

Lord of War 80

Chapter 80: .Master Yoda

This is a very dilapidated house.

The house is not high, only two floors, and it is still Robes' architectural style.

This architectural style is mainly embodied in the saving of space, with a natural sense of solemnity. It originated from the change of the Grotto architectural style. It was born in the mid-Renaissance era. It was popular for a while, but in the end, because this architectural style was too gloomy and solemn, it was not as high-spirited as Grotto's architectural style. Therefore, from the middle and late stages of the revival era, this architectural style has never appeared again.

Judging from this, this dilapidated house has at least hundreds of years of history.

But at this time, Sean, who was standing at the door of the house, did not come to be an architect, so he was even less interested in taking a look at the broken walls around the house. He checked his own situation again-it was not clothing or anything else, but a personal attribute panel and skill list, and after confirming that there were no errors, he reached out and knocked on the door.

"Boom boom."

The sound coming from the thick door is slightly different from the usual knocking.

After a while, the door finally opened.

There is no creak when the door of an old house is opened, nor the sound of a heavy wooden door being worn out on the ground. Everything is a little different from Sean's imagination.

The door of the room opened silently.

Standing behind the door is a skinny old man. His height is estimated to be a little shorter than Cecilia, maybe not even 1.5 meters.

The old face is full of wrinkles, the hair is almost falling off, only a few sparse silver hairs stick to the scalp, he is wearing a thin white linen, the lower body is a pair of brown pants, bare feet, his He was leaning on a cane in his right hand-but Sean knew that this was not an ordinary cane, there was a straight sword hidden inside, and his left hand was still on the edge of the door.

This is a skinny old man who seems to die at any time. His slightly trembling appearance makes people feel a little worried about his body.

But all this is just an illusion.

Xiao En clearly knows that this old man is a real Tier 5 powerhouse. According to the strength of Miracle Continent, this is a low-ranking silver.

Shaun may not understand the strength rating in this world, but he will never forget that in the game, hundreds of Tier 3 and Tier 4 players came to this little old man's troubles, and he was easily taken care of by him. It's a spike, and this alone is enough to show that this little old man is by no means a messy guy. Precisely because of this, the look of respect on Sean's face at the moment is naturally not a fake.

On the one hand because of the strength of this little old man, on the other hand, it is because this little old man holds the key to him becoming a curse-printed swordsman.

"Who are you looking for?" The little old hair made a series of coughing sounds. After finally stopping the violent coughing, he asked slightly weakly.

"Hello, I'm here to find Master Yoda." Shaun answered as much as possible in accordance with the process strategy written on the forum.

He knows that in order to receive this hidden job, you need to do a few pre-requisite tasks, but these tasks are interspersed throughout the Gleason area. When they are all cleared according to the process line, they don't know a few months later, Sean I'm going back to the Kingdom of Celian soon, so I don't have time to clear these tasks slowly, so I can only take a risk.

He bet on the authenticity of this world!

Take the simplest reasoning, there is a murder case in the game world, but you can only find the evidence through the program set by the game itself; but in reality, you don't need it, you only need to suspect to be targeted. The investigation, even to find out the evidence first, and then to reverse the calculation.

This is the biggest difference.

"I am Yoda." The old man glanced at Sean, coughed again, and said weakly, "But it's not a master."

"Are you Master Yoda?" Shaun didn't seem to hear the latter sentence, with a surprised expression, "I heard that you were a master of swordsmanship before, so I came to visit you specially and ask you to give some guidance. My swordsmanship."

"Child, you may have identified the wrong person." Yoda shook his head slightly, "How can a person like me be able to hold a sword."

Seeing Yoda's attitude so stiff, Sean felt a hint of surprise in his heart. Because according to the strategy in the original forum, if he fails to meet the requirements of the contact conditions, he will not even bother to talk and close the door directly, but now he has not closed the door directly, which gives Sean hope.

"Master!" Without thinking about it, Xiao En simply knelt on the ground and dropped his head. "I have traveled in this kingdom for a long time, and I am fortunate to hear something about your past deeds. I know that I came here rashly. A very rude thing, but I have been stuck in this bottleneck for too long. As long as there is a glimmer of hope, I will not give up."

Yudali's muddy eyes stared at Sean quietly, and no one knew what the master was thinking.

"I haven't taught anyone for a long time." Yoda said suddenly.

Shaun was a little bit slanderous in his heart. He actually didn't need Yoda at all. As long as this daunting little old man revealed some secrets about the Swordsman, he could naturally complete the transfer. But at this moment, he still has to show some surprises and surprises in a timely manner, raising his head and looking at Yoda with excitement. If he remembers correctly, the next task will depend on whether he can take the job as a curse-seal swordsman. .

"My sword skills are not pure swordsmanship." Yoda turned around and walked slowly into the room. Sean would follow him immediately, but when he entered the room he wanted to close the door, he was shocked. He found that the door of the room was heavier than he had imagined, as if it were a stone door.

"Close the door."

Ahead, Yoda's weak voice came.

Sean is not sure if this is a test, but he also understands that since he can be employed without completing a bunch of prerequisite tasks like a game, he also loses the protection of the game system as long as he fails. If you fail, then it is very likely that you will immediately lose your inauguration for this task. Therefore, Sean acted a little cautiously, but he didn't know that this scene fell in Yoda's eyes, and it became full of fear and desire for strength.

Finally closed the door, but Sean was so tired and sweaty. He estimated that even if the door were to be attacked by him, it would probably take a day or two before he could break in. Thinking of this, Sean couldn't help but stretched out his hand and knocked on the wall next to him. Sure enough, he realized that this wall is also very different from the general wall. It looks much thicker and the material is likely to be mixed with other things. thing.

"Your observation is very careful." Yoda didn't know when, and walked down from the second floor again, holding a few books in his hand. "This is a good thing, at least for your upcoming study. The important point."

Sean nodded, and walked over respectfully, without making any sound.

The lighting in the house is not good, or it should be said that the site selection of this house is very problematic. Its windows are opened in the southeast or northwest, so that naturally only a small part of the sun can shine through the light, and the place where the light shines is also very limited. The whole house looks extremely gloomy, which is also the later architectural style. One of the main reasons for discarding and not using.

"If you want me to give you pointers, you need to spend a long time here." Yoda sat on a chair and put a few books in his hand on a side table, "My sword skills are as good as anything. The sword skills of a swordsman are different. If it is just a pure swordsmanship contest, it is difficult for me to win the opponent, but if it is an open skill, I absolutely dare to say that few swordsman can win me."

"Isn't this nonsense, swordsman is only a Tier 4 profession. In this world where victory is determined by strength, which Tier 4 profession can win your Tier 5 profession, if you have the ability, you can go to Levi, Beth, and Gerant. Compare it and see if they don't abuse you into a scum."

Of course, Sean will not say these words, unless he is too stupid to save. So Yoda saw this young man who was about to become his student, and nodded his head with a cunning expression, expressing the seriousness a student should have.

This student seems to be pretty good. — Yoda was a little happy in his heart, but his haggard face did not show up: "My sword skills require a certain foundation of magic, so you should read these books first. At the very least. After learning the basic theories above, I have a way to formally point you..."

Yoda's words continue, but Sean has already begun to commit a player's fault: too lazy to bother.

His gaze fell on the books on the table, and when he touched his hand slightly, Xiao En's whole body shuddered like an electric shock. It's just that this movement is too subtle, so the master Yoda did not notice Sean's strangeness.

He didn't know that Sean would have this kind of tremor. In fact, he thought that when his hand touched those books, a system message popped up.

[The skill "Basic knowledge of magic learning" is detected, and learning requires a little proficiency. Do you want to learn?]

This is a skill that a magician apprentice must master. The role of the game is that the mp recovery speed is +1 in the non-combat state, and only ten points are added to the full tenth level. For those magicians who often have thousands of mp points, it is simply It is a tasteless skill. If you can choose, any magician player will not waste proficiency points to activate this skill, but there is really no way, because there is no way to learn magic without activating this skill.

It is the same as [Magic Knowledge (Bronze)], grasping all the relevant knowledge and skills of magic forging.

Want to understand this, Sean would naturally only consume a little proficiency to activate this skill. Who made the curse seal swordsman actually a kind of magic system in disguise?

Yoda's voice continued: "... During this time, you will stay here and study hard."

"Master, I am finished." Shaun said softly and interrupted the master's voice.

"Hmm." Master Yoda nodded, "...very good, as long as you finish studying, I..."

Wait, what seems to be wrong?