is definitely a magic weapon.

It is also possible to enhance a person's combat ability only with magic weapons.

Alfred tied this long sword to his back. He is not very good at using this type of weapon. If he can, he would actually use his fist to solve the problem. Fortunately, after putting the sword on his back, Alfred did not feel that the power that was constantly pouring in from the sword had disappeared. This relieved him a lot. After all, fighting with a weapon he was not used to, this is anything. A problem that a combat profession will avoid as much as possible.

Sean, the small team, moved on in this slightly strange atmosphere.

As the team continued to advance, the number of times Sean needed to stop and rest became more and more. By this time, Alfred and Cecilia had already seen it. When dealing with the Earth Demon Spider just now, Sean definitely used some powerful secret skills they didn't know, so he had So fierce and terrifying fighting ability, but this secret technique also has very powerful side effects, and now it is time for the side effects to take effect.

Adrenal stimulation, this is not a difficult skill to acquire, but this is only for players. For the people on the Marvel Continent, any technique that can improve their personal combat ability in a short period of time is a special secret technique that cannot be declared, and generally only those ancient wealthy families have it. Therefore, Alfred De and Cecilia think that Sean is using a secret technique, which is of course reasonable.

"We are here to rest." When the team came to a small cave, Alfred finally spoke, "When your condition is better, we will continue to move on. Now you are like this, it is not suitable for continuing to explore. And once you encounter danger in a narrow tunnel, you will not be able to protect you at all."

For Alfred's statement, Sean can only nod his head in agreement. His current situation is indeed a cumbersome.

The occurrence of this situation was unexpected by Sean.

In his impression, after using the adrenal hormone skill before level three, it does produce a "tired" debuff, but the duration of this debuff is only one hour. However, more than an hour has obviously passed since the debuff effect was produced, but the effect has not yet ended. This is indeed beyond Sean's expectation.

On the personal panel, the debuff in the abnormal status bar does not have the countdown that should appear in the game for general debuff. At this moment, Xiao En understood that in the real world, many abnormal states can no longer be dealt with with experience in the game. Debuffs like "tiredness" may really need a good rest before they can recover.

This is also the reason Sean agrees that Alfred should stay and rest in this small cave.

He doesn't want to be a burden in the team.

The 70% reduction in full power caused by fatigue is a very serious consequence, and after loaning Charles' saber to Alfred, his overall ability has declined even more severely. Now Sean's strength and stamina are only four points, and his agility is only three points. In this case, let alone the Earth Demon spider, even Cecilia, without magic, just slaps her fist, theoretically it can be. Beat Sean to death.

Shaun put down his backpack and took out a piece of food from it.

The food is very simple, only a pack of compressed instant dry food, a small bottle of water and a few sugar pills.

Compressed instant dry food is a kind of alchemical product, some like the compressed nutrient solution of the earth, it only has **** about two centimeters in length, like meat strips, and the food energy contained in it is almost equivalent to what an adult needs in a normal day. The serving size. However, the taste of this kind of thing is similar to chewing wax. It is not only plain and tasteless, but also easy to be thirsty. Therefore, there is also a sugar pill to adjust the taste and a small bottle of water to moisturize the throat.

This kind of configuration is a relatively common fast food product on Miracle Continent. Compared with pure dry food, this kind of food occupies a smaller space and has a sufficient amount. It is usually the standard equipment of the military of various countries. However, some wealthy adventurers or large and medium-sized mercenary groups will also purchase such materials for equipment to prevent unexpected needs. Of course, the price of each standard quota is naturally not low.

Alfred glanced at the backpack, which was full of more than 30 copies. It seemed that the 10-day weight that Sean said was not a joke. However, to purchase these 30 pieces of food, at least four Portoroa gold coins are needed. In Alfred's view, Sean is really not rich in general, and this also strengthens Alfred's ideas. The deepest treasure is definitely very valuable.

At least, Alfred had never heard of it before, and the three of them dared to explore the underground passage, and even prepared such a large amount of compressed instant dry food. Generally, to explore an underground passage, no matter what the situation is, it will inevitably be a complete ten-man standard team. The most important thing is that there must be one or two defenders, at least one thief, and one hunter. The demon hunter of the magic guild and a magician with rich experience in field battles, and then there must be a person with map drawing expertise, and the remaining few places will be considered for other combat occupations.

But Sean, not to mention defenders and thieves, not even a map-drawing expert, so even if he finds the treasure by then, how can he leave this underground passage?

Just now along the way, Alfred has already checked very carefully. This underground passage is definitely a product of the dungeon ethnic group, and it may even be the result of cooperation between multiple races.

Judging from the excavation traces, it looks like a kobold handwriting. The smooth stone walls on both sides of the passage should be the secretion of cave monsters, and the blueprint for the structure of the crypt passage should come from dark elves or crypt monsters. , And only these two races will excavate a two-meter-high underground passage, after all, the height advantage lies there.

However, from the existing clue analysis, Alfred is more inclined to the latter, because the cave worm is the domestication of the crypt demon.

If Sean knew Alfred's conjecture at this moment, he would surely give him a heartfelt admiration, because he had guessed the truth about the truth. This is also enough to prove that Alfred's previous years as the head of the group was not a joke, but a real material. At least in the understanding of the dungeon products, Alfred is far better than ordinary people. And this can't be easily summed up without experience in long-term battles with dungeon creatures.

But Alfred didn't say it, and Sean naturally didn't know. After he insisted on eating his instant compressed dry food, he fell asleep. The effect of fatigue is too great for him now. Deep.

After seeing Sean falling asleep, Alfred said helplessly: "This underground passage is not easy, we still have time to look back."

"Sean won't agree." Cecilia ate the dry food silently and shook her head. "There are things that must be obtained in the deepest part. And we have already come here, and we have exposed our whereabouts. If we are now If we leave, maybe those who follow us will take advantage of the fishermen's profit."

"You already know?" Alfred raised his brow slightly.

"Sean found out a long time ago." Cecilia said softly, "He originally planned to use this underground passage to completely bury these people here."

Alfred is a bit awe-inspiring, and Sean's hand is not only big enough, but also ruthless. He couldn't help but begin to sympathize with those who followed Sean, but in the final analysis, it was those people who became greedy. If it weren't for Sean's wealth, the mercenaries in Cerroda would not act like this. .

However, this has long been an unspoken rule in the industry. Many mercenaries may become bandits and bandits when they turn around. Not to mention looting business trips, even other mercenary groups are likely to take action. Anyway, as long as they are handled cleanly and no one reports, the mercenary guild will not investigate the tricks in it—this kind of problem, not only There are mercenary guilds, adventurers guilds and demon hunters guilds.

The only thing that can be called absolutely clean and disciplined is the Pioneer Guild, because this is a guild that is really working hard to save the world.

"Oh." Alfred sighed, "In fact, my eyelids have been twitching that night. I should have known for a long time that something bad would happen to join your team, but I didn't expect it to happen. So fast.... In this underground passage, is there a crypt demon?"

"En." Cecilia didn't deny it. "Sean said that the deepest inhabitants are a group of crypt demons, but they were expelled and belonged to rebels. The number is not very large, there are probably only a dozen or twenty. . But the real trouble is that they have three cave insects. According to Sean, they want the'tail' to be used as bait, and we will fight again after we lose and lose."

Alfred's eyelids twitched a few times, more than a dozen or twenty. Isn't this number called?
