

Lord of War Vol 2-1

Vol 2 Chapter 1: .Outside the barracks

The morning light finally shone through the clouds, dispelling the mist of the morning light.

The townspeople of Baige Town began their day's work under the first ray of morning light.

The barracks outside the town, from before dawn, there were shouts of training.

It is a female knight who is in charge of training. Although she is not as beautiful as Daisy in the town, the young people in the town admire the female knight very much. Perhaps it's because Rina's feat that day solo riding a dozen riders and the magician who frightened them off the horse deeply shocked them, so these young people in the Puda Militia now have their minds in mind. In, Rina is the image of a perfect goddess.

In this way, William is of course also willing to use Rina's impression in the minds of these militias to carry out deeper training attacks on these militias.

Basically every day after training, almost all the militiamen have completely lost the mind to guess wildly. They lie down on the army bed and fall asleep, occasionally vigorously, that is, cursing William's brutal inhumanity, and at the same time remembering that Puda was responsible at the time. Good when training them. But even so, when facing Rena the next day, these young militiamen were as excited as they were beaten up with blood, and they continued to be practiced vigorously with arrogance and vigor.

Rena did not approve of such high-intensity training, but when she remembered what William told her about these militias before, she could only choose to be an accomplice. If anyone dared to be lazy, she would naturally have to double the amount of training. Because she knows very well that the territory has not been completely settled now, and these militias are not really just militias. They are definitely going to fight to kill the enemy, maybe they have to fight the regular army, so the amount of training at this time The bigger, the higher their chance of survival in the future.

As always, training started from long-distance running.

Running five laps around the town, basically the warm-up is over, and the subsequent training includes several sets of movements that are disassembled and practiced separately. These movements are actually just the splitting of Rena's spear skills. As a sharpshooter, Rena's spear skills are naturally outstanding, at least as she is currently one of the two low-ranking silver masters in the territory, except for Alfred, no one really dares to say that she can beat Rena. , So for Rena's spearmanship instruction, these militiamen in Baige Town naturally learned very hard.

And this point is somewhat different from the militia in Hongye Town.

Because the militiamen of Hongye Town are not limited to spearmanship training. Under Puda's training, they dabble in almost all types that can be dabbled.

In last month's month-to-month comparison, Hongye Town outperformed Baige Town by two to one. In fact, Baige Town can be a little proud of its spear skills. It has beaten the militiamen of Hongye Town in its solo fight. However, it lost in subsequent small-scale team competitions and military drills and confrontations. It was a mess. This made the militiamen in Baige Town start harder and harder training at the very beginning of this month.

For this, William is noncommittal.

He actually understands Sean's plan, knowing that he intends to train all the militias in Baige Town into cavalry units, but the cost of raising a cavalry is not small. And there is no suitable horse dealer at the moment, so Sean will let these militiamen only focus on training spearmanship, and have not spoken about other military training.

Of course, all of this is also because the northern barbarians have taken root here in Baige Town.

Originally, Baige Town had a population of more than 3,000 people. Although it has experienced two wars, Baige Town now has only more than 2,000 people left, but it has not been completely scrapped. After the northern barbarians settled in Baige Town, the land outside the town was naturally more cultivated. To the extent that the northern barbarians were obsessed with food and cared for food, the harvest would definitely surpass the townspeople in Baige Town. of.

Furthermore, Xiao En even plans to abandon Panda Town directly, and then relocate all the townspeople there to Baige Town, which is about to be expanded into a city. However, this plan is only in the preparation stage. The main reason is the lack of stones and various materials. After all, it is not a simple matter to build a small town into a city. Look at Lovran Town. The situation at that time will be known.

What's more, Xiao En is not simply adding buildings. He also wants to relocate all the townspeople from another small town. This also involves the distribution of houses, land, etc., and even thinks deeper about how the city is planned. It is also a problem.

"Oh, there are still many things to deal with." Sean sighed and shook the rein lightly, and the horse galloped happily.

When approached Baige Town, Sean slowed down.

At present, because it is the late summer rainy season, no one is working on the land outside Baige Town. At least it will not start plowing and farming until the beginning of autumn. But Sean doesn't really understand these things. What he believes most is that professional matters should be handled by professionals. In fact, many times, he has to face William's terrifying eyes that are enough to kill people. It feels chilly behind.

Some Northland barbarians will wave their hands enthusiastically when they see Shaun's arrival.

For them, Sean is the one who changed their lives. As for whether this is the so-called savior, they don't understand or know. Anyway, since even Anno gave him the position of the head, they usually They also called Sean as the unitary leader. Moreover, the unit leader did as he promised, giving them fertile land and a brand new living environment. There is no need to worry that people in the tribe will starve to death or freeze to death. What's not satisfied?

Faced with the enthusiastic northern barbarians, Xiao En naturally responded one by one. How do these people say they have been fighting with him from the trading capital to this day. However, compared to the enthusiastic Northland barbarians, the townspeople in White Pigeon Town are relatively colder. Even if the mayor and the fat businessman ran out to greet them, they were just doing something. Recently, if the lord Shaun really wanted to investigate it, they would definitely not be able to run away.

Of course, Sean knew their thoughts very well, but he really didn't mean to pursue them, otherwise he wouldn't wait until now.

It has been nearly two months since the end of the battle of the Dabron mercenary group.

After the fall, it depends on who is right. However, as long as the town of Baige succeeds in building the city, the mayor cannot become the lord of the city. Sean intends to arrange for one of William or Rena to be the lord of the city. However, judging from the current situation, the latter's possibility is even higher; as for Alfred, Sean intends to turn Banda Town into a military stronghold, commanded by Alfred. After all, it is the closest to the Wildlands, and it can be used as an offensive to the Wildlands. The forward stronghold of the land, retreat can be used as the first buffer defense line, and if you advance to the east, it is the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion.

With the courtesy of the mayor of Baige Town and the fat rich man, Sean was noncommittal, but he didn't mean to enter the town, but hurried around the town wall towards the barracks area. He was somewhat I want to discuss the matter with William.

The current military camp is not a real military camp. It is just that Puda moved the camp in Hongye Town, but it may be due to the possibility of relocation in the future, so the pegs are not firmly driven. Of course, even if it is not a real military camp, there are still some rules that should be there. For example, Sean and the mayor were stopped outside the camp and could not enter until they were notified.

Immediately, the mayor scolded, "You little rascals, don't make way for the lord."

Sean gave him a slanted look, and the mayor immediately nodded and bowed to Xiao En with a beaming smile. Even Shaun couldn't stand it.

"What's your name?" Sean asked.

"A...Al...Dove!" The militia seemed a little nervous.

Aldorf? Sean always felt that the name seemed a bit familiar, but he couldn't remember where he had heard it. But it was just the name of a militiaman, and he just asked casually like this: "Well, you go and tell William and say Sean Connery is coming to him."

"Yes!" The recruit responded with some panic, and then quickly turned around and ran towards the camp.

The mayor of Baige Town curled his mouth in disdain. He wanted to ignore the other party and walk in directly. Could they do anything to themselves? It's just that Sean, the lord, didn't do this. Naturally, he, the mayor, was not easy to get ahead, so he stood as honestly outside the barracks just like Sean.

From the angle where Shaun was standing, it happened to see that Rena was commanding the recruits to practice spearmanship.

From the action point of view, it is naturally full score, because it is not easy for these recruits to be so neat and unified. It's just that the level of training is good if it can be done so neatly, but it's really hard to say whether it can really show up in the war, because the militia is now only a second-level army, even The regular army is not counted, it is just barely able to meet the status of "militia", so when it comes to those real army, this combat power is still not enough.

However, everything has a process of growth. Only through a fierce battle can become a second-level army. Doesn't it also prove the potential of this group of young people?

Not long after, the recruit named Aldorf ran out: "Commander William said, Lord Lord can go in."

"Okay." Sean nodded, and was about to go in, but was stopped by Aldorf again, "What's wrong?"

"Lord Lord, horse riding is prohibited in the barracks."

Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, then he let out a laugh, and then turned his horse back down: "Can you lead the horse in?"

"This... the commander didn't say it either." Aldorf was taken aback, a little embarrassed, "Perhaps?"

"Okay." Xiao En smiled and nodded, then led the horse in.

The mayor who followed Xiao En also wanted to enter, but was stopped mercilessly by Aldorf.

"You kid, what are you going to do!" The mayor saw that Xiao En was about to go far, and immediately became anxious.

"The commander only said that Lord Lord can go in." Aldolf didn't care whether the other party was the mayor or not, so he just rightly refused.

"You..." The mayor was furious, "Lord Lord! Lord Lord, I'm still outside!"

Sean pulled out his ears, and he asked William to discuss something. He, the mayor, followed him to join in the fun? Shaun couldn't figure it out, so he completely ignored the opponent, but he admired the recruit named Aldorf: "Well, this recruit is pretty courageous, and I don't know how William picked it out."

Vol 2 Chapter 2: .In the camp

The layout of the military camp is arranged in accordance with the camp layout of the Kingdom of Darbion.

On the Marvel Continent, the layout of the barracks does not have a unified standard, and they are generally arranged in accordance with some national styles. For the Kingdom of Darbion, it must be high-profile, so the layout of the camp is usually the main camp in the middle, and then use this as the core to expand and expand according to the official position from large to small; while Asuna's camp layout style It is relatively simple, all the accounts are of a unified standard, and they are arranged side by side one by one, which looks very regular.

Therefore, once the barracks in the Kingdom of Darbion are successfully attacked, it is usually the side that has suffered heavy losses-playing the decapitation tactic will never find the wrong person.

At this moment, Sean has already come out of the main account of this barracks area.

The curtain of the camp was not put down, so Sean didn't need to open it, but went straight in. I glanced around, and found no chairs or the like, so I sat on a folding bed. It seemed that he felt good elasticity, so he flicked a few more times. This action made William's brows raised, and the blue veins in his temples had already appeared, obviously burning with anger.

"That is my bed." William said in a deep voice.

"What does it matter? If I play a few times, you won't lose a piece of meat." Sean curled his lips, but he still flicked vigorously before stopping, because William had already pointed something similar to an apple at hand. Shaun threw it over.

Sean took it casually. In terms of his agility value, the speed of the things thrown by William was similar to slow motion in his eyes. If he couldn't catch it, then his strength would have been improved in vain. But after catching the fruit, Sean took a bite with a "click", and then immediately spit it out: "It's too astringent. Can you eat this thing too?"

"Refreshing!" William said grimly, "What can I do?"

"You are a lot of emaciated." Sean got up, walked to the table where William was lying on his stomach, put down the fruit in his hand, then looked at William a few times and smiled, "Don't be too tired."

"You're so embarrassed to make me not too tired!" It's okay for Sean not to speak. When he speaks, William immediately furious. "Do you know how tired the people below will be if you just say a word? ...will Panda's towns have all moved to Baige Town. You can say that? How do you allocate land? And how do you solve the problem of residential housing and food?... Even if you don't talk about the problem of migration, You have to buy more war horses. Can you afford war horses?"

"Yes, you can afford it?" Xiao En thought for a while, buying the most common horse, probably only a few dozen gold coins, and only equipped with 500 hussars, Xiao En felt that the money was still affordable. It's just that this cavalry unit is naturally not suitable for combat, and can only be used in sneak attacks or roundabout battles. After all, the horses have insufficient endurance, and they probably can't even support actions such as rushing for assistance.

"Buy the worst kind of horse?" As if he knew Sean's thoughts, William sneered, "You tell me what is the point of buying that kind of horse? Cavalry units, even if they can't be used to charge or fight tough battles, at least they have to be able to How long do you think a cavalry unit built with such horses can last to achieve flanking harassment? Or do you think it is too much money?"

"Uh..." Sean was speechless, "But Rina's riding and spear skills are so good, it's a shame not to use it."

"Her riding and spear skills are really good, but that's nothing more." William said mercilessly. "If she is asked to lead the war, she can command her with a hundred men, and the number exceeds. After this amount, she can't command at all. Do you want the enemy to see a joke?... Moreover, the formation of the cavalry unit is not about the horses, but about the daily domestication and feeding."

Sean was a bit at a loss. He just thought that the cavalry was quite powerful, but he really didn't know anything about the construction of the cavalry.

Seeing Shaun's appearance, William knew that if he didn't explain clearly, maybe this stupid lord would really criticize the war horse: "Inferior war horses are never used to fight. They are usually responsible for passing orders. Really use them. The horses that come to fight have strict requirements on endurance, endurance and variety. Like the white-patterned horse of the Fascist Kingdom, one is 1,200 gold coins. If we really want to buy it, we can of course afford it. But that kind Do you know what the daily feeding cost of each horse is?"

Shaun shook his head.

"Not less than 30 gold coins. If it is wartime, it will even cost as much as 100 gold coins for a day's feeding fee. Do you calculate how much this cost is?... So many lords of territories can't afford war horses, nor are they training. I can't afford the cavalry, but I can't raise a horse!" William looked defeated. He felt that he would believe that the lord Sean knew these things. It was really idiot. "You are such an idiot. Do you care?"

Sean just smiled: "Isn't there you guys? But... I really want to find an internal affairs officer. How about we go and tie Neil?"

"This is a good idea." William said directly without even thinking about it. "I tell you, Neil has a problem, that is, a dead duck with a hard mouth and a good face. So if you put on a bigger battlefield, If you ask him, he might just come here right away.... It is said that he is as * as his father. If you ask Rina to invite him, maybe he will be more successful."

"Will he do anything to Rena?" Sean asked curiously.

"It should be...no." William was not so sure, "What would happen if he did something to Rena?"

"Haha." Sean chuckled, subconsciously squeezing his body, "On the way back, I once saw an alcoholic touch Rena's ass..."

"and then?"

"Rena smiled and broke his eggs."

"Then you still don't send Rena." William said again without thinking about it, "Well, it's appropriate for Piano to go there. If he is kidding, just tie him back, and go if it's not honest. Just a few clicks to be honest.... That guy just owes it. It's just that we didn't have any territory last time, so I'm so embarrassed to do this. Now it's different. We are full of confidence."

Sean glanced at William and muttered: "Why didn't I see you so bad before?"

"Ten generals and nine are bad." Unexpectedly, although William is not very strong, his ears are very good. "For people like us who regard life as numbers, as long as they can win, it is not strange to use any method. So. As far as I am concerned, it is natural for me to tie Neil over." At this point, William paused, and then added: "Of course, this is also because I have a good relationship with him. If it is Others, I would definitely not recommend you to do this."

"Then what would you do?" Sean asked with a puzzled face.

Therefore, William turned his head and suddenly showed a shy smile on his face. This smile does not say Qingguo, Qingcheng definitely has it, but what he said is definitely not a good thing: "Usually I think that killing the other party will be a bit more straightforward....Of course, if the other party is willing to surrender, then it's another matter."

William is prettier than a woman, and he has long hair. If he doesn't speak but smiles, the adjective Qingcheng is definitely suitable for him. At least Sean, whether he was on earth or came to this world in the past, saw Elizabeth and Cecilia comparable to William in appearance, so at this moment William smiled, and Sean thought of his gender, and the whole person suddenly That's not good.

"Hey... the recruit named Aldolf outside is not bad." Sean suddenly felt a little dry and changed the subject with a dry smile.

William glanced at Sean, and that appearance made Sean feel a panic: "It was a talent discovered by Rina.... Well, there is another named Stalin. These two people were valued by Rina during a fight. Anyway, according to Rina, the current basic training is of little significance to these two people, so I arrange other things for the two people.... I took a little inspection, the overall situation and strategic awareness are a little bit worth training. In the future, it will not be a problem to command a legion to garrison one place, but it is hard to say that it can become the command of a theater or be responsible for a large-scale battle."

"So, I still picked the treasure?" Sean was a little excited.

William glanced sideways at Sean again, and this look instantly wilted Sean out of excitement.

"Don't look at me like that, I'm really scared." Sean said bitterly, "Every time you look at people with this look, I feel terrible, goose bumps all over my body."

William snorted softly, then looked down at the map on the table.

This map is actually the map that Asuna gave to Sean, but William is currently correcting it. Of course, this correction is only for his own territory. He has not been to other territories. Naturally, there is no so-called correction at all, but from this point of view, it can be seen that William is versatile.

"Say, what else?" William said without looking up, "If it was just because of Neil and the development of the territory, you would never come to me."

"En." Seeing William became serious, Sean put away the joking mentality, and said with a serious face, "I'm going to go to Maudgling again. I have been with Al before. The talk is over. It is reasonable to say that the first batch of black steel stones should have been delivered three months ago, but now it has been nearly four months since I left Modgering. There is no news there. I suspect that something may have happened. NS."

"So?" William raised his head, his eyes sharpened.

"I'm going to take Alfred and Rena with me this time." Sean said in a deep voice, "But currently Alfred is directing work in Panda Town, so I need you to take over. ... At the same time you The workload is also relatively large, so this time you go, you will also be responsible for the relocation of Panda Town."

"Are you serious?" William said, "Really move the townsfolk of Panda Town here?"

Shaun nodded.

"Okay, I see." William nodded, "Then what do you plan to do with training here?"

"I have asked Puda to take over. According to Puda in Hongye Town, he promoted a pretty good young man named Nok." Sean said, "When you have time, you should also check this. It's called Nok... and there are still Aldolf and Stalin here now. If you want to train them, you can also let them be responsible for assisting Puda."

"I see." William said in a deep voice, "When are you going to leave?"

"Wait until Alfred arrives here and set off."

Vol 2 Chapter 3: .Wait for you three minutes

Modern collar has not become so prosperous or clean because of the past four months.

Blackstone Town is still a small town, and it is still so dirty, messy, but of course Sean, who has been here once, has been mentally prepared for a long time, and there is nothing unusual. Alfred and Rena are both mercenaries. What kind of environment have not been experienced? Not to mention that Rena used to do the most bitter and tiring dirty work with that mercenary group. Even Alfred, it was not a good life to get revenge for those three years. Therefore, the two of them were very concerned about Blackstone Town. Of course there is nothing wrong with the situation.

This time, Sean did not deliberately dress very plainly. His upper body was a narrow-sleeved white shirt with no laces-in fact, Sean tore all the laces and put on a black leather jacket. The cuffs are half a nail piece shorter than the cuffs of the white shirt. The lower body is a pair of black trousers, a pair of leather pointed boots, and a pair of white gloves on both hands. The main purpose is to hide the curse marks on the back of the hands.

But anyway, Sean seemed a little more aristocratic this time.

Charles Sabre, Sean hadn't brought him with him anymore. He was placed in the room of the Black Swan Castle, thinking about when he would return to the Kingdom of Celian again to take this mission about Charles Sabre. Also do it, although now it seems that rewards are probably impossible to interest him, but anyway, it is better than nothing.

Dead bone, he did not wear it on his body, but slung the horse beside him. Now he is dressed in a ball-like nobleman dress, which is not very suitable for attaching a long sword to his body.

Followed by Sean were Alfred and Rena.

The weapons of these two men are also placed on the horses, but unlike Sean's ordinary horse, the horses Rena and Alfred rode are all war horses, not tens of gold coins, but hundreds of gold coins. Kind of a little higher-grade war horse. If it weren't for this kind of horse, how could he support Alfred, a guy in a heavy armor? However, the flaming lion fangs were  with canvas, mainly to avoid some unnecessary troubles.

Compared to Alfred's need to be cautious, Rena is much more relaxed. The horse she is holding is more valuable than her light armor and the spear, so who wants to go to Rena. trouble.

But speaking of it, the two horses, Rena and Alfred, were also snatched from a heavy cavalry unit before Alfred. And it is said that this lord who can support heavy cavalry seems to have a good relationship with the Boulder family-of course, it is with the current Boulder Patriarch, not with the unfamiliar little lord like Elsie. As for whether this Lord Marquis still has a good relationship with other people in the Boulder family, Sean doesn't know.

He only knows that the town of Blackstone is very different from when he came four months ago.

Stone Factory is the most important facility in Heishi Town.

Although this facility is not accessible to everyone, there has never been a special guard to guard it. Most of the time, there will be a dedicated person in charge of reception. Of course, the premise is that you must be able to pass through the old concierge of the stone factory. It is said that this old man is also a personal spirit. The chief steward of, but he didn't know why he offended the core disciple of the Boulder family, so he was sent here.

But this old man is strange, he has been staying here all the time, and he never thought of leaving.

But today, at the gate of the stone factory, ten soldiers in uniform stood guarding the gate. The internal situation of the stone factory has almost reached the level of one post at five steps and one post at ten steps. It seems that it does not give people the feeling of becoming orderly or rigorously regulated, but rather a feeling of being more of a kind. Similar to the situation of suppression, it seems that these soldiers are not used to defend against foreign enemies, but to target the stone factory itself.

Shaun frowned slightly, but he still walked towards the stone factory.

Several soldiers saw Xiao En and others approaching, and immediately blocked them. A man who seemed to be the captain came up with a sway, and shouted: "Who are you? Come here at Heigang Stone Factory. What are you going to do?"

"Debt collection." Sean said lightly.

Several soldiers were taken aback, and some of them didn't know the meaning of these words.

However, the man who seemed to be the captain was not so presumptuous. Perhaps it was because of Sean's aristocratic dress, or perhaps because Alfred's heavy armor was scary enough, but for whatever reason, this man's attitude is also a little more polite: "If you have an interest dispute with the Heigang Stone Factory, then you can only go to the factory director.... However, we can only let you in, your two ...Companion is not allowed to enter."

Perhaps it is because he is not sure of Sean's identity, and he is not sure about the relationship with the two people behind Sean, so he changed his words to say "companion". After all, for the nobles, the canonized knights are indeed companions, not entourages, and few nobles will deny such trivial matters. This is completely incompatible with themselves.

"I won't go in." Xiao En shook his head, his attitude remained calm as before, without much ups and downs and fluctuations, "You let the factory grow out."

"This..." The captain seemed a little embarrassed.

"My patience is limited."

Sean glanced at these soldiers. Except for the captain in front of him, the strength of the others was just as good as the next level of bronze. If people like this were assembled on a large scale, they might be regarded as a second-level, top-ranking team. There are more than three levels of troops, but currently there are only ten people in the scale, in front of Alfred and Rena, it is not enough to see. Even if all the soldiers in the entire stone factory come out, Sean thinks that the maximum number is fifty people, and they can barely form a marching formation. Alfred or Rena alone may not be good, but the two of them will do it together. It's not a problem anymore.

The captain thought for a while, but he turned around and walked into the stone factory immediately. The remaining soldiers looked at each other, and even their domineering captain did not dare to say anything radical. How could people like them who were not as capable and status as the captain dare to say anything? At this time, their hearts were a little panicked, and they were afraid that the man who seemed to be a nobleman would suddenly make them trouble, or would forcefully break into the stone factory. Should they stop by then?

Fortunately, Sean hasn't been so unreasonable yet. He just closed his eyes, but he said something frightening: "In three minutes, if the factory manager doesn't come out, you can go in and get him out of me. Who is it? If you dare to stop them, you will destroy them. If you dare to take weapons, it doesn't matter if you kill them."

"Yes." Alfred said in a deep voice.

Rena, she smiled slightly and didn't say anything, but her smile made people feel more chill.

Seeing that Xiao En's attitude was so serious, several soldiers looked at each other, and finally one could not help running into the stone factory. Although Sean couldn't see it, his ears were still very sensitive. Hearing the sound of rushing and panicking running, the corners of Sean's mouth raised slightly.

This soldier ran hurriedly all the way, and soon came to the office of the stone factory.

This office was once used by Dess, but now it has a different owner, a middle-aged man with a slightly thin figure but a shrewd look.

At this moment, he was pouring two glasses of wine, one was handed to the captain who came in to report, and the other was held in his hand. He sniffed the wine first, then took a sip, and said with a smile: "This is authentic. The red maple fruit wine has been broken for a long time since the accident in Panda Town. Recently, I heard that it has stabilized and finally sold the remaining inventory. However, this stock is not large, so I took a lot of thought. Grab two bottles...Try it?"

The captain took the wine glass but did not drink it. Instead, he put the wine glass back on the wine cart and said in a deep voice: "My lord, there is a nobleman who is here to collect debts. I let him in, but he said he wants you to go out. , How can this matter be resolved?"

"Oh, he told me to go out and I will go out?" The middle-aged man laughed, with an indescribable superiority and pride, "Then where do I put my face? Don't worry about him, let him be outside. While standing, some cats and dogs dare to come here to make trouble. If he can't help breaking in privately, he will just destroy it like the previous batches."

"He seems to be a nobleman." The captain said again cautiously, "And there are two masters who seem to be quite capable."

"High-ranking silver?" The middle-aged man showed a trace of dignity.

"It doesn't look like it." The captain shook his head, "It should be the lower silver."

"It's okay, there is an old man." The middle-aged man smiled, "The last time the debt collector had a high-ranking silver beside him, it was not cleaned up by the old man.... Although this old man doesn't care, he just looks at the door. That's it, but if you really want to make trouble in this stone factory, he will not ignore it. Besides, don't you have fifty people, forming an army can't deal with a high-ranking silver, can't it also deal with two lower-ranks? silver?"

The captain showed a wry smile, but he didn't know how to explain to the middle-aged man that the war was never as simple as one plus one.

At this moment, a young soldier broke in. Perhaps the matter was too urgent. He did not knock on the door, which made the middle-aged man's brows slightly frowned. And the captain just opened his mouth and yelled, then asked what happened. How dare the young soldier conceal it, so he immediately limited the three minutes that Sean had said at the door to say. After hearing this, the captain also showed a rare solemn look.

"How long has it been now?" the middle-aged man asked.

"Probably... two minutes." The captain and the soldier looked at each other, and then the captain said uncertainly.

"Then wait for three minutes to see." The middle-aged man sneered, "I want to see, what does this aristocratic nobleman have the ability to come here to make trouble. I really thought that he would be invincible with two lower silver entourages. Oh? Huh, I don't want to think about which family's territory this is."

Miracle Continent does not say that life is like years, so naturally there will be no such a spread.

But if these people at the bottom of the world know that there is such a saying, will it be changed to “Du Fen Like Years”?

Xiao En’s eyes slowly opened, and he whispered, "It's been three minutes."

Alfred took down the flaming lion tusks resting beside the saddle, and the whole person's aura changed completely-the  aura that was rushed out of thousands of miles of rushing, was not comparable to these little pawns. What's more, Alfred is also a lower-ranked silver now. Although he is still not sure that he can break through to the upper-ranked silver, at least it is absolutely no problem to deal with these uncombatable scum.

So, when Alfred stepped into the gate of the stone factory holding the flaming lion fangs, the eight soldiers standing guard at the gate did not dare to stop him.

And Rina was even more straightforward. She rolled over and mounted her horse. She stretched out her hand and drew her spear, but she didn't rush to charge. Although Rena and Alfred have not played against each other at present, in fact, people with a little eye in the entire territory can see that Rena is definitely not Alfred’s opponent in a battle. If you give Rina a good horse, she and Alfred will win between five and five.

If Sean also builds a better magic weapon for Rina, and even changes the armor of the mount, then the dual combination of riding and spear will be able to win Alfred.

However, everyone in the current territory actually looks better at Rena, not why, because Rena is younger than Alfred.

Of course, age is not an important matter in Sean's view. What really makes Sean value is Rena's rank.

Being able to become a Gunslinger, then in the future, you can definitely become a Holy Gunner. As long as you accumulate enough, it will be a matter of course. As for stepping into the lower position of gold, the direction of transfer is slightly more, which depends on the opportunity of Rena, and the knight's fighting style is closely related to the quality of a mount. Among other things, if Rina's current mount is an earthwalking dragon, she can even challenge the next level of gold.

At this point, magic warriors and constructed warriors have no advantage. What's more, although Alfred is now in the lower rank of silver, in fact, the second magic pattern on his body has not been engraved, and his strength is still somewhat insufficient. Today's battle depends entirely on his bravery and the flame lion in his hand. Fangs.

Shaun's gaze retracted from the canvas, and he sighed slightly in his heart.

The flaming lion tusks have not really been formed. Although Alfred has processed them again in the month after his return, he still lacks some materials, so the fangs have not really been sharpened. In the face of the upper silver, it is only to maintain the undead defeat. Whether you can get out smoothly depends on the situation at the time, but with Rina and herself on the side, unless it is the two upper silvers, otherwise, it is really not. How to see.

Alfred walked into the stone factory. He had already observed which direction the captain and the soldier were heading, so at this moment, he was right.

Several soldiers in the stone factory did not know the specific situation. They glanced with curiosity at why the soldiers outside the door dared not stop. However, due to their duties, several soldiers immediately surrounded Al and tried to stop Al. Fred's continued to deepen.

Although Alfred was wearing a heavy armor, he didn't wear a helmet, so when he looked at the soldiers who were approaching him with indifference, they suddenly felt a chill. Zhui directly appeared, and his heart trembled. No one would be a fool or mentally retarded. At this moment, he clearly felt the murderous intent of the middle-aged man opposite, how dare these soldiers continue to step forward to stop him.

Alfred did not intend to trouble them either. After all, he was born as a mercenary, and he had also spent time in the lowest level of the world. It was very clear how difficult it was for these lowest level people to live. So these soldiers didn't plan to come up to stop him. Of course he wouldn't be the bloodthirsty demon, so he continued to walk towards the house on the right of the stone factory.

But at this moment, in an inconspicuous stone house next to the main entrance, a thin old man walked out.

The old man sighed slightly, as if he was reluctant to walk out of the stone house.

When the other soldiers saw this old man appearing, they felt a sense of relief, and most of them were also a little grateful at the moment. They didn't go up to stop the other side's evil * just now. Otherwise, I really don't know what it will be like. The fate and result of it.

Originally, when these soldiers first came here, they didn't put the old man in their eyes at all, and even shouted at him, but the old man never got angry, what should he do. The Maudger collar is the domain of the Boulder family, and the Black Steel Stone Factory is also the property of the Boulder family. Generally, no one dares to make trouble here, but the new director is indeed arrogant and domineering. Some time ago, the second son of an earl was blackmailed a large sum of money, but the second son brought a family guard to make trouble.

After a confrontation, the formation of dozens of soldiers was just finished, but it was destroyed by the high-ranking silver master, and thirteen people were ruined on the spot. As a result, the old porter was forced out, and the two sides fought in the stone factory. In the end, the old man overwhelmed the other side with his rich experience, abolished one right hand of the master, and knocked him back to the next silver. Whether it can return to the upper silver position is something nobody knows.

After this war, no one in this stone factory dared to trouble the old man anymore, and even the arrogant new director was very polite when facing the old man.

Sean recognized the old man, and the door opened by the old man the last time he and Elsie came here. Today, when Sean saw the old man walk out of the stone house in the gatehouse, the aura on his whole body instantly became awe-inspiring. It was completely different from the situation four months ago, and even Sean could feel this. How could Alfred and Rena not feel the change in momentum.

Alfred's right foot hovered immediately, not daring to step on it, and the whole person was instantly like a stone sculpture.

Hovering on the edge of life and death eight times, Alfred has an almost intuitive keen judgment on many things. At this moment, he could feel a hostile gaze locked on his body, and that feeling made Alfred feel as if he was a prey targeted by a poisonous snake.

Rina's performance is not as good as Alfred's performance, after all, she is not experienced enough, so her vision is narrower.

She just clenched the crimson spear in her hand, and * red vindictiveness began to spread from her body, not only into the spear, but also into the body of the warhorse. Originally forced by the old man's momentum, he was a little bit panicked and even started to beat a few war horses that rang their noses, and finally calmed down completely. It was just a little angrily digging their hoofs. No one would doubt that this war horse would be the next moment. Turned into a red lightning.

The two sides confronted each other, the momentum was dignified, the soldiers caught in the middle naturally felt a little uncomfortable, but none of them dared to move, fearing that their actions would lead to unnecessary curses.

High-ranking silver, that is only one step away from being able to become a strong one.

Who is not afraid?

But, some people are not afraid.

Sean immediately removed the dead bones, then took off his coat, and threw away this finely crafted clothes worth dozens of gold coins, put a belt around the dead bones, and then stepped forward. Seven steps.

Each step taken, Sean's momentum climbed by one point.

Originally, Sean seemed to be just an ordinary noble child, but after these seven steps, his aura had reached the critical point of the upper bronze, and it seemed only a few steps away from the lower silver. Originally, this kind of aura, compared to Alfred and Rena, would naturally not be put in the eyes of the old man, but I don't know why, the old man felt that Sean was the real most difficult opponent among the three.

So, the old man looked at Sean.

Alfred finally dropped his right foot.

The footsteps were very light, but when this foot fell, the soldiers guarding the stone factory felt a trance like a big earthquake.

Then, they saw Alfred turning around to face the old man guarding the gatehouse, and at the same time, they took apart the canvas in his hand, revealing the magic weapon inside that was enough to make many people's hearts tremble. The red flame is like a living thing, constantly flowing on the halberd. Whoever sees this halberd will feel a palpitation and shock in his heart. Nothing else, just because the halberd is so outstanding. .

The old man's brows finally trembled imperceptibly, and he clearly felt the current situation is tricky.

"Old man, do you remember me?" Xiao En walked to the door of the stone factory and said in a deep voice.

The old man glanced at Sean, but he shook his head slightly: "I have a bad memory, I don't know how to offend you."

"I didn't come here to find you." Xiao En said calmly, "I just want to know one thing, when is the black steel stone owed to me by this stone factory going to be returned?"

"You have to ask the factory manager about this." The old man replied, neither arrogant nor humble.

"Then I am going to the factory manager now, why did you stop me?"

"The director did not invite you in. Of course, I, the gatekeeper, dare not let you in. Otherwise, the director will blame me."

The corner of Xiao En's mouth was lightly raised, and he smiled: "Then you mean, do you want us to kill you before we can go in and find the factory director?"

The old man finally raised his head and looked at Shaun with cold eyes.

Shaun was not afraid, staring at the old man with the same cold eyes, and shouted in a deep voice: "I only ask this question once....Where is Elsie?"

"Elsie?" The old man was taken aback, "Who is it?"

"Elsie Boulder." Sean raised his brow slightly, "Lord of Mordeg, Viscount Elsie Boulder, are you sure you don't know who it is?"

"The lord of Mordge has always been Lord Casserodi Boulder." The old man said calmly, "Who have you been fooled by before?"

Shaun's eyes narrowed slightly.

But the old man stared at Sean without any fear.

"Then this stone factory, anyone can come in?" Xiao En asked with a smile.

"It used to be like this, but since this stone factory lost a large number of black steel stones, it has been replaced by a factory director." The old man nodded and said, "The new factory director has strict requirements. Anything that has not been approved. No one can trespass into the stone factory, that's why there are these guards you see now.... Your lord, don't embarrass us servants."

Xiao En's face didn't change at all, but he felt awe-inspiring in his heart, because the old man opened the door the last time Elsie brought him here, although the director of Dess has never restricted anyone from entering. But where the size and thickness of the black steel stone are placed, who will steal these stones? And what's the use of a stone material like black steel stone, which does not have a scale of more than hundreds or thousands?

Of course, the reason why Sean was sure that the old man was lying was that the old man opened the door to let him and Elsie in. But now that he has never heard of Elsie Boulder, how could Sean believe his nonsense? Even if what the old man said was true, would William still be mistaken? With William's cautious character, he had previously inquired that the lord of the Mordgar collar was named Elsie Boulder. How could this be wrong?

Sean believes that even if the whole world is wrong, William will never be wrong.

Something must have happened in it that he didn't know!

And this old man is obviously not the kind of person who has never seen the world. He speaks and does everything without leaking, and does not give Sean any chance to seize the handle. At the time, both Sean and Elsie had seen this old man. There is no third person at all.

"Then, the five thousand black steel stones I negotiated with Director Deiss, who should I ask for now?" Xiao En asked again.

"This, you should ask the new director." The old man replied softly, his attitude is still neither haughty nor humble.

Xiao En chuckled: "But now it seems you are preventing me from looking for the new director."

"That's because you weren't invited by the factory manager. Of course I can't let you in." The old man continued, "If the factory manager is angry and blames me for a while and quit me, this old man doesn't have any skills. How can I maintain it? Birth."

"You can really make a joke." Sean let out a few loud laughs, "If the Boulder family is really so unsightly, I would welcome a master like you to come over."

Listening to Xiao En's words, the old man didn't show any joy or other expressions. This was what Xiao En had expected. If this old man would really be overjoyed because of this, how could he still work diligently and diligently here after being dispatched from Boulder's home to this stone factory? At least Sean felt that if he had this kind of chance, he would never stay.

So as soon as he said this, Xiao En's face changed and he became serious: "But I have a problem...that is, I must promise."

The old man raised his brows.

"Fred, how long has it been since three minutes have passed?" Sean asked softly.

"Ten minutes." Alfred calculated slightly and replied.

"I have just said that if he can't come out within three minutes, then I will go in and drag him out." Xiao En smiled and made the nobleman's graceful and calm posture full, but what he said was nothing. The arrogant and domineering attitude of the giants is also vividly interpreted, "Since ten minutes have passed now, before dragging him out, I will cut off all his ten fingers....one every minute. Fingers, it's fair."

As soon as these words came out, all the soldiers showed an inexplicably shocked look.

"It's been eleven minutes." Rena suddenly added.

But as soon as these words were spoken, a wave of fear appeared in the hearts of these soldiers. They couldn't raise the momentum of confronting these three people at all, and even wished to leave here immediately, afraid that they would become this in the next moment. The punching bag of the nobleman and his servants. This kind of thing is not uncommon in the world of Miracle Continent, and it is like those important soldiers with a certain status and status. If a few nobles are killed, no one will stand for them, let alone their low-status ordinary people. Soldier.

"Then cut ten fingers, and then cut off the right leg."

Everyone took a breath, and even the old man frowned, probably because he felt that the nobleman's methods were too vicious.

But in the unknown situation, Alfred and Rena looked sideways at Sean together. Although they saw Sean still smiling on his face, his eyes were extremely cold, as if There is no emotion in general. Rina didn't know the meaning of Sean's expression, but he guessed that it should be really angry; only Alfred can really be sure that Sean is really angry, because he used to take the lead in Tindes. At that time, he had seen Sean show such an expression.

Although I don't know the specific situation, Alfred can guess that the reason for Sean's anger is probably related to the person named Elsie Boulder.

Turning around, Alfred walked towards the factory director's office again.

This time, the old man did not exude any amazing aura or killing intent, because he simply disappeared in place.

How fast is the upper silver master?

When the old man appeared in the next second, he was only three meters behind Alfred!

It's not that his speed is the limit, but he has to stop here, because there is a silver-white brilliance that can be passed by his throat. If he stopped just half a beat, this brilliance would be Would cut his throat.

But the figure just revealed, the old man had to lower his head immediately, and the whole person leaped back quickly.

Because a red lightning has struck at least!

Rena coiled the rein in her palm with her left hand, and suddenly lifted it up. The person who screamed from the horse stood up, and the red spear in her hand slammed down towards the old man's head, and a fiery red energy broke. The gun came out.

One shot stabbed in the air!

The sand and dust raised by the front hoofs of the war horse are in harmony with the dust raised by the guns.

But when the dust had just risen, a strong wind rolled up and broke the dust mist completely.

A round of white brilliance, like a barracuda coming through the waves, it seems that the dust and the air are the deep ocean.

The eyes of the old man finally flashed a trace of solemnity and surprise.

Intuitively told him that this youngest-looking nobleman is the most difficult one among the three, but he never thought that this nobleman is more difficult than being difficult, and he has the strength to kill himself! If it's just this young nobleman, then the old man thinks that the outcome between himself and the other party is about 50-50. It really depends on who can kill who, or you need to talk about experience, consciousness, luck, and xinxing. With the help of that female knight, it is absolutely possible to completely kill herself!

The female knight's riding and spear skills are so superb that it is the only thing an old man has ever seen in her life!

It was almost the moon-white brilliance that swept out, Rina's left hand took the rein and pulled to the right, and the horse immediately turned her head. Without seeing any movement of Rina, the horse immediately galloped up again and sprinted towards the old man, the speed was not much slower than Moon White Guanghua.

After all, the white moonflower came first.

The old man seemed to see a faint red light on the glove of the nobleman's right hand. Although this red light slightly distracted the old man's attention, he was actually more than just relying on his eyes. Look. So naturally he was also prepared for the sword that Sean swung, but what surprised him was that he only saw the half of the sword that Shaun was swinging out of the sword. As for the tip and the upper half of the sword, it was I can't see it at all.

The old man was shocked, and there was a tingling pain in his back.

No need to look, the old man knew that his back had been scratched by this sword. But he couldn't think of any technique in this world that could make this kind of attack, which completely subverted the old man's cognition for so many years!

only knows, vaguely seems to hear the word "blood charm".

But before he could think clearly, a scarlet figure suddenly slayed, the red spear was like lightning, and dozens of spears were pierced in an instant.

No gun head, only scarlet gun shadow.

The scarlet gun shadow fell all over the sky, but this old man could only avoid it again and again. He was not a gold-level powerhouse, and without the blessing of armor and weapons, he did not dare to take it with his bare hands. If you don't pay attention, maybe he will really take his life here.

Naturally, Sean could see that the strength of this old man was definitely more than that. The real high-ranking silver could not be killed so easily. It's just that this old man is really big, and he dares to step out and pose without a weapon. If Sean doesn't take this opportunity to severely injure or kill this old man, then he will be ashamed of his status as a player for many years.

And taking advantage of Rina's spear, Sean certainly did not idle.

The effect of the Blood Charm Seal was two seconds away, and Sean took advantage of this last moment, aiming at the opportunity to add another scar on the old man's body. Suffering from this injury, the old man's evasion movement was a little deviated for a while, and the gun shadows all over the sky disappeared instantly, and they seemed to converge together. The red lightning flashed away, and the old man made a leap immediately. Pulling a few meters away, he was obviously out of breath.

But what is really shocking is that a little bright red mark on the old man's left shoulder suddenly soaked out of his shirt, and then the red mark began to expand gradually.

Obviously, he has suffered a lot of injuries, and this injury is obviously more terrifying than Shaun's two swords.

But at this moment, some tragic screams finally sounded inside the stone factory!

Vol 2 Chapter 6: .Because it is a friend!

The old man covered his left shoulder with his right hand, the injury on his shoulder finally stopped, and the blood no longer soaked his clothes, but the old man's eyes were full of extreme resentment staring at Sean. At this time, the heart-piercing howl in the stone factory truly shocked all the soldiers, but for this old man who seemed extremely determined, he had no influence at all, because his attention had been completely Focused on Sean.

Not long after, Alfred walked out of the house carrying a man covered in blood.

The man's ten fingers are gone, and he is missing a right calf.

Being dragged out by Alfred holding the collar like this, the blood on the broken leg pulled out a blood stain, which looked particularly shocking.

Even if he is a determined old man, he can't help but raise his eyebrows now. It has been a long time since he experienced those * killings, and the old man seemed to have forgotten those scenes a bit. As for whether his strength has regressed, let's not mention it, but many memories that have faded away are once again vividly taken from his mind. You can imagine how this character can survive those days of swords and shadows.

"Your Excellency is really tough!" The old man said in a deep voice, his tone was no longer the same as before, but with hatred and anger.

Xiao En glanced at each other, but did not intend to say anything to the old man. Instead, he lowered his head and looked at the middle-aged man who was obviously more out of breath, and said in a deep voice: "Do you know Elsie Bol? Germany."

The middle-aged man didn't know if he didn't hear Sean clearly, or didn't want to pay attention to Sean at all. He just wailed and panted weakly, but didn't speak at all.

Xiao En was not annoyed, the dead bone in his hand struck the man's right hand, and then suddenly stabbed, a sword pierced the middle-aged man's palm.

In an instant, the heart-piercing cry of the middle-aged man once again rang out from the stone factory.

"I'm asking once, if you still don't say anything, then I'll pierce your left hand." Sean said with a cold face, "If you still don't say anything, I will cut off your left leg... but no more Next, my mood will not be so good, because I will start to cut your flesh and blood with one sword and one sword."

"I said! I said!" The middle-aged man seemed to be unable to withstand this pressure anymore, and his spirit finally collapsed completely.

"Dare you!" The old man shouted angrily.

Rina waved her spear, shaking off a few drops of blood from the tip of the gun, and the horse under the crotch dug up the horse's hooves in cooperation, punched a nose, and white mist sprayed out of the horse's nostrils.

Alfred's right hand was slightly loose and still looked like a taciturn, but the halberd in his hand slipped slightly, the spear pierced the ground, and the axe tipped to the ground.

Xiao En raised his head and glanced at the old man with a cold voice: "If you don't want to die so soon, just shut up. When is it your turn to speak at the door? Didn't you see that I am talking to your factory manager now? What status do you dare to interrupt? There are no rules."

The old man was full of anger.

And Sean lowered his head, looked at the middle-aged man who seemed to be unable to see his face at all, and said in a deep voice: "Have you heard of Elsie Boulder?"

"Yes!" the middle-aged man finally said, never daring to conceal the slightest.

"Then what is this Marquis of Caseirodi, and what is going on?" Sean continued to ask.

"The Lord Marquis is Elsie's cousin. He inherited the title of earl very early, but he has never had a territory." The middle-aged man felt unusually dizzy, as if he would pass out in a coma at any time, just falling on Sean's. In his hand, he could only answer with a strong spirit, "A few months ago, Elsie made a deal with the lord of Black Swan Castle under the Valkyrie of the Principality of Ryan without permission, and offended Wiles from the Fascist Kingdom. Family, this incident caused dissatisfaction among many nobles in the kingdom. They united to condemn the Boulder family. Under pressure, the Boulder family removed the title of nobility and lordship from Elsie... Only by walking around in this storm did I get this territory."

"Just made a private transaction with the lord of the Black Swan Castle, and the family will take off the title of nobility and lord status?" Xiao En raised his eyebrows, and a colder chill flashed in his eyes. The Kingdom of Bion really hates the mistress of that fortress."

"And... it's not just that." The middle-aged man seemed to be afraid that the answer was not satisfactory, so he continued to speak, "The accidental death of Days in this stone factory was also one of the reasons. It is said that the factory director was because he knew it. Because of the secrets of some invisible transactions between Elsie and the lord of the Black Swan Castle, Elsie made a killer. This behavior is not allowed by the Boulder family, so...so ..."

Hearing this, Sean laughed furiously.

Shaun knows the virtues of that boy Elsie.

This kid himself would rather be poor and hungry than treat those who follow him badly. This can be seen from his behavior in the manor. Moreover, he is also a person who really wants to do practical things. He is all about the development of the territory, almost holding his fingers to calculate the income from the territory, and then how to reinvest these incomes into the territory to obtain greater returns.

And there were only two old servants who followed him. One did not know why he stole a dragon egg from the Black Rock Ground Dragon, and ended up being the belly Chinese food of that Ground Dragon; the other is going now. After a thousand-year-old covenant empire, I am afraid that it is on the way home at best, otherwise the Boulder family will be so messed up, and it is not certain that a loyal protection of the lord will be staged.

So someone told Sean today that Elsie had killed Deiss for profit. How could Sean believe it? Not to mention that this matter is false, even if it is true, how did Elsie move his hands? This half-strength guy wanted to kill Deiss without knowing it. It was absolutely impossible. If the boxer Cassius was there, then this logic would make sense.

Furthermore, Sean once told Elsie, if there is something unexpected and you need your own help, then go to Hongye Town to find him.

But more than four months have passed so far, and I haven't received any letters or messages about Elsie at all, so there is only one answer. The Boulder family's action was so fast this time, maybe even a trap was placed from the beginning to wait for Elsie to jump down by herself, so this dull guy didn't have time to ask for help.

Of course, it's really hard to say whether Elsie will ask for help, but Sean is more willing to believe that Elsie will do it.

Thinking of this, Sean suddenly asked: "Where did Dyce die?"

This question changed the old man's face in an instant, and the middle-aged man on the ground had already spoken, "In the office of the stone factory."

Xiao En slowly raised his head and looked at the old man who seemed to be just guarding the porter of the stone factory, but in fact, the old man with an unusual identity asked coldly: "Did you know the truth about Dyce's death?...No, You must know! Fred just walked in here and was not even aware of the aura, so if someone comes with killing intent and hostility, you can't be ignorant."

"You put the killer in the stone factory."

The old man just pursed his mouth, but he didn't speak, his face was extremely gloomy.

"Hehe, you deserve to be a good dog raised by the Boulder family." Sean let out a sneer, stretched out his hand to shake off the blood on the dead bone, and then retracted the dead bone into the scabbard, "I just don't know about your old dog. Which owner is loyal to? I don't believe that the old Duke Hatch would do such a thing with his own bloodline.... This is obviously to defeat Elsie and will never be able to stand up. How big is this? Blood feud."

Seen as if he saw Sean put away the dead bones, he had no intention of killing you, but he had restored a bit of aristocratic grace, and now that many things have already been explained, there is nothing to hide. , So the old man stopped pretending, he slowly lowered his right hand and moved his left shoulder slightly. Although it is not very convenient, it is at least not as painful as being stabbed with a shot before. After all, his bones are indeed old, let alone a young man like Rena, even Alfred can't match it.

"Since your Excellency already knows these things, there is nothing to hide." The old man straightened his back and body, looking a bit more of a real master temperament, "Your Excellency and Elsie's deal, I also know a little bit. One or two, if your Excellency is willing to stop asking about Elsie, I can guarantee on behalf of my master that five thousand black steel stones will be delivered to the Black Swan Castle next month, and the fifty thousand len gold coins will be all Return it as a meeting gift for my host and your Excellency to make a friend."

Hearing this, Sean smiled.

So the old man laughed too.

In the laughter, Sean asked: "Do you know who I am?"

"The first pioneer knight under the Marquis of Tonis, the lord of the Black Swan Castle, and the lord of the Pandaren." The old man smiled and said, "Lion King, Sir Sean Connery."

"Lion King?" Xiao En laughed, "When do I still have this title."

"An army under your command ran for thousands of miles in two months, traversing the five territories of the Kingdom of Darbion, and broke out in eight battles, winning consecutive battles." The old man seemed to be happy to explain this, and he didn't feel bored. "Now many nobles in the Darbion Kingdom refer to your army privately as a lion group, and the leading general is a mad lion..." At this point, the old man glanced at Alfred, obviously already guessing Out of his identity: "And since your Excellency can command this group of lions, and there is such a fierce general as a mad lion, you are naturally called the lion king."

Sean's mouth tickled: "Your proposal really touches my heart.... But do you remember what I said to you a few minutes ago? I said that I must promise."

The old man did not reply, but looked at Sean with some doubts.

Sean smiled slightly, and then said a sentence that made the old man's face instantly stiff: "I and Elsie are friends. And I once told him that if there is anything that needs my help, I will never refuse. Therefore, I don't care who the master behind you is, and I don't want to care about the mess of the Boulder family. I just want to pass you a word to your master."

"What are you talking about?"

"I won't see Elsie in a month, and my army will level the entire Maudger collar!"

Vol 2 Chapter 7: .uninvited guest

The change in Modger's collar was completely beyond Sean's expectations.

Sean did not know how the history of the game went, but the only certainty is that there were absolutely no names like Elsie and Casserodi among the best people in the Boulder family at that time. . The old Duke of Hatch can be regarded as a strong and stable npc. Among the four newly added marquis of the Boulder family after the Principality of Lane took down the Kingdom of Darbion, he has his place.

Sean sighed helplessly. If it were still in the game at this time, it would be fine. He could discuss many things with someone, instead of thinking about it by himself like he is now. In this world, Sean has always felt that his most advantageous ability is to be able to know the changes in the future situation, but most of these changes in the situation are changes in the overall situation, and the scale of a small fight like the present is really somewhat Feeling helpless.

That night, after Sean let the old dog finish the message, he left with Alfred and Rena non-stop.

This time when he exited the town gate of Blackstone Town, Xiao En and others did not dismount, he just said to break the gate, and Alfred directly smashed the high wall of the town gate with a halt, and several people tried to stop Shaun. The soldiers who were waiting were cleaned by one shot by Rena, and then the three of them left in a desperate mess.

At night, Sean did not have the habit of continuing on the road. Instead, he and Alfred and Rena were sleeping in a woods.

In this forest, the black rock terrestrial dragon once appeared, so when sleeping here, Xiao En and others were very careful. He specifically asked Rina not to make too much movement when getting food. If there is really no game to catch, just pick some juicy fruit.

For a time, only Sean and Alfred were left by the bonfire.

"If you have anything you want to say, just say it." Sean fiddled with the fire to make it flourish, and looked at Alfred who was hesitant to speak, and said softly.

"Really going to lead a war with Modger?" Alfred asked in a low voice.

"Do you feel bad?" Sean laughed.

"The situation in our territory has only just been settled down. If there is a war at this time, let alone the issue of military resources, the issue of military strength is also insufficient." Alfred is still the original thick appearance. He did not become proud or arrogant because of successive wins and the increase in prestige. "Iron Wings have been fighting all the way, and the strength can be affirmed, but now even if it is full, there are only three thousand people, the militia. Naturally it is impossible to go to the battlefield, if..."

"Are you worried about the other three territories that border Panda's territory?" Sean added the second half sentence for Alfred.

"Yes." Alfred nodded and did not deny his worries. "Although these three territories are only viscounts, they have been maimed by Asuna before, but it has been nearly two years. The situation, it is impossible not to develop, if we suddenly send troops to attack at this time, we are likely to lose more than the gains.... Moreover, I heard that this Boulder family is also a big family in the Kingdom of Darbion, even if it is led by Mordge There are no garrisons now, and it is impossible for them to let our troops occupy."

"I know all of this." Sean said calmly, "But Elsie is my friend, and I can't ignore it."

Alfred was taken aback for a moment, and then gave a wry smile: "I thought you were just making excuses before."

Sean smiled: "Am I that unbearable?"

"I heard that your bet with Marquis Asuna is about two years." Alfred said.

Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, and then smiled: "Yeah, there is still a year and a half.... The matter of Mordge is not in my plan. I just don't do this. I do feel uneasy. So I just thought about it. A strategy that has the best of both worlds."

"What strategy?"

"borrow troops." Sean said casually.

"Are you going to borrow troops from Asuna?" Alfred looked surprised.

"Mordegard is just an enclave for the Boulder family. It is extremely difficult for them to reinforce, and in the eyes of the Boulder family, the only value of this territory is the stone factory, but it requires The right to extract the raw materials is in Asuna's hands. With the face and attitude of the Boulder family, of course it is impossible to go to Asuna in a low voice to ask for the right to mine, so this territory has almost no value to them. "

As Sean said so, he drew a circle on the ground with a branch in his hand, then divided the circle into two halves with a stroke, then drew a protruding triangle on the horizontal line, and said, "But this piece If the territory falls in the hands of the Principality of Ryan, then the situation is completely different.... For Asuna, this is not an enclave, but a strategic territory that can be used as a forward base. Take this territory as Basically, all the territories around the Darbion Kingdom will have trouble sleeping and eating, because no one knows if Asuna will suddenly attack them."

Staring at the circular diagram drawn on the ground, Alfred's brows frowned slightly. After all, he had also been a regimental commander and had several personal command and combat experience, so even if he was not as strong as William in strategic vision and tactical ability, after being analyzed by Sean like this, he could still understand it. The strategic significance represented: "No wonder you dare to say that you want to beat the Modger collar."

"Asuna's strategy may be lower than William's, but William is absolutely inferior in terms of dealing with people." Sean said in a deep voice, without denying his true intentions, "So if you want to win Mordge Lead, Asuna will definitely give her support. I guess this time she will be Elizabeth or Simi even if she doesn't lead the troops personally, and it's likely that she will be taking the Thunder's Front into battle."

Speaking of this, Sean sneered: "I don't believe the Boulder family dared to send reinforcements after seeing such a lineup."

"If we really plan to go to war, then we dare not let that old man live before." Alfred frowned slightly.

"Do you think I want him to live? I can't kill him." Sean gave a bitter laugh helplessly.

If he can really kill a high-ranking silver, when will Sean be soft? In the Tonys Fortress, facing the two lower silvers, he meant to kill or kill, even if the commander of the 7th Legion came forward in person, Sean had no intention of being merciful. In the face of the high-ranking silver master, if he is really prepared, Rena and Alfred can only stand a draw together, although if the three of them work together, they can still kill each other. But this is based on the situation that Sean has played all the cards, otherwise he can only support the adrenal stimulation for three minutes, how can it be possible to fight the old man for a long time.

And if the old man really wants to run, apart from Sean, both Rena and Alfred can't catch up—the straight line is okay, and the upper silver will run faster than the average war horse, but if it doesn't Rena and Alfred would be really helpless if they took the usual path.

Hearing Sean's wry laugh, Alfred thought about it for a moment, and realized that the high-ranking silver was indeed not as simple as they could kill if they wanted to. He has always felt that Sean is a little omnipotent, so he ignored that Sean is only an upper-ranking bronze strength, but this person who clearly does not even have a lower-ranking silver strength can cause countless people to have a headache. For Alfred, it was a very incredible thing.

I don't know, if he can become a high-level silver in the future, will he be able to even feel a headache for high-level gold?

Alfred thought badly.

This is also his rare wickedness.

After a while, footsteps can be heard in the forest, Rena's armor is covered with various leaves and broken branches, and she looks abnormally embarrassed. But her hand was dragging an extremely majestic wild wolf out. This wild wolf doesn't look like a lone wolf, Sean guessed it should be the head wolf of a wolf pack, but such a wild wolf is just a beast after all. As long as it's not a monster, facing Rui A master like Na is also useless.

But seeing Rena look so embarrassed, presumably catching this wild wolf just now shouldn't be an easy job.

Naturally, two old mercenaries, Rena and Alfred, took care of the subsequent peeling, lifting, and cleaning of internal organs. Sean has not been very good at cooking, so he stayed on the sidelines. Hit and lay hands. For a lord, this kind of slaughter is naturally a low price, but Sean is very happy, but I don't know if it is due to system restrictions or other reasons. In short, even if Sean is following the chefs The cooking is step by step, and the cooked things are equally difficult to swallow.

So in Shaun's territory, a punishing game was very popular a while ago. Whoever loses will go to Shaun to ask for some food he cooked by himself. It is said that the militia of Baige Town was forced to try Sean's food after losing to the militia of Hongye Town last month. As a result, these guys went crazy the next day and began to practice desperately. It's just that Xiao En didn't know these doorways. He thought that his cooking skills were so good that he was against the sky, and he was very happy for a while.

When the aroma of the barbecue slowly diffused in the woods, Sean was the one who couldn't wait the most. He pulled a big leg down and started to eat.

Seeing that Sean was so unruly, how could Rena and Alfred tell him any rules, so the three began to fight for the wolf. Fortunately, Sean and Alfred also knew about Rina's hard work, so in general, the two of them were fighting each other, leaving most of the meat for Rina.

This fight is not over yet, the uninvited guest who is least popular is suddenly coming.

Vol 2 Chapter 8: .Florence Wiles

It was almost an instant that the uninvited guest appeared.

Rena and Alfred are ready to fight.

One is holding a spear, the other is holding a halberd, and one on the left and one on the right protects Shaun in the middle. It seems that in the next second, it will turn into that ferocious beast at any time, launching the most violent attack on the enemy.

It seemed that the reaction of Xiao En and others was a bit fierce. The person raised his hands and signaled that he was not malicious. Just looking at the relaxed smile on his face, if it weren't for the arrogant, then it can only show that this person is too confident in himself. Isn't he afraid that Sean will cut him out of unreasonable cards? ?

"Kill him." Sean curled his lips.

Hearing Xiao En's words, the comer's face suddenly changed, and the relaxed and confident smile finally couldn't keep on his face. He glanced at Rina and Alfred. The two of them had already clenched the weapons in their hands. They were obviously ready to kill themselves. Although he could barely protect himself with his strength, he was not here to fight. He said, "I don't have any malicious intentions."

"Don't you know that interrupting people's meals is a very immoral thing?" Sean raised his eyebrows.

"I have something you are very interested in." This man is also flexible in his mind, and quickly clarified. For Sean who played cards unreasonably, he found that it is better not to play with the set of communication methods between the nobles. "Related Elsie's."

"I think this wolf should be enough for four people?" Sean said thoughtfully.

"Enough." After all, Alfred is an old world, and Sean guessed his thoughts in one sentence, and immediately stepped up a step.

So the uninvited guest became less unwelcome, and he chose a distance not far away at will, and just sat down. Alfred and Rena had no interest in continuing to eat meat. The former wiped his hands and stood on the side guarding the guard, while the latter carefully wiped the spear in his hand and wiped it with the greasy meat just now. It makes the spear a bit smooth. For people like Alfred who go on a wide-open and large-scale route, it doesn't matter that it is greasy, but for a person like Rena with exquisite spearmanship, any omission is It may cause her spear skills to be inaccurate, so naturally she must take care of it.

The visitor is taking advantage of this time to watch Alfred and Rena carefully. The two seem to be thick and thin, but in fact they are thick and thin, and thin and thick. But what really made him curious was actually Rena, because according to the information collected, it's no secret that Sean had a fierce like Alfred by his side, but Rena's intelligence was nothing. So he will naturally be curious.

After all, being able to follow Sean with Alfred, and being a master of the lower silver, naturally cannot be a weak one.

"Have you seen it?" Sean asked.

"Haha, I'm sorry." The visitor smiled embarrassedly, "I am really curious about you, please forgive me for bothering me."

"Florence, don't tell me what's and what's not." Sean said indifferently. "You'd better make sure that your news is what I need, otherwise, even if you have touched the upper silver threshold, I will be able to Let you fall here tonight, trust me, don't doubt my ability."

"Of course, I never doubted it." The second heir to the Wiles family from the fascist empire, Florence smiled slightly. So far, I seem to have guessed wrong.... But as you said, if the Marquis of Tonys will send troops, then our Wiles family will reassess in this coming war. The role and status it needs to play."

"Are you eavesdropping just now?" Sean raised his eyebrows.

"Aren't you talking to me?" Florence smiled slightly, without the slightest tension in the enemy camp.

So, Sean and Florence looked at each other, with a knowing smile on their faces.

Shaun likes to talk to smart people.

Whether it is Asuna, Florence, or even Du Luen before, they can be regarded as the ranks of smart people. And the biggest advantage of talking with smart people is that you don't need to say a lot of things, and you can understand what the other person is saying after a little bit. This way of communication is actually more suitable for conversations between nobles, like Sean. This kind of chaotic behavior of unreasonably playing cards is very rare among the nobles.

Of course, Sean is not a real nobleman.

It's just that Florence doesn't believe it.

"Perhaps, we can become allies with the same interests." Florence said with a smile.

Seeing what Sean was about to say, Florence hurriedly said again: "Don't you refuse to refuse, how about listening to my proposal?"

"you say."

"Since you have ordered the Boulder family to hand over Elsie within one month, with the pride of the Boulder family, you will certainly not hand over Elsie obediently." Florence smiled slightly, "but if you let them know Tonis If the marquise will send troops, they will definitely change their attitude. Although the time will be slightly delayed, they will eventually hand over Elsie....If you continue to forcibly invade the Mordegg collar at this time, Then the meaning is completely different."

Florence said softly: "I think the Marquis of Tonis is not ready to turn this war into a national war?"

Sean raised his brows and said in a deep voice, "So what?"

"Since this territory is so important to the Marquis of Tonys, and it allows the Boulder family to surrender Elsie, then you must hope that after occupying this territory, the other party will surrender Elsie, right?"

Shaun did not speak, but looked at Florence with a calm face.

"I know where Elsie is being held." Florence seemed to be aware of Sean's impatience, so he stopped going around in circles and said straightforwardly, "I can solve Elsie and let you completely occupy this war. The heels of Mr. Mordege are in the bag."

"I don't believe that the Wiles family can be such a good person." The corner of Sean's mouth raised slightly.

"It's not the Wiles family, but me." Florence said with a proud face, "This is the deal I made between Florence Wiles and you, and it does not represent the Wiles family. So all the resources that can be used are I am personally responsible."

"Oh?" Sean is really interested now, "Are you here to do business with me in your personal capacity?"

"It's not a deal, but an alliance." Florence said in a deep voice, "It doesn't matter if you understand it as a deal. Anyway, the countries we are loyal to are different, and it is really difficult to become a political ally, but if it becomes an offensive and defensive alliance with the same interests, or reciprocity A mutually beneficial strategic alliance is still possible."

Sean looked at Florence with interest, then smiled and said, "So in this action, what do you need me to do?"

"Nothing is needed." It seemed that the words had already been talked, and there was no need to continue staying. Florence threw the last piece of fine meat into his mouth and chewed a few times before swallowing it. The appearance of eating is relatively rude to the nobles. Many, not at all like the gentleness shown before, "If I succeed, then we naturally have the possibility of further contact. If I fail, you will probably not talk to me again."

Sean is noncommittal.

In fact, with or without the help of Florence, Sean is sure to swallow Modger. It's just that Florence is willing to help. Regardless of other reasons, this is a good thing for him, not a bad thing. Of course, the premise is that Florence can succeed, otherwise it would be an unfortunate thing for Elsie. Sean wasn't interested in Mordege's collar, otherwise he wouldn't give this territory directly to Asuna, and he cared more about Elsie.

So if something like Elsie is injured, then Florence and Sean really have nothing to communicate with since then, and they may even become a member of Sean's hostile list. But he believes Florence knows this too, but he still has the confidence to tell him about it, so Sean doesn't ask the other party how certain they are.

Because it makes no sense.

"I will rescue Elsie in two months at the latest." Florence got up, "Thank you for the dinner."

Sean found out at this time that although Florence was a bit rude in eating, he had calculated everything perfectly. The time for this conversation happened to be the time when he finished eating a large piece of waist meat. From this point, Sean found that Florence was not only an extremely conceited person, but also a very self-disciplined person.

It is both conceited and self-disciplined, but also has ambition and strength...Looking at the back of Florence leaving, the corners of Sean's mouth raised slightly: "It's interesting."

"Do you believe what he said?" Alfred just walked over and asked.

"This Florence is not easy." Sean said in a deep voice, "He will never be willing to be the second heir to the Wiles family, but I can't figure out why he thinks I am a good ally.... Nothing else. Said that our current territory is tens of thousands of kilometers away from the Fascist Kingdom in a straight line, and it is even further away from the Wiles family territory, and there is no political exchange between the Principality of Lane and the Fascist Kingdom, whether it is military support. It's political support, I can't help him."

"Perhaps, he wants to get to know Asuna-sama through this?" Rena expressed her opinion.

"If this is the case, then there is no need to take such a big risk." Sean shook his head, "Forget it, anyway, everything is going according to plan.... You first go back to the territory and tell William about this, so that he is ready for war. , I'm going to Tonis Fortress."

"Don't you need us to go with you?"

"No need this time."

Vol 2 Chapter 9: . The Boulder Family's Response

Sean's declaration of war was immediately passed to the Boulder family's main sect.

"Huh!" An indifferent hum sounded in the room.

This is a small room, only a dozen square meters. It can barely sit for five to six people at most, but there are seven chairs in the dimly lit room, which means that only seven people can enter the room. At this moment, there are only five people in this room. The two chairs in the third seat on the left and the first seat on the right are all vacant. It seems that any chair in this room is sorted.

"What do you think about this matter?" a middle-aged man sitting on a chair in the center asked.

Although he is dressed in a simple dress, he has a murderous arrogance on his body, and he is obviously the same type of person who rolled out in the sea of blood on the corpse mountain. He was obviously not strong, probably at the level of the pinnacle of silver in the lower rank. He was obviously only a middle-aged person, but he was already full of silver frost, and he had no hope of stepping into the upper rank silver in this life. But if he can sit on the first chair in the center, he must be the leader of the people in this room.

This room is the famous seven-person hall of the Boulder family.

It is said that it was left by the first patriarch who founded the Boulder family. Except that the first in the center must be the current patriarch of the Boulder family to be able to sit, the six chairs arranged at the left and right ends have no bloodline requirements, on the contrary, they have strength requirements-the left is the territory strength requirements, the right is It is the personal strength requirement. To enter the left seat, you must at least be at least the strength of the marquis of Darbion Kingdom, and the top left seat even possesses the strength not inferior to the head of the clan.

If Sean can see the people in this room, then he can clearly determine that the two on the left and the chief old Duke Hatch will join the four Marquis of the Boulder family in the Duchy of Lane in the future. Of the three.

The right seat, which represents personal strength, is different from the left seat. Like the chief right, you must reach the upper sanctuary before you can sit; the minimum requirement for the second seat on the right is the lower sanctuary, and the minimum requirement for the lower right seat is gold. Now that the right chief is absent, there is only one explanation-that is, the Boulder family does not have a strong person who can sit in this seat. Although the right end seat said that the minimum requirement is lower-level gold, the middle-aged man sitting in this seat at the moment is a real upper-level gold powerhouse.

Facing the question of the old Duke Hatch, the other four people in the seven-person hall all had silent and contemplative faces.

The two powerhouses sitting on the right seat naturally have the right not to say anything about this topic, because they don't understand it. But if the two sitting on the left seat wanted to remain silent forever, it is estimated that the old Duke Hatch would really be angry. So after only a moment of silence, the middle-aged man who was the chief left finally broke the seven. The silence in the hall.

"This incident was caused by the boy Roddy. We are not obligated to help him clean up the mess." Although this sentence broke the silence of the Hall of Seven, it was also invisibly like lighting a barrel of gunpowder. In the narrow and dark room, the atmosphere seemed more stagnant and low. "And, how can you be sure that this is not the excuse that the marquise wants to start war again? I think I will just hand in Elsie."

"Heh." The old prince sneered. "I don't know who has been arguing a few months ago that Elsie broke the rules and must capture him back and deprive him of his noble title. Isn't it this time Roddy? Didn't give you money, so you didn't speak for him? Or did the last war with Asuna scared you?"

"Do you want to advocate war?" The middle-aged man who was ridiculed did not get angry, but still looked plain, "If you are asking my opinion, then my opinion has been given, and I will hand it over to Elsie. If you want to start a war against that pioneer knight, then I will definitely not participate. Unless you order me to send troops in the name of the patriarch."

"Hehe, your calculation is pretty good." Old Duke Hatch said with a smile, "but don't forget, the Boulder family will only have one duke. Even if I am stained by the Boulder family because of this, , You are still just a marquis.... Or, let's try each with a force of five thousand people?"

Hearing this, the middle-aged man who spoke first stopped speaking.

As a marquis of strength, although the comprehensive strength of the territory is indeed not much different from the military strength of the Duke of Hatch, in the last war to defend the Kingdom of Darbion, his most elite 20,000 troops were almost completely wiped out. A heavy price, although it has been reorganized now, the degree of training is still not as good. Therefore, if five thousand people are brought out to fight with Duke Hatch at this time, it will be nothing to go, and of course he will not be so stupid. .

"Huh." It seems that seeing the middle-aged shut up and did not speak, the old Duke Hatch's anger has also disappeared a little, so his tone has slowed down a little, "The boy Elsie really can't live up to it, so you and Rodina Click on the private transaction. I didn't pay attention to it at the beginning, and now naturally I won't settle accounts. But you had better not think of me as a fool. Don't forget that in the candidate list of family heirs, you were the sixth and I was the first, but you How can you have today, I think you should know."

"Please forgive my recklessness, my brother." The middle-aged man lowered his head slightly to show his mistake.

"Now, let's get back to this matter." Old Duke Hatch said with a majestic look. "The pioneering knight under the marquise is like a mad dog. I just finished biting and including Viscount Dodge. The five nobles inside want to trouble us now. Does he really think that his army is invincible? With such a small number of people, he dare to say that he wants to flatten the Mordge collar. What a big tone."

"So, we are now sending troops to reinforce the Mordege collar?"

"Mordge's terrain is not conducive to cavalry formation. I guess the other party will definitely use that lion group." Old Duke Hatch frowned, "But in this way, their territory will not have any defensive power. Although Viscount Doki was maimed on his side, Baron Ronnis seems to be able to send troops."

"Baron Ronnies has only three hundred heavy cavalry. He will certainly not be willing to send troops." Another Boulder family lord sitting in the second seat on the left finally said, "His territory is closest to Pandaren. Once he can't quickly If you win the Panda collar, the pioneering knight will swallow the three hundred heavy knights, and the trouble will be even greater.... And according to the information collected so far, the strength of the pioneering knight is almost not inferior. For any lower silver, if he and the female knight who currently does not know his identity and the Alfred person join forces, it is enough to kill any upper silver."

"Then this lord is in charge of me." The gold-ranked powerhouse sitting in the last seat on the right said, "If this is the case, I will perform the decapitation tactics. No one can stop me. Unless it's Tony. Only when the Marquess and the three magicians of her command gather together, it is possible to block my forcible killing."

"If you do it, we must take into account the anger of the marquise."

"This war was provoked by the pioneering knight. What anger do we need to bear?" Old Duke Hatch snorted coldly. "According to the rules of the nobility, since the other party has provoked the war, then we have no reason to back down, and if If this pioneering knight is dead, will the war continue to be fought?" At this point, the old Duke Hatch turned his head, looked at the middle-aged golden man, and said in a deep voice: "Solved this Sean After that, you can see if the two lower silvers under his command can solicit them. If you can, bring them back. If you can't, kill them together. You must not leave them to the Marquis of Tonis."

"Yes." The middle-aged man nodded.

"Okay, then the discussion is over..."

Just as the old Duke Hatch was about to end the topic, the younger brother of the old Duke Hatch sitting on the left side suddenly said: "If the Marquis of Tonys sends troops for reinforcements, what shall we do?"

For an instant, the entire Hall of Seven fell into a kind of silence.

After a while, the sanctuary powerhouse sitting in the second seat on the right, broke the silence, and asked tentatively: "I'm coming?"

"No!" The three of the two lords from the old Duke Hatch and Zuo Xi said in unison.

"If you take the decapitation tactic, then it will be a real nationwide war." Old Duke Hatch shook his head. "In the last war, Darbion has suffered a lot of vitality so far, and he needs at least to recover. Three to four years. The Principality of Lane, as the victor, did not lose much, and could support another nationwide war at any time.... If it is between our Boulder family and the pioneering knight. If the contradiction of the conflict evolves into a national war, then our Boulder family will lose the right to choose in this war. This is not in line with our Boulder family's consistent policy."

Speaking of this, the hall of seven fell into silence again, and for a while, no one was interested in continuing to speak...

"Where is Elsie now?" After a long silence, the old Duke Hatch finally spoke again.

"According to your instructions, we are currently restricted from the Howards mansion."

"Bring him back." The old Duke Hatch's face changed several times, and finally he sighed helplessly, "We are preparing for the second plan. If the marquise really sends troops to intervene in this matter, we will re-examine it. The identity of the pioneer knight.... But how long will it take before Howard can get the Maudger collar?"

"About two and a half months."

"Immediately send a messenger to carry a secret letter, go to the Mordg collar as quickly as possible, and at the same time order others to keep an eye on the situation in Tonys Fortress. If the marquise shows signs of sending troops, immediately ask the messenger to send this secret letter. Send it to the marquise, and then we immediately hand over Elsie." The old Duke Hatch looked a little gloomy, obviously very upset, "If the marquise has nothing to do, then let Baron Ronnies, along with several other viscounts and barons, sent troops to Pandaren. You Qi, you are responsible for the beheading tactics."

"Yes!"

"Hmph, dare to threaten to flatten the Maudge collar, but I want to see if this pioneering knight is really that capable!"

This is the second time Sean has entered Tonis Fortress after coming to this world.

But unlike the last time, this time Sean entered the fortress from the inner city, but this time he entered the fortress from the outer city.

Unlike imagined, the gates of the outer city are still open, and there are only twenty soldiers on duty, ten on each side. There are four rows of fences outside the city gate, each on the left and right, with a distance of less than 50 cm from each other. They are fastened to the ground with chain nails, leaving only the middle one that leads directly to the city gate, which can only accommodate three people. Trails. It seemed to be a bit more appearance and discipline than the situation that Sean saw when he was out of the city last time. Maybe someone really beat the 7th legion afterwards.

Sean entered the city this time, and it did not cause any accidents. Everything was done in accordance with the rules.

Get off the horse, line up, and pay the entrance fee. Apart from the hostile gaze that occasionally swept him, no one would not want to come up to Sean so much trouble. As for these gazes, most of them were in time when they met with Sean's eyes, and they immediately took them back. They didn't dare to look too much. They seemed to be a little afraid of Sean.

Of course, Sean knew that he was the most unpopular person in the Seventh Army in the outer city. I am afraid that there is no such word as one.

It's just that if he was asked to do it again, he would still choose to kill the two low-level silver masters. This was nothing to say, after all, those people had already touched Sean's inverse scales.

After entering the city, Sean did not stay here in the outer city, but immediately stepped on his horse and hurried towards the inner city with great speed.

After breaking up with Rena and Alfred from the Mordge leader, Sean didn't waste any time rushing to Tonis fortress. It takes about a month from Tonis Fortress to Pandaren. This is the result of crossing the black reef grassland and the entire Shaofu collar. If you want to go to the official road, it will take more than two months for the size of the army. , But if troops were sent directly from Tonys fortress to invade Mordgling, it would only take less than a month's journey.

In fact, Sean said that if he could not see Elsie in a month, he would level off the Maudger collar, but this time is actually just ordering the Boulder family to hand over people. Of course, the real time for the war cannot be. The fight will start as soon as the time limit expires. Regardless of Asuna's reaction and attitude, William needs at least one month of preparations, mainly the determination of the logistics supply line and the safety of the line. After all, the food issue is one of the issues of the march of an army. Among the most important.

No matter where Sean intends to use the steel wings, William must prepare a logistical plan of action.

The so-called soldiers are extremely fast, the sooner these things are prepared, the faster the marching battle will naturally be.

After entering the inner city, Xiao En did not make any stop, and ran directly to the mansion of the city lord.

But at the gate of the City Lord's Mansion, Xiao En unexpectedly saw someone who shouldn't be here.

Elizabeth.

"You really came." Seeing Sean with a wrong face, Elizabeth's face showed a smile, very charming.

But when she heard Elizabeth's words, Sean showed a helpless wry smile: "It seems that I was looked down upon by Lord Marquis."

The smile on Elizabeth's face was still charming, and she did not take Sean's words.

But in fact, Elizabeth clearly remembers what Asuna said to her when Sean declared war on the Boulder family.

"After half a month, you have been waiting outside the city lord's mansion every day. If Sean comes, he will lend him whatever he needs, and everything will follow his arrangements. If there really is a war between him and the Boulder family, there will be no If you come to me, then Sean is not worthy of my admiration. A person who clearly knows where his limits are is far better than a person with talent and strength, because the former always knows how to get the most Good interest... So if Sean comes to me, then I believe he can give me an excuse in two years, but if he doesn't come to me, then it's no longer worth paying attention to him. ."

At this moment, Xiao En appeared outside the gate of the City Lord's Mansion.

And Elizabeth, but it is also today that she began to stand outside the house waiting for Sean.

The next thing went so well that Sean felt an incredible degree. Originally, Sean thought that Asuna would send 5,000 soldiers to reinforce it, which would be very good, but he didn't expect that the entire Thunderhead would join the war, and there would be 10,000 mixed soldiers. The infantry served as a reserve force, and this level of force was completely beyond Sean's expectations.

But in sharp contrast to this unexpected, Elizabeth is not the commander of this army. Sean had long known that Asuna could not lead the troops on the expedition, but he guessed that Elizabeth would take over. However, he did not expect that it would be among the three female wizards of Asuna, with both fame and strength. The least obvious one.

Lee Yao's Light, Simi Herves.

This is a noble on the ground with the title of Viscount, but in name it is a noble on the ground, but in fact she has never been to her own territory once, but like the other two companions, has always stayed in Tonis fortress. In terms of strength alone, although Simi is also the pinnacle of high-ranking silver, in fact she is the weakest among the four including Asuna, but Simi, who was born in the Maggie Empire's orthodox school of magic, is actually the weakest among the four. Has a solid basic knowledge that is completely beyond the other two companions.

It's just that as an academic magician, there is usually a bad problem, and that is the lack of practical experience. In this regard, even after fighting with Asuna for so many years, Simi still hasn't made much progress, so she definitely needs guarding by her side when she casts the spell. In the past, it was Vivian or Ass. Na was in charge, but when Simi was lent to Sean, Elizabeth had made it clear that Sean would be responsible for Simi's safety.

This made Sean suddenly become two big heads.

After briefly introducing each other, Elizabeth left Simi and Sean, and then left the City Lord's Mansion, seeming to be very busy.

"Asuna-sama and Elizabeth-sama have been busy dealing with Gunda recently." Seen seeing Sean's doubts, Simi explained.

Simi, is a woman who looks a little gentle.

She has chestnut-colored long hair that crosses the shoulders. She is not as coquettish as Elizabeth in appearance. It can only be said that her facial features are very clean, and she is roughly the same type of person as Rena. But because Simi is a magician who specializes in academics, her skin is naturally very white and delicate. Only Cecilia can compete with her on the skin, and Elizabeth is slightly inferior, not to mention. Said Rina kind of female mercenaries who are often active in the sun.

Since Simi has been wearing that dark purple magic robe for many years, her figure is still a mystery. It is said that even the closest people such as Elizabeth and Asuna have never seen her. However, what Simi really is intoxicating is the intellectual temperament that she reveals when she wears glasses. This is a kind of coldness and Elizabethan charm that is completely different from Asuna, making her the entire Tony. One of the most distinctive women in Sling.

Xiao En's gaze stayed slightly on Simi's body, and after scanning it from an appreciative angle, he no longer stared at the other person, but looked at him. This is a kind of etiquette among the nobles, but Sago really seems to be shyer than imagined. Just staring at Sean so much, her face quickly turns red, as if she is well-seasoned. Apple.

"Army Field?" Xiao En was a little curious, "Can Tony Fortress open up an army field?"

"In the outer defense zone, an experimental field has been reclaimed. There is a river vein next to the Tonis Fortress. Asuna-sama digs a well to draw the river water for irrigation. Although it is more laborious, if the experimental field is successfully reclaimed, Tony's fortress's food issue can complete the initial self-sufficiency." Simi heard about Sean from Elizabeth, so he regarded him as his own, and explained seriously, "but it's just self-sufficiency. It's only self-sufficient. If you really enter the wartime alert situation, you still need to buy a large amount of food from the rear to transport it in.... And due to the special circumstances of the fortress, it can only be cultivated two times a year at most."

Shaun nodded, not delving into this issue. He only knew that the situation at Tonys Fortress back then was set by the system, and even if the players were going to fight, although they needed to prepare for logistical issues, they were far from being as cumbersome as the real world. They were usually set automatically by the system. Many things are much simpler in the logistics route. It was only after coming to this real world that Sean discovered the truly unique places, and naturally gained some vision and insights that are different from those of games.

It's not just that the world is changing, but Shaun is also constantly changing.

"Thunder's battle preparations will take about five to ten days." Simi didn't go deeper on the topic of Juntian, and changed the topic when she spoke. Being accustomed to the directness of soldiers, Sean certainly doesn't have any strange feelings. "The preparations in the ration are probably enough to last for about 20 days. I have already calculated the itinerary. After thirteen days, you can enter the Mordege. After a day's rest, the attack will be launched on the fifteenth day. It is expected that the Mordege will be fully conquered within five days.... Of course, the premise is that the enemy's size is not too large. If we are forced into the quagmire of war, then we will retreat on the 18th day and join forces in the rear that are responsible for logistics and support.

Listening to Simi's calculations, Sean felt quite dumbfounded.

However, from this, he also heard the arrogance of Asuna's troops, and he actually planned to conquer the entire Mordge collar in five days. This tone of voice could not be said by Sean. Although he knows that there is indeed no garrison in the Mordegat, the surrounding lords naturally cannot see Sean easily defeat this territory, and he must strengthen the Mordegat, and use the terrain of the Mordegat. From a point of view, as long as there are more than 5,000 troops and relying on Blackstone Town as the backing, it can be temporarily deployed as a military stronghold. If you want to force an offensive, it will never be possible to win without paying some price.

Five thousand troops, as far as the lords around the Mordege collar are concerned, they can still be pulled together.

"No hurry." Although Sean felt that this was worthy of Asuna's army and generals, he still refused, "We have to wait for another news. Only when this news is true can we start a war. Completely annexed the Mordge leader.... So the current situation of the war, as long as it can be delayed, we will temporarily delay as long as, if we let the enemy know that Asuna-sama intends to send troops to reinforce me, the other party will definitely choose to compromise instead of Fight against us."

Simi thought for a moment, and understood Sean's concerns, so he nodded and said, "I understand. Then you want me to do this? Asuna-sama has already ordered that this time the battle plan, I will be the whole process Follow your plan."

"In this case, Master Simi might as well return to the territory with me, and temporarily store supplies in secret for the time being. Don't disturb anyone. I'm afraid that we will leak the wind to let the other party know our plans."

The sago was also altogether altogether, and he agreed directly: "Okay!"
