

Lord of War 85

Chapter 85: . Purgatory Kobold

The flame born from the fire element is a kind of flame that uses magic power as fuel. As long as the supply of magic power is maintained, the flame is extremely difficult to extinguish. Although the general fire elemental magic once cast, it will automatically cut off the caster's supply of magic power, but its super-combustibility is not so easy to extinguish, plus the fire element has great lethality to many creatures. , So many elemental wizards will especially prefer the fire element.

This is also the reason why there will be entanglement flames in the first two mainstream skills of the curse seal swordsman. Even in the earliest genre, a class of cursed swordsmen who pursue special damage effects were extended. They abandoned the skill of light body art and devoted all their proficiency points to many magic with special effects with the entangling flame as the core. Here, an extreme fighting method with magic as the mainstay and swordsmanship as the supplement is formed.

However, in this world, there will always be some creatures that are completely immune to special damage—the demons from the abyss of purgatory are completely immune to all fire damage.

Purgatory kobolds are not real demons from the plane of abyssal purgatory, but a kobold with demon blood. No one can understand the origin of this kind of creature, but one thing is certain is that the kobolds are still a kind of kobolds, and they will not be rejected by the group, even because their strength is strong enough. In the ethnic group will also hold some more important positions.

Sean's sharp eyes walked around this purgatory dog head, looking for a location that might be the key point. He has a wealth of experience in fighting against demons, demons and many other alien creatures, but he has not much experience in fighting kobolds, so for a while, Sean didn't know what to do: he should follow the dog's head. To judge by human standards, or to judge by demons?

But the only thing that is certain at present is the resistance of the opponent.

I saw Sean gently swinging the long sword, and the flames entwined with the sword instantly splashed into countless sparks, slowly falling from mid-air, like scarlet snowflakes.

Since the opponent is immune to fire attribute damage, it is naturally meaningless to continue to use Entangling Flame.

The Purgatory Kobold took a step forward carefully and cautiously, its figure bowed slightly, and changed the dagger in his left hand to the right hand—the original dagger in his right hand, which was now nailed to the trunk a few meters away. Sean noticed that when the kobold was changing the dagger to the other hand, it glanced at the position of the other dagger, and then quickly retracted its gaze. Although it moved very quickly, it still remained. Captured by Sean.

Double dagger thieves?

Sean frowned slightly. He didn't think this kobold's action was meaningless, because in many places in this world, it can be judged by the behavior of "Miracle", such as the principle of weapon proficiency. . If this purgatory kobold is really good at two-handed weapons, then if only a single dagger is left, its combat ability must be weakened by at least one third.

Thief is a profession that pursues agility. The double-dagger thieves who use two daggers have a double balance of power and agility. They do not pursue extremes like ordinary thieves, but pay more attention to the balance and exchange of offense and defense. Such thieves are on the front. In the confrontation, he has stronger combat effectiveness and survivability, especially this is a purgatory kobold. After getting the improvement of blood abilities, the purgatory kobold even has a weak endurance value, which has been compensated for.

However, one of the main reasons why Sean won't fully believe that the purgatory kobold is the double-dagger thief is that the purgatory kobold first adopted assassination techniques. However, ordinary double-dagger thieves would not choose to assassinate, but would use sneak attacks that believed more in their own combat capabilities. Even if the sneak attack failed, the battle could be turned into a head-on confrontation to achieve the goal of killing the opponent.

Of course, if he can see the attributes of this kobold, Sean doesn't even need to make so many judgments, just look at the attributes, that's enough.

But the problem is that his [True Eye] actually failed this time!

At this moment, the Purgatory Kobold suddenly attacked Sean!

It leaned down and rushed over in a swift step, and its right paw leaned forward, but instead of swinging a dagger, it made a straight punch, and the serrated dagger was close to the wrist. Sean is no stranger to this attack technique, but to his a little surprise, the speed of this purgatory kobold is not as fast as he imagined, and the force of his shot does not seem to be very good. There is no whistling wind at all. .

Shaun threw this doubt into his mind, and pushed forward without retreating. The long sword in his hand pierced out from under his ribs at a tricky angle, hitting the heart of the kobold infernal.

Even though it was protected by leather armor, this kobold didn't dare to fight Sean. He immediately retracted his hand and shook his wrist slightly, and the dagger in his hand suddenly popped out like a spring. I saw the kobold twisted slightly, and the right hand that was protecting his chest fell homeopathically, just hitting Sean's long sword. The two weapons collided, and this time they finally bounced a little spark.

The faint murmur sounded in the kobold's keen hearing, and it could even tell that it was a short syllable of a magic spell.

Its pupils shrunk slightly, and the strength in its hands increased a bit, and pressed it desperately towards Sean. As long as it can be lowered by an inch, it is confident that it can stab the dagger into the opponent's heart, but this inch, no matter what It can't be suppressed!

Shaun could feel the pressure of the opponent, and also felt it, this purgatory kobold really did his best. But it is precisely because of this that Sean is even more puzzled. A kobold with a demon bloodline is actually about the same as himself in the competition of strength and endurance. This is by no means a normal thing!

But no matter how puzzled, Sean's incantation has already been chanted.

A unique warm current flows out of the body, and then blends into the limbs, making Sean feel a light and comfortable feeling. It was as if gravity had no effect on him at this moment, but the strength in his body had not been reduced by this, and the long sword in his hand was still wrestling with this kobold.

In the next second, Xiao En's figure turned slightly, and the whole person had already walked around. His speed is extremely fast, and his movements are extremely light. When he turned around, the purgatory kobold hadn't even noticed it. It still pressed all the strength of his body up. The result of this was naturally that it lost its wrestling strength. Subject, causing his own center of gravity to completely deviate, and his entire body leaned forward.

How could Sean give up such a good opportunity, the long sword in his hand would cut off the head of this purgatory kobold.

It's just that although this purgatory kobold is not up to the normal level in strength and speed, its reaction ability is still extremely fast after all. Knowing that I had missed the first opportunity, but did not give up, but used the tail to flick at Sean's waist and abdomen-the force of this blow was extremely fierce, and the tail was like a steel whip, whistling. The wind blows away.

If it weren't for the height, the Kobold of Purgatory would be thrown at Sean's head this time.

Hearing the whistling sound in his ears, Sean's movements kept changing, but he changed accordingly. The sword that had been slashed at the head of the kobold infernal suddenly turned to the tail that slashed at his waist. Sean knew very well that even if he really killed the kobold with a single sword, he would be swept away by the tail at this inertial speed. With his current physical strength, the lightest end would be internal injuries. Hit hard.

Shaun dare not try his current physical strength, so this sword will only turn halfway.

The sword falls!

The whistling sound stopped suddenly!

The Purgatory Kobold let out a cry!

But under this wailing, the kobold ran toward the left front at a faster speed. At the end of there was a big tree with its second serrated dagger nailed to the trunk. Although it cut off a tail and slightly lost its balance ability, as long as it can get back the second serrated dagger, it believes that it should still have the power to fight.

And the most important point is that, by taking this opportunity, it has been out of the opponent's attack range. When the opponent stabilizes his center of gravity and wants to make another move, he has already moved more than one meter away from the opponent!

But, is a distance of one meter really safe?

The purgatory kobold only felt that suddenly there was a powerful force behind him rushing towards him, shaking it completely out of balance. Then it felt a sharp pain coming from the position of its back vest, and it didn't even have time to figure out what happened. The boundless darkness had begun to completely surround its consciousness.

Looking at the kobold inferno slowly falling down, Xiao En slowly dropped his right hand holding the sword. A whirlwind air current around the sword was spinning slightly around the tip of the sword.

This step is the real horror of the wind pressure. Although the distance is indeed slightly shorter, it can indeed be compared with the sword in terms of power. You must know that being able to exert the power of exhalation is exclusive to the level 5 or higher class, but if Sean wants to use this technique, the physical and mental consumption is indeed a lot larger, including the previous entanglement. With the flames and the wind pressure, plus the light body technique and the second wind pressure now, Xiao En already felt dizzy.

However, after solving this opponent with such a method, Sean actually felt relaxed for a while.

Although this kobold purgatory is indeed a bit weird, it is much weaker than the average kobold purgatory, but the most important point is that the opponent does not have a double dagger in his hands, so he chooses a lot of cheap, and he doesn't know. He has already been transferred to [Cursed Swordsman], and his combat effectiveness has increased a lot, and he has some special methods, otherwise the battle would not end so easily.

But when Sean calmed down his short breath for a while, and then turned his gaze back on the kobold, the whole person let out an exclamation: "Summon a creature!?"