

Lord of War 77

Chapter 77: .Not in the eye

"Defective product?" Alfred walked up with some curiosity, and took the gloves up.

It is said that it is a glove, but it is actually a metal product, much like the arm armor of a knight armor.

The length of this arm armor is just enough to completely protect Alfred's arm. It is pitch black and dull, with a layer of matte material obviously brushed on it. The structure of the fingers is no different from the general handguards. They are all three-section structures, but the inner and outer sides of the bend are obviously paved with soft scales. This is to prevent the fingers from being cut due to slashing; The inner lining of the arm armor does not know what structure it is, but the hand does not feel cold and hard when it stretches out. It seems that there is a layer of soft pad for protection, and the hard armor on the surface is not locked by layers of armor. It looks more like a one-piece watering, which can well prevent the slashing of the sword and the piercing damage of the spear.

No matter from which aspect, this arm armor is obviously made by special methods. It is far from the modern arm armor making methods, and the material is even better than the general arm armor. Sean knew about this piece of equipment because he had seen it on the forum, but the data in the game is completely different from that in reality. This handguard, which is modeled on the outer armour of Bavaria, is also because it has no core. Loop and cannot become a magical equipment.

In this world, the so-called magical equipment, for Sean, the most intuitive manifestation is that it has additional attributes. For example, increase strength, agility, or have some other effects, no matter how bad they are, they have the ability to withstand a certain degree of damage.

In addition, all other equipment is just ordinary equipment, and the best is high-quality.

If it is in the game, in fact, high-quality equipment may not be better than magic equipment. Some powerful and high-quality high-quality equipment is even easier to use than silver. But in reality, such a situation is impossible, because this type of equipment is no longer simply data that increases defense power and attack power, but is purely based on hardness and sharpness. To understand the data.

And this kind of equipment, Sean really doesn't care much.

【Bavarian arm armor outer armor (defective product), high quality, hardness 25, strength 17, immune to slashing and stabbing damage. Equipment requirements: Strength 25, Stamina 25. 】

【Item description: This is an imitation made from the Bavarian arm armor, but because it lacks the energy supply of the core circuit, it can only be regarded as a defective product. However, because the materials used are very special, even defective products are much stronger than ordinary handguards. However, if a replacement core circuit can be found, it may be possible to make this handguard a real Bavarian arm armor imitation. . 】

"This handguard is useless to me, just take it with you." Sean's eyes have scanned the properties of this piece of equipment, and found that the data on it is really different from the game, and there are more equipment requirements. "It uses crafting materials. It's very rare, and ordinary weapons won't cause any damage if hit on it. You can even use it as a shield or blade."

Sean didn't know exactly what the strength meant, but he had seen the strength indicator on the blade that Alfred wore before, but it was only ten points. It should be the damage that the blade can cause. And Hardness Sean is very clear. Anything in this world will have hardness data, which means the ability of this thing to withstand. Once it is attacked with more than this degree of power, it may be destroyed. thing.

However, the hardness of the general military standard shield is only around sixteen points, but this defective product is 25 points high. Therefore, Sean said that it is normal to use this thing as a shield or a fist blade. matter. Besides, Alfred himself seems to be very familiar with boxing skills. In fact, Sean also thought about whether or not to find a way to get Alfred closer to the transfer of boxing fighters.

Alfred didn't know that Sean had begun to plan for his future development. His eyes had always been fixed on this armor. Although it was not a real Bavarian armor, it also made him very interested, and at this moment Hearing that Sean said so, naturally he wouldn't be polite anymore. Although this handguard may be a little heavy because of the material, it is not a burden to Alfred. After putting it on, I tried it a few times and it felt just right.

Shaun's gaze retracted from this piece of equipment.

He knew that this arm armor could not really enhance Alfred's strength, but it could give him a stronger combat effectiveness.

In this way, the cave naturally has no value.

Shaun, Cecilia, and Alfred were not even interested in wandering around other places, and immediately rushed back without stopping.

Because they knew very well that Sean actually valued the spider eggs in that cave very much, and he had to be vigilant before coming, but there was no need for this on the way back. Although I don't know why the Crypt Demons disappeared, Sean can probably guess it. I'm afraid the Crypt Demons in this crypt channel are already dead. After all, there was only one player in the game. Obviously a lot of people came this time.

Sean is very suspicious, whether this crypt is considered a copy at all.

If it is a dungeon, then obviously there should be a boss guard. It is impossible to get this production drawing so easily. Even the gains from this trip are far higher than the normal income of a dungeon. Although the magician of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce may really be treated as a boss, and whether it is the means or the xinxing, it is indeed cruel, but for Sean, it is not as good as the previous one in the Starfall Forest. That mutant corpse demon.

It is not a copy, but Sean can get enough experience points by killing the crypt demon, the magician of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce, and the various monsters in those crypts. He has now raised the [Scholar] level to level 3. As long as the [Warrior] class level is raised by two levels, he can go to the job transfer task. The only thing that made Sean feel a little pity, was that he killed those members of the mercenary group without any experience.

With this doubt, Xiao En has rushed back to the cave entrance. This time, he traveled faster than before, and the time before and after was just three days.

"Don't you think it's too deceptive to do this?"

As everyone entered this artificially built cultivation cave, a familiar cry echoed in the cave.

"Too much deception?" Another voice that was obviously replying also rang, and there was a bit of disdain in the words, "It is enough to give you one if you are willing to give you one. Don't forget where this is, even if we Kill you, and none of these spider eggs will be distributed to you. What can you do?"

Hearing this, Sean's face turned black on the spot.

He had already regarded all the spider eggs in this cave as his own trophy, but now someone dared to grab his trophy, how did this make Sean not angry!

I didn't even want to rush out immediately, standing above the grading platform dug out by the Crypt Demon, and staring at the people on the fourth level platform coldly.

A total of nearly twenty people stood on these four-level platforms. The clothes on these people were obviously damaged. Obviously, they were only found here after a series of deadly battles. However, these nearly twenty people are not a whole. From the scattered positions of the opponent and the vigilant look between each other, Sean can judge that the opponent is four groups of people, probably from four different mercenaries. Tuan, one of them happened to be his old acquaintance.

Blood Weeping Mercenary Group.

It's just that the largest villain mercenary group in Cerroda Village has become the most miserable among the four groups at this moment. Six people have escaped, but now there are only three people left, including the group leader.

The scene in front of him happened to be the situation that Shaun was most worried about, but he didn't expect it but it was inevitable that such a situation would appear after all. Only by scanning Sean's eyes, he could tell that the Blood Weeping Mercenary Corps must have offended people too cruelly. This time it fell into the hands of others, and naturally there was nothing to end. So in order to save their lives, they had to give people to them. Brought to this cave, hoping to use this cave full of spider eggs in exchange for his own dog's life.

This kind of thing is naturally understandable to the mercenaries. If someone really emptied the spider eggs in the cave, Sean could only admit that he was unlucky. After all, he had expected such a thing before, but anyway, the drawings of the Bavarian armbands were enough to make up for the loss. But now this scene was bumped into by himself, so if he didn't fight for this tone, Sean would be ashamed of his identity as a player.

So, when these people saw the appearance of Sean, several people who seemed to be the heads of the mercenary group showed a trace of vigilance, and they obviously regarded Sean as someone who was going to get a share of the pie. However, after seeing the fluctuations in the breath on Sean's body, the vigilance on his face disappeared, replaced by a kind of disdain, and even mocking Sean's identity.

Only the head of the Blood Weeping Mercenary Group and the other two people changed their expressions, and they quickly put the spider eggs back in their hands, with a look of embarrassment. This action naturally attracted the attention of other people, and the ridicule around them gradually became less, and everyone's faces showed a little bit of doubt.

"Don't you know that these spider eggs are mine?" Xiao En's face was cold at the moment. Although he does not have the strength of the lower level bronze, when the aura of his body exudes, it is definitely not comparable to these people. You must know that he can remain indifferent even in the confrontation with Alfred, "And the weapons of the Crypt Demon that you are holding are all mine."

In order to make things easier, Sean naturally left those weapons aside, but he did not expect to be held by these robber-like mercenaries at this moment. Fortunately, he had already put ten grams of amber hard armor in his backpack, otherwise I was afraid that this thing would also fall into other people's pockets.

"It's such a big tone." A burly man with a stature almost comparable to Hank sneered. "When you see us here, you dare to say that things belong to you. Didn't you put us in your eyes? ."

The laughter around is louder.

The cold color on Sean's face faded slightly, and the corners of his mouth raised slightly, revealing a slightly shy smile, but everyone can see that this smile is a sincere smile from the heart. It's just that when everyone saw this smile on Xiao En's face, they couldn't help but feel a chill, as if they were being stared at by a hunter, but Xiao En's next sentence made these people's chills disappear. The above is even more angry.

"You are right, I really didn't put you in my eyes."
