

Lord of War Vol 2-131

Chapter 131: .Good harvest

Sean gently stroked the necklace he was wearing on his neck.

This is an ordinary necklace connected in series with gray ropes-at least on the outside it looks like this. There is no so-called jewellery on it. Under the series of gray ropes, there are just a few beautifully carved jade like leaves, with leaves attached to them. The context can be seen clearly. In addition, there is nothing left. In the seriousness of normal merchants, these jade stones are probably worth a little bit of money.

But in fact, Sean is actually a little confused.

In this regard, the increase in attributes is not to mention, the three effects attached to the necklace itself are indeed very rare.

The increase in skill power is okay. Although rare, if you want to buy it in the game if you can afford it, Sean has seen a piece of jewelry that has increased the power of skills by 50%, but it is already a piece of jewelry. A piece of mythical equipment. On the contrary, "Immunity to all abnormal states except that of death" is indeed relatively rare, probably belonging to a rare attribute that is one or two grades lower than "lucky spell".

Of course, although the category of abnormal states is large, it includes petrification, poisoning, freezing, paralysis, vertigo, sluggishness and other states, but states such as bleeding, cursing, and debilitating are not immune. Moreover, these abnormal states refer specifically to blessing, which means that the enemy can only be immune to it if it is actively cast. For example, if the enemy casts it, it will naturally be immune, but the enemy casts a swamp or mud spell, and the immune person himself is trapped. This kind of terrain is also not immune.

So this attribute is rare in Sean's eyes, but it is not very powerful, not to mention that it is not immune to curses, bleeding, and weakness.

But what really made Sean curious and puzzled was the birth of "lucky technique".

The production of magic equipment, as Sean who is also knowledgeable, is actually very clear, as long as the materials are appropriate, he can indeed produce the relevant special attributes he wants. For example, if the sharpness of a piece of equipment is not enough, he can forcefully increase the sharpness through the addition of materials, and even immortalize the attributes such as burning, increasing strength, and incidental piercing. Therefore, in the eyes of Sean, the true value of this necklace The value lies in "how to add luck".

If he could understand this, then Sean would really like to build a suit with all luck skills for himself, and he might be able to transform into real luck.

True luck and luck, there is a huge difference.

"It seems that it is indeed necessary to find a way to meet this man named Thiers Parn."

Sean said silently: "I just don't know what kind of person this person is....If it's the surface world, it's okay, I'm afraid it's a race in the underground world."

In fact, Sean actually had a little speculation about this answer, but he would rather have such a little hope before he got the correct answer. At least, if in the surface world, Sean has a way to meet or kidnap the legendary master, but if it is in the underground world, then Sean can dispel the idea of kidnapping. I am afraid that even if it is to meet one side, it will be difficult. It's very big.

"What's the matter with you?" Cecilia mumbled to herself when she saw Sean walking absent-mindedly, so she asked.

"Nothing, just thinking about some questions." Xiao En said with a smile.

In the dark environment, Cecilia naturally couldn't see Sean's expression, but it could be distinguished from his tone and attitude. The cub of Warcraft in his arms moved a little, but it looked more like adjusting its sleeping position. For it, it was originally held by Cecilia in his arms and could naturally sleep comfortably, but now it is only Cecilia held it with one hand, of course, it was not very comfortable to sleep, but the smell of Cecilia's body can make up for the gap in this respect, so the little guy also looks very well-behaved, at least not like Sean The cubs of Warcraft in the baby stage are just as naughty.

As for Cecilia's other hand, of course, it was grasped on Sean's cuff, closely following Sean.

This is not the first time for Sean to come to this underground cave, although he now understands that this cave is very different from the cave in his memory. Well, I still believe that there should be no less black dhara grass in the crypt. This kind of thing is not an alchemist and cannot be made into a soul tranquilizer, but he knows another use of this kind of herb, which is his real goal.

And to find the correct direction of the black draco grass, after sliding down from the ground, go to the right when encountering the first wall.

will go left before, purely because of the attraction of the roar.

However, looking back seriously, Sean also found that he had never walked to the left in the game. At this moment, I think of it and then I want to go to the left. Obviously, it is impossible. Not to mention what dangers will be encountered in the unknown situation, but now there are not only Cecilia and more, this is named Marshmallow. The cub of Warcraft, so Xiao En dare not go on adventures at will.

If he is the only person, naturally it doesn't matter.

The adventurous blood is constantly boiling in his body, but vaguely, there is something preventing him from venturing in this cave. Sean could not accurately say this feeling, but he was certain that after wearing that gold-grade demonized necklace, this feeling began to become a little clearer, but in terms of subjective feelings, Sean is still a little at a loss.

To put it simply, Sean's intuition has been strengthened, but the enhancement is not enough.

So at this time, Sean didn't have any mood to continue exploring the left side of the cave, or it was no longer important to him. Therefore, I took Cecilia and continued to move to the right. That was the real purpose of Sean's trip. Encountering that powerful monster in that mysterious underground cave was an unexpected joy at all, and the same It also allows Sean to see more things.

Fortunately, during the next trip, Sean and Cecilia did not encounter any trouble or danger, and soon came to an underground lake.

There are no ripples on the sparkling lake, and it doesn't look terrible at all, but under the lake there is a faint blue brilliance. This kind of brilliance is reflected through the lake surface to the dome of the cave, and it also shines a peculiar fluorescence, at least so that the cave is not too dark, only in terms of the intensity of light, this is enough for Sean and The two of Cecilia could see everything around them clearly.

This underground lake is not huge, at least not as big as the lake that Sean had seen before in the underground cave with huge monsters, but in fact, the scale of this underground lake is far beyond anyone's imagination.

The reason it doesn't look big is actually because only a small portion of the lake is exposed to everyone who enters the cave. After entering the cave, it's probably a straight line distance of hundreds of meters to reach the lake, and the lake surface extends. The scope of going out is about two or three hundred meters away, which is equivalent to two-thirds of the area of the entire cave. After that, it is a cliff.

The smoothness of the wall eliminates the possibility of anyone climbing on it. The mirror-like cliff is hard to imagine how it was formed, but in fact it appeared so abruptly and blocked any entry into the cave. Prospecting of human vision.

Under the calm surface of the lake, there is a blue brilliance, but standing by the lake, you can't see the depth of the lake at all.

But as far as Sean knew, even if he dived down for thirty minutes in this underground lake, he would not touch the bottom of the lake. And as the depth of the dive gradually increases, the field of view will be simultaneously limited. When the depth of the dive reaches the depth that can be reached after thirty minutes, the visibility of the field of view is already less than two meters, and there are other things similar to cold. The dubuff is interfering, and the player's health will continue to drop, and it's still getting worse, not to mention the restriction of underwater breathing and water pressure.

Similarly, if you dive into the lake instead of going down, but trying to get a glimpse of the scene behind the cliff through the obstacle of the cliff, you will also be restricted. Of course, this limitation is not a problem of visibility, underwater coldness and water pressure, but the amount of oxygen supplied. Once a player used a large number of props and equipment to increase the time of underwater breathing, he dived into the lake for four hours, but still failed to see hope, and ended up drowning alive.

Since then, no players have come here to play heartbeat.

However, after seeing this lake at this moment, there is a sudden insight in his heart: through this lake, he can return to the underground cave where the entrance has completely collapsed.

He couldn't tell how this kind of enlightenment came about, but when he saw this lake and its blue brilliance, Xiao En felt this way.

It's just that, Sean just glanced quickly, and didn't pay much attention to these issues.

His gaze now has been completely attracted by the black plants growing on the grass around this underground lake.

This is a black plant with no petals but a stamen. The stamen is about one centimeter in diameter and the stem is three centimeters long. It doesn't look very big, even a little pocket-sized, but no one will ignore it because of its small size. Even despise it, it can even be said that every plant of this plant is extremely precious. Because what can really be used as medicine is just a little essence liquid purified from the stamens, which is why it takes ten kilograms of black dhara grass to make a soul tranquilizing potion.

At the moment, in this cave, from the entrance of the cave to the edge of the lake, there are densely dense black drapergrass growing, which looks like a sea of black flowers. These black dhara grasses can harvest close to 50 kilograms, even if they are slightly insufficient, they should not be much worse. If they are used in a rigorously calculated alchemy potion, there are at most four soul tranquilizing potions. Of course, the insufficient part cannot be used as medicine.

However, Sean had no plans to make potions at all, so for him, so many black draped grasses were no less than the harvest of that golden-grade necklace!

Think about it, there are no more than ten sand wolf mounts born in a medium to small wolf den every year, but with so many black drakes, Sean is able to make this wolf den directly become a super large-scale wolf den. , There is even more than one! To be conservative, Shaun thinks that at least three large-scale wolf dens can be born, so that the number of sand wolves that can be born as mounts every year will probably not be less than one hundred and fifty. In other words, Shaun only needs to experience Six years after the initial relatively low-key, he can have one hundred and fifty goblin cavalry to join his battle sequence every year.

Is this deal not a good deal?

Now, what Shaun really needs to consider is whether the scale of the Big Red Fire tribe is enough to train so many goblin cavalry.

Chapter 132: .The shock of the situation

This trip to the crypt has to be said to be a bumper harvest, so that Sean had to empty the reserve in the space ring a little bit, and many useless things were directly abandoned. However, Sean did not collect all the black dhara grasses, and he still has a choice to collect them. Basically, there will be a few black drow grasses in each small area, so you don't have to worry about this place. The black dhara grass in the cave will be all emptied.

Of course, the situation here is not like the game, it only takes a few hours to refresh.

According to Sean's estimation, at least it will be impossible to see this plant again in the next ten years, and the next collection will probably be ten years later. However, at that time, Sean believed that he probably no longer needed to rely on the black draco for development. Even if it was really unavoidable, he still needed this plant. Sean also knew some other areas that could be collected, and he didn't need to stay there all the time. it's here.

But in the end, Sean still collected more than forty kilograms of black draco.

In Xiao En's eyes, this is equivalent to three super-scale wolf dens, and even enough to separate out several small-scale wolf dens.

After finishing all this, I don't know how long it has been. Both Sean and Cecilia are exhausted. In fact, at this point, Cecilia is actually quite disadvantaged. After all, she is a magician, not a warrior or a high-strength person, and gathering this kind of thing naturally requires high physical exertion. , But by coincidence, Cecilia quickly figured out how to quickly and perfectly collect the black draperia under the guidance of Sean.

And as a magician, it can be said to be by analogy in handling materials, so although there is no way to save too much physical consumption, but under the same time and physical strength, Cecilia can collect more than Sean is more. I have to say that this is quite envious of Xiao En, but there are some things that he can't force too much, so he didn't care too much about them.

In Cecilia's feeling, it should have been about two days.

For the past two days, the monster named Marshmallow has been in a certain state of sleep, it seems that after swallowing the crimson flame, the powerful energy has not been completely digested. However, the marshmallows at this time have been emitting a faint heat all over the body, and it feels warm, especially near this underground lake. Sean and Cecilia hardly need biochemicals, as long as they stay in the cotton. You can feel warmth by Tang's side.

According to Xiao En's observation, this kind of warmth spreading is obviously on a certain regional scale, and its range is approximately within five meters of the surrounding area. As long as it is out of this range, the coldness of the underground cave formed by the cold air from the underground lake cannot invade Sean and Cecilia. From a certain perspective, or in Sean's eyes, Cotton Sugar is like a mobile stove.

Cecilia gently stroked the marshmallows, the little guy immediately moved to Cecilia's side a few times, and his reaction was almost like radar. In the past two days, even if Cecilia didn't hold the marshmallow in his arms, the little guy had an instinctive tendency. Almost where Cecilia went, the little guy rolled and followed. Only by Cecilia's side, this magical cub of Warcraft can sleep peacefully.

If the distance is too far, it has exceeded the instinctive sensing range of this monster cub, then the little guy will start to make a sound similar to crying. This kind of voice doesn't have any magic power, but it can cry continuously, and there is no sign of stopping. For a long time, neither Cecilia nor Sean will feel agitated, so now even Sean is not. Dare to let this little guy far away from Cecily.

Of course, in these two days, Sean also proved one thing.

He and this monster cub obviously have no fate, or affinity. As long as Cecilia is not around and Sean tries or tries to get close to this monster cub, the little guy immediately starts crying. It is clear that his eyes are not opened, and he is in a state of sleep, but the little guy is As if he felt some danger, he kept crying, and only when Cecilia was next to him, Sean's approach would not cause adverse reactions.

In this regard, Sean also sighed helplessly.

"Woo." Marshmallow made a noise similar to a dog barking, but the sound was very soft. Watching the idiot move to Cecilia again, it was just acting like a baby.

Shaun curled his lips and snorted coldly.

"What should I do now?" Hearing Sean's cold snort, Cecilia was a little bit angry and funny. She always felt that she had unexpectedly seen another side of Sean that was unknown, like a **** kid. "How do we get out?"

"There is a stone path that can lead to the ground nearby, but it was not manually excavated, so we need to climb up." Xiao En replied, "Although it's a bit more troublesome, it's at least easier than going back on our original path. ...The ***** is too steep. If we don't use tools, we can hardly go up, so we can only start from this stone path."

Perhaps because of exhaustion, Cecilia fell asleep soon, and Sean did not say anything.

So the two spent the night speechless.

In the perception, it was about a day later, and Xiao En first woke up. After all, as a soldier, he has better physical fitness, so the fatigue reduction rate will be correspondingly faster. After getting up, Sean quickly washed up and started to prepare breakfast. Although the water of this underground lake was extremely cold, there was a peculiar sweetness. Although it did not increase the effect of attributes, at least it could make People are refreshed quickly.

The food for breakfast comes from the underground horned dragon.

In the underground world, untamed adult ceratops are usually used as materials, including but not limited to their flesh and skin. At least according to Sean's understanding, there are more than 30 dishes that use underground horned dragon meat and offal as ingredients. However, given the harsh environment at the moment, coupled with the limitations of Sean's cooking techniques, there is only one kind of cooking he can cook.

"It's a big pot of meat again."

Woke up, Cecilia let out a helpless sigh as soon as she saw what Sean was cooking, "When will you be able to cook something truly decent?"

"It's good if you have enough to eat." Xiao En's face blushed slightly, cooking this stuff is indeed his weakness, but he still reluctantly said, "In this environment, what else can you demand... ... Fortunately, I have brought some salt and some spices, otherwise you will even eat battered and tasteless meat."

Cecilia curled her mouth, but didn't say anything, instead she was ready to eat soon after washing herself.

As for barbecue?

After Shaun roasted a large piece of underground horned dragon's hind legs into charcoal ash, and experienced the pain of being completely unable to cook, he would never do this kind of wasteful behavior again. Relatively speaking, big pot meat and chowder meat can be made with only one level of cooking. Even if Sean has not learned to cook, he can easily make it. Of course, he wants how delicious it is. Like Cecilia's expression.

After eating this breakfast, Cecilia and Sean did not stay any longer, and quickly got up and walked towards the stone path in Sean's mouth.

In fact, the situation on this stone road is much worse than Sean imagined. Perhaps it's because today's age is many years earlier than the time when the cave was discovered in the game. Therefore, this stone path shows traces of uncultivated land, not to mention the convex and sharp stone corners, but the smooth ones. The stone surface is enough to make people completely unable to stand.

Of course, this can't bother Sean and Cecilia at all, at most it makes them need more physical strength and fatigue.

It didn't take long, and the two could soon return to the ground again.

.....

Almost when Sean and Cecilia are trying to climb back to the ground, a large team is also marching in the wild.

The size of this team has exceeded four hundred. Although it is not a strong team in the Wildlands, few people are willing to provoke it. Of course, if this team were all kobolds, then the 400 kobolds would probably not be seen by many people, but when there were more than 200 humans in this team, there were The meaning of is a little different.

In fact, although the position of this team at the moment is not considered the deep belly of the wild land, it is also directly under the jurisdiction of a third-class tribe. If it is only the kobold tribe in action, then the chief of this tribe is also stunned. Just close one eye with one eye. But when humans are the dominant force in this force, and the size of human soldiers is not small, this kind of behavior is no different from provoking the authority of this tribe.

But unfortunately, in the three fierce battles that I have just experienced, this unit successfully wiped out the troops sent by this third-class tribe, the Habek tribe, at the cost of nearly a hundred human soldiers and two hundred kobolds. The behavior has seriously damaged the specific strength of this tribe. If the Habek tribe is already in an awkward situation, the only troops that can be called are the direct guards of the tribal chief. Now the other small tribes under the whole Habek tribe have already felt the weakness of the suzerain tribe. The feeling of wind and rain.

In fact, this is also a scene of the wild land. The small tribes of the big tribe are indeed attached to it, but when a big tribe decays, the small tribes below will not be obedient and obedient. If they feel that they are strong enough, they will even A war will be launched and the great tribe will be annexed. Now Habaek is already facing this situation, so naturally he dared not come to trouble this team deep in the tribal territory.

In fact, this has a lot to do with the Habek tribe's mistaken underestimation of the team's combat power.

Of course, what I didn't expect was that Yanqi tribe, as the veteran adherents of the tribe, would actually raise the tribe to rely on these humans!

This is what the entire Habek tribe really did not expect!

Chapter 133: .Behind the power

"My lord." Billy knelt on his knees, with a truly humble expression on his face. "It has been found out that the people in this tribe have been migrating for a long time, at least more than half a month. The specifics are The track is unrecognizable."

This is a hillside, about 300 meters south of the Chongyan Tribe. Standing on this hillside, you can overlook the entire Chongyan Tribe, and even all the places within a few hundred meters of the surrounding area. Exhausted.

In the era when the Chongyan tribe never fell, there was actually a permanent detection point here. Although the maximum field of vision could only detect a range of several hundred meters, if there is a large force action, it can be far away from one kilometer. be found. From this point of view, it is not difficult to see the long-term vision of the chief who originally designated the heavy rock tribe here, but it is a pity that since the heavy rock tribe began to decline, he has gradually been unable to continue to set up surveillance here. Clicked.

At this moment, standing on the hillside is the silver who has a lonely and arrogant atmosphere.

No one remembers her real name anymore, or even she herself doesn't think about it anymore. Whether it was the master she served, her companion, or her mentor or enemy, they only remembered one name.

silver.

Like Sean, Silver is also a swordsman. But because she did not have the manuscript of the Exorcist Association, her advancement direction was not the Demon Hunter Swordsman, but another branch. Originally, the Demon Swordsman used the power of sealing the demon as his main combat power, and his performance also showed diversification. However, on the whole, he still uses the two major rune seals of attack and defense as the entire combat system. Others Related capabilities are expanded and supplemented in this system.

But it is precisely because the demon's power is restrained, so behind the seemingly powerful Demon Hunter Swordsman, there are actually many flaws and problems. One of the most common is the loss of power from time to time: like Sean, he will completely lose his power on the 15th of each month. Of course, different demon hunters lose their power on different days. And their enemies-including but not limited to demons, humans, humanoids, etc., will retaliate after thoroughly understanding the days when the demon hunter lost his power.

It can be said that the current decline of the Exorcist Association, so that it has completely disappeared from the eyes of the world, has a great relationship with this.

Now the Demon Hunter Guild on the Marvel Continent was actually a subordinate diverted from the Exorcist Association at the earliest, but after the Exorcist Association fell, the Demon Hunter Guild began to try to operate independently. Now that so many years have passed, it has long since had nothing to do with the former glorious Exorcist Association, and its purpose has changed from hunting demons to hunting monsters. This naturally includes a variety of powerful monsters, creatures or demons, demons, and even some heretics and magicians. From a certain perspective, many businesses of the Demon Hunter Guild conflict with the Adventurer Guild, so these two The guilds are definitely not friendly to each other.

Nevertheless, the career advancement route of Yinsuo was created by her mentor.

Different from the power of suppressing and controlling demons and demons advocated by the Exorcist Association, what the silver teacher advocates is to absorb and assimilate the power of demons and demons, and even their powerful souls, if possible, should be combined. Swallowed.

It's just that this way of behavior will certainly make it more powerful in combat, but in essence, it will continue to accelerate its own life force consumption, and it may become a demon, devil and other alien creatures. Although Yin's mentor has been trying to solve this problem, it is a pity that not only the progress is slow, but the results are also terrible. Under such circumstances, the mentor finally remembered his brother, so he went to look for it. His brother tried to ask for the manuscript.

But unfortunately, the negotiations broke down.

Because Yoda stubbornly believed that his former companion had taken refuge in the devil, so he drew his sword and faced each other. And this middle-aged man who used to be Yoda's partner also has an absolute arrogance. He doesn't want or disdain to explain to Yoda. Of course, the reason is that he has some unknown mentality, even if To have contact with the devil is to maintain a certain cooperative relationship, rather than to take refuge in the devil.

But anyway, Yoda is dead and he didn't get the manuscript. After tossing around in many places, even without hesitating to use a lot of strength and favor, did he finally find out about the existence of Sean, Yoda's last disciple, and therefore the situation where Silver has gone into the wild and pursued thousands of miles today.

These secrets, Billy is naturally not clear.

The only thing he knew was that the strength of the mysterious woman in front of him was definitely not as simple as it seemed on the surface. At first, he felt like the lord he had seen before, but after three fierce battles in the wild, he realized that he really underestimated this woman, especially After losing the pair of magic weapons.

On the surface of silver, it seems that she only has the strength of high-ranking silver, but if she activates the power of the devil in her body, then her combat power will soar to kill any terrible strength of the low-ranking gold powerhouse, even if it is the high-ranking gold power. Those who do not necessarily have the power to fight. In a certain way, she is indeed stronger than Sean, and she is more than a little bit stronger. Of course, all silver's judgments on Sean are based on her intelligence integration from Billy and all aspects.

If she knows that Sean now has the ability to kill the next golden powerhouse, then she will become more cautious instead of rampaging in the immediate territories of the Habek tribe.

Silver's powerful strength, coupled with Billy, the true lower-level gold powerhouse, and a well-trained army, is indeed a powerful strength.

Unless the Habek tribe is so determined that even the chief's direct guards are dispatched, otherwise, it will only rely on those fourth-class and fifth-class tribes, how can it be possible to stop this force. Of course, Yin would not be so stupid as to lead people to attack these tribes with a size above the fourth class. She just came to the wild land to find Sean, not here to hunt slaves. In a way, the whole wild All places are in a passive state, but silver is the one who truly masters the initiative.

Of course, this is also the reason why Silver and Billy currently don't know that the entire Rift Valley has become a mess. If they know that Sean's back players are so fierce and fierce, they can even say nothing, then the situation will of course be the same. different.

In fact, no matter who it is—whether it is the people of the Pan-Continent Business Association Alliance, or those who secretly manipulated several business associations, the great nobles of the Darbion Kingdom, the nobles of the Fascist Kingdom, or even other powerful, identity and status. Organizations and individuals did not expect that only a lord who developed the status of a knight would have such a courage to set off a counterattack that was almost a declaration of war.

At this moment, the eyes of the entire Southern Continent were all concentrated in three places.

Void City, Tonis Fortress and the Principality of Lane.

Therefore, all people have also ignored the undercurrents and murderous intents hidden under this almost monstrous giant*.

It's just that it's murderous to Sean, but to Silver and Billy, why not?

"Is it completely impossible to trace?" Yin's voice was cold and almost without emotion, but the anger in the words was obvious.

"No way, track it." Billy said softly, "Because it took so long that many clues and smells have completely disappeared. However, it is obvious that the size of the heavy rock tribe is definitely not. Great, and once suffered a major blow that was nearly extinct..."

"Didn't this have been asked from the kobolds a long time ago." Silver interrupted Billy's words.

When the Yanqi tribe was conquered before, the Heavy Rock Tribe was plundered by the Blackwater Tribe, so they will send a troop to try to completely eliminate the Heavy Rock Tribe. But unfortunately, this force was ambushed by another powerful force. Of course, according to the description of the survivors, Yin already knew that the person who ambushed the Yanqi tribe force was Sean, so he hurried immediately. Rush over.

But unexpectedly, all this is still a step slower.

"The problem lies here." Billy said in a deep voice, "According to the remaining signs, the Heavy Rock Tribe did not immediately retreat after being attacked, but continued to stay here for more than half of the time. A month ago, they moved as a tribe. From the current signs, the kobolds of the Yanqi tribe suspected that a nearby tribe had taken in the Chongyan tribe."

"The nearby tribes?" Silver's eyes flashed with a gleam, "Let them go out for investigation immediately! Anyway, it is necessary to find out which tribe has taken in the Chongyan tribe."

"Yes." Billy nodded in response, then quickly got up and walked towards the heavy rock tribe.

Yin still stood on the hillside and didn't move, but her eyes showed a bit of madness.

This kind of madness, or fanaticism, is hard to understand. But if Xuefanio or Dini were here, they could clearly understand that there was no difference between such crazy eyes and fanatical beliefs. Just as they are fanatics who believe in gods, they are extremely obeying all the obsessions of the gods, and Yin is also very fanatical in complying with the will of her mentor.

Of course, even if this fanatical belief is thrown away, the advanced route that Yin takes also makes her have to do everything possible to capture the manuscript in Sean's hands.

Because only this manuscript records how to truly use the power of the devil. And this is the fundamental reason why Sean is able to advance into the Demon Swordsman. It can be said that if there is no such kind of "inhibition" recorded in this manuscript, then as Yin and her mentor activate the power in the body for a long time, they will eventually become a real demon.

is like Mario back then.

The only difference is that Mario took the initiative to give up his identity as a human, while Silver and her mentor were forced to become demons after being constantly eroded by this power.

So in any case, this manuscript, silver is determined to win!

Chapter 134: .The biggest gain

This is a huge dirt pit.

There are some wattle above the soil pit. This very special wood can only grow in some barren places. It has strong toughness and thickness, but generally few people use this type of wattle as a bow. The main reason for the body is that it is not easy to polish, and the longbow made of this material can only be drawn by people with great strength. Under the same circumstances, archers often choose fine iron, so the actual value is not high.

But now, these wattle trees are piled up into a building that resembles a house, and there is a very unique slime at the junction of each piece of wattle wood, which can ensure that even if it is encountered in the wilds, it is strong. The strong wind will not blow these brambles down. And outside this house made of wattle trees, there are a dozen khaki wolf-shaped creatures lying or walking or standing together. Although it looks a bit scattered, if you look closely, you can find an amazing The rule of law: The distance between each wolf is about ten meters, and the house made of wattle trees also maintains a distance of ten meters.

There is no doubt that this dirt pit is the sand wolf's nest!

The dozen or so sand wolves surrounding the wolf den are elite-level sand wolves directly under the wolf king. These sand wolves are all sand wolves that are not suitable for use as mounts. Their value is naturally very low in the eyes of goblins or other races that can control sand wolves, but in fact, their combat effectiveness is not inferior at all. After all, they can be called Elite creatures are definitely stronger than other similar creatures in terms of health, attack power or other aspects.

In particular, these elite sand wolves are not just adult individuals, but have grown up and survived a long ***** battle, and their combat effectiveness is naturally extremely high. However, their lifespan is also a problem. I am afraid that this group of elite sand wolves will be replaced soon.

A little further away from the wolf den, a group of sand wolves are running.

The number of these sand wolves is not large, probably less than a hundred, and their size is a little smaller than the elite sand wolves near the wolf den. Obviously they are ordinary sand wolves. But if the elite sand wolves are the elite combat power of the entire wolf den, then these sand wolves are the cornerstones of the entire wolf den, because they not only need to be responsible for hunting, but also provide the food they catch to the elite sand wolves, wolf kings, and wolves. Later, he was even responsible for protecting the wolf den from attacks, as well as fighting other wolf dens when necessary.

It is amazing that the size of this wolf pack is not determined by the amount of food in the wolf pack domain like the earth, but by the size of the wolf den. Whenever the size of the sand wolf clan expands to a certain extent, the wolf queen will stop giving birth, and at this time the wolf king will not stay in the wolf den. Most of the time, it will start to join the wolf pack and participate in hunting. If another wolf den is found in the domain, then war behavior similar to an expedition will erupt at this time.

Of course, this does not mean that the sand wolf does not need to find food. It's just that monsters and creatures are very different in nature, so even if food is scarce in a short period of time, they won't perish because of it, but when food can no longer be found in the territory, the entire wolf pack begins to migrate. With the migration process, the size of the wolf pack will begin to gradually decrease-it is not difficult to imagine that most of the old, weak and sick individuals will become food for other sand wolves in the group, but it is true for the wolf pack. It is dangerous, because after moving to a new field, the size of the ethnic group may decrease sharply.

Only in very few cases will there be greater expansion and expansion.

With the limited thinking of Warcraft, it is natural to understand the reason for this, but for humans or players who have studied this aspect, it is not a secret at all.

Of course, in the current world, only Sean can understand this secret.

It will take at least ten years before the secrets of the expansion restrictions on wolf dens or other Warcraft dens are actually discovered. In other words, after the third expansion in the game is opened, when demons and demons become common creatures in this world continent, when Magic Technology officially enters the field of vision of all races, the entire ethnic development system of Warcraft And the growth system will begin to be truly perfected.

So now, Sean is equivalent to mastering a unique technology!

The pit is about ten meters deep from the surface.

And surprisingly, this pit is not wet and cold, on the contrary, it has a warm and comfortable feeling, and it does not even look messy at all, but very dry. Walking in this pit does not feel like an underground cave or anything, but rather like being in an underground research institute equipped with heating.

The area of the earth pit is very large, at least much wider than the wattle house on the surface that symbolizes entrances and exits.

According to Sean's guess, at least the area will reach about 300 square meters.

Perhaps because this wolf den is directly under the jurisdiction of the goblins, the dirt pit is divided into several single rooms, the largest of which is the main nest of the wolf king and wolf queen, and the smaller one lives in it. With the other four female sand wolves, it felt a bit like the harem of an ancient Chinese emperor to Xiao En. In addition, one of the other single rooms is the smallest, but the temperature is the highest. There are even many soft cushions and a whole row of grooves.

But now, there is no liquid in this row of grooves, and the entire space looks clean and tidy.

This room is the feeding room used by the goblins to take care of the sand wolf cubs.

Because the wolf den is directly manipulated, most of the food in this wolf den will be supplied by the goblins, but of course the food supplied is only for the wolf king, wolf queen, and those female wolves and elite sand wolves. Ordinary sand wolves certainly do not have this good luck. They must be responsible for their own food sources, but at least from some factors, their burden is reduced a lot.

Just the same, in the eyes of goblins, the pack of sand wolves are worthless creatures. When necessary, the goblins will even slaughter the ordinary sand wolves to reduce the size of the entire wolf den, so that the wolf queen and the female wolves can continue to give birth to sand wolf cubs. However, what is incomprehensible is that once the sand wolves that can be trained as mounts leave the wolf den, they will default to "death" and will not occupy the scale of the wolf den.

This is a bit like playing a limited game like StarCraft and Empire. If you don't build a living space, you can't continue to produce it, but in fact this living space has a limit. Once the limit is reached, no matter how much you build. Living space construction cannot continue production.

Outsiders may not understand, but for Sean, who has the technology ten years ahead of this era, he is very clear about the principle.

It is the wolf den and the wolf king that really determine whether the sand wolf clan is strong or not.

The two are a relationship similar to companionship.

Resting in the wolf den, the wolf king can obtain an increase effect similar to the buff, and the wolf den is also accompanied by a halo effect, which can make the sand wolf within the range of the wolf den have stronger combat power. This is why once the wolf king abandons the wolf den, they will continue to lose staff during the migration process, and the reason for the war of wolf dens in the same area is simple. It is nothing more than the principle that one mountain cannot accommodate two tigers. That's it.

And the wolf king with this increase effect, its soul will become very powerful, and can even control the entire wolf pack remotely, and produce an effect similar to the wolf den when the group fights, giving the entire wolf Group combat power increased. But this kind of control ability and the strengthening of the soul have a very strong connection. Without the blessing effect of the wolf den, the wolf king would not be able to produce such a powerful effect, but this kind of increase naturally has a limit. Once this limit is exceeded , Then the wolf king can't control so many sand wolves, and it will even cause chaos in the entire ethnic group.

Of course, if a powerful wolf king can also feed back the wolf den, the scale of the wolf den will naturally become stronger and larger. But this kind of situation is rare after all, most wolf kings cannot produce the effect of feeding back the wolf den. This is why once the migration, few wolves can retain the original size, because the strength of the wolf king is declining. , The scale of the rebuilt wolf den will naturally become smaller.

So this is why the size of the wolf den is directly determined by the size of the wolf pack, and even the reason why the queen wolf and the female wolf give birth to cubs.

At this moment in the crypt, Sean is directing a group of goblins to continuously excavate and expand the scale of the entire wolf den.

The progress of things went even smoother than Sean expected.

The Great Crimson Fire Tribe has now completely become Karros's bag—he won't let the other two wall grass clans accept his suggestion, and the four clans united to launch a "rebellion" against the chief and the high priest. , Easily annexed the entire Big Red Fire Tribe. But what really surprised Sean about this shrewd goblin was Carlos' cruelty.

He directly slaughtered all the clans that belonged to the original chieftain and the high priest of the Great Red Fire tribe, and did not even leave a descendant. This extreme cold-blooded method undoubtedly deeply shocked the other two walls. Grass tribe. Therefore, it is natural that Carlos became the chief of the Great Red Fire tribe without any objection. The high priest appointed by Carlos was a female from the Vinci clan, an alliance of his clan. Blood Eye Goblin.

It is said that this female blood-eyed goblin is Carlos' fiancée.

But in Sean's eyes, this female goblin and Carlos look no different—of course, except for the two more green meat ***** on the goblin's chest. From the perspective of Sean as a normal human being, he really couldn't believe that this female goblin was the most famous beauty in the entire Scarlet Fire tribe, and it was also the reason why Carlos had always wanted to become the chief of the Great Scarlet Fire tribe.

Just because the female goblin said a word: "I only marry the next chief."

In this battle, the best commander was not the command of Andre, Krumah, Cruz or Carlos, but the rupiah.

This apprentice who had just set foot on the path of the assassin before setting off, in this assassination operation against the old faction of the Great Scarlet Fire tribe, he alone solved the priest of the Great Scarlet Fire tribe. The sharp incision was shown hideously in the carotid artery of the priest of the Great Red Fire tribe. According to Yim, this knife is not only stable, but also fully embodies the essence of the three characters of fast, ruthless, and accurate. Coming out was the hands of a newcomer who had just learned the methods of assassins.

But what is truly commendable is that Rupiah's infiltration is so smooth that he did not alarm any guards at all, and even the sleeping high priest was completely unaware of it. According to Yim's mentor's evaluation, Rupi's assassination was not luck, but a manifestation of real strength. Of course, in the eyes of Sean, that is, Rupi has officially entered the upper bronze. Strength: Advanced to the profession of assassin.

However, considering the high-ranking bronze of Rupee, with the blessing and blessing of Dini, he did possess the power of the lower silver, and then used the method of assassination to face the high priest of the Great Red Fire tribe who had regressed to only the upper silver. , This is indeed a certain element of luck. If it were replaced by a young high priest, let alone the upper level gold, it would be the lower level gold. If the assassin did not have the upper level silver peak strength, he would have been discovered long ago when he approached a certain range.

Therefore, Sean was noncommittal about Yim's remarks. Of course, on the surface, he still praised and praised the rupee.

Furthermore, Sean also got what he wanted most: Ruby has a sense of belonging to his team.

This is the second biggest gain that Shaun has obtained after attacking the Great Red Fire Tribe.

As for the first item, there is no doubt that it is the wolf's den in front of you.

Chapter 134: .The final branch of Warcraft Lair!

In fact, as soon as Sean stepped into this wolf lair, he received the kind of electronic sound from the system: "The Sand Wolf's Lair has been detected, and the WoW Lair system has been turned on."

Immediately afterwards, there was another series of sounds.

"Data checking..."

"Data checking..."

"Data matching is complete, and the nest is under your control."

Immediately afterwards, Sean found that a brand new sub-item was added to the interface of his lord system: Warcraft Lair.

【Lord: Sean Connery】

【Title: Jazz】

[Territory: Panda collar, Day collar, Chiraff collar]

【Have funds: 173685】

【Base Camp: Void City】

【The number of castles owned: 1】

【The number of fortresses owned: 0】

[Number of bases owned: 3]

[The number of cities owned: 2]

【Number of towns owned: 5】

【Number of villages owned: 2】

【Number of military camps owned: 2】

【Owns WoW Lair: 1】

[Territory Prosperity Index: Prosperous Development]

[Territory People's Sentiment Index: Plain]

【Lord's reputation evaluation: slightly heard】

This is the panel displayed in Shaun's lord system. However, what surprised him slightly was that his number of strongholds had actually become three, which was only two half a month ago. And one of these two strongholds is the steel wing training site transformed from Panda Town. Shaun didn't know what standard the system evaluation was based on. He originally thought it should be evaluated as a military camp, but he didn't expect it. It was actually a stronghold; and the other stronghold was the Triangle Reef Fortress in Dayi, where the Mitchlin family was originally based.

As for the two cities, in addition to the Void City, the other is of course the same city in Dayling that originally belonged to Viscount Rud. Similarly, the other barracks is located not far from the outskirts of this city. It was also a training place for the soldiers of Viscount Rud, and it was the military guarantee for the entire Mitchlin family, but now it has become Anno's garrison. .

The function of opening the Warcraft Lair was completely beyond Sean's expectation, because even he himself had not thought of turning on this system. In other words, he didn't actually know that there was such a system, because this system was born with the lord system, and Sean did not become a lord in the game, so he is relatively unfamiliar with this system to a large extent. .

What he knows is only about the transformation and expansion of the WoW lair.

However, when he focused on the options of the Warcraft Lair, the relevant information immediately popped up, giving him an extremely accurate display.

【Warcraft Lair: Sand Wolf】

【Equal order: three poles (medium)】

【Area: 302 square meters】

[Quantity: 103 (Wolf King: 1; Wolf Queen: 1; Female Female Wolf: 4; Sand Wolf Leader: 0; Elite Sand Wolf: 12; Sand Wolf: 85)]

[Annual output: Sand Wolf mounts: 7-11, Sand Wolf: 17-24]

[Affiliation: Great Red Fire Tribe (The chief of the tribe is your subordinate, and you have direct control of the lair)]

Although the data showed only five short explanations, in fact, it gave Sean a more intuitive feeling. He found that he could even directly convey his ideas to the wolf king, and this special ability even in In the game, I have never heard of a player mastering it! In today's world, the only goblin trainers who can enter the wolf den are usually the goblin trainers who are responsible for feeding the sand wolves. If other goblins get close, they will even be attacked by the elite sand wolves.

But now, under the control of Sean, the elite sand wolves ignore the goblins who are constantly in and out of the wolf den and are responsible for moving and digging sand. This even made Carlos feel a little shocked in his heart. You must know that even if he is the chief of the entire Big Red Fire tribe, he is also not qualified to enter the wolf den, because he is not a trainer who is specifically responsible for raising these sand wolves.

But now, he can follow Sean's ***** for a tour and personally direct the transformation of Wolf's Den. How can this make him unexcited.

Whenever a new area of the wolf den is dug out, a group of goblins who have been on standby will mix the black dragma with the sap of several other plants, and then apply them to these newly dug areas. Whether it's the ground, wall or dome, these goblins are meticulously applying them thoroughly. As this work progresses, everyone standing in this crypt can see that these newly excavated areas are visible to the naked eye. The speed quickly became brighter, and the cold and humid sensation that originally radiated from the stone wall was also disappearing at an alarming speed, becoming dry and warm.

This feeling is very magical, just like filling, with a unique sense of constant overflow.

But Sean's feeling seemed more intuitive and obvious. He could feel that the abundant sense of power and the fullness of the soul in the entire wolf den was constantly growing. And with this growth, the next scene is of course not a pure picture. The wolf king who is the master of the entire wolf den suddenly becomes excited, as if it is emotional, completely ignoring that there is a big cave in the wolf den. The crowd of spectators directly launched an offensive towards the wolf queen beside him.

After an hour of protracted battle, the wolf queen has been tossed and dying. It collapsed to the ground exhaustedly, with its tongue sticking out. However, the wolf king still seemed to be completely unsatisfied. After making an excited howl, it ran into the compartment with four female wolves and began to perform the same behavior on the four female wolves in turn. But this time, the attitude of the wolf king toward the female wolf was obviously not as gentle as that of the wolf queen, but truly showed a kind of ferocious beast-like.

After a fierce expedition, the wolf king became more and more courageous, but the four female wolves were more or less scarred. Although not fatal, it is absolutely painful, so that these four female wolves appear to be much pitiful and even more dangerous than the wolf queen. However, Sean seemed to be prepared for this, and soon a group of goblins gathered around and began to give emergency treatment to the four female wolves to prevent these female wolves from bleeding and death.

"My lord, all this is really as you expected!" Carlos looked at all of this dumbfounded, and then thought of what Shaun had said while transforming the wolf den, and Carlos' awe of Shaun. Can not help but deepen.

"The young wolves that are born next are very critical. You must take good care of them." Sean looked at the excited wolf king and couldn't help but nodded secretly, and then said, "The next year or two will take place. Inside, the baby wolves that are born are all female, so your tribe's sand wolf mounts will definitely not be able to be replenished. During this period of time, you'd better not look for trouble, and focus on having children as much as possible."

When        said the three words "giving a child", Sean's heart was actually a bit strange, because this feeling had a weird feeling of using goblins as a breeding tool. Only considering the situation in front of him, he did not make any mistakes when he said this, but in order to alleviate the possible embarrassment in the words, Sean continued to add another sentence.

"The current expansion of the wolf den will stop only after the desire of the wolf king is satisfied. I speculate that the number of females will eventually increase to between 20 and 30."

"So much?" Carlos exclaimed.

"For a large-scale wolf den, this number is not much at all." Sean shook his head, and then continued, "The female wolf's development period is much faster than you can cultivate the sand wolf mount. If there is no accident Starting from the fourth year, your tribe will be able to get about fifty sand wolf mounts every year.... This is only one wolf lair."

Carlos' eyes widened, his face was incredulous, and even the goblins passing by were shocked after hearing Sean's words.

But soon, Carlos recovered and immediately praised: "I have never heard of wolf dens that can evolve and grow, my lord, your wisdom is as mysterious and broad as the vast stars."

Sean shook his head: "This is the wisdom of the ancestors."

In fact, Sean didn't know anything about these commanding tasks. All he knows is only his previous experience in the game, but with the powerful cheating device "system", he can of course get great instructions, and according to these instructions to guide the work, Sean is naturally in the eyes of outsiders. It seems to be omnipotent and tall.

However, Carlos didn't know if Shaun's words were sent out by him, so he continued to flatter him without hesitation: "My lord, even if you are a sage, you have to admire your humility."

Sean shook his head and laughed, and stopped answering.

Instead, continue to stare at the display panel above the Warcraft Lair.

Soon, the data on the "equal order" item on the panel was immediately changed. What's more, there is also the "area" that changes at the same time, but this item is constantly changing, and it is increasing at a rate of about every half an hour.

【Level: Level 5 (Powerful)】

【Area: 317 square meters】

As for the other data, there is no change.

However, when the level was upgraded to level 5, a new prompt popped up in the system.

"System testing..."

"After the test is completed, the Warcraft Lair has reached the standard of evolution."

"Note: Because of the uniqueness of the sand wolf, the evolution options of the sand wolf will be limited. Or you can try the evolution path by yourself, but this behavior may cause unexpected damage to the nest, which may lead to accidents. Please choose carefully."

"Do you want to evolve the beast nest (sand wolf)?"

When he saw this option, Sean's pupils shrank suddenly.

Evolve!

The final branch option of Warcraft Lair!

Chapter 136. Extended Chapter Separation and Evolution

Evolution is the basis for all Warcraft in this world to become stronger, and it is also something that all Warcraft have been pursuing throughout their lives.

Most of the monsters gradually touched this essence through continuous exploration and growth, and then they evolved.

Of course, there is also a small part of Warcraft is an exception, they are a kind of compromise that they have to make in order to adapt to the change of the environment. Usually people call this kind of compromise a mutation, but sometimes mutation is also used to describe some monsters that are similar to evolution due to special reasons.

Like a black wolf with wind patterns, it is a kind of abnormal change product in the Forest of Starfall.

Although they are only first-level monsters, their combat effectiveness makes many second-level monsters dare not even dare to compete with them. Of course, this has a lot to do with their gregariousness and the airflow shield on their body that can almost play a physical immunity.

The stronger the power of Warcraft, the more he likes to walk alone.

The sand wolf is also a first-level monster, and as the lowest-level monster in the biological chain, the sand wolf is also a social creature. It's just that the situation is very different compared to the wind-stripe black wolf, because once the wind-stripe black wolf has formed a scale (more than two hundred), it will evade even the fourth-level monsters. But under the same circumstances, the Sand Wolf can only be tit-for-tat against the three-pole monster.

In fact, the difficulty of the wild land here is that only the occupations of Tier 5 or above dare to mix in the game, and the relevant main lines covered can also allow players to practice until Tier 8. Judging from the current situation of Sean's current situation, that is the place where the lower silver dared to come, and it is limited to cultivate to the upper gold here.

Like Vivian, when he came to the Wildlands, he was just high-ranking silver, but when he left, he was already high-ranking gold.

But this does not mean that there are no low-level monsters in the Wildlands.

It's just that most of the low-level monsters learn to act in groups, or simply be companion creatures of other tribes.

In terms of the sand wolf lair owned by the Great Red Fire tribe, the threat posed by less than 100 sand wolves is not that great. In general, only three low-level silver masters who cooperate with each other can easily solve it. If there is one If you are a gold powerhouse, it can be crushed at all. But once this lair is occupied by the goblin and the army of the goblin cavalry has begun to form, only fifty knights are enough to deal with the attack of a lower gold powerhouse. If the scale reaches more than 100 knights, the upper gold powerhouse Don't dare to resist head-on.

Therefore, the value of a Warcraft lair can be seen.

In particular, the vast majority of Warcraft lairs can be conquered, and this alone is enough to attract countless players. Because the player and the PC may not be able to command the creatures in the Warcraft Lair, but the player can get the system's compensation to command the Warcraft in the WoW Lair.

Of course, it is not once and for all after getting the Warcraft Lair. It also requires careful management. After reaching different levels, Warcraft Nest will also give different branch options.

Like expansion, separation, and evolution, these are the three unique options of Warcraft Lair.

Expansion is what Shaun is doing right now.

This step is also the key to the development of all Warcraft lairs.

After all, not all Warcraft lairs are from a high starting point. It is very likely that after a lot of hard work, what we will end up with is only a weak first-level Warcraft lair. However, given the rarity of the Warcraft nest, I am afraid that no one will easily abandon it. Therefore, in order to make this Warcraft nest stronger, it is natural to continue to invest and expand. Only in this way will the Warcraft nest gradually become stronger and produce products. The cubs will also start to increase.

According to different levels, there are five levels of Warcraft Lair, namely weak (level 1-2), medium (level 3-4), strong (level 5-6), strong (level 7-8), and overlord. (Level 9-10). And with the upgrading of the ranks, the materials that need to be invested are naturally more and more, especially the black dhara grass, which is indispensable for expanding the nest, the increase in number is enough to make anyone stunned.

The ultra-large scale that Shaun said is the highest level that is to cultivate an eighth level of strength. Not to mention the overlord's level, even if all the Warcraft lairs reach the eighth scale, Shaun dare not think about it.

Of course, the main reason is that the price/performance ratio is not cost-effective.

Separation is a further act of Warcraft Lair.

Usually, only the monster nests of medium size (level 3) or higher have the option of separation. The so-called separation is to move the born cubs of Warcraft from the main nest to another new building's nest, and re-cultivating new wolf kings, wolf queens and wolves, and because the separated Warcraft nest has the main nest. Because of the strong aura, the beasts in the main lair will not attack the separated beast lair.

However, as a limitation, the maximum scale of the separated new nest cannot exceed the main nest. Only after the main nest is destroyed, the first separated nest can become the main nest. And the other limitation is that after separation, the new lair will start to develop from the first-level Warcraft lair, and the main lair will also be lowered by one level-like the wolf lair originally owned by the Great Red Fire tribe, it is a fourth-level. After being separated by Sean, this wolf den was downgraded to three poles.

For this reason, Sean also had to cultivate the current main lair into an eight-level scale. Only in this way can it be ensured that the other two separated new lairs can reach the strong-level seven-level scale. Only right now, this nest has already separated once at the beginning, so there are no cubs in the nest at present, so even if it is upgraded to level 5, there is no way to separate, at least it will not be able to separate again until next year.

As a result, some of Sean's plans were disrupted.

And this also made him discover that reality and games are always different.

Of course, there will not be so many troubles in the game, such as separation and expansion, basically as long as the player's command is reached, it can be completed immediately. But in reality, it is completely different. The first point of separation is that Sean should initiate the separation command first, and then choose a suitable place to dig, and arrange it according to the style of the sand wolf's nest, and the underground pit should at least be reached. Only after the minimum scale of 30 square meters can the cubs in the main lair be moved to the new lair.

But this is not the end. Next, we need to arrange staff to take care of the work. This is also an extremely troublesome time. Fortunately, the Big Red Fire Tribe originally had a special trainer to take care of the sand wolf cubs, so it was easy to get familiar with these tasks. This saved Sean a lot of time—at least he didn't need to handle these manpowers. Training.

The free time can naturally be used to instruct the goblins how to expand on the crypt and how to dispense the medicines applied in the pit.

This is a black draco as the main medicine, supplemented by the other five kinds of medicinal paint. It is essentially a mixture of medicines and has a relationship with alchemy in the strict sense. Of course, in places like the Wildlands, even if Sean doesn't know alchemy, he can still find manpower to help—Karos' fiancé, the current chief of the Great Scarlet Fire tribe, and the chief of the Heavy Rock tribe, and the one who has Ronan, the potential apprentice of the Great Witch Festival.

The witch priests and priests of the savage land did not understand alchemy, but the skills they mastered were more like sacrificial witchcraft. In the ancient Chenas Empire, there were even brand-new courses created specifically for this kind of magical behavior. -Alchemy. This is a collection of magic and alchemy, as well as a variety of academics that are classified as ancillary branches in magic. It is not as distinct as magic and divine arts. Alchemy includes healing types that cannot be performed by magic. Spells.

Therefore, it is similar to the method of alchemy, and there is no need for a special alchemist to do it in the wild land. Of course, the effect created is naturally not as good as the one refined by the alchemist. According to Sean's estimation, if it takes close to 20 kilograms of black draco grass to upgrade the entire main lair to level 8, if the alchemist is used to refine it, it will only need about 15 kilograms at most, which can save five. Kilograms.

But of course there is no other way to do it right now.

And once a nest has expanded to a certain size, there will be an "evolution" option like the reminder that Sean is receiving now.

However, not all Warcraft nests have evolutionary functions, and the evolution standards and requirements of all Warcraft nests are also different.

The sand wolf is only a first-level beast, in other words, it is equivalent to the strength of the second-order human. If it is a single sand wolf, it may not be able to evolve in its entire life, so the so-called evolution goal can only land in the lair. By absorbing the huge elemental power in the lair, we can complete our transformation and gain higher power-this is also the most important point for all Warcraft with WoW lair in the Wildlands, and it is also the tireless expansion of countless players after they have obtained the WoW lair. s reason.

Like Sandwolf's Warcraft lair, the lowest standard for evolution is a five-level lair.

There are only three fixed evolution directions, namely Fire Wolf, Wind Wolf and Coyote, the most basic three evolutionary directions of Fire, Wind, and Earth. And this is only a second-order monster. Later, there will be related evolutionary directions of third-order and fourth-order. However, the higher the evolutionary class, the greater the investment required and the more demanding evolutionary materials. .

As at the moment, it takes at least three pieces of crimson flame to evolve into a fire wolf, and the same materials are required for wind wolves and coyotes.

But if the player is not satisfied, he can also set the evolution direction by himself, but what will happen is not guaranteed. But this at least proves that if you want to cultivate the dual attributes of fire and wind or fire and earth, earth and wind, and even wolf-type monsters that can both close combat and perform magic, it is also possible, but the success rate is not as good. According to the standard evolution route given by the system, it has a 100% success rate.

And once the evolution fails, it is very likely that the entire wolf den will be destroyed by powerful magical powers.

So even in the game, few players did this.

But even if the evolution is successful, the size of the wolf den will degenerate. According to Sean's information about the current Warcraft lair, assuming that this fifth-level sand wolf lair directly evolves into a second-order beast's lair, its scale will probably degenerate to the level of second or even first level, so naturally there will be some in the game. Many players will choose evolutionary operations only after the ranks of the Warcraft Lair have reached a more advanced level.

Because once it evolves, the materials needed to expand the nest will increase a lot.

Like the sand wolf demon lair right now, it originally needed about 20 kilograms of black draco grass to upgrade to level 8, but if it evolves at the level of 5 now, then it is likely to be upgraded to level 8 again. Nearly forty kilograms or even more of black dhara grass is needed.

So, after Sean hesitated for a long time, he had no choice but to give up letting the nest evolve.

Of course, another main reason for him to give up is that he does not currently have the core materials for the evolution of the sand wolf's lair. And currently, the Big Red Fire tribe also needs this sand wolf lair to provide mounts so that the Big Red Fire tribe can cultivate goblin cavalry. If a second-level monster is cultivated, perhaps the sand wolf combat effectiveness of the entire lair will be improved, but the Big Red Fire tribe will definitely lose the goblin cavalry, which is an important source of combat strength.

So in any case, this sand wolf lair can never evolve into a more advanced Warcraft lair.

However, this does not mean that it will not work in the future.

What's more, Sean's ambition is definitely far more than that.

Chapter 137: .Finally I find you

After Xiao En ensured that the wolf den in front of him was continuously growing and expanding, he ignored it, because he had been observing for so long and there was no problem, and he believed that there should be no problems in the next situation. As for the wolf den that had just been separated, he just went to observe it. Cecilia was responsible for overseeing this wolf den. After seeing Sean's arrival, Cecilia immediately reported everything to Sean.

As a magician, and obviously not an academic magician, Cecilia has a lot of curiosity and knowledge that academic magicians should not have. Although she does not understand alchemy techniques, some relatively advanced She still knows the principles and simple handling methods, so she is responsible for the construction and supervision of the separated nest, which is naturally a very suitable thing for her work.

After hearing Cecilia report that everything was normal, Sean nodded, finally relieved.

Since it is a real world right now, and many things are different from what Sean experienced in the game, he cannot guarantee 100% normal operation when the lair is separated. Maybe a small mistake caused the separation. If the construction of the lair fails, it will take a year to rebuild a new lair, which is not acceptable to Sean.

So Cecilia's report naturally has a crucial criterion for his next decision.

Since everything is normal now, Sean has to start thinking about what to do next.

The journey of the wild land was much more rewarding than he expected.

In the beginning, what Sean wanted was to listen to the truth in the depths of the wilderness. If he could win an alliance, then it would be the best. As for the conflict and intersection with Billy, it is not in Sean's plan, but the plan always fails to keep up with the changes, and the trade chief of a trading point, Sean has really not paid attention to it. Whether it was before or now.

But the results and gains of this trip are far beyond Sean's expectations.

Not only did he gain an ally—even though this ally is currently in a relatively weak position, he also gained two commanders, and these two commanders are likely to turn into potential allies. The Lizardmen mercenary troop that wandered through the barren land is also sufficient to ensure that his new allies can thrive.

Of course, besides that, there is a whole tribe waiting for his orders.

Although it is only a goblin tribe, the goblin tribe in the Wildlands is not as delicate as the goblin outside. Although because of the civil war this time, there are only 14 blood-eye goblins with pure blood left in the Great Red Fire tribe, and even the number of goblin cavalry is less than 30 horses, and the population of the tribe is even sharper. The sharp drop, and now probably not even the third-class tribe.

But they not only won the full support of Sean, even after the most difficult first two years, their tribe can get fifty sand wolf pups that can become mounts every year. And starting from about the fifth year, the number of mount-type sand wolf cubs they can harvest each year will exceed 200. By then, let alone the large-scale cultivation of goblin cavalry, it is not impossible to realize that the whole people are goblin cavalry. thing.

The goblin cavalry is already the highest-ranked unit in the goblin tribe after the ultimate unit. Although it may take up to ten years to achieve this goal, this refers to the normal derivative standards of nature. If Sean is willing to increase the scale of investment, this time can even be shortened to seven, five or even three years. year. Of course, this is not without a price, but if you need immediate combat power, this price is still affordable.

The most important point is that there is no second player in this world, and there will never be anyone competing with Sean for those resources. And with the changes in history and time, the role and power that Sean can play will become more terrifying-it seems that it has been almost three years since Sean came into this world, which is the first expansion in the game. The update of 1874 was only more than a year old, but at that time Sean was only a small character in the game. He knew only large historical events, and he didn't know many small things at all. It's just the degree of hearsay.

But once we entered the era of the second expansion, in 1877, Sean, who was already an elite group leader in the game, was no longer just hearsay, because at that time he was already able to participate. The qualifications to many historical events in the game not only know but even complete many secret missions. Perhaps due to many restrictions in the game, he could not make much change, but now in this world is completely different, as long as his territory is still developed at the current level, then in the future he will even have the ability to change the course of history. ability.

And in this process, the secrets he knows can even be fully utilized.

Therefore, with the acceleration of historical time, the advantages that Sean has will continue to expand, not shrink! Because he was able to bring all kinds of talents under his command in advance, such as Neal, William and Alfred, is the best proof!

This is the hole card that Sean relies on the most!

Because there are too many talents he needs to collect at present. These include, but are not limited to, talents who have researched magical device technology, friendly people from the underground world, internal affairs-type talents about territory construction, military commanders with special talents, and high-end individual powerhouse combat capabilities.

These are talents that Sean desperately needs, whether it is now or in the future, but according to the current historical timeline, perhaps the latter three are relatively easy to find. The first two are absolutely impossible to appear at the moment, so at least they have to support it. It was only after the first expansion, that is, after 1874.

Therefore, the harvest obtained here in the Wildlands has become Shaun's most important place, especially in the future, it may increase to five or more WoW lairs.

Days, pass quietly in this calm situation.

When Sean was sure that everything was normal and that it was impossible for any accidents to happen, he decided to leave and return to the territory.

He has been disconnected from Neil and William for a long time, at least for more than a month. Although there is a bass in Void City, there is no need to worry about the intrusion of the strong, but according to the last communication between Sean and William, he knows that Neil is from Dayi to Void City, and this time comes from the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance. People have already set off, so Neil's situation may be very dangerous. In the absence of any news, Sean is naturally very worried, so in any case, he must rush back to the territory as soon as possible.

However, just as Sean and the others were about to leave the Great Crimson Fire Tribe, a goblin scout covered in blood suddenly rushed back.

Seeing this scene, Sean, Andre, Cecilia, Dini and the brothers Carlos, Ataba, and Krumah were all shocked.

"What's the matter?" Carlos greeted him immediately.

"Chief...Chief, enemy!" The blood-covered goblin scout said with a look of fear, "Human!"

Carross and Sean's faces changed drastically.

After the goblin scout said these words with difficulty, he swallowed his last breath, but when he died, his eyes were already wide open, almost torn apart, and the fear on his face seemed to have completely solidified. .

The Great Red Fire Tribe has just rebelled, and recently the entire territory of the Habek tribe has become a bit turbulent. Several tribes are obviously eager to move, and when all aspects of the situation are combined, Carlos decided to be around the tribe. Dispatched patrol scouts within ten kilometers. These patrol scouts are the young people who are best at investigating in the tribe, and not only one person is patrolling the lookout, but a group of ten, and they even carry things like magic flare to prevent all accidents. The situation happened.

But now, not only did the group of scouts fail to fire the signal flares, he was even the only one who survived, and judging from the meaning of the last words he said before his death, the enemy who came this time was obviously human. Instead of people from other tribes.

At this moment, Sean immediately knew who the enemy was.

"Prepare for war!" Carlos stood up with a gloomy face, and shouted loudly, "Fire the flare and let everyone outside come back!"

Everyone knows very well that since the other party can quietly make a ten-person goblin scout team kill nine people without even sending a flare, then of course it has the ability to completely destroy the team. But the other party didn't do that. Instead, a goblin scout was sent back to confide in the news. As long as a normal person can imagine the meaning, of course Carlos's preparation for battle is targeted.

Almost several flare bombs lifted off at the same time, and at the same time, a piece of dust was raised on the distant horizon.

Obviously, the distance is at least several hundred meters away, but Xiao En and others can still feel the slight vibration from the ground. This discovery makes Xiao En's expression extremely solemn. As a lord, although there are only so many actual command operations, Sean is very clear about the strength and situation of the arms. Now that he can make such a heavy tremor, it is obvious that the size of the opponent's troops is definitely not small. There must even be a cavalry unit!

Not long after, in the dusty environment, a cavalry unit rushed out.

The size of this cavalry unit is not large, only more than 300 men. However, in addition to the human cavalry, there are actually kobold cavalry units, which are similar to the human cavalry troops. They belong to the size of the light cavalry, and they are not even as good as goblins in terms of attack and defense. The cavalry troops, but in terms of speed and attack distance, far surpass the goblin cavalry, almost reaching the level of the archer cavalry in the human world!

The sudden appearance of such a force caused a sense of shock as well as its immense scale.

But whether it's Andre, Sean, Cecilia, or others, you can clearly see that among the more than two hundred cavalry that belong to the human side, there are only about a hundred who are truly cavalry. In addition, Hundreds of people are obviously not good at riding and warfare, but are highly mobile troops that use horses as a means of transportation. But even so, including the kobold cavalry, the enemy still has more than two hundred cavalry units, this is definitely a force that cannot be ignored!

You should know that the Big Red Fire Tribe currently only has a scale of less than 30 horses.

And it was not these soldiers who really gave everyone a strong sense of threat, but about a hundred meters behind the cavalry unit.

There are hundreds of kobold infantry units, but depending on the level of their equipment, they are obviously not much better than the miscellaneous army, and they are not a threat to everyone. The real threat is the two people standing in front of the hundreds of kobolds.

Billy, and a woman that Sean and others have never seen before.

This woman obviously only has the strength of high-ranking silver, but it feels even more dangerous to Sean than Billy.

Just keeping his eyes on it, he felt a prickly pain.

In the distance, when Yin appeared on the battlefield, looking at the black-haired young man in the Great Red Fire Tribe in the distance, her face was smiling like a flower: "I finally found you."

Chapter 138: . Kill the game

300 meters, the cavalry began to diverge.

Hundreds of horses in the middle began to slow down. These people are clearly mounted infantry with high mobility. Judging from their equipment, it can be clearly seen that there are spearmen, archers, and sword soldiers. Although it seems that there are more than a hundred people, there are not many left if they are divided into three arms. If it is a small-scale siege or ambush, this scale is still very lethal, but once it is expanded to a war-level scale, if the archer cannot form a coverage shooting, then the effect is very small.

This is also the reason why in local ambush wars, if there are no more than a hundred archers, all commanders would rather be equipped with sword and shield soldiers or pikemen. The former is extremely lethal in hand-to-hand combat; the latter is often very effective in dealing with cavalry, and even in the face of sword and shield soldiers, it can easily defend against the enemy with the advantage of the length of the weapon.

Two hundred meters, all the archers have stopped their horses and began to pull down their horses.

At this distance, whether it is a projectile or a lob, it is already the most lethal distance for these archers. You know, this is a human archer. Although among the archers of all races, human archers can only be regarded as relatively medium-strength archers, but if the enemy they face is a goblin, this gap is like an elf bow. The hand is bullying the pig head.

As for the other cavalry units that were still charging ahead, the Lizard Cavalry on the right side of the team began to draw an arc and circled to the right of the Big Red Fire Tribe.

As one of the kobold's ultimate units, the Lizard Cavalry has always been classified as a light cavalry sequence, but it has always been recognized as being able to rank in the top five of the most dangerous light cavalry types on the mainland. And under certain special terrains and conditions, such as the wild land right now, it is not an exaggeration to say that it is even ranked first!

The weapon used by the Lizard Cavalry is a short javelin with a length of less than fifty centimeters, but the barrel of this javelin is specially made of sand wood that is unique only in the desert. It has very contradictory characteristics— —With the light weight of wood and the sharpness of metal. The wood of this material does not even need to be equipped with a gun head, only one end of it needs to be sharpened and it can be used directly as a gun head. Therefore, this javelin has the dual characteristics of high range and high penetration.

Its maximum range is as high as 300 meters-this is equivalent to the range of a regular human archer, and the effective range can even reach 150 meters. Within this effective range, apart from medium-sized armors, light armor, leather armor or even chain mail can easily penetrate. If the distance is within 100 meters, its penetration may even penetrate both. Goals.

The only flaw of this javelin is that it is not suitable for human use.

Usually every Lizard Cavalry will be equipped with about ten to twenty short-barreled javelins, and the stowage depends on the height and weight of the kobold and the height and weight of the mount. Under normal circumstances, only the commander of the Lizard Cavalry will be equipped with 20 short-barreled javelins. The average Lizard Cavalry will only be equipped with ten, and the Captain-level cavalry will be equipped with about 12 to fifteen. In combat, the Lizard Cavalry can throw three to five short javelins per minute. Except for one for melee use, they generally throw all the short javelins.

However, in battle, the Lizard Cavalry will avoid close combat as much as possible. Because as a subordinate of the light cavalry, the kobold cavalry, like all light cavalry, do not have too high defensive capabilities. Even in order to maximize the load, the kobold will not wear any protective gear, let alone them. The mount is now, so if you get close, you will usually end up miserably.

It's just that the most terrifying thing about the Lizard Cavalry is that because the short javelin has no gun head, they can almost be recovered in full after every battle, and there is no need to worry about loss. Occasionally, even if the tip of the spear is worn, the Lizard Cavalry is equipped with a special short blade, which can be sharpened and reused. As long as the length of these short javelins is not less than 40 cm, the Lizard Cavalry will not Will abandon the gun.

The more than one hundred running lizard cavalry went to the right side of the Great Red Fire Tribe, and the entire Great Red Fire Tribe fell into panic in an instant.

As a race living on the same land, would the goblins not know the horror of the kobold cavalry?

Even if this Lizard Cavalry doesn't do anything, it just keeps wandering around, which is enough to reduce the combat effectiveness of all the goblins by 50%. What's more, goblins have never been known for their combat ability. Although they also have a classification of arms, a regular training pikeman can easily overturn five to ten ordinary goblin soldiers, which can be seen. The strong gap between the two sides is gone.

Goblin cavalry are the only ones that can fight and are threatening.

But the goblin cavalry who had less than 30 horses, let alone the rushing lizard cavalry who were able to fight with more than a hundred horses, I am afraid that they would have been shot into a group of hedgehogs before they rushed in front of the opponent.

What's more, the more than a hundred cavalry cavalry diverted out, at this moment, there are more than one hundred and fifty human enemies who are charging forward.

The charge at the forefront is nearly a hundred human cavalry.

It is not difficult for Xiao En and others to see that the training of these cavalymen is obviously not long enough, because the charge formation has been difficult to maintain after a three-hundred-meter run, and the formation began to be a little loose, which is obvious for the cavalry group charge. Is unfavorable. But at this moment, what they have to deal with is only a group of goblins less than three hundred in size, perhaps with more than a hundred humans and more than forty barbarians, no matter how you look at it, this group of cavalry has the advantage. .

What's more, behind the more than one hundred cavalymen, there are more than fifty mobile infantry armed with spears and swords.

Almost just for an instant, Sean had completely seen the plan of this unit.

The lizard cavalry, which has always been equated with the most dangerous in the wild land, is used as a containment and deterrent. Of course, if necessary, you can also go into combat immediately, and then use the archer to scatter at a distance of about two hundred meters. Killing the enemy only seeks to blow the enemy's morale, and finally use the cavalry charge to clear the way, supplemented by the more than fifty infantry behind him, to expand the results and maximize the damage.

This is almost a perfect raid tactic!

Even a layman like Sean can see the tactics of these enemies, so how can an excellent commander like Cecilia, Krumah, and Carlos fail to see it?

If this kind of surprise tactic is changed to another place, no matter which commander it is, even people like Andre will have many ways to break the game. But here at this moment, this tactical attack against the Great Red Fire tribe is simply a lore-like tactic!

Almost at this instant, the entire Big Red Fire tribe immediately fell into despair and panic.

"All bears get out!"

"All defenders get out!"

"Aisha, let the people of the tribe immediately prepare for the defensive shock!"

This is the command from Cecilia, Krumah, and Carlos.

It's just that these three orders were sounded almost at the same time, so that the situation on the scene was slightly confused-the original intention of the steel wings is to attack and defend the positional warfare units, but most of the time they are directly used as troops. Use of defensive arms. Therefore, when Cecilia and Krumah's orders were issued, all the bear-men and the northern barbarians went out at the same time, and the original venue was originally not too big. Let the venue shrink a circle.

In this way, the fiancée of Carlos, a female goblin who was born in the Finch clan and also has the bloodline bloodline, is now the high priest of the Great Scarlet Fire Tribe, Aisha Finch was given to by a bear man when she turned around. Knocked down, so the order issued by Carlos could not be passed on immediately. And the effect of this is that the entire Big Red Fire tribe is still caught in some kind of panic and chaos, and it is impossible to calm down at all.

So that a few seconds were wasted in vain, so that the distance between the cavalry in the sprint and the entrance of the tribe was shortened to 100 meters, and the final charge directly towards the big red fire tribe in the next second.

In any war, whether it is large-scale or small-scale, whether it is strategic or tactical, the most feared thing is the disorder of the command system.

The order of the three commanders immediately made the whole situation chaotic.

But soon, Krumah and Carlos bowed at the same time, which in the present situation naturally meant that the command was given to Cecilia.

I have to say that Krumah and Carlos, both commanders, are very aware of their own shortcomings: Although Krumah is under Sean's name and has already been subordinate to Sean, in fact, Krumah and Sean are just A mutually beneficial contractual relationship. Although he also has experience in commanding bears and northern barbarians to fight, he is naturally inferior to Cecilia in his understanding of these arms; Carlos is even more simply, his commanding strength Although it was good, it was inferior to Krumah, let alone Cecilia, so it was natural to give up command.

After clarifying the first commander, Cecilia did not appear ambiguous at all, and immediately issued a series of orders.

First of all, the position of the adjutant is naturally none other than Carlos, because only he knows the situation of the entire Great Red Fire tribe. Secondly, Krumah's position is the commander's assistant. As the commander second only to Cecilia, he is responsible for coordinating with Carlos in commanding and arranging the situation of the entire tribe. It is also the most appropriate.

After , it was ordered that all the bears gather to the front line to form the first defensive line to resist the charge of the cavalry.

Although the chaos soon subsided, the faces of Silver and Billy on the distant battlefield looked extremely happy at this time.

Because they know very well that the chaos that just happened is definitely the chaos caused by the dissatisfaction of the opposing commanders. This is where they can use it. Because once the cavalry launches a real charge, the speed is bound to be extremely fast. At this moment, there is only less than 30 meters away from the Big Red Fire Tribe. This distance is completely irrelevant even if the opponent has heavy infantry. .

Because facing the charge of cavalry, even if these cavalry are not considered as regular cavalry, they are only amateurs, but once a charge formation is formed, unless the heavy infantry who has deployed the formation is resisting in front, otherwise they will not be able to withstand the charge of the cavalry at all. .

And silver, as the actual planner of this lore tactic, of course she knew very well how beneficial the current situation is to her, because from the beginning, the cavalry charge was not in pursuit of killing and cutting, but in order to break the formation. And creating chaos. So at this moment, looking at the bears who rushed to the front line to form, Yin's face was obsessed with madness. As long as the cavalry unit under her command can disperse the defensive front that the opponent cannot deploy in time, these cavalry After successfully rushing into the Great Red Fire Tribe, her strategic intentions can be fully implemented!

At this time, she can't wait to see a massacre and chaos!

Chapter 139: .reef!

These cavalry from Billy's training charge, full of a fierce and spicy taste.

In fact, this is a very common phenomenon in the wilderness, because no kindness and kindness can survive here. Only the cruel people who dare to fight can survive in the wild. What's more, the soldiers trained by Billy himself are all captured from the slave hunting team. The degree of cruelty can be imagined. .

At a distance of less than 30 meters, a look of hideousness flashed in the eyes of the leading cavalryman.

"kill!"

He let out a cry of excitement, then clamped the spear in his hand tighter under his armpit, and slightly lowered the tip of the spear. His goal was the bearman on the left front who had just stood firm and had only time to put down the tower shield in his hand. Before he became a cavalryman, he was once the leader of a slave hunting team. He was also the bearman. I have been in contact a lot, and I know how to create enough trouble for the bear to the greatest extent.

In his judgment, his own shot would graze the upper left corner of the tower shield diagonally, and then very simply scratch the vein of the bearman. With the bear people's endurance, this gun will only make them dizzy and lose their combat effectiveness. If they are lucky, they will even become too weak to move due to excessive blood loss. This is undoubtedly a job that can relieve the pressure of the follow-up troops.

Behind him, hundreds of cavalry soldiers who were previously comrades with different identities were also madly responding to his shouting and killing. They spontaneously speed up the charge of the horse, which may make the horse more tired and shorten their continuous fighting ability, but this can not only increase their charge lethality, but can even easily rush the opponent at this moment. It's almost a weak line of defense!

Yes, in the eyes of this cavalry unit, because of their size and equipment, the 30-odd bears moved very slowly. At this moment, it was hard to gather at the gate of the tribe, not to mention the deployment of formation, even the most basic three-layer phalanx to defend against cavalry charges could not be established. It can be said to be sparsely scattered at the door.

Such a degree of defense, if only to deal with a cavalry charge of the same size, with the narrowness of the gate of the tribe, it would naturally be able to resist it.

However, under the high-speed charge of hundreds of cavalry that mainly break through instead of cutting and killing, it is impossible to stop the heavy infantry who has lost enough support. I am afraid that in just a moment, these heavy infantry will be overthrown by this assault wave, and then severely wounded and disabled by horseshoes, and then die tragically under the attack of the mobile infantry behind them, but they are unable to Do any harm to them.

These cavalrymen no longer pay attention to the bearmen. They have focused more on the barbarians holding square shields and spears behind these bearmen. In their cognition, it is obvious that the enemy has given up the more than 30 bear-man heavy infantry, but put hope behind these barbarians, trying to rely on the impact of the bear-man heavy infantry. The slowing down, gave them a sharp counterattack.

Innocent!

The leading cavalry leader stretched out his tongue and licked his lips in excitement. Then he leaned down, his right hand holding the spear remained unchanged, but his left hand already touched the saddle on the right. On the handle of a shackle. This thing will become a nightmare for him to speed up the barbarian's blockade once again after he rushes through the fragile line of defense formed by the bears, and teach the opponent a lesson.

How can someone who can serve as a cavalry charge arrow be an ordinary person?

The distance between the two sides is less than ten meters.

The sound of horseshoes roared like thunder.

The rising dust almost obscures the sky, which has seriously affected the sight of the tribe's gate.

But unexpectedly, the first attack that arrived was not a cavalry charge.

It was a projectile from the fifty-meter archer who was two hundred meters away!

projectiles have always had terrible lethality, but the premise is to form a sufficiently large scale. The projectiles fired by more than fifty archers, even though the acceleration of the arrows when they fall, can form a considerable lethality, but in the face of the heavy infantry type arms that are not large enough and blocked in the front, Naturally it is not worth mentioning.

However, the projectiles of these archers are very clever. They did not target the bear-men and the northern barbarians, but locked the target at a position further behind-where Sean, Cecilia and others were located. Command the position of the central core circle!

Obviously, this kind of blow is also not in pursuit of killing the enemy, but in blocking the enemy! The purpose of these archers is to make Cecilia stop issuing orders because of dodge the arrow's attack, thus playing the role of making the command delay ineffective. The most commendable thing is that all the units that can act as defenders at this moment have been transferred to the front line, so Cecilia and others, who had to be on the front line because of the rapid changes in the battlefield, naturally did not have any protective measures.

Faced with the attack of these arrows, Sean, Andre, Cruz and others had to immediately rescue and support them. They must focus on these projected arrows so as not to attack Sisi. Leah and Dini caused too much damage. Fortunately, the opponent's archers are too few, so the arrows that fall are very sparse, and with the presence of the priest with a knife, Dini, so if these arrows are just missed, the difficulty is not counted. Too big.

But at this moment, Yin didn't know what she said, and a kobold mage standing beside her closed his eyes, and an obscure wave of magical power passed away from her.

Immediately afterwards, the group of running lizard cavalry who walked around to the right of the Great Red Fire Tribe threw the javelin in their hands without hesitation!

Obviously because of the stone walls outside the tribe, these kobold cavalry could not judge the location of Sean and others at all, but when these javelins were thrown, they were accurate to an alarming degree. If Sean could see the instructions that Yin gave to the kobold mage just now, then he would be able to discover why these galloping lizard cavalry were able to throw such precision.

The roaring sound of breaking through the air made a terrible shock, as if even this space was about to be shattered.

Throwing hundreds of terrible sandwood javelins, even if Sean and the others had the blessing of ice armor, they would not dare to take it hard—if it was in the game, Sean would of course not mind to block it. For a moment, but in reality, if this javelin penetrates his heart, then he is definitely a dead body on the spot. Therefore, in the face of this terrible attack, everyone's first reaction was to disperse immediately. Sean picked up Cecilia, then leaped to the side and quickly moved away from the area covered by the short javelin.

Although everyone's evasion speed has been extremely fast, there are still several members of the slave hunting team under Andre and several heavy rock tribe barbarians who have been slowed down by a beat, and even Ataba. Yan (heavy hammer) was pierced through the thigh by a short javelin. The only fortunate thing is that this shot escaped the artery, so it only caused a certain degree of injury to Ataba, but it was not fatal. There were three people, the High Priest of Heavy Rock, Aisha Vinci and Tini. Now, trying to stop bleeding and recover from the injury is not a problem at all.

But the dispersion of this core circle also means that in the next few seconds, it is impossible to transmit any instructions to the current battlefield!

All of this is naturally the result that silver wants most!

Ahead, the charge of the cavalry finally collided with the bears.

The dull impact sound is like a huge drum array, which is transmitted around with a roar, and its momentum is even as great as the galloping hoofs of these cavalry as they charge.

Even the people like Yin and Billy who were far away four hundred meters away could hear clearly.

It can be seen how strong and shocking the impact of this charge is!

Usually commanders who are more experienced in judging the war situation often only need to hear the sound of the cavalry charge to determine what the specific charge will bring. At this time, the voice is so dull and amazing. Silver who can arrange such wonderful tactics is of course an experienced commander. Therefore, even if the smoke and dust at the entrance of the Great Scarlet Fire Tribe is so full of almost completely invisible to the specific situation, she is also convinced. The bearman's heavy infantry had been completely smashed at this moment, and I am afraid that now this cavalry unit has also torn apart the second line constructed by the barbarians.

Although because the barbarians of the second line are holding weapons, the cavalry may suffer some losses in the charge, but this loss is completely within the range of the huge victory that is about to be achieved.

Therefore, Yin's face at this moment is already as if he is holding a winning ticket.

She smiled and watched the mobile infantry who was about fifty meters behind rushed into the dust and fog that covered everything, and then it was time for them to expand their battle results. I am afraid that within a few minutes, the entire Big Crimson Fire tribe will be plunged into a sea of flames, and then it will naturally be the time for her and Billy to take action. Because even with such a comprehensive tactical assault, Yin did not despise Sean, who was from the same source as her own. She knew that only she could deal with this Demon Hunter Swordsman.

But soon, the smile on Silver's face gradually disappeared, replaced by doubts. Because the mobile infantry of the second echelon had already rushed into the dust and fog for several seconds, but the cavalry of the first echelon who was charging to open the way did not break out of the dust and fog at all, this situation is obviously not right!

Suddenly, there is a sudden wind.

The dust mist finally began to dissipate.

But the doubt on Silver's face turned into a look of surprise and shock at this moment, and she was stunned at the door of the Great Red Fire Tribe.

There, the cavalry at the forefront of the charge had fallen down a whole row, except for the two rows of horses in the front that had their neck bones broken obviously because of the impact force, and threw the rider on the horse back to fly out. The riders from the third row were directly pierced by the javelins in the hands of the barbarians behind—until now, Silver still did not see that these people were the barbarians of the North.

The man and horse are directly nailed to the ground!

The platoons of cavalry in the rear and the fifty-odd mobile infantrymen, at this moment, because of the defeat in the front, they collided with each other without being able to slow down, and all of them fell on their backs. In this case, falling into this kind of virtue, for any veteran, it simply means the three words "living target", even if you throw a weapon casually with your eyes closed, it can easily be injured. , Smashed to death.

As for the riders who collided with the bearman's heavy infantry and fell into flight, it is even more impossible for them to survive, because they fell in the bearman's encirclement. Before these people got up from the ground, they had been smashed into a stall of mashed meat and patties by the giant hammer in the bear man's hands.

At this time, no matter how sluggish the silver is, you can find that the arrangement of these bear people's front lines is not a hasty at all, but a staggered circle formed in a random pattern. In the middle of these two intersecting circles is a clearing. The place where the riders who flew out fell is in this clearing. The bear people surrounding this clearing are as many as thirteen people, and they are the most terrifying. The thing is that these thirteen bear people can perfectly cover the entire open space.

It is precisely because of these thirteen bear people that this open space has become a veritable circle of death!

Seeing that the tactics he carefully laid out were so simple and rudely destroyed, and a few minutes ago, this destruction was considered by him to be a tactic of sacrificing the counterattack space without his own strength. Silver's face was completely white.

She stared blankly at the battle at the gate of the Great Crimson Fire Tribe. It has now become a veritable meat grinder battlefield. There are more than 150 cavalry and mobile infantry. At this moment, fewer than a hundred people have survived, and they don't even know. How many people were injured. And this situation is because the javelins in the hands of the barbarians have already been thrown, otherwise, I am afraid that the death number will rise by another two to thirty people.

After        was so silent for a while, Yin finally let out a gaffeful scream: "How is this possible!"

"Those bear people have problems with their tower shields." After all, Billy is a real powerhouse in the golden realm. The advantage of such a strong realm is not immediately comparable to that of silver in other aspects, so he soon The key to the problem was discovered, "The tower shields in the hands of those bear people are like rooted in the ground, and they only need to stand behind and put their own gravity on the front tower shield to form the most standard. Three stacks of heavy infantry defensive formations.... And you don't find out, those tower shields are a circle larger than the normal tower shields, so the impact strength will be reduced by another level..."

Hearing Billy's words, the silver pupils suddenly shrank, and his attention was concentrated. Sure enough, there was a trace of cracks under the bear man's tower shield, which was indeed like rooting the tower shield in the ground.

In this way, each bearman holding this tower shield is almost equivalent to three heavy infantry holding tower shields superimposed on one another!

The resistance formed by these bear people lined up on the front line, coupled with the narrow terrain at the entrance and exit of the Great Red Fire tribe, unless the cavalry charge is also heavy infantry or use very powerful people as the arrow of the charge, otherwise it is simply Can't rely on the superimposed force of the charge to break through this line of defense. What's more, once the arrow's charge is stopped, the subsequent charge will not be superimposed, but naked self-harm!

The situation right now is like the waves crashing on the reef.

No matter how fierce the waves are, the reef will stand still!

Chapter 140: .collision! (Please guarantee the monthly pass)

Silver's pupils shrank slightly, and a fierce aura burst out from his body.

Whether it is from the formulation of tactics or strategic layout, her plan can indeed be regarded as perfect, especially in the current situation of occupying the right place and people, even if it wants to fail, it is impossible. But the only thing she didn't expect was that the tower shield used by Sean's bear was a kind of equipment she had never seen before, and the increase in resistance brought by this equipment could be said. It's terrible.

A person like Silver who can formulate this kind of plan is obviously also a very rare commander type talent.

She is different from the eagle and the wolf. The latter are both powerful individuals with extremely tyrannical personal combat capabilities. Although her personal strength is not bad, she is also not inferior to ordinary generals in terms of military attainments. It is precisely because of this that the improvement of silver's strength will be very slow, and now it is only the pinnacle of upper silver. After all, focusing on two or more things at the same time, the energy will definitely be inferior.

But Silver also has her ideals, ambitions and goals.

She wants to become the eighth Valkyrie on the Marvel Land!

This requires not only outstanding commanding talents, but also a very far-sighted vision and overall view, as well as a certain level of personal strength as a guarantee. But these are only the criteria that meet the candidate conditions. As for whether they can really become the Valkyrie, it is not clear who this evaluation criteria is.

But no matter how you say it, Silver can tell at a glance that the tower shields used by those bears are definitely something that can change the history of war!

She is also a decisive person. Seeing that the tactics of the cavalry charge failed, she waved her hand without hesitation: "The reserve team goes into battle! All the cavalry dismount and force a siege! Let the kobold cavalry jump over the wall!"

Hearing Yin's words, both Billy and the kobold who stood beside Yin before showed a look of surprise.

As we all know, the Lizard Cavalry is a light cavalry unit that uses long-range strikes as a means. They are naturally good at throwing short guns at long distances, and the short javelin made by Shamu gives them a shooting distance almost equal to that of ordinary archers, plus the reusability of the javelin, so they can use the recycling tactics of shooting and retreating, and then going back to the corpse shot by the javelin to pick up the javelin and continue fighting.

This set of tactics is also the most commonly used tactics used by the Lizard Cavalry.

So, in order to maximize the combat effectiveness of the Lizard Cavalry, the place of engagement must be in an open place. If the target is hiding in a narrow area, then there must be a kobold archmage standing on a high place to guide the shooting from the side with a secret method. The cause of Ataba's injuries.

But now, Silver's order is to make these galloping cavalry jump over the wall, so this means that all galloping cavalry must fight against the enemy in this narrow area of the goblin tribe. long.

"My lord..." Billy looked at Silver.

But at this time, Yin didn't care about Billy at all. A quick plunder had already rushed to the center of the battlefield of the Great Scarlet Fire Tribe at an extremely alarming speed. Her speed is so fast that everyone on the entire battlefield can see a clear white swept mark hitting straight. After the white light passed by, the gray-yellow smoke and dust flew at an astonishing speed. Rolled up, covering the sky and the sun.

"My lord, this..." The kobold mage who had stood beside Yin said with a look of horror.

Billy gritted his teeth, his face flashed with a haze, but he still shouted in a deep voice: "Do it!"

"Yes...Yes!" The face of the kobold mage suddenly became very difficult to look at.

But despite his ugly face, the kobold mage has no choice.

He was not the chief and high priest of the Yanqi tribe. These two high-ranking men had already died in the hands of Billy and Yin. He was only hopeful to be a candidate for the next high priest. Now it can be said that it was completely supported by Silver and Billy. Although they have control of the entire ethnic group, they are actually a puppet without any difference. In addition, the fact that they depend on humans has spread throughout the wild, so if they lose the two dependants of Billy and Silver. If they do, then they will definitely not be able to live a week here in the Wildlands.

After weighing the pros and cons, the kobold mage gritted his teeth and finally closed his eyes again and began to contact the group of cavalry horses.

Soon, there was a commotion among the running lizard cavalry.

But in fact, not all of the lizard cavalry will execute this command which is almost unfavorable to them. As the ultimate unit of the kobold race, galloping lizard cavalry can only be seen in wars that determine the life and death of the tribe, or even a more significant level. Usually a fourth-class kobold tribe can gather up to 20 galloping cavalry. Can be proud.

Hundreds of cavalry horsemen, at least they have to have a tribe of kobolds whose combat power and scale are equivalent to third-class seats.

And if the Yanqi tribe had so many cavalry horsemen, then Sean would never take action in the night raid that night. Because he really knew exactly how dangerous it was to be stared at by hundreds of cavalry horses at the same time. So at this moment, as soon as the group of rushing lizard cavalry were in chaos, even Sean couldn't help but divert his attention and gaze. In fact, in Sean's eyes, the entire battlefield at this moment could really have a final word. This is the Lizard Cavalry with hundreds of people.

Soon, this Lizard cavalry force split.

At least more than 80 galloping lizard cavalry quickly turned and moved away from the battlefield of the Great Red Fire tribe, and there were only a dozen galloping lizard cavalry remaining. After being silent for a while, these rushing lizard cavalry rushed towards the Great Red Fire Tribe without hesitation, then jumped over the five or six meters high earth wall and rushed directly into the Great Red Fire Tribe.

Looking at this scene, the expressions of everyone on the battlefield instantly became subtle.

No one cares about the face of the kobold mage, but Billy's face has obviously become very difficult to look at, and the expressions of other kobolds are also a little gray. But on the other hand, for the people of the Great Scarlet Fire Tribe, it is obvious that they are much more excited. If the Lizard Cavalry really jumps into the Great Scarlet Fire Tribe, then relying on the advantage of the terrain, they may be able to hit each other badly, but The end result is likely to be the tragic price of extermination.

Now that there are only more than a dozen cavalry horsemen, the situation is completely different. In addition, the combined attack of the bear and the northern barbarians in the front has severely damaged the entire enemy cavalry unit, and the morale of both sides suddenly reversed at this moment. !

It's just all of this, which is completely unimportant for silver.

At this time, she was only less than two hundred meters away from the Great Red Fire Tribe. In a short moment, she rushed up from behind, even surpassing the archers who were throwing them, like a gust of wind, but I want to know how fast it is.

"Leave her to me! You continue to command!" When Xiao En turned around, Silver was only more than a hundred meters away from the Great Crimson Fire Tribe. He immediately said to Cecilia in a deep voice, "You must be careful of each other's dog heads. The human mage army and the trade chief!"

Before he finished speaking, Xiao En had already activated the light body technique, and easily jumped over the dirt wall and fell outside of the Great Crimson Fire Tribe. He also rushed towards the silver without any ambiguity, and its speed was faster than that of the silver. The words may be slightly inadequate, but the shock of its charge is not inferior to silver. Several soldiers who tried to intercept Sean had just gathered around, and saw a black brilliance passing by, accompanied by the severed heads of these soldiers and the blood rushing like a fountain.

In the next moment, the swift brilliance of one white and one black collided fiercely.

The two grayish-yellow smoke and dust are like two billowing yellow dragons, which are entangled into a yellow dome along with the two brilliance circles. And in the next second, an extremely strong air current fluctuation suddenly erupted from the yellow dome, completely forcing the billowing smoke and dust to roll out, and the cobweb-like cracks were no less than that of the smoke and dust. The speed spread quickly, and a large number of fine gravel spattered in all directions like sprayed machine gun bullets. The unlucky ghosts closer to this battlefield were shot into hornet's nest without any suspense.

The scene is so tragic and vast, like the sky and the earth split!

The center of the almost catastrophic phenomenon is a man and a woman who are facing each other with swords.

The faces of the two of them are only less than ten centimeters apart, but whether it is Sean or Silver, their eyes reveal a cold to almost merciless look, and both sides can even smell the strong emanating from each other. breath. But this picture is not charming, because in the middle of the two people, the blades of the two long swords meet each other, and the blades of the blades are only two or three centimeters away from each other's faces.

There is no doubt that in this kind of wrestling, as long as one party loses strength, the blade of the long sword will kiss the other party's cheek.

At present, it seems that both sides are in a certain balance, but you must know that men have always been stronger than women, so almost no one will doubt that Sean will fail in this struggle.

Except for one person.

Shaun himself!

In this confrontation, Xiao En was surprised to find that his power was completely suppressed by the opponent!

Now his power is as high as 78 points, this data is by no means inferior to the average lower level gold powerhouse, but when facing an upper level silver pinnacle master, his power was completely suppressed-originally from himself There are two or three centimeters of long swords on the cheeks, which have been crushed to a distance of less than one centimeter, and the situation is still deteriorating. It will only take a few more seconds at most, then the dead bone will be in the sword. There was a scar on his face.

But soon, Sean discovered that the other party's power to suppress herself did not belong to her, but was borrowed from the outside world!

Looking at the light blue light radiating from the back of the opponent's hand, Xiao En's gaze became more solemn than ever: "Curse Seal Swordsman?"

"Strictly speaking." Yin exhales like blue, "I am the Swordsman of Sealing Demon."