

Lord of War 97

Chapter 97: .demon

"Martin!" Mario stared at Martin who had died as a result of Sean's sneak attack with a dull expression on his face.

He did not expect that Martin would die!

Even in the previous battle, he has been suppressed by Alfred, but Mario still has confidence in Martin. For this young man who was adopted by him, Mario, who was childless, really regarded him as his own son. But now, just watching Martin die tragically in front of him, Mario seemed to be ten years old at this moment, and the whole person looked a little bit depressed and discouraged.

At this point, Mario's left and right arms have finally been completely removed!

Seems to be stimulated by Martin's death, the Black Cavalry Guards suddenly broke out with stronger combat effectiveness. They disregarded their own injuries and forced a counterattack. Instead, the garrison of Timbersburg suffered heavy casualties in this confrontation, with only a few. More than a dozen people were lucky not to die. And now, what tactics and strategies have all become a joke, and finally wake up, aware of the crisis, the garrison of Tindersberg, no longer have the courage to attack the Black Cavalry Guard.

The fear and anxiety in their hearts have caused them to continue to retreat. It seems that only in this way can they feel a sense of warmth and security.

Cecilia sighed. She was able to display the combat power of the recruits to such an extent, she was already at the limit, and it could even be said to be a super-standard performance. And at this time, among the more than ten Timbersburg garrisons, there were only two commanders left, and the significance of the banner command was no longer significant.

The so-called military commander is the frontline messenger who is responsible for observing the standard bearer's command flag during the battle. Each team is surrounded by military commanders as the core. They are the lower-level commanders in the army, the captain or deputy captain of a team. If they are killed, then a team is more than just morale. It's as simple as falling, and it may even fall into chaos.

Fortunately, although the garrison of Timbersberg has only received training for a month or so, because there are many veterans among them, and they are responsible for guarding a fortress, they need a lot of commanders—after all, the castle needs There are many places to defend and operate fortifications. Therefore, nearly one third of the nearly two hundred recruits are military commanders. Almost every military commander can lead two recruits, so Cecily Ya's command work is particularly simple.

Of course, after this battle, Cecilia's biggest impression is that there are no long-range arms in the army. But this is no way, because even the most inferior archers in the long-range arms will need at least three months of training to be barely qualified, but if you want to truly become a soldier who can fight, you still need to experience a real experience. Fight on the battlefield, otherwise you will never be a qualified army.

But all of this, in the eyes of Sean, the so-called accident has become inevitable.

The army was also a very important concept in "Miracle". Based on five factors: training level, equipment quality, belief ownership, war expertise, and military superiority, the army can be divided into eleven levels from second to strong. The weakest is the rank zero of recruits, and the strongest is naturally grade ten.

The garrison of Timbersberg, if it is a pure recruit, will always be a rank zero army before experiencing a real war, but because of the small size of the team and the proficiency of veterans, it is reluctant. It can be regarded as a quasi-first-level army; and the Black Cavalry Guard, although it has a good name and is also the * of the Earl Mario, it is actually only a quasi-second-level army, not even a real second-tier army. A large part of the military is still able to become a quasi-second military because of its excellent equipment.

As for the three-tier army, at least one of the three abilities of war expertise, belief ownership, and military superiority is required. For example, the archer army has mastered warfare skills such as precision shooting or positioning projectile, or the army from the temple has a firm belief in the temple, the mountain army's war advantage in mountain forest terrain, and so on. Only an army with these can be upgraded to three. Level troops.

The war between the quasi-level 1 army and the quasi-level 2 army, not only has the advantage in numbers, but also has excellent commanders. This kind of thing is not impossible. That's why Sean was surprised at the beginning, not shocked, because he had seen this kind of thing in the game at first, and it was not impossible for even the second-tier army to annihilate the third-tier army.

Fight till now, there is no suspense anymore.

Even if there are still sixteen or seven people left in the Black Cavalry Guard, in the eyes of Sean and Alfred, there is no difference between whether there are people or not. Not to mention Sean, even Alfred can completely kill Mario by riding alone.

"Lord Mario, please surrender." Sean stood with a sword. At this moment, it seemed that Sean looked more like the lord of Tindes.

Mario glared at Sean, eyes full of bitter hatred, and said with a cold voice, "You are Sean?"

Sean was silent, but his attitude actually showed everything. If you don't have to fight again, this is naturally a better ending, because Sean has already fully understood that the subordinates cultivated by the Lord Earl are definitely dead. As long as they are given enough time to grow up, the future At the very least, it is a level four or even a level five army.

In any kingdom, the fourth-level army is already at the level of the standard elite army, and the fifth-level army is even at the level of the ace army.

Druen can control a group of soldiers who have the potential to become an ace army?

Sean might as well expect a miracle in this world, and then the old Marquis Perot will be resurrected in situ full of blood the next day.

"My lord, please leave quickly!" Seeing Earl Mario also stay silent, the Black Cavalry Guards gathered their formation, and everyone's face showed a solemn look of death. This is what Shaun is the least. I hope to see, "We are here for you! Don't say anything else, it can be done in three minutes!"

Shaun started to have a headache.

He glanced at Du Luen. At this moment, Du Luen's eyes seemed to be a little calmer, and it was no longer the same crazy look that made people disgusting before. Although he knew that Du Luen lost his noble due to his inner fear, hatred of Mario, and betrayal to his relatives, Sean still had no way to forgive him, because if it weren't for him to be so paranoid and crazy, the dispute It can even be controlled at the level of local combat, instead of reaching the scale and extent of the war level as it is now.

"Uncle, surrender." Du Luen's face was swollen, and he stood out in embarrassment, "You have already lost..."

"Lose?" Mario interrupted Du Luen and sneered. There was a sudden smell of madness in his eyes full of hatred and anger.

When he saw Mario's eyes, Sean's heart suddenly "cocked", telling him instinct that something unexpected might happen next, and this accident may be very dangerous. Because of this look, Sean had seen it in Du Luen's eyes not long ago. At that time, he was simply a neurotic who exuded a disgusting frenzy.

"Is the Royce family's bloodline nature flowing with crazy genes?" Sean felt a chill when he didn't come. Only by holding the Charles Sabre in his hand, Sean could barely feel the confidence from him. Warm.

"Who knows." Alfred just shrugged at Sean's words. He could also feel the subtle changes in the atmosphere on the battlefield, but he was not as sensitive as Sean and thought there would be any dangerous situations. happen. Because the facts have been made clear, Earl Mario has already lost, and even his Black Cavalry Guard can never delay the three minutes of his and Sean teaming.

"Tiinders is in the hands of your father, and it's gone." The crazy color on Mario's face is even more obvious, "The person who really is ashamed of the Royce family is your father, not me! Look at you His father's political achievements were led by Tindes in his hands. From the formerly known as Gleason's most powerful territory, it became a shabby territory that everyone can bully. In the past ten years, your father signed How much is an insulting treaty to the Royce family!"

Du Luen's face flushed red: "That's because the mineral veins in the territory have been lighted up, and our territory has no materials to produce..."

"Don't you think it is ridiculous that a family that relies on a strong military power and is known to want to transform into a business and trade family?" Mario sneered, his face full of disdain, "Even if your father really wants to Let the Royce family transform, but what about you? Can you take over the tradition of your father? What have you done in these ten years? Aspiration to become an adventurer? Or a pioneer?"

Du Luen gritted his teeth, but couldn't say anything: "I don't expect to be a lord. I can give you the position of lord. We are a family! But..."

"But?" Mario sneered, and the mocking color on his face became stronger. "But your father won't do this! Why do you think I got on line with the Medusa Chamber of Commerce? Who do you think your father's business has been with over the years? Doing it? Where do you think that Fire Dragon Poison came from?...Yes, I admit that I am ambitious, but I am also more capable than you! It is because of your father, my good brother saw my ambition And ability, so he wanted to kill me and pave the way for your future."

Speaking of this, Mario has completely fallen into madness: "But it's a pity... The Medusa Chamber of Commerce finally chose to cooperate with me instead of your father. Therefore, the fire dragon poison is naturally used for your father. I'm on my body... Ha ha, how nice it is to hear from the outside world, your father is a nostalgic person, so give me Royce Manor so that I will not wander into another country... Haha, hahahaha! All this is because your father knows me He didn't want to see me become an assistant to other lords!"

"How come my uncle exposed your father's insidious face, do you have a feeling of disillusionment? Oh, the benevolent old Marquis Perrault is so insidious and cunning that even his own brother will not let go ...Do you really think your father is very talented? Only under his control can the territory be so smooth sailing? All this is my credit! My!"

Mario's words have begun to be a little incoherent. But Sean, Cecilia, and Alfred heard it very clearly. It turns out that the entire governance of Timbers has nothing to do with the old Marquis Perot, so Sean can understand. It is also understandable why Mario's subordinates are so loyal to him. At the beginning, in the game, Mario took over Tindes to lead why it went so smoothly.

He even understood why the city lord of Arthur City and Anrolla City did not send taxes to Du Luen, so that he did not have enough funds to purchase equipment, and could only rely on Harley, the merchant leader secretly. Buy half and get half free.

"Do you know?" Mario was in a frantic laughter and roared for a long time before finally calming down. He stared at Druen, "The moment your father fell, I actually cried....No Sad crying, crying happy, very happy, very happy! Very happy!"

Sean can now be sure that the nature of the blood of the Royce family, even if it is not the blood of the devil and the devil, is definitely related to these two creatures.

"We can't live anymore." Mario sighed suddenly.

"My lord..." The Black Cavalry Guard was shocked.

"Give all your lives to me." Mario suddenly said again. At this moment, Sean shuddered suddenly.

"My lord, please take it!"

"Okay....but you can rest assured that I will be on the road with you."

After saying so, Mario suddenly took out a dark red gem from his pocket. This gem is diamond-shaped and bright red overall, but the color is not pure, with a lot of black impurities, so it looks dark red. There are several crack marks on this gem. These crack marks are filled with subtle black mist, but they are not scattered, which makes these black mists look like they have souls.

When Sean saw this dark red gem, he suddenly let out a terrified scream, and then rushed towards Mario for the first time: "Quick! Stop him! That's the Devil Stone!"

Alfred didn't know what the Devil Stone was, but he knew something that could scare Sean so much. It was definitely not something ordinary, so he rushed forward only a beat slower than Sean. The third person behind him was Du Luen. Although his face was swollen into a pig's head, he was still a knight after all, and now he has an absolutely sensitive response to the word "demon".

But all this seems to be a bit late, because the distance between the three of them and Mario is too far.

I saw Mario suddenly thrust the gem into his heart, and directly submerged most of it, and then the mist in the gem and the red energy that was like a source of magical power all began to inject into Mario's body. In the next second, Mario raised his head with a scream, the gems inserted in his chest also exploded into powder, and dozens of tentacles-like magic bars radiated from Mario's chest and entangled. The Black Cavalry Guard, who was closest to him, sucked all these people into humans at an extremely fast speed, and it seemed that their life energy had been swallowed by Mario.

In the next instant, the magic bar retracted into Mario's body, and an extremely dark wave of magic power spread out toward the surrounding 360 degrees with him as the core. Immediately afterwards, a roaring and violent air current blasted out, sweeping everything around like a tornado. Under the sweep of the air current, the ground collapsed inch by inch, and countless cracks spread all over the ground in the barracks area, finely divided sand and stone. In this one, it was like a bullet, shooting out frantically towards the surroundings.

Unprepared, the two recruits were shot into a hornet's nest on the spot.

And Sean, Alfred, and Du Luen, although they are not going to be killed by these bullets, but under the impact of this strong air current almost like a barrier, they fly out at a faster speed than when they charge. , And then fell heavily to the ground.

In the center, Mario fell to his knees, arched. But if you look closely, you can see that Mario's body shape is getting bigger and the quality of his clothes is pretty good, because it hasn't been broken yet, but it's just a matter of time.

With a slight sound, Mario's back was finally cracked, but what was exposed under the air was not human light yellow skin, but red! As the sound of the clothes being cracked became more and more intense, Mario's clothes and pants were finally completely torn. What was exposed to the air was a demon-like skin with fine scales on it.

The only thing that can be identified is that at this time the “devil” still retains a certain facial outline that belongs to Mario, but it is a head that has been magnified twice, and its complexion is much more ferocious and ferocious. Even at the two ends of the skull near the temple, there are two sharp horns that are about an inch long. Although there is no tail, this look is far more terrifying than the devil with the tail.

At this moment, Mario has completely turned into a demon!