

Lord of War Vol 2-211

Chapter 211: . Everything is not accidental

The duel officially ended the moment Kristina gave up.

In fact, if Kristina doesn't admit defeat, Sean really needs a lot of hands and feet to solve it, because flash swordsmanship is a killing sword skill, its essence is to hit the opponent at the fastest speed. kill. But Kristina has obviously never really been on the battlefield, and has never tried to kill the enemy personally, so naturally there will be no such killing aura in her body, and her psychological endurance will be different.

Of course, if Christina is really determined to continue the duel, then Sean will not keep her hand, and it will never be possible for both sides to be uninjured as it is now, and the worst will be severely injured. But Sean must have to pay a little price, after all, Christina has mastered the Flash Soul Slash, and has contact with the Flash Thunder Slash, far from the enemies that Xiao En encountered before without high-level martial arts.

In this world, although the level of realm is an inherent strength determination method, among the strong of the same level, the determination of the level of strength is much more complicated. Whether to master the secret technique, whether to master the powerful martial arts, whether to have the bloodline, whether to awaken the bloodline, whether to have powerful equipment, etc., are the ways to determine the level of strength among opponents of the same tier.

Among those golden powerhouses that Sean encountered before, they were all pseudo-powerfuls who had no strength but did not have the ability of the strong. This is also very similar to Cecilia nowadays, because although she has powerful magical abilities, she is not so powerful in the mastery of magic. What she can cast is still low-level spells, and there are no intermediate-level spells. A few, let alone advanced spells.

The only enemy who can surprise Sean is only silver.

But it is a pity that this person whose future achievements are not necessarily lower than that of Sean has been completely stifled by him.

Now, Christina can be regarded as one.

Blinking swordsmanship was also the most popular sword skill in the game by players who use swords. Because in pvp, the lethality of this skill burst out is extremely amazing, and even if the situation is unfavorable, it can also use its instantaneous burst of propulsion to escape, so it will be especially sought after by players, but you have to learn This sword skill is definitely not an easy task.

Kristina can learn this sword skill, I have to say that she does have a good teacher, and of course it has a certain relationship with her talent. After all, Sean is now completely exploring the situation in this world. People in this world are not players like him. As long as they have enough proficiency, any ability can be quickly mastered. People in this world want to master it. In terms of skills, there are requirements closely related to talents.

When leaving from the fighting arena, only Sean and the Marquis of Yeles, as well as Anno and Alfred.

Kristina probably needs to clean up her emotions and mentality at this moment to be able to adapt to her new identity. But Sean was not really interested in this bet, because of course he couldn't stay too long in Luo Minggen, and after the dinner a few days later, he was about to leave here. Of course, if he can't steal the territorial documents at that time, then he can only use special force to solve the problem.

However, Sean really wanted to avoid this, because once he caught conclusive evidence, then the Peace Association guys would not recognize Sean's legal status at all. If he wants to do something with the Peace Association, Sean thinks for a while and thinks it's fine. The kind of guy who can be an enemy of the whole world and has lived well so far is not an opponent he can solve in any case.

After leaving the fighting arena, the gaze of the Marquis Jelles looking at Sean was slightly complicated.

Complex reasons, in fact, it is not difficult to guess.

There is no doubt that Christina is the future hope of the Kasaian family, because once this family becomes a noble on the ground, then the future development of the family must have a strong person. With Christina's ability, it is certainly not a problem to become a golden powerhouse, but now she is easily defeated by Sean, which is likely to cast a shadow in Christina's heart and affect her Naturally, future growth will not be considered favorable.

Moreover, Christina is also likely to become the second Patriarch of the Cassine family, but she is now Sean's maid because of the duel bet. If this news spreads, it will be for the Cassine family. Naturally, its future reputation is not so good.

So the eyes of the Marquis Jéles are a bit complicated, and of course it is a matter of course.

Walking on the road outside the fighting arena, the atmosphere is slightly silent.

To break the silence, it's Sean: "I think it's impossible to keep Christina from going out to practice like this. Relying on this almost bloodless duel method, she will not be able to become a real strong in the end.... Although she and My gap is really big, but if I really don't admit defeat, it can also cause me a lot of trouble."

"You... have you seen it?" The Marquis Jelles looked at Sean in surprise, and then sighed with a wry smile, "I brought her by my side, and it was indeed possible for her to compete with different people. The purpose of training. But from the beginning, there was absolutely no intention to offend you."

"Offensive?" Sean frowned slightly. He felt that Marquis Jéles' words were too polite.

"Aren't you sent by Master Boni?" There was a look of surprise on Jeles' face.

Boney?

Xiao En's face froze slightly, he finally knew why this old man, who was far above him, had to be so polite to him!

It's all because of the ring in my hand.

thinker.

[Thinker, Legend, Wisdom 5, Will 5, Immortal Effect "Concentration": It is difficult to distract your attention from anything (not easy to interrupt when casting a spell); Immortal effect "Wisdom": Rich experience and life Experience makes you very wise (you get a bonus when solving problems). Special: You have been approved by Bonnie White.]

[Item description: This is a simple-looking ring, but it is a gift from Professor Bonny White's tutor and has a very special meaning.]

"So you are a scholar." Xiao En sighed helplessly, "I really haven't seen your identity yet."

"Hehe, you are the first person to decline Heerson's letterhead." A smile finally appeared on Yeles' face. "When I heard you declined to join the research project led by Professor Bonny, many people thought You don't know the heights of the sky, but after seeing the introduction to the habits of the Shadow Demon Leopard in the appendix of your letter, everyone shut up, because even they don't necessarily know a beast that much. "

Faced with Jelles's compliment, Sean smiled bitterly. If he could, he really didn't want to have anything to do with the underground research institute of the Temple of Wisdom. Even if this research institute does have a very important connection with the later generations of Magic Technology , but Sean instinctively hopes to get results directly, rather than participate in this kind of research project, because it means that Sean is very likely Will be completely exposed to those real scholars and many great wizards.

But thinking about it this way, Sean suddenly realized something: "In that case, did you participate in the research work on the Shadow Leopard?"

"Yes." There was a hint of excitement and pride on Jeles' face, "Thanks to your blessing, because of the information about the shadow magic pupil leopard, our research work has also been sped up a lot, as early as It was completed more than a year ago. The results of this research have allowed us to further understand the shadow creatures and the underground world, but it is still at an undisclosed level, and Professor Boni has also begun to preside over a new research project. Magic power."

Hearing the name, Sean's brows twitched slightly.

Magic power is actually the predecessor of the magic core source, and it is also the major premise for the start of Magic Technology. Basically, all magic technologies need an energy core to provide operating power to replace the steam craft made by goblins and dwarves, thereby increasing efficiency and effectiveness in all aspects, of course, another advantage is the reduction in size.

To put it more popularly, it is to purify and purify, soothe the magic power, and turn it into something similar to a battery.

The research project of Magic Power, logically speaking, should be launched after the miracle calendar in 1877, and then after two years of research and experimentation, it was finally officially put into testing in 1879. This is what later players commonly called Magic Technology* *s inception. And that year, because the gate of the devil was opened on the mainland, the human army suffered heavy casualties, so the magic device that was in the dispute was put into use hastily and thus laid the foundation for the subsequent replacement of forging-level equipment.

But now, from the words of Jeles, Sean understands one thing, the research project of Magic Technology has been advanced by nearly five years!

The history that has been changed is the research project event of the Shadow Magic Eye Leopard!

Xiao En was surprised to find that he had already completely changed the history and speed of the development of this world without knowing it!

Originally, he always thought that the first historical event he prevented should be the opening of the Devil's Gate seven years later, but in the end it turned out to be the speed of scientific research in the entire world! In other words, Jeles, who once participated in the shadow magic pupil research project, will appear here. It is by no means an accident, but an inevitable. Then, as the one who has indirectly influenced the development of historical events, he will appear here. Here, the same will not be an accident.

Perhaps, it was precisely because he changed the course of history, and later because he joined Asuna's camp to try to start the war ahead of time, so the territory contract document that belonged to him did not fall into his hands smoothly.

Thinking of this, Xiao En suddenly turned his head and said in a deep voice, "Your goal is the mysterious drawing in Master Roda's hand?"

Chapter 212: .The real value of the thinker

"Yes." Jeles did not deny, "The mysterious drawing, the professors of the Temple Chamber agreed that it is likely to be the legacy left by the gods of the age of the gods to the world..."

"Wait." Sean interrupted Jeles.

The magic device is a new era force in the game. Its appearance replaces the old power mechanism. Its existence is not only to raise the power source of this world to a level, but also to promote the whole world. The power of scientific research. In this regard, from the point of view that the magical device becomes acceptable to civilians after it is officially popularized, it is not difficult to find that this is a real cross-age development.

Of course, the main effect is the evolution of magic research.

but!

The problem is that according to Sean's understanding, the war between the gods and the people was caused by magic. It was an age based on divine power. The existence of magic is like the belief in demons and demons. The category of believers. So Jeles said that this is the legacy left by the gods to mankind, which is not true at all. If it is the legacy passed down from other planes in the age of the gods, then Sean is more convinced.

Because according to Andrew, this world is not the only one, and there are other planes that are not inferior to the Marvel Continent with the same level of civilization.

"In the twilight era, it was because of the emergence of magic that there was a war between the gods and the people. Isn't this history that everyone knows?" Sean refuted Jeles' statement without hesitation. "So, If that drawing can never be a legacy left by God to the world..."

"Wait." This time, it was Jelles who interrupted Sean. "Who told you that the drawing is magic? We suspect that it is a drawing that teaches mortals how to draw a magical formation.... But there is no Before careful identification, no one can say for sure, so I was allowed to come. After all, I am more proficient in the research on the circle."

Sean was taken aback for a moment, and then he realized that he wanted to go wrong.

When he heard Jelles talk about magic power before, he wanted to study magic. After all, the essence of the magic device is magic, not divine power, so he did not notice the change in the content of Jelles's words. After being said so at this moment, Xiao En's face was rarely embarrassed. After all, if it was a * formation, then it might be left by god.

The so-called magic circle is actually something similar to the magic circle, but the former is activated by divine power, while the latter is activated by magic power. Of course, there will still be slight adjustments in the details. After all, the magic array needs the magic node to control the output of the magic power, and then transmits and transfers it through the magic circuit. The magic array does not have this trouble, only the corresponding magical power. It can stimulate the stored power of the God Array.

However, due to the destruction caused by the gods at dusk, the divine formations were basically destroyed, and there are only two divine formations left in the world today. And these two divine formations are in the territory of the Saint-Joles Empire, which is also the foundation of the Saint-Joles Empire. The kingdom of the Saint-Joles Empire is also the headquarters of the church of the * of dawn, the self-proclaimed God of Light. It was established on one of the gods.

As for the madness of the Helson Institute, I suddenly found a design drawing that might be a * array. It is no wonder that these madmen can't wait to appear here.

These guys, if possible, even the gods will be dissected by them for research.

"Then this time your main competitor is the Mage Guild?" After trying to understand these key points, Sean also understood one thing, "That's why you chose the Hastings family as an aid force to compete with the Mage Guild?... In this way, the Cassine family is just a cover?"

"It's not all like this." Yeles and Sean said as they walked, "I am indeed the Marquis of Honor of the Kingdom of Darbion, and the surname Kasaïen is also true, but my cooperation with the Hastings family is indeed true. For the purpose of contending with the Mage Guild, after all, if there is no such thing as the Hastings family, it is really difficult for me to compete with the Mage Guild with my identity and current strength."

"So that's it." Sean nodded, "So in this case, you and the Hastings family are only temporary allies?"

"Sure." Jeles smiled.

"Does the Hastings family know your scholarship?"

"I only know that I am a scholar from the Temple of Wisdom, and they don't know the specific identity." Jelles explained, "The secret of the Helson Institute is not something we can expose casually, that is, your Excellency you have received. Heerson's letterhead, so I can talk to you about this here. If my granddaughter is there, I can't speak these words."

Hearing what Jeles said, Sean thought for a while, and found that even though Jeles was very enthusiastic when Kristina was there, it was more just the attention of the eyes, but there were not so many words. At first, Sean thought that the old man Jeles seemed more talkative because of his long-term loneliness. He didn't expect that it was only due to some confidential incidents, so he couldn't say it.

"Kristina's future achievements are indeed limitless." Xiao En smiled, "but you should still let her go for the experience. Just bringing her around and competing with others like this is really useless, trust me."

"As for your words, I certainly believe that just now I saw my granddaughter be defeated for the first time." Jeles smiled heartily, not at all because his granddaughter was defeated and might even become Other people's maids felt depressed, "If I told Professor Boni that my granddaughter had been your servant for a while, I'm afraid even the professor would regret not having a granddaughter."

When Jelles said this, Sean immediately became a little embarrassed: "This is too flattering for me."

"No, no, no, this is not a polite statement, this is my sincere word." Jeles' expression became serious, and there was a sense of sacredness at this moment. It was obvious that the old fellow Bonnie was here. Rice has a very important influence and status in his mind. "Professor Boni has been saying so far that his most regrettable thing was that he failed to recruit you into the Heerson Institute. So Soma described me as having you When such a scholar appeared and that ring, I immediately knew your identity."

"This ring...is special?" Sean took off the Thinker and asked.

He knew that this was a legendary ring, but it was not very good in terms of attributes. Sean only fancied its wise effect and did not have a good ring replacement, so he never took it off. Of course, more often he thinks that this ring can be used as a token, just as he proved his scholarship to Soma before, but now listening to Jeles' meaning, it's obvious that this ring has other things. Special meaning.

"Of course." Sure enough, Jeles admitted the speciality of this ring as soon as he opened his mouth. "This is Professor Boni's token. If you bring this ring, you are equivalent to being a direct disciple of Professor Boni, even if it is another professor. Anyone who has not personally presided over a research project should be called with honorifics."

Sean was taken aback for a moment, he did not expect that the side effects brought by this ring would have these benefits!

This discovery only made Sean a little lost, and then he quickly realized a new problem, so he said: "If there is a conflict or contradiction between my family and the Hastings, then where do you stand? What about one side?"

"Do you still need to think about it?" Jeles said without hesitation, "Of course you are on your side. You are a direct disciple of Professor Boni, but we are from the Heerson Institute. At this point, I definitely support all your actions."

Sean nodded, and then said again: "What if I am not from the Kingdom of Darbion?"

"Not from the Kingdom of Darbion?" Jelles was stunned, but he replied quickly, "No matter which country you are from, you are from our Heerson Institute. This is from when you wear this The Thinker has already decided from the start. Anyone who studies the project with Professor Boni will treat you as his own."

Sean finally understood at this moment why the attribute attached to this legendary ring of Thinker was so low.

Of course, another aspect also made him understand that the people who came out of the Heerson Institute were indeed a group of unreasonable lunatics. When it comes to multiple choice questions about the country and the individual, these guys chose the individual without hesitation, and the country is not worth mentioning in their eyes.

Thinking of this, Xiao En said, "Actually, this time I approached the Hastings family for a purpose."

"Is there a purpose?" Jeles' expression became a little serious. He looked around and found that he and Sean were on a relatively remote path in the manor at the moment. After confirming that no one would come nearby. , He said, "Is there anything I can do to help? Your Excellency."

Hearing what Jeles said, Sean was really moved to tears.

"There is one thing, maybe you really need your help." Sean hesitated for a second, and then said without hesitation, just like Jeles trusted him, Sean also decided to reply with the same "The Hastings family recently obtained a contract of the territory, but I don't know where it is stored, that's the purpose of my trip."

"Are you talking about Panda's contract document?" Jeles reacted immediately, "You are...Sir Sean Connery? A pioneering knight under the Marquis of Tonys!" At this point, Jeles finally Wake up: "How do I say the name is different from what I heard from my mentor."

During the academic assessment, Xiao En had already said his name. After all, it was necessary to register and distribute it to all the temples of wisdom. However, the names of Sean and Soma's previous meeting with Times were different. Of course, this made Jelles a little confused at the beginning, but as a scholar of the Heerson Institute, caution is the first priority, so he has doubts. , But did not speak out the doubts, but finally reached a conclusion after passing his own judgment.

So of course Jeles knew that "Fran Dumoy" was just a pseudonym, but he did not expect that Sean's true identity was Sean Connery.

The name , as long as it is from the aristocratic circle of the Darbion Kingdom, it is impossible not to know it, even the honorary nobles will definitely hear it.

It is precisely because of this, so Jelles certainly knows how important the Panda's essay is to Sean and the entire Kingdom of Darbion.

However, this importance only flashed in Jeles' mind for a moment, before he completely abandoned it.

As Sean said, these scholars from the Heerson Institute are no longer the so-called national loyalty. Their true allegiance is only the God of Wisdom and the impulse to study and pursue the truth and truth.

So after a second, Jeles did not hesitate to tell Sean all the information about the contract documents in Panda's territory.

Chapter 213: .all the best

Shaun was a little at a loss.

He stared at a manuscript in front of him blankly.

This is a white handwritten book. The cover is drawn with some embellishments similar to patterns. The overall thickness is only one or two centimeters. If it is unfolded, it will not have this thickness, but at the moment there are red silk satin knots and knots on it. Sealed with fire lacquer, which means that this manuscript has been formally sealed.

This manuscript is what he brought out from Hastings Manor today, and it is also the thing he has most wanted to get during this time.

Territory contract document of Pandan.

Before this, Sean had imagined countless possibilities and how difficult it was to get this thing. He even negotiated with William and Neal. If it doesn't work, he is prepared to pretend to be bandits and bandits to attack. Of course, high-end powerhouses are indispensable to attack.

Only various backup plans, Sean prepared four or five copies.

But in fact, this territorial contract document was simply thrown on the table in Domingo Hastings bedroom by Soma. Apart from the regular cleaning of this room once a month, no one would go in at all, and even no guards were arranged outside the door.

At noon that day, after having lunch at the Hastings Manor, Yeles took Sean to visit the main building in the manor. This main building is actually the place where members of the Hastings family can live here. However, because of his special status, Soma arranged a room for him in the main building. In a certain name, Sean was not allowed to enter the main building, but the housekeeper considered it was yes. Sean was invited by Rice, so he didn't stop him.

Later?

When Sean came out of the main building, this Pandan territory contract document had been taken out by Sean hiding in the storage space.

At this time, he had returned from Hastings Manor to the private room of Binks Fine Wine.

But Sean's face is still a little dizzy.

It's that simple?

Then all the efforts he has made in the past few days have been in vain? If he knew that it was so easy to get it, Sean wouldn't have to come here in person. Wouldn't it be enough to entrust someone from the Thieves Guild to take action? Besides, Eli Kate made things so complicated before that Sean really worried for a long time.

"I think, can we go back?" Alfred also felt a little weird, and things suddenly went so well that people felt like a conspiracy.

"Not for the time being." Sean shook his head, "We need to make a full set for the show. If we leave now, it will harm Jeles."

When was saying this, the door of the room was knocked suddenly.

Anno got up and opened the door.

Standing outside the door is Eli Kate.

At this time, his face also had a somewhat unbelievable look: "You mean you have all done it?"

Sean nodded, and at the same time motioned to the white script on the table in the room.

This room was originally a single room. Usually, even if there is only Sean alone, it is relatively narrow, not to mention that there are two burly guys, Anno and Alfred, in the room at the moment. So when Ali Kate also entered the room, there seemed to be almost no room for movement in the entire room, and even walking became a relatively difficult task.

Alfred saw this situation, and after saying hello to Sean, he took Anno out together, and the room suddenly became empty again.

At least, this is the illusion.

Sean did not say anything, but looked at Eli Kate, the doubt on his face has not completely subsided.

To tell the truth, a very complicated and troublesome thing suddenly becomes very simple and smoothly done. This will give people a subtle sense of self-denial. Of course, it is accompanied by illusions such as conspiracy.

"Is this a conspiracy?" Avery Kate asked, "It's unbelievable that things went so well."

Sean prepared countless sets of plans, and Avery Kate was also unambiguous.

According to his plan, at the beginning, Sean appeared as a nobleman, then contacted Master Roda, and then dealt with wealthy merchants in Lomin City, stealing an invitation letter from it, and finally went to the sea. When Sting Manor held a dinner party, he stole the contract documents of the territory. Although the whole plan is not seamless, at least it is very feasible and there are no obvious flaws.

In the beginning, according to Eli Kate's plan, things really went well.

As a result, neither Eli Kate nor the Thieves Guild had found out that Master Roda had a blueprint that attracted the attention of all parties. It is precisely because of this that it caused the accident of Baron Yeros, which caused Sean to be forced to meet with Soma Hastings in advance.

Almost everything changed after this incident.

It's just that when Avery Kate also suspected that this was a conspiracy, Sean finally came back to his senses.

"No." Shaun shook his head, not so much that he believed in Jelles, it was better to say that he believed in the gathering place of lunatics at the Heerson Institute.

The Temple of Wisdom has never been a place where strong people are produced, but it is the existence of the Helson Institute that can stand for so many years without fail. Basically no matter which force it is, it will be more or less related to this existence, and for the people of the Heerson Institute, they do not have permanent enemies—even if this time is temporarily due to a certain purpose. Become enemies, but if there is a chance to cooperate next time, they will definitely be the one to clear up the previous suspicion the fastest.

For such a place, although there are many factions inside, its unity and confidentiality are not weak in organization, and it can even be said to be worse. Therefore, after Sean understands the true value of the thinker, he will choose to trust Jeles unconditionally. Only in this way can he be able to explain why Jeles would be so convinced of himself and support him unconditionally.

Avery Kate didn't understand these reasons, but seeing Sean vowed to say this so confidently, he didn't ask any more questions.

"When can this document be processed?" Xiao En asked.

Territory contract documents do not mean that everything will be fine if you steal them. It also requires a method similar to "transfer of ownership".

But in fact, this method is actually just a process, and most people don't take it seriously. But here is different for Sean, because he had to forge that this document has actually been in their hands from the beginning, so not only the name of the holder of the contract document has to be changed, but the same is also true. The seal of the family crest, the branding of the fire lacquer, etc. all need to be changed.

Avery Kate is a master in this area, so naturally he is all in charge.

Sean asked, when will Avery Kate be able to complete the work.

"This will take a while." Avery Kate has already used a paper cutter to cut the lacquer, and then fully unfold the contract document.

If Sean expected, there are only three pieces of paper in this handbook. One is about the origin of Panda's collar and the size of the territory, and the other is a certificate written by the original owner, proving that the territory now belongs to Domingo Hasting's, as for the last one is the witness's signature for fairness, and the family crest belonging to the witness is printed on it. Apart from this, there is nothing else in the handbook.

And what needs to be replaced is actually the last two proofs.

In this regard, Sean and Asuna have already negotiated. Because it was obtained from Asuna, the original owner is Asuna, and the new domain holder is Sean; the witnesses are Elizabeth and Simi, the former holds the status of the earl of the Duchy of Ryan, and then However, the person can be represented by the identity of the Magician Academy, and it is also extremely heavy in weight.

These two certificates have already been prepared, so at this time they are just being replaced and mounted, and the technical content is not very large. What really needs to be a waste of time is to make the material of this territorial contract "old". At least it has to make people feel that it is a bit old at first glance, rather than just getting it. This is the point of Avery. Kate said the reason for wasting time.

Besides, because of the changes in the plan, in order not to hurt Yeles, Sean and others must take another risk.

Elickett will forge this contract document once. This is a high imitation territory contract document that can be seen through careful inspection and traces of forgery. Of course, there are also some real things in it, that is, those two. The replaced certificate and witness signature. This forged contract document, Sean must find a way to put it back in Domingo Hasting's bedroom, only in this way will it not be involved in Jeles.

All the plans are thorough and careful.

The only flaw is probably that Sean is here in person. Fortunately, Avery Kate is a master of disguise, so if you want to expose this only flaw, it is actually quite difficult—at least, as long as Avery Kate doesn't betray Sean, then it won't. Something went wrong. But if you think about it carefully, if Avery Kate really wanted to betray Sean, he wouldn't have done so much work. All he needs to do is to speak to Soma Hastings.

"The forged document must be produced before the dinner party in Hastings Manor." Xiao En reminded, "That day is the last time to put the document back."

"I know." Eli Kate nodded earnestly, "Five days is more than enough.... But your document needs to be forged in material, so it will take a little longer. It may take three to three. In four days, only in this way can I guarantee the quality, otherwise it is easy to be seen through."

"Then, everything is up to you."

Chapter 214: . Annoying Flies

In the next few days, except for the occasional visit by Jelles to Sean, Sean declined all entertainment, including a small banquet hosted by Soma.

In fact, the original intention of this banquet was to introduce Shaun to other allies attached to the Hastings family, so as to prevent some unnecessary troubles. At that time, because of Sean's refusal, the purpose of this banquet naturally ended in failure. As a result, several small families, including the Yeros family, felt very arrogant and rude to Sean's behavior.

Although Soma is a little unhappy, it can only be attributed to the special temperament of a scholar.

At this point, Sean and Yeles are almost astonishingly similar.

But what is more surprising is that Christina has actually become Sean's servant.

In terms of appearance and temperament, Luo Mingen has only two people who can compare with Christina, but because of her origin, she is still a bit inferior to Christina. But in terms of personal strength, Christina is definitely the first person in the young generation that Luo Mingen deserves. Even Domingo's eldest son, Avi Hastings is not Christina's opponent at all.

Therefore, when Christina came to Luomingen, it immediately became a hot topic in the upper class of Luomingen. Many young people fell under Christina's pomegranate skirt. It is said that even Avi Hayes. Ting is no exception. However, Sean knew that this information was indeed true, otherwise the Hastings family would not be able to arrange for Yeles to live in the main building of Hastings Manor. Generally speaking, no matter how familiar allies are, it is impossible for them to live in a manor. In the core main building.

If the Hastings family had no intention of marrying the Cassine family, Sean would not believe it if he was killed.

He is no longer so ignorant and ignorant when he first came into this world.

A young man with great talent and potential like Christina, it is not a problem to become a golden powerhouse, maybe even step into the sanctuary. For a Hasting family who needs to depend on others, a strong sanctuary is equivalent to letting them have a ticket to become a duke—at least, this is the case in the Kingdom of Darbion, but in France like this That's not necessarily the old kingdoms of, let alone those powerful kingdoms that can rival the seven empires.

But now, such a person who has made the Hastings coveted becomes Sean's servant, which makes many people a little unbearable, especially Avi. Hastings.

It's just that Sean has no time to take care of the fly now.

Of course, it's better to say that this guy who looks like a fly in Sean's eyes is indeed very smart. He himself is not Christina's opponent, and naturally he will not have any idea of a duel against Sean who can easily defeat Christina. This is simply humiliating himself. But during this time, he did do what a fly should do, that is where Christina is.

However, keeping a proper distance with respect to politeness, Avi Hastings is still doing a good job, and trying to conquer a woman with a gentleman's demeanor and aristocratic tolerance, this is indeed some of the nobles' best skills. Unfortunately, this didn't seem to have much effect on Christina, so in the eyes of Sean who saw through Avi's actions, it was naturally a buzzing fly.

"When is the restaurant booked time to bring you?" Xiao En curled his lips.

"What restaurant?" Christina was a little confused.

"Of course it is the restaurant where lunch is prepared." Xiao En said with a look of surprise, "Don't you think I am an iron man and don't need to eat? How did you become a maid?"

"But...you have been going back to the pub to eat in the past few days." Christina replied.

"Didn't I tell you this morning? Today, I am going to taste the food at Luomingen House of Stars." Xiao En said with a serious face, "Today, a service attitude like yours is not enough! A master maid must record all the master's requirements in detail at all times and complete it with a perfect attitude."

"But you didn't say this morning that you were going to have a meal at the House of the Stars." Christina argued, "When I went to the tavern to find you in the morning, you came to the master's residence. You can explain everything along the way. no."

"Didn't I say it?" Sean asked back.

Anno and Alfred wisely chose to shut up. One of them closed their eyes and rested, while the other looked left and right. In any case, they would not look at Sean or pick up Sean's words. As they have been following Sean for a period of time, I don't know that Sean is just trying to play tricks. They just prayed silently for Christina. As for talking, they definitely don't do it because of this. There is no way to answer this kind of question. No matter how you say it, you will definitely offend another person, so it's better to shut up.

Under the influence of Neil, William, Alfred and others, Anno has become much smarter now.

"Absolutely! No! I said it!" Christina snorted.

"Dare to talk back!" Xiao En snorted coldly. "Tell me, what do I want your maid to do? Except for talking back to annoy me, what have you done in the past few days like a maid should do? ...As a maid, especially the chief maid, you must put the master's needs in the first place. Wouldn't I say you wouldn't do it? What use do you want?"

"I..." Kristina opened her mouth, completely unsure of what to say.

Said that she was not a maid originally, but she really had to fulfill the bet of the duel, otherwise she was making excuses for herself. But if she said she was a maid, she really didn't do anything these days, she just ran with Sean to Master Roda's residence, and in the afternoon she also chose to return to Hastings Manor instead of In Binks' wine lodging, this is indeed not like a maid's behavior.

"Don't hurry up and order food." Sean yelled.

"I'll come." Avi really couldn't stand it anymore, "I am familiar with the owner of that restaurant."

"No need!" Christina snorted coldly, and refused Avi's kindness without hesitation. At this time, she even turned Avi hostile. Then, without waiting for Sean and Avi to say anything, Christina had left Master Roda's residence and set off for the luxurious restaurant in the center of Luomingen.

Xiao En squinted at Avi, and sighed slightly in his heart: Sure enough, the biological IQs of the * period were all negative.

Kristina's anger has obviously been provoked by Sean. At this time, the most sensible thing is to shut up and accompany silently, instead of opening up as if showing off something to solve the problem for Kristina, because it would appear that Chris Tina was even more incompetent. After all, Sean has just repeatedly emphasized that Christina, the maid, is simply an incompetent person, so when Avi says that, it will naturally make Christina think that Avi is also here to laugh at him. .

It is really strange to have a good impression in this situation.

I have to say that Avi Hastings is actually a very handsome man.

He has golden curly hair, very handsome facial features, and full of a unique heroic spirit. Because of his birth, coupled with the deliberate training and training in the direction of successor since childhood, Avi. Hastings exudes the same military spirit as Domingo, and Sean can more keenly feel Avi. There is a very slight smell of blood on his body, which obviously means that he is a person who has really been in battle, and not a greenhouse flower like Christina who has killed people.

Perhaps it is precisely because of this that Avi was able to block Christina's Flash Slash.

Good housework, excellent strength, unique charm, handsome appearance, Avi is naturally admired and favored by countless women in Luomingen. The only pity is that Avi is not a truly talented genius, and there is no good coaching, otherwise the Hastings family may really be able to carry forward in Avi's hands-of course, if he can be at home Victory in the Lord's competition.

"Your Excellency, don't you think that you are doing it very much like a nobleman?" Avi looked at Sean with undisguised hostility in his eyes.

"Do you have any pitfalls in your brain?" Sean asked not to answer.

"What?" Avi froze for a moment, obviously did not understand the meaning of Sean's words.

"I mean, did you break your mind in a duel with others?" Sean explained emphatically.

"Your Excellency, are you insulting me?" Avi's face changed slightly, and he said in a deep voice.

"If your brain is not broken, do you need to teach me what attitude should I use to talk to my maid?" Xiao En sneered, "I'm not convinced? Let's fight! You can win my words. , Then I will remove Christina from being a maid. If you lose, I happen to be missing an errand."

This time, Avi's face is not as simple as a slight change.

As long as he doesn't make any mistakes, there shouldn't be a big problem in becoming the head of the Hastings family in the future. But if he agrees to have this duel with Sean, but loses to Sean again, then in order to take into account the face of the Hastings family, no matter how good he is, it is impossible to become the head of the Hastings family. If the outcome between him and Sean is 50-50, maybe he will try it, but through these secret observations of Sean, Avi has no confidence in defeating Sean.

It was only the killing intent that Sean accidentally leaked, which made Avi feel like being in an ice cave. It was a sense of despair that could not afford any idea of counterattack.

Of course, with Avi's way of thinking, he would definitely not know that it was not that Sean had accidentally leaked it, but that it was a pretentious gesture to him, completely casting a shadow in Avi's heart. If Avi can't break through this shadow, then his life's achievements can be completely ruined.

Unknowingly weakening the enemy's strength, Sean likes it best.

"Why? Don't you dare?" Xiao En sneered again and again, "As a man, being weak to this level is the only thing I have ever seen in my life. I thought you would at least fight me for a life-and-death duel."

"Haha." Avi took a deep breath, suppressed the anger in his heart, and said calmly, "Sometimes the way to solve a problem does not necessarily require a duel. In the face of personal strength, I admit that I am indeed not your lord. My opponent, but in terms of future growth, I don't think I will be inferior to Your Excellency.... Please remember today, because one day you will regret how fast you speak today."

When he heard Avi's words, Sean was taken aback.

He did not expect that this guy in front of him was so calm, he was no longer as simple as slapping his face, he could even say that he was stepping on his face with his feet, but he was actually able to confess his lack of strength, and Sean would fight him. Even if you win, you can't win. And from what he meant, it was obvious that this guy was planning to compete with Sean for family heritage and strength, and when he became the head of the Hastings family, then Sean offended the entire Hastings family. .

This is the performance of a truly scheming nobleman.

If Sean is really just a nobleman of Darbion, then I am afraid I really have to regret today's words and deeds. But in fact, Sean is not a nobleman of Darbion at all. It can even be said that when the All-out War begins soon, whether the Hastings family can keep it is still unknown, and Sean naturally has no reason to be afraid.

"I think it should be your Excellency who will regret it." Now that the words have already been said for this purpose, Sean does not intend to hide anything, "You will regret being an enemy of me."

"Really?" Avi sneered, "I'll wait and see."

After all, Avi showed the temperament of a future earl: he turned around with a look of disdain, and then left the residence of Master Roda.

"Why are you." Alfred shook his head helplessly, "This guy can be so calm, it will not be easy in the future."

Shaun replied in a low voice: "Anyway, it is Soma who is in charge of Luo Mingen's affairs. The matter between me and him can only be regarded as a personal grievance, so even if Soma knows about it, he won't interfere.... And, he is nuisance. People on Guth's side, I don't have to feel wronged. This fly has been buzzing around me in the past few days. It's really an eyesore."

"Well, I think so too." Anno made a rare personal opinion.

Chapter 215: .The dinner begins

Since Sean and Avi completely turned their faces, in the next two days, Avi Hasting did not appear in Sean's field of vision.

I have to say that this man is indeed very bold and has a strong self-esteem. Of course, his family background also played a big part, because if it were not for the Hastings family name, he would not have developed such a proud self-esteem.

But these have nothing to do with Sean.

On the day Avi left, Sean got the "territory contract document" from Eli Kate, which seemed to have been kept for a year or two. For this kind of contract document used to prove the ownership of the territory, the paper used must be specially made, and it must also be traceable. Therefore, if the magic power is used to accelerate the aging, it will be easily detected. , So what needs to be adopted is naturally a certain special process technology.

This is the secret of Eli Kate.

After getting the territory contract document, Sean immediately asked Xuefanio to send the document to Dayi. Because currently in Luo Mingen, only Xuefanio's identity has not been exposed, so she is the only one who is suitable for this task-of course, the more important point is that unless it is a sanctuary powerhouse, it will be ordinary gold. It is difficult for the strong to stop Xuefanio.

As for Rena, now Sean really feels a little bit of shooting himself in the foot.

Because originally according to Eli Kate's plan, Rena was a stepping stone for Sean to open the door of the Hastings family, so Rena naturally had to show her strength in Luo Mingen and leave a little clue to let people follow the vine. Find Sean here. However, because of an accident in the Yeros family, Sean naturally reached an agreement with the Hastings family represented by Soma, so Rena was naturally not needed to come to Yin*.

But I didn't expect that Rena's appearance was too strong. It only took her a day to successfully enter the sight of the businessmen of Luo Mingen. On the second day, merchants and familiar nobles brought up the matter, so Rena quickly entered the sight of the nobles, and received a very warm invitation. Because of Sean's instructions, Rui Na didn't decline all these invitations, she just showed a proper distance.

After , it quickly attracted Soma's attention.

It is precisely because Soma has turned his attention to Rena's side, so that day when visiting Hastings Manor will be accompanied by Jeles, not Soma. After all, in Soma's view, it is much better to invite a golden powerhouse to join the Hastings family than to have a relationship with Sean, a scholar, so Soma didn't hesitate to throw Sean aside. Rena was invited to a banquet in person.

Afterwards, in order to make a complete set of the play, Sean had to visit Master Roda frequently and asked questions about the design of the manor, but because of this, he ignored Rena. When he finally got the territorial contract document from Eli Kate, Sean also remembered that he hadn't met with Rina in the recent period. It was only after the contact with Rina that Shaun found out that Rina was also depressed. I have been in contact with the Hastings family, if she disappears at this time, it will easily arouse the Hastings family's vigilance.

This is also the reason why Sean asked Xuefanio to run errands in desperate circumstances.

In the next two days, Avi Hasting did not surround Kristina like a fly. Naturally, because of Soma's suggestion, he deliberately spent time to meet with Rina, trying to rely on her unique personality and charm. The influence of the Hastings family recruited Rina to his subordinates.

It's just that, although this idea is beautiful, the reality is very cruel.

Shaun no longer knows whether to say that Avi Hasting's luck is really bad, or whether his luck is really good.

Because he wanted to recruit Rena into his family, and even his own wish, from the very beginning it was destined to be impossible to succeed.

"What a poor man." Alfred sighed and commented.

"What a poor fly." Anno's black belly was obviously awakened, and he corrected Alfred's grammatical error.

"Is it the enemy?" Only Rina was still at a loss.

On the battlefield, Rena is indeed qualified to become the goddess of war among ten thousand people. But once she leaves the battlefield, Rina's performance is a little headache, but the only advantage is probably because she is a mercenary, so Rina's survivability in the wild is extremely high, and she is not inferior to Shaun—you know, Sean has the two great abilities of True Eye and Desperate Resurrection. Although it is not clear whether Rena possesses Desperate Resurrection, it is certain that she definitely does not have the True Eye.

But even so, Rina can easily distinguish whether some food is poisonous, and in dealing with beasts and hunting, it is better than the northern barbarians.

"That's it." Sean nodded, acknowledging Rena's statement, "What did this guy say to you in the past few days?"

"I didn't say anything." Rena tilted her head and thought for a while, then shook her head and said, "Just ask me if I can help. He can still say something like this in Luo Ming. ... By the way, what else is it that it is not safe for a girl to experience outside now. I can beat dozens of people like him, so what's insecure?"

Alfred and Sean were stunned.

To put it bluntly, Avi is actually wooing Rina, just because of the reservedness and pride of the nobility. Of course, some things cannot be said clearly. After all, it is a shame to be rejected, so he can only use temptation and suggestion. Come try. If you meet other people, especially women who are strong, with Avi's demeanor, appearance and family affairs, the chance of success is actually not low, at least it is very possible for the strong to serve temporarily for a period of time. .

But it's a pity that Avi met someone like Rina. There are some things that, if you don't say it straight to Rina, it is likely to have the opposite effect, just like this time: Avi said a bunch of suggestive subtexts in her self-confidence, but Rina didn't listen to a word. Understand, on the other hand, Rina will laugh at Avi, which is indeed a kind of sadness that even Sean and Alfred can't stand.

"By the way, he gave me this back." While speaking, Rina took out an invitation.

This is an invitation with a red cover and a bronzing border around it. In the middle of the invitation is the family crest of the Hastings family.

The paper quality of the invitations feels a bit like matte. This is different from the invitations used by wealthy businessmen who pursue the smoothness of the paper, but they look a bit vulgar. But only those who are really knowledgeable know that this paper is a gem paper made with a special process. Just such a double-folded invitation that is only three centimeters wide and five centimeters long is worth hundreds of Darbyan coins. It's no longer a simple means of hitting people with money.

The content of the invitation is very simple, it is to invite Rena to participate in a dinner party held at Hastings Manor tonight, and nothing else.

For ordinary people, participating in the dinner is naturally a luxurious social event, because maybe you can meet many people with status, status or wealth at the dinner. This is like a gamble to get rich overnight. game. Of course, social events like this actually have a distinction between high and low grades, and there is no doubt that the dinner party hosted by Hastings Manor is the highest standard in the entire Tin Qi.

It's just Sean, but it is clear that this so-called dinner is actually just an appearance. The real main purpose is an appreciation meeting around the mysterious drawing that may be a * array. Of course, in this appreciation meeting, it is natural to decide who is the one who can really own this mysterious drawing. But even now, Sean still doesn't know how to decide the final ownership of this mysterious drawing.

"Go together tonight." Sean thought for a while and said to Rina, "I didn't expect that the young master would send you an invitation letter without thoroughly investigating your identity. It's worth thinking about."

Hearing Sean say this, Alfred was also taken aback, and then he reacted: "The Hastings family seems to be in a hurry."

"Indeed." Xiao En nodded, "Last time in Hastings Manor, we only saw a gold powerhouse, but we don't know whether the specific strength is upper-level gold or lower-level gold, but we didn't see any more. Too many golden powerhouses, this is also a relatively normal thing for a real-powered earl family. After all, if there are too many powerhouses, they will not be able to enshrine them at all."

The strength of a family is naturally closely related to the cultivation of the family's talents, but more importantly, whether there is a strong person within the family who can take the lead. It's just that the more powerful people like this are actually not the better. After all, every powerful person will have needs. Only by meeting the needs of these powerful people can it be possible for these powerful people to stay. This is why the big ones The family's internal will attach great importance to the reasons for the cultivation of family members.

Because only family members who have blood ties become strong, will they truly contribute to the family.

After all, not everyone is like the followers around Sean, who are more emotionally involved than interests. Of course, as far as the actual situation is concerned, the only strong man in Shaun's current realm who really needs him to worship is Rina. Xuefanio is a bonus for the transaction between Shawn and the  Eswinter. , Is not Sean's follower system.

As the night fell, an eight-seater carriage was soon parked in front of the Binks Fine Wine Tavern, and the Hastings family crest on the carriage was particularly eye-catching.

The driver is a half-year-old driver, not a hidden master, but a real ordinary person.

But at this moment, people are already waiting on the side of the carriage.

Christina Kasaien.

When she personally opened the car door for Sean, the talents who were watching here because of the appearance of the Hastings family carriage finally truly imagined this Miss Marquis, who became Luo Mingen's character when she came to Luo Mingen, really Become Sean's maid.

When Sean, Alfred, and Anno were all in the carriage, Rena followed out of the tavern and also got into the carriage.

This move made Kristina a little surprised, because she hadn't seen this woman at all during this period of time. But on the other hand, when she felt that Rina's strength was completely beyond her ability to judge, Christina was truly surprised.

"This is?" Christina asked cautiously and tentatively.

"A friend of mine." Sean smiled, but did not say his name.

Kristina gave a soft "Oh", but said nothing. Since being ridiculed by Sean that day, Christina has really made up some knowledge about how to be a good maid in Hastings Manor with several maids.

Don't know why, Sean always feels that Christina's aggressiveness seems to be something wrong?

Chapter 216: .Unexpected visitors (recommended ticket plus more)

The carriage swayed out of Luo Mingen.

Hasting Manor was built in the suburbs of Lomingen, but it is said that the suburbs actually take more than two hours to travel on the road. During this period, the atmosphere in the spacious carriage was fairly harmonious, except for a certain frightened eldest lady.

Since Sean took a reading material from the tavern, the two hours were well spent.

Alfred and Anno both chose to close their eyes to rest, because no one knows what will happen next.

Only Christina, inexplicably felt that a terrible pressure has been covering herself, which made her back almost completely wet. In fact, Rina was only looking at Christina with interest. She did not use her aura to suppress, but as an unparalleled fighter who can easily kill several ins and outs on the battlefield, Rina accidentally Naturally, the * breath that came out was not something Christina, a person who had never been in a battle before, could bear.

Even if Rina did not deliberately suppress.

This situation does not matter to people like Sean and others, even Avi Hastings, but it is a kind of mental torture for Christina.

This is the difference between real combat and no real combat.

In the process of continuing to shake, the carriage finally arrived at Hastings Manor.

Christina almost couldn't wait to open the door and get out of the car. After breathing a burst of fresh air, her face recovered a little rosy, but overall she was still pale and bloodless. The cold air made her dizzy and almost stagnant brain thinking finally resumed its functioning, but it also made her more clearly understand how far between her and Sean's strengths is.

Originally, after Sean defeated Christina in the martial arts arena that day, Christina had to admit that she was really frightened at the very beginning. Afterwards, she felt that if she had no hesitation, she might not have no chance of winning. But she is indeed a person who keeps her promise. Since she had surrendered before, of course she would not deny the fulfillment of her promise, but she was determined to fight Sean again before she left.

So for this reason, Christina has also been practicing her skills very hard recently, and her diligence is even far greater than when she was receiving her own teacher's guidance.

But after passing these short two hours today, she really understands the biggest gap between herself and Sean.

"Kristina, you are here." Just as Kristina was still thinking about it, Soma Hastings and Kazi greeted her.

As the host of Hastings Manor, Soma certainly needs to come out to welcome the guests, but not everyone who comes to the banquet is worthy of his personal reception. But whether it's Christina or Sean, the identities are obviously different, so he can't help but not go out in person. Of course, as the heir who is most likely to inherit the Hastings family in the future, Avi Hastings is of course also with Soma.

"You're all right, Tina." Seeing Kristina's face pale, Avi naturally asked with concern.

Seeing Avi's performance, Soma nodded secretly, obviously still very satisfied with Avi's approach. If Sean saw this scene, it would be immediately clear that Soma, who on the surface has not yet stood in the Hastings family, had already chosen Avi as his next owner and made this choice. In fact, it is understandable. After all, among all the candidates for the next successor to the Hastings family, Avi's winning side is indeed the biggest. The sooner you stand in the team, the greater the benefits you can reap in the future will naturally be, like Soma is so shrewd. It's impossible for people to not understand.

It's just that there are some things. Many people will have certain illusions before they get a clear performance.

"Did that fellow Fran let you do something again?" Before Soma's inner admiration fell, Avi's second sentence caused Soma's brows to frown.

"Master Avi." Soma had to cough slightly as a reminder.

"It's none of his business." Kristina shook her head and replied. Her attitude and tone were very firm, and when she saw that Avi was too close to herself, she took a few steps back calmly, closing the distance. Pulling it back again, Soma's brows are frowned again. It is obvious that the opportunity he can create to bring Avi and Christina together recently was in vain, "Also, please call me. name."

Some people have long names, so there will be nicknames in the way of addressing. Of course, this way of addressing nicknames refers to the companions who have a better relationship.

Tina is naturally Christina's nickname.

And Christina asked Avi to call her by her name instead of her nickname, which is naturally a very strong and obvious meaning of resistance.

"Where is Viscount Fran?" At this time, Soma naturally couldn't put the initiative of the topic on Avi, so he spoke.

"Viscount Fran is over there, they just got out of the carriage." Kristina was embarrassed to say that she got off early because she couldn't stand the pressure in the carriage, so she took the problem casually, and then led Soma went to the place where Sean and the others got off. Of course, Avi was ignored by Christina.

Soma looked back at Avi with some worry, and she saw a trace of viciousness and resentment hidden in his eyes. People like him who are scheming and good at forbearance don't have this kind of emotion, that's what it really is. A strange thing. But Soma didn't worry about what would happen to Avi here, he knew very well the ability of his nominal nephew, at least he could still maintain his gentlemanly demeanor until he really broke his face.

Of course, on the other hand, it's actually because Avi is not Christina's opponent at all, otherwise Soma really can't imagine whether Avi will use any force against Christina. After all, he had tried this behavior several times before, and his uncle naturally wiped his buttocks every time.

"Viscount Fran, I have been waiting for you for a long time." Under the leadership of Christina, Soma quickly came to Sean's side and greeted him enthusiastically.

People with insufficient status naturally choose to avoid it at this moment. After all, people of different classes will definitely have their own circles at this class of banquets held in Hastings Manor, and they want to communicate with people in higher-class circles. , Definitely needs an introducer, otherwise, if you rush forward and interrupt, you will be regarded as an uncultivated barbarian behavior. For some vain face issues, of course, no one would come up so ignorantly to disturb the enthusiastic meeting between Soma and Sean.

But when Xiao En and others turned around, not only Soma, but also Avi was stunned.

"Miss Ximi, you...what are you here?" Avi hurried forward to say hello, but at this moment he already had a vaguely bad feeling in his heart, because Rena, who he called Ximi, was standing right now. At Sean's side, "Why didn't you say a word before you came, so that I can pick you up myself."

"No need." Rina said bluntly, "I came here with Fran. This invitation seems useless. Give it back to you."

After all, Rina directly returned the luxurious invitation with a value of hundreds of gold coins to Avi.

At this moment, almost everyone can see Avigna's completely stiff face, and sensitive people like Rena, Sean, and Alfred can even feel the inner emotions Avi is trying to suppress at this moment. .

It was an extremely negative violent mood.

In fact, if you change a person with a poor psychological quality, I am afraid that it will be completely overturned at this moment. After all, what Rina said just now is a fact of unintentional action, but for a nobleman, this It is a naked act of contempt. Moreover, the environment at the moment is still in Hastings Manor. After saying this, it seems even more contempt for the entire Hastings family.

Even Soma's face changed slightly, and it seemed a little unnatural: "Hehe, Viscount Fran is really... really broad friendship."

"Hehe, Miss Xi Mi is a friend I met on the road. Because our exchanges are very pleasant, we decided to experience together for the time being."

Of course, Sean had already felt Soma's hostility hidden in the words, but he didn't even pay attention to the entire Hastings family. Naturally, he would not think that a mere Soma or Avi could pose any threat to him. It's just that there are still things that haven't been resolved right now, and if Soma this person can, Sean still wants to be recruited under his command, so the tone is relatively polite.

"Because I happen to be coming to Hastings Manor too, and I saw that Miss Simmy also had an invitation letter, so I invited her to come with me." Xiao En said with a smile, as if he didn't feel Soma's secret hostility at all. Generally, "There shouldn't be any rudeness in this?"

"Not at all." Soma immediately replied with a smile, "Master Avi, can you please take Miss Xi Mi for a visit?"

"Oh, this is natural." Avi immediately realized that this was Soma deliberately transferring from Sean and Rina. After all, he also knew what was going to be held tonight, and of course Ximi's identity could not be involved. , So visiting Hastings Manor has become a great excuse, "Miss Shimi, I will show you a tour of Hastings Manor....The main venue for the banquet is on the other side."

Rina doesn't really like attending banquets and the like. What she prefers is to practice martial arts and train her soldiers. At this moment, she suddenly missed her subordinates so much. Training them was much more interesting than attending this boring banquet. It was just that she noticed Sean's insignificant nod, so she could only nod helplessly and agree. Avi left here together.

Of course, Avi is with the idea of fighting for Rena to join the Hastings family tonight, but in fact, Sean is very clear that this is impossible, so he certainly won't worry about it.

"I don't know the Marquis of Jelles, where is it right now?" Sean asked when Avi and Rena left.

"The Marquis Jeles is in the council hall. Master Roda has arrived. Let's go together now." Soma was also a little afraid of nights and dreams. She might not be surprised if she stayed here for a while, so she also wanted to put Xiao Just throw it in the council hall. After all, there is also a scholar who can communicate with Sean.

"Okay." Of course, Sean would not object to this.

But at this moment, a sound of horseshoes suddenly sounded, accompanied by the shouts of several Hastings Manor guards.

Such noisy noise naturally quickly attracted the attention of many people at the entrance of the manor.

Soma's brows are frowning, because of the series of troubles and accidental learning of the relationship between Rena and Sean, his inner anger has become a bit angry. At this moment, it was natural that he had a chance to vent, so he walked towards the main entrance after talking to Sean for a while, and at the same time he said in a deep voice, "What's the matter?"

"It turns out that this is the hospitality of the Hastings family." As soon as Soma's voice fell, she responded with a crisp voice that belongs to a young woman, "I have seen it with my own eyes today, haha."

Soma followed the fame, but discovered that the person who came was a young girl who was only about twenty years old. She looked a little petite and cute, but her temperament showed a maturity that did not match her age. The figure of this person quickly scanned Soma's mind, and then he immediately confirmed that he had never seen this girl before, but just when Soma was about to scold the girl, he caught sight of this The family crest on the carriage in which a young girl was riding.

This discovery made Soma's voice ready to scold and swallowed it back into her stomach, her face looked a little surprised.

At this time, Sean had also arrived at the front entrance. He also saw the family crest on the carriage, and a look of surprise appeared on his face.

Because this family crest is unique to the Boulder family!

As we all know, the Boulder family and the Nugus family are seriously at odds, and the Hastings family is dependent on Nugus.

So at this moment, what is this girl who is obviously from the Boulder family coming here?

Almost everyone revealed this idea after recognizing the family crest on the carriage.

Chapter 217: .Freedom Creator

"Excuse me, are you?" Soma asked cautiously.

"Pachuli." The girl who got off the carriage said with a smile, "Pachuli Boulder. My father is Hatch Boulder, I believe you should know you."

Boulder!

The look on Soma's face was obviously a little stiff. Although he had imagined many of the identities of this girl, he did not expect that she was actually a member of the Boulder family or a member of her family.

If it is in private, then Soma may have the confidence to ask the other party what they are doing in Hastings Manor. But now, Hastings Manor does hold a banquet, and it is not considered a private banquet. Therefore, many wealthy businessmen in Lomingen have received invitations. This is actually a semi-public social banquet. , Hastings Manor will be held almost every month.

So if you want to drive Pa Qiuli away under the pretext of a private banquet, it is obviously impossible.

Even because this was a public occasion, the incident rose to the Hastings's blatant provocation and insult to the Boulder family. If this is the case, then even the Nugus family will never be able to keep the Hastings family, even if the entire Hastings family does not fall due to this, it is very likely that the vitality will be severely damaged or even the power of the prince will be reduced. of.

Soma's face was already sweating.

Without waiting for Soma to take the initiative, Paqiuli walked into the gate of the manor and said, "The guards of your manor really have no eyesight. If you are dealing with foreign guests, it is not something an earl family should have. Quality."

"You are right." Soma had to answer, "I will definitely teach them a lesson."

"By the way, I heard that this time I need an invitation to participate in the banquet, but I was here to hear that there is a lot of excitement here, so I came here specifically to participate, shouldn't it break the rules?" Paqiuli smiled slightly, but in a blink of an eye she changed the topic directly. Open, otherwise Soma will continue to take the initiative along this topic.

"How come." Soma's face was stiff, but she still squeezed out a smile, "It is really an honor for the Hastings family to have Miss Paqiuli's participation."

"That's good." Paqiuli smiled immediately, "Since Baron Soma doesn't think my presence is an interruption, then I'm not welcome."

"Of course." Soma nodded, "Then I will immediately arrange someone to accompany you to visit Hastings Manor..."

Hearing Soma talking like this, Sean shook his head slightly. Soma had been completely led by the nose by the other person named Paqiuli. In his impression, Soma is not like someone who will be controlled by the other party. A person like him who can manage a territory should be very strong in diplomatic rhetoric, but now he is working with Paqiuli In the conversation, it is completely at a disadvantage, so there is only one explanation.

That is, Soma is very ingrained in the concept of class. In this regard, he is born in the Hastings family and lacks sufficient innate advantages. Moreover, Paqiuli is also a very good at speech, so he can form a comprehensive communication with Soma. suppress. For people like Paqiuli, the best solution is not to let the other party speak first, and it is absolutely impossible to follow the other party's words and thoughts, otherwise they will be completely led by the nose.

But it's a pity that Paqiuli is also a very smart person. The words she said are directly at the core of the Hastings family's honor, forcing Soma to answer. If you want Soma to regain the initiative at this time, then a third party must intervene to break the current deadlock between Paqiuli and Soma, but now they are both a duke. One of the daughters from the family is the owner of Hastings Manor, and obviously none of the people present is high enough to join the third person in the conversation between the two.

is really a terrible woman.

Shaun's heart quietly came to a conclusion to Pa Qiuli.

But the only thing that made him grateful is that the Boulder family will turn to the Principality of Ryan in the future war between the Kingdom of Darbion and the Principality of Ryan, so there is no need to worry that he and this woman will become enemies. Sean does not believe that the words are so sharp. In other respects, this woman will be inferior to others, and this woman can be regarded as outstanding in appearance and temperament. With so many advantages, as long as she is willing, her strength expansion can reach a terrible degree.

But apart from this point that made Xiao En grateful, there was another place that made him a little curious. Because Sean remembers very clearly, because of the relationship between the family territory in the game, he did not deal with people from the Boulder family, but in his impression, there is absolutely no outstanding talent in the Boulder family called Paqiuli Women!

But now, such a woman happened to appear, which made Xiao En's brow slightly frowned.

"You are Viscount Fran." Just when Shaun was still thinking about who this woman is, Pa Qiuli had come to Shaun's side and asked straightforwardly.

"Yes." Sean nodded. He didn't have much malice or hostility toward this woman.

"My name is Pa Qiuli, Pa Qiuli Boulder." Pa Qiuli introduced herself again.

"I know, you said it just now." Sean smiled, then he glanced at Soma, the meaning of the question in his eyes was obvious.

"Miss Pachuli, also came for that mysterious drawing." Soma had already explained the reason for Pachuli's arrival at this time, and Sean also keenly noticed that there was a kind of helplessness in Soma's eyes. Hate, "There are already a lot of people waiting in the conference room. Let's pass now."

Sean glanced at Paqiuli with some surprise. He did not expect that at the moment when he slightly differentiated himself, Paqiuli had already talked to Soma about the purpose of her arrival, and he also let Soma have no idea. Way to refuse Pa Qiuli's participation. In this way, Sean also knows how the hatred and helplessness in Soma's eyes came about. It is obvious that Paqiuli's arrival will make this battle surrounding the mysterious blueprints more full. Unknown.

After all, Soma no longer planned to pay attention to Paqiuli, and started to lead the way on her own.

Sean turned around to follow, but Pa Qiuli reached out and grabbed her sleeves, which made Shaun turned his head and looked at Pa Qiuli with a puzzled look. However, in the process, neither of them stopped because of this. They just opened up the distance between Soma and Soma a little bit. As smart as Sean, he immediately realized that Paqiuli might have something to say to him. He said it himself, so he also slowed down very cooperatively.

The two had been walking in silence, and no one spoke. Anno, Alfred, Christina, and Paqiuli's two entourages lagging behind. The group of people clearly has the same purpose, but they are divided into three weirdly, which makes the surrounding atmosphere seem a bit quiet and depressed.

"As a gentleman, shouldn't you be more active?" It was Paqiuli who broke the silence in the end. "If you let a girl take the initiative, this is not what a gentleman should do at all."

"Hehe, I'm really sorry, I'm really not a gentleman." Xiao En smiled and spoke casually, without any intention of following Paqiuli's words.

This unexpected answer made Pa Qiuli a little stunned. She obviously did not expect Sean to respond like this. However, the expression on her face was only slightly sluggish, and soon returned to that kind of grinning look.

"Really interesting answer." Paqiuli smiled, "Do you know who killed the guards hired by Baron Yeros?"

"I don't know." Sean shook his head.

"I killed it." Pa Qiuli smiled relaxedly.

Pa Qiuli's answer made Sean stunned for a moment. He originally thought Pa Qiuli would say that it was the Hastings family or someone else wanted to frame him. In any case, he did not expect that Paqiuli would say so frankly that she killed those people, and it seemed that she obviously had no thoughts of embarrassment.

Originally, Sean thought that he should be angry, but this incident did not actually cause him any trouble or adverse effects. It can even be said that in some respects, it was a favor to him. And I don't know why, looking at Paqiuli who admitted her crime so frankly, Sean didn't even hate her or want to kill her at all, which really made Sean feel a little strange.

In other words, Paqiuli has a very subtle and unique personality charm.

Taking a look at Sean, watching Sean's calm look, Paqiuli spoke again, but this time there was a slight loss in her tone: "I thought you would be very angry, it's really boring." Listen. When Paqiuli said that, Sean had a dumbfounded expression. He didn't get angry with this guy and it became a reason for her to feel bored.

But Paqiuli seemed to just say it so casually. She didn't expect any answer from Sean at all, so she still said to herself: "To be honest, I wanted to make you a little troublesome. I wanted to borrow it. When you attracted the attention of the Hastings family, you snatched the drawing. But what surprised me was that your response policy was not only quick, but also accurate, which made me feel a little unbelievable..." said At this point, Paqiuli suddenly said: "Actually you are a scholar."

"What?" Sean was taken aback for a moment. Some did not adapt to Pa Qiuli's jumping thinking, so that he did not notice that Pa Qiuli used affirmative sentences instead of interrogative sentences.

"I was actually just skeptical at first." Pa Qiuli shrugged, "I even wondered if I could assassinate you..." Hearing this, Sean felt a little bit dumbfounded again, and Pa Qiuli seemed to be in front of him. She is a lunatic, but Paqiuli didn't notice Sean's look. She continued to talk, in a state of forgetfulness: "But then when I saw you and Jelles get along so well, I can be sure that you must be a scholar."

Rather than saying that Paqiuli is talking on her own, it is better to say that she is expounding her own thinking logic.

Sean already knows Paqiuli's sharp words, but she didn't expect her brain to be so easy to use. The logical analysis is very clear and clear, and it is obviously a very complicated issue, but when she speaks it out You will find that everything becomes very simple. And this time, Sean finally realized that Pa Qiuli said affirmative sentences from start to finish, not interrogative sentences, which means that she already had the answer.

Sean thought for a while, there is nothing to deny as a scholar, so he nodded and admitted: "Yes.... But I'm curious, why are you seeing me and the Marquis of Jéles..."

Speaking of this, Xiao En suddenly paused, and a glimmer of enlightenment flashed in his eyes.

"Oh oh oh, it seems you have found it." Pa Qiuli smiled, "Yes, I am also a scholar."

There was obvious surprise in Sean's eyes.

He knew very well that, except that his arrival was a coincidence, whether it was Jeles or the Paqiuli in front of him, they came for the mysterious drawing. But logically speaking, if the Temple of Wisdom is interested in this drawing, then it should only send a group of members out. In other words, Yeles and Paqiuli should be companions.

But the current situation is completely inconsistent with what Shaun knows.

Pachuli came alone, and looking at Kristina's appearance, it was obvious that she did not know Pachuli. From this point of view, we can conclude that Pachuli and Jeles should not be the same. That's it. Judging from the behavior of the Temple of Wisdom, it is impossible to send a second scholar after sending one scholar. Unless Jéles asks for help from the Temple of Wisdom, he has always advocated that "waste is shameful". The goal's temple of wisdom will never send another scholar over.

In other words, it is Paqiuli and Jeleis, representing the two forces behind the Temple of Wisdom.

And there will be such competition, it is not difficult for Sean to imagine the result.

Heerson Institute.

Only the Heerson Institute will have many factions because of differences in research projects, opinions and viewpoints. It is precisely because of this that it is possible that two people from the same organization are interested in the same thing. In connection with Pachuli's obvious sharpness and unabashed madness along the way, Sean is 100% sure that Pachuli and Jeles are also scholars from the Heerson Institute, and the two They are definitely not from the same faction.

"Helson Institute." Sean glanced at Paqiuli, and suddenly said, "You and the Marquis of Jelles are competitors."

"Oh?" Paqiuli looked at Sean with some surprises, "I didn't expect you to understand this. It seems that you are also from the Heerson Institute? But it's not right. My personnel record list at the Heerson Institute. How come I haven't seen you before?...A person who can be favored by law circle analysts can't be unknown in the Heerson Institute."

"A circle analyzer?" Xiao En was taken aback, "You mean...Jeles is a circle analyzer?"

"Yeah, you don't know?" Paqiuli was really stunned this time. "What, it turns out that Jelles didn't tell you anything? But if he didn't tell you anything, you How is it possible to know the Helson Institute? According to the rules, if you did not join the Helson Institute, it is impossible to know this."

"Because I rejected the invitation of the Heerson Institute." Sean still did not react, and subconsciously replied.

"What?" Pa Qiuli was stunned again, and then burst into laughter, and there was no ladylike image.

This immediately attracted the attention of the two groups of people. Only at this time, no one came up to ask. After a glance, everyone saw nothing but Xiao En was awakened by the sudden laughter.

"what's so funny."

"No...nothing." Paqiuli smiled a little panting. "I heard in the Helson Institute that someone refused the invitation of the reincarnation line. This matter once became one in the Helson Institute. It's a laugh. I didn't expect it to be you, yes, I'm starting to like you.... There are not many things and opportunities that can deflate the regeneratives."

Sean looked at Paqiuli with some wonder.

He knows that because of the faction, the Heerson Institute is divided into many factions. Among them are completely opposed factions, or they may just have different views but have the possibility of cooperation. The so-called regenerator line naturally refers to the faction of Bonnie and Jéles. Their theoretical point of view is the recycling and regeneration of energy. Therefore, the people of this faction in the Helson Institute are called For the rebirth.

Of course, Paqiuli didn't know that it was because of Sean, a talent who deflated regenerators, they made rapid progress on the research project of magic power.

"Then which faction do you belong to?" Sean asked back.

"Free style." Paqiuli smiled, "Do you know what free style is?"

"I know." Sean sighed.

Zhizai style is a faction formed based on the alchemy of the Chenas Empire. Although its opinions are very close to those of reincarnation, in fact the two sides are absolute opposites who do not interact with each other. To put it simply, although the regenerator advocates the recycling and regeneration of energy, in fact they still focus on magic, divine power, etc.; but the free-standing faction advocates the focus on spiritual power and bloodline abilities. Repel all the ways of using magic and divine power, thinking that this is a kind of pollution to the world.

In essence, the free style is an extreme admiration of blood, and it is also considered a reformist, so it belongs to a relatively strong faction in the Heerson Institute. Of course, this faction has also created many extremely powerful "spells", so many alchemists have maintained extremely close contact and communication with this faction, and can be regarded as the three most powerful combatants in the Heerson Institute. One of the big factions.

"Unexpectedly, you know quite a lot." Paqiuli smiled, "Then do you know the nickname 'Freedom Creator'?"

Freedom creator!

Sean looked at Paqiuli in shock: "Don't tell me, you are the creator of the freedom."

"Congratulations, you are right." Pa Qiuli smiled, "But there is no reward."

Sean finally knows why Pachelie Bould has not been heard in the Boulder family, because this product does not operate in the Boulder family area at all, and even the Boulder family has almost none. Been back. Moreover, the name of this product is certainly not known to many people in the game, but if the name "Free Creator" is mentioned, there are definitely not too many players in the game who want to know this nickname-or , As long as it is a career as an alchemist, they will never fail to know this nickname and the meaning behind it!

Because, more than 70% of alchemy and almost all spells are created by the free creator!

"The free-form creator and the circle analyzer..."

After being taken aback for a while, Sean suddenly read the nicknames of Paqiuli and Yeles at the Heerson Institute, and immediately remembered a gossip that had been circulated in the late game.

It now seems that this gossip should not be fake.

If all this is true...

"I probably know what that mysterious drawing is." Sean muttered to himself, "This...this is a cross-age invention."

Chapter 218: .That mysterious drawing

"Do you know what that drawing is?"

It was originally a word that Sean murmured to herself, but she did not expect that Paqiuli, who was next to her, had so sharp ears, that she would listen to what Shaun said so softly.

Shaun glanced at Paqiuli. After knowing that this woman was from the Heerson Institute and was still a lunatic with another name, Shaun didn't dare to underestimate this woman, so he had to answer: "Probably... there is a guess. ."

"Guess?" Paqiuli frowned slightly, "It's best not to say such irresponsible things."

Paqiuli's words were a bit aggressive, and there was an absolute difference in the image she had shown before. However, Sean understands this. Scholars from the Temple of Wisdom, as long as they are not those who want to get a name but are truly talented and practical, as long as they stay for a long time, they will hate the ambiguous attitude of guessing. After all, they are occasionally. A group of wise people who pursue truth and truth.

"Before I saw the drawing, I was really just guessing." Shaun replied calmly, not at all impatient with Paqiuli's attitude.

"Then what is the basis of your guess?" However, Pa Qiuli still pursued it.

Shaun glanced at Pa Qiuli, he really couldn't answer this question.

I can't say that his guess is based on a rumor that he had seen in the forum? To say this, let alone whether Paqiuli would believe it, even he himself felt that such a statement was very insincere. Maybe this Paqiuli doesn't say anything now, but like this kind of lunatic from the Heerson Institute and a woman, who knows if she will turn her head around and design a bunch of traps to harm herself.

You must know that she had already considered conspiracy such as framing and assassination before, and the former had already been implemented.

So at this moment, Sean would rather give Pa Qiuli the impression that he is very arrogant, rather than just give her an excuse to confuse her.

After all, someone who can be favored by another Heerson Institute scholar known as the Array Analyst always has some arrogant qualifications.

Sure enough, after seeing Sean not answering, Pa Qiuli squirmed. Although her face was not very happy, at least she was not hostile: "If you have a virtue with Conan, you always say that there is only one truth, and there is only one truth. Before the truth, it was like someone who wouldn't say even if someone was beaten to death."

Shaun was a little ashamed, but at least he was finally confused in this regard.

At this moment, Shaun's desire to see the mysterious drawing is probably even stronger than the people who came to this drawing.

Fortunately, the road didn't seem to be long. After entering the second floor of a building that Shaun hadn't visited before, Soma, who led the way in front, finally opened a door of the room.

This is a traditionally furnished meeting room.

There is no too luxurious and exaggerated decoration. There is a long table in the meeting room, and a total of ten people can sit on both sides and the end. In addition, there are about 20 chairs in the wall part of the conference room. These positions should be the seats for the secretarial roles participating in the meeting. After that, there will be no other decorations in the entire room.

At this time in the room, a lot of people are already sitting.

Among them, the Marquis of Jéles and Master Roda have already been seated, and there are two others who, at first glance, come from the Mage Guild. What is a little bit worrying is that these two wizards are actually a match of one old and one young. The old one is probably half a hundred years old or even older, because Xiao En actually can't feel the strength of the other party at all. It proves that the opponent is at least a gold-ranked wizard; and the young one doesn't seem to be a few years older than Sean, but he also has the same problems as ordinary wizards, that is, he is almost defiant, but the strength is. Very close to Sean, the top silver pinnacle.

In addition to the four people sitting on the chairs by the long table, there are also three middle-aged men sitting by the long table. But these three are obviously ordinary people, because the aura fluctuations in strength are almost indistinguishable from Jeles, Roda, and Pachuli. Sean knows that one of them is Baron Yeros, and the other two should also He is also a person who has the same title, but he doesn't know who is representing to participate in this secret meeting.

As for the others, there are quite a few, there are as many as ten, but six of them are the strength of the upper silver pinnacle, and the other four are also ordinary people. Just looking at the notebooks and quill pens in the hands of these four ordinary people, it is not difficult to guess what roles these people are playing.

The arrival of Soma, Sean, Paqiuli, Christina, and others, instantly increased the number of people in the room to twenty-six.

But soon, Sean noticed a problem.

Except for Soma who only brought in Kazi and Master Roda was alone, everyone else was surrounded by at least one master of the silver pinnacle to follow, especially those nobles who were followed by two. The upper silver master. Of course, in Sean's eyes, the strength of these people is naturally not worth mentioning. The only ones who can be considered as effective are probably Christina and the young magician who is almost not under Sean.

Thinking of this, Sean turned her head and looked at Pa Qiuli, but saw that she had already chosen a seat on the long table with a calm expression, and the two high-level silver masters who followed her were equally unceremonious. Sit down in two chairs closer to Paqiuli. At this time, Xiao En unexpectedly discovered a phenomenon: in the two followers of Paqiuli, the breath of the man on the left may be a little worse than that of himself and the magician, but he inadvertently emitted it when he scanned the people in the meeting room just now. That ruthless killing intent was not under him at all.

This guy is obviously also a real master who has been fighting for a long time!

When Soma glanced at a chair on the right side of the long table, which was next to the Marquis Jeles, his face was obviously a little better, at least Paqiuli Boulder did not take the lead. Sit in the first place, otherwise the Hastings family would really be embarrassed. It's just that Sean knows very well that it's not that Paqiuli knows how to take care of the Hastings's face, but that she just wants to say hello to Jeles.

Sure enough, when Jeles saw Pachuli, the look on his face was obviously shocked. He didn't recover until Pachuli took a seat, but he cast his eyes on Sean. And Sean sighed helplessly, and then nodded first, then shook his head, meaning that he already knew Pa Qiuli's identity, but he didn't know how Pa Qiuli received the news and appeared here. .

"Everyone came from the same place, don't I know what information you can know?" Paqiuli smiled, although they may be opposed to each other within the Heerson Institute because of the factional relationship, but it is only It's just internal contradictions. On other occasions, it's relatively polite. "Why don't we cooperate first?"

Hearing Paqiuli's words, Soma's heart suddenly jumped.

"My partner is the Yeros family." Jeles said.

Soma's face returned to normal after hearing Jeles' words.

"Well, then it seems that we can only be competitors." Paqiuli didn't care too much, and smiled, "Is your granddaughter your participant?"

Jeles glanced at Paqiuli, and did not answer.

Silence is undoubtedly a counterattack technique.

But Paqiuli looked like a victor. She curled her mouth with a little triumph, then turned her head to look at Sean, and smiled: "Then, Viscount Fran, do you want to join forces with me once? The research results divide you half. Oh."

Sean, who just took the seat, listened to this, but smiled friendly and did not answer.

It's just that he knows very well in his heart that if this thing is really that thing as he guessed it, I'm afraid it's not something that Jeles or Pachuli can eat. Maybe they really have to cooperate once. .

"Viscount Fran is ours." Yeles looked a little confused, and finally reminded him.

What he called us naturally refers to the reincarnation line, but Soma obviously misunderstood what Jeles said.

After seeing everyone seated, Soma coughed and attracted her attention. In order to prevent Paqiuli from not knowing what to do, he immediately said: "Since everyone is here, then I No more nonsense, and go directly to the topic."

Hearing this, everyone's eyes immediately focused on Soma.

This time, in order to maintain the apparent fairness of the Hastings family, their family could not participate in this frontal fight for the mysterious drawing, and could only let the Yeros family come forward. Although everyone in the room knew Yeros was a loyal dog who obeyed his orders, but the nobles always liked to make a fig leaf when doing things, at least it was more attractive in face, so no one had broken this tacit understanding.

"Everyone at the meeting this time revolved around this mysterious blueprint, but because its value is completely inconsiderable, and considering that there are people from the Mage Guild among the people present, we will not hold an auction this time." Soma pointed directly to the main topic of the topic, completely ignoring the important role that Master Roda played in this. "Instead, it takes the way of competition to compete. Everyone who is interested in the drawing can send up to two people to participate in the battle. The strength is limited. For the upper silver and below, the person who wins last can take this drawing."

Hearing this, Xiao En was taken aback first, and then immediately understood why everyone brought two high-ranking silver masters to appear.

It's just that, thinking of this, Sean glanced at the wizard of the wizard guild. The other party only brought a wizard of the upper silver pinnacle, and did not have any melee class. Is this too arrogant? Or is this young magician possessing very powerful strength?

"However, before the official competition, according to the rules, we will first conduct a public appraisal of this mysterious drawing. At this time, if this drawing is not worth fighting for, then we can also give up this competition." Soma The voice of speaking again brought Sean's attention back, "I'm here to remind everyone that this time's competition is not a joke, but a real competition, so the loser is likely to need it. The price paid is your own life. Please consider carefully before deciding whether to participate in the competition."

Facing Soma, the atmosphere in the court is still very silent and calm, obviously no one intends to give up.

Soma was obviously not surprised by this result. He waved his hand, and Master Roda immediately put the mysterious drawing he had been carrying with him on the long table in the conference room, and then unfolded it completely. .

After the drawing was unfolded, it showed a square shape with a length and width of one meter. The scale of this drawing was obviously already a bit outrageous.

But it can be clearly seen from the material of the drawing that this is by no means a general material.

"Dragon... Dragon Skin!" When the old magician saw this drawing, he was already a little excited.

Hearing this magician's words, everyone's eyes became more eager when they looked at this drawing.

At this time, the magician also realized that he had made a frustration due to his emotional agitation, and the expression on his face showed a trace of annoyance.

Shaun's gaze also looked at it.

If the material of this drawing is really dragon skin, then nothing else, just this square meter of dragon skin is already invaluable. After all, although subdragon species are uncommon on the Marvel Continent nowadays, the true dragons have long disappeared. It is said that in the Age of Ashes, because they could not tolerate the harsh climatic environment on the continent, they died one after another, even if they were unlucky. He has already left this world plane, and now it hasn't appeared for tens of thousands of years, and I am afraid that he has lost his way home.

The so-called dragon skins on the mainland are actually the dragon skins of the dragons. Although they can be regarded as relatively rare, they are definitely not so excited that this magician will be so agitated. The people present were all human spirits. From the excitement of this magician, it was already possible to judge that the material of this drawing was definitely not the dragon skin of the Yalong, but the real dragon skin.

Like this one-meter-square dragon skin, it may not be possible to make leather armor, but it is of course possible to make a dragon skin vest, or it is not a problem to make it into a wrist brace. So even if these nobles don't even know what the content of this drawing is, but the dragon skin alone is enough for them to fight for the break, after all, the content of the drawing can still choose to be rubbed.

In fact, given the amount of knowledge of these nobles that is so simple that scholars and magicians feel barren, of course they will not know that this is absolutely impossible.

Dragon skin is the best bearer of magic and divine power.

Since this drawing needs dragon skin as a carrier, it proves that the drawing itself contains powerful magic or supernatural power. It is obvious that ordinary drawings cannot print out the contents of the drawing at all. This is also the reason why the extremely high-level precious blueprints in the game are so rare, because it is not so simple to bear the energy essence that may be contained in the blueprints.

Of course, in the real world, it is better than the game, that is, at least one drawing like this will not use one less.

As long as this drawing is not completely destroyed, it can be read and used by countless people.

The reason why this old magician was so excited just now was because he had already seen that since this drawing uses real dragon skin as a carrier, the contents recorded in it are by no means simple. Similarly, it can be proved that the inheritance of this drawing can be traced back at least to the age of ashes, and it may even be the age of dawn.

Jeles, Paqiuli, and the old magician are not as reserved and pretending to be sophisticated as other nobles-of course, even if they look at this drawing, they will not understand at all. What is the content recorded above. So at this moment, surrounded by this mysterious drawing, there are only two scholars from the Hellson Institute, Jeles and Paqiuli, and the wizard from the Mage Guild.

At this moment, Sean suddenly felt a burst of hostility.

He looked extremely keenly along the hostile gaze, but he just happened to see the contemptuous gaze that the young magician was taking back. The other party obviously didn't expect that Sean's feelings were so sharp, and he was slightly taken aback. After all, the magician is a profession that relies on perception to eat, and it is precisely because of this that he relies on strong mental perception to form the people in the room. Suppress, and then observe the other side silently.

With the abilities of this magician, naturally I didn't know that Sean couldn't comment with normal eyes at all.

Since returning from the Wildlands, Sean's spirit has reached sixty-nine points, and he also has a 20% increase in the will of the immortal obsidian he obtained from the evil thoughts aggregate, so he wants to fight. If Sean forms perception suppression, it will only be possible unless he has the level of that wizard. A high-ranking silver magician actually wanted to blind Sean's perception with mental power. This was simply impossible.

However, after discovering that he was recognized by others, the young magician quickly returned to the arrogant attitude he had before. He even snorted deliberately to show his inner disdain.

Sean responded with a sneer, with the same arrogant and contemptuous attitude. He now knows that since the means to compete for this blueprint for a while is to pass a test, then if the Mage Guild wants to capture this blueprint, this young magician will definitely end, and Sean certainly has the opportunity to teach the other party. In fact, the only thing that really made Sean awkward in this conference room was the entourage that Paqiuli brought. As for the others, including Christina and this young magician, they were not affected. Sean paid attention to it.

But now, thanks to the blessing of this young magician, Sean can be regarded as knowing the weakness of that Paqiuli entourage.

At this moment, Jeles, Paqiuli and the young magician finally finished observing the mysterious drawing. Judging from the expressions on the faces of the three of them, it is obvious that all three of them have gained something, but it is difficult to judge even Sean, but the only thing he can be sure of is that Yeles and Paqiuli have absolutely different gains, because one specializes in magic circles, while the other specializes in alchemy.

Pa Qiuli's look of intoxication just disappeared, and then she saw Sean, almost when she saw Pa Qiuli's sudden bantering look, Sean already knew it was going to be bad. Sure enough, Paqiuli smiled without suspense: "Viscount Fran, don't you want to take a look?"

Hearing this, Jeles also brightened his eyes: "Yes, Viscount Fran, you should also look at this drawing."

Shaun really wants to scold Jeles for being a pig-like teammate!

Didn't he see that Paqiuli was just ill-intentioned at the moment? And Jeles is still assisting at this time, is his head easy to handle?

"Haha." But at this moment, the young magician burst into laughter, "What kind of Viscount this? I'm really sorry, your name is too sloppy, I can't remember.... But you Can you really understand the content of the drawing? After all, you are still so young, and you are not as mature and full of life wisdom as the other nobles here."

Because of the special status of the magician, everyone can at least get the treatment of honorary viscount.

In terms of knighthood, this magician and Sean are equal, and his art of speaking is not weak. While opening his mouth to belittle Sean, he elevated the other nobles present, even Baron Yeros, This will naturally not be the target of all nobles.

It's just that, obviously, the target of his provocation today is completely wrong.

Just when the old magician's face was calm, and even his eyes showed disdain, the faces of Yeles and Paqiuli became gloomy at the same time.

Before Yeles could speak, Paqiuli, who had a changeable personality, had already taken the lead: "Are you looking down on the scholar of the Temple of Wisdom?"

"What? Scholar? Him?" The smile on the young magician's face suddenly froze.

The relationship between the Mage Guild and the church has never been so harmonious. After all, the reason for the outbreak of the Ashes was the war between magic and magic. Only the Temple of Wisdom is an exception, because almost any predecessor of a magician is a scholar recognized by the Temple of Wisdom, so nominally any magician should be regarded as a student educated by the Temple of Wisdom. Therefore, the relationship between the Mage Guild and the Temple of Wisdom has always been good.

It's just that because of the problem of technical expertise, the distinction between magicians and professors and mentors came later.

At this moment, I heard that Sean was actually a scholar, and that he was also favored by Paqiuli and Yeles at the same time. The old magician immediately knew that the identity of this young man was probably extraordinary. After all, he was also a scholar before. Naturally, there is a clear rule in the Temple of Wisdom, that is, if both seniors and juniors are interested in a material at the same time, they must give priority to seniors, unless the junior is in a certain aspect. Experts in the field.

This magician did not know the identity of Paqiuli and Jeles, but seeing that the other party was able to stand up and observe the drawing at the same time as himself, and the face was also rewarding, which proves that the identities of these two people are absolutely extraordinary. not simple.

Magicians are not mentally retarded, of course they know the meaning of it.

So, the magician coughed slightly, and said in a calm and indifferent way: "Wen Qi, what etiquette do I usually teach you? Go back and copy the apprentice's notes."

"Yes." Of course, the young wizard named Wen Qi knew that his mentor was down the stairs, and immediately nodded and admitted his mistake, but he hated even more when he looked at Xiao En.

In fact, until now, this young magician did not understand why he hated and hated this young noble so much.

Paqiuli and Jeles were naturally dissatisfied with the way the wizard handled them, but it was the other party's family affair after all, and it had already given them enough face, so of course they couldn't continue this matter. Arguing endlessly. Only at this moment, whether it is Jeles, Pachuli, or even the wizard, it is clear that the next test may not be so easy to be good, but the wizard is very good to his apprentice. Very confident.

And Sean, now that the Array Analyst and the Free Style Creator have been named at the same time, and they have also come forward to protect Sean's reputation, then Sean naturally has to stand up and observe this drawing to show that he is very much towards the predecessors. Respect. Of course, in fact, Sean himself is also very interested in this drawing, so there is no need to remind Paqiuli and Yeles, Sean will actually check this drawing.

Soon, Sean walked to the middle of the table, and in front of him was the mysterious blueprint that made a lot of noise.

The drawing indeed depicts an array text similar to a magic array, but there are many special marks on it. This does not belong to the scope of the magic array, because there is no magic node, it is indeed a  array on the surface. It's just that everyone knows that in this world, in addition to the two inherent magical formations of the Saint-Joles Empire, it is completely impossible to start even if the magical formations are built again, because they lack the most critical power core.

The power core of the Divine Formation is a special rune condensed by divine power, which is far from a problem that people in this world can solve.

But when Xiao En saw the divine formation recorded on this mysterious drawing, his pupils suddenly opened, and the calm look on his face changed in an instant. And because of the dispute between Paqiuli, Yeles, and the wizard just now, everyone who is looking at Sean at this moment can understand instantly, what Sean has gained from this mysterious drawing at this moment. , I'm afraid it is much bigger than Jeles, Paqiuli and the wizard!

Otherwise, he would never show such a look.

After all, all the people present are human spirits, and they can easily capture and judge the other's true thoughts. The expression on Sean's face is not fake at all.

Different from the flashing shocked expression on the wizard's face, both Yeles and Paqiuli were expressions of course. It's just that the confidence of the two people is completely different: Jele's is a person who thinks that Professor Boni's will be favored. It is normal to discover hidden secrets from this, after all, their research results are also because of Xiao En's reminder was able to be completed quickly; as for Paqiuli, she thought of the words Xiao En said when she was on the aisle before, which proved that Xiao En did have a basis to infer the content of this mysterious drawing. It's just that Paqiuli is curious about where Sean got the theoretical basis.

And Sean, at this time, did not know what the people present were thinking, he had only one thought in his heart.

The drawing recorded in this drawing, as expected, is the product of that cross-epoch!

Chapter 219: .Underground fighting arena

This is a vast hall.

This hall is built underneath the conference room building in Hastings Manor.

The hall is about ten meters high, with an area of at least 500 square meters. What's more, it's incredible that this hall has a complete defense magic array mechanism, and its defense strength can even withstand the bombardment of the strong below the sanctuary.

"It's a big deal." Pa Qiuli looked around the underground martial arts arena with a sneer on her face. "A count family has such a big arrangement, and it is really not to be outdone."

As an earl, setting up such a large-scale martial arts arena is indeed not a thing that can be recognized by common sense. Not to mention the manpower and material resources needed to excavate this underground hall, it is only to consolidate the dome of the entire hall and arrange the defensive array mechanism in this hall. The financial resources required are by no means a small amount, at least completely more than what an earl can normally afford. Of funds.

Of course, if it is the kind of funds that have been saved for several generations and finally set up such an underground martial arts arena, then it is naturally a different matter.

But no matter how you look at it, this is far beyond the scale of an earl.

Among the aristocratic class on the Marvel Continent, there is a sentence that says so.

"What kind of status can you enjoy what kind of treatment, if you surpass this bottom line, then it is just ruining the future."

This is what the first emperor of the Emerian Empire said. Although the world has undergone great changes for so long now, the restrictions on many things have begun to become blurred, but the purpose of this sentence is not There is not much change. So this is why Paqiuli would say that the Hastings family is unwilling to be outdone and generous, because if this is discovered by the Nugus family, it will definitely cause the Nugus family to reverie.

But now, since Soma Hasting dared to bring people here, he would definitely not be afraid of someone telling the Nugus family.

In other words, the Nugus family must have known for a long time and agreed with the Hastings family to do so.

So, is this a hint?

It implies that the Hastings family's future status in the Kingdom of Darbion is definitely more than just an earl? Because no matter how you look at it, the setting up of a martial arts arena of this scale is arranged only by the marquis of real power or even the marquis of strength. The main purpose is naturally to cultivate family members with personal strength and tyranny for the family. Only in this way can they be qualified to start competing for more. High nobility class.

Sean looked sideways, and she saw Paqiuli's eyes showing a thoughtful look. In any case, Paqiuli is a member of the Boulder family or a direct family member, so it is natural to think about the family, even if Paqiuli will hardly appear in the tequila collar in the future, but this kind of blood is thick. Yu Shui's instinct, I'm afraid no one will deny it except for some cold-blooded existence.

Shaun retracted his gaze and did not continue to look at Pa Qiuli.

Since this woman has an alias at the Heerson Institute, it proves that her IQ is definitely not low. Maybe her arrogance and arrogant attitude will make people dislike her, but absolutely no one will deny her talent and ability, but Sean had no intention of being an enemy of the Boulder family, so there is no talk about this woman. What kind of hatred or hostility, on the contrary, the tolerance she showed made Xiao En a little surprised.

At this moment, Yeles on one side suddenly pulled Sean's sleeve and whispered, "What did you find on that drawing?"

Perhaps because of the feat he had done to Sean, so Jelles was obviously very convinced of Sean. He didn't ask if Sean understood anything, but directly asked what Sean found. This shows that Jelles not only believes that Sean can understand the drawing, but even thinks that Sean must have found something he didn't understand. This is a very valuable help for their rebirth.

But I didn't want to. As soon as Jeles spoke, Paqiuli's attention immediately shifted. She also looked at Sean with curiosity, and was still the kind of * who was afraid that the world would not be chaotic: "Speaking of which, before you If you haven't seen the drawing, say you already know what the drawing is. Just now, your face changed a lot after seeing the drawing. Obviously, the drawing is exactly what you expected?"

"What, you already know what that drawing is?" Jeles looked shocked, "You obviously haven't seen the drawing yet, why...No, you must have found something we didn't find. That's why there are sufficient arguments to infer."

Jeles' words are exactly the same as Paqiuli's words.

Sean really did say the nickname between Paqiuli and Yeles before, and then contacted the two people to appear at the same time. Guessed what was recorded in the drawing, but how did he say this inference?

So, Sean's face quickly became solemn.

This change caused Yeles and Paqiuli to be slightly surprised.

"Actually..." Sean let out a soft cough, "I am a prophet.... This is one of my talents. Sometimes I can see some fragments of fate, but these things are not very complete, only It's just a vague inference. But this has a premise, that is, this thing that can be inferred must have enough information, but as for what can be seen, it is not my decision."

"So you are a prophet."

"No wonder."

Paqiuli and Yeles sighed almost in tandem.

This reaction made Sean visibly stunned. He intended to just say a word casually, trying to ease the atmosphere, but Paqiuli and Yeles both had serious expressions. What's the matter? Do you really believe that you really are a prophet? This kind of joke is not funny at all.

"So..." Pa Qiuli carefully recalled the previous communication with Sean on the aisle. Her serious expression made Sean no idea what to say, especially Jeles. It was also a thoughtful look, which made Sean feel a sense of powerlessness, "You seem to say that you know what the drawing is after hearing the nicknames of me and Jelles."

"If this is the case, then this can indeed illustrate a problem." Jelles said, he doesn't know what Sean and Paqiuli said before, but if you use Paqiuli's words as an inference, then He who came from the Heerson Institute can also discover some things, "I just don't know Xiao...cough cough, can you infer that Viscount Fran can only infer things that are only related to yourself?"

and many more! Don't start the discussion so seriously.

Sean wanted to speak out, he suddenly felt that the idea of saying that he was a prophet was really stupid. But as soon as the words were spoken, they immediately changed: "Basically, it is true. The things that can be predicted are basically related to me, but they are only a small fragment.... Actually, , I prefer to become myself a sacred stick rather than a prophet. After all, I am not as comprehensive as a prophet."

Paqiuli glanced at Jeles. Just now Jeles almost revealed Sean's true identity because of his excitement. Although he used a cough as a cover, it seemed a little difficult for Paqiuli's mind to hide it.

"Indeed." Paqiuli retracted her gaze and continued to look at Sean. "If it is a prophet, she can indeed predict many things, not just confined to herself. From this point of view, it should be that someone in your family was one. A Prophet, you have the blood of the Prophet's ancestor in your body, but your awakening is not complete.... But if you say that, then the record in the drawing will definitely be related to you."

"On this topic, we will go back and discuss it in private later." Jelles finally didn't ask silly questions. He still kept in mind the dispute between the rebirth and the freedom. "Viscount Fran is our rebirth." For people in the same vein, you should study and understand by yourself... Of course, the premise is that you can grab the drawing."

"Are you really not going to join forces with me?" Paqiuli said calmly, but the more calm a mad woman like her, the more Shaun had a shuddering illusion, "You have rejected Heerson The invitation letter from the research institute, so you are not a person in the reincarnation line at all. If this is the case, there is the possibility of cooperation between us, right?... If you are dissatisfied with some of my previous actions , I am happy to apologize to you, as long as you can forgive me, then I think it is worth the price."

"What price can I pay for the free pulse?" Yeles said in a deep voice, "He has a thinker personally awarded by Professor Boni in his hand!"

Jeles's words immediately made Sean wake up suddenly.

The Thinker was personally awarded to Sean by Professor Bonnie White of the Rebirth faction, and this ring may have been ignored by Sean before, but now that he has truly understood the essence of this ring, then he will not May not take it seriously. The Freeman and the Reborn are a faction opposed to each other in the Helson Institute, which means that if Sean wants to continue to have the network benefits that this ring can provide, then he will never be able to interact with Pachuli. Stand on the same front.

Obviously, Pa Qiuli obviously also knew the meaning of the "Thinker" ring. She glanced at Sean a little unexpectedly, but she didn't say anything to cooperate with Sean. The whole person looked gloomy. Even her temperament changed suddenly.

The opposition of factions, this is an everlasting problem that no one can crack.

Only this time, it is obviously different.

Xiao En sighed slightly, and said helplessly: "The divine formation recorded in that drawing is not a problem that any one of you can solve at all."

Hearing Shaun's words, both Paqiuli and Yeles were obviously taken aback. Immediately, the two of them thought that when Xiao En said that he was a magic stick, and inferred what the content of this drawing was, it was also because after listening to Pa Qiuli say their nicknames, Xiao En could see the fragments of the future. , Then from this point of view, is this time the research work on blueprints is a problem that needs to be solved by the union of two opposing factions, the regenerator and the free style?

In the Helson Institute, it is not uncommon for different factions to cooperate with each other to study a topic and share research results, but it has never happened between two opposing factions.

"And..." Sean seemed to think that these words were not shocking enough, he said again, "It is not just the cooperation between your two factions that can be solved. This drawing also involves another principle, so you must pay back. You have to work with a legendary mage."

Legendary Master!

Yeles' gaze couldn't help but looked at the wizard in the Mage Guild: "Do you still have to cooperate with the people in the Mage Guild? What do you see?"

But because the three of them were communicating before, they didn't notice it. At this time, when Jelles looked at it, he was surprised to find out. I don't know when the competition around that mysterious drawing has actually begun. . At this moment, on the side of the competition venue, there was already a scorched corpse, and the expression of a nobleman was hard to see to the extreme, and it was obvious that the person who died was his subordinate.

There are also two people in the arena engaged in a life and death duel, one of them is the young magician from the wizard guild.

This duel was also clearly coming to an end, but it was the young magician who steadily gained the upper hand. His opponent was a warrior who seemed to have some experience in dealing with the priests. But now, the warrior is already scarred, but he and the young magician still maintain a distance of fifteen meters. Although he charged up with desperation, it was accompanied by the magician's shot. The azure blue lightning blasted on the soldier's body in an instant.

The next second, another scorched corpse appeared in the duel arena.

"Obviously the winner has been decided..." Sean was a little lost.

Because he knows that the magician can completely eliminate the assassin, and only a very simple magician can completely make the severely wounded warrior lose his combat effectiveness. But he didn't do this, instead, he chose the most fierce thunder bombing technique and directly killed the soldier completely.

As soon as played, he directly killed two followers of an aristocrat with thunder means, and directly eliminated the aristocrat from the ranks of competitors. And the other two nobles, at this time, obviously had some scruples about the name of the Mage Guild and the methods of this young magician. They were obviously already in a vacillating situation, and they had no idea whether they should continue to participate in this battle.

"It's a cruel method." Paqiuli's face looked a little gloomy, and the face of Yeles, who was with her, was also very ugly.

The reason is very simple, because the person involved in the duel is Jeles' granddaughter. As long as you think that your granddaughter might also face such a result, Jeles' face will look good, that's really a ghost. Because both Jeles and Sean know very well that Christina's Flash Soul Slash may indeed be aimed at this magician, but her actual combat experience is seriously inadequate, and her psychological quality is not too hard. The losing side is much larger than the winning side.

At this time, the young magician named Wen Qi also happened to look towards Xiao En, and the color of contempt on his face was even stronger.

That is a kind of contempt due to strong self-confidence.

However, with the strength of this young magician, he does have this self-confidence that is enough to be proud of. Because no matter whether it is Sean or anyone else, it can be seen that the ability of the fighter he just solved is not weak—of course, compared to the chariot next to Sean, Alfred, and even Pachuli. From a point of view, it is naturally not worth mentioning, but it is still a bit difficult to kill opponents as easily as Wen Qi.

This can be seen from the fact that the opponent can't get close to Wen Qi's side.

It's just that the other party's methods are really too harsh, which is almost completely unsympathetic.

Sean couldn't understand where the other party's confidence and courage came from.

Although he said before that this drawing does require three parties to work together, but this third party is not a member of the Mage Guild, but one of the many legendary mages located in the Observation Spire. Strictly speaking, the Mage Guild should be regarded as a branch of the Observation Minaret, because the founder of the Mage Guild went out of the Observation Minaret, but it has been passed down to the present, the Mage Guild has its own way of absorbing members, and has gradually been separated from the Observation Minaret. The category of the minaret thus forms another magician system.

So, even if the Temple of Wisdom wants to cooperate with the people looking at the steeple, there is no need to go through the wizard guild at all.

According to the history that Sean knows, this mysterious drawing will obviously fall into the hands of the Temple of Wisdom this time, but the cooperation between Jeles and Paqiuli still needs a period of running-in. So what is the basis for the people in the Mage Guild to be so arrogant and confident? Is it because of his thunder and lightning magic? This may be very strong in the eyes of others, but in the eyes of Sean and even Pa Qiuli, it is nothing at all.

"Who is next?" Wen Qi withdrew his gaze from Xiao En and the other three, and looked at the two nobles on the other side, "It doesn't matter if you go together."

"Really an arrogant kid." Paqiuli said in an old-fashioned comment, but she forgot that she also happened to belong to this "arrogant kid" category.

With the powerful combat power of the magician, group attack is indeed their best way of fighting, even if it is facing multiple enemies, the magician will generally not be at a disadvantage. It's just that this way of fighting actually has a premise, that is, someone must stand in front of the magician and bear all the damage from attacking the magician for him. This is also the reason why powerful magicians choose those defensive professionals when they choose entourage, because if there are no such people, then their combat effectiveness as magicians will be weakened by at least half or even more.

This is the first absolute law clearly written in the magician apprentice manual, and no magician will dare to ignore it.

Therefore, since Wen Qi dared to say such a thing, then it can be seen how much his self-confidence has swelled.

"My lord, I'll come." At this moment, Paqiuli's entourage walked out from the side. He glanced at Wen Qi with a grinning grin, and then said to Paqiuli in a deep voice, "Anyway, there will be a battle sooner or later. Then it's the same for me to solve the other party."

This is a person who knows that Sean has been in the dead pile at first glance, because the scent of the grinning smile he showed just now makes Sean smell an extremely strong  smell, it feels like it is It's the same as soaking in blood. A person like this, even if he is not well-known across the continent, there must be a legend that belongs to him in a small specific area, but now he is willing to protect Pa Qiuli, and that "soul" is also shouting Unpretentious and full of true feelings, it is hard for Sean to imagine how the woman Paqiuli conquered such a butcher who was almost on par with Klov.

"Be careful, this guy, it's not easy." Paqiuli hesitated a little, then nodded, "He does have arrogant capital."

Hearing Paqiuli's words, this seemingly reckless butcher also calmed down a bit, his face actually became solemn. He nodded slightly, did not say anything, but walked slowly towards the competition arena, but every time he took a step forward, his aura would swell, and the whole person was like a prey that had already been staring at and could fly at any time. The beast that threw out.

When the middle-aged man walked into the field and started to confront Wen Qi, his aura had completely climbed to the peak, and the air seemed to become stagnant at this moment.

The strength of this man may not be as good as Wen Qi, and from the perspective of Xiao En, it is probably at the level of Tier 6, 7 and 8. But Wen Qi was the pinnacle level of the real sixth and tenth ranks, belonging to the category that could break through to the seventh rank in just one step. In terms of strength alone, the difference in this level is actually not very big, that is, just a few attributes. With such an astonishing * and murderous breath of this middle-aged man, it can completely make up for this shortcoming.

But even so, Sean still keenly noticed that when the young magician saw this situation, his brows were only slightly furrowed, and the contemptuous expression on his face abated, but it did not weaken the slightest confidence.

This fully explains that the other party feels that he is quite sure to solve the middle-aged man.

"His name is Tibur, from the third garrison." Paqiuli said suddenly, as if to explain something, "I once saved his life, so he became my follower after he retired. ."

The people present are all smart people, so when Paqiuli speaks, whether it is Sean or Jeles, he knows exactly what Paqiuli wants to say. Obviously, she is expressing her attitude. At least she has believed in Sean's words and intends to cooperate with the reincarnate once, and as Paqiuli, she may not be able to represent the entire free-standing faction. However, it can already influence the views of the free-style factions to a large extent.

The third garrison!

This is one of the two ace armies of the Kingdom of Darbion. Although this army enjoys the treatment of the regular army of the Kingdom of Darbion, it is actually not a simple army. Most of the soldiers that make up this army are mercenaries or mercenaries, adventurers, and even private armies and followers from various nobles. They all join this army with the goal of experience and are responsible for defending against the barren land. Army of orcs.

This army is different from any army in the Kingdom of Darbion. Anyone can join this army. Of course, it is at your own risk. After joining this army, you must stay in the army for three years.

Anyone who leaves without permission will be punished as a deserter. After retiring, they will no longer enjoy any preferential policies issued by the Kingdom of Darbion. Continue to stay in the Third Garrison to be able to enjoy these treatments.

Since even Sean knows these contents, it is naturally impossible for Jeles Kasaien, who was born as a Darbion, to be ignorant.

At this moment, Sean finally understands why this middle-aged man has that evil spirit that is almost not inferior to him.

I saw Tibur take out a pair of leather gloves from his body, put it on casually, stretched out his hand to pull the glove, and moved his five fingers to make the hand and glove more fit.

However, when Sean saw the pair of gloves, he was slightly stunned, and then he was relieved.

A master of the Third Garrison, and a follower of Paqiuli Boulder who is also a scholar of the Heerson Institute and a direct member of the Boulder family, it is natural to have a magical equipment. It is not impossible. However, judging from this piece of equipment, it should be just a silver-level demonized equipment. As for which grade it is, Sean would not be able to see it without careful inspection.

Winch saw Tibur take out such a magical equipment, his face became more solemn, no longer the relaxed expression before.

This is actually quite normal. After all, a person who can possess demonized equipment and a person without demonized equipment have a world of difference in identity. The first two people who challenged Wen Qi, although they are both high-ranking silver, the weapons they hold are only sophisticated, and they are not even high-quality, so they will naturally not receive any attention compared with Tiebull. .

This time, Wen Qi finally reached out his mage robe, and then as if unlocking something, Xiao En keenly heard the sound of the chain being unlocked. Immediately afterwards, I saw Wen Qi actually took out a magic book from the robe of the mage, and the slight silver gleam on it indicated that it was also a silver-level magical equipment.

"If your guy wins this competition, then I don't need to participate." Seeing that the battle between the two sides is about to begin, Jelles finally spoke, "And this will save me a lot of trouble."

The meaning of this sentence clearly shows that Jelles also chose to believe in Sean's judgment, thus deciding to cooperate with Paqiuli's free camp. After all, both of them are scholars from the Heerson Institute, and Sean has clearly told them that the magic circle recorded in this mysterious drawing is impossible to complete based on their respective factions, and can only be completed by cooperation. This research project.

A matter of mutual benefit, neither Jeles nor Paqiuli will certainly not refuse. Moreover, if Paqiuli can successfully obtain this mysterious drawing, then the cooperative relationship between Jeles and the Hastings family will also be terminated, and of course the results of the subsequent research do not need to be shared with the Hastings family. . At this moment, Sean is convinced that there must be a shadow of the Nugus family behind this incident, because according to Jeles, it was the Nugus family who threaded the needle in it to make him and the Hastings family have a difference. Contact.

Furthermore, the Cassien family is about to become a nobleman on the ground, and a large part of it is also due to the contribution of the Nugus family.

But, is it so easy?

Sean's brows were frowning, and his mind at this time was completely concentrated in the field. The attitude shown by the young magician named Wen Qi made Sean feel very incredible. Before entering the realm of the sanctuary, the magician is a very hard-handed type to face any melee occupation. Unless it is a combat mage with a certain martial skill like Vivienne, once the enemy approaches him, the magician will Become a mermaid character.

"Boom!"

A sudden explosion sounded suddenly in the arena!

In Sean's stunned eyes, it was not Tiburt who launched the attack first, but Winch!