

Lord of War 75

Chapter 75: .Forced Catalysis

Cecilia walked from the side to the bottom platform, only to find that a depression was dug in the platform. The depression was not too deep, but it was full of black liquid. This black liquid has no fishy or peculiar smell, but a light scent can be smelled close to it. The only remaining spider eggs are placed in the black water, and half of them are soaked in the black water. When the egg gleamed with a burst of silver-blue light, the intensity of the black water would fade a bit.

"How?" Sean also walked down.

"The color is very good." Excitement appeared in Cecilia's eyes. The magician's weird character that likes to study seems to be awakening in her. "It seems that these people really want to cultivate a land. The cave spider queen is really big and ambitious."

"So, it's not a problem to cultivate a Crypt Ice Spider Queen?" Sean was beaming.

"If you just cultivate a Crypt Ice Spider Queen, it's really not a problem." Cecilia nodded, "But if you consume all of these spider eggs, you can actually breed two Crypt Cold Spiders. Yes, don't you think about it?"

Catalysis, in fact, is not necessarily a good thing.

The adult crypt ice spider is rated as a second-level monster, but through continuous hunting and absorbing magic and elemental power, it can gradually evolve into a fifth-level crypt ice spider. The crypt ice spider was just an individual at first, but they will gradually form a group through continuous running-in and annexation. Once a group is formed, the most powerful crypt ice spider in it will be Transformed into a four-level crypt ice spider queen.

Similarly, the Crypt Cold Spider Queen was born in this way. The crypt ice spider can evolve into the crypt spider, and the crypt ice spider queen may naturally evolve into the crypt spider queen.

This kind of evolution is an adjustment of one's own situation after gradually adapting to the changes in this world. This is the eternal law of the entire world.

But catalysis is a heterogeneous distortion phenomenon that violates this law. It is an evolutionary way of directly infusing power into the target's body, catalyzing the expansion of the target's power. The goal of forcibly evolving in this way, although once born, it has extremely powerful strength, but it basically cuts off the possibility of continuing to evolve. In other words, if it really spawns a crypt ice spider queen , Then it can only stop here.

This point, the people in the Medusa Chamber of Commerce also knew very well, so they wanted to breed a Crypt Spider Queen. Because this is the highest stage that the Crypt Ice Spider family can grow to, anyway, the Medusa Chamber of Commerce has never thought about controlling it. They just want a crazy chaos, but in fact, Sean is also a little curious. I remember that this kind of thing never happened in the game, so what happened in this crypt?

I'm afraid there will be no chance to know again.

And hearing what Cecilia said at this time, of course Sean also knew exactly what she meant.

Although the Crypt Ice Spider Queen and Crypt Cold Spider are both Level 4 monsters, the combat power that the Crypt Ice Spider Queen can exert is naturally not as good as the Crypt Cold Spider. The latter is a warcraft dedicated to fighting, unlike the former that has been transformed into a silently dedicated existence for the development of a group, so if you consider the current practical value, the value of the two crypt cold spiders is greater, and Can be "put into use" faster.

Unlike the Crypt Ice Spider Queen, even after hatching, you have to wait for it to grow up. This process is the fastest in a few months. After laying eggs, waiting for the spider eggs to hatch, and then forming a sufficient number of scales, this process will take at least one to two years.

is equivalent to saying that if a crypt ice spider queen is catalyzed, it will take at least two and a half years to start generating benefits. And the most important point is that it is obviously impossible for this Crypt Ice Spider Queen to evolve into the Crypt Cold Spider Queen. This is where Cecilia feels a little disappointed-according to normal logic, after signing the Warcraft Contract , Then even if this monster evolves more powerfully in the future, it still has to obey the owner's orders.

Because of this, Cecilia took it for granted that since Sean knew how to control the "Crypt Ice Spider Queen" Warcraft contract, the Crypt Ice Spider Queen lost the possibility of evolution, and naturally it was worthless. But how did she know that the so-called "Warcraft Contract" that Sean knew was actually just a bug that was circulated in the game at the beginning, but this bug was later officially fixed. Of course, the Warcraft controlled by this bug could not be left to Players.

In this world, there is no "official" such a behemoth that is even more buggy than Sean, so he would say such a thing.

It's just that this bug can only forcibly sign a contract with boss-level monsters below level 4, so if the Crypt Ice Spider Queen is catalyzed into the Crypt Cold Spider Queen, Sean has nothing to do. Of course, if the Crypt Ice Spider Queen spawned by this spider egg did not have this side effect, Sean would be very happy, but it is a pity that there are only two ways to give birth to the Crypt Ice Spider Queen: one is forced catalysis, and the other is from Naturally born among ethnic groups.

"Don't think about it." Sean shook his head, and simply denied Cecilia's idea.

"Okay." Cecilia sighed slightly disappointed. "But there is no need to do anything here for the time being. The nutrient solution in the catalytic tank is still very high, so there is no need to continue for the time being. Instead, it is the second platform and the third platform. The level platform needs another operation."

Sean didn't understand these things, so naturally he wouldn't say anything. Anyway, Cecilia would just do what he said.

Under Cecilia's command, Sean quickly flattened the burned areas on the third-level platform. Those spider eggs that were too close to the burned area were naturally more or less affected. It is obvious that it is not suitable for nurturing. So in accordance with Cecilia's instructions, Sean quickly smashed these spider eggs and poured all the liquid on top of the other spider eggs, and it was glorious in an instant.

Sean sensitively noticed that the feeling of holding these spider eggs in his hand is very different from the touch in the game.

The most obvious point is that the spider eggs are not as soft and sticky as imagined, but they have a hard feeling. When you touch them with your hands, you can feel the ice cold like bones, judging from the degree of human structure. , Holding these spider eggs is actually a very dangerous thing. After being knocked open, the spider egg has a crisp feeling, just like an egg, but the liquid flowing out of it has a very unpleasant taste, not only very viscous, but even some can be clearly seen. It seems that the formed spider legs and the like are very disgusting.

Moreover, the silver-blue brilliance also has a very obvious sense of penetration. Even if Sean closes his eyes, he can still feel the illusion of whiteness. This is a kind of damage to his eyesight, I don't know. As a dungeon race, the Crypt Demon could endure this kind of glare.

"What are you doing?"

Alfred was in a deep sleep, but he was awakened by this strong light. His first instinct was that he was attacked, but after waking up, he saw the actions of Sean and Cecilia. , They also relax.

As for Alfred, Sean had nothing to hide so far, so he said his plan again.

"Are you really sure that it's possible?" Alfred's face was surprised.

"It's catalysis anyway, it doesn't matter if you fail." Sean shrugged, his face was indifferent, "It's rare that there are so many experiments here, don't you plan to try it?"

"Okay!" Alfred nodded heavily.

With the help of Alfred, the speed progress on the third-level platform is naturally much faster. The spider eggs were picked out by Cecilia, and the coverage area was already circled. At this point, she really showed the qualities and attitudes that a scientific researcher on earth should have, but when she thinks of herself Having burned so many spider eggs, Cecilia had a heartache for a while, acting like a miser. This was because of a problem developed after wandering with Sean for a long time.

After tossing for a while, he finally reprocessed the spider eggs on the third-level platform and the second-level platform. As a result, there are only less than a hundred spider eggs left on the third level platform. According to Cecilia's words, after a few more visits, there should only be 20 or 30 eggs left. These are enough. The level placed on the second-level platform; while the spider eggs on the second-level platform, although they were not damaged by fireball burning, they were originally scarce. After being reorganized by Cecilia, they were only There were less than forty pieces left, and only one of them was qualified to be placed on the first-level platform, but Cecilia didn't move it because he felt that the color of this spider egg was not very good.

"According to this situation, are we going to guard these spider eggs in the next few days?" Alfred just helped and listened to Cecilia's explanation. He also had a foundation for this kind of catalytic work. Understanding.

"No need." Cecilia shook her head, "Normally, once every two to three days is fine, mainly because we don't have time, so we only once a day." Having said that, she glanced at Sean. After confirming that Sean did not respond, he continued: "After a little processing here, we are leaving. According to Sean's estimation, we should be back in three days. The time is about the same, and then we have to rest here. a period of time."

"Where to go?" Alfred asked suspiciously.

"It should be an area on the next level." Xiao En said softly, "Anyway, there are only four caves. Except for a ventilated tunnel, a tunnel from when we came, and a bloodweeping mercenary group escaped, only one remains. It's on the way."

Alfred nodded, and did not ask anything. Although he was really curious about the purpose of Sean's journey, he also knew that if Sean didn't say it, he was not qualified to ask.

Only this time, Sean didn't intend to hide from Alfred, so he simply said, "The drawing of the Bavarian armband is in the deepest part of the crypt."
