

Lord of War Vol 2-241

Chapter 241: .Divine Radiance Power

When Hitley signed that name, it was destined that she had been on Sean's thief ship, and she might never get off again in this life.

To be able to become a saint or son of a church, in addition to having enough devotion to the god, more or less will also have a trace of the god's blood legacy, and the strength of the bloodline determines this. The future achievements of the saint son and saint woman. For other cardinals of a church, general oaths have very low binding force, not to mention the verbal and written contracts. The real binding effect is to swear in the name of God, so it is more important in some In terms of the agreement, in addition to the written agreement, these church members are usually asked to swear to sign in the name of God.

For the saint sons and saints, the binding force formed by this method is stronger than that of the cardinal or even the pope. After all, there is a trace of the blood of the gods in their bodies, which is equivalent to swearing by their real names. Once violated, the divine power will be burnt at light, and the death will be directly killed.

Hitley, this is a future saint who has been identified as the chief saint in the Church of Life, whose blood is rich in one's imagination.

Sean looked at Hitley's back, his eyes filled with sympathy.

There was also Xuefanio who accompanied Hitley to leave. After all, swearing in the name of a * also requires a lot of energy and divine power. This is not an ordinary act of vows, so it is reasonable that Hitley will be weak at this moment. On the other hand, if Hitley is not weak, then Sean will wonder what kind of monster he is facing-only like Xuefanio was born by the goddess Eswinter Direct descendants will not be weak.

"This kind of approach...will be evil to the Church of Life." When only William, Sean, and Cecilia were left in the small meeting room, Sean finally couldn't help but speak.

This kind of behavior is already a real fraud. Moreover, the target was still a * of high power. I am afraid that in the entire continent, except for lunatics like Sean and William, no one really dared to do such a crazy behavior. Although Sean and William knew that this matter was strictly a fight for Yin between Eswinter and the goddess of life, and Sean was also the biggest beneficiary, but in the history of Marvel Land, anything involved The things of the gods will be handled carefully or even very cautiously. It is absolutely impossible to make a decision almost in a few words like it is now.

This can be seen from the contract document that William had already prepared.

And Cecilia, obviously still knows.

"I don't think we have a choice." Cecilia saw Sean look at herself. She also understood that Sean must have seen something, so she confessed simply, "We are now like a sandwich cookie, the Millennium Covenant Empire, the Kingdom of Darbion, the Royal Family of the Principality of Lane, and the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance We all looked at us. Moreover, we had been in trouble with the Mage Guild before Ting Qi, so the only choice we have left is the church."

At this moment, Sean saw a completely different aura from Cecilia's body.

If in the past, Cecilia was still very clingy or even a little timid, then now Cecilia is like a complete change of person, no longer timid and timid. As the daughter of the Duchy of Rembel, Cecilia is no stranger to politics. After all, the Principality of Lembel was originally a Principality that survived in the cracks. Under such an environment, the dazzling growth must definitely know more than the average person.

It's just that Cecilia has always chosen to avoid these. Therefore, her performance is very satisfactory. It can even be said that apart from being a magician, she is not like a nobleman with a noble orthodox identity.

But now, as a daughter of the Duchy of Rembel. Cecilia's body showed a brilliance that could be called wise, which made Sean a little puzzled.

When did start? Cecilia finally became able to face the past?

Thinking about it carefully, it seems that after returning from the wilderness, Cecilia is no longer the weak and timid girl before, but has grown into a true nobleman. Thinking about it this way, it seems that from the moment Cecilia decided to stay in the Black Swan Castle to study magic knowledge, instead of going with her to Tin Chiin, Cecilia had truly grown up.

She seemed to be guessing what Sean was thinking. Facing the somewhat absent-minded Sean, Cecilia smiled, and then continued: "I have analyzed with William. If we choose to cooperate with the church, the price we need to pay is too heavy. If the power between us and the church cannot be balanced, then we are likely to become vassal nobles of the church and lose everything."

"So, you decided to do something about the Church of Life?" Sean asked.

"Yes." This time it was William who answered, "Since we can reach an agreement with the goddesses of Ice and Snow and Winter, and let the church become a force attached to us, then why can't we apply this method to other churches? Maybe life The goddess does not need to depend on us for growth. After all, she is a  of high divine power, but since she needs believers, it means that she also has needs, and if there is a need, there will be weaknesses, and weaknesses also mean that she can be defeated, even Used."

Sean was not stupid. When William said this, he immediately understood the key issue here: "So Neil's negotiations with the head of diplomacy of the Life Church were just a bait. The purpose was to make Hitt. Li stay?"

"Yes." William nodded. "According to our assessment, Hitley is not deeply involved in the world, and she is not clear about many things. She is a true devout. In order to allow Hitley to stay, she is in government affairs. Some negotiations and concessions made by Shanghai Life Church are not unacceptable. After all, our goal was military development from the very beginning. For this reason, I specifically consulted Xuefanio, but I didn't expect this incident to cause snow and ice. With the attention of the goddess of Winter, the subsequent progress will become so smooth."

Shaun nodded clearly.

He was very aware of the mentality of these so-called true gods. As a god, she was forced to sign an unequal treaty with a mortal like herself, and she was in a good mood. For this reason, Eswinter's mentality must be to wait for all the other gods to be dragged into the water. Only in this way would it appear that she was not so sad-the  had to bow his head in order to survive, which is definitely a shame for the god.

"But even so, it's not foolproof." Sean frowned, "If the Church of Life chooses to abandon Hitley..."

"About this question, I have asked Mr. Beth." William continued to answer, "He told me that Hitley may not have strong blood power, but she has a very rare god-like radiant power. It is because of this peculiar power that she can become the chief saint of the Church of Life. Because this power has brought great help to the Goddess of Life, it is impossible for the Goddess of Life to abandon Hitley."

The power of God xing glory!

Sean's pupils shrank slightly, he did not expect Hitley to have such a trait.

This is indeed a very rare trait. It is not so much that the goddess of life can't bear the powerful divine power that Hitley's pious belief in her can bring, but the goddess of life is watching Hitley. Because of the people who have the power of the gods. It is impossible to fail when igniting the sacred fire, and Hitley is a saint of the Church of Life, and has a relatively strong blood power. This is destined if Hitley wants duli and ignites the sacred fire to become a god, then she can at least Intercept half of the goddess of life's divine power and part of the priesthood and godhead.

In this way, the goddess of life will fall into a  with medium power, and Hitley can directly become a  with close to medium power. Coupled with the division in the priesthood and godhood, it is almost impossible for the goddess of life to regain the higher divine power-unless she can kill the already  Hitley.

It's just that, even if you have the power of God's glory, it's not a very safe thing.

"Maybe it is impossible for the gods to abandon such believers, but it does not mean that other believers will choose to accept." Xiao En said calmly. He had taken too many missions on the dark side of the church in the game. The rewards for these missions are extremely rich. As long as a player can't give up, there are even professional players who specialize in splitting the internal relationship of the church. The purpose is to monopolize these rewards.

"I also thought about this question, but Mr. Beth answered me this way."

William coughed slightly. Instead, he said in a low, majestic and domineering language: "The Church of Life? There is no one who can fight."

Sean froze for a moment, and then smiled bitterly: "It really fits Mr. Beth's style."

Beth, Andrew, Enkos and others are indeed qualified to say such things, let alone the Church of Life, I am afraid that no one except the seven empires can stop Andrew and others. But these guys have the strength to have the confidence to say such a thing, it does not mean that Sean can also think so.

At least, if he agrees to Andrew's condition, then if he loses his bass two years later, the entire Void City will no longer be able to stop the invasion of any powerhouse above the sanctuary.

Thinking of this, Sean has a headache again, because this matter is simply an unsolvable problem.

Perhaps once a war breaks out, the Kingdom of Darbion will indeed suffer in the short term, but once the nobles above the earls send troops, then there will inevitably be magicians with the army, and it is not impossible that even a wizard group will appear. At least Sean knew that there were several legions in the Kingdom of Darbion that had entourage wizards, and once encountered these legions on the battlefield, it would be difficult for him to get any benefit even if Cecilia joined him. What's more, Cecilia may not be able to fight with the army.

"By the way, what are you going to do about Steven?"

Chapter 242: .Excited William

"This matter can only be handed over to Beth." Sean still felt a chill when he thought of the man who called himself Stephen.

But neither William nor Cecilia felt that way, so they couldn't understand the horror in Sean's tone. However, since Sean decides to be handled by Bass, then the problem can basically be regarded as over, at least they don't think there is anyone who can escape Beth's pursuit.

After finalizing the future foreign aid force of the territory, this meeting basically ended.

Cecilia also seemed to become a little busy, not doing nothing like before, so she got up and left after the meeting. Instead, William was still sitting in the conference room, with his chin resting on the back of his crossed hands and staring at Sean with interest.

Not long after, Sean was the first to lose the battle: "What...what?"

"Nothing." William smiled, but I don't know why, but this smile made Sean feel a chill.

"Don't laugh, the more you laugh, the less I will be." Sean shivered, and he quickly reached out and rubbed his arms as if he was warming up, "Just tell me what's the matter with you." ."

Hearing Sean's words, William constricted a bit, revealing a more serious face, and then said in a deep voice, "Now that the contract documents of the territory are in our hands, I can go smoothly with regard to the upcoming troubles of the Peace Association. Solved. But have you ever considered how to deal with the affairs of the Millennium Covenant Empire and the Royal Family of the Principality of Lane?"

"What do you mean?" Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, some of which didn't react.

"We all know that they are coming for Cecilia, but in fact they don't know who the awakened of the Phoenix bloodline is, so maybe they will settle here for a long time in the future." With William The voice sounded. Sean's brows were also frowning tighter and tighter, because he discovered that there seemed to be something crucial that he had overlooked, "The current standing military strength of our territory is close to 30,000. Do you know what kind of concept this is?"

There are ten troops officially registered in Shaun's territory.

They are Commander Anno's Steel Wings, Alfred's Thunder Lion, Clover's Cecilia Guards, Rena's First Cavalry, Aldolf's Infantry Cavalry, and Stalin's First Cavalry. The First Step Corps, the Second Infantry Regiment of Nok, the Red Leaf Town Militia Regiment of Puda, the Nether City Defense Army, and the jet black wings currently commanded by William himself.

In these ten legions, the Iron Wings, Thunder Lions, and Void City Defense Forces were all expanded to a size of 5,000 people, while the Cecilia Guards, the First Cavalry Unit, the Infantry Cavalry Regiment, the First and The Second Infantry Regiment, the Hongye Town Militia Regiment, and Jet Black Wings still maintain a 1,000-man organization, plus there are more than 3,000 reserve recruits who are still training in Panda Town and hundreds of former Vivians. The total strength of the slaves in the barren land has exceeded 25,000.

And this does not include the two private armies of the former Viscount Rud who can be transferred at any time and can be transferred to the war.

The size of an army of 30,000 people. You have to know that at least this must be a force that can be fed by a powerful earl with a vast territory. As for a powerful Marquis such as Asuna, the Tonis Fortress is not counted as the only 7,000 thunder fronts left, but the regular strength of the private soldiers is only 30,000, even if it can be temporarily transferred to form the second The echelon has 50,000 troops, and the total strength is only close to 90,000.

But be aware. Tony's Fortress has a permanent population of over 100,000 and a floating population of more than 100,000, and such a giant fortress only supports a standing force of less than 50,000. And in Shaun's territory, the total population of the people who do not count the number of troops is only 30,000 to 40,000. Although the floating population can reach 60,000 to 70,000, but at this point, the population needs to feed nearly 30,000. For the army, this expenditure is not generally large.

In the past, Shaun's method was to solve it by fighting to support the war. There is also a large part of the reason for this because nearly two-thirds of the nearly 30,000 troops are made up of northern barbarians and slaves. These people only need to have enough food and do not need pay at all. But like the city defense army in the Void City and the two private armies on the side of Dayling, etc., it is necessary to pay sufficient salaries.

But over time. In the future, many slaves will inevitably be gradually converted to civilians. If these people are to remain in the army, then they must be paid. Therefore, the expenditure on this aspect of the army will only grow bigger and bigger like a bottomless pit. There is no possibility of shrinking—unless Sean disarms.

After hearing such solemn words from William, Sean finally understood what William wanted to express.

The reason why Sean spared no effort to develop military affairs. Even when there is a conflict between government affairs and military affairs, it is necessary to give way to military affairs. Naturally, there is only one purpose, and that is the war with the Kingdom of Darbion. As the fuse and leader of the outbreak of the war, Sean's greatest benefit lies in the initial period after the outbreak of the war, as long as the Principality of Lane has not formally intervened in the Principality of Lane and the Kingdom of Darbion. During the outbreak of the war, all the territories and materials that Sean captured would belong to his own property, and would not need to be uniformly distributed by the Principality of Lane after the war.

But now, if the envoys of the Millennium Covenant Empire and the royal family of the Principality of Lane live in the void city for a long time, then it will inevitably have a significant impact on Shaun's war plan. Not to mention being the overlord of the Principality of Ryan, the Millennium Covenant Empire will certainly not want to see the development and growth of the Principality of Ryan, so once it finds such signs, it will definitely try its best to stop it.

Even under such circumstances, a war broke out, but now that there is such an envoy from the royal family of the Principality of Ryan in Sean's territory, he is equivalent to occupying the name of orthodoxy. In this case, even the nobleman is not just a pioneering knight, Sean, all the territories and resources he defeated must be counted under the name of Asuna, and under the supervision of the royal envoys, this time As long as the war starts, it is considered to be the official intervention of the Principality of Ryan, so it can be said that Sean is of no benefit at all.

William knows this, and Neil knows it too. Now that William reminds him of this, Sean has completely awakened.

after all. In the orthodox history of the game, when a war broke out between the Principality of Lane and the Kingdom of Darbion, the Millennium Covenant Empire had no chance to intervene at all. When the Millennium Covenant Empire wanted to intervene in a strong stance, the Principality of Lane and the Kingdom of Darbion The war between them has ended with the demise of the Kingdom of Darbion. But now in this world, because Cecilia awakened the Phoenix blood, it led to the visit of the Millennium Covenant Empire and the royal envoys of the Principality of Lane, which completely disrupted Sean's steps and plans.

"So what do you and Neal think?" Sean knew very well, since William had already said so. Then it must have been negotiated with Neal. With other clueless thinking about each other, it is better to listen to the opinions of these two professionals before talking.

"The fastest way is naturally to meet the requirements of the Millennium Covenant Empire and let them leave as soon as possible." William said.

But before he finished speaking, Sean interrupted mercilessly: "Impossible! It is absolutely impossible for me to hand over Cecilia. That would not be a good thing. If it were for Cecilia If I go to the Millennium Covenant Empire for further study, I might agree, but that is a living experiment! Do you know what this means?"

"Of course I know." William nodded very calmly, "I only said that I would meet the requirements of the Millennium Covenant Empire, and I did not say that I would hand over Cecilia."

Hearing this, Xiao En was slightly taken aback: "What do you mean?"

"What they want is the bloodline awakened, right?" William continued, "but the problem is. They don't know who the bloodline awakened is now. On this issue, we can fake some false impressions to deceive them, such as this bloodline. The Awakened has left our territory..."

"Do you think they will believe such a bad lie?"

"It doesn't matter whether they believe it or not. The most important thing is that we must have more advanced intelligence than them." William said, "Some time ago, the rupee caught several thousand spies from the intelligence department of the Covenant Empire. These people are indeed very tough. As expected from the seven empires, they didn't speak even when facing our interrogation..."

"Is it okay to talk about the main point?"

"Okay." William gave Sean a boring look. Then he reluctantly said, "For these spies, we directly punished them with heavy punishments. Although all these people died in the end, we still obtained some very useful information.... They have already sneaked into our territory. It's been two months, but they haven't got any useful clues about the Phoenix bloodline..."

"Isn't this period of time that I was responsible for in Ting Qiyin?"

"Yes." William nodded, "They collected data on some important personnel in our territory in the form of exclusion, and finally targeted the three of Rina, Hina, and Cecilia. But this These spies were captured by us when they just gave back to the chief of the intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire. According to the way the intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire handles problems, this information should still be there. It's not passed on to the envoys of the Millennium Covenant Empire."

Hearing this, Sean has completely understood: "So as long as we catch the chief of the intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire, then the other party will have nothing to gain from the issue of the Phoenix bloodline, and even if the time comes No matter how ridiculous the excuse we give, they can only choose to accept it and cannot continue to stay in our territory to investigate..."

William suddenly propped his chin with one hand, and the index finger of his right hand tapped the table lightly, his eyes suddenly exuded a look of excitement: "Do you think this Steven is the head of the intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire? Where is the person in charge?"

"Should not?" Xiao En was a little startled. "For such a dangerous thing, it's impossible for a noble guy like the chief executive to do it himself?"

"That's hard to say." William said lightly, "Since Bass is all about to make a shot anyway, why don't we do it right away? ... Even if he is not, he can conceal the counterintelligence detection technique of Neil and me. , It is enough to prove that this person is by no means simple, maybe there is more important information or other clues in his body?"

"I'm going to find bass now." Sean stood up without hesitation.

"No, it's me." William showed a very charming chuckle, a drunken red on his face, and his nose became a little heavy, which suddenly made him a little bit thicker. The taste of the country and the city.

But Sean knew that once William showed this smile, it meant that he was really excited. And once William gets excited, he is usually listed as a target prey, I am afraid Rizi is not so easy.

Chapter 243: . Sean and Gollum

William is a standard activist, and his vigorous standard action guidelines have greatly affected all those who work with him.

So, Sean is also very used to William's behavior of turning around and leaving the small meeting room to find Bass immediately after making a decision.

In a blink of an eye, only Sean was left in the small meeting room.

At this time, a golden se brilliance flashed in the room suddenly.

The light is not very strong, but at the moment this light appeared, Xiao En already felt a very familiar breath.

"Come here, what are you doing cringing." Seen Guru popping up half of his body in the corner of the small meeting room, and couldn't help but smile, "Don't say I have a telepathic connection with you, even if it doesn't. You guy is shining golden all over, you will be spotted even if you show your face, and you want to learn to hide."

Hearing Sean's words, Gulu let out a shout, then flew out of the corner and hovered in front of Sean.

Because the body is a ball of light, although it seems to have a distinction between front and back, in fact, even Sean himself can't figure out which side is the front face and which side is the back face, let alone other people, of course. It is impossible to tell the change of Guru's expression. But at this moment, Sean could clearly feel it, and Gulu was obviously confused about sitting in this conference room, so it tilted its head and looked at himself with a puzzled look.

However, this expression and action are completely invisible to anyone except Sean.

No matter how a ball tilts its head to show a thoughtful look, can you still see the difference?

Sean stretched out his index finger and poked Guru lightly. Although he didn't use too much force, Guru flew out a short distance. Gulu made a very dissatisfied protest for this behavior of Sean, just like the first time Sean saw Gulu. Once Guru speaks too fast, even if there is telepathy that allows Sean to know Guru's thoughts, the information passed is very messy and broken.

Shaun didn't bully Gulu much this time, but his sudden rise action actually frightened Gulu. The little guy flinched back a bit, seeming to want to be with the moody big devil—— In cognition, Sean is such an identity character se—keep a certain distance, but soon it realized that Sean's words have absolute command over it, even if it is kept far away, it is useless, so it simply A resignation stopped.

but. After Xiao En got up, he didn't toss and grumble, but said, "Go, let's go out for a stroll."

Hearing what Shaun said, he was a little startled. It is a bit unclear what happened to Sean today.

Be aware that it was still living in dire straits ten days ago. At that time, Sean simply regarded it as a new toy. When it's okay, just throw it on the wall. And he also ordered it not to fall into the wall, and must use its own flexibility to bounce back, otherwise it would be punished. For this kind of bullying, which is obviously a toy, Sean also called it to help it master it. Control over yourself.

Although Gulu wanted to resist, people had to bow their heads under the eaves. So Gulu had to bear the burden of being so tossed by Sean.

And every time at this time, Gollum will miss Cecilia very much, because only Cecilia can make Sean stop this meaningless behavior. Of course, it is more jealous of Marshmallow, because this guy is under Cecilia's meticulous care. The only thing that needs to be done is to yell a few times to indicate that it is not dead or it is hungry, and it can sleep comfortably at other times.

But today, when Sean behaves so tenderly, Guru is a little uncomfortable.

It can't help but think, is it sick?

"I can't tell, you are still a masochist." Xiao En, who was walking in front, stopped suddenly, turned his head and looked at Gulu and said.

"Guru Guru!" For Sean's words, Guru is of course a protest against the conditions.

In fact, the way of getting along with Sean and Gollum, whether in the eyes of Cecilia, William, Neal, and others, is actually very strange. Because no matter how you look at it, the way that Shaun and Gulu get along are like a pair of enemies who are bitter and vengeful. The most common situation that everyone sees is that Shaun is constantly eating, sleeping and snoring every day, and no matter if Xiao is caught by Xiao Well, how do you fight, the next day, I will continue to look for Sean.

No one can understand this mode of behavior.

Of course, because of the protective force field of Gollum itself, no one except Sean can really beat Gollum. I'm afraid that the entire hand has been completely annihilated into nothingness by that invisible force before he patted his hand on Gulu's body.

"How are you getting along with Marshmallows recently?"

If it was in the past, if Guru dared to protest after Shaun complained about it, Sean would naturally draw his hand on Guru.

And every time Gollum was flew away by Sean, he would silently mutter in his heart, "Anyway, I won't lose a piece of meat anyway. Don't protest in the future". But every time after being complained by Sean, Gollum can't help but protest. , Almost all of this has formed a state of survival where conditions are anti-she.

So Gulu just finished protesting, and immediately realized that it was going to be bad, and some subconsciously shrank his body-this is a defensive instinct that it has recently learned from Marshmallow, which can reduce the damage to it when Sean shoots it flying. The impact damage. However, when Guru subconsciously tightened his body to prepare for the upcoming attack, Xiao En's slap was not taken out.

"Guru?" After waiting for a short while, seeing that Xiao En not only did not continue to smoke him, but continued to move forward, Guru followed with some doubts and let out a question.

"If you say you are a masochist, you still say no." Xiao En smiled, "Today I can't get you to fly, you actually asked me what happened, do you have to be slapped by me every time? Will you feel comfortable all over?"

"Huh!"

Unexpectedly, it was Gollum who answered him "yes" unexpectedly.

This time, Xiao En couldn't help but stop, and turned his head to look at Guru in an unbelievable manner.

"Grumbling, grunting..."

Guru also hovered in mid-air, just staring at Sean. However, after a moment of silence, Gulu also began to "speak". It's just that, to outsiders, it sounds like meaningless words like "grunt" and "snoring", and at most it is the difference in the frequency of sound fluctuations. But if it falls in Sean's ears, or in the ears of monsters like Marshmallow, it will naturally express a completely different meaning.

"You are not used to me like this?" Xiao En froze, and then let out a wry smile, "Do you want me to hit you every day to make you happy? ... How can you be a pet like this? Don't you always be envious And jealous of marshmallows? Cecilia never beats him or scolds him, and feeds him all kinds of delicious things every day. Even though those things do not help him grow."

The relationship between Sean and Gollum is a direct soul connection, so Sean will inevitably feel about Gollum's performance, thoughts, attitudes, etc. even if he doesn't know it. So of course he is very aware of the fact that Gulu and Marshmallow have been mingling with each other recently. Naturally, I know Gulu's envy and hatred for cotton candy, but Gulu doesn't seem to have a mouth. And there is no need to eat. All you need to do is to bask in the sun every day, so there is no jingle shot of Gulu and marshmallow grabbing food that Shaun wants to see most.

"Guru, gurg, gurg..." Faced with Sean's question, Guru hesitated for a while, completely as if he was dead.

"If hitting you can make me happy, would you like to let me hit once a day?" Hearing the meaning of Guru from the heart, Sean was taken aback. He felt something opened in his heart.

He couldn't understand why Gollum showed such closeness to him. In the game, the rumor that Sean has always heard is that players treat pets as uncles. A little dissatisfaction makes the pets less loyal, which is a tragic thing. According to Sean's understanding, the behavior of snoring when he eats, sleeps and snors every day, logically speaking, it should reduce the favorability and loyalty of snoring. But in fact, it is completely the opposite. It seems that snoring is only three seconds. Like the goldfish of memory, he would continue to stick to Sean every time he was beaten, which made Sean really wonder what to say.

Although in fact, Sean is not purely grunting, but training grunts as he said-just these days, Guru has been able to instantly change his force field within a second. The effect, and the strength to withstand the blow has been correspondingly increased. Now if Sean does not use a full blow that is close to the upper silver pinnacle, there is no way to fly Gollum more than half a meter.

With a slight sigh, Xiao En stretched out his hand to pinch Gollum-this time his movements were much gentler, instead of grabbing it casually like before, and then put Gollum in the pocket of his shirt chest: "I still I have never seen such a stupid pet like you.... Seeing you are so stupid, I will no longer bully you at will."

"Guru?"

"Of course it's true." Xiao En nodded slightly. "In fact, think about it carefully. Apart from your small size, your own radiant four-shee, and no practical use of xing, there is nothing wrong with you. At least it is good. You're pretty easy, and you don't have the same appetite as the cotton candy guy, just throw it in the sun."

"Guru!" Guru was obviously dissatisfied with Sean's evaluation, and it once again protested in an anti-she condition.

"Yeah, you said you are capable?" Xiao En sneered, "Then you show me your ability to show me."

As if being stimulated by Sean, Gulu immediately began to refute: the light on Gulu's body seemed to dim a lot in an instant, and all the brilliance was condensed into the body by it. This scene made Xiao En slightly surprised. But soon, Gulu was like a generator, suddenly blooming more brilliant brilliance, this brilliance instantly transferred to Xiao En's body, but Jin Se's light flashed on Xiao En's body, and Gulu's body The golden rays of light completely disappeared, becoming a real golden ball of light.

Then, Sean's face changed in an instant.

Chapter 244: Wake up

"This is!" Xiao En could feel that a steady flow of power was emerging in his body. >

This kind of power does not directly increase Xiao En's body like the increase in Xing, but rather, like the emergence of the power that Sean gained during the class promotion, it is a relatively abstract xing power increase. But despite this, he can feel that his body has become lighter at this moment, the whole person has an indescribable comfort, and the jing power has obviously become vigorous.

"It can't be wrong! This is the sacred power most often used by the Saint Son and Daughter of the Church of Dawn!" Silently feeling the flow of power in his body, Xiao En almost didn't need to open the Xing panel, he could feel this. What is the change that power brings.

Church of Dawn is a church organization established by the God of Dawn in the world, and it is also the most powerful church on the continent of Miracles today-St. Joel's Empire.

This is a country where religious power is greater than imperial power. Successive emperors must be appraised and crowned by the pope before they can ascend to the emperor's position, otherwise they will be regarded as unorthodox. Although in the eyes of the outside world, the royal family of the Saint-Joles Empire does not have the dignity of any nobleman at all, but in fact the interior of this empire is not as superficial and ignorant as it seems on the surface.

The saint sons and saints of the Church of Dawn, have always been born in the royal blood of the Saint-Joles Empire, unlike the saints and saints of other churches, who will be exiled. Moreover, under normal circumstances, the individual strength of the saints and saints of Chenxi Church is stronger than that of the saints and saints of other churches. Even the goddess of life and the se of war, who are both high divine powers, are of the same class. The saint son and saint woman are a bit inferior to the church of Dawn.

There is no other way of saying this except for the explanation of the richness of blood.

Therefore, the royal family of the Saint-Joles Empire is a direct descendant of the * of dawn. No one can deny it. And just at this point, it is impossible for the people of the Church of Dawn to disrespect the royal family of the Saint-Joles Empire, after all, they are the descendants of the gods they believe in.

The power of the sacred is the exclusive skill of the saints and saints of the Church of Dawn.

The effect of this skill is not simply to increase strength or agility. It directly increases and strengthens the effect of panel attributes such as attack power and defense. The maximum increase can reach 100%. That is to say, it was originally a situation of 1,000 attack power, but it can be increased to two thousand attack power under the increase of sacred power. This kind of damage belongs to the xing increase. It can be said to be very amazing.

It's just that Sean can be sure that in this real world, there is no specific performance data of attack power and defense power.

So where is the amplification effect exerted by the divine power?

Almost this idea just appeared. Sean already got the answer he wanted: **!

According to the rumors, the saints and saints of Chenxi Church have stronger combat power than saints and saints of other churches. If it is the saints and saints of the Life Church and other higher divine power churches, it is still easy to understand. However, the * of dawn is not the * who is in charge of fighting, how can it be more powerful than the saint son and saint of the * of war?

So, apart from the enhancement of the military, which gave them more anti-strike ability and combat ability, Xiao En couldn't think of any explanation.

Because now. Sean has lived in this world for so long, he is no longer the stunned young man who just came into this world. He has finally learned to think in this world's way of thinking about many problems and situations.

So he knows very well that there is a very wide-spread word in this world. That is "when the  is tyrannical to a certain extent, the  itself is the most terrifying weapon."

Who dare to deny the fighting power of the saint son and saint woman of the * of war? Not to mention anything else, only the saints and saints of the * of war can definitely be called rich and skilled in combat skills and experience. But they were facing the saint son and saint of the * of dawn. But it's still going to be a disadvantage, why?

The reason is very simple. No matter how much damage they cause to the sons and daughters of the * of dawn, as long as they don't die, it will be enough to make these sons and daughters fall on the spot if they do not die. This is the reason why the saint children and saint women of the * of dawn can still have the upper hand even in the battle of the same class.

In this way, the divine power can be called the core magical skill of the * of dawn.

Thinking of this, Sean didn't hesitate to throw a punch at the wall next to the aisle.

In this world, there is no such thing as steel and soil, but the lord mansion is still a stone building instead of wood, so if you want to "destruct" the lord mansion without using weapons and grudges, Then at least one must be a gold-level powerhouse. Even with a lot of equipment augmentation, Sean can only smash a small hole in the wall with his full strength, but now with the blessing of the divine power, Sean just punches it, just directly Thoroughly blasted this wall through-his fist went straight through the wall, and the maids who were cleaning the room were startled.

And the power of boxing is more than that.

After this punch went down, with the attack point of Sean's punch as the core, a large stretch of spider web cracks stretched out. Different from the previous spider web cracks, these cracks produced by Sean's punch are more dense and numerous. This is already to the extent that the wall structure is completely destroyed, because when Sean pulls out his right hand, this A large wall is like a stone wall that has been weathered for thousands of years, falling like sand and dust.

"This..." Sean looked at his right fist in disbelief, "Annihilation? No...not annihilation, but it's not weathering? How could there be such terrible destruction if it was purely sacred power. Power, this is completely related to the power of rules, at least to the extent of the body of bronze."

"Gollum!" It seems that because the first time I saw Sean reveal this incredible horror, Gollum seemed very fulfilled.

Hearing the sound of Gulu, Xiao En finally recovered. He glanced at Gulu, who was lying quietly in his jacket pocket, and watched the golden se ray disappear completely, turning into a golden se circle that looked like gilded. ball. Suddenly I fully understood: "This is not the power of sacred power, nor the power of rules, but you cast your own rules on me. In fact, it is equivalent to disguising that I have the kind of using you. The ability to protect the force field?"

"Guru." Guru nodded, a little surprised that Sean guessed the nature of this ability so quickly.

"It seems that you have found a very amazing creature." At this moment, Beth's voice suddenly sounded behind Sean, "I am a little curious whether you have been favored by the will of the world, and you actually have it. Two such powerful pets."

"Mr. Beth." Hear Beth's voice. Sean turned his head in surprise.

He has not seen Beth since he came back from Hongye Town. Although he knew that Beth lived in this lord's mansion, he did not know why Sean would always subconsciously refuse to approach the room where Beth was. If it weren't for today's accidental increase of the True Eye to the third level, then the discovery of such a suspicious element as Stephen. Sean really didn't want to see bass, so when William said he was going to find bass in the small conference room before, Sean was actually quietly relieved.

But at this moment, after seeing Beth, Sean's mood is completely calm.

He knows that some things are destined to be impossible to look back and avoid, so this is the case. Instead of taking the destiny in the hands of others, it is better to do all possible and means to enhance your own strength. Only in this way can he truly be able to live alone in this world without relying on anyone, just like the decision he made when he came into this world.

Sean found out. I am actually afraid.

Because after all, he is no longer infinitely dead and resurrected like the player in the game. If one step is wrong in this world, then it is very likely to be truly overwhelming. It is precisely because of this worry that Sean will start to become concerned about gains and losses. He also became stagnant, even after returning from a secret conversation between Hongye Town and Andrew. Completely in a muddled state.

But at this moment, after feeling everyone's care, discovering that Cecilia has finally grown up, and understanding that Guru is also helping herself in a way that belongs to it, Sean finally understands that he was grumbled just now. Quietly touched mentality. He has no turning back. If he can't go on and choose to stop, then he won't be able to do anything after all.

"The look is good." Beth's * se has always been very indifferent, but at this moment, the corner of his mouth is slightly raised, revealing a rare gentleness, "I like the look in your eyes.... Originally, I I thought you would not make up your mind until after the real battle with Darbion."

Sean smiled a little embarrassedly: "I made you worried, I'm really embarrassed."

"I'm not worried about you, but the people around you are the ones who are really worried about you." Beth said calmly with a narrow smile, "Do you need me to speak for you?"

"Excuse me, Mr. Beth." Sean nodded, "Just talk to Mr. Andrew, I'm done."

Beth nodded, and his eyes were slightly gentle: "Come to me at night, it's time to teach you the second style.... If you really wait until the war with Darbion begins to make a decision, then you It's never possible to learn the second form."

After hearing what Bass said, Sean finally understood what the meaning of the phrase "bass should teach him the second formula" that Andrew said to him at the beginning.

"But I hope you won't be so reckless next time." Beth glanced at the wall that was smashed by Sean's punch. "Fortunately, William has already come to me first, and I also decided to take that guy immediately, otherwise If something like you happens, the other party must have escaped under normal circumstances."

In front of the strong atmosphere of Bass, Sean looked respectfully like a student. He nodded sincerely and admitted his mistake: "I know I was wrong."

"Then I'll go busy first." Beth was also satisfied with Sean's attitude. After nodding, he turned and left, ready to talk to the "Steven".

Chapter 245: . Painful Rupee

This is a long and narrow stone path. Judging from the stone at both ends of the wall, it is obviously cast with black steel stone, and it is even covered with a layer of alchemical materials to reinforce the stone path's firmness. The processing fee alone is probably a dozen. More than 10,000 gold coins.

No way, anything that has something to do with magical scientific research techniques such as alchemy is a huge expense.

However, it is seriously inconsistent with the situation formed by the large expenditure of the stone path, but there are only a few oil lamps in the stone path, not even the magic lamp, so naturally it does not need to talk about the brightness of the stone path.

There was a heavy noise from the stone road, it seemed that a stone door was pushed open, and then there was a steady sound of footsteps.

The footsteps have a unique and heavy feeling. The rhythm of each beat is like stepping on a drum. It feels like an atmosphere full of solemnity. There is no doubt that this is definitely the unique footsteps of professional soldiers. . But after this sound of footsteps, there is still another footstep sound. Compared with this majestic footstep sound, the second footstep sound is light and light, if it is not because the stone road is too quiet, and this It seems that walking people are not particularly good at sneaking, I am afraid it is really hard to find out.

Not long, a light will light up at the end of the stone path.

It was a lamp held by a young man, and behind this young man was a young man.

In the entire Pandaling, no one will not know these two people.

Rupee and William.

After being brought back to Pandan by Sean from the Wildlands, Rupee was thrown directly to William for training by Sean. During this time, Rupee has been living very hard, and even hesitated between life and death several times. But for this, Rupiah did not feel resentment, but was full of gratitude. Because even if Rizi lives no matter how hard he is, he can still feel that he is surrounded by a huge sense of accomplishment.

And just two months ago, Rupi formally took over from William the Pandaling intelligence department, which was originally formed by Rena: Voidland.

About this name, it was written by Sean himself. Although William and Neal felt that the name was a bit too much, they did not say anything more at Sean's insistence. Although usually the bigger the name gimmick, the heavier the weight it represents—especially the dark side organizations such as killer organizations and intelligence agencies, the meaning and weight they have is of great significance.

But at least. It is also a high hope.

Under the joint rectification of Neil and William, the Void Realm has now become the largest investment institution under Sean, but the value generated by this institution now far exceeds the investment in him. It can be said that it includes the two baronial collars of Darbion adjacent to the Panda collar. All the information on the territory and surrounding areas that belonged to Xiao En's command can't escape the collection of the Void Realm.

Perhaps relative to the intelligence agencies of a kingdom, the Void Realm is not that powerful, but the perfect system of its intelligence system is not inferior to the intelligence agencies of the major empires. On this point alone, even the intelligence department of the Principality of Ryan can't compare with Voidland-of course, whether it is Neil or William, or the current leader of Voidland, Rupiah is very clear. The reason why Void Realm currently has such a strong professionalism is actually related to the size of the territory under Sean.

It can be said that the current Void Realm can monitor so many territories and establish such a complete intelligence collection system, this is already the limit, even if it wants to expand a little bit more. They have all become extravagant hopes. As for being able to steadily gain the upper hand in a confrontation with the intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire, that is because Void City has very experienced intelligence warfare veterans such as William and Neal, and the Ruby will mostly be in the void. The transfer of the manpower back to the void city also has a lot to do with it.

William looked at the rupees walking in front of him, and he was actually a little bit emotional.

For rupees. At first, William couldn't talk about likes or dislikes, but in many cases the performance of Rupiah was worse than that of a rookie. At that time William doubted why Sean would pick this kid to take over the Void Realm. But with the amazing talents and keen intuition shown by Rupi in the subsequent training, this made William really interested in this young man. After several more in-depth exchanges, William truly affirmed Rupi's talent.

Until two months ago, when Rupi submitted a plan called "Project Raven" to him, William knew that it was time to hand the Void Realm to Rupi.

In the subsequent performance, Rupiah also fully deserves the word "stunning".

Under the leadership of Rupi, the Void Realm, with Rupi's keen intuition and previous experience learned in the Thieves Guild and the Wildlands, successfully discovered several crises in the Dai and Chiraf collars in advance. To a large extent, this can be said to have solved many of the problems of Neil and William. Although it is not an unsolvable solution to these crises, it is a waste of time.

It is precisely because of Rupiah's almost outstanding performance that William will bring Rupiah into this stone road at this moment.

This is a secret stone path built under the lord's mansion.

This stone road leads to an underground prison, which is specially used to imprison prisoners who cannot see the light. Of course, it will also be used as a secret refuge when necessary. And this place exists in the entire territory, no one except Neil and William knows, even Sean does not know this secret prison.

But just a few minutes ago, this secret prison finally ushered in the third insider.

rupees.

"Mr. William, is the other party really that powerful?" Ruby walked in front and asked respectfully.

For Juvenile Rupiah, four people are most grateful in his life.

The first one is naturally the adoptive father who raised him.

And the second place is Sean. Without Sean, Ruby's fate would not have been changed, and it would be impossible to meet the third mentor Yimu who made him grateful, and it would be impossible to meet William, the fourth. A mentor who made him grateful.

If Yim taught him how to sneak, assassinate, and how to use the environment and other skills, then William can be said to help him far more than Yim.

Although William did not teach him how to kill, he did teach him something more important than killing, and if you use these things, then he can achieve the same way of killing without even having to do it himself.

In the mind of Rupiah. There are two grudges that must be avenged, and in order to complete the revenge, Rupi is willing to abandon everything he has.

So he is very grateful to Sean, and also very grateful to William.

Therefore, for William's respect, Rupee is not a formal respect, but a real humility from the heart. Although William did not say that he was his student, which is just like Yim at the beginning, but in Rupi's heart, he regards Yim and William as his own teachers.

at this point. I'm afraid it won't change in the rest of my life.

"Of course it's amazing, I almost escaped from Beth's hands." William looked at Rupiah, and William was actually very satisfied with this prospective disciple who was not liked or disliked at the beginning, but now is even less likely to be disgusted.

But Neal's comment on this is. The excitement of accepting a disciple for the first time and the humiliation that was ravaged by myself in order to take revenge.

At least, from the point of view of certain characteristics, the rupee is indeed "tortured" by William a lot.

"Almost escaped from Mr. Beth's hand!?" Ruby exclaimed.

For Beth, although Ruby does not know his specific identity, he knows that this person is the patron saint of Void City. If there is no such strong man hidden in the Yin shadow of Void City, then whether it is William or Neil, or Sean. They have already died countless times. After all, the things they did, who are still big people for today's rupees, are big things that others can't even imagine.

At least, Rupiah thinks. Even a lunatic would not provoke the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance, let alone design a trap to target the Goddess of Life.

Compared with these people, Rupi feels that the plans and assumptions he made for revenge are almost like a child playing the house.

"This person is so strong!" Rupi said with some emotion. "But, why do you want to sneak into our territory if this is the case? If he wants to kill someone. I am afraid that no one can stop the assassin in an instant?"

"I'm glad you discovered this keenly." William nodded with a gratified look. "According to Beth, this guy acts without a trace of hostility, let alone murderous, and also has a very clever way of hiding his breath. , So Beth, who has always judged safety based on hostility, murderous aura, and aura strength, also didn't notice such a rat getting in at all. Therefore, if he wanted to kill, Beth also admitted that he would never be the first. Time to save people."

"Then... Then why would he be discovered?"

"You have to ask our great lord at this point." William shrugged.

"Did Lord Lord discover it?" Ruby was taken aback for a moment.

"Don't tell me, although our lord looks a little stupid, he often has an amazing instinct." William smiled, "Especially when it comes to seeing people.... You look like Alfred, Rena, Stalin, Aldolf, Anno, Rudd, and of course, including me, were all discovered by Lord Sean. Oh, I almost forgot, you should add your name to this talent list. You are also a genius that surprised me."

Suddenly praised by William, Ruby's face turned red, and he scratched his head in embarrassment.

He remembered that when he was taken away by Sean in the wild, he was reluctant in every way, and even wanted to escape several times. However, based on the current situation, Rupiah is very fortunate that he did not really escape at the beginning, otherwise, I am afraid that he would not have the status and identity it is today.

Looking at Ruby's blushing face, William thought that this young man was quite cute, so he continued with some rare words: "After this man was found to have a problem by Lord Lord, we thought at the time that Ning killed the wrong person. The principle of not letting go, so I let Bass take the shot. In the end, we did not expect that we actually caught a big fish. This is of great benefit to the plan that we are about to start later, and it is precisely because of this. That's why we imprison people in this secret prison."

"Big fish?" There is also a hint of excitement in Rupi's eyes. Since William's hand-to-hand training, Rupi now particularly likes the term "big fish", "What is the identity of this guy?"

"Hey." William smiled triumphantly, "Guess what?"

"Mr. William, but the cat you trained yourself, even the mouse you didn't find, how could I know."

Rupi sely slapped William a flattery.

After hearing Ruby's words, William showed a more proud look on his face. It was clear that this flattery didn't make the wrong place.

So, William didn't bother to sell off, and said with a smile: "This guy is indeed a big man. His name is Diels, and he is the chief of the intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire."

Hearing what William said, Rupi was stunned in an instant.

At this time, his first reaction was not excitement, but panic: He really followed a group of lunatics?

Offended the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance in the wild land, turned around and dug a hole to let the chief saint of the Church of Life jump down and prepare to bury her, and now even the chief of the intelligence department of the Millennium Covenant Empire is secretly imprisoned... ...

That is the seven empires!

One of the most powerful countries in the world!

Are these lunatics going to be enemies of the whole world?

Rupiah is even wondering, could it be said that these lunatics will fight against God in the future after they offend the entire world of mankind?

But now, looking at William's proud and excited  se, Ruby knew that if he dared to say these "great rebellious" words that made William unhappy, then he would be the one who was unlucky.

So, when William was a little confused about Rupi's silence, he turned his head and saw Rupi with a smile that was uglier than crying.

Chapter 246: . Psychological Warfare Reversed

William has a problem, that is, the more excited he is, the more exciting he will be, and at the same time he will talk more. 『』

Neil said that this is an illness and he needs to be cured.

But William said that this is a terminal illness and there is no cure.

For this question, Sean once asked: "What if I say too much because of excitement, and the secrets that shouldn't be leaked are revealed?"

But what Shaun didn't expect was that Neal and William looked at themselves with idiotic eyes. And William was disdainful of answering this kind of mentally retarded question because of his own guilt—although he said it was pride and dignity—but the kind Neil still clarified for Sean: "I think what really needs to be worried about is that. A person who heard classified information... Or, it is a psychological and tactical threat of intimidation."

Now, Rupiah finally has the honor to experience this feeling.

"The opponent's strength is very strong. According to Beth's assessment, the people sent by the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance who secretly sneaked into the Void City to try to negotiate the results are stronger.... But I don't know how strong it is. , But what is certain is that the so-called stronger for bass is definitely more than simple in our cognition. I suspect that the opponent's strength is at least the middle sanctuary or even the upper sanctuary, only then will it be consistent. The identity of the head of an imperial intelligence service."

The middle sanctuary?

The upper sanctuary?

The horror in Rupiah's eyes is even stronger.

In his life, the strongest person he has ever seen is the upper golden pinnacle. But now, there is actually a strong man in the middle or even the upper sanctuary. This existence and cognition has completely surpassed Rupi's imagination. It is necessary to know that his current strength is only the lower silver. This is still a period of time. Achievements that have been achieved through desperate hard training.

This gap. Is it too big?

"If the opponent is allowed to run around outside, I am afraid we will really have a very headache. Fortunately, this guy has now become a prisoner, and his strength has also been sealed by the bass, although I don't know what method was used, but This may also be one of our opportunities. If we can study the specific means to seal the strength of the sanctuary strong, we can even design some traps to deal with them when facing the sanctuary strong in the future. But it is very likely to create a future war pattern.... By the way, you are responsible for this matter."

"Me!?" Rupi was dumbfounded.

"That's right. Anyway, you are now the commander of the Void Realm, and you will have a lot of opportunities to deal with Diels in the future. Just leave this to you as well.... Well, you can write about this. Enter the plan of the Raven Project, but before you pick out a confidant that you can really trust. It's best not to let the fourth person know that Diels exists."

"Master William, are you..."

"Oh, and ah, Diels can never bring out this secret prison. You must remember this."

"But....."

"...it's a pity that we don't have a wizard who specializes in the soul realm, otherwise it would be much more convenient." William was still talking to himself, the overall reaction was in a state of extreme excitement. "I think in the Raven Project, we should recruit some wizards who specialize in the spirit energy system."

"You should listen to my views and opinions! Lord William!"

Ruby really wanted to yell at William this sentence, but every time he talked to his lips, he would look at William who was full of chun. Ruby didn't have the courage to say this at all, because he was really too clear about the consequences of sweeping William at this time. However, in the face of William's continuous improvement plans and plans. Ruby felt that countless mountains were constantly falling from the sky, and then pressed against him. He almost completely crushed him.

Although he proposed the plan of the Raven Project, the entire plan currently only exists at the stage of perfecting written records, and the specific practical input period is still far away. Of course, to hinder the implementation of this plan, the first key point lies in the issue of funding. At present, all of Sean's territories are in a stage of semi-stagnation at full capacity, and the issue of military expenditures can only be renewed at most. It lasts for about four months. If a new solution cannot be found after four months, then I am afraid that only disarmament is the solution.

Following William, Ruby was still listening to William's chatter. Although there were no outsiders, Ruby was tired of being bombarded by William's language. In fact, if possible, Ruby really hopes that William can return to the old William who was calm and dignified, instead of the old man who has been chattering all the time.

Think about it carefully, Rupi regrets a bit, why did he flatter William.

This is a regrettable wrong decision!

Soon, the stone path has come to an end.

After going down the 20th or 30th steps, I came to a huge round hall.

Rupiah never thought that there is such a place underground in the Lord's Mansion. The construction cost of this underground hall is definitely not cheap? But what really frightened him even more was such a very secretive place. How did William and Neal built it, and it was built in a way to hide everyone, but soon, Rupi thought of a place His even more horrified thoughts.

How about the architects who participated in the construction of this underground secret prison?

This issue, Rupiah has not dared to think deeply.

Following William's steps, he came to one of the cells in the rotunda, which had to be hundreds of square meters in length, and finally saw the man who claimed to be Stephen, but was actually the chief of the intelligence department of the Empire of the Millennium Covenant. Diels.

Although there have been a few brief meetings before, Diels gave Rupiah the impression that he was a young man who worked hard.

For his duty concerns, Ruby actually secretly investigated Diels disguised as Steven, but the intelligence feedback showed that Diels was nothing unusual at all. His life was very simple and simple. Outside of work Occasionally, I would go to the pub to drink a few glasses of cheap yellow ale, but more often it was to save the salary earned. Moreover, in the evaluation of Rodo and his colleagues around, Diels is basically linked to terms such as diligence, hard work, and due diligence. It is said that his greatest ideal is to buy a house in Void City and become an official resident.

Of course, the shortcomings are not without them. At least there are many signs that Steven Diels is a bit greedy for petty and cheap, but also very ambitious, so that there is a bit of quick success and quick profit performance, and even in some cases there is a more obvious performance yu . And it is said that he is still trying to pursue the daughter of a businessman who is considered a small money in Nether City.

The daughter, Rupiah, has seen it, and she is really insulated from beauty. I am afraid it is not an exaggeration to say that she is a female dwarf. But for any ambitious person who has just entered the Void City Zhengyu to seek development opportunities, if he can marry the businessman's daughter, he can indeed fight for 20 years less.

In this situation. All of Diels' performance is very normal, there is nothing worth noting at all.

But Rupi still did not expect that all this was actually just his disguise.

It seems that hearing the sound of footsteps, Diels, who was imprisoned in the cell, slightly opened his eyes and glanced at the two guests outside the cell.

The room where Diels was detained was not too big, about a dozen square meters or so, but even in this way, Diels was completely restricted to ziyou.

Diels' lute bone is pierced by two thick chains. The connection with the wall behind him made him feel extremely painful even if he moved his body slightly. But it doesn't stop there. He wears a shackle on each of his feet, and the inner ring of the shackles is needle-like. It seems that it is also stuck in his ankle. Although it is not clear whether the hamstring is broken, it is obvious from this appearance that as long as his feet move, the pain will never be more painful than the lute bone on his body. The pain is light. Moreover, the shackles on the feet are also connected to a huge iron ball that is half a meter high. The iron ball must weigh a ton to see how it looks.

Besides. Diels's hands were also locked in shackles, the same way as on the feet, and the needles in the inner ring were also pierced into the wrists. However, unlike the shackles, the shackles on his hands are directly connected to the wall, pulling his whole person apart completely. It looks like a "big" character. It is completely impossible to close his hands.

In addition, there seems to be a very unique magic pattern on his body. At the key positions on the magical array pattern that represent the magic node, there is a thin black needle pierced, and a steady stream of fighting energy is emitting from the top of these thin needles, and then completely dissipated in the air.

Obviously, this is the key core that truly restrains Diels' power.

When he saw this look of Diels, Rupiah, who was still a teenager, felt a kind of horrible pity in his heart.

"Rupiah, look at him well, this is the end of your future failure."

At this moment, William narrowed his smile slightly. When he saw the  of Ruby, he naturally knew what this little guy was thinking. If circumstances permit, William actually didn't want to bring Rupiah to such a place, but he knew very well that when Rupiah took over the Void Realm, it already meant that he would no longer be a teenager, but would start to learn how to change. Thinking and judging problems from a high angle is precisely because of this consideration, that is why William brought the rupee.

With the sensitivity and intelligence of the rupees, it is of course easy to understand William's intentions.

But he can understand, but it does not mean that he can accept this approach now, even if he has long known that when he takes over the Void Realm, it means that he will always deal with darkness in this life. However, there are some things, such as conscience, human xing, and goodwill, but Rupiah is still unwilling to give up. After all, even if he wants to dye himself black, Rupiah still hopes that even a little bit of white can be retained on this black paper. se area.

For these, William did not try to force it.

Because in William himself, he is just a guide. So he will only tell the rupiah what is right, but he will not tell the rupiah what must be done or what it should do, because as long as the result is correct, there will still be many ways to the right path. The bifurcations and methods of the Rupiah, and these naturally require the Rupiah to explore on his own. Only in this way will the Rupiah grow and remember these experiences and pains.

After all, what William wants to train is a successor to the void, rather than supporting a puppet who can only listen to orders.

In the prison room. Looking at the young mentor and apprentice, even in this situation, Diels still smiled: "I am very happy that I can become a teaching material."

"Haha." Hearing what Diels said, he was still full of breath. William knew that the other party's vitality was still very strong. In a short time, he didn't need to worry about the other party's death. Such a big fish."

"I thought my disguise was perfect." Diels smiled, seemingly not worried about his situation, "When did you find out?"

"Only Lord Lord can answer you at this point." William said calmly, "Because he found your disguise.... To be honest. You should be proud, because even I was deceived by you and almost killed you. Arrange to work in the Lord's Mansion."

"Your lord? Sean Connery?" Diels was taken aback for a moment, "At the door of the conference room that day, it should be my first meeting with him."

"Yes."

I heard William nod and admit. Diels smiled bitterly: "So that's it.... Actually, I noticed that Sir Sean's eyes were a little wrong that day, but I didn't think about it at that time. I really trusted my own camouflage skills and strength too much. Now, in our business, once you find that something is wrong, you should retreat as soon as possible....Of course, you haven't found such a strong presence hidden in your territory. It's also a mistake in our intelligence."

"People who do intelligence work always have to pay for their mistakes."

"Yes." Diels nodded with emotion, "It's just that the price is a bit high."

"If you are willing to cooperate with our work, it is not impossible to let you go." William smiled. "After all, you are the intelligence officer of the Millennium Covenant Empire. This status is a bit big. We don't want to be at odds with the Millennium Covenant Empire.... No one would be foolish to offend an empire."

"Maybe there are no normal people, but your territory is up to the lord. Down to the officers, but there is no normal person." Diels smiled indifferently. "Think about it now. The demonic incident that came out of your territory at the beginning is really suspicious.... Since there are strong men who can subdue me, and there are also able to prevent the infiltration and entry of the intelligence officers under my command, then Logically speaking, it is absolutely impossible for a diplomat from the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce to summon a demon.... Maybe that demon may have reached an agreement with you."

"This charge is a bit big." William still narrated in a very calm tone, without any emotional fluctuations from the beginning to the end, "It is better to stop playing these meaningless trial games between us. ,how?"

"I think so too." Diels nodded, "Then what is your proposal?"

"I ask you to answer." William smiled.

"This seems a bit unfair to me." Diels showed a distressed expression, "Why not exchange information, how about it?"

"Judging from the current environment, you seem to have no choice." William's face still has an elegant smile, neither sarcasm nor pride, if he just wants to express the expression on his face. To judge his emotions at the moment and change his negotiation skills and psychological tactics, I am afraid it is by no means an easy task, "You have to know that time is on my side, the longer it is on my side, the more disadvantaged it will be for you, and the injury is like yours now. But it is very likely to fall into serious hidden dangers, and even lead to extreme regression and demotion of your strength. You have to think clearly."

"How can I be sure that after I answer your question, you will let me leave?"

"I don't think you have any choice." William shrugged, the gentle expression on his face remained unchanged, and even his eyes did not have the slightest expression or emotion. It looked like a puppet and it made people feel chilling. "The only thing you can The only choice is to accept my proposal and wait at ease for the time to leave. Or reject my proposal, and then I will use other means to force you to speak. At least I know that with your current situation, as long as you are hungry for half a month, the time will come. Not only will your body be in an extremely weak state, even the state of jingling the gods will be very unstable, so the soul power will also be greatly weakened.... Believe me, even in this half a month, you will not Fortunately, since the establishment of this prison, you are the first visitor to come in. Many punishments have not been seen before."

Hearing William's words, Diels had always looked calm and calm, and finally changed a little.

Punishments such as torture and starvation are naturally not afraid of Diels. After all, he is also an imperial spy. He certainly has the will to fight against torture. As long as he doesn't want to speak, no matter how harsh the punishment is, he cannot let him. His will was shaken by the slightest. But sometimes. But it doesn't mean that if a person is unwilling to speak, he will really have nothing to do with the other party, at least by means of the soul, of course, it is possible to obtain some information.

is just the amount of information obtained, which is largely controlled by a magician's mastery of the soul energy system. The more a magician who knows soul magic, the more information it is possible to obtain. It's just that the information obtained will be very messy or even fragmentary. After obtaining it, it will even require a lot of manpower to carry out analysis work, and often it will not be possible to get the information you want.

After all, this is to extract soul memory for collection, and the reading of memory is beyond the control of a mage.

That is already the realm of God.

And the most important thing is that once the soul memory is extracted in this way, the extracted soul cannot return to the body anyway. It means that only an empty shell remains for the person whose soul is extracted. Therefore, this method can naturally only be used once, and how much can be obtained is not determined by manpower.

But because this method is very evil. Naturally, it was met with protests from all over the continent. So once discovered, it is no different from becoming a heretic.

Of course, the premise is to be discovered.

Dils looked around for a while, and he suddenly understood the reason for the existence of this secret prison.

It's not just Diels. Even Rupiah woke up instantly.

"I don't believe that you who revealed such an important amount of information will let me leave alive." Diels said in a deep voice.

"I haven't started yet." William still said with a smile, only this time his smile. But it made Diels really feel the chill.

Because the facts are indeed as what William said, judging from his current daily consumption of fighting energy, he will indeed be in an extremely debilitated state after half a month. It is a situation where even the soul will become very debilitated. At first, Diels couldn't understand the purpose of the magic pattern that the man who grabbed him painted on him, but with the current situation, even if he is ignorant, he knows very well. What kind of treatment will you receive.

After half a month, even if it is just a silver-level magician, as long as he has a little bit of soul magic, he does not even need to be too jingled, he can fully extract his soul memory. Because what is weakened is only the protection will of the soul, but it does not destroy the soul itself. This is where Diels fears most now.

But if Diels knew that Beth himself is an undead king who is very jingled to the soul and the undead, he might commit suicide immediately before being found by Beth.

"I think... we need to talk privately." Trying to maintain the fear in his heart, Diels said in a deep voice, "I promise you will be satisfied with this information."

"He is the commander-in-chief of the intelligence department in our territory. It will be him instead of me who will deal with you in the future." William smiled, "So I don't think there is any information he can't know."

"But I don't think so."

Diels took a deep breath and looked at Rupiah. What he had to admit was that when he heard that Rupiah was dealing with him instead of William, he was kind of fortunate in his heart, because he had been dealing with him before. It was never expected that William would be such a terrifying and difficult opponent. All the psychological tactics and hints he learned in the intelligence department were completely ineffective to William.

Only now, about this piece of information, he does have enough confidence and self-confidence: "Ice thorns that never die."

When he heard this, William's  se, who had remained unchanged as a puppet, finally collapsed completely.

Instead, it is a kind of deep disbelief, which is even mixed with many complex emotions such as anger, fear, and love that some outsiders cannot understand.

was silent for a while, and William finally seemed to have been defeated, and said with a frustrated expression: "Rupis, you leave first."

Hearing William's words, Rupi hesitated a little, but he nodded quickly and chose to leave.

There was another silence. After more than ten minutes, William, who seemed to have finally eased off, spoke again. It's just that no matter his voice or momentum, he was far less firm and determined than ten minutes ago: "You know. What?"

"I know everything about you." Diels' heart was slightly relieved. Fortunately, this indifferent demon in front of him is at least a normal person, and as long as he is a human, he must be. There is a weakness, "The former deputy commander of the White Rose Army, the political victim of the Battle of Porcilia, Earl Yegunje, Lord William Yale.... I am unfortunate to tell you a piece of news, Miss Lays who assisted you in your escape. , Has served in didu's prison for five years."

The blood on William's face faded away instantly.

"What do you want?"

"As long as you tell me the awakeners of the Phoenix blood and the list of those who have entered the Rift Valley half a year ago, and let me leave. Then I can assure you that after I return to the empire, Miss Rais will be able to leave. didu prison."

Chapter 248: .Training

Sean finally saw the power of Soul Soul. ©r>

It's just that Sean didn't expect that the power of the soul-suppression is so terrible. The straight line area within five meters in front of the bass turns into nothingness. It seems that there has never been anything in general, which is really a bit scary. Because under normal circumstances, even the most destructive skills will usually leave some traces. The traces like magic sticking are obvious. Even the martial arts triggered by vindictiveness will usually have such things as powder and broken. Walls and criss-cross potholes and so on.

But in front of Zhen Hun, everything is directly returned to nothingness.

If it weren't for the stench from the cloth that Beth used to wipe the wound before, Sean really wanted to doubt the original condition of the room.

Now in Beth's room, nearly one-third of the area is in an unfinished state: the wooden floor and the stone supporting the ground have all disappeared. In the same way, any existence within the attack range of this sword skill will also not leave any traces at this moment.

This is a huge gap that is five meters long and one meter wide.

"The more swords you can stab, the stronger the power of this move." Beth retracted the sword and said calmly, "The minimum basic standard is fifty swords, and then it depends on your own performance. "

Sean nodded, and then glanced at the huge void that had left a deep impression on him: "I will let Neal re-arrange a room for you."

For this proposal, Beth has no objection.

Then Sean left.

Now Sean's brain has been completely occupied by the sword of "Soul Suppression", and he is full of thoughts about how to pool forty proficiency points to activate this skill.

According to the normal development situation, if he wants to activate this skill, he must reach the upper golden pinnacle to have enough proficiency points to activate "Soul Soul". Because each upgrade will only increase two proficiency points, the forty proficiency points that you want to obtain are exactly the 20th level, which is the promotion of two levels. However, with the upgrade of the ranks, the experience points required for each upgrade will become larger and larger, and the way to advance Sean now is completely different from what he had originally expected. In the absence of sufficient key information, he thought It is very difficult to step into lower level gold, let alone upper level gold.

So what Sean immediately thought of was the lottery system.

Because there is one item in the lottery system that rewards proficiency points, and it is based on the situation of the last time the proficiency points were drawn. The proficiency points awarded should not be too small.

But in this way, there are two problems that need to be faced.

The first is the chance to draw a lottery.

At present, if you want to get the chance to win the lottery, you must complete the territory task. Only this system will give the chance to draw the lottery. However, Sean discovered that the Territory Mission had not issued a new mission for a long time. And he doesn't understand the specific refresh of the territorial mission mechanism, otherwise he can still figure out a way to try to find loopholes or bugs to generate territorial missions.

As for the second question, it is probability.

There are a total of ten prizes in the lottery. Although so far, except for a few items that are not beneficial to the current Sean, the other items are all that can immediately greatly enhance his strength, that is, the increase in combat power. . Only when there is a need for a specific project, for example, what I want most now is proficiency. Then the chance of winning the lottery is only one in ten.

And even if the first draw is proficiency points, there is no guarantee that you will get forty proficiency points.

In this way, we still need to rely on a large number of lucky draw opportunities to increase the winning rate.

At the end of the day, Sean found out that if the domain mission is not discovered as soon as possible, the system's mechanism problem. Then he has no way to change the current situation.

At this moment, Sean began to regret it a little. Why didn't he think about carefully studying the specific functional mechanism of this territory mission? If you discover the mystery at that time, you might be able to find a way to generate a large number of territories to win the lottery chance- for this kind of bugs and loopholes. As long as it is a player, it will definitely be very enthusiastic.

"Damn it." Sean sighed like a vent, "Is it still impossible to change anything in the end?"

Staring at the blank space on the domain task list. Sean is really unwilling.

It's just that no matter how unwilling you are, there is still nothing to do until you figure it out, and Sean still has a lot of things to do at the moment, so he can only temporarily want to let go of the big temptation of "Soul Soul" and turn to Focus on other places.

This includes honing proficiency and cooperating with Guru.

At the moment, Sean already knows that Gollum can increase his force field as a rule to boost his body, but this process only takes about ten seconds. This is the same as when Sean got the curse seal. It's almost exactly the same. However, the curse seal can be improved through multiple enhancements, but at present, because of the scarcity of intelligence information, Sean can't judge whether Guru's rules can also extend the time, and this is also not true for Guru itself. Not sure.

Of course, what makes Sean helpless even more is that although Gollum himself has a core memory of the soul, this memory is not completely open to it, but will gradually awaken as Gollum grows. Although this also means that Guru has a very high potential for future growth, and it is very likely that he can help himself more than the ability to vote she regularly, but there are also many problems at present, because even Guru can't figure it out. What kind of existence is it itself, so of course it makes Sean a little wondering how to make Gulu grow up quickly.

Like the marshmallow raised by Cecilia, although Sean also doesn't know its variety, but because of the previous exchanges with that monster in that crypt, at least Sean knows how to make this guy fast Growing: Just feed it various elemental cores or elemental powers.

But Guru is completely different. At present, Sean has discovered that Guru's food is sunlight, which sounds like light and heat. But if this is only the case, is it going to throw Gulu into the crater?

Shaun fell into deep thought.

Although the situation is a bit complicated, at least on the issue of training coordination, the cooperation between Sean and Gollum is going well—at least, the current Gollum has two abilities. The first is that it can perform a similar "sneer" role. , With that golden appearance, as long as Gulu appears, it is absolutely impossible to ignore; and the second point is the high-speed movement ability of Gulu, because of the existence of its own force field, gravity seems to have no effect on Gulu. Function, there will also be no complicated issues like resistance, speed limit, etc. As long as Guru wants to complete an absolute acceleration of zero to one hundred in one second, this is equivalent to a gold-level martial artist. Full burst speed.

With the force field of Gollu's own existence, it is simply to the extent that anyone who is rubbed by Gollu will drop a large piece of meat directly.

So even if it is Xuefanio, with all kinds of magical blessings, she can only barely draw with the double combination of Sean and Gollum, and neither can help each other, but if only Sean is the only one. As far as people are concerned, Xuefanio can easily ravage or even crush Sean. Although this combat power seems to be just barely tying with the upper-level golden powerhouse, don't forget that Xuefanio is a priest with a knife, and her personal strength cannot be compared to the average upper-level gold powerhouse at all. To evaluate.

In other words, if an average high-ranking golden expert fought against Sean and Gulu, he might really die in Sean's hands if he was not careful.

In this way, whether it is Xuefanio, Rena, or Alfred and others, looking at Sean is really looking at the monster.

Because so far, there has never been an example of high-level silver possessing the killing of high-level gold in Miracle Continent. After all, the gap between the two is a real rank! Moreover, the upper-level gold powerhouses are not the people who have just begun to contact and use the momentum of the lower-level gold. They are a kind of powerhouse that has truly formed a qualitative change, and some geniuses can even start to use the power of some surface rules at this stage. .

Like Xuefanio, she has already begun to come into contact with the goddess of Ice and Winter's divine power rules. Within the scope allowed by this surface rule, the magic spells of Ice and Winter's Church cast by Xuefanio are counted in their power. It is twice as large as the priests with swords of the same class who have not touched the rules, not to mention those priests and priests who are only in the lower level of gold or even silver.

But even so, Xuefanio was barely able to tie with the combination of Sean and Gollum.

Everyone really understands at this moment, the true identity of this grunt in front of me is really not easy!

In addition to training with Gollum, Sean's other free time is also used to practice other currently activated skills.

Although Sean uses these skills frequently, they are not commonly used after all, and the increase in proficiency is indeed very slow. Therefore, taking advantage of the rare free time at the moment, Sean naturally devotes all his Jing power to this aspect. After all, these proficiency skills, as long as Sean spends more time practicing, then the proficiency will rise, and once the peak is reached, these skills will be automatically upgraded, so that it can save a lot of proficiency points at the same time. If you can enhance your own strength, why not do it?

Of course, Sean will relax a little after the exhaustion caused by a lot of training.

But this kind of relaxation is not to go to a tavern to drink or sleep, but to lock oneself in a blacksmith's shop and practice things about magic weapons.

Because Sean found that no matter how tired he was, as long as he picked up the hammer and started hitting these weapons, his mood would calm down.

Chapter 249: .Yan spear smashed empty

Many times, when a person focuses on something that can make oneself devote oneself to, they tend to ignore the passage of time.

Just like now, when Sean devoted himself to the training of skills, he finally found the moment in the game that moved him and made him happy.

At that time, the means of obtaining proficiency points in the game was very single, and there was no other tricky method except for level promotion. For this reason, the most common place to see players was not in the wild, but in training centers in various cities. Countless players are doing on-hook training from ri to ri, the purpose of which is to improve the little bit of proficiency in the skills they have learned.

Sean was also a member of this army.

Now, in this real world, Sean couldn't help but recall the original situation during training.

That is a kind of nostalgia from the depths of the soul.

In the past month, Xiao En has devoted all his Jing power to the practice of sword skills and casting.

Although Entangling Flame, the most typical signature skill of the curse seal swordsman, has not been greatly improved, the skill improvement obtained from the bass has been greatly improved.

Since this skill was improved in Bass, it has received a substantial increase in attribute xing, and it has become Sean's strongest passive skill in one fell swoop. However, this skill actually has a big limitation, that is, it can only take effect when the long sword is equipped. Xiao En tried it if he didn't use the long sword but other sword weapons. The increased blackjack strength and agility will be cancelled.

But even so, but now almost all of Sean's skills are based on weapons like the long sword, so the effect on Sean's amplification is naturally great. And in the training time of the past month, it is natural to upgrade this skill to level four, and at the same time activate a new ability "increase" at level three.

Although this ability will increase the consumption of fighting spirit, the relatively increased triple damage power of the sword system is an effect that cannot be ignored.

If without using Requiem, Shaun uses other skills and combat techniques to face the next golden powerhouse with a win or loss of 50-50, then after gaining the effect of increasing. Sean is tantamount to possessing the capital that truly threatens the lives of the lower gold powerhouses, and his winning rate can be increased to seventy-three.

To put it simply, the triple damage increase of the sword system is the gap between breaking defense and not breaking defense.

If you don't break the defense, you will fight for nothing.

But if it can break the defense. So as long as it is cut, it will be bearable.

Considering according to the special characteristics, Sean believes that a new special skill should be obtained at level 6 and 9, and even at level 10, this skill will undergo a qualitative change.

This is not a blind optimism, but an intuitive judgment of Sean as a senior player.

It's just that when this passive skill was upgraded to level 4, Sean realized that he wanted to continue to improve the proficiency of this passive skill, which was really not an easy task. Although when he returned from the wild land, this sword skill had already been upgraded to the second level. But at that time, if you spend a lot of time training every day, you can still increase your proficiency a little in two days. If you are diligent, you can increase your proficiency by two in three days.

But now, more than twelve hours of sword practice every day for three or four days may not necessarily increase a little proficiency. This made Sean a little depressed. But no matter how depressed, Sean had to continue training, because he really couldn't wait to know what would happen when this passive skill reached its peak, so he would go to the smithy every night to beat. Naturally, it became Sean's relaxing activity.

For this, Sean has also begun to create a magical equipment for Rina.

The flame gun is broken into space.

Being the same as Alfred, they are all vindictive. The idea of Yan Lance Breaking Kong is to maximize Rina's explosive power and lethality, and it is easier to resonate with Rina's fight, so that the consumption of Rina's fight will be reduced accordingly. After all, Rina is a knight, and her fighting methods and skills are based on the coordination with the mount, using charge, stab and other skills as the main means of combat, and Alfred's kind of charge requires a big opening and closing step. The way of fighting is completely different, so Yan Lance Broken Kong pays more attention to Rina's personal combat effectiveness, rather than pay more attention to lethality like the Flame Lion Fang.

For a combatant, the combat effectiveness that a handy weapon can increase is definitely not small.

In this world, not every combatant can get a handy weapon. In this regard, Rina and Alfred are undoubtedly lucky. It's just that during the production process, Yan Gun Broken Kong encountered the same problem as the Flame Lion's fangs-material shortages and limitations, so in the past month, Yan Gun Broken Kong was only a semi-finished product. Only, the degree of completion is not even as good as that of the Flame Lion Tusk.

With a helpless sigh, Sean stopped and continued to step on the pedal to sharpen the tip of the gun.

Although demonized weapons are built on the strengthening of high-quality weapons, demonized weapons are more dependent on the increase in magic power, so the increase that this purely physical polishing method can provide is no longer high.

Gently put a special gun head about the size of a palm in his hand back on the wooden table, Sean reached out and took a face towel next to him to wipe the sweat from his forehead, and then his eyes fell on a metal long stick next to him.

This is a bright red metal long stick. The inside has been carved by Sean a few days ago and the related magic array road map has been activated, and the outer surface is even painted with flame patterns. Look at the whole long stick. It is full of a strange jing beauty. Of course, in fact, this long stick itself is also a magic weapon, although the various attributes of this long stick are currently a series of question marks. But Shaun knew very well that once it had been forged at the end, this long stick would definitely be a magic weapon with special effects on the silver level.

Just in this way, the magic weapon forged is a long stick instead of a spear.

It is different from Sean's tempering and strengthening of Charles's saber and Sean's forging the flame lion fangs for Alfred. The spear-like magic weapon is the magic weapon that is second only to the crossbow in complexity among all kinds of magic weapon, because the essence of this kind of spear is actually a combination of a long stick and a spear head. If you want to create a perfect one For spear-type demonized weapons, then the long sticks and spear heads must be processed by the means of creating demonized weapons, unlike the demonized weapons of the sword and axe types, as long as the sword body and the axe blade are handled properly.

Now Shaun wants to build a spear instead of a long stick. Although the long stick used as the body of the long spear has been made, the other core part of the long spear, the "head", has not yet been completed. Therefore, this is the reason why the completion of the flame spear is not as good as the flame lion fangs. . After all, the Flame Lion's fangs were only semi-finished products, but they could already be used by Alfred to kill people. And once Yan Gun Broken Kong combined the gun head and the gun body, then it was equivalent to determining the final forging step, and then it would not be a semi-finished product, but a real finished product.

Only in this case, Yan Lun Xiaokong is just a medium-efficiency silver-level magic weapon, and the effect it can play is not as good as Sean's original idea. Although a magic weapon with a silver level effect in a sword is already a powerful piece of equipment, especially in the hands of people like Rena. But for Sean, who is more pursuing perfect results, this is still a failed work, so he would rather this weapon can't be used out yet, and won't be handed over to Rena rashly.

Of course the main reason. It's Sean Lazy.

Because of the difficulty of strengthening spear-like demonized weapons, it is much more difficult than sword-like and axe-like weapons, so Sean does not want to cause more trouble for himself.

"Well, it would be great if I could get the lava ash." Sean said regretfully. "Even if it's not the ash of lava, ash fragments are fine."

But Sean knows. Actually, he is just here to post sao. If someone really sells these two things to him, he might not be able to afford it if he sells the entire territory. Because lava ash is already considered a rare-level special material, usually only the flame lord of the elemental plane of fire has a very small chance of falling. This thing is traded in the amount of one gram, and it is still a barter. Kind of, no fool will sell money. Relatively speaking, ash fragments are cheaper, but this thing is a product of the underground world, and it is also sold in one gram. Even a kilogram may not be as good as a gram of lava ash, but The only advantage is that it can be bought with money.

Under normal circumstances, whether it is lava ash or ash fragments, it is one of the forging materials used as legendary equipment.

With one of these two things, Sean can even create a quasi-epic equipment-the perfect legendary equipment commonly known by players in the game.

Just when Xiao En had finished his jail and was about to return to the lord's mansion to take a good rest, a sudden knock on the door suddenly sounded.

"What's the matter?" Opening the door, Xiao En saw that standing outside the door was a city defense soldier from the Void City, looking breathless at this moment.

"My lord, someone wants to force into the city."

"At this time?" Xiao En was taken aback. No matter how he looked at it, it was obvious that the gate time had passed, and the gates of Void City should have been closed long ago. But soon, Sean noticed the soldier's words: "You mean, forced to enter the city?"

"Yes, yes..." The soldier nodded, "In fact, she has already entered the city, but was surrounded by guards. But she said she didn't want to hurt the innocent, she said she was just looking for Lord Panda's lord, saying you will definitely see her."

"She?" Xiao En was taken aback. For such an arrogant woman, Xiao En seemed to only know one or two in his impression. "Did she say her name?"

"Kristina."

Hearing this name, Sean was stunned again: How could this woman with a poor IQ know that he is the lord of Panda? It stands to reason that Jeles could not tell her these things.

Chapter 250: .Another Christina

Sean's blacksmith shop was bought in the most recent month because of Sean's personal needs-still using his own salary. Neal, who controls the entire territory's finances, believes that Sean's behavior is an extravagant and wasteful behavior, so it is unwilling to pay from the funds of the territory for this. For this result, Sean regretted that when Neil asked him what he wanted for a blacksmith shop, he replied smoothly that he wanted to try the feeling of being a blacksmith.

"My lord, I don't ask you to be wise and capable. I just hope that you can stop adding more trouble to me, can you?"

Neil said so.

So Sean can only spend his own money to buy a blacksmith shop.

It's just because he doesn't have a lot of money, and Neil also specifically confessed that Sean would never be allowed to enter the treasury. Therefore, Sean couldn't buy a smithy in a very good location. He could only buy it from an old blacksmith. This blacksmith shop. But it's not so much a blacksmith's shop as it is a generation workshop, because the old blacksmith's son died in the previous war, and his grandson is still young and has no apprentices, although he can receive battles from the lord's mansion every month. The subsidy funds for the dead soldiers, but although the money was not much, the old man had to undertake some weapon processing work from other blacksmiths to help supplement the family.

This kind of processing work is a very normal phenomenon in this world. After all, sometimes some blacksmith shops receive large orders, but they cannot complete them within the time limit. Therefore, this kind of processing will occur. . However, the main core work is of course handled by the blacksmith shops that received the order, but for some simple tasks such as rough handling, smelting and purification, it is naturally better to ask other workshops for help in order to save time.

Sean bought this workshop because of the complete tools in the workshop, and the amount of money the old man asked for was not high. The two sides will naturally get together.

But at the moment, this workshop still has another advantage, that is, it is closer to the South City Gate.

And the gate where Christina enters the city is at the South Gate.

Soon, Sean rushed to the gate with the guard. But here, Sean discovered that William and Neal had arrived first, and behind them were dozens of heavy-duty, dark-winged guards—their predecessors were steel-winged guards. The Jing Rui troops, yes, they have been mobilized and incorporated into the pitch black wings by William, after careful consideration. The current position of Jet Black Wings is a purely * force, not a heavy cavalry force.

Seeing this, Xiao En already knew that this soldier must have rushed to the lord's mansion to look for him first, but he didn't find anyone, so he went to the forge to look for him. But in order to prevent any accidents at the gate. That's why Neil and William brought people here first, but it was probably because they heard that the other party was not hostile, so William took a class of pitch-black wings to accompany them.

With the arrival of Sean, everyone's eyes have since shifted to Sean.

But when Xiao En saw the female Xing who claimed to be Cecilia surrounded by the crowd, he couldn't help being stunned.

The height of the woman in front of me is about 1.65 meters, which is not very tall, but she has a cute baby face. The combination of a small nose and thin lips is not mean, on the contrary, it is an exotic beauty full of unique charm. Especially her eyes-the black and bright pupils have fine silver dots like stars. Anyone who has seen this girl will never forget her bright eyes.

In addition, she has long shiny black hair, and her face is also partial to melon seeds. It feels very petite and exquisite.

This is a beauty that no one will forget after seeing it.

However, Sean's attention at this time is not on her looks, but on her clothes.

The beauty is wearing a pure white robe, and the hood has been put down by her, and it is naturally difficult to judge the beauty of the beauty from this robe. After all, his body was completely covered by the robe. But when Sean saw this white and flawless robe, especially the golden string that was used to tie the robe to his chest. His face became unnatural.

However, at this moment, neither Neil nor William did not say anything, but looked at Sean with interest.

Because at the moment, no matter how you look at it, this beauty has a very typical lineage of the Zenus Empire, and Sean is also a member of the Zenus Empire in their perception. The girl traveled a long distance and even entered the city forcibly, in order to see Sean's side. Both Neil and William naturally had a good mood at this time, and they were even wondering if this beauty was Sean's. Old lover or fiancée.

If Sean were to know the nasty thoughts of these two guys at this time, Sean would definitely point to their heads and yell at them.

But it's a pity that Sean doesn't know what William and Neal are thinking, and similarly they don't know the true identity of this girl.

"You seem to know who I am." The girl's gaze has been fixed on Sean, and when she sees the unnatural * se on Sean's face, she understands something.

When Neil and William heard this, they seemed to finally realize something was wrong, and then when they looked at Sean, they finally realized that the unnatural se on his face was obviously not because of the name. Girls are old acquaintances. At this moment, Neil had retreated to the back tacitly, and William quietly made a few gestures. The formation of the surrounding dark-winged guards had been quietly changed, and the girl had been vaguely surrounded.

"If I were you, I would definitely not let them do this." As for the quiet changes around, the girl seemed to have other eyes watching. It was easy to spot these subtleties, but she was completely indifferent. "I said I don't want to hurt the innocent. This is not in line with my concept."

"Retire." Sean knew that the girl was telling the truth. If she really wanted to do something, no one in the room would survive except him.

Hearing Sean's words, the soldiers around him hesitated a little, but they quickly retreated. The formation surrounding the girl naturally became responsible for protecting William and Neal. At this moment, the air here at Nancheng Gate suddenly became a little stagnant. This extremely depressing low pressure made many people feel a little uncomfortable, but no one dared to act rashly at this time, for fear that it would be triggered by accident. Some unnecessary troubles.

"My name is Kristina. Kristina. F. Fisher." The girl suddenly showed her hands from her robe, pulled her robe gracefully, and gave a lady's meeting ceremony. Only from this action, the girl looked at the girl. It is indeed elegant and charming, but when she said the second half of the sentence, the people present could not help but shudder, "From the Peace Association.... I have been looking for you for a long time, Sean Connor. Sir Lee."

Peace Association!

Neil and William swallowed.

Although this organization claims to be "peace", it also acts with upright slogans such as the so-called "maintenance of world peace". But in fact, people on the whole continent know that this organization is a group of lunatics through and through, because their actions to maintain world peace are really crazy and extreme-just to bring a * kingdom back to the orthodoxy, it can be. All the royal bloodlines of the entire kingdom were slaughtered clean, which caused the entire kingdom to fall into civil strife that lasted for twenty years.

Although this kingdom has regained unity and prosperity after two decades of civil strife, and now it has become one of the seven empires, the number of deaths in the past two decades is more than 100 years in the entire kingdom. The number of deaths caused is even higher.

If Sean and others who dared to provoke back to the mainland Chamber of Commerce Alliance and offended the Millennium Covenant Empire are considered lunatic behaviors in the eyes of many people, then when the people of the Peace Association appear, Sean and their behavior will appear to be normal to outsiders. Much more.

But.

Although the Peace Association is indeed an organization of lunatics, the participation of this organization is indispensable for many things on the mainland. At least in terms of fairness and disclosure, the Peace Association's reputation is good. Therefore, many disputes that cannot be resolved or that require third-party arbitration are asked to be held by the Peace Association.

However, what Sean did not expect was that this time he would dispatch an executive officer instead of an arbitrator to deal with the territorial dispute between him and the Hastings family.

Sean, who is not unfamiliar with the background of the game, knows very well that the Peace Association's system is divided into two parts, one is the arbitrator who is responsible for handling various trials and rulings, and the other is the executive officer who is responsible for performing secret tasks. In the Peace Association, the former are just ordinary people with no combat power at all. They usually wear red or black sequins. The number of Phnom Penh painted on the clothing indicates how powerful their position is; while the latter is They are people who are specially responsible for fighting. Their individual strength is extremely strong, and they also master many secrets. They can be regarded as very difficult to deal with. The clothing is mainly white se and silver se according to the strength of the individual. That is, the white-robed executive officer or silver-robed executive officer commonly known by the players in the game.

Kristina's dress is white se, which means that her strength has not yet reached the level of the sanctuary. But at this moment, she only exuded a slight deterrent, and she already had the momentum to completely condense the air. Xiao En knew that the strength of the white-robed executive in front of him was definitely the level of the upper gold pinnacle.

Sean took a deep breath, and then said: "You said you have been looking for me for a long time, what does this mean?"

"Do you remember what happened at Tindes two and a half years ago?"

Hearing Christina's words, Sean's pupils shrank suddenly.
