

Lord of War Vol 2-151

Chapter 151: .The Great Demon King Enkos

The abyss is the territory of the demons; the  is the territory of the demons.

Anyone who believes in these two planes-whether it is voluntary or forced, will be called a heretic on the wonderland, and will be hunted down by all the churches on the whole wonderland. However, since the end of the Ash Age, demons and demons have not appeared on the mainland for a long time. Even if there are believers who believe in these evil creatures on the different planes occasionally, as long as they do not reveal their identity, it is really difficult to find them.

Of course, once you find it, you really have to face endless pursuit.

In addition to demons and demons, there is also a class of creatures, also known as enemies of the continent.

The undead king.

This is a more evil and terrifying existence than the Lich. Even if it is the bone plane of the undead, this existence is infinitely close to the existence of God. In essence, the undead king almost possesses the power that is not inferior to the  of death, but the two can never coexist, because the behavior of the undead king is simply snatching the function of the  of death.

If there are gods spreading their divine consciousness to Void City, then you can see that there are two extremely strong and rich brilliance in Void City.

This is the breath of demons and undead.

And such a strong and rich brilliance, it is obvious that whether it is a demon or an undead, it is by no means ordinary.

At this level, even the gods will feel a strong threat.

But it is a pity that today's Void City, or the entire Pandan collar, and even the area extended out with the Pandan collar as the core, has completely belonged to the realm of the goddess of ice and winter. Any * who wants to monitor the Void City with his spiritual mind is tantamount to prying into the secrets of the goddess' kingdom of the gods. This is no different from the declaration of war by the kingdom of gods, so naturally it is impossible for a * to do so in the current situation.

Therefore, no matter whether it is a demon or an undead, there is no danger of being discovered and spied by the gods directly.

As the goddess of ice and winter, Aswinter's divine power becomes stronger and stronger, her mortal base of the * city will undoubtedly be assimilated with the void city, and then the void city will become the goddess of ice and winter. City of God. At that time, even if the goddesses of Ice and Snow and Winter were willing to let other gods peep through with their divine minds, they would definitely not be able to peep through any secrets in the city of Gods. This was an extremely powerful benchmark for the laws of the world, and its authority was even above the laws of the gods.

There is no doubt that the gray represents the breath of the undead, it is the bass.

As an enemy of the mainland, the undead king Beth logically says that no matter where he is, he will be rejected by many rules and disgusted by the gods.

If the world is the dark night, and everyone is a little firefighter in the night, the light of stronger people will be brighter, and ordinary people of weaker power will be like fireflies, then the light of bass is undoubtedly blooming in the dark night. The sun is not only dazzling but also annoying. Even if it is far apart, any priest in the church can easily feel the powerful pressure emanating from Beth even if he does not use the divine art of investigating evil, and this is why Andrew has been sealing him before. The reason in that bronze coffin.

It stands to reason that if the goddess Aswenter finds bass, then she must also attack.

But in fact, this goddess never does not want to fight against bass. Not to mention that she and Sean have a secret agreement, and no matter how Beth sees it, the benefits are the same as Sean. The stronger Sean is, the more power of faith she can collect, so Ethwinter is It certainly won't be detrimental to bass. Of course, another reason is that she may be able to tie with Beth, but if you count Andrew, Ablis, Dex, and Nanali, then she is probably going to sink again.

Not to mention, there is still a man who is completely outside the bass.

The person represented by the scarlet light.

Enkos. Tilch. Medili Hasas. El, from the plane of Abyssal Purgatory, the king of El's demon clan.

The Abyssal Purgatory Plane, according to the players' adventures, is currently known to have at least 400 floors. It is said that it can go further, but before Sean comes to this world, there are still no players to find the way to the 4001 floor. door. According to the official database, the most powerful existence on the plane of purgatory is the demons at the level of the great demon, followed by the seven demon kings representing the seven deadly sins, and then the demon lord, but even if the player reaches the 400th floor, It's just that I have seen four demon lords, not to mention the existence of the big devil level, even the seven demon kings have not seen it.

At the bottom of the abyss, there are more than fifty kinds of demonic data published on the four hundred floors, but the demons of El have never appeared.

Even in other races, Sean has never heard of the birth of a king, and at most he is the leader of this race. However, according to the player's speculation, it seems that only at the bottom of the deeper abyss will high-level demons appear, and only high-level demons can give birth to "kings". This is the true identity of those great demon kings in the abyss plane.

It's just that, after all, it's just a guess.

Although Sean had heard of it, he would not know at this time that there was such a demon king of the abyss plane in his own territory.

This is a demon with a height of about 1.8 meters, but strangely, the upper body of this demon shows the appearance of a human male, and the left hand is completely in line with human standards. Everything looks full of majestic aura. , The only difference is that although his right hand is the length of a normal human, it shows a greenish black on it, which looks a bit delicate, but it is not only strange scales, but also has strange concave lines. These lines It is dark red, like flowing lava, and the fingers of the right hand have sharp nails nearly ten centimeters long.

His lower body is also not human, but the lower body of a standard demon's sheep's hoof, but it looks a lot thicker, with the same concave and weird patterns on the right hand and fine scales on it. At its hip is a tail with barbed thorns over two meters in length. There is even a faint black flame burning on the tail. The black appearance and no warm heat are radiating. At this point, flame is by no means something that can be touched.

The devil's head has a western face, and it looks very sunny and handsome, and it can even be said that it is not inferior to Andrew and Beth. It's just that his pupils are weird golden vertical pupils, a bit similar to the pupils of a dragon, but they look a lot more evil. The only thing that makes people doubt is that he has a pair of sharp horns on his head-of course, if you compare his right hand and lower body, then this flaw is nothing.

At this moment, a large amount of black mist is constantly condensing, surrounding, and compressing on his body, seeming to be trying to change something.

After a few minutes, the sharp nails on his right hand finally retracted into the fingers, and the strange scales began to ablate bit by bit, the original sunken lines began to disappear, and the muscles began to swell and smooth. , And then the red texture gradually fades and disappears.

In an instant, this right hand became indistinguishable from a normal human right hand.

Enkos glanced at his right hand and nodded somewhat satisfied.

At this time, the black mist had begun to gather towards the lower body.

This time, it took a little longer, and it should be at least nearly twenty minutes. But the result is undoubtedly surprising, because the lower body of the demon Enkos has become the lower body and legs of a normal human, and the pair of angles on his head is even more complete. Disappearing, the whole person looks no different from a handsome and tall normal human.

He first took a deep breath, and then exhaled two black mists, and soon all the flowers and plants around him withered.

"The long-lost air." Enkos let out a contented admiration, "Finally, there is no need to be pressed under the ass."

Saying so, after breathing several times in a row, the aerosol sprayed out finally is no longer black, and it will not be so exaggerated.

Obviously, Enkos is constantly adapting to the rhythm and identity that belongs to human beings.

He tried to walk a few steps, although it was a bit jerky and hard at first, but after ten steps, he finally really adapted to the whole body and it seemed to become abnormally smooth. But at this time, he seemed to think of something, looked down at his naked body, and then snapped his fingers.

Soon, the black mist surrounded him again.

It's just that it didn't last too long this time, about two or three seconds. When the black weapon dissipated, Enke's lower body was already wearing a pair of black leather trousers and tall black leather boots on his feet. However, he didn't wear clothes on his body. Instead, he wore a knee-length dark blue leather jacket. The whole person looked a little more bohemian, but he was completely incompatible with the elegant Andrew and the meticulous bass. Different temperaments.

Enkos nodded in satisfaction, and then walked towards the building in front of him.

According to the information he got from Beth, everyone in this building called the embassy was his target.

At the same time Enkos walked into the embassy, Beth, who was in the conference room of the consulate, poured himself a cup of coffee.

"Originally, I planned to take the shot myself, but the scene is a bit big, so it will be very troublesome for you to clean up afterwards." Beth took a light sip of coffee, and then said softly, "So Enkos's awakening, yes. It's a good thing for us, at least we can shirk the blame on the devil.... Anyway, there will be no proof, and there will be a lot of things related to the devil in the embassy at that time. We say that he is a believer of the devil. Being a pagan, the people in the Chamber of Commerce can only take this dumb loss. In such a situation, what they need to deal with is the union of all the churches on the whole continent, and then they will not have the energy to trouble Sean. "

"Demon!?" Neil let out a low voice, "Is that a demon held in the coffin?"

Beth glanced at Neil lightly, and then calmly said, "Yes. Enkos is a demon from the abyss plane and our indispensable companion."

William and Neal looked at each other. The terms such as demons and demons have been deeply imprinted in their minds, which are equated with extreme terror. After a moment of silence, William said with some difficulty, "Middle demon?"

Beth shook his head.

"The upper demon?" Neil said with a surprised look.

Beth thought for a moment, and then nodded.

"Demon Lord?" Neil swallowed.

This time, Beth shook his head again.

"Could it be one of the Seven Demon Kings?" William's face was already pale.

"If it's the Seven Demon Kings, that guy should probably be the lord of arrogance." As if thinking of something, Beth suddenly chuckled, "But it's a pity that he is not the Seven Demon Kings..."

Hearing this, William and Neil suddenly felt a sense of relief, but soon their faces became extremely pale.

Because Beth has already said the next sentence: "He is the Demon King of the Abyss, according to your understanding, that is the Great Demon King.... The Great Demon King Enkos, welcome back."

Chapter 152: .Improved plan? (Seeking monthly pass)

Thousands of miles away, Sean didn't know that William, Neal, Beth, and Enkos, who had just awakened, had already set a trap and trap that could be described as a dead end for the Chamber of Commerce Alliance. This strategy is almost a chain, and it also calculates humanity to an extremely terrible level-if the two diplomats of the Chamber of Commerce Alliance leave Void City immediately, instead of staying in Void City, then Nepal The last step of Er, William and Beth was naturally unsuccessful.

Even if they can still be killed, but this will not be able to achieve the level of framing and framing, but will drag the Void City into the quagmire.

But now, after Neil's layout, even if people from all churches on the mainland come to check, all they can see will be the scene arranged by Neil and others. As for the shrewd people like Inil and William, it is obviously impossible to expose too many flaws. In addition to the Void City and the goddess Eswinter, who was on the Sean thief ship, other gods would even want to There is no way to check it with spiritual mind.

Isn't Xuefanio, the mortal spokesperson of the goddess of ice and winter, has the final say?

Regardless of the final result, the Chamber of Commerce Alliance must swallow this dumb loss. In the next few years, it will have to wrestle with all the churches across the continent and undergo a series of investigations. Even so, the relationship between the Chamber of Commerce and Sean will definitely drop to a freezing point, or even hostile, but this has also won Sean extremely valuable development time, and as long as Sean is strong enough, then even People in the Chamber of Commerce Union want to make up for the old accounts, and they must carefully consider their gains and losses.

Because for the business people, unless it is to kill the father and seize the wife or even destroy the family, it is impossible to be a deadly enemy forever. And if there is a huge profit as a temptation, then these businessmen will definitely forget the past problems, and even in turn want to please Sean.

This is also the problem that Neal will be so strong.

Because in the plan he and William made, the members of the Chamber of Commerce who came to negotiate with them this time are already a pile of corpses.

Talk to the corpse? Even if it succeeds, no one will admit it.

At this moment, after a few days of recuperation, Sean immediately embarked on the return journey.

Silver and Billy died in battle, and the troops under his command were wiped out. Although the Great Crimson Fire Tribe and the Heavy Rock Tribe have suffered losses, they will deploy some supplies to support the construction after Sean returns. I believe it will soon be possible. Rejuvenated. What's more, the current development of Wolf's Den is also very stable, although it will be separated for the second time tomorrow, but after Xiao En's guidance, there is no need for him to do this at all.

So, why don't you go home at this time and stay in the wilderness?

Participate in the regime change of the Habek tribe?

Even if Sean thinks, he doesn't have this ability. Because both the Big Red Fire Tribe and the Heavy Rock Tribe can only protect themselves, they have no power to be involved in this "coup" event that has swept across the entire Habek Tribe's territories, and if other forces are used, then Without waiting for Sean to remotely control the Habek tribe, I am afraid that they will be attacked by all the tribes in this tribal territory.

How could Sean do such a stupid thing.

So when the injury stabilized and the return journey would not be a trouble, he immediately left the Big Red Fire Tribe and couldn't wait. And this time with Sean on the return trip, in addition to Clover and his Cecilia Guards, there are two brothers, Krumah and Cruz, who are directed at Sean's 100 The lizard people left as slaves, and as long as they could obtain this force, they immediately had the capital to gallop in the wild.

Of course, they are also very clear. Once they accept the "investment" from Sean, they are completely tied to Sean. Even if they want to violate or deny the account, they must also consider other people who know about it-such as Carlos. And Ataba. Once they get things out of the way, they will immediately become a shame to Luo Xiluo, and maybe a shame to the entire wild land, let alone fighting for the position of chief of Luo Xiluo, even in the wild. It's impossible to get a foothold.

Similarly, doing so will completely expose the fact that the Big Red Fire Tribe and the Heavy Rock Tribe are allied with Sean, or to take refuge in him, but since the people of these two tribes dared to do this, would they still be cautious?

So in any case, Sean has no scruples, but Cruz has scruples.

As for Krumah?

This shrewd lizardman has already figured out all the interests in this. Even in his opinion, there is nothing wrong with secretly forming an alliance with Sean. After all, Sean's strength has been seen, and having a human ally can indeed give them more advantages—at least in terms of equipment. They can solve the problem, which not only strengthens their combat effectiveness, but also strengthens their survivability.

So from a certain point of view, except for Cruz, a person who can't turn his head, Krumah, Ataba, and Carlos are all in favor of Sean's occupation of the entire Rift Valley. Even if it is impossible to occupy the entire Great Rift Valley at the moment, as long as it can open up a road that connects with the wild land, this is enough, and the friendly meaning shown by Shaun will soon be aroused. The attention of the tribes in the Barren Lands.

By then, even if Sean has no interest in the Great Rift Valley, all the tribes in the Wildlands will interest Sean.

These little abacus, Sean can count them well.

Of course, the inspiration and ideas that he brought to him are also related to the past experience in the game. If it hadn't been for someone to throw stones at the beginning of the game, I'm afraid that Sean would not find the knot that opened up the hostility between the outside world and the wild land so quickly, and naturally it would be impossible to achieve some kind of friendship with people in the wild land so easily. tacit agreement. And without the assistance of the Wildlands, it would be absolutely impossible for Sean to enter the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire in the future.

When it comes to major events about "Utopia", Sean will never remember wrong.

On the return journey, because the armaments are relatively sufficient, and there is also the guard of the Cecilia Guards, the fourth-level army, it is naturally not as rushing as before entering the wild land. In addition, Sean really wants to know more about the possibility of improving the impact shield at the moment, so most of the time he is competing with the impact shield. After all, Sean's deputy is a blacksmith, and in everyone's He still sees the kind of alchemy blacksmith who can make demonized weapons, so he naturally doesn't feel weird about Sean holding the impact shield and researching almost every day.

Especially for people like Krumah, Cecilia, and Andre who have personally seen the defensive effect of the impact shield, the mystery of this shield has undoubtedly increased a lot.

It's just that no matter how Shaun studied, he even removed two shock shields for this, but he did not find any suitable improvement plan.

This impact shield is a pure iron heavy-duty tower shield as a template. It has an extremely thick three-layer structure. If the * system is included, it can even be said to be a four-layer structure—don't forget that when the pegs are driven out, The shield surface of the tower shield will expand again. Although there is no thick shield bottom support behind this expanded circle, the impact force of the cavalry must hit the thickest shield core. The weak shield surface that weakens the impact does not have much effect.

Although the heavy tower shield is also a three-layer structure, because human endurance and physical strength are limited, in order to better adapt to the physical energy consumption on the battlefield, this type of tower shield is much weaker. It is precisely because of the reduction in the thickness of the tower shield that the most important core power source of the impact shield cannot be placed in its center position, so of course it is impossible to create an impact shield that can change the pattern of war.

As for the pseudo-tower shield that looks like a tower shield but is actually a large shield, let alone.

In any way, if you want to make an impact shield, you must start with a heavy-duty pure iron tower shield. So in essence, the impact shield should be regarded as a processing or enhanced version of a heavy-duty pure iron tower shield, rather than an independently formed new type of shield. It can be said that although Ronnis is very creative, he even made it unintentionally. There is something that can change the pattern, but its essence is also improvement, not innovation.

So after Sean spent more than ten days on thorough research, he finally had no choice but to draw three facts.

First, if you want to create an army with the advantage of a continental barrier, you can only use bear or tauren. At the limit of the current human standard, it is impossible to wear this improved pure iron heavy tower shield. However, it is not difficult to find out if you think about it carefully, because the heavy infantry that can use pure iron heavy tower shields are all elites of various countries and even the size of an ace army. These soldiers almost have the strength of the upper bronze pinnacle, and the officers in the army Even the strength of the Silver Realm. It's just that with the popularity of heavy tower shields and pseudo-tower shields, fewer and fewer countries will wear this kind of pure iron heavy tower shields to their troops. After all, both training costs and costs will drop a lot. The degree of defense weakened is not large. After all, when the cavalry charges on the battlefield, it is often time to decide the outcome of the war. Who would bother to develop heavy infantry that can only defend against the cavalry charge?

What's more, the weight of the impact shield is heavier than the heavy-duty tower shield of pure iron. If humans want to be able to use this kind of thing, I am afraid that it really needs lower level silver.

Will someone with this strength be willing to join the ranks of the heavy infantry with the highest casualty rate?

The second fact is that Sean found that if you want to use a heavy tower shield to be improved into an impact shield, it is not impossible, but the requirements for the core power source will be higher-first, the volume of the power source, and then the efficiency. , And after discussing this aspect with Sean and Cecilia, he found that it is not impossible to reduce the size, but in this way the impact shield will become a disposable item, once the pile is driven, it cannot be recovered, and the core will also explode. Then it is equally worthless.

So no matter how you look at it, if you want to use a heavy tower shield as an improvement, then you must involve magic technology.

This is also an unsolvable problem.

As for the third fact, it is the result that feasibility is second only to the first fact.

I want to reduce the weight of the heavy pure iron tower shield so that humans can also equip it. This is completely fine.

Demonization will do.

At that time, let alone reduce the weight, it will not be a problem to make the defense effect more outstanding.

Just, is it possible?

The manufacture of a heavy-duty pure iron tower shield is a one-time cost, and the transformation into an impact shield is another big cost. Then Sean will personally change it into enchanted equipment, and then train five hundred human soldiers who can wear...

Cecilia clearly told Sean that this cost was enough for Sean to have a bear-man reloading force with a number of more than 3,000.

So Sean dismissed this idea simply.

"It seems that we must kidnap as soon as possible anyway...ah no, we have found someone who understands magic technology." Sean's brows were frowning, and his mind was constantly circling in this era. Who are the magic technology talents that can be found?

Chapter 153: .Be targeted

When the improvement plan of the impact shield had to be abandoned due to irresistible factors, everyone found that the marching speed was immediately increased.

Even so, when Xiao En and others re-entered the Great Rift Valley from the depths of the wilderness, more than a month had passed.

And this time, as soon as they returned to the Great Rift Valley, Xiao En and others felt a strange breath very keenly.

Originally, the Great Rift Valley was one of the six areas of the entire head and tail snake course. No matter how weak and declining, it still gives people a feeling of vigor. Basically every few days, you will definitely see a team or several teams of slave hunting teams. They may be marching toward the depths of the wild land with hope and confidence, or they may return with trophies and cheering. It may also be that lifeless and only returning with blood and injuries.

But no matter what kind, you won't meet people even for a few days, or you have to be vigilant and alert even if you meet people, but the feeling that makes people feel that this place is very prosperous and active is absolutely not Will change. It can even be said that it is this activity that allows the entire head and tail snake route to have a deformed prosperity.

But this time, after re-entering the area belonging to the Great Rift Valley, the feeling for Xiao En and others was a kind of dying.

is not deserted, but the kind of dead silence in which life is completely exhausted and everything is gone.

For a whole week, let alone a person, not even an animal, which makes all the people who eat dry food all the way-and the people who have to eat frugally, have a feeling that they can't stand it. After all, they were originally. The plan is to hunt down a few creatures to fight the teeth.

"What the * happened here?" Sean was a little curious, "This feeling... is really weird."

This large rift valley gives Sean the same feeling as the ancient ruins. The only difference is that there are no ghost fires, ghouls, and gatherings of evil thoughts here, and there is also no gray fog that blocks everyone's vision and makes people feel extremely scared.

Hearing Xiao En's question, everyone looked at each other a little. At this time, they couldn't answer such a question. After all, all of them had just come out of the wild with Xiao En.

Except for one person, Clover.

So soon, everyone's eyes gathered on Clover.

It's just that Clover, who has always been more glamorous and noble, doesn't put everyone in the eyes at all. For him, there is only one person he is loyal to, Cecilia instead of Sean, so of course he doesn't have to go. Take care of Sean. It's just that Croff didn't put Sean in his eyes, and Sean also had a way to heal him, so soon Sean's eyes fell on Cecilia.

Seeing Sean's gaze, Cecilia rolled her eyes helplessly. The appearance was very charming like a little woman, which made Sean secretly startled: Unexpectedly, before she knew it, Sisi Leah also grew up. But soon, Sean put his attitude very correct, this is his sister.

"Mr. Cloff, do you know what's going on?" Cecilia's voice was very soft, no different from her usual manner of speaking. In terms of treating her own person, Cecilia, the daughter of the former Principality, was born The aristocratic lady does not have an arrogant attitude. She has always felt that she is dignified. Even if she has the pride of aristocrats, she will never show her face to other people because of it.

Sure enough, after hearing Cecilia's words, Croft sighed helplessly.

Even though the sigh was very soft, Sean caught it keenly, and then he saw Clover's glance at him, a bit fierce hidden in his eyes. But will Sean care? The corners of his mouth are just twitching, which is a bit of a smile, but the disdain in that expression is also obvious. Since Clover does not respect him, how can he respect Krishna? Love?

In terms of combat effectiveness, Clover is only high-ranking silver. Is the pinnacle currently invisible, but Sean can kill even lower-ranking gold, let alone Clover?

And if Clover dares to bully less, then Sean is also not afraid, he also has the secret weapon Cecilia. So no matter how Croft wants to quarrel with Sean, Sean won't care, because no matter how the account is calculated, it will be Croft's loss. And this kind of things that make others lose their own profits, Sean has very well inherited the vast fine traditions of the players, and will never fail to do it.

It's just that Clover can really bear it. He turned his head and looked at Cecilia without seeing Sean's provocative eyes. After a little thought, he said, "I don't know the specifics. But when we came, I directly set fire to the Wind-Zhufeng tribe, and fought several other tribes' armed forces. The other tribes were defeated by us, so I guess it should be related to this aspect."

Andre's face was surprised.

He has only seen the armed forces of the Zhufeng tribe, and he knows how much pressure this army of only a hundred people put on them. Later, in the Great Red Fire Tribe Defense War, he even saw a large-scale armed force with combat effectiveness. How terrible. According to Andre's knowledge, the armed forces of the Wind-Zhuxing tribe are not considered the strongest in the entire Rift Valley. Several well-developed tribes have stronger troops and more numbers.

So this is the real reason why Andre looked surprised when he heard Croft say that they had defeated the armed forces of several tribes.

After all, Andre is not like Sean, he can't clearly distinguish the limit of the strength of these troops. Perhaps Croft had shown an extremely tough and passionate aura before, but in Andre's eyes it was also because the enemy's morale dropped sharply, and it was also severely repaired. Of course, they would not know that the armed forces are at most quasi-level three troops without rigorous training, and they are not even considered to be the true level three regulars.

The Cecilia Guards is a real level four force, so not to mention that Clover's troops had more than 400 people at the beginning, even if there are only more than 300 people now, they can still face the two armed forces. , And even fought a beautiful wipeout battle. If the opponent's armed forces do not have a commander, or if the commander's skills are not effective, then Clover will be even easier to fight.

In fact, not only Andre, but even the two brothers Krumah and Cruz, are also not very convinced.

With Cloff's character, he certainly wouldn't explain anything to these people.

"Just like this, it is absolutely impossible for these cruel and * people to retreat." Xiao En said softly, "These people are basically members of the slave hunting squad retreating. They dare to do anything for money. And here it is. In the savage land, attrition in battle is not terrible. As long as you can afford to pay, you can hire a large number of slave hunters to give them their lives."

But when Sean said this sentence, it surprised the brothers Andre and Krumah a little bit, because this sentence of Sean was equivalent to acknowledging the truthfulness of what Klov had just said. He was true. Capable of defeating those armed forces head-on. Even Clover had a flash of surprise in his eyes, because he didn't expect that Sean would be so sure of his strength, which made him a little doubt that William sent him to rescue at the time it was Sean's order.

"Perhaps." Clough said lightly, "I am a soldier, and I only fight war. I don't understand or don't want to understand these things.... But as long as someone dares to threaten His Highness's life, even if it is warfare, With the last person left, I won't back down either."

Hearing what Clover said, the entire Cecilia Guards remained silent, and there was no morale impact because of Clover's words, and even some people's eyes showed a kind of A fanatical look. Sean knows this look very well. Many religious fanatics show this look. There is no doubt that these people will soon be promoted to middle-ranking non-commissioned officers in the entire army by Clover. .

This time the Cecilia Guards' loss has to be said to have been a bit big, but even if they were willing to sacrifice for Cecilia, they would definitely not be able to continue to maintain their organization to participate in the battle if they were to reduce the number of personnel. Sean believes that William must have taken this into consideration, so after returning this time, William will certainly allow Clover's army to reorganize and replenish its troops.

At this moment, a black figure was marching vigorously under the moonlight.

He is fast, but even in places where there are almost no obstacles and shadows like the wild land, the opponent can cleverly use dark clouds to block the blind spots formed by moonlight. This has fully proved that this black figure has fully mastered the skills belonging to the assassin, I am afraid that it is just around the corner to break through the strength bottleneck and officially become an assassin.

The visitor is not someone else. It is the rupiah who is responsible for patrolling and collecting intelligence on the outskirts of the troop camp with Yim.

In the past few months in the Wildlands, this young man has greatly improved.

He has not only completely integrated into Sean's class system, but also fully demonstrated his amazing talents and talents. He has quickly transformed into a growth in the coup campaign against the Great Red Fire tribe and the subsequent defense battle. He is now a quasi assassin. Under the observation of Sean's true eyes, it probably doesn't take long for Ruby to step into the upper bronze realm. After all, he has been stuck in the lower bronze for a long time. This time he can make a smooth breakthrough. It should be regarded as a type of accumulation. , And this kind of thin hair is probably blowout, and it will last for a long time.

"My lord, my mentor asked me to inform you." Ruby knelt on one knee, and now looks more like a courtier under Sean than the young thief with a big temper. "We found it nearby. Some special circumstances."

"Special circumstances?" Sean asked, "What special circumstances?"

"According to the tutor, we are very likely to be targeted."

Chapter 154: .Hidden revenge

"Are you staring at it?" Sean was really taken aback now, because the development of the situation is likely to completely exceed his estimation.

But I don't know why, but the magic communicator suddenly failed, which made it impossible for Sean to contact William and Neal, so it was difficult to work out a more accurate plan of action. So when he entered the Great Rift Valley, Sean had already prepared the strategy of taking one step at a time. In any case, as long as he successfully passed through the Rift Valley, it didn't matter if any accidents really happened.

Because it is less than a few days away from Panda Town, it can even be reached within two days if you are marching quickly. This is still a unilateral action. If it were to launch a signal flare, and if reinforcements were sent from Panda Town at the same time, it would be able to converge in about a day, so this is also Sean's biggest capital dependence.

However, being secretly watched by the enemy on this point was indeed slightly beyond Sean's expectations.

"Yes." Ruby nodded. "I and my instructor discovered the route of a large force. If the first discovery was just a coincidence, then it would not be a coincidence that we can find clues almost every day.... According to The instructor speculated that the other party should have arranged manpower to follow them, and then set up ambushes in front to wait for us to pass by."

"There are still people who dare to stare at us?" After listening to Ruby's words, Cloff let out a sneer, "It seems that those guys really don't have a long memory. Haven't they been afraid of being beaten?"

"I'm afraid it's different this time." Sean said.

Everyone's eyes immediately focused on Sean.

"They have all fought against you, so they should be very clear about your legion's combat effectiveness. Similarly, the fact that I held Billy back and tied him, must have spread here in the Great Rift Valley. Therefore, they should also know my situation, and at that time I even had only the lower level of silver." Xiao En said, "If you are replaced by you, how would you evaluate my strength?"

Hearing what Shaun said, everyone fell into silence for a while.

After a while, Clover said: "No matter what the rumors are, I will treat you as an imaginary enemy in the golden realm and face you with the strongest lineup."

Hearing what Klov said, Andre and Krumah nodded similarly, indicating that their thoughts were the same as Klov's. Of course, with the pride of the lizard people, you might think this way, but you will certainly not really do it. So if this happens, Krumah's preparations will probably be a little lax than in Klov's situation; and vice versa. , Andre's character is a typical cautious, so his preparation will also be different from Klov, but not to lower the standard, but to increase the degree of danger.

But no matter what they say, they will indeed regard Xiao En as a strong figure in the golden realm.

"In the current situation, through stalking, they will definitely know that I am not alone. Although my troops have suffered casualties, I am not just a force now." When Sean said this, at the same time He also pointed to Andre, Cecilia, Dini, and everyone in the entire camp, "But they have already joined you, so they still dare to keep watching us even knowing you and me." , Even preparing to ambush us, what do you think they will do?"

Hearing this, everyone's face became gloomy.

The answer hardly needs to be known to everyone.

Joint.

Only by uniting, can it be possible to fight against the two united forces of Sean and Clough.

"And don't forget one thing." Shaun said again, "There are a total of twelve trading points in the entire Rift Valley. We killed Billy, crushed his troops head-on, and burned theirs. Trade points. But they still have eleven trade points!"

"But at least three of the tribes were unable to fight." Klov said, "I wiped out all three opposing troops on the frontal battlefield."

"Don't forget that this is a wild land. As long as you have money, you will be afraid of no one?" Xiao En said, "Just as the other party will not underestimate our strength, we also cannot underestimate each other because of this.... So we What you have to face is probably the union of eleven tribes, or even the eleven powerful men in the lower level of the golden realm!"

Hearing Shaun's words, everyone gasped.

"Ten." Klov said in a deep voice, "I killed one."

"Well, even if it is ten, how many can you deal with?" Xiao En said, "I can only deal with two at most."

Hearing Sean's words, Clover fell into silence for a while. With his personal strength, of course it is impossible to deal with a strong person in the golden realm, even if the opponent is just a low-level gold. But with the help of the Cecilia Guards, Clover can easily kill a low-level golden powerhouse who is trapped in the battlefield, and if it is two low-level golden powerhouses, Then it will become quite tricky, and if three lower-level golden powerhouses are fighting together, then what Clover wants to think about is how to block the sword for Cecilia.

In fact, this does not mean that Clover is incompetent. Rather, it should be said that his troops are too small. Normal level four elite troops can basically threaten the lives of the golden realm powerhouses. If the scale has a thousand people, even the upper-level gold powerhouses will definitely not. Dare to fall into the encirclement of the four-level army, so properly will only cause the result of fall.

And with the scale of Klov's only three hundred people, he can deal with the two low-level golden powerhouses, which has been able to show the strength of this force.

"We can only deal with four strong gold players when we count them." Cecilia's brows frowned, "But there are still six opponents. This is simply an opponent we can't beat."

"And there is one more condition to be added." Xiao En added, "After I killed the two low-level gold powerhouses, I didn't have any fighting power at all, just like I did after the battle with Silver and Billy. The situation is the same. Similarly, in the face of the attack of two lower-level golden powerhouses, Clover and his corps are also weak, which means that the best result is that after the entire corps is defeated, the opponent once again falls down to two lower positions. Gold powerhouse... But don't forget, the other side is a joint trade point of 11, so let alone they still have six lower level gold powerhouses, and the total force is likely to exceed three thousand."

Everyone's face suddenly became very difficult to look at.

At this time, the entire camp fell into an extremely painful silence.

Because no matter how you look at it, this is an unsolvable dead end.

Of course, Sean didn't know, but the situation was not as difficult as he thought.

When he contacted William for the last time before, he only received the news that Clover burned the trade point of the Wind Chaser tribe. He didn't know much about the following things, so naturally he didn't know that Rina was behind Clover. He led his troops to kill in, and even severely damaged the three tribes that had been severely hit by Clover, and even forcibly killed the trade chief in another trading point.

So in fact, even as Sean had guessed, the other trade points in the Great Rift Valley would unite, and there would be only eight at most, and there are only eight lower gold powerhouses that can make a move. Although another golden powerhouse did not die when facing Rina, he was also hit hard by Rina. It was impossible to participate in the war. In the face of such a fierce and powerful offensive, it is impossible for these tribes to recruit slave hunters to help-although the slave hunters love money, but it must also be life and enjoyment. If there is no life to enjoy, what is the point of taking more money?

And because of the existence of Rena and her cavalry units, in fact, even if the tribes here in the Great Rift Valley are really united, it is impossible for all of them to concentrate their forces against Sean and Clover. If this is the case, then Rina, the cavalry unit, can really charge several times in the opposing unit, and such heavy damage is completely detrimental to them.

So in fact, even if you really want to ambush, some people will definitely be allocated to stare at Rina's troops.

And these news are still old news a few months ago!

The current situation in the Great Rift Valley is more weird, or weaker, than Sean had imagined. Of course, what Sean also does not know is that the reason why such a dead silence occurs in the entire Rift Valley is also related to Rena's recent activities in the Rift Valley. When he returned to the Great Rift Valley, he was targeted, and it was also related to his actions against the Great Rift Valley.

Of course, the possibility of the pan-continental chamber of commerce instigation is not ruled out.

After all, half a month ago, something happened across the continent that shocked and frightened everyone.

In the envoy of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance who went to Void City to negotiate some trade contracts with Pandaling's acting lord Neil, there were actually heretics! And this heathen not only secretly instructed the demon forces to attack Neil, who was brought back to Panda from Dayi, but also tried to sacrifice the entire Void City in an attempt to summon powerful demons to descend on the main plane. Fortunately, this The conspiracy was discovered by the people of Void City and stopped in time.

But Void City also paid an extremely heavy price-the embassy, lord's mansion and even the temple were almost completely destroyed. If it weren't for the three followers of the goddess of ice and snow and winter, they would forcibly cause the gods to surrender and destroy the demons at the expense of themselves. If that is the case, let alone the Void City, the entire Southern Continent will be plunged into darkness. And this news was confirmed by the goddesses of Ice and Snow and Winter, so that all the churches across the continent received the news. At present, the major churches have arranged personnel to set off to the trade capital, preparing to ask the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance on this matter. Give an explanation.

In the face of such a huge dumb loss, what can the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance say?

Or, under the personal testimony of a god, are they still capable of defending it? Even if they want to defend themselves, they are dead and out of proof. What they have lost is not only the entire envoy, but also three sanctuary powerhouses. And based on the intelligence of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance, they certainly would not think that Void City was capable of killing the three sanctuary powerhouses, so they agreed that the powerful demon must be the plan of the acting lord Neil, and This black pot successfully blamed them.

So this ambush against Sean in the Great Rift Valley is not without reason.

Because Sean had really offended the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance miserably, if this hatred was not reported, he would not be able to swallow that breath at all.

"So my lord, what do you do now?" Rupi asked.

Xiao En was silent for a moment, and said decisively: "Andre, you immediately dispatch a few werewolves, Ruby, and Yim to form a reconnaissance team to investigate the surrounding intelligence and try to find the other's ambush. We have to go around. Go past the opponent's ambush and leave here as quickly as possible."

"Yes!"

Chapter 155: .Vivian is on the road

Time, about a month forward, almost at the same time when Sean set off to return to Pandan.

Location, the reception room of Tonys Fortress.

This is a bright and large meeting room.

There is a long oval table that can seat more than twenty people.

There are no seats at both ends of the long table, only ten high-back chairs are placed on the left and right sides of the long table. The width of each of these high-back chairs is about sixty centimeters. The backrest is covered with a golden yellow back cloth. The cushions and cushions are real velvet cushions shipped from the Chenas Empire. The chairs do not have armrests, but they match the red color. The long elliptical table made of copper has a very luxurious feeling.

This is the morning light meeting room in the Lord's Mansion of Tonys Fortress. It is the largest meeting room in the entire fortress. Since the establishment of the fortress, it has only been opened four times, of which three were opened when welcoming embassies from the imperial family, and once when it was opened for trade negotiations with a large chamber of commerce.

Today is the fifth time this conference room has been opened.

However, the participants just left.

Even if it is facing a diplomatic mission of up to ten people, there are only three people in this conference room.

Asuna, Elizabeth and Sago.

Vivian is currently presiding over the related matters on the Mordge leader's side, and not in the Tonis fortress, as well as the most famous thundering front under Asuna's command have been completely taken away. It can be said that the strength of Tonis Fortress is still strong, but the overall combat effectiveness has dropped by a whole level. After all, even if the average soldier has 20,000 or 30,000, it can't be compared with an elite unit of only 10,000. .

At this moment, Asuna was lazily immersed in the soft chair, and she even wished she could sink into it. It seemed that she was really tired.

"All right?" Elizabeth asked worriedly.

"Oh, that little guy can really make trouble." Asuna said complaining, but her tone didn't sound like she was complaining, "This time the basket that was stabbed is so big."

"It's not the result of your indulgence." Elizabeth chuckled lightly, "You are his emperor, he is your pioneer knight, so in essence, you have the obligation to protect him. So even the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce The people of the Alliance should go to trouble him, and they should pass your level first. If it weren't for your deliberate negligence, how could they pass the Tonis Fortress."

"I'm just curious to what extent that little guy can do it." Asuna stuck out her tongue embarrassedly. Only then did she not look like a lord or a marquis, but rather like a Like a little girl who hasn't grown up, she has some innocence and playfulness.

"So see now?" Simi said without curiosity.

"I did see it." Asuna nodded, "But the price is a bit big. It's so big that I can't bear the pressure.... My father even wrote to ask about the details... "

"My Lord Duke?" At this moment, even Simi and Elizabeth were a little surprised.

As Asuna's true affiliation and best friend, no one knows the relationship between Asuna and her father Duke Roald better than them.

On the surface, Asuna seems to have separated from the family and formed a side branch family, and she has no contact with her family or even other Evans family members. But in fact,

Asuna and her father have always been in contact with each other, but this kind of contact is a very secret and in-depth communication. If it is not necessary, they will not even communicate, in order to avoid it. Attract the attention of interested people.

After all, since ancient times, the most feared of any emperor is to gain the master.

The two most outstanding generals in the Principality of Lane are from the Evans family, and they also guard the two most important gateways of the Principality. Therefore, if the imperial royal family is not to be jealous, it is of course impossible to be too intimate. Therefore, on the surface, the Marquis of Asuna ran out to experience and develop on his own because of the previous quarrel with the family. The whole family was cut off from justice.

But in fact, this trick was also passed on to Asuna by Duke Roald, in order to preserve the Evans family.

For so many years, Asuna and her father's letter exchanges have been pitiful, which also made the royal family of the Principality of Ryan very relieved. In order to maintain this illusion, correspondence has been completely suspended in recent years. But now, when the entire Principality's eyes were completely focused on Tonis Fortress, Duke Roald took the risk of sending someone a letter. This situation is very unusual.

"What did the Duke say?" Elizabeth asked.

"What else can I say?" Asuna sighed helplessly.

"Should I..." Simi's face became more surprised, "Is it also for Sean?"

Asuna nodded helplessly: "Strictly speaking, it is not my father, but a higher-level person."

"The royal family of the principality?" Elizabeth was a little surprised.

Asuna shook her head: "One level higher."

"A higher level?" Simi and Elizabeth looked at each other. After a while, Simi's face was no longer surprised, but shocked. At this time, Elizabeth had also reacted: "Could it be... the Millennium Covenant Empire? "

This time, Asuna's face looked a little solemn: "The Thousand-Year Covenant Empire suddenly went to the Principality of Ryan, and it was accompanied by the elite army of the Empire, which was less than thirty miles outside the Fortress of St. Drones. Stationed. My father has ordered someone to conduct a secret investigation. Not only does this army have all the logistics supplies, it even has siege equipment, which is completely a standard pattern that war is about to begin."

"War!?" Simi said with a look of horror, "What is the reason for the Millennium Covenant Empire to come?"

"It seems to be for the awakened person in Sean's realm." Asuna said solemnly, "They probably know something about Pandaling, so they are going to press Sean to ask him to hand it over. That bloodline awakener. But Sean is a pioneer knight under my command, so in fact he not only has to be protected by me, but I also have the right to order him to do something. Obviously, the Millennium Covenant Empire intends to put pressure on the royal family. , Let the royal family put pressure on me and let me negotiate with Sean."

"This....."

"This is the reason for my father's letter." Asuna said, "He specially reminded me to avoid getting involved as much as possible. In other words, my father intends to let me abandon Sean and let me never take shelter. Sean, so this time the people of the Millennium Covenant Empire are going to play for real. If I shelter Sean, then it is very likely that I will not only face the royal family of the Principality of Lane, but even the Millennium Covenant Empire."

Hearing this, Elizabeth and Simi had no idea what to say.

In this matter, they really can't say anything good, although from a personal perspective, Elizabeth definitely does not recommend Asuna to give up Sean, and Simi is because of the more in-depth exchanges with William, the same It is also not advocating to give up. As for Vivian, you can know the result without asking. However, if she advocates not to give up Sean, it means that Asuna needs to face great pressure, and may even pay a lot of heavy costs for this, and the situation will become very complicated at that time.

As Asuna's direct line, they are also her best friends. Of course, their reason is more inclined to think for the sake of Asuna. It is really difficult to make judgments only in terms of reason and personal subjective feelings, so the two of these people also fell into silence.

"Fortunately, this little guy has just made a major incident, and it can be delayed for a while." Asuna quickly changed to that smile and waved indifferently, "Now Void City has become an entire continent. The important focus of, even if the Millennium Covenant Empire and the royal family's envoys are now on their way to the fortress, they will certainly not make such a request at this time, because what I have to deal with now is from all over the mainland. Church envoys and people from the Chamber of Commerce Alliance, if they pressure me at this time, they will stand on the opposite side of the Chamber of Commerce Alliance and the major churches. Whether it is the Principality Royal Family or the Millennium Covenant Empire, it will certainly not be so stupid."

"But this is too long to buy a way." Elizabeth frowned and looked a little worried. "Everyone knows that people in the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Union can't be heretics. If they say that they are dealing with the devil, there is still Possibly, if there is a devil, it is a bit possible, but this time it is a demon...This kind of evil and chaotic creature has always only destroyed, so how can it be possible to negotiate a deal?"

"Furthermore, the reputation of heretics is absolutely unpleasant. The people in the Chamber of Commerce see very clearly that fame, fame, fame and fortune, fame and fortune first, and the reputation is ruined, who would dare to do business with them." Simi added, "So The end result is that the Chamber of Commerce Alliance has to cooperate with the church's investigation and suspend all commercial operations. However, this also gives the Chamber of Commerce Alliance a greater opportunity. They will definitely take the opportunity to carry out a major cleansing. More united."

"Anything that has advantages must have disadvantages." Asuna said, "Smart people know how to get more benefits for themselves in an advantageous environment, and smart people can even get more benefits for themselves in adversity. The guys in the Chamber of Commerce Alliance are all human beings. They know this very well. Maybe the top ten chambers of commerce would thank Sean for giving them this opportunity.... But no matter how you say it, it is still possible to delay the first half of the year."

"But what about after half a year?"

"After half a year...it depends on whether Sean has worked hard." Asuna said calmly, "If he works hard enough, then it can even be delayed for another one to two years. If he doesn't live up to it, even I Choosing to shelter him, the end result is that I will die together with him and you."

Hearing Asuna's words, Simi and Elizabeth immediately reacted. In the depths of Asuna's heart, he had never seen the grand blueprint of the "Horse-Drinking Wind God Lake" that Sean had painted for him. give up! If all goes well, if it is really possible to start a war with the Kingdom of Darbion in half a year, then once the war breaks out, Asuna will definitely postpone it until the end of the war on the grounds that it needs Sean, a pioneering knight.

And the longer the time is, then many situations will change accordingly. Although these factors are small, they will also change like a butterfly!

"But now, I have received news that the family of the chief of the Great Rift Valley is preparing to ambush Sean in the Great Rift Valley..." Elizabeth said.

It's just that before she finished speaking, Simi interrupted: "Don't underestimate William, this man is not easy. There were signs of large-scale military mobilization in Panda's leadership a few months ago. These troops All have gone deep into the Great Rift Valley of the Wildlands, so there shouldn't be much accidents."

"Even if there is an accident, don't be afraid." Asuna smiled, "Now it is impossible for Sean to die on the Chamber of Commerce Alliance and the Millennium Covenant Empire, so although the situation seems to be dead, there will always be Survival... However, they are just to ensure that Sean is not dead, but they will definitely find ways to weaken Sean's combat power, because only in this way will the success rate be greater when pressure is applied."

"That....."

"Vivian is already on the road."

Chapter 156: . Ambitions lurking in history

The history of the formation of the savage land begins at the end of the Ash Age.

As we all know, because of the war between humans and the gods at the end of the twilight age, the entire world was plunged into darkness. There was no sunlight and no night. It seemed that even the air was full of poisonous. The black soil that extended from this spread even more to the entire continent. In order to survive, people had to hide in the four holy places to survive this most difficult and dark period, and this time was the beginning of the Ash Age.

But where there are people, there will definitely be many problems. In the continuous disputes, a large part of humans and elves have left these four holy places, and with their own power, they have rebuilt two in this dark world. A new holy place. After losing the power bestowed by God, both humans and elves are clearly in a period of weakness, so the resistance to the construction of these two new holy places can be imagined.

But even so, they built it with their own perseverance. The sanctuary built only by relying on manpower, magic, and technology is still inferior to the four holy places left by the gods, but it is enough to live in this gloomy world.

These are the two famous holy places in the middle and late stages of the game.

The earthly ideal town. Utopia and the sanctuary of fairies. Avalon.

The former is the most beautiful sacred place in the minds of human beings. There is no war or dispute, and every human can live here happily and worry-free; while the latter is similar to the former, except that humans need to be replaced by elves. But the biggest difference between these two holy places is that after thousands of years of historical evolution, Utopia has long disappeared in all human memory. Even the ancient classics are completely undocumented, as if they were completely destroyed. Erased its traces; and Avalon, according to Sean's understanding, the name of this holy place does not disappear like a utopia. There is a hidden forbidden area in the Great Church Library of the Elf Kingdom, which is called the Holy Light. shadow.

There is only one book hidden in it, the taboo words of the gods. In this book, there is a detailed record about Avalon.

Of course, Avalon has nothing to do with the formation of the Wildlands. However, it has an indirect connection with Utopia-at the beginning, players "got" the taboo words of the gods, and obtained the mythical task of finding Avalon, which allowed all players to discover what was recorded in the original game data. The Six Sacred Lands are not just the background of the game, but a place that allows players to occupy and become a territory.

It is for this reason that the guild that Sean belongs to, Void Wings, will invest all resources to find it. And in the end they were lucky, because they did find Utopia-as Sean who once lived in Utopia, of course he knew the reason for the formation of the Wild Land.

In the later period of the establishment of Utopia, human greed and inferiority were finally expressed. In order to obtain more resources, the privileged class appeared again, and the entire Utopia fell into a disaster. And the result of this disaster was that the utopia sank to the ground and the people living here were displaced. Most of the people joined the two tribes closest to the utopia- these were the two of the seven most powerful empires that came after the millennium. The Covenant Empire and the Emilia Empire, and a few people, because of their disappointment with other humans, chose to continue eastward.

These few people are the ancestors of all the savages in the wild land today.

This is also the reason why two-thirds of the most powerful tribes in the Wildlands are controlled by savages. And because these people yearn for peace, they are extremely tolerant. Almost all people who fled here can get a living space, regardless of whether they are human or not, so over time, countless tribes have formed in the wild land.

Later, it was the people and other races who were supposed to live happily in the wild land because of the persecution of the millennium covenant empire, and they had to fight back. Perhaps it is the reason for the new hatred and the old hatred. As the ancestors of the barbarians who also came out of Utopia, their combat effectiveness is undoubted. Therefore, under the circumstances of many years of war, the wild land has also formed an extremely sturdy atmosphere of admiration of martial arts.

Finally, Sean is not very clear.

He only knew that the Millennium Covenant Empire later reached a certain agreement with the Wild Lands, and the two sides had ceased war for hundreds of years. The Millennium Covenant Empire also blocked the empire's road to the east for a long time. For a long time, the Oak Mountain Canyon of the Millennium Covenant Empire was a place full of unknown fear for the people of the empire. This situation continued until slavery arose across the continent, and then someone inadvertently broke into the world of the Wildlands, so that the Wildlands were once again exposed to the eyes of the whole world, and then there is now the Wildlands in the wild. Another name for the so-called "sea of wealth and power" among the slave hunters.

Listening to Xiao En's narration about the history and formation of the entire wild land, everyone's eyes showed a look of surprise.

Sean's voice is very calm and unhurried. Such a talk is undoubtedly a very plain thing, and it can even be said that there is no brilliance.

However, he can describe the whole process clearly and in a detailed and orderly manner: things like the four holy places of the end of the twilight age and the age of ashes, he simply mentions the connection between Avalon and Utopia. In sex, I also said a few words, but when describing utopia, it gives people a feeling of being on the spot. Then the conversation turned around and the civil strife that completely destroyed utopia was described vividly, but the most The sorrow and loneliness of leaving the homeland was taken with just one sentence, and then came the hard construction of the two empires and the barren land and the history of war.

This feeling is very subtle.

Obviously it sounds very plain, but it can rely on the legend and tension of the entire history to make everyone feel like they are in that chaotic and dark age, unable to extricate themselves for a long time.

"Crack".

The dead branches in the fire suddenly made a popping sound, awakening everyone who was still immersed in fantasy.

The night wind rustles, blowing in from the neck of everyone's cloak, bringing a burst of coolness.

Everyone realized that they had sweated a lot because they were nervous just now, and they looked a little sultry. Therefore, as soon as the night breeze blows, everyone feels unprecedented coolness, and there is an unprecedented sense of comfort in the body and mind.

"My lord, your profound knowledge really makes me feel humble." Andre sighed from the bottom of his heart, as if he was calming down his inner emotions, and then slowly said, "The vastness of the world and the splendor of history are really impressive. Unexpectedly... I started to regret that I hadn't studied for a few more years."

"Oriental?" Cecilia looked curious.

"No, South." Andre smiled, "Small country in the South, Rollo."

The knowledge penetration rate on the Continent of Miracles is not low. Basically, children in any country will begin to learn literacy when they are six years old, and then there will be some related knowledge teaching. Generally, this process will continue until the age of ten. Of course, the knowledge imparted in the past four years is of course impossible to be wiser. They are all very common things, just like preschool classes in China on the earth, as long as they pay very low fees.

is about one silver coin per month.

After the age of ten, if the child continues to study, the cost will be much higher, ranging from a few silver coins to hundreds of thousands of gold coins. Of course, not all countries on the mainland will do this. In the eastern countries of the mainland and some southern countries, there are even scholarships, tuition reductions and many other incentives to encourage the people to study.

Andre is the leader of a slave hunting team. Generally, if the family is not very poor, who will do this kind of blood licking? Therefore, when Andre said that he regretted not studying for a few years, they would naturally think that Andre was from the eastern countries of the mainland. This is not a shame, or it can be said that it is already an honor. Those countries that can reduce or exempt the country's citizens' learning expenses are indeed worthy of respect from many people.

Everyone did not continue to entangle Andre's question. Cecilia also turned her head to look at Sean, and then asked, "How do you know so much?... Are there really six holy places? Isn't there only four?"

The official information of the game is the six sacred sites, but as the two sacred sites built in the Ash Age, Utopia and Avalon are naturally unknown. At least it is not what these aborigines now know, so it is said to be the four holy places. As for the mysteries of the Holy Land, the seven empires have always spared no effort to explore and try to occupy the Holy Land. It is of course impossible for ordinary people to compete with such a behemoth as the empire.

The reason Sean knew about Utopia was that he would never forget the scene where Utopia was finally buried in flames.

"Dawn, dusk, and ashes are three ages, each of which has two holy sites. The first two holy sites were built by the gods. The two holy sites in the twilight era were built by humans under the guidance of the gods. Although it is certainly not as specific as the two holy sites built in the first place, they also have extremely powerful functions." Shaun said casually, "As for the two holy sites of the Ash Age, they were imitated by humans and elves with their own abilities. Of course, neither the scale nor the functions possessed by the holy places can compare to the four holy places, and because of certain taboos, it is of course impossible for these two holy places to spread."

Sean didn't say a word.

That is the reason why utopia is a human taboo, that is because civil strife is the greatest sin of mankind, and it is precisely because of this that it leads to the destruction of utopia. Officially, this holy place is called the "ideal town of the earth", but it is called "the birthplace of original sin" and the "initial point of disaster" in the player's mouth. Because in the game, a player has a good thing, and it is stated that it can be dropped, so of course there will be countless flies around.

But Sean believes that even in this real world, there will probably not be any changes.

Is it just that makes him shrink?

A fierce light flashed in Xiao En's eyes, and any enemy that blocked his advancement would be eliminated by him! Even the giant seven empires, or even the alliance of chambers of commerce that transcends constraints, will not be an exception!

At this moment, a rush of footsteps sounded, and everyone turned their heads to see that Rupi was quickly running towards them, with a bit of excitement on his face.

"My lord, the instructor has found the trail of the enemy, and..."

Chapter 157: .intelligence

The same night is different from the harmonious atmosphere where Shaun's camp is telling history.

This small camp, about a few hundred meters away from the camp of Xiao En and others, is cold and lonely.

There are not many people in the camp, only three people.

They did not have a bonfire. In this cold night and the environmental factors of the wild land, this is undoubtedly a behavior that is easy to catch cold. It's just that these few people didn't have the slightest resentment, but still cautiously lurked, only wearing a linen hooded cloak to keep warm.

Judging from the situation of these people lying on their stomachs, it is obvious that these three people are very good at stealth tracking.

So looking from a distance, the three of them are like rocks, without the slightest breath. Even if it is sensed by mental power detection or Qi machine lock, you will never find that someone is hiding here, unless you walk to the front and watch with the naked eye, otherwise no one will be able to find that this bird is not * Where, there will be three people lurking here like dead bodies, breathless.

I don't know how long it took before there was a sudden sound of footsteps in the distance.

Walking on the terrain of the Gobi, the footsteps have a very brisk rhythm, which sounds obviously not fast, or even far away, but only a dozen seconds later, there is already a figure lurking in it. In the sight of the three people here.

At this time, the right hands of the three people quietly moved, inserting the matte black dagger that they had held in their hands back into the sheath, and then the whole person slowly got up.

The actions of the three people are exactly the same. If the three people are overlapped, it is almost like the actions of one person.

There is no doubt that these are completely instinctive behaviors for these three people.

In this way, the identities of these three people are not difficult to guess.

is either an assassin or a lurker.

"You are seven seconds late." After seeing someone coming, the middle person lurking here spoke.

The voice is crisp and cold, but what really surprises people is that this man is a woman.

It's surprising enough that a woman appears in a place like the Wildlands. But this woman can actually endure the cold night wind and the environment of the wild land, just lying here like a dead body or a stone, without any movement, this is definitely not something that an ordinary woman can do. At least, there is absolutely no one who can do this by Sean's side, whether it is Cecilia or Rena.

"I'm sorry, my lord." Hearing this woman's questioning, someone immediately knelt on the ground in horror, "Because I watched for a few more seconds, so I came back a little late, please forgive me."

"Any clues?" The woman asked in a deep voice.

"According to my current observations, the other party should also have a shrewd and superb scout." The man kneeling on the ground immediately replied, "Because they have discovered the trap we set in front, so the other party has Stopped and continued to move forward, but hung here to camp.... I'm sorry to say, sir, our ambush plan may not be realized."

"How sure are you?" The woman asked a question that seemed irrelevant.

The man hesitated for a while, and then replied: "At least 70%."

The woman is very aware of how proud and cautious these subordinates trained by her are. For people like them, they have never been 100% sure. Generally, they dare to take risks with only 50% assurance, and often the highest assurance is 80%. That's all, the number "nine" will only be said in rare cases. At this moment, these people can answer with 70% certainty, which is equivalent to showing that her ambush plan has completely failed. Maybe it is only because of her own face problems, so she said 70%. If you change to another commander , I'm afraid it's not 70% but 80% or 90%.

"You go and let all the people in the ambush ring evacuate, but all the furnishings of the ambush ring are the same as before, and there is no need to destroy and recycle.... Let everyone return to the camp first to gather" The woman thought for a while, turned her head and said to another man , The man nodded and left immediately, walking very cleanly, giving a sense of competence.

After this person left, the woman thought a little bit, then turned her head and said, "How feasible do you think the storm is?"

"The chance of victory is less than 30%." The man said after a moment of silence again, "We can only get close to the opponent's 100 meters at most. This is still in the leeward environment. Because the opponent's team has more than Werewolves and goblins, if they move a little bit more, they will be spotted immediately..."

This statement is actually relatively conservative.

Women know very well that if there are goblins and werewolves, the possibility of sneak attacks or surprise attacks is indeed not high, but it is not only 30%. Because even if sneak attacks and surprise attacks are not successful, they can rely on this to change into a close-range charge, and have a face-to-face meat grinder war with the opponent. This woman is convinced that if it is a frontal battle, with her troops and troops With their quality and strength, they can definitely outperform each other easily.

Because according to intelligence, the other party only has more than 400 people, but they have a total of 3,000 people!

So the woman knows that her subordinate must have nothing to say.

"I have carefully observed the opposing force. Obviously, they should be two completely different units." Sure enough, the man quickly continued to explain, "In addition to a heavy infantry unit with a number of about 100 people, there is also one. There is an elite force of about three hundred people.... My lord, this is a true elite. Through the movement of the opponent's marching, discipline, and rest conditions these days, this force gives me the feeling, Not worse than the thorns."

This time, a strange color flashed in the hot eyes of the woman.

The Bar of Thorns is the strongest unit in the family of this woman's allegiance. Although the number is less than a thousand, it is a truly elite unit, and its training method is absolutely comparable to the king's army of the kingdom. If Sean is allowed to understand, then he will soon discover that the Bar of Thorns is a quasi-fifth-level force that surpasses most fourth-level troops, and its combat effectiveness cannot be underestimated.

Of course, the Cecilia Guards will certainly not be a quasi-level five unit. This man said that it was just that the pressure brought by Clover and others was too great.

But neither the woman nor his subordinates know these truths, so when they hear the metaphor of the thorns, the woman will naturally be surprised. She found that the young master she was loyal to was too underestimating the lord Sean Connery, and he also knew that the fall of Billy and Silver was definitely not injustice, and was under siege by a force comparable to the Bar of Thorns. , I am afraid that even she would have to pay a heavy price to escape.

This woman is naturally a wolf with the same name as Silver.

Eagle, wolf, and silver, these three naturally have their own outstanding strengths and abilities.

Eagle is very good at pursuing, especially in investigation and intelligence collection. She has extremely good advantages and is also the first person to follow the young master. As for the wolf, although she is not good at chasing, she is very good at attacking and formulating various ambush plans. Even if the person she targets is not dead, she will peel off; as for silver, she is naturally best at attacking fortifications in front of almost all wars. Silver is responsible for the more difficult bones.

The three of them all have the life paper in their owner's place. Once they fall, the associated life paper will be burned. It was precisely because of the burning of the silver sheet of life that the wolf knew that something had happened to the silver, and because of this incident, the young master he was loyal to was completely crazy. Otherwise, he would not conceal the situation in the family and put all his private forces here.

Although the eagle and the wolf have been dissuaded, it is a pity that it has no effect.

So as a last resort, the eagle and the wolf can only work together. The eagle is responsible for intelligence collection, and the wolf led the attack. Moreover, this battle is still only possible to win, not to lose, and the worst thing to do is to eliminate the forces that Sean currently holds, otherwise they know that their master will probably lose the candidacy of the family heir. It is precisely because of the Eagle's intelligence collection that the wolf can set up an ambush ring here at this moment-and in fact, her initial order is only to respond to and support the silver, rather than preparing to fight with Sean.

At this moment, the wolf did not know that it was not the Cecilia Guards who killed Silver and Billy, but Shaun.

"Where is the cavalry unit that belongs to Sean?"

"We are currently competing with the three tribes in the east, but it is only a matter of time before we break through the blockade to support Sir Connery." The man continued, "Three days at the earliest and five days at the latest. The enemy to face will be a complete organization that surges to nearly a thousand people, and even has cavalry in long-range and close combat."

Hawk's eyes showed a bit of hesitation: "So have you contacted other tribes?"

"Contacted, but there is only one tribe willing to support." The man replied, "The other four tribes refused to cooperate.... They are from the Chamber of Commerce Alliance and do not belong to us, and the infiltration work is also carried out. very difficult."

"Damn it!" The wolf quickly cursed, and the whole person seemed a little impatient, "Did the eagle send any new news?"

"No, my lord." This time it was another man standing beside the wolf.

"I'll go back to the camp first. You continue to watch the movements of Sean and others. You will immediately contact the tribe and join us as soon as possible." The wolf thought about it, and found that many methods could not be used, so he had to do it. Prepared to temporarily stop the action, "We must act within three days, otherwise we really have nothing to do after the crazy woman named Rina and Sean meet."

"Yes!" After the two wolves nodded their heads, they immediately dispersed, and the wolves quickly left the place.

But what they didn't know was that just after the three of them left, a bunker suddenly cracked in a place not far from where they were standing, and then a pair of bright eyes opened. After climbing out of the bunker, the man immediately raised his head and made a wolf howl, and after a short while, several people rushed there, including Yim and Lui and several other werewolves, and this one came out of the bunker. The werewolf also quickly told what he had heard.

Just after a moment of indulgence, Yim already made a decision: "Rupi, you immediately go back and inform the lord, and report these things to the lord.... You two follow up and check where the enemy's camp is. Remember to be cautious. , Anyway, you can tell by the smell, and don't let that woman find you. And I will stare at the movement of the tribe.... When the time comes, the lord will tell us immediately if he has any instructions."

"Yes!" Rupi nodded.

Then soon, Yim, Lubi and others also dispersed immediately, and left in three directions as well.

Chapter 158: . Shaun's Counterattack

"So, it is not the union of all the trading points in the Great Rift Valley that is here to ambush us this time?" Sean quickly heard the rupees report, and his face was a little bit happy.

This news is really a rare good news for him.

After all, at the beginning, Sean's assumption was that eleven tribes would unite to deal with him. This was a completely unsolvable situation. Unless Sean pulls all the troops and the strong in the entire territory, he may be able to fight all the trade points in the Great Rift Valley-it is precisely because of accidental discovery that Sean has discovered that there is a big rift now. The valley area is indeed not a territory that he can swallow.

What's more, there is still a war on the Darbion Kingdom, and it is impossible for Sean to put all his troops here.

So Sean knew that if he did not return for a long time, William would definitely be alert and would definitely find a way to find himself. Therefore, after discovering the enemy's conspiracy, he immediately adopted a standby policy of unchanging response to changes. After all, as long as he takes the enemy around in the wild, it is definitely not an easy task even if the enemy wants to kill them. .

"My lord, what should we do now?" Andre asked.

Everyone's eyes immediately focused on Sean.

"By the way, you said that Rena also led a cavalry unit into the Great Rift Valley, but the forces combined with the three trade points are currently entangled?" Sean pondered for a while, did not answer Andre's question, and Turning his head to look at Rupiah, he asked.

"Yes." Ruby was stunned for a moment. He didn't quite understand why Sean asked this, but he answered quickly.

"The other party said that Rena will meet with us in three days at the earliest, and five days at the latest." Sean pondered for a moment and said to himself, "In other words, that's the other three. The line of defense united by the Trade Point simply cannot stop Rina. Even if they want to fight Rina, they will never have this chance. Moreover, the other party is very concerned about the reunion of us and Rina..."

"This shows that the opponent's strength or overall combat strength is definitely not as high as we thought!" Cecilia immediately reacted, "After a line of defense is deployed, it will evolve into a positional warfare style. But for the cavalry unit In other words, fighting fortified positions is not what they are good at, so Miss Rena will definitely take a breakout method, and there may be reductions and losses in troop strength, but this can also avoid the possibility of continuing to entangle and fight hard."

Hearing Cecilia's words, Sean also reacted immediately: "The deployed defense line wants to immediately give up and reinvest in the pursuit. This requires a relatively long reaction time. That is to say, the forces of these three trade points are in Switzerland. After Na breaks through, she can't do anything in a short time.... But there will be a gold-level powerhouse in the trade point, and three gold-level powerhouses will join forces and dare not force Rena to stay. This is very difficult. Explain the problem."

Like Clover and his Cecilia Guards regiment, there are capitals that threaten two lower gold powerhouses, even in the face of the attack of three lower gold powerhouses, Clover also said that if they were to fight it out The entire corps, even at the price of his serious injuries, could at least cause one death and one serious injury. Unless it is true to the point of life and death, there is no reason why a lower-level golden powerhouse is so desperate.

Then the three low-level gold powerhouses did not dare to force Rena to stay, which can explain a problem.

Rena either breaks through the restrictions of the Paladins and enters the lower level golden realm, or her cavalry unit has a fighting power that is not inferior to the Cecilia Guards.

And when he thought of this, Sean's face was filled with joy. He certainly hopes that Rina's cavalry unit will become the second Tier 4 army in his territory, because in this way, in the upcoming war against the Kingdom of Darbion, he will naturally be able to exert extremely powerful combat effectiveness, but Sean is very Clearly, this is a pipe dream. If the fourth-level army is really so well trained, there will not be so few elite troops above the fourth-level in the world.

So the only explanation is that Rena has broken through the limit and became a strong player in the lower level of gold!

With the special transfer situation of the Paladins, even if it is facing two low-ranking golden powerhouses, as long as it is not a special rank transfer, then it is not impossible to pick two. And if in a cavalry unit, even if it is only a light cavalry unit, it is not impossible for Rena to play a group of people to besiege the three or even threaten their lives. Of course, she wants to make the three lower golds stronger. It is absolutely impossible to kill all the players, but it is not impossible to leave one and defeat the other two.

Want to understand this, Sean's face showed excitement.

Obviously, Cecilia and others also thought of this. The faces of a group of people immediately showed surprises, which means that as long as they meet with Rena, the combat effectiveness of the entire army will immediately soar. . At that time, even if there are eight low-level gold powerhouses, there will be no way to deal with the situation. At the very least, it is not a problem to keep the people in the core circle from death, although the army's downsizing may be more serious.

"Did William give you anything?" Sean turned his head and looked at Clover, the excitement on his face because Rena successfully stepped into the lower golden realm has not subsided.

Holy spear, holy sword, holy bow, no one knows the meaning of these three rank six knight professions better than Sean.

If there is no accident, Judging by Rena's ignorance of magic, the two most likely ranks of Tier 7 knights for her to work are mad war knights or armed knights. No matter which of these two professions, it was originally known as the No. 1 profession in horse warfare in the game. Like the legendary hero of Altria, he was a holy sword knight of Tier 6, and an armed knight of Tier 7. Later, he embarked on the road of the knight king and became the first knight king in the game.

Even though it is an NPC, the fighting power is tyrannical. It is truly a terrible existence where one person can single out a group of twenty-five members.

Clover couldn't understand Sean's excitement and enthusiasm, but he still understood Sean's words: "Yes, gave me this."

Soon, Clover came up with a gadget that resembled a metal pin.

Cecilia only took a look, and she recognized it. This is a magic signal receiver. After designing a unique band frequency and magic encryption information, it will become a fixed-point coordinate. Through this kind of thing, you can quickly find a companion with the same magic signal receiving instrument. Of course, the biggest flaw of this thing is that it has Range limit, it is said that the limit distance is generally within 100 kilometers.

If this thing has not been specially treated, then it means that Rena is only a hundred kilometers away from where they are waiting.

"It looks like our territory is in great trouble." Xiao En said suddenly.

Before everyone knew what was going on, Sean immediately said: "This thing can work, so it means that the magic communication that Andrew gave me cannot be broken, but no matter how I contact William and Neal recently, They can't be contacted, so it means that it's not that they didn't receive my communication request, but because of the environment or other external factors, they couldn't contact us."

If William and others heard about Sean, they would be amazed by Sean's keen intuition, because the facts are indeed not far from what Sean had guessed. At present, the entire Void City is in a state of shock. After all, when the devil and the heretics are involved, the consequences are not something ordinary people can bear. Fortunately, the goddess of ice and winter, Aswinter, was on Sean's side, otherwise Neil would really not dare to play such a big handwriting.

There is an undead king and a great demon king hidden in the void city. No matter how you look at it, this is something that is enough to panic the world. What's more, there are still priests and church knights from four different churches gathered here. They are trying to restore some of the battlefield conditions at that time, but it is a pity that this approach is estimated to be futile.

"Everyone packs things immediately, we are ready to set off." Sean glanced at the sky, the sky was about to turn white, which meant that it would soon be completely dawn.

After hearing Sean's instructions, everyone immediately began to pack up and set off.

Whether it is Clover's Cecilia guards, bears, northern barbarians, or even members of Andre's slave hunting team, everything is ready soon. From this point of view of efficiency, it is not false that Sean's team is all elite, at least a bit faster than the average regular army.

"Shall we go to meet Rina now?" Cecilia asked.

"No." Sean shook his head, then turned to look at Rupi, "Rupi, can you find Yim's trace now?"

"Contact the tutor? That's okay." Although Rupī was a little confused, he nodded quickly and said that there was no problem.

In fact, whether it is Yim, Ruby, or the werewolves who go to track the eagle, they will leave corresponding marks along the way to mark their direction. And no matter which of them they are looking for, as long as they follow the mark, there is no problem, so this is naturally not a difficult task.

But when he heard Sean's request, everyone including Clover immediately reacted, and Clover frowned and said in a deep voice, "I don't agree."

"Do you know what I'm going to say?" Sean raised his eyebrows.

"Huh." Clough snorted coldly, "I think we should meet Rena now and leave here as soon as possible. I can't put your Highness in danger, your actions are too dangerous!"

"What do you know." Sean sneered with disdain. "We are now meeting with Rena, and then we are going to attack the opponent's line of defense? ... The most clear way we can do now is to first make the team that is about to fight the enemy. The trade point troops that the large forces converged were annihilated! In this way, Rena should have broken through the defense line of the position and joined us, and the opponent will definitely re-adjust the formation to abandon the position war in order to pursue it. At this time, we can turn back. Kill the opponent by surprise, and easily break through and leave."

"So what about the opposing force?"

"The other party is scrupulous about our reunion with Rena, so they will definitely find a way to stop us, if the other party dares to send out...hehe." Xiao En sneered, "Who has any opinions now? If not, we will set off immediately, I don't want to go anymore. I wasted a minute and a second!"

Chapter 159: . Assault (seeking a monthly pass on the last day!)

The sky began to darken.

The sun has gradually sunk below the horizon, as if people who have been on the run for a day are finally going back to rest. When the bright red silhouette finally disappeared at one end of the horizon with the energetic heat, the last trace of crimson light finally completely disappeared from everyone's vision.

Night has come.

A troop that has marched in a hurry for a whole day can finally stop and rest.

On this day's road, they went forward for a total of twelve hours, and only stopped and rested twice in the middle, each for two hours. Even the ace army of the fifth-level troops will feel overwhelmed by this rapid marching method, let alone such an armed force with less than 300 people. In essence, they are not even an army. regular army.

But I don't know for what reason, such violent consumption, this army has no complaints or other noises, but has been silently enduring it. Of course, when it's time to rest, there will be large tracts of people who fall down immediately. They will start to sleep deeply after a simple meal and a drink of water, and there is no arrangement for the two-hour rest time. The guards, if this is really during the war, this unit might not know how many times it will be wiped out.

But anyway, this unit really ushered in the night safely, and finally got a real rest time.

Only this time, triumphant laughter, helpless grumbles, curses, etc. soon sounded.

Obviously, when camping at night, this unit still arranged a night watch.

Temporary camp, and it is not a regular army camp. Of course, there will be no fences and horse-rejecting things, and even logistics and cooking are impossible. However, there were 30 or 40 bonfires in this camp very quickly, and there were two or three people sitting nearby. Many people might even reach the scale of a dozen or twenty people, or two or three people when they were few.

These people also eat dry food, and there is no extra meal.

It seems that because of the dull and murderous atmosphere that the Great Rift Valley now exudes, all the wild creatures dare not come out and wander.

This seemingly normal situation only lasted for a while, and then everyone started to disperse. They took torches and started to bake the ground. They even dug a shallow pit and started burying some charcoal fires. When the temperature was almost the same, they used it. The sand is covered, not stepped on, just a thin layer and the fire is extinguished. Immediately afterwards, people who could rest and sleep quickly lay on it. There was no sleeping bag or quilt. Everyone was wearing that cloak, and weapons were prevented from being the closest to him.

Looking at the level of sophistication of these people, they are definitely not new recruits who don't know anything. It is very likely that the commander who led this unit did not take this unit out for field training.

Soon, the night became more gloomy and the wind seemed to be a lot bigger.

In a blink of an eye, the night watch guards of this unit had already changed a group, and it turned out that it was late at night.

At this moment, a black shadow surged about hundreds of meters away from this unit.

This dark shadow is actually the same person wearing a hooded cloak, and their number is not large, only about twenty. However, everyone exudes a very unique and sturdy aura. These auras make it difficult for them to fully integrate into the real dark environment. If there are experts who are good at lurking or investigating, they will definitely be there. The first time I found the strange atmosphere condensed here.

But it's a pity that the camp that is hundreds of meters away does not seem to have special talents in this area, so no strangeness here is found.

There is no doubt that these people lurking here are naturally the people under the command of Sean.

Among them are Yim, Rupi and several werewolves, and even Sean takes the shot himself. The others are from Clover's subordinates. They are all soldiers who are good at fighting. They have also participated in some sneak attack tactics, but they are not professional personnel after all, and Cecilia under Clover's The Guards had a very strong  aura and killing intent, so when they gathered together, this aura could not be suppressed even if they wanted to be suppressed.

"Does everyone understand their goals?" Shaun asked at last.

No one answered, but everyone nodded to express their understanding.

So, Sean stopped saying anything, just waved his hand gently, and made an offensive gesture.

Then the next second, the twenty or so people who were still gathered together quickly dispersed, and then formed a large encirclement, and began to slowly approach the enemy in this camp. This time, because everyone was slightly dispersed, the strong blood and killing intent became very weak invisibly. Even if there are experts who are good at lurking or investigating, if they do not deliberately investigate and judge, they will definitely Undiscoverable point.

In fact, soon after the sky turned white, Xiao En and others had found Yimu.

At this time, Yimu also happened to touch the trace of the troop that had never known which trade point came out. Under Yim's stalking, I naturally saw the subordinate who was assigned by the eagle to lead the way and this unit mixed together, so the following situation naturally left a mark while following up, but Im didn't have it. What I thought was that this force immediately became a rush march after meeting with the eagle's subordinates.

According to Yim's guess, they will meet with Eagle's army at most one and a half days later, which makes Yim feel a little nervous and at a loss.

If they go back to Sean to report the news at this time, they will undoubtedly lose the team, but they continue to follow this team but cannot warn Sean and others about the situation here. And just when Yim was a little at a loss, Ruby had brought Sean and others to find it, which made Yim quickly relieved, because then he didn't need to worry about those problems. , Directly report the intelligence to Sean.

After hearing this, Sean only hesitated for a few seconds before deciding to change the raid plan to late at night.

He knows very well what kind of results a low-quality army will have after a rush march-it must be good to eat, and sleep is particularly fulfilling. At this moment, there are still people who are responsible for the night watch, and although some of these people are dozing off, and some are confused and don't know what they are doing, they still prove that the consciousness and response of this unit are okay. If you train for a long time, It is not impossible to become a regular army.

However, this matter will soon become impossible.

Because at the same time that Sean and others secretly approached this unit, the Cecilia Guards also dispersed into two arrows and followed them and gradually approached. Because the opponent's number was less than 300, Sean did not let Steel Wings and Bears also conduct assault operations. After all, these two groups belong to the category of heavy troops. It is too difficult for them to carry out assaults. So Sean asked them to stay to protect Cecilia.

After all, with the combat power and military quality of the Cecilia Guards and the number of people, they have been properly able to suppress this force.

Especially, the Cecilia Guards is still an all-terrain adapted infantry unit that can be used for both range and close combat—in fact, the only pity that Sean feels is that this unit does not have cavalry. But at this point, Clover once again held the opposite attitude and opinion with Sean, because in his opinion, to protect Cecilia, there is no need for cavalry at all. Cavalry may be very useful on the battlefield, but this is an offense after all. Arms are not suitable for protecting people.

It is not difficult to see from this that a true elite force has been positioned extremely accurately from the beginning.

At this moment, in front of Sean, there is an armed soldier who is somewhat sleepy.

He is wearing simple leather armor and holding a spear in his hand. This spear is not even made of iron, but a thick piece of wood with an iron spear head. The gun body has not even been finely ground, even in the dark environment, Sean can still see the roughness of the gun body and the wear and corners of the gun head. Sean even doubts whether this long gun is still sharp. It can really pierce the enemy's body.

Actually, Sean didn't know that not everyone would invest in armed soldiers as crazy as him.

Most of the private soldiers raised by lords are basically equipped with the most common equipment. Even if the equipment is dropped in the game, no player will pick it up, and there are only a few more powerful bosses. Soldiers may be equipped with better equipment, but most of them are sophisticated. It's like Sean, who are basically equipped with sophisticated equipment. There may even be high-quality equipment at the captain level in the army, and some of the more core units-such as the bears and northern barbarians brought out this time, as well as Sisi. The Leah Guards and the jet-black wing units that had been wiped out were directly equipped with high-quality equipment.

But anyway, for Xiao En, the worse the opponent's equipment, the easier it is to implement his plan.

Soon, Sean was already close to the soldier's back, but this hapless guy didn't know the arrival of Death.

Shaun didn't do it immediately, but glanced around at the surroundings.

These people in charge of night watch guards have a very fatal flaw. Although they are very close to other people and around the camp, these night watchers do not form a line of sight coverage—the so-called man-to-man. Generally, the person in charge of the night watch will stare at an area where he can see other companions responsible for the night watch, and he himself is also in the field of vision of other companions, and there will even be patrolling companions in the camp, only Only in this way can we avoid being touched by Sean and others right now.

If William were here, Sean believed that he would sneer disdainfully: "What a bunch of unprofessional guys."

And this kind of unprofessionalism will soon have to pay an extremely heavy price!

Almost at the same time, all those responsible for solving the night watch pierced their weapons into the body of the night watch.

In an instant, a series of screams suddenly sounded!

But what is even more desperate is that fewer than fifty soldiers were awakened by this scream, and most of them are still sleeping in their dreams!

"Who!" A roar like a lion sounded immediately after the screams of these night watchmen.

After this roar, more people finally woke up.

But, it's too late!

Hundreds of feather arrows have fallen towards the middle of the camp with a howling sound. In the outer periphery, the soldiers of the Cecilia Guards had already rushed toward the camp with weapons in their hands and screamed.

actually launched an assault directly!

Looking at the scene that happened suddenly, the man who roared like a lion immediately became more furious, roaring and lifting the spear while also shouting loudly. At this time, all the troops in the entire camp immediately knew that they had been attacked, and immediately picked up their weapons, but they hadn't taken any action yet, and the outermost soldiers had been directly beheaded by the soldiers of the Cecilia Guards. , And the soldiers in the innermost circle faced the test of the arrow rain at the same time.

is just a wave of action attacks, and this force of less than 300 people immediately suffered heavy losses.

And even more desperate, Sean has single-handedly found the enemy commander with a lion-like voice.

At this moment, Xiao En's body flashed three times in succession.

Ice Armor Technique, Ice Aura, and Ice Flame Art have all been applied to Sean's body, raising his combat power to another level abruptly!

Chapter 160: .weakness

Shaun's momentum is so fierce and swift that he feels like an army is charging.

A few armed soldiers subconsciously stepped forward to stop Xiao En's impulse.

But when they almost moved slightly, they couldn't help but feel a dreadful chill, and their bodies shuddered involuntarily. It seemed that the blood in their bodies was frozen by ice, and everyone's movements were immediately slowed down. One shot.

It was this slow shot, and Sean rushed out of the defensive circle they were trying to blockade without hesitation, and killed the trade chief in the center of the camp.

The rain of arrows no longer falls, but the sound of killing like a mountain whistling a tsunami is suddenly higher.

Under the background of this environment, it virtually adds a bit of shocking aura to Sean's unrelenting aura.

Trade Chief Burair opened his eyes wide, and let out a more violent roar, his eyes became red. He was originally over 1.9 meters tall, his muscles bulged, and he felt like the kongwu and fierce Indians of the White Ice Demon Bear. However, after he let out a roar at the moment, he was abruptly on his body. All the leather armors were broken, and the whole person seemed to lift up more than a circle, and he could even clearly see the cyan meridians emerging under his muscles. The feeling of knotty became even more hideous and terrifying.

If painted with green dye, this is a real Hulk transformed.

When was ten meters apart, Sean's pupils suddenly shrank.

Frenzy.

This guy in front of me is definitely a Berserker profession, and he is very lucky to have mastered the essence of this profession, maybe even the Nordic blood!

"Drink!"

Burrell yelled again. He seemed to be unable to wait for a distance of ten meters, just a few steps, and with the slight vibration from the ground, the distance between him and Sean was shortened to less than three meters— —During this process, Sean's unreserved charge certainly played a positive role, but in any case, the distance between the two is no longer a safe distance, but a counterpoint to Sean. Very unfavorable distance.

Because Burair uses long weapons!

"Huh!"

The spear in Burair's hand, like the black tree demon python in the Verdant Demon Forest, slammed out without warning.

Because the speed is too fast and the strength is too strong, the gun head of the long gun and even the small half of the gun body connected to the gun head emits orange-red light, and the air is even distorted due to the high temperature. There is a burnt smell.

Such an attack without warning was indeed beyond Sean's expectations.

In previous battles, Sean's best advantage is his strong perception and amazing combat awareness and experience. However, at this moment, Sean's perception did not give the slightest warning. Even after the shot was stabbed, Sean did not notice which part of him the other party was stabbing. It seemed that his body was completely exposed. Under the stabbing of this gun!

This opponent is stronger than Billy!

Sean had this kind of enlightenment almost at this moment. But because his momentum was so fast that he couldn't immediately stop at this moment, so facing the shot of Burair, Sean felt like he was looking for death. Hit the spear.

The distance of two meters is not within the range of Requiem's attack.

Xiao En gritted his teeth, forcibly raised his hand and used the sword edge of the long sword in his hand to try to block Burair's shot. Fortunately, when Sean started to charge, he immediately activated the light body technique and adrenal stimulation, so at this moment, he can easily see where the gun is almost completely invisible in the eyes of others. .

But when the front of the blade just touched the tip of the spear, a powerful force burst out from the spear, and it effortlessly shook Shaun's long sword away, even Shaun's right hand. He felt numb for a while, so that he didn't notice that the tiger's mouth on Sean's right hand was shattered-the slight tearing sensation had been completely suppressed by the numbness of his right hand.

After this shot, Sean's original rapid speed was naturally inevitably suppressed. Of course, it is even more inevitable that because the right hand was completely shaken, Sean's whole body was completely exposed in front of Burrell. He was already completely unable to resist. In addition to the situation of Sean's right hand, he faced him. With this shot that Lyle continued to take advantage of, Sean had completely lost his defensive ability.

A cruel look flashed in Burair's eyes.

The spear slammed into Sean's chest!

But soon, Burrell's eyes changed.

Because of his shot, it only pierced Sean an inch in front of his chest, and he could no longer pierce it, as if something was blocking his offensive here. Immediately afterwards, Burrell saw that the inch of air in front of Sean suddenly spread with many cracks, like cracked ice. But the weird thing is that this broken ice pattern does not spread like a spider web, because whether it is Burair or Sean, it is obvious that the air at the point where the gun penetrated is actually strange. A shallow pit appeared.

It seems that even the air is sunken.

But Sean knew that Burrell's straight spear stabbed even the ice armor and collapsed!

Originally, the ice armor strengthened the player's physical defense capabilities in the game, but in this real world, it can greatly enhance the survivability of the blessed person, because many physical attacks can be blocked. It will endanger the life of the blessed person. However, every time an attack is received, the magical brilliance of the ice armor will be weakened once. Of course, the ice armor blessed by Dini is not as good as Xuefanio, but it can resist five or six physical means. Attack, but it's okay.

But now, Burrell has completely destroyed the magical technique of ice armor with just one shot!

Time, it seems that only a second has passed, but in this process, it seems that it has been extended to a feeling of tens or hundreds of years due to the passing of consciousness.

The next moment, Xiao En flew out, knocked over two or three armed soldiers one after another, and then rolled half a circle on the ground before finally stopping the powerful force penetrating from the spear. When Xiao En barely got up from the ground, he felt a sharp pain in his chest and lungs, and there was a smell of sweetness in his throat, and he couldn't help but vomit a mouthful of blood.

But after the blood came out, Xiao En felt a refreshing feeling, as if the suffocating air in his chest was also vomiting out.

But when he stood up and looked at Burair again, his eyes had completely changed.

He didn't expect that the trade chief's power value would be so high, and he had completely crushed himself.

Only one match, Sean doesn't even need to know the opponent's name and data, he has basically guessed the opponent's main attribute data.

This is the advantage that experienced players have.

In melee players, the general power value is not too different from each other. When the two are entangled together, a series of judgments will be produced. Like Sean just swinging a sword to try to block Bur Air's attack, if the power gap between the two parties is not particularly large, they will enter the "unloading", and the data judgment in this state is based on the sum of the strength and endurance of both parties as the standard. Only if the sum of these two data exceeds the opponent, a situation similar to the success of the block will occur, and the opponent's attack will successfully deviate from the original trajectory.

In addition to unloading power, also blocking and wrestling are also judged by entanglement.

These three condition judgments are all based on strength.

But only in one situation, will the situation be invalidated without the need for judgment.

That is rolling.

The so-called crush, the most intuitive way to say, is to double the opponent's power value.

In other words, when Burair had activated his frenzied state, his power value had already exceeded one hundred and eighty-two points!

This is definitely an extremely scary data!

But apart from this point, Burair has no other advantages, because while activating frenzied, the endurance value will be reduced by about 30 points. And looking at Burair's situation just now, it is obvious that agility is not his advantage. Sean estimates that Burair's agility should not exceed sixty points, and at the moment in a frenzied state, his endurance is probably only 30 to 30. Between forty o'clock.

But Sean, maybe his strength will be completely crushed and suppressed in the face of Burair, but his agility value is as high as 200 points at the moment, his endurance is also 73 points, and his strength is also 91 points. The balance of these data The support allows Sean to have no particularly obvious weakness. He is much stronger than Burair in the protracted battle, and the situation brought about by his high agility also gives Sean an amazing dynamic vision and sensitivity.

Shaun felt that he might be able to win this battle without even using the assassin of Requiem.

Of course, the premise is that he can no longer be crushed by Burair, otherwise he is likely to die because of such a mistake. No one knows better than Sean the horror of the crushing effect. If you replace him with an experienced and veteran player, Sean knows that the crushing effect that broke out at that moment will likely destroy him. It was emptied of blood, instead of not even having a crippling effect like now.

And this is why Sean looks so relaxed after standing up at the moment.

Now that he knew the opponent's weakness, it was natural that Sean could not continue to be beaten, and he had already completely adjusted his next combat strategy.

But at this moment, he heard Burrell speak.
