

Lord of War Vol 2-161

Chapter 161: .Kill gold with silver again

Bairair is indeed as well as Sean guessed, indeed with Nordic blood.

This is a silver bloodline, but it also belongs to the higher grade in the silver bloodline-the highest increase of the silver bloodline is an increase of 30 points in the total attribute, and the Nordic bloodline is one of the few that can increase the attribute by 30 points. Bloodline. But in fact, in the eyes of players, this bloodline is more precious and powerful than many golden bloodlines, because the 30-point attribute added to this bloodline is all power! Unlike other bloodlines, the attributes are evenly distributed to different attributes.

Like Cecilia's Phoenix bloodline, although a total of 70 bloodlines have been added, it is allocated to the four attributes of endurance, agility, wisdom, and will, and the highest individual attribute is only 20.

But having blood is one thing, whether it can activate blood is another matter.

Bloodline power, if it is not in the manifestation stage, this attribute increase will not appear.

Undoubtedly, Burair's Nordic bloodline is in the manifestation stage, which is why Burair is so powerful in strength.

At this moment, Burair was standing ten meters away in front of Sean. Because of the frenzied blessing effect, his size was huge for a full circle, already more than two meters. He is standing here, his body erupts with a strong momentum, full of a flamboyant and fanatical aura. It doesn't feel like a mountain, but an active volcano. Whenever this volcano erupts, anyone in the range of a volcano. Everyone inside will die.

However, looking at Burair, who was burly and full of explosive muscles, Sean laughed, smiling so relaxed and comfortable. Although he was full of dust because he had rolled on the ground just now, the feeling that Sean stood here to the people around him was not embarrassment, but a kind of confident confidence.

Gradually, the two parties who were fighting fiercely on the battlefield quickly and involuntarily chose to stay away from these two people.

Clover also knows that Bur Air, who looks like a giant, is very difficult to deal with. Of course, he doesn't think he and his soldiers can't solve this person. Even without Sean, he can wipe it out with the advantage of the army. This force and this strong man is probably the next golden pinnacle. But Clover knew that if that was the case, there would probably be fewer than two hundred soldiers who survived the battle, so at this moment, Sean was willing to face this strong man, and Clover would of course be very happy.

In Clover's personal perception anyway, he wished that Sean was dead.

So even though the fight on the battlefield was fierce, he controlled the situation very well and didn't mean to help Sean at all.

And Sean didn't care about this behavior. He just looked at Burrell, and then moved his hands and feet again, so that the numbness of his right hand gradually subsided.

But at this moment, Burair spoke.

His voice has a deep and deep penetrating power, just like a barbarian with Nordic blood, giving people a double feeling of arrogance and hoarseness.

But his words made Sean laugh more briskly.

He said: "I heard that you are very good at using silver to fight gold?... At the beginning of the trade point, this is how you said Billy."

Sean didn't know. When he said this to Billy at the trade point of the Wind-Zhufeng tribe, he almost completely exploded the entire southern continent!

All the silver masters boiled because of Sean's words. People of this class are by no means small on the entire continent. Most of them are naturally mediocre, and they are even reluctant to step into silver. But many of them have more or less talents, just because they lack self-confidence, they will try their best to avoid offending the strong in the golden realm, because they don't want to die unclearly.

But when Shaun's words spread out from the wilderness, in just one month, there were more than a dozen battles between silver masters and gold masters. Among them, there were failures and successes, and two of them were even called reversals: the silver masters killed all the gold experts.

Under such circumstances, almost all the gold powerhouses are naturally extremely dissatisfied with Sean's arrogant attitude, and they can't wait to cut him off.

Just like the absolute authority of the privileged class over the populace, the gold powerhouse always has a sense of superiority when facing the silver master. After all, whether it is strength or other factors, the gold realm has finally overwhelmed the silver realm. Only from the point of view that the strong gold has begun to contact the rules and gradually formed a kind of imposing coercion, it is by no means an ordinary silver master. Parried.

So when the silver masters no longer give the gold powers the respect they deserve, it is like a rebellion in a kingdom, and the impact on the privileged class is naturally great. Therefore, there is no reason why these golden powerhouses are so strongly dissatisfied with Sean.

Sean didn't know this, and of course he didn't know that Burrell actually didn't have much contact with the Eagle, Silver, Wolf and others. The reason why he agreed to take the shot was to establish a relationship with this family on the one hand, so that he could Successfully becoming the deputy district chief, on the other hand, is also because of dissatisfaction with Sean.

At this moment, facing Burrell's question, Sean replied: "I did say such a sentence, but that was before."

"Humph." Bur Air snorted coldly. He naturally took Sean's answer as a sign of weakness. After all, Bur Air was not an ordinary golden powerhouse. He didn't know what the crushing effect was. , But with his strength, blood, and madness, few people can beat him head-on, unless the opponent is a high-ranking gold powerhouse at a level higher than him, "Just took a shot at me, you should understand me and Is Billy's kind of waste different?"

"Indeed." Sean nodded, "You are better than Billy."

"Now even if you are scared, I won't spare you." Burair let out a roar, his voice full of murderous intent, "In this world, arrogant people always need to pay a heavy burden. It's a price! Now, it's time for you to pay the price!"

Hearing what Burrell said, Sean knew that the other party would be wrong about what he meant.

So, Sean smiled: "Since you know that I once said that I fight gold with silver, then you should also know another sentence I said at the time."

Burair frowned.

"At the Zhanfeng Trade Point, I said to Billy, 'Today I will fight with silver to fight gold, and the other day I will kill gold with silver.'" Sean smiled and repeated what he had said at the Zhuangfeng Tribe trade site. , "You don't know, I was just a subordinate silver at that time..."

When Sean said this with a smile, Burrell's face changed slightly, and then his expression quickly became completely angry, because he heard that Sean finally said the second half of the sentence: "Now I'm already a high-ranking silver, and I think it's time to fulfill my promise.... It's a pity that you are not lucky, and you met me here because I decided to kill gold with silver today!"

There was no more communication, because Burrell was already like a beast that had lost his mind, and rushed towards Sean furiously.

Have you finally lost your mind?

The corner of Sean's mouth raised slightly, he was too aware of the side effects of madness.

Berserk and berserk may sound similar, but they are two completely different effects.

The former is based on reducing endurance and reducing combat durability as a negative effect, but the defensive ability does not decrease too much, because madness increases strength, and muscle knots are also a natural defense; while madness does. While improving offensive ability and slightly increasing strength, it also completely loses its sanity, so it completely abandons its defense power. In this state, its defense power is almost zero, and it belongs to the type of killing one thousand and self-damaging eight hundred.

In essence, madness can be regarded as an advanced ability of madness, because madness will suppress another of the biggest weakness of madness-loss of sanity, but this is only suppressed, and does not mean that it can still be suppressed. Stay absolutely awake. So when Sean was so provocative and humiliated, Burair's sanity that had been maintained finally collapsed completely at this moment. His eyes became even brighter, just like a giant goblin with blood eyes, and his power also gained strength. This is an obvious increase, and even the speed has increased slightly.

But Shaun knew that the more the opponent was, the faster his endurance would drop. The loss of reason will also make him completely give up defense. This state is no different in the game from the defensive power completely reduced to zero after violent - but in the game, it is impossible for the player to completely lose his reason, so this state is Players call it the second stage of madness, which greatly increases attack power while discarding all defense power.

But in this real world, this is a complete loss of reason.

Perhaps in Burair's view, he no longer performs any defense, it is enough to rely solely on his own muscles for defense, but he has overlooked one of the biggest problems. That is, Sean is not the opponent he has encountered before that can't even afford a good weapon. The weapon in Sean's hand is an epic dead bone. This is one that does not show any sharpness or hardness at all. Long sword!

It is not that it is not displayed, but it is impossible to judge with Shaun's current real eyes!

So when Burrell moved, Sean also moved.

Similarly, at the moment when Sean moved, Dini, who didn't know where she was hiding, put on Sean again an ice armor.

It's just that Sean's charge this time is no longer the straight line as before. After he ran at his own speed and approached, when he saw Burair's stab spear again, Sean His face changed slightly, and he directly activated his sprint skills. The whole person just wiped Bur Air's spear and swept towards Bur Air's left hand side-the reason why he did not choose the right hand side was because after the stabbing spear defeat, Bur Air could force Sean by sweeping. He returned without success, but rushed to the left, and his agility value was absolutely unable to keep up with his own speed and couldn't turn around in time!

This is an opportunity to attack!

In an instant, the two sides crossed, but a burst of blood shot out.

Burair made a wild roar like a wounded beast. The sound was still shocking, but it was already a bit sad and painful.

Because on Burair's left arm, there is a wound about five centimeters in length. This wound is almost like cutting off Burair's entire left hand. Not only the flesh and blood of the wound is instantly rolled, but it can even be faint. See the arm bones under the muscles. What's even more terrifying is that this arm bone actually has an extremely small, tadpole-like gray-black trace-that is a trace of a broken bone!

Chapter 162: .Kill!

The night in the wilderness is still cold.

The cold wind is not as terrible as a knife cut as the Gorge Rift, but it also has the characteristics of a wild land-cold, biting, and always like the breath of a dragon. It's so frustrating.

But tonight.

On this still cold night, although the cold wind is biting and cold, the flustering breath is more obvious, and there is even a faint * smell similar to rust, as the wind blows. It spreads, and gradually fades away.

An iron-headed leopard sniffed its nose, and its eyes were a bit fierce from hunger, especially in the cold wind with a strong * smell, it seemed even more anxious. This is one of the most common beasts here in the Wildlands. As a fifth-level beast, if it is not for the lower level of gold powerhouse, it is impossible to suppress this beast in a one-to-one situation, so the iron-headed leopard's strength is evident.

Especially, this is a hungry iron-headed leopard, and its combat effectiveness is soaring even more amazing.

But now, this iron-headed leopard is just wandering in the wild land, and is digging its hoofs in anxiety and anxiety. Even if it can clearly feel that there will definitely be food waiting for it just hundreds of meters away from itself, but it never dared to take any further steps, a powerful and dangerous aura made it stop. Before, it seemed as if there was a cordon that lay in front of it, and the fate of rushing into it would definitely have to pay the price of death.

Warcraft are also beasts, and their intuition is much stronger than that of humans.

In fact, this iron-headed leopard is not the only one. With this cold wind blowing, there are more than a dozen kinds of beasts that smell this extremely obvious  smell, and there are even six-level beasts. But the amazing thing is that this sixth-level beast is even more timid than the iron-headed leopard, because it is still more than 30 meters away from the iron-headed leopard. On the contrary, those third- and fourth-level beasts are more timid than the iron-headed leopard. The iron-headed leopard advanced thirty or forty meters.

It seems that the stronger the monster, the farther the distance.

But no matter what the beasts, no matter how hungry these beasts were, they stopped at an appropriate distance and stopped moving forward. Although there is a saying in the human world that "people die for money and birds die for food", in fact not all living things choose to die for food.

At least, smart Warcraft would never do this.

"Woo."

Soon, the iron-headed leopard let out a whimper, then turned its head with its tail between them, and ran away quickly. Its whimper was so unwilling. The stomach acid secreted by hunger even corroded its stomach, but in the end the fear of danger defeated the hunger, so it finally chose to evacuate here.

And almost the next second when the iron-headed leopard chose to evacuate, a more intense and indignant roar suddenly spread. Whether it was aura or aura, it was strong enough to deter all Xiao Xiao, almost when the voice blew up. All the close beasts were shocked back. But as long as it is a normal person, even a humanoid, someone with a little bit of IQ can hear the unwillingness, anger, and pain contained in this voice.

The core position where the voice radiated was the battlefield where Sean ambushed Burair.

Undoubtedly, it was Bur Air, the trade chief, who made this sound.

At this moment, although the trade chief is still burly, his whole body looks surging, and has not weakened the slightest, just like the active volcano erupted before, but his appearance is no longer the same as before. At this moment, Burrell looked abnormally embarrassed all over his body. There were more than eleven wounds on his body, front and back, left, right, left and right. These wounds were uniform enough to make anyone who saw him feel terrified.

Each wound is five centimeters long, no more or less than a cent, as if it had been measured by a precision instrument. Each of these wounds has deep visible bones, and the skin at the wound has been completely rolled up, and the white bones in the faintly visible wounds have gray-black cracks like earthworms, and the blood flowing from the wounds almost touches Burair's whole person. They are all dyed into celebrities.

There are only two places where there is no blood.

Head, and right hand holding a gun.

At this moment, no matter who it is, everyone already knows that Burrell may not be able to support it any longer.

Because for a fierce man like Burair, the power he consumes for every action is absolutely not low, and as we all know, to maintain such a strong force to continue, then the instantaneous flow of blood is naturally extremely fast, and the same is true for the body. The bone support requirements are definitely not low. In this way, whenever Bur Air wields his spear, he can see that these wounds on his body will again gush out blood, and even every time he turns, he can hear his body "creak" and "creak". The sound, that is the sound of the cracks in the bones that are expanding!

With such high-intensity consumption, I am afraid that after a while, even if Sean does not kill Burair, Burair will die because of excessive blood loss.

Looking at Burrell who was so embarrassed, on the other hand, Sean did not see any embarrassment or injuries except for a little shortness of breath and obvious sweat on his body. Of course, except for being hit by a shot by Burair at the beginning and vomiting blood, in the next two minutes of high consumption battle, Sean was not even touched by Burair again!

Clover is the first time he has seen Sean fight.

Originally, he had always looked down on Sean. On the one hand, it was because Sean abducted Cecilia. On the other hand, it was also because Clover never thought that someone like Sean could be so powerful. The so-called nobles, are they just wastes that have nothing to eat, drink, and pick up girls, and when they need to fight, they will be swarmed by them? What's more, at the beginning, in the territory, Clover had never seen Sean practice. He even felt that Sean's superior bronze strength might have been forcibly improved by some external means.

But when he saw Sean in the Big Crimson Fire Tribe, he was still a little surprised when he found that Sean's strength had risen to the upper rank of silver. But this emotion quickly disappeared, just as when one person hates another person, then no matter what the other person does or what they do, they will feel bored, and this is how Clover's attitude towards Sean.

Until now, after witnessing Sean's battle with his own eyes, Clover finally understood why people like Rena, Alfred, and William were willing to follow Sean, and even he swore to dedicate his life to her. His Royal Highness Cecilia is also inseparable from Sean's reason.

But even so, Clover still doesn't like Sean.

Yes, very annoying.

So at this moment, Clover glanced at His Royal Highness Cecilia.

Then he saw that there was some worry on His Royal Highness Cecilia's face, although it was well hidden, Crof could still see it. So Clover sighed softly and began to roar: "The surrender will not kill!"

Perhaps because of Burrell's embarrassment, or perhaps because of Sean's strength, or more perhaps because of the strength of the army they are facing.

But anyway, after all the armed soldiers hesitated for a while, they finally chose to give up resistance.

In the conflict and confrontation for a while, only about a hundred of the nearly 200 armed soldiers are still alive at the moment, and more than half of them are wounded. On the other hand, this Cecilia Guard Regiment under Cloff's command had more than forty wounded, but none of them were killed. Even the wounded soldiers were not seriously injured. It will be life-threatening.

"You cowards!" Seeing his subordinates gave up resistance and chose to give up, Burrell seemed to have recovered a bit of sanity, but was soon covered by anger, and he let out a more furious roar on his body. His momentum has risen once again, and has almost completely reached the critical point of the lower level of gold, "Your honor! Your pride!...Fight! It is our destiny to die on the battlefield!"

"The trade chief, not everyone in the Wildlands is a barbarian who regards the battlefield as the greatest glory in his life."

Although Sean felt palpitations at Burrell's rising momentum again, he couldn't help but frowned slightly, but he continued to stimulate the opponent, because at this time, Clough had ordered his subordinates to surround him, and then formed a Encirclement of lore. With Burrair's tyrannical level, it was indeed somewhat beyond Sean's expectations. He did not expect this guy to have such a terrible endurance after activating his madness ability, and he could drag it until the end of his adrenal stimulation. After losing this ability, Sean's agility value is only 100 points, and dynamic vision, perception, etc. have also been weakened.

This time, Sean finally found out what the interference effect of Burair's aura and coercion was.

He didn't expect that the mighty power of this barbarian with the strength of the golden realm was actually perceptual interference. With a terrible power value sufficient to activate the crushing effect, coupled with perceptual interference to affect the opponent's judgment of danger, this is definitely an extremely terrible ability, because you will never know why the opponent is so powerful-if Sean It's not that he is so familiar with the game that he knew that it was a crushing effect as soon as he played against him. He would have died under his spear just like everyone who played against Burair.

Borair has such terrible strength, and now that Sean's adrenal stimulation has finally disappeared, he certainly will not continue to blindly head-on with Burair. Of course, the most important thing is that Sean doesn't want to waste a requiem on this guy, because in the previous battle, he has used the means of fighting spirit several times, and now the amount of fighting spirit has dropped to 50%. It was only enough for one requisite display, but the side effects that followed were definitely not what Sean wanted.

Therefore, Sean is happy to delay time and is also happy to continue to stimulate Bur Air to make his emotions more agitated and speed up the flow of his blood.

In this way, it is naturally speeding up his death time.

"Do you dare to fight me head-on!" Burair faced Sean and let out an angry roar. His momentum continued to rise and condense, trying to break through the last point of criticality. If successful, He will become a powerhouse of upper level gold, relying on the vitality that burst out at that moment, maybe he will eventually die here, but the same can also bring a heavier price to Xiao En and others.

Faced with Burrell's fierce rising momentum, Sean's face finally changed slightly, because he felt that the critical point seemed to be slack.

So, at this moment, Sean finally stopped hesitating: "Kill!"

With the spears pierced by the soldiers of the Cecilia Guards around Burair, Sean rushed up again, and then faced the spears pierced by Burair, his figure slightly avoided. After that, a sword penetrated Burair's heart, and the grudge erupted again, crushing his heart completely!

Chapter 163: .Fitting is also a technical job

The heart is the source of strength for the strong.

This is like the source of power for magic tools, so once the heart of the strong is destroyed, then the power will be completely lost. Moreover, human beings are different from other races. After the heart is destroyed, it will never be able to survive while losing its strength. Maybe it can survive for a little longer with the physical quality, but in the end it will not be able to prevent the loss of life.

But at this moment, Burrell was stabbed into his body by dozens of spears, and even his heart was crushed by Sean, but he still used his last breath to sweep the gun.

Faced with this vigorous and frantic sweep, Xiao En's face changed drastically, and he immediately abandoned his sword and retreated.

But even so, the ice armor on his body was directly smashed once again, and the whole person was flew out again. There was even a wound on his left arm, and a piece of flesh the size of a baby's palm was torn off. . In addition, among the Cecilia Guards soldiers who besieged Burair, several people standing on his right were also swept away directly. Among them, the nearest unlucky ghost was on the spot. Sacrificed.

This is also the first soldier to die in this battle.

Klov's face suddenly became a bit ugly.

But after this sweep, Burair could no longer support him and fell down, but his face still had that unyielding hideous color.

"Lord Lord, you are all right!"

"Shaun!"

Soon, Cecilia, Dini, Andre and others rushed over. Clover's Cecilia Guards will not be responsible for the safety of Sean and others, but since Cecilia is here, Clover can only immediately order to protect it even if he pinches his nose. Only then did they arrange for personnel to take care of the armed soldiers who had surrendered-even if most of these armed soldiers were too exhausted to move, many were injured, but Croft still did this in an orderly and meticulous manner.

Soon, Dini treated the wound on Sean's left arm a little bit.

This kind of injury that has been torn off a small piece of flesh and blood can basically be regarded as a serious injury, and there is absolutely no possibility of repair on the earth.

Because this is a defect that cannot be repaired, it can only be handled by filling.

But fortunately, this world is not the earth. It is based on magic and divine arts to give birth to a series of technological worlds. But wanting to rebirth the flesh and blood is not within the priesthood of the goddess of ice and winter. Even if Xuefanio visits in person, there is no way to deal with this matter, unless the goddess is used to make Eswinter appear and It is possible to show the grace of God.

But this kind of thing is just a small thing for a god, even if the relationship between Sean and Eswinter is pretty good, it is impossible to cast a goddess for this little thing. Of course, Sean won't let Xuefanio waste a chance to surrender here. After all, even if Xuefanio is a direct descendant of Eswinter, his body's ability to withstand is also limited, even if it's not. A consumable, but after every descent, he also needs to rest.

Fortunately, the priesthood of the Goddess of Life includes the divine art of rebirth from flesh and blood.

As for the goddess of life temple closest to Sean, there is one in Lorono, and the scale is not small.

So at this moment, Dini can only help Sean stop the deterioration of her injury first.

Looking at the torn part of the flesh and blood on his left arm with an ice crystal, freezing the nearby muscles to prevent bleeding, giving Sean the feeling as if someone had stuffed a crystal into his arm. But when he moved his left hand slightly, he still felt a slight abnormality, which obviously made his arm not particularly flexible.

"How is Sean?" Cecilia asked nervously.

"Except for some fatigue and weakness, as well as some adverse reactions caused by blood loss and severe pain, there is no problem with his body." After Dinizi checked carefully, he said to Cecilia with a sigh of relief. "Basically, in two or three hours, he will be the same as before.... But Lord Lord, I can't help you solve this problem with your left hand. At least the high priest of the Temple of the Goddess of Life is needed. May help you solve it."

Dini believes in the goddess of ice and winter. Now this goddess relies entirely on Sean to have sufficient faith. Even the main temple on the earth has almost assimilated with the void city, so Dini can't be right. The lord is disrespectful. In particular, Dini found that since following Sean, the more respected and obedient to him, and ensuring all his safety issues, the more divine grace she can obtain every day, and she is in Ess almost all the time. Under the gaze of the goddess Winter, her strength improved extremely quickly, so Dini took care of Sean more carefully.

Therefore, she rushed to Sean's side at the first time, and even spent a lot of divine power and grace to perform this "immortal ice crystal" magic for Sean. This is a survival magic that all priests with knives who believe in the goddess of ice and winter can master, no matter how severe the injury, even if it is a broken limb, as long as it is not killed on the spot or the heart is crushed, the immortal ice crystal can be guaranteed. The surgeon's injury is stabilized without any deterioration.

Of course, if you want to perform this magical technique, the cost is naturally huge.

But Dini did not hesitate to perform this magical technique.

Then soon, she knew that she was right, because after the magical technique was cast, she almost took time out of all the divine grace she had accumulated over the past few months to break through the strength bottleneck, even the only divine power in the body. She was completely drawn out. In other words, she was completely unable to perform any magical skills for the next period of time, and the whole person felt a moment of emptiness. But this state only lasted for less than a few seconds, and she felt that the constant divine power in her body was burning and recovering quickly, and even the divine grace that was lost due to this was replenished, and it was even more expensive than her divine magic. More.

This made Dini feel excited.

As for Cecilia, after hearing Dini's words, she was a little worried to check it herself, but with her knowledge of human body structure, she could only be sure that Sean's condition would not deteriorate, except I don't understand anything else. But as long as this result can be obtained, Cecilia will feel more satisfied. After all, such an irreparable defect will cause a lot of deterioration. In the absence of medical personnel, priests, and priests, many soldiers Because of this, he fell on the battlefield.

But the actual situation is not so simple.

Shaun is not like others, he has the special ability of the real eye, and many things can be digitized in his eyes.

So when he checked his attributes, he found that the injury on his left arm really had a little effect on him.

[Unrepairable defect injury (miniature of left arm): This injury is a serious injury. You have suffered a serious injury that cannot be recovered by the body's self-healing ability. Fortunately, the condition of this injury is only miniature. If I were you, then I would definitely find a way to solve this problem, maybe it is a good idea to go to the temple of the goddess of life. But until this problem is solved, your attributes will be weakened: Strength -3, Stamina -5, Agility -3. But it is worth congratulating that this injury has also brought you a stronger test of will, so your will has been permanently improved: will +5.]

The weakening of strength and endurance has little effect on Sean, but the agility is reduced by three points, which is a bit fatal in Sean's view.

His original agility value is 81 points, and it can reach 100 points after turning on the light body. Coupled with the overall increase in the reaction power generated by activating the adrenal stimulation, the agility value directly exceeded 200 points!

The attribute of two hundred points, this is an extreme barrier!

One hundred ninety-nine and two hundred, the difference reflected is a qualitative difference.

If you say 100 agility, Sean's dynamic vision can only increase by 10%, and 199 points can increase Sean by 15%, then 200 agility points are a 20% increase!

is just a little attribute difference, but the improvement is a full 5%. The price/performance ratio and the benefits are completely clear at a glance. Under this circumstance, Sean was more than 70% sure that he would be able to dodge even if it was facing the blast arrows shot by the elf archers at close range.

But now, it seems that the agility value has only been reduced by three points, but Sean's overall combat power has to be reduced by at least 20%. This is equivalent to saying that Sean's survivability and encountering dangerous situations should be at least increased. Fifty percent!

Thinking about this, Sean also had to sigh: "This patching is also a technical job."

If he had known that he would end up like this, he might as well just give Burrell a sword or just let the soldiers rush forward.

It's just this idea, which flashed in Sean's mind. Anyway, it has become a reality. Of course, Sean will not think about these questions again. And the benefits of doing so are not without them. At least Andre and the others' eyes immediately changed when they saw him, and his volitional attribute was also permanently improved by five points. This is even after the injury of his left arm is dealt with. It won't drop, and there won't be this kind of benefit in the game.

And when Sean looked at his left arm again, Sean was also a little surprised, because the ice crystal on the left arm actually had a name.

With Sean's knowledge of the goddess of ice and winter, he certainly wouldn't know the secret of immortal ice crystals.

[Immortal Ice Crystal: Hardness 900, exemption from 80% of all physical damage, exemption from 50% of all magical damage, immunity to corrosion, toxicity, and bleeding damage effects.]

The immortal ice crystal with a hardness of 900! ?

When he saw this data, Sean was stunned. The hardness of this thing was comparable to a legendary magic material that Sean knew. After seeing the following series of explanations, Sean's first feeling was not that this thing is very valuable, but that this thing is simply a defensive artifact! Of course, if the area is not too small, Sean is even wondering if Dini or Xuefanio can make his entire left hand so ice crystal.

But before Sean could tell this question, Clover had walked over with a calm face and asked Sean how the prisoners would deal with it.

In the current situation of Sean and others, of course, the most appropriate way is to kill them all. Anyway, Clover did such a thing when he was rampant in the Great Rift Valley before, and even nailed wooden stakes to intimidate him. people. Otherwise, he would not be called a butcher by many people now.

However, Clover just chanted the slogan of surrender and not kill. If you want to do it now, it will be a backlash. Don't think that everyone is dead and no one knows. If someone comes to examine the corpse and the battlefield environment carefully, you will soon find that these people were killed after surrendering. The only ones fighting with these people here are Xiao Xiao. En, there are no other people outside the army, so once the news spreads, if Sean shouts something to surrender and not kill, no one will surrender.

So at this moment, the situation is really a little bit more complicated.

But soon, Sean came up with a good idea.

Chapter 164: .Wolf's Disaster

The sky, the sun is shining brightly.

The temperature difference between day and night in the wild land is large, but the two time periods that really reflect the extreme temperature difference are noon and late night. A person is like being in a sea of lava and fire, and a person is like being in the abyss of an ice cave. Unless it is a person living in a wild land, it is difficult for anyone who does not carry a special hood and cloak to survive here, and even Most people have the protection of a hood and cloak, and they will choose a backlit shade to rest at noon.

As long as the most difficult two hours have passed, the temperature will start to drop.

It's a bit bitter and sweet.

Of course, after the coldest two hours of the night, the temperature will start to rise, which is a bit of a low point and a high tide.

However, at this moment, the temperature is not in the hottest period, probably around 22 or 3 degrees, but the wind is slightly stronger.

The wolf stared at the battlefield in front of him with a green face.

Here is the battlefield where Sean led a raid on Burair yesterday.

The battlefield has obviously been cleaned up, and a large number of arrows that can be reused have been taken away, but the remaining weapons that cannot be taken away, Sean did not leave to the wolf, but let Cecilia use all the magical flames. Burning, leaving behind a large pile of molten iron slag, even if you want to reuse it. However, it is quite decent that all the armed soldiers who died here, Xiao En and others did not touch them, even if the money bags on these people were all copper.

In addition, there were hundreds of people shivering around each other, but more than a dozen of them had become stiff corpses.

After a big battle, due to blood loss, physical exhaustion and many other reasons, the physical quality and resistance will definitely decline. Under such circumstances, Sean and the others burned most of their equipment, and each of them only left a special hooded cloak, which was actually more vicious than killing them. But as the defeated party, they have no choice but to stay here and wait for death.

Of course, Sean is still very kind and let a person go to the wolf to report the situation here.

And the wolf was as expected by Sean. Apart from leaving some people to guard the camp, others rushed over in the fastest way and finally arrived here in the morning. But when she saw the mess that Sean had left her, the wolf felt a black dizziness, because among the hundreds of people left, there were as many as 40 or 50 people who were not injured. But for the nearly 3,000 troops behind her, this amount of manpower is simply a dispensable one.

Because of the defeat last night and the lack of food and freezing, these people have been severely damaged, both physically and mentally, and it is absolutely impossible for them to go to the battlefield without one or two months of recovery.

If it is in a real battle, then these can be transferred to the wounded camp for healing.

But now, the only thing the wolf can do is to leave one or two hundred people to take care of the wounded soldiers. And this kind of care is still free, and even she has to distribute the supplies of her troops to them, because all the supplies carried by this troop have been looted by Sean, and all the parts that cannot be taken have been burned. .

Now these hundreds of people are not support at all for the wolf, but a burden!

Wolf gritted his teeth and looked at the hundreds of people with low morale, but there was a murderous intent in his heart, but soon, she was forced down. If she dared to kill all these people, then I am afraid that the military spirit of the army behind her would immediately dissipate. This is not the result that the wolf wants. So in desperate circumstances, the wolf finally could only grit his teeth and pinch his nose to put the burden on his back.

"Damn Shaun!" The wolf's voice looked a little low, and with her expression and tone at the moment, it really looked like a wild wolf demonstrating, "Everyone move faster! We must hurry up at noon. Go back to the camp before, otherwise the hot high temperature may bring us more trouble and danger."

Soon, the soldiers brought by the wolf quickly went up to help the prisoners who were released by Sean after surrendering.

Each of them had a little bit of dry food and water bags on their bodies, so they passed the food to the prisoners as soon as possible. In any case, let them regain their energy and strength before speaking, otherwise it might be true for a while. There is no way to continue walking. As for the remaining people, they immediately began to dig pits on the spot. Digging pits on the Gobi-like terrain in the wilds is definitely not an easy job, and the pit must be deep enough. After all, they It was used to bury the corpses of those war dead, and these corpses should not be allowed to become food for the beasts that crisscrossed the wild land.

Seeing that the soldiers he brought with him were almost all coolies at the moment, the wolf knew that this unit would lose its fighting ability completely today, so even if he found traces of Sean and others today, he would be able to lead the attack. I am afraid there are only two thousand soldiers. After all, he suddenly heard that his subordinate was injured last night and reported that Burrell had been ambushed. In order to prevent it from being a trap, the wolf brought out a thousand light infantry.

However, she did not expect that what Xiao En left her was not a second ambush to save Zhao from the Wei Dynasty, but a big burden, which was even more cruel than to lure the wolf and others out and then ambush them again.

Standing on the Gobi in the Wildlands, the wolf really valued its opponent this time.

It's nothing if you just leave her with this huge burden, because this necessary means is very important in war, and it's even easier to cause trouble for the enemy than slaughtering prisoners. What really troubled the wolf was the corpse lying in the center of the battlefield.

Berair.

The barbarians are a race that can throw their heads and shed blood for honor, and dying on the battlefield is their most glorious moment.

So Burair's death is actually the most perfect destination for the barbarians.

It's just a trouble for wolves.

She can already feel the astonishment in the hearts of the three low-ranking golden realm powerhouses who followed her.

This time, there are a total of four low-level Golden Realm powerhouses who came with the army, and she is a total of five people. If you count the three tribes that are intercepting the lunatic woman Rina and Burair, then the total is Nine powerhouses in the lower level of gold. And the nine of them are not the kind of people who have no experience but a realm of vain appearances. Each of them has experienced countless * tests before finally achieving today's achievements.

Only among the nine people, Bur Air's strength is undoubtedly the strongest.

Not only does he possess the power of bloodline, but also the power of bloodline has already appeared. In terms of its combat power, the wolf is not sure of winning against Upper Burair.

But now, Burair is dead.

If Burair is killed in battle and the enemy pays a heavy price, then this result is definitely acceptable to the wolf. But she knew that Burair's death only caused the death of a soldier on the other side, and through reports from her subordinate, the wolf even knew that there was a priest in the other side's army. There is no good news.

More importantly, if the opponent vents his anger on Burair's corpse after killing Burair, then the wolf can also cause everyone to resent the same enemy.

But the result is not so.

Shaun instead gave the enemy the highest respect!

The blood stains on Burair's body have been completely washed away, and there is even a cloak where he lies. Even his hair, Sean let the Northern Barbarian wash it, and then weave it into small braids, put his crossed hands on his abdomen, and the high-quality spear he used during his lifetime was also placed on him by Sean. On his body, the crossed hands gently pressed the spear.

If all these etiquettes are performed in accordance with the barbaric traditions, then the circle formed by the thirteen long swords with Burair as the core is a circle recognized by everyone on the Marvel Continent. Traditional funeral.

Thirteen sword funeral.

This is an expression of respect for the enemy's martial arts.

Of course, this kind of funeral actually has a subtext.

That is, Sean killed Burair under compelling circumstances. If it weren't for this helpless situation, he wouldn't mind surrendering or letting Burair leave. But it's a pity that good luck makes people, so he has no choice but to kill Bur Air, but Bur Air's bravery and fearlessness also won his appreciation.

Wolf swept the three powerhouses around him who were also capable of the golden realm with the corner of his eyes, his eyes were already a little awe-inspiring.

Because she saw that at this moment, at the moment when she saw the funeral of Thirteen Swords, there was a slight fluctuation in the hearts of these three people. And this wave of fluctuation also means that they will definitely not be deadly in the next battle with Sean, because they and Sean do not have much hatred, and Sean not only showed that he can kill the next Golden Power The strength of the players also gave these strong people enough respect, so if they were to leave, Sean would definitely not stop them.

Before the fight has started, these people have already begun to think about retreating, so how can the next battle be full! ?

first left her with nearly a hundred wounded soldiers, which not only affected her morale, but also further consumed her material reserves. At the same time, the thirteen sword funerals that were presented at the same time shook the hearts of all gold powerhouses.

The wolf was itchy with hate, and the madness and anger in her heart almost made her lose her sanity, but she still had to press it down.

At this moment, two of her subordinates also ran over.

Seeing these two people, the wolf asked, "How is the situation."

"Staring at Sean and the others are dead." The first subordinate said, "Now we have completely lost their tracks."

"I know." The wolf nodded, "Since they were able to ambush Burair, and their eyes did not report to me, it proves that the other party must have sent him and killed him." Having said that, he looked at No. The two said in a deep voice, "I hope you can bring me good news."

Hearing the voice of the wolf, the man's head dropped, and he said weakly, "I'm sorry...sir."

"Say." The wolf said softly, but no one saw it, but the hands hidden under the cloak were clenched tightly.

"The line of defense of the three tribes was breached by Rena. And... and Lord Winter Wolf... died in battle."

"What!?"

Chapter 165: .Armed Knights!

Fresh blood dripped slowly from the tip of a red "color" spear. High-speed update

The gun is a woman in light armor.

She has long hair that crosses the shoulders, and her hair color is slightly golden in the sunshine. Wearing light armor, she can't see her figure, and her skin is a bit dark, like those village girls who work hard, but her not-so-noticeable facial features are very attractive, and the more she looks, the more she says. Does not debut unknown charm. She only held the gun in one hand, and the second half of the spear was held on her back, but the whole person had a sassy and heroic posture.

Especially at this moment, this woman is riding a tall horse.

The horse is white and has no vest. This is extremely unfavorable for a cavalry, because as long as the enemy targets the cavalry horse, the cavalry will immediately lose at least half of its combat effectiveness. [

But everyone who wanted to solve this woman in this way, but all of them were buried under her spear.

At this time, people finally realized that this woman is not a cavalry, but a knight!

Also is a knight with excellent spear and equestrian skills.

White horse, black armor, and red gun are all extremely eye-catching colors, not to mention the combination of these three colors. All this makes this female knight the most eye-catching target on the battlefield, but anyone who tries to kill it will eventually become the dead soul under her spear-her attack skills are not How shrewd, there are no big moves, and even the display of vindictiveness is like a savvy businessman, you can use one point instead of two points. But the more this is the case, the more shocking it is, because it means that her shot will never fail.

Winter Wolf, one of the twelve trading points in the Great Rift Valley. The trade chief of the Yedong tribe.

He and this female knight have been entangled in this wild land for several months.

From the very beginning, he bullied the female knight that she was just a high-ranking silver, causing her to suffer a big loss and losing the strength of a full fifty cavalry. After that, she continued to pursue her. The fighting between the two sides broke out in no fewer than a hundred within a few months. From the beginning, he pursued it by himself to the armed soldiers who led the tribe. Later, two tribes joined one after the other, forming a joint pursuit of three tribes and three lower golden powerhouses. Obviously their numbers are increasing, but with the increase in the number and frequency of battles, their numbers are getting bigger and smaller. On the contrary, the cavalry unit led by the female knight will hardly be reduced.

Originally the three tribes combined had more than seven hundred troops, but the female knight's force was only four hundred, but now, when their force is only four hundred, the female knight's commander still has More than two hundred rides.

In this situation. The Winter Wolf suddenly woke up. They don't know when it will start. It became a female knight chasing them. Until now, they even needed to set up a defensive line to be able to barely block the female knight's shock like "tide" water. But the only problem is that they are not reefs!

And unknowingly. When the Winter Wolf woke up again, he suddenly discovered that the female knight didn't know when she had broken through the limit of her realm and successfully stepped into the lower level of gold. In this way, all the advantages he had in the face of the female knight were "swamped"-his own strength is comparable to that of it, but the number of troops under his command is whether it is the number or the quality of armaments and combat effectiveness. There is a huge gap with Qingqi under his command.

Able to use light cavalry as heavy cavalry, Winter Wolf can guarantee that this life is probably only the lunatic in front of him.

There is no doubt that this terrible opponent regarded by Winter Wolf and the other two tribes as a madman and a demon is Rina.

Riding on the horse, Rina gently strangled the reins of the horse, and the horse immediately stopped obediently, but after a grumpy, it slapped its hooves and looked a little anxious.

It seemed that the movement was slightly larger, so the body of Rina riding on the horse also trembled, and a voice sounded.

is another drop of blood, dripping from the tip of the gun, and then falling on the Gobi in the wild land, but it did not splash into more blood beads. It turned out that there was already a small pool of blood on the ground unknowingly. When this red blood dripped, it happened to fall into this small pool of blood, blending into it, and "dangling" a circle of ripples.

Winter Wolf's gaze narrowed slightly, as if he was focusing on something, and then his vision began to gradually become clear.

On the battlefield, there is already a corpse all over the field.

The memory of Winter Wolf finally flooded like "tide" water, and he immediately recalled: Yes, he received a request for help from another trade chief, saying that it was Rina, a female lunatic who gathered all her strength and started to defend against him. The area is advancing, this time he is definitely not able to stop the menacing coming, so he continues to ask for help. [

So in this situation, of course, the Winter Wolves immediately mobilized the armed soldiers under his command, and then rushed to the defensive area of another trade chief. In the battle against Rena, they were already at a disadvantage. In the defensive posture of a positional battle, each defended an area, and then the three areas united to block the place Rina had to face in order to advance. Under the circumstances of occupying the right place and people, the three of them relied on this advantage to block Rina's impact at least ten times. As long as Rina concentrated on one place each time, the other two sides immediately joined forces to focus on defense. Repulse Rina completely.

This move seems to be in case, after all, the three defensive areas are not too far apart.

But when the Winter Wolf led the people over, he suddenly encountered Rena's ambush on a small hill. The condescending Rena led her under him to launch a charge and slammed into the Winter Wolf troop. On the flank, his troops were completely penetrated at once. Then after rushing for more than a hundred meters, Ruina's unit actually completed a difficult half-arc turn around, and then launched the second round of assault again with an extremely terrifying aura.

is just two rounds of charge!

After the two arguments, the winter wolf unit completely collapsed.

Next was a chase battle, but he himself was blocked by Rina alone.

Originally relied on superb spear and horsemanship. Only the upper silver pinnacle Rena can already block the attack of the Winter Wolf, and now Rena has the strength of the lower gold, not to mention the equestrian skills, spear skills must be a higher level. Moreover, with a mount, how could the Winter Wolf be Rina's opponent.

In less than four rounds, the Winter Wolf was completely picked up by Rina, and the whole person hit a rock. His head was smashed.

And the blood on Rina's spear was what was left when he pierced the winter wolf's left shoulder blade. As long as it was a few inches lower, it was the heart of the winter wolf, but it was a pity that it was evaded by the winter wolf.

From the sudden eruption of the battle to the time when the Winter Wolf was thrown and thrown by Rina, it was just a few tens of seconds. However, in Winter Wolf's consciousness, it seemed that several months had passed. When these memories reappeared, he realized the criticality of the situation. And then the severe pain came from all over the body. It made him let out a muffled groan that could not be suppressed. He stood up shaking and fell to his knees immediately.

Rina raised her spear, waved it, and swished the blood from the spear. It was still that indifferent.

"Winter Wolf, do you remember what you did to me three months ago?" Rina asked in a deep voice. Murderous intent in his voice.

Three months ago?

Winter Wolf's consciousness is a little fuzzy. The heaviest injury on his body is naturally the penetrating injury from his left shoulder blade, but besides that, there are also many wounds on his body. These were all shot by Rina with a grudge. The gun came out. If you want to stop the bleeding from these injuries, the Winter Wolf must consume part of the fighting energy to maintain the fighting energy that belongs to Rina, which is still being destroyed in the wound, but in this way, the amount of fighting energy he can use is naturally not much, so it is equivalent to a step. Wrong, wrong step.

"So I did you once three months ago?" Winter Wolf suddenly laughed, but then there was a coughing from a distance, accompanied by a large amount of blood foam being coughed up, "Why? After I did it once, I can't forget it, do I want to do it again?"

Rina's expression seemed to have a hint of disdain, and she said coldly: "Three months ago, you suddenly attacked me and killed 21 cavalry under my command. Then you killed me again in the chaos. Thirteen people, I will kill twelve people when I finally break through, don't you forget this account?... Then do you remember what I said at the time?"

"Aren't you crying and begging me to work harder?" Winter Wolf continued to laugh.

"I said, I will pierce you with fifty-six shots before letting you die under iron hoofs and turn into a pool of fleshy mud." Rina looked at the winter wolf in her eyes as if she was looking at one. Dead man, "Now you have exactly fifty-five shots. One more shot is enough."

"Only you?" The Winter Wolf took a deep breath. He felt the hotness of his lungs, but he still stood up with a sigh of relief, "You lunatic, what if you can kill me? Can you still? Do you continue to break out?... Lord Wolf has already arrived with three thousand reinforcements, just because you two hundred people want to fight Lord Wolf? What's more, how can the power behind the Lord be comparable to your little lord? Maybe, Lord Yin has already killed your lord!"

"Master Shaun has returned to the Great Rift Valley." Rina glanced at the Winter Wolf, her eyes already feeling a little pity.

At this moment, two hundred light cavalry began to gather behind Rina. Everyone in this light cavalry unit had a frosty face, the killing intent on his body was extremely strong, and his aura was as thick as a mountain and fierce as fire. It is not inferior to Clover's Cecilia Guards.

If Sean sees it, he will be surprised, because this is a genuine Tier 4 army! [

Rina not only has the strength of the lower level gold, but also the cavalry unit under her command has become a fourth-level army!

Watching the cavalry have gathered to form an arrow charge array, and Rina is at the position of the arrow.

saw Rina suddenly raise her gun and let out an angry roar: "For honor!"

"For honor!"

The sound of two hundred Qingqi behind him resounded loudly.

At this moment, I don't know whether it is an illusion. With the sound of Rena's voice and the echo of Qingqi, it seems that a faint brilliance is radiating from everyone. If Sean is here, he will know that this is not an illusion, but a powerful skill!

Aura skills of armed knights!

The next moment, the horse hooves of the cavalry roared, as if even the earth was crying for it.

The Winter Wolf still wanted to stand up and kill a few more people, but Rina didn't give him any chance, because she speeded up suddenly in the process of charging, and Yiqi took the lead in leading the entire cavalry charge by fifty meters, and then was shocked by Winter Wolf. In the expression of "Look", the spear burst with a powerful vindictive spirit and exploded the Winter Wolf's head. And when the Winter Wolf fell, just two hundred Qingqi had arrived, and the roaring horseshoes trampled over his body!

Chapter 166: .Waiting for a long time!

The Gorge Rift Valley has now officially become a forbidden area for Pandaren. ©©

Of course, this place has become like Shaun's forbidden existence.

Even if William sends Rena and Clover to the Wildlands, and even a secret force also sets out, the defensive ability here in the Fifty Rift has not decreased but increased. Because with the return of Alfred, a new batch of slaves arrived, and the current scale of Iron Wings has reached ten thousand - two thousand of which were brought to Date by Anno, and the other eight thousand are currently in the recruiting stage. Receive rigorous training.

Of course, it can't be done without actual combat, so Alfred divided the eight thousand people into eight troops and patrolled between Pandan Territory and the Gap Rift. Any suspicious target was found to be attacked first and then reported. As a result, there was a large-scale conflict with a large number of slave capture teams trying to smuggle. However, relying on the standard configuration of steel wings, ordinary slave-catching teams are basically capable of fighting against a thousand-man army, so the result is naturally predictable.

It's just that of course there are some relatively strong presences in this slave-catching team, and this time it often requires Alfred to lead another 3,000 people to shoot. [

This is the last line of defense stationed in the Gorge Rift, and it is also the most terrifying and most powerful line of defense.

If it is said that in Sean's territory, the third level 4 army is most likely to appear, then this army is none other than this army.

The Thunder Lion, personally commanded by Alfred, is a close combat unit integrating light and heavy infantry. The combat effectiveness of this unit is extremely tyrannical. There are less than 500 humans in it. The other 2,500 are half-orcs, orcs, barbarians, etc. The only long-range attack methods are throwing axes and javelins, but because of the limited number. , So the long-range combat endurance is naturally extremely insufficient. This can be regarded as the only weakness of this force.

Just because there are heavy infantry and heavy infantry with impact shield, this unit is not afraid of cavalry charge at all, nor is it afraid of any long-range strikes.

In front of this terrifying line of defense, in the past three or four months, no slave hunting team can successfully enter the fissure valley, let alone enter the wild land.

But on this day, at the exit of the Gorge Rift to the Wildlands, a troop appeared.

The leader is a woman. She has short light brown "colored" hair with slightly curled ends.

is wearing a special hooded cloak that must be equipped to enter the wilderness, so she can't see how she is wearing under the cloak, and also can't see the figure of this woman. Only at this moment, she had already lifted the hood. "Lu" has a rather delicate face. Although her facial features are unforgettable and unforgettable, she has a very mature and dignified charm.

It's just that the expressions and movements that this woman "revealed" at this moment were completely inconsistent with the dignified and majestic temperament of her body.

I saw the woman take a deep breath, and then exhale a white air that seemed to be muddy, the expression on her face looked unusually excited and flying. She looks like a passionate and naughty girl. It's more than the kind of dignified daughter.

In the next second, the woman let out an excited roar: "The Wild Land, I'm back."

Her voice is loud and has a peculiar accent, which seems to be able to spread for several kilometers in this vast wild land. And the ground closer to her was shaken by sand and rocks, like a sound wave attack. Immediately afterwards, the woman suddenly reached out and raised her hand. She carried a halberd that looked bigger and longer than her whole body on her shoulders, in that moment. It seems that even the ground on which she is standing sinks slightly, which shows how heavy this halberd is!

But the scary thing is that this woman doesn't seem to care at all, or she doesn't feel the weight of this halberd at all.

Vivian Michelle.

The thundering Valkyrie, one of the two most powerful forces under Asuna and Evans, also known as the "Thunder Light Halberd".

Originally under Asuna's command, Vivienne's personal strength could only be ranked second. After all, Elizabeth was the mage whose bloodline appeared. Her thunder magic was an amazing feat of destroying three thousand heavy knights in one blow. It is extremely famous in the entire Kingdom of Darbion, even in the entire Southern Continent. On the other hand, Vivian didn't have too many amazing feats, but was active in the Principality of Ryan and the Kingdom of Darbion as a rare person who could achieve a high state with both magic and martial arts.

But since Vivian spent some time in the wild land and returned as the superior golden powerhouse, she became the strongest combat power under Asuna's command in one fell swoop.

Of course, not many people know that Vivian is already a high-ranking golden powerhouse.

Asuna and the others knew it well, followed by Sean and the few people who saw Vivian that night. It's just that they don't know for what purpose, those people didn't publicize Vivienne's strength, so now many people's assessment of Asuna's strength is naturally inaccurate. [

This time, Asuna sent Vivian to the Wildlands. In addition to rescuing Shaun, she also wanted to hide Vivian. Vivienne understands this very well. After all, the less people know Asuna's true strength and trump cards, then it is naturally extremely advantageous for Asuna. If anyone knows that Asuna's subordinates have a superior As for the golden powerhouse, then the assassinations against Asuna will inevitably raise another level, which is not a good thing.

So on the one hand, it can rescue Sean, on the other hand, it can become Asuna's trump card. Vivian is naturally very interested in this kind of action.

And since Vivian has appeared in the Wildlands, the origin of the army behind him is naturally beyond doubt.

Asuna's elite unit, Thunder's Front.

As the same Tier 4 army, the number of Thunder's Front is as high as 10,000, which is not comparable to the two Tier 4 armies currently under Sean's command. You must know that as the size of the army expands, the strength of the army will naturally gradually decline, so it is of course not impossible to change from trump card to elite, from elite to ordinary, and even from ordinary to recruit.

This is also the reason why William did not immediately send eight thousand steel wing recruits to Anno.

On the one hand, Anno can't command so many people, on the other hand, the eight thousand recruits of Iron Wing, if they pass. On the contrary, it will cause a drag on Anno, it is better to let Alfred take a while to talk about it. Therefore, under normal circumstances, the expansion of the Cecilia's guards to 1,000 is the limit. If it is expanded, it will not be impossible, but it will change from the fourth-level elite to the third-level ordinary. In the same way, if William Allowing Rina to expand this first cavalry unit under her command will certainly also exercise strict control over the number. It may even be screened manually.

Because of him, Rena is a subordinate loyal to Sean, and the level 4 army she brought out is also a unit loyal to Sean. Therefore, in this regard, William and Sean spent more energy into the cavalry unit of Rena. It is also normal. After all, an army that is truly loyal to and obedient to itself is very different from Clover's Cecilia Guards.

At least William believes that this time if Cecilia was not with Sean, there would be no way for him to get Clover out.

Therefore, what is the combat power of the thundering front, the four-level elite army with a scale of ten thousand people, can be known with toes, not to mention that the commanding commander is still the high-ranking golden strength Vivian, which is better than Rina and Clove strong. But it can also be known from this. Rina and her light cavalry are naturally stronger than Clover's Cecilia Guards, because Rina is the lower level gold, and Clover is only the upper level silver.

The only thing that Asuna, Elizabeth, and Simi didn't expect was the secret plan for Vivian to take people to the Wildlands to rescue Shaun. Asuna especially emphasized the word "secret", but Vivian still pulled out five thousand thundering front soldiers in one go.

Five thousand soldiers!

This force, combined with Vivian's personal strength, is more than enough to sweep the entire Rift Valley. Moreover, the scale of five thousand people is not the kind of petty trouble. Even in the savage land, it is a large group of black people, as long as they are not fools. You can find this unit from a distance, so what's the secret? Of course, if these soldiers are not allowed to take off their hoods and cloaks, it may be difficult for anyone to recognize that this unit is the famous thundering front under Asuna's command.

After all, troops that use Chang Ge as a weapon are not uncommon.

However, the five thousand soldiers are indeed relatively large in scale. This is definitely not a force that can be ignored, especially the commander-in-chief or Vivian.

I believe that within a day, the eagle will receive the news, and the wolf will receive the eagle's warning the next day at the slowest.

But at this moment, Vivian suddenly "showed" a charming smile, and then looked not far ahead, where someone was stepping up.

He wore a light Chinese suit. This suit did not have any protective ability. It was just the most common evening gown for aristocratic dinners. It was just that the color was white, with his handsome appearance and gold. "Color" hair, the whole person is naturally very attractive. But these are not the reasons to attract Vivienne. What really attracts Vivienne is his every move when walking. The rhythmic aura and the powerful pressure exuding from his body let Vivienne know the strength of this person. Extremely strong.

The lower sanctuary!

"Miss Vivian, I have been waiting here for a long time." The middle-aged man gave a polite smile.

"Oh?" Vivian raised her brows, "It's been a long time?"

"Yes, I received the news when you set off from Modge a month ago, so I came here to wait for you." The middle-aged man still maintained his elegance, but he held the one in his hand. The stabbing sword was taken down, because he saw Vivienne take the halberd from his shoulder, but he didn't panic at all. Although Vivienne was a high-ranking gold powerhouse, it was a little bit beyond his expectation. It is not difficult to defeat or even kill her with the strength of his lower sanctuary. [

As for the army behind Vivienne, this middle-aged man totally looked at it. No matter how large an ordinary army is, it will never be the opponent of the sanctuary powerhouse. Even with such a large number, he is confident to leave after killing Vivian.

"Really? So what's the matter with you?" Vivian tilted her head and glanced at the other person, then smiled, this smile is full of unspeakable charm.

"I am the family knight of the Nugus family. This time I am following the order of the Third Young Master to make a proposal to you." The middle-aged man continued.

"What proposal?"

"My master hopes that your Excellency and the Valkyrie behind your Excellency will not "intervene" in this time between him and Sir Sean." The middle-aged man continued, "If the Marquis of Tonis agrees, you will get my house. Young Master's Friendship... Of course, there is also a compensation, which is enough to make up for the loss of a pioneering knight to the Marquis of Tonis, such as the permanent vesting rights of Dayi and Chiraf, and the same is that the annual profit is not three. Trade routes under one hundred thousand gold coins."

"Oh, what a big handwriting." Vivian nodded, still smiling, "What if I disagree?"

"Then I can only say sorry." The middle-aged man still maintained an elegant smile, but he pulled out the stabbing sword in his hand, and the aura of the whole person climbed to the peak at this moment, and in a blink of an eye the rift valley in the gorge. The wind at the exit has become more frantic.

But the next moment, the expression of this middle-aged man changed drastically.

Because he saw that the soldiers behind Vivian suddenly formed a battle formation, the vigor and coercion that erupted from him was actually not under him, and even faintly made him feel threatened. And soon, under the gust of wind, he could clearly see the clothes under the hooded cloaks of these soldiers, and his face immediately became unnatural.

"Thunder...thunder's front!" The elegant image of the middle-aged man survived, "You are crazy!"

Chapter 167: .over thinking

The ninth order seems to be one step more than the eighth order. Fastest update※※

But Tier Nine is the threshold for the sanctuary-level powerhouse.

If the advantages of the golden strong over the silver strong are more vigorous, the attack distance also has a certain advantage, and even these advantages can rely on the aura to deter the enemy, then in addition to the greater strengthening in these aspects, the sanctuary strong The aura of deterrence also has the domain "ness", because they are the real powerhouses who have begun to contact the laws of the world.

The manifestation of "sex" in this field is that the golden power can only use momentum suppression to make opponents hesitate for a moment or slow in action, but they can get any undesirable effects. However, the sanctuary powerhouse, even if it is only a ninth-tier lower sanctuary, can already create a weakened "sexual" ubuff for opponents that even the system will recognize.

It is precisely because of this that the middle-aged man who stands in front of Vivian has such a big tone. [

Because in his eyes, although Vivian was not the upper silver as the intelligence said, but the upper gold, but with the sanctuary's domain aura, it was not a big problem to kill her. As for the army behind Vivienne, the middle-aged man really didn't look at it at the beginning, because for his level, the number of ordinary troops had no meaning.

On the Marvel Continent, there is an extremely clear standard for judging the proportion of battles between the army and the strong.

To deal with a strong, what is needed is a strong combat unit, and each strong combat unit refers to five hundred well-trained elite soldiers. In other words, if you want to deal with a lower-level gold-level strong, then at least a fourth-level strong combat unit is needed. That is, five hundred soldiers of the fourth-level army, but based on the proportion of the upper level gold powerhouses able to deal with two to three lower level gold powerhouses, a fourth-level powerhouse combat unit can only fight against one upper level gold powerhouse at most. If you have a certain degree of threat and want to deal with the upper gold powerhouse. At the very least, there must be one level five strong combat unit or three to four level four strong combat units.

As for the lower sanctuary powerhouses, then one must have a level 6 strong combat unit, or simply ten five level strong combat units.

Because of the gap between Sanctuary and gold, it is already a qualitative change.

certainly. These criteria for judgment refer to the absence of a commander. If there is a commander, then this standard can be reduced. If it is a powerful commander like William, or a brave commander like Cecilia, Klov, Carlos, and Krumah, its The standard can be greatly reduced. And if the commander's commanding ability is not good, and his personal combat power is extremely outstanding, it can also play a very positive role.

A four-level army with five thousand people, facing a five-level army with only three thousand people. The same is not an opponent.

But if the difference between the commanders of the two sides is too large. Then this fourth-tier army can still wipe out this fifth-tier army at a certain price.

And now. This is the situation faced by this middle-aged man.

Ten Tier 4 combat units, of course, will not be regarded as a threat by this lower sanctuary powerhouse. He can even get out easily after severely injuring this army. Even if their commander is still the upper silver Vivian, the middle-aged man will not care.

But now. Vivienne's strength is a high-ranking golden powerhouse, and it is well known that the three followers of Asuna, the Valkyrie, are just like their masters. He is also a very good commanding talent. So now an individual is extremely powerful, knows how to command combat, and there is an elite army of up to five thousand people who are not afraid of death. This has already severely damaged this sanctuary powerhouse, and may even destroy him. The threat of killing "sex".

"Do you still fight?" Vivian raised her eyebrows, "If you don't fight, don't stand in the way, mother, I'm busy."

Vivian's first impression is that of the kind of dignified and elegant delicate woman, whether it is the corners of her mouth raised slightly when she smiles, or her temperament and demeanor, she is not a model for a lady. In fact, Vivienne Michel is indeed a traditional family born in the Duchy of Lane. The highest knighthood of his family's ancestors is the Marquis. This is also the highest knighthood that can be obtained in a duchy, and Michel from the Duchy of Lane The most frequent talents in the family are scholar-type talents. After all, the family's heritage is there, so it is natural for Vivian to develop such a dignified and elegant temperament.

It's a pity, all of this must be based on the premise that Vivian doesn't speak.

Because once she speaks, she will completely destroy her dignified and elegant temperament, and she feels like a vulgar bandit to the extreme, not at all like a daughter. This aspect is related to Vivian's rebellion, and on the other hand, it is also related to the environmental impact that Vivian has suffered since childhood. However, a family known for academics actually produced a person like Vivian who likes to use violence to solve problems. , And it is really surprising enough.

"Are you crazy?" The middle-aged man's face was gloomy.

"Crazy?" Vivian smiled disdainfully, "You Nugus can send a sanctuary here, I think this is crazy."

There are only ten sanctuary powerhouses on the face of the Darbyang Kingdom.

Not all of these ten sanctuary powerhouses belong to one family, but are owned by the royal family, two princes, and major families. It's not uncommon for the Nugus family, who can be as famous as the Boulder family, to have a sanctuary powerhouse, but the Nugus family will actually send out such a sanctuary powerhouse. This is definitely enough for people. Surprised things too. [

Of course, the former chief of the Great Rift Valley Valkyrie is also the strength of the lower sanctuary, but in fact, he is also a member of the Nugus family. But what the outside world knows is that this is a district chief who is in charge of all the affairs of the Great Rift Valley. He will never know that he is the hidden hole card of the Nugus family. And as a powerful kingdom, there will definitely be so many hidden hole cards, and it will definitely not be just the power that is shown on the surface.

But such a family has two sanctuary powerhouses, even if it is one light and one dark, this is by no means small. It's just a pity. This trump card has been killed by Beth, and it is for this reason that the Nugus family regards Sean as a thorn in the eye and a thorn in the flesh, so this time I received Asuna and sent someone to rescue Xiao. En Shi. The Nugus family would directly let Lawrence take the shot.

After all, the weight of a sanctuary powerhouse, even Asuna still has to weigh it.

But even Lawrence did not expect that Vivian's strength was not what he encountered a few years ago. Moreover, she pulled out the elite troops of Thunder's Front in one breath.

You should know that the army of Thunder's Front is the real army of Asuna's lineage!

Almost at this moment, Lawrence thought of a more critical question.

Why is there no news about the intelligence network of the Nugus family when the Thunder's Front is dispatched? It is impossible for an elite unit like Thunder's Front to be able to hide from the nobles of the Kingdom of Darbion who are closely tracking Asuna at any one time. What's more, this time around, the number of troops in the Thunder's Front led by Vivian is like this. There are so many, but no one seems to know the same, no one has received the news at all.

At this moment, Lawrence understood: Panda leads the current military commander. Definitely a very scary person!

Because the Modger collar and Panda collar are adjacent. So it won't take long if you march into Pandaren in a hurry. Then the only spy that can block all spies. So much so that the entire nobles of the Darbion Kingdom knew all about the intelligence network spread across the Pandan collar, which was the cover and truncation of this network. Only then did the espionage of the Kingdom of Darbion completely fail.

William Yale!

Lawrence suddenly felt a little horrified, because he suddenly thought of the name for no reason. Because it has been confirmed based on the information spied on before. In the absence of the lord Sean, the highest authority persons in charge of the territory are William Yale and Neal. One of the two is the supreme military commander and the other is the acting lord. Moreover, William Yale had already demonstrated his amazing layout ability when he blocked the Gorge Rift before. Therefore, it is not difficult to deploy an intelligence network that can cover all signs of Thunder's Front.

But in this way, Lawrence can also understand why Asuna has to spend so much effort to keep Sean.

Because if according to Nugus's approach, if the pioneering knight under his command has such a strong man, they will even find a way to make the pioneering knight die, and then use various methods to make all the talented and capable people under his command. Winning to his own command, instead of letting these talents be under the command of this pioneering knight.

But soon, Lawrence regarded this as a means to buy people's hearts. He began to feel that perhaps his presence here is also very good news for Asuna, the Marquis of Tonis, because his identity and strength are enough to play a role in containing and delaying Vivienne and Thunder's front. . Under such circumstances, of course Vivienne couldn't rescue Sean in time, so if Sean died by that time, Asuna would include William Yale under her command, naturally there would be no hindrance.

But in this way, Lawrence is also a little tangled.

Because Asuna's own military prowess caused the entire Kingdom of Darbion to panic, and William had shocked the nobles of the Kingdom of Darbion. Doesn't this mean that it is simply impossible to win the combination of these two men in military operations? But after thinking about it carefully, Lawrence was also a little relieved, because no matter how powerful these two men were, their personal strength was still not enough, so if they were willing to spend a little money, it would be a good idea to solve them through assassination.

Thinking of this, Lawrence smiled: "I see, I am worthy of the Marquis of Tonis, and the political methods are so skilled."

"Do you understand?" Wei Wei'an was shocked. Could it be that the plan to drink the horse Fengshen Lake was discovered? So he immediately said: "What do you understand?"

When Lawrence saw Vivienne's reaction, he immediately thought that he had guessed it correctly, and even in his heart: "Then let me look at the thundering front under the Marquis of Tonis, is there another one in the past few years? Why grow up."

Hearing Lawrence's words, Vivienne knew that he would definitely not retreat, so he was murderous in his heart: "Line up! Ready to charge!"

Feeling a more condensed essence, Lawrence's heart was stunned: Could it be that he saw through Asuna's secret, so Vivian wanted to kill someone?

If Vivienne knew what Lawrence was thinking at this moment, she would definitely laugh at Lawrence for thinking too much. [

But it's a pity that Vivian doesn't know what Lawrence is thinking, she only knows that she has to solve the annoying fly in front of her as quickly as possible!

The next moment, the front of Five Thousand Thunder, led by Vivian, launched an attack towards Lawrence!

Chapter 168: .Lucky?

The temperature began to become hot.

Because the noon of the wild land is gradually approaching. At this time, anyone walking on the wild land can clearly see the air distortion phenomenon formed by the mist rising from the high temperature on the Gobi. If once it reaches the hottest noon, then even the most tyrannical beast here in the Wild Land is rarely willing to show up at this time.

But even at this moment, there is still a group of people crawling on a high ground.

This is a highland, the terrain is not too high, but if you are just a little careful on the ground, even if someone passes by on the ground, as long as you don't look up and observe it carefully, you still can't find the people hiding here. What's more, this high ground can be observed hundreds of meters away, and if the distance is stretched to hundreds of meters away, it will be even more difficult to find people hidden on this high ground.

At this moment, there happened to be a team walking on the Gobi in the Wildlands.

The size of this team is very long. Many people seem to be a little weak. Their footsteps seem to be vain, as if they are going to the next place after a battle without any rest. Like the battlefield. This team may be exhausted, so they did not continue to maintain the formation when they advanced, but walked a little sparsely, and even stretched the team very long, seemingly endless.

In this team, there are many people who have been injured. They were shivering as if they had been treated cruelly, and these people didn't have hoods and cloaks on their bodies, and they had to be helped by other people even when they walked.

The morale of the entire team is obviously in an extremely low situation, and even a bit exhausted.

With the spirit and spirit level of this team, it is naturally impossible to find out. Someone is watching them carefully on a high ground hundreds of meters away.

"The size of the team may be more than a thousand people." Andre frowned, then spoke.

With the judgment of Andre, a veteran in the wild, it is undoubtedly the most accurate. Because if the judgment is not accurate enough, then for a slave hunting team, it is no less than a disaster. After all, if you can't judge the general population of a tribe in an instant or even some related things, then blindly attack. The result is never a good thing.

So when Andre said the number of people in this team, everyone already believed seven or eight points.

Of course, the remaining two or three points do not mean that they have any objections. In fact, the people present are all commanders with good strength. They are judged by such methods as formation, team length, team thickness, etc. The number of troops is a very basic step. It is precisely because of this foundation that every commander has his own pride, so the retention of two to three points of doubt can be understood as a manifestation of self-esteem.

After all, everyone has different strengths and different ways of looking at problems, so the accuracy of judgment in this aspect is naturally different.

"Can you see anything?" Sean asked, "For example, which family's army or what?"

"I can't see it." After observing for a while, many people finally shook their heads helplessly.

Sean and others will know if this is an army, or because of the reconnaissance report of Im and Ruby that night. Later, when he killed Burrell, Sean also found the wolf's subordinate, but it was a pity that this subordinate seemed to be a non-staff, so he had no information on the wolf's origin, identity, etc. Knowing that, under such circumstances, Sean chose to let the scout go back to report the situation to the wolf, and then there was the scene where the wolf rushed to clean up the mess, as well as the scene in front of him.

Yes, Sean was planning a bigger counterattack from the beginning.

Sitting and waiting to die has never been his style.

While seeing the plan in front of him is being realized step by step, Sean also encountered a new problem.

They don't know where this army came from.

Each army must have its own origin, and can usually be judged by clues such as flags, clothing, and even family crests. With the True Eye that Sean has, as long as he knows these clues to infer the origin of a troop, then he can get the intelligence data of the entire troop in the first time.

But the current problem is that the people in this army are all wearing hooded cloaks, and there is no banner. It is simply impossible to judge the origin of this army. In this unknown situation, it is not a good idea to launch a surprise attack on an army with a number of up to a thousand people, especially since this army has several strong men in the golden realm.

"The other party has at least four Golden Realm powerhouses." After observing for a while, Clover quickly discovered the four powerful auras hidden in this team. If it's not in harmony with the surrounding environment, I really may not be able to find out."

Klov said this, of course, it also had his purpose.

He knew about Sean's plan last night: to lure the commander named wolf out, and then give them some trouble to do, consume their physical strength, and then launch an attack on the other side's way back. Because according to Sean's calculations, this unit had been on the road all night and was busy digging pits and recruiting wounded all morning. These things would consume at least half of their energy and physical strength, and then when they return. It should be the hottest time, the enemy's mind will be in a state of irritability and relaxation. If a surprise attack is launched at this time, then Xiao En and others will completely occupy the three major advantages of time, location, people and.

But it's a pity that Sean didn't expect that the other party would be so cautious. When they were dispatched, they would be a thousand people with them, and there were actually four powerhouses in the golden realm. This made Sean feel a sense of frustration.

And Clover said this sentence at this time, naturally reminding Sean not to blindly mess around. With their current strength of less than four hundred people, they want to launch a surprise attack on a team of a thousand people with four golden strong men. This is not a fun thing. Although it may not be defeated, the casualties will definitely be. It's very heavy, which is different from Clover's purpose to protect Cecilia.

But if Sean insisted on fighting, Cecilia would never object, and even immediately support it with action, so in order to avoid such a situation, Clover had to stop it. If the main offensive unit is not his unit, and Cecilia doesn't need to take risks, then Clover will never remind Sean that there are four golden powerhouses in the opposing army.

Although there is a lot of unsentiment in his heart, Sean also knows that the raid in this plan cannot be done.

If the opponent has only two golden powerhouses, then he can still fight it, but if four golden powerhouses join an army with a size of a thousand people, it is not his prey now. Because no matter how bad the army is, it is still a third-level army, not armed soldiers in tribes like trading points. There is an absolute gap between the two, and Klov can handle two golden powerhouses. It is also based on him. In the case of sufficient troops, almost all of the troops must be sacrificed.

Similarly, Sean can solve two golden powerhouses in one go, but he will also have no fighting power afterwards. And even if Cecilia launches an attack with a large fire magic, the opponent will not give her this time, even if it does, the enemy is not a kobold, and it is impossible to be frightened to collapse with a single magic. At that time, under the leadership of the four golden powerhouses, Clover's army would be directly annihilated.

And they will give Sean another chance after a golden powerhouse is directly killed by Sean in close proximity? I am afraid they will use the tactics of strong vindictiveness and long attack distance to confront Sean.

If this is the case, it is not that Sean and the others raided the opponent, but were fought back by the opponent in a beautiful counterattack.

Thinking of this, Sean sighed helplessly after all, and said: "Withdraw....Let's go and meet Rina first."

When Xiao En said this, everyone nodded, and then began to evacuate from the high ground cautiously, without daring to make too much noise. After all, the opponent has four gold-level powerhouses. At this distance, Sean and the others are able to observe the situation of the opponent's army, which means that the opponent is also likely to discover the situation of Sean and others. Moreover, relying on the perceptual advantage of the golden powerhouse, Clover did not even dare to directly observe the four breaths hidden in the crowd.

But at this moment, it was almost the moment when Xiao En and others evacuated from the high ground.

The commander wolf of the army 100 meters away from the high ground here, his face immediately became gloomy: "They actually left?"

"Yes." A man with a vigorous aura that is not inferior to a wolf said in a deep voice, "They have already begun to retreat. It may be that we are tempting them to attack."

"Damn it! What a cunning group of mice!" The wolf let out an angry curse.

Wolf is a follower of the three young masters of the Nugus family, and he is best at fighting ambushes, sneak attacks, and other insidious tactics, and he is also a golden powerhouse, so his mind is naturally impossible. When she almost saw the circumstances of Burair's death, she knew that Sean and others would definitely ambush them. That's why she made the whole army seem a little slack, and even competed with several other golden men. All of them are hidden in the team, thinking about the plan to do what they want.

As long as Sean and the others dare to launch a surprise attack, then welcoming them is a counter-ambush!

Obviously, because of some factors, Sean and others did not discover why the four golden powerhouses such as the wolf should be hidden in the team. But no matter how you say it, Xiao En and others can indeed be regarded as escaped, and this result makes the wolf naturally hateful.

Because she had never expected that Sean would give up such a big bait!

"Chasing!" The wolf just pondered for less than five seconds, and immediately made a decision, "Leave three hundred people to * the wounded back to the camp. You go back with the army, and the others will chase with me!"

Soon, a team of 700 people and two golden experts immediately followed the wolf and started rushing towards the high ground.

In a blink of an eye, a surprise attack attempted by Sean turned into a chase led by a wolf!

At this time, Xiao En and others did not even know that their tracks had been discovered!

Chapter 169: .Lucky?

The evacuation speed of Sean and others was very fast.

Originally, the Cecilia Guards were already on standby at the back of the high ground.

After they solved Burair's forces last night, they immediately moved over here, and then they camped here to rest until morning. As the most powerful force in the war, the Cecilia Guards' consumption was of course not small. Although only one person was killed, many people were actually injured. Divine grace and divine power have also improved, and the goddess of ice and snow and winter are not known for healing magic, and Dini is still a combat priest, naturally there is no way to heal so many people.

Therefore, the method used is still mainly physical therapy, supplemented by magical therapy.

Fortunately, the Cecilia's guards were all mercenaries and were very familiar with this kind of treatment. Therefore, many injuries were stopped at once. Not only could the bleeding be stopped immediately, but also the deterioration of the injuries was prevented. Let Dini save a lot of effort. After that, the remaining problems are temporary weakness caused by blood loss, and nutritional problems that cannot be quickly supplemented due to environmental factors.

But after a night of rest, these guys are still good. As for the bear-men and the northern barbarians who did not participate in the battle, their condition is even worse. In fact, if Sean really intends to launch a surprise attack, in addition to the Cecilia Guards as the main force, all the Northland Barbarians will go into battle, but even this number is only about 300 people. .

So at this moment, when Sean decided not to launch a surprise attack but to let the whole army retreat, the rested troops immediately began to evacuate here.

Only ten seconds before and after, the whole army has already set off.

At this time, it happened that the wolf and others discovered that Sean's team was evacuating, so they decided on the time to attack. It's just that when the wolf arranged to lead seven hundred people to attack, Xiao En and others had already evacuated two or three hundred meters away. Because they were afraid that they would lose track of Xiao En and others, the whole army began to march in a hurry again. Inevitably, the physical consumption of the entire army has been increased again.

When the wolf led the crowd rushed to this terrain, she was shocked to realize that it was not a flat terrain, but a high ground with cliffs!

For a time, the three strong men looked at each other.

Wolf only hesitated for half a second, his whole body burst into momentum, and the hem of his cloak was constantly swinging by the wind. But the next moment, I saw the wolf stomped on his right foot, and the whole person jumped to a height of tens of meters. Then the left foot was stomped in the void, and the figure was raised again by tens of meters. After repeating this two or three times, The wolf had already jumped to the top of the high ground on this cliff and looked forward coldly.

At a distance of two or three hundred meters from the high ground, a small force is quickly evacuating to the northwest.

In the next second, the wolf quickly scanned the surrounding terrain, and suddenly discovered that the terrain here is indeed not good, because it is very concealed. If it weren't for them, the golden powerhouses, who are already very sensitive to breath, and the realization is completely on guard, I am afraid it would be really hard to find anyone hiding here. At this moment, if the wolf wants to continue to order the pursuit, then the troops must go to the right to bypass this cliff, but by then the straight-line distance from Sean's troops will be more than 500 meters.

But the terrain of the wild land is never flat, but there will be many complex terrains, and it is often impossible to move in a straight line.

In other words, it is impossible to catch up with Sean's army quickly in a short time. And if the opponent finds the wolf and the others chasing, then I am afraid that if Sean and the others want to escape, the chase will take longer, maybe it will take a day or two. But now, the wolf knows that the Winter Wolf has been killed, and Rena has also broken through the front line of defense united by the three trade points. It is possible to support Shaun at any time, and there will be no chance to kill Shaun at that time.

Wolf was worried, but it wasn't as Shaun had imagined that Rena would be reunited with him because of insufficient troops. The real reason is that she knows that Rina's troops are all light cavalry units, which of course move faster than heavy cavalry. Even in the wild, if you want to run with all your strength, the infantry she brought is absolutely not. It may be able to catch up, but under normal circumstances, if a lord is in a dangerous situation, and then a cavalry unit comes to support, in any case, the lord must get on the horse and withdraw first.

So in fact, what the wolf is really worried about is that Sean runs away on horseback, so she can't kill Sean anymore.

And thinking of the punishment methods used by the third young master of the Nugus family, the wolf shuddered involuntarily.

Soon, the wolf jumped off the cliff again, then clicked on one of the golden powerhouses, and said in a deep voice: "Joe, you rush back immediately, and then all the others are dispatched except for the wounded and the 500 remaining troops. ... I will leave marks for you along the way, you must follow up as quickly as possible."

Hearing the wolf's decisive arrangement, the golden powerhouse named Joe was taken aback: "Is it necessary?"

"You have heard that Rena has broken out and the Winter Wolf has been killed, so the other two trading points must not dare to continue pursuing it rashly." Having said this, the wolf already felt a flame in his body. Burning, "Maybe these two guys may give up the pursuit, and the tortoise retracts to their trading point.... And I have a vague intuition that this Sean and Rina must have a connection, so they will be before the next morning at the latest. It will definitely converge, and we will definitely not be able to intercept it with our little strength, but if you can just form an encirclement to support you at that time, then the situation will be completely different."

Hearing what the wolf said, Joe immediately understood it.

Wolf itself is a very cunning person. She is best at assault tactics and decapitation tactics, so she must be very rich in the experience similar to chasing at this moment. And even if this point is abandoned, even if their troops and the strong and even the people of several trading points are pieced together from several families, but the wolf is also the highest responsibility for the revenge action launched against Sean this time. People, everyone, under the non-critical error factor, must obey her orders.

Of course, the more important point is that she is a strong person in the entire team second only to Burair in personal strength.

After waking up, Joe didn't say anything, but immediately turned and left.

The camp where they are stationed is only half a day away. If he is faster, he might be able to return to the camp for two hours to rest before noon. After the arrangement is completed, he can leave immediately before the evening. And as long as the wolf's pursuit is smoother, and there is no such thing as an attack for thousands of miles, then maybe you can join the wolf and complete this mission at the latest tomorrow night.

After seeing Joe leave, the wolf did not say anything. Instead, facing 700 soldiers and another golden powerhouse, he said in a deep voice, "You have already seen the critical situation, so I don't plan to say anything. ... Before noon comes, we must find a shady place to rest, and at the same time, we must bite the tail of Sean's troop tightly, and must not let the other party stay away from us!"

"Yes!"

Soon, this force became only two golden powerhouses and 700 soldiers.

But at this time, they were also at the moment when their morale was the highest, and the exhaustion on their bodies disappeared completely, and the spirit and appearance of the entire army immediately took on a new look. It's just that the only person who has a different opinion on this is another low-ranking golden strong Zorn. He knows very well that this unit looks very morale now, but because he has been on the road for a whole night, he has done another morning's work. Now, even the food is no longer enough. If they can't bite Sean's army before the afternoon, it will not be a good thing for them.

But before this was said, the whole army began to move forward under the leadership of the wolf.

Same as the situation estimated by the wolf, when the troop bypassed the cliff, the straight-line distance between them and Shaun was indeed more than 500 meters. But if you want to catch up with Sean's troops, it can't be done within an hour, because they must return to the high ground position before they can start the pursuit. As a result, it will take longer, and it will be noon right away. If the army is forced to march at this temperature, the number of non-combat attritions will probably exceed one hundred, which is not a problem for wolves. Acceptable results.

So after bypassing the high ground, the distance between Wolf and Sean and others was already more than kilometers away. In this regard, the wolf can only tell the troops to start looking for a shady back sun, otherwise it is indeed too dangerous here in the wild land.

But I don't know if the world's will is going against the wolf.

When noon finally began to come, the wolf and the others hadn't found any shady place where they could rest. Under the high temperature of nearly fifty degrees, the negative situation of the whole army soon began to be exposed. The exhaustion caused by long hours of driving, work and lack of food broke out completely, and then added. The water shortage caused by the high temperature is not something ordinary people can bear.

The non-combat attrition that the wolf least wants to see has finally started to deteriorate at this moment.

At this time, Xiao En and others, who had found a shady and sunny place, were eating dry food and resting.

"I'm so lucky, I found here just before noon." Andre drank a sip of water, then said with some joy.

"Then you don't thank Sean yet." Cecilia said, "If Sean hadn't lost her necklace and were looking for it, we wouldn't be able to find this place.... I didn't expect this place to look like. It doesn't seem to be peculiar, but there will be such a low valley, and the ground above just blocks the sun.... The wild land is indeed a magical place."

"Perhaps this is the reason why this necklace is called a lucky necklace." Sean said with a golden necklace, but with a faint red light, "I don't know why, when holding this necklace, I always feel as if I'm being targeted by something. But after I checked the surroundings, it was not dangerous at all, which made me feel a little strange."

"Is it a necklace warning or something?" Cecilia said curiously, "Didn't you say that this necklace will bring you luck?"

"Yes, but..." Sean was a little puzzled: Is it possible that in the real world, the situation of luck is different from the situation reflected in the game? And being able to find this shady place by oneself, is it also the luck technique at work? And looking back at this moment, it seemed that he was inexplicably irritated because the necklace suddenly heated up, and he did not order a raid on the army that was returning to the camp. It was precisely because of this that he lost this lucky necklace later. of.

Now that I think of everything, Sean has an illusion. Is luck also a manifestation of the laws of this world? Or even the will of the world itself?

Chapter 170: .Fortune and Doom

The extreme temperature difference between day and night in the wild land, the wolf and others have already experienced it before. But what really made her feel that the harsh climate environment in the wild land is today, because at noon, hundreds of soldiers fell due to physical problems and high temperatures. Although there is no danger of life, it is because this is not Combat attrition, her army immediately changed from 700 to more than 500.

It's nothing more than this, but seeing all the soldiers look exhausted, the wolf has to order a temporary camp, and get some food first.

But in this wild land, is it easy to hunt and get some food supplies?

The result is no need to think about it. No food or drinking water was found. For this reason, the whole army lost even the last bit of combat effectiveness. The original high morale almost turned into a kind of despair in an instant. Even the wolf and another golden powerhouse had already felt impatient, and even gave up the idea of chasing them. But at this moment, they suddenly discovered a group of wolf-shaped monsters. Overjoyed, the wolf and another strong man did not hesitate to take action, so the food problem of the whole army was finally solved.

At this moment, the wolf couldn't help but think of the saying that the road to heaven is infinite.

But even in this case, the troop cannot be recovered due to weather problems rather than combat attrition, so the wolf can only leave some people to take care of the wounded, and let them wait for the large troop led by Joe to meet before rushing. Come up. By this time, the wolf didn't think about how to chase Sean anymore. What she thought was that at the very least, she wanted to find Sean's traces.

But with such a delay in the afternoon, the distance between her and Sean is naturally conceivable.

Until night, the weather had become gloomy and cold, and they even had to continue camping without finding any trace of Sean and others. Under such circumstances, wolves once again have to face naked reality problems-food, drinking, and low temperature. As soon as these three major problems broke out, the wolves left only five hundred people and fell down on the spot with a staggering number of people. The number is exactly the same as the number of people who fell at noon.

This time, they really lacked food and water.

So the wolves knew that even if these problems were solved now, they would not have any ability to keep track of Sean.

From chasing to tracking, and then from tracking to giving up, it took only half a day before and after.

Hope that the despair afterwards made the wolf almost crazy.

If it was just like this, it would be fine, but when the temperature officially entered the freezing point late at night, the large unit that should have caught up with them did not actually catch up, and the wolf had already realized the seriousness of the problem.

Sure enough, in the next half an hour, several people fell. This is not the same as the situation at noon. Because of hunger, fatigue and low temperature, these few people directly froze to death, and in the half hour later, the situation began to deteriorate seriously, and the number of people who were frozen to death. It quickly broke through the single digits, and the frequency continued to rise almost in units of minutes.

At this time, two hundred meters away from the camp of the wolf and the others, is the place where Xiao En and the others camped.

The original distance is not difficult to find with the eyesight of wolves and others. However, the terrain of the wild land has always been extremely complex. Often when you think it is impossible to have any strange terrain, there will be a crack, a subsidence, a mountain wall, quicksand and other strange terrain, and now it is blocked. Between Sean and the wolf is a dense stone forest, and on the side of the stone forest, near where Sean and the others camped, there is also a highland with a height of 30 to 40 meters.

Xiao En and others set up camp here. It happens to be able to use the rocky forest and high ground as windshield points. Not only is the rising bonfire difficult to find, but also the impact of the cold wind will be reduced accordingly. As far as the camping point is concerned, this is undoubtedly most suitable.

At this moment, Sean is playing with Thiers' lucky necklace.

"Cecilia, do you think the jade luster on this necklace seems to be dimmed?" Sean asked.

"Is there?" Cecilia took the necklace, then looked through it, and said strangely, "Isn't this necklace always gray? It doesn't look so beautiful and luxurious, if it weren't for you To say that this is a golden-grade demonized jewelry, I would definitely not believe it."

The implication of Cecilia's words is very obvious, that is, she unconditionally trusts every word that Shaun said.

It's just that this time, Sean's attention was completely focused on Thiers' lucky necklace, and he didn't notice the subtext in Cecilia's words. But Cecilia didn't seem to have much thought about this. Seeing Sean staring at the necklace so intently, she also stared with some curiosity, even slightly emitting fluctuations in mental power, intending to observe it in other ways. .

As a magician, it is not advisable to observe a thing with the naked eye and sense alone. Many times they will use some other means to observe a thing. It's the same truth as a priest or priest who sometimes uses magic to test some unknown things. Therefore, it is the exclusive method of magicians to use powerful mental power to judge and observe things. Only in this way can they be able to judge and observe things. Discovered some obscure things with magic fluctuations.

It's okay not to do this. After doing this, Cecilia immediately let out a low cry.

Before in the underground cave, Cecilia also tried it once, but that time she did not find that it was a powerful enchanted jewelry, but made her feel a little uneasy. Obviously, there is a very powerful barrier on this magical video, which can block any temptation of mental power fluctuations, and that trace of anxiety also gives Cecilia a feeling of being on the scene. It is a kind of being The feeling that the world has abandoned.

is so strong that it is almost a real bad luck breath.

That's why Cecilia resolutely refused to wear this necklace this time. She even wanted to tell Sean not to wear it. But I don't know why, she always couldn't say this sentence, and later I saw that Sean was fine with this necklace, so she forgot about it.

But now, in Cecilia's mental fluctuations, the trace of bad luck that frightened her has disappeared! Even the barrier that can shield her mental wave induction is gone. At this moment, in her mental wave induction, there is an extremely bright and strong magic wave aura. This breath is simply what Cecilia has seen in her life. In the end, this has reached an incredible level.

Sean saw Cecilia's reaction and immediately realized his negligence.

Sean knows very well that, in fact, he is not a genius or knowledgeable  at all. The reason why he understands many things in this world so clearly is because he encountered a lot of things in the game at the beginning, and he even experienced many of them. This kind of experience once in person naturally allows Sean to have more Others have more experience and awareness, and there is also a lot of information collected in the game.

But if this is the case, at best, Sean can only give people the impression that he has a relatively large range of knowledge and a wide range of research. But with the cooperation of the real eye, Sean almost has a taste of omniscience. Under the peeping of the real eye, it is impossible to keep any secrets, and this is Sean. The reason why people feel unfathomable now.

So, under normal circumstances, Sean should use the real eye to check this Thiers' lucky necklace.

Realizing his negligence, Sean immediately activated the True Eye ability and began to check the necklace in his hand.

Soon, he noticed the change on this necklace.

All data on the necklace is normal, but only one data has changed.

【Permanent effect "lucky technique": Your luck is significantly improved. 】

This piece of data has turned into a gray state at this moment.

In the game, the gray state usually means that it is not activated, cooling down, and so on. Like Sean's skill column, there are many skills that are grayed out. These indicate that he has reached the conditions for learning skills, but has not been activated. As long as he invests in proficiency points, he can activate these skills.

The lucky effect turns into a gray inactive state. What is going on?

Shaun was stunned for an instant.

But before Sean can think about this question, Ruby has already ran to Sean in a stride, and then said: "My lord, we are being targeted."

When Rupiah said this, Sean felt as if he had been stabbed by something, and immediately reacted. Because when he was resting in the hole in the ground at noon today, he already felt this feeling of being watched, and this feeling became more and more obvious after that, until not long ago. En found that the luster of the jade on this necklace seemed to have dimmed, that feeling disappeared.

And holding it in his hand at this moment, I can't feel the burning sensation from the necklace at all.

However, Sean understands that this should be the best use of luck.

So soon, he put on the necklace again, but the feeling of wearing the necklace this time made him a little strange. Because when he put on the necklace before, he had a very obvious feeling. It seemed that the connection with the world had become clearer, but this time he didn't feel that way. But now he didn't have time to think about it, so he asked, "Who is the one who is eyeing us?"

"Teacher Yim has been investigating, and I believe there will be results soon." Ruby said, "The instructor asked me to come over and report to you, your lord, because the enemy is two hundred meters away from us at the moment."

"Kamikochi!" Sean thought for a while, and said immediately.

"My lord, it's useless." Ruby stopped Sean's actions. "The other party didn't make a fire, so I couldn't see it even on the high ground.... We are downwind, the other party is upwind, because there is a smell coming, there is a The werewolf discovered the odor, so we only discovered the situation."

"It seems that those * guys are chasing over." In an instant, Sean immediately understood who was looking at them.

At this moment, Sean couldn't help but feel lucky again, because the other party could bite so tightly, which means that when they tried to launch a surprise attack in the morning, the other party already knew their existence. If they rushed forward at that time, it would be unlucky. It will be them.
