

Lord of War 98

Chapter 98: .weakness

The demonized Mario slowly stood up. He was more than two meters tall, his eyes were red, and he obviously had no reason at all. He breathed out gently, and two arrow-like white mists shot out from his nose, and only after they hit the ground did they disperse, and a sulphur breath that was so strong that it was a little unbearable came out.

In terms of body shape, the demonized Mario is not terrible in body shape that makes people desperate. At least this height, in terms of the heights of Xiao En and others, can still target the opponent's vitals. This is indeed a slightly better news. If it is those demons who are more than three meters tall, then it is true. The thing is that some do not know where to start.

However, Sean's situation at this time is not more optimistic than Alfred and Du Luen.

Sean could see that the Devil Stone used by Mario before, sealed in it should belong to the power of the two-horned demon. This kind of demon is not particularly powerful on the plane of Abyssal Purgatory, it can even be said to be cannon fodder in the plane of Abyssal Purgatory, but at least it has the strength of Tier 3, even if this demon is summoned alone, it requires Sean and so on. A strong enemy that can be solved with a lot of hands and feet.

The most important point is that the devil's natural rough skin is particularly resistant to fights. Many attacks are actually no different from tickles for them. And if it's just rough skin, it's not that scary, but they are not only resistant to fighting, they are especially good at fighting, and the variety of demons completely exceeds the limit of human imagination, even if they look similar, just color. Two demons that are slightly different may have completely opposite abilities.

The special ability of the double-horned demon is that it can spray extremely high temperature flames. From the two aerosols shot from Mario's nose just now, Sean knew that Mario must have inherited the special abilities of the two-horned demon.

Mario's head slowly turned, his eyes were on the battlefield. And when he saw Sean, his eyes suddenly had a bright illusion, as if he had finally found the source of his anger. Mario raised up to the sky and let out a roar that was no longer human, and then suddenly He rushed towards Xiao En, with a great desire to tear Xiao En into pieces.

At this time, Mario's running action is obviously different from that of humans, but it is undeniable that his speed is indeed much faster than normal humans. And every time he fell, he would step on a collapsed footprint on the ground, and the ground would even sway with it, which shows how strong his strength has been.

Looking at Mario running like this, Sean thought of a movie he had seen on Earth before for no reason. If Mario's skin turns green, it would be exactly the same. However, according to the plot of the comic book on the earth, the big green man is known as the strongest existence, and there is no one of that kind.

But right now, this big red man can indeed claim to be the strongest existence for other people present.

[Name: Mario Royce]

[Race: Human (Demonization)]

【Combat Profession:——(Tier 4)】

[Personal attributes-power:??? ;endurance:??? ; Agility: 25; Wisdom: 30; Will:??? ]

Except for agility and wisdom, all the other three attributes are question marks that make people a little overwhelmed. Sean hasn't figured out how big the gap between the data represented by the question mark and himself is, but what is certain is that it will at least double. In addition to these three data, what really worries Sean is the Tier 4 rank displayed by Mario at the moment.

Tier 3 and Tier 4 are both Bronze-level strengths. Although there is a Tier 1 gap between them, there is not much change in their essential strength, just some enhancements in physical strength. However, the demon's physical power is already extremely powerful. At this moment, after it has been strengthened by the first order, this power has become a gap that cannot be underestimated. When Mario runs, the ground will vibrate, you can know this. The strength is definitely not low.

"Watch the opportunity from the sidelines, you must pay attention, once Mario starts to breathe in, don't stand in front of him, hide as far away as possible!"

After Shaun left this sentence, the whole person shot at him faster than Mario.

As early as when he was blown away by the air current, Sean had already activated the light body technique, but he was afraid to activate the adrenal stimulation skill at this time, because the former does not have any side effects, but the latter has the side effects. It's extremely obvious. Before seeing the dawn of victory, Sean would never easily use his adrenal glands to stimulate this special skill.

After gaining a ten-point agility bonus, Sean's overall agility can reach as much as 33 points, so there is naturally a clear speed comparison compared to Mario. It's just that he is not as good as Mario in terms of strength. Therefore, although the speed is extremely fast, the momentum created is not as deterrent as Mario. To give him the illusion that he is going to die.

Only Alfred and Cecilia have great confidence in Sean.

So Alfred did not rush forward rashly, but chose to follow Sean's orders, waiting for the opportunity to stand by, ready to go up for reinforcements at any time. As for Cecilia, she somewhat hates herself for expending a lot of magic power in order to win, and now she can't help much. She can only stare at the side in a hurry-even if Cecilia knows, the fire element The damage that magic can cause to the devil is too weak, but it is also better than the current situation.

Sean's speed is too fast.

It's almost here. When Mario's raised left foot has not yet fallen, Sean has already stood six meters away and launched a sprint, with a long sword in his hand pointing diagonally at Mario's heart, stabbing like a shooting star.

This attack came so fast and so urgently that Mario was actually a little uncomfortable, because he couldn't step on his foot at the original position. If that was the case, he would definitely not have time to stop Xiao. Well this sword. The demons are really rough and skinny, and it is difficult to harm them with ordinary attacks, but these ordinary attacks do not include some special magic and demonized weapons. Even though Mario, who is incarnate as a demon, has no reason to speak of, his behavior is more Acting in accordance with instinct, but because of this, the intuitive judgment of danger far exceeds that of human beings.

So half of his left foot was raised, and Mario stomped down to the ground fiercely. With such a brutal kick, naturally, the ground was directly crushed, and most of the whole left foot sank into the ground. But at this time, Mario naturally could not take into account the situation in this respect. He was tight. He clenched his left fist, and then slammed it at Sean.

This giant fist is as big as one-third of Sean.

And when the fist was swung, the sound of breaking through the air screamed, and the power of this fist seemed to be able to penetrate even air. The white air current visible to the naked eye surrounds the fist, and it seems that there are sparks emerging from the fist. Although it does not form a blazing flame like a meteorite, the power of this fist is definitely Everyone present has only seen it in their lives.

In fact, demons, demons and even other alien creatures are still rare in the current Marvel Continent. After all, according to the progress of the game, the current Marvel Continent has not even entered the era of the first expansion. . As for the devil, it will not start to appear on the Marvel Continent until at least the third expansion, and only then will the devil become a common monster and gradually be accepted by the people on the continent.

So, the power of Mario's punch is completely appalling.

And this time, it was Sean's turn that he didn't dare to pick it up!

He believes in the sharpness of his Charles Sabre sword, and believes that if this sword stabs Mario's left fist, it will definitely leave an unforgettable memory to the opponent. But he knew better that if he really stabbed with this sword, Mario would never be killed, but he would most likely be himself, because the current Sean couldn't bear this punch at all. power.

If it is the situation in the game, Sean will never be afraid. Anyway, there is game data to support it, and the blood loss is also supplemented by magical skills. But in reality, Sean had to hide.

So Xiao En immediately cancelled the sprint, and the whole person quickly bypassed to the right. Relying on the bonus effect of the light body technique, Sean's speed is by no means slow, even at this time Mario's left fist is still a short distance from Sean, but even so, Sean is just surrounded by hot air currents on his fist. After wiping it, nearly half of the clothes on his body were completely scorched at this moment, and the burning pain even stabbed Sean almost unsteadily with his weapon.

Of course, Sean is not a lover of peace, he always believes in coming and going without being indecent. So even if most of the skin on his body turned hot and reddish because of this, Sean still waved the long sword in his hand with extremely tenacious willpower, and cut a scar in Mario's left fist.

The scar is not long, it seems to be just a tiny hole. Obviously, the sharpness of the Charles Sabre seems to be not enough to see, but no matter how subtle the scar is, there is still a guarantee that it will hurt the devil, and the scars drawn by this sword, and Not automatically healed, which means that although Mario's endurance is high, it does not inherit the terrible resilience of the devil. His endurance should be more reflected in the protracted battle.

And this time the attack is not just as simple as the surface. Through the series of actions just now, Sean can already be sure that the demonized Mario is obviously inadequate in response ability, and because of his physical shape, his steering is obviously much worse than that of humans. His body is the core, and there are several blind spots that can be used.

Knowing these points, it is enough for Sean to make a more targeted battle plan!