

Lord of War Vol 2-251

Chapter 251: .The truth of the past

How could Sean forget about Tindes?

It was in that place that he made the decision to change his life in the future.

So for that territory, for the dispute between Du Luen and his uncle Mario, Sean still remembers very clearly now. At the beginning, in the game, this was also a plot story, but the story ended with Mario's victory, but with the assistance of Sean, the development in this world is completely the same as the situation in the game. different.

Of course, in that territory, Sean took Alfred and his daughter Hina, and also gained the inheritance of the exorcist.

It can be said that Tindes Ling is the origin of what Shaun has now.

If he did not agree to Du Luen's request and decided to  them to Tindes, then Sean might stay with Cecilia in the Kingdom of Celian for the rest of his life. If that's the case, let alone becoming a lord or owning everything nowadays, I am afraid that he has to be constantly running around for a mess.

However, after a short moment of shock, Xiao En completely awoke.

He stared at the other Christina in front of him, and after making sure that she was not joking, he nodded and said, "Of course I remember."

"If this is the case, then our next conversation will be much more convenient." Kristina smiled slightly, "I believe you will have an impression about Mario becoming a demon?"

Shaun nodded.

"Although the fact that Mario turned into a demon is beyond our expectations, according to our assessment, if you were not there to make trouble, this would not happen at all, so we think you are the cause of this. The culprit of the incident." Christina said with a calm face, "So I have a list determined by the Peace Association in my hand. There are five people on the list. They must all be responsible for this matter."

Hearing Christina's words, Sean was taken aback for a moment, and immediately realized the crux of the problem.

He looked at Kristina in disbelief, and then said, "Could it be that... the root cause of Mario's coup d'état was that your Peace Association led it?"

"It's not impossible for you to understand this way." Kristina nodded, "Tiinders has gradually declined under the old Royce's governance, and this decline has even spread like a virus to affect the entire Bodo The Kingdom of Roja, if this continues, the Kingdom of Puerto Roa will definitely be annexed by neighboring countries.... However, the Kingdom of Puerto Roa and the Magi Empire currently have an important technology under development. This technology is being developed. Before it succeeds, the Kingdom of Puerto Rico cannot be destroyed, so we naturally have to ensure the existence of the Kingdom of Puerto Rico, so all viruses should naturally be picked out."

Sean knows exactly what Christina said about this important scientific research project.

Magic Device Technology!

The Hellson Institute to which Jeles belongs to the rebirths and its base is the Kingdom of Portoroa. And Sean was also appreciated by Professor Wye there. With his help, the scientific research project was ended a full year ahead of schedule and developed in accordance with the normal historical plot. Then the next step should be to enter the second part of the research phase, and then the research results and data will be sent to Portoro. The Magic Research Institute of the Asian Kingdom later cooperated with the Magic Research Institute of the Maggie Empire to successfully create a new magic device technology.

Only this technology has been created successfully. Then, only when Sean obtained the teleportation blueprint in cooperation with Paqiuli and Jeles in Tin Chiyinling before it could become a reality.

But Sean never thought that there was a shadow of the Peace Association intervening behind these things.

And what he didn't expect was that the Peace Association actually supported Mario's seizure of power and became the lord of the Tinders. Then it can be inferred from these clues that Mario and the Medusa Chamber of Commerce met. It must be the people of the Peace Association who pierce the needle in it, otherwise Mario will not be able to get the fire dragon poison, and there will be no possibility of poisoning his brother later and then becoming the acting lord of the Tindess.

But Sean bet. The Peace Association certainly did not know that the Medusa Chamber of Commerce is actually a group of infidel chambers of commerce who believe in demons. Otherwise, the Medusa Chamber of Commerce will never contact Mario. After all, although the Peace Association is a bunch of lunatics. But at least they are still relatively normal humans. At least in the war with the infidels, the Peace Association has never been hindered. It can even be said that the Peace Association is the most active in the war against the infidels.

"If I guessed correctly, then there must be my name in the list you have?" Sean said.

"Yes." Kristina nodded, "Not only you, but also the names of Cecilia and Alfred.... At present, there are only three of you on the list of five people. Still alive."

"Could it be that you still want to kill us?" Sean froze for a moment. "We helped you solve a potential threat. That Mario is a demon. And the Medusa Chamber of Commerce is not a good person, don't you? I wonder if the Medusa Chamber of Commerce has established a cultivation base underground in Tindes, and even tried to use it as a forward base to bring demons into this world?"

Kristina frowned when she heard what Shaun said. It was obvious that she didn't know anything about what Shaun said.

If you really follow what Sean said, no matter what kind of role the Peace Association plays in this matter, then they will eventually become accomplices of the devil's invasion of this world. This is undoubtedly a draw on the face of the Peace Association. Slapped. Similarly, it is a completely unacceptable behavior for Christina, who dedicated herself to the Peace Association to pursue the justice of the so-called world peace.

"Can you believe what you say?" Christine Nadai frowned slightly.

"You go to investigate the Medusa Chamber of Commerce, don't you know?" Sean shrugged, "I believe that with your abilities, if you really want to conduct an in-depth investigation of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce, it will definitely be a very easy thing. ... If this investigation takes too long, then you can also go to the trading capital to investigate. I sold a book of the devil there. I believe you can share the history of this book in your Peace Association. Relevant records can be found in the Great Cultural Relics Museum."

"No. I believe you for the time being in this matter." When Christina heard about the Trade City, her face changed slightly and looked a little ugly. It was obvious that something was unhappy in the Trade City. Thing, "That book has been bought by the dead thorn."

"Deadthorn?"

Hearing such a name, Sean's face became unnatural again.

"It seems that you also know the situation of Deadthorn." Christina stared at Sean very badly. "Could it be that you have anything to do with Deadthorn?"

"How is this possible!" Xiao En immediately retorted, "I will never get involved with organizations like Deadthorn!"

Of course, Sean actually thinks if he can. He didn't even want to have anything to do with the Peace Association. It's just that Christina from the Peace Association is standing in front of him. Of course, Sean dare not say it in front of her. But there is one thing he knows very well, that is, the Peace Association and the Deaththorn are true feuds. After all, the Peace Association is crazy and arrogant, but at least it considers the problem from a human perspective.

and thorny. That is purely a gathering place for a group of dark creatures.

Don't say you are heretics, there are even demon lord and big devil in it.

It's just the Deadthorn organization, it is indeed a veritable assassination organization, so many nobles don't care about the faction of this organization at all. Under certain circumstances that require special actions, these nobles will be very happy to ask this organization for help. At least, Danawi in the Duchy of Lane before. Sean found the trail of Deaththorn, which was obviously the handwriting of Lord Danawi's nemesis.

"About the Medusa Chamber of Commerce, I will believe you for the time being." Christina looked at Sean and found that the * se on his face did not look like a fake. And there is really no sign that Sean and Deaththorn have a cooperative relationship, so after a cold snort, Christina continued to say, "But if I find out that what you say is false, then even if you are around you There is a high-ranking golden priest with a knife to protect. I can also kill you." After thinking about it, it seems that it is very imposing to say that. So Christina added: "Of course, there are two other people on the list."

"Yes..." Sean replied helplessly, but soon realized a problem, "You said there are five people on this list, except for me, Alfred and Cecilia. , Who are the other two?"

"Peter and Du Luen." Kristina replied casually, seeming to think it was not a secret anyway, "but these two people are dead. Peter was seriously injured and Du Luen was killed by me. That's it....Why, do you want to avenge him?"

Shaun was taken aback for a moment, and he hadn't really thought about revenge for Du Luen.

He had already fallen out with Du Luen when he was in Tindesberg before. After all, the trouble that could have been easily solved was complicated and troubled by Du Luen. At that time, Sean felt that Du Luen was not saved. Of course, afterwards It was impossible to stay in Tindes Ling, and from the current situation, it was really a wise choice for him to leave Tindes Ling at that time.

Only now, when he heard that Du Luen was really dead, Sean still felt a strange feeling in his heart.

Is the life of this world really so worthless?

"Since the matter of Tindes is set aside for the time being, and you don't have to die for the time being, then we might as well deal with another matter."

"Another thing?" Sean was a little dazed, "What else?"

"Don't you forget? Of course it's about Panda's ownership rights." Kristina gave Sean a blank look, and looked at him with a look that seemed to be an idiot, "Domingo. Hastings is already on the way to Pandan, and is expected to arrive in about three days.... Originally, the arbitrator should be responsible for this matter, but since I have already arrived, I will handle it by the way. ."

"But you wanted to kill me before?" Sean asked in a puzzled manner.

"Yes." Christina nodded.

"Then if you killed me just now, how should the ownership of this territory be handled?" Sean felt that he really didn't understand this woman's thinking. Could it be that the people of the Peace Association are lunatics? This is contagious. xing?

This time, Christina is really looking at an idiot: "Aren't you a pioneering knight? If Domingo Hastings can't prove that this territory belongs to him, of course it's The land is judged to your lord Asuna G. Evans, do you still need to ask? ... Besides, you are just a pioneering knight, is it important? Please don't look too high on "Explore" Is the influence of the knight's identity okay?"

Hearing Christina say this, Sean really didn't know how to refute it.

The pioneering knight does not have any influence, and it is not a decent identity, but his pioneering knight status is completely different from the general pioneering knight!

However, it is obviously impossible for Sean to speak out about this kind of thing, so he can only accept Kristina's complaints: as a normal person, there is really no need to be familiar with a lunatic.

Chapter 252: . William's Past

The arrival of Executive Officer Christina did a little bit beyond Sean's expectations, but since everyone said that this time she was responsible for arbitrating matters concerning the ownership of the territory, so Sean was of course not good at saying anything. So, he had to arrange a room for her in the lord's mansion, which happened to be next to Bass. Anyway, as long as Bass was there, Sean believed that Christina would not be able to make any waves.

As for Christina's combat effectiveness, Sean had no doubts at all.

A white-robed executive from the Peace Association, the combat power can definitely be regarded as the kind of existence at the top of the same rank. Moreover, during the training for nearly a month, Sean has also clearly realized the gap between himself and the upper golden powerhouse. At least he will definitely not be Kristina's opponent, even if there is a grunt. They just managed to draw, if you count Xuefanio, you can win, but if Kristina is determined to escape, they really can't stop it.

Because according to the description of the South Gate City Defense Army that night, Christina arrived in the air.

This technique of stepping into the air is the exclusive technique of the Arcane warrior, and it is a special ability that uses the combination of arcane and vindictiveness. This ability allows the Arcane warrior to move in any terrain without any interference. Although there will be a height limit during the lift-off, as a profession below the sanctuary, it is indeed only the Arcane warrior. Being able to fly into the air, this advantage is still very large.

No matter from which aspect, the appearance of Christina did bring to Sean and others an unprecedented sense of pressure and shock.

After arranging Christina's affairs, Neil, William and Sean came to the small meeting room by chance. After the three looked at each other, they finally sighed helplessly.

"I have never heard that in an arbitration involving the Peace Association, an executive officer will be dispatched instead of an arbitration officer." Neil said in a puzzled manner. "That person...is it from the Hastings family?"

"Unlikely." William was also a little unsure. "How could the people of the Peace Association be bought out?"

"No, no, no, I'm not talking about buying." Neil shook his head, looking at how your reaction became so sluggish, "I'm talking about this person, is it a fake? That is, he Not from the Peace Association..."

"I think you are the one who has the IQ problem." William was taken aback for a while, but after thinking about it carefully. It's just like Neil's face is disgusting, but this charming look feels like playing the piano when facing Neil, "If it's a fake, then how could she know what was there two and a half years ago? collar....."

William looked back at Sean.

"Tiinders, a piece of earls in the Kingdom of Portoroa near the Starfall Forest."

"...Yes!" William nodded vigorously. "If she is a fake, then she absolutely cannot know what happened in Tindes. From this point of view, she cannot be a fake.... Maybe as she said, she has been in the past two years I've been hunting down Sean, so this time I rushed over after receiving the news. I think it is very likely that there may be a shortage of staff within the Peace Association..."

But before he finished speaking, William himself shut up.

Peace Association is a very extreme lunatic organization. And since it was jointly attacked by all countries on the entire continent, the Peace Association has never established any army, but as a charge on the front lines of war in various places, the number of executives with extremely high mortality is not a small number, not to mention that they never need to be involved. The content of the battle is only the arbitrator responsible for arbitrating disputes across the continent.

"This executive officer is indeed not a fake." Sean thought about it carefully. Then he said, "The standard robes of the Peace Association have special markings. I have carefully observed them before and those markings are true. So her identity can also be confirmed.... But this is also true for us. It's no different. Anyway, the territorial contract is in our hands. Whether it's the executive officer or the arbitrator, there will be no change in the result."

"That's true." William and Neal nodded.

"Speaking of which, the man named Stephen has been caught for a month? Did you ask anything?" Sean suddenly asked about this.

Hearing what Shaun said, Neal also turned his gaze to William. He has been very busy recently, so he did not ask about interrogating the captives. He had forgotten all about it, but now he is so busy. Reminder, he is also a bit curious.

It's just that, unlike the situation Sean and Neal imagined, when William heard this, his face changed slightly and looked extremely unnatural.

"What happened?" Sean frowned slightly.

"I have a handle in his hand."

Sean keenly noticed that William's hands on the table suddenly clenched, and then stretched under the table. His face became very ugly at this moment. It seemed that because of recalling something, the blood on his face began to fade and became extremely pale, as if he had just recovered from a serious illness.

"It doesn't matter what you handle, you are my person now." Sean took a deep breath, and then said, "Things in the past can no longer threaten you."

Hearing what Shaun said, William raised his head and looked at Shaun, his eyes were a little moved, but he was quickly hidden in his heart.

The atmosphere in the conference room suddenly became a little silent and embarrassing.

"What the * is it?" Neal couldn't help it.

"Do you know the coup d'état of the Millennium Covenant Empire about ten years ago?"

The coup d'état ten years ago?

Shaun was taken aback, he really didn't know this.

"Is it the reshuffle of the old and new aristocratic circles in the Battle of Poquilia?" Neil seemed to have some understanding of this. After a little thought, he said, "If you remember correctly, the current Millennium Covenant Empire The emperor was a supporter of the new aristocracy. It was the coup d'état that allowed him to secure the throne of the throne... There are rumors that after the coup d'état, he took a total of eleven people including his father. Royal member."

"What's the matter with the Battle of Poquilia?" Sean was a little dazed.

"It was a battle for the empire to open up its territory and march towards the frontier." Neil explained, "The leader of the army is the Marquis of Horton. This is an emerging nobleman. Only in terms of family strength, it should be regarded as one. Marquis of real power. However, although the commander-in-chief is the Marquis of Horton, it is actually the White Rose Legion that was actually in charge of the battle at that time. This legion..."

Speaking of this, Neil suddenly stopped and looked at William with some surprise.

Sean is a little unclear.

However, William had already spoken: "In addition to the imperial regiment, there are eleven private soldiers from the nobles. The old and new nobles are divided into half. Although the Marquis of Horton is a new noble, but He became the commander-in-chief of the army because of his highest title, but the Marquis of Horton was not particularly good at fighting. Therefore, the Empire specially arranged the White Rose Army to become the main combat army, and I was the deputy of this army. long."

"One month before the war started, it can be said that the emperor had a great victory, but then in a gorge, because of the triumph of the Marquis Horton. The army was brought into a gorge and encountered front and back attack by the enemy. , It can be said to have suffered heavy losses." William took a deep breath and continued to say in a deep voice, "The legion I belonged to at the time was not even a third-rate army in the empire. It was said that the main combat force was actually a cannon fodder unit. , And at this moment I was ordered by the Marquis of Horton to lead the remnants of the White Rose Legion."

"Isn't this just an abandoned son?" Sean was furious.

"You are so naive. This is normal in warfare." Neal glanced at Sean. He said softly, "If you continue to flee like this, the entire army will only be wiped out, so you must abandon some people. Let more people survive. In this case, you might be able to turn defeat into victory."

"Yes, because of this consideration, I stayed." William nodded. The voice returned to calm, "Although the process was a bit cruel. But the result is undoubtedly lucky. In the end, hundreds of people, including me, survived. At that time, because of my highest military position, I became the captain of more than 100 people. After a month of detours and absconding, we successfully returned to the border of the empire.... However, what awaits us is not glory, but a... massacre."

"Why?" Sean was stunned.

In fact, including Neil is unbelievable.

"Because this so-called border war is actually a yin plot from beginning to end." William sneered, his voice somewhat indescribable, "At that time, there were four candidates in the empire who were expected to become the new emperor However, the current imperial emperor had the lowest approval rate at the time, because no veteran nobleman was optimistic about him. After all, the strength of the prince was not as good as his brother and sister at that time."

Hearing this, Sean basically understood: "So, in order to become the new king of the Millennium Covenant Empire, the prince set up a line with the emerging aristocrats who were not highly regarded, and then designed a game aimed at the veteran aristocracy. Yin planned and used it as a trigger to reveal the confrontation between the old and new nobles within the empire..."

"It's not a confrontation, it's a civil strife!" William began to correct Sean's words. "This is a war that swept across the entire northwest of the empire. A total of ten veteran nobles with more than two hundred years of heritage were all killed in this war.... In this case, it is impossible for the neighboring countries to know these things. So in order to cope with the stupidly moving Emelian Empire, the Northwest Front Army had no time to send out the suppression, only to mobilize legions from other places within the empire, but no one Unexpectedly, almost as soon as the transfer order was issued, a coup took place in the capital city. A total of more than eleven members of the royal family were killed in this coup, including the king of the previous millennium covenant empire, which is now the new king. Father."

"That is, until this time, the nobles of the entire empire reacted. This is a premeditated coup."

"If it is a coup, then other nobles can't swear allegiance?" Sean was a little shocked.

"It was true at the beginning, but in the first event after the coup d'etat, the emerging aristocrats in the Northwest War Chaotic Circle immediately expressed their allegiance to the new king, and at the same time, together with the Northwest Front Army became the first batch of combat power under the new king." Neil said, obviously. Neil also studied the civil unrest in the Millennium Covenant Empire. "Within one day, all the nobles living in the capital all pledged allegiance to the new king. Although the specific situation is unknown. However, it is probably inseparable from threats, , Assassinations, lure and other methods... Afterwards, the only aristocrats who insisted on not submitting were the eleven old aristocrats in the southern aristocratic circle, including two dukes, but when the situation in other places is a foregone conclusion, the new king will naturally have Enough military power can quell the war in the south."

"Really a very powerful and powerful imperial emperor." Sean was amazed, but he seemed to realize that there was something wrong with the situation right now, so Sean changed the subject a bit bluntly, "So what does it matter to you? Are you not? Have you left the Thousand-Year Covenant Empire? How can you still have a handle?"

"When I returned to the border of the empire, the war in the northwest aristocratic circle had already occurred, and what was waiting for us was a massacre." William said in a deep voice. "But we didn't know it at the time. We waited until we were surrounded before we knew we were caught in the trap. Although we fought back, fewer than five people escaped the encirclement in the end....

Just when we thought everything was about to end. At that time, I met a classmate I was studying at the Royal Military Academy at the time. She is the daughter of an emerging nobleman and seems to be the commander of one of the defensive points of the encirclement."

"Oh!" Sean and Neal suddenly lengthened their voices in a very tacit understanding.

"It looks like I probably understand what's going on." Sean nodded.

"I understand, too." Neil nodded, "No wonder it's a handle.... So, this girl is still alive?"

"Yes, it's still alive." William nodded. "She was the one who let us go. In the end only four people managed to escape, including me.... It's just that the other three were civilians. So they took the first place after they escaped. The incident left the empire, but I can't. I must go back to my family."

"and after?"

"Later I discovered that my family had chosen to join the new king for self-preservation." William grinned bitterly. "So, from the beginning, I was an abandoned son and a victim.... But because of me. I came back alive. So some things started to become weird. The Imperial Intelligence Service didn't know why I found out that I was still alive. What's even more strange was that I had to be crowned an earl or a real earl.... But I don't think I can't. Enduring these things, so I chose to leave the empire, but I didn't expect that I was actually under the surveillance of the empire's intelligence department, so in desperation I had no choice but to go back to my classmate and successfully escape from the empire under her cover."

"Then now your classmate was caught by the Empire?"

"Yes." William nodded. "Although I don't know the rest, according to Diels, Lyce was arrested five years ago, but if it was for helping me escape the empire, then I should It was ten years ago."

"The man named Diels, didn't he say anything?" Sean asked.

"After he told me about these things that day, I didn't go to see him again. I left the interrogation to Rupiah." William said with some frustration.

"What does he want you to do?"

"Tell him who the awakened of the Phoenix bloodline is, and at the same time, name the list of everyone who has advanced out of the Gorge Rift for half a year, and let him leave." William sighed, "How could I take Cecilia's What should I tell him? As for the Gorge Rift, I don't have to think about it and know that he must be looking for the secret research institute. If I tell him all this, it's not equivalent to giving both Sean and Cecilia. Are you betrayed?"

"It's okay to tell him." Sean suddenly smiled.

"What do you mean?" William and Neal were both taken aback.

"It doesn't matter if you tell him about me and Cecilia." Sean said calmly, "Anyway, we never thought about keeping him alive from the beginning, so wouldn't it matter if we tell him these things?... He has been imprisoned here, so it is impossible for him to leak the information."

"But..." William was taken aback.

Hearing Sean's words, Neil thought for a while, and immediately understood. He turned his head and looked at William, and said in a deep voice, "Are you a little too nervous? If you really let him go, but he won't release Lai. In the case of Isth, aren't we losing a lot?... We must let him go after he has let Reyce go. But if he is let go, then the Millennium Covenant Empire will definitely know that we have a bass like this. Person number one, so it is absolutely impossible for us to let him go."

From the very beginning, the moment Diels was caught, Sean, Neal and William had reached a consensus that Diels should never be allowed to leave.

Otherwise, the Millennium Covenant Empire will know the situation in the Void City, and then there may be stronger enemies in the plan against Shaun in the future, which are beyond the ability of Shaun and others. Therefore, when Diels was caught, his fate was already doomed. The secret death will only belong to him, and no one else will know his whereabouts.

And William, just because he heard the news about Reyce, he lost his square inch and therefore forgot something.

"But, if he gave the order..." William thought about it seriously, "Does this mean that the Millennium Covenant Empire might follow this clue to touch me and find that Diels is in What are we missing here?"

"It's just an intelligence officer, or a spy. Will the Millennium Covenant Empire come to our investigation with great fanfare?" Sean curled his lips.

"No." Neil suddenly understood William's concerns. "It's because we won't make a big fanfare, that's why we are more troublesome. We can't catch all of them? And the strength of this Diels, but even Beth. All were injured. If he is really found to be missing from us, then it would be meaningless to execute him secretly."

"Then what about Reyce?"

The meeting room fell silent again.

.....

At the same time, in the Fortress of Tonys, a mysterious man with a hooded cloak completely unable to see his true face was pushing open the back door of a tavern, then he went upstairs and knocked on a door of the house. .

"Come in." There was a dry cough in the room.

The next moment, the door of the room was pushed open, and the mysterious person who walked into the room lifted his hood and knelt on one knee with a respectful look: "My lord."

"Is there still no news from Diels?" The man in the room called "sir" was a handsome middle-aged man. Although he was not wearing armor, he only carried a knight sword with him, but he still carried him. It exudes an unparalleled majesty, and even if he sits in this simple room, his sitting posture is still impeccable.

This middle-aged man is Dragon Knight Turman, the head of the Holy Dragon Knights of the Millennium Covenant Empire.

Chapter 253: .Turman's courage

Dragon Knight, Turman Yerov, head of the Holy Dragon Knights of the Millennium Covenant Empire.

He and Valkyrie Oscar were called the "Empire Double Heroes" by the Millennium Covenant Empire. They are second only to the Duke of East Deen, one of the ten mainland generals in terms of military tactics, Cass Hanty Niel. But if you only talk about personal strength, these two men are completely above the ten generals, so in the eyes of many people, they are naturally more potential than the old duke, who is now more than 50 years old, and the future may be a millennium covenant. There may be two ten generals in the empire.

Of course, if this idea were to let Sean know, he would definitely sneer.

Among the ten generals, even at the last moment before he came to this world, only one country has two ten generals in the history of the game.

The Emilia Empire.

But now, William Yale, one of the ten generals who will join the Emilia Empire in the future, is already under Sean.

But in any case, Turman Yerov is indeed a real powerhouse in the sanctuary, and the Sacred Dragon Knights under his command has only three thousand people, but it is an eighth-level army with combat effectiveness. It is even far above the imperial dragoon regiment, which is also an eighth-level army.

And this time, for the Phoenix Blood Awakened, the Millennium Covenant Empire even dispatched these two armies at the same time at the same time.

A full ten thousand imperial dragoons and three thousand imperial dragon knights gathered at the right portal of the Principality of Lane, thirty kilometers outside the St. Rodnes Fortress, posing a posture of invading the Principality of Lane at any time. Although Turman, Oscar and others all know that this is just an act of the empire, the people in the Principality of Ryan don't know, so for this visit to Turman, the Principality of Ryan showed an almost flattering attitude. .

For these, Turman certainly disdain to express anything. With an almost hard-line attitude, he expressed his desire to go to Tonis Fortress to see the pioneering knight under Asuna. Will the Principality of Ryan dare to stop it? Therefore, a mighty envoy departed from the royal capital of the Principality of Ryan and finally arrived at Tonis Fortress a few days ago. It was just that Turman suddenly heard of the recent dispute about Pandaren. Changed his mind and decided to wait for the matter to be arbitrated by the Peace Association before proceeding.

Although I don't know Turman's thoughts, for this arrangement, the royal envoy of the Principality of Ryan, who was originally responsible for flattering, of course followed his intentions. And Asuna is in this regard. Of course, it is also anxious that the Millennium Covenant Empire will not add chaos to Sean, how can it urge Turman?

And after a few days of stability, Turman also contacted the intelligence personnel lurking in the Tonis Fortress arranged by the Millennium Covenant Empire, and began to adjust plans for Pandaling and the dynamics of the Kingdom of Darbion. But a whole month passed, but Turman never got in touch with Diels, who had sneaked into the Void City first. This made Turman finally start to fidget.

At this moment, in the secret room of this tavern, Turman's face also looked a little ugly.

The coercive aura that radiated inadvertently made the intelligence officer who was half kneeling in front of Turman already had some breathing difficulties. But in front of Turman, who had a huge gap in class status, the intelligence officer was completely afraid to reveal his plight, so he could only endure it silently.

"Sorry." After finally regaining his senses, Turman saw that the clothing of the intelligence officer was completely soaked in sweat, and Turman condensed the invisible pressure on his body. Harmony said, "I was a little distracted for a while."

Faced with Turman's harmonious and kind words, the intelligence officer sighed slightly. If it was replaced by Oscar or Diels, this intelligence officer would naturally dare not make such a move. I'm afraid I can't wait to learn how to shrink so that the two of them won't find themselves, but Turman's reputation and reputation in the empire have always been very good, so this intelligence officer dared to make such a small move.

"When was the last contact with Diels?" Turman refocused his attention on the missing Diels, then frowned and asked.

"About a month and a half ago." The intelligence officer thought for a while. Then he said, "Master Diels was in the Rift Valley at that time. The records of the communication report show that Lord Diels did not find anything suspicious in the Rift Valley, and we are targeting the infiltration of the Void City. The work has not been smooth, and even lost contact with many lurkers, so Lord Diels decided to go personally."

"A month and a half ago?" Turman's brow furrowed tighter. "I haven't contacted him for a month and a half?...Why haven't you said it before?"

Compressed by Turman's sudden awe-inspiring aura, the intelligence officer immediately became a little panicked: "Master Diels' actions have never been recorded. They are all private actions, so usually Only he unilaterally reports to the liaison officer for the record without regular contact, and the oldest record is that the record is only half a year later.... But in the previous operation, although Lord Diels never regularly communicated with us Contact, but if you want to contact Lord Diels in any urgent matter, you can still find someone as soon as possible."

"That said, if I didn't ask you to contact Diels this time, you didn't even know that Diels was missing?" Turman frowned further. "What about the infiltration work of that Void City? What's going on?"

"Sean Connery's subordinate should have a very cautious intelligence team. They will focus on the defensive target of Void City. Although we can infiltrate, it will take a very long time, and as long as a slight flaw is exposed, the other party It'll bite like a shark that smells fishy, and doesn't care if you do the wrong person." The intelligence officer immediately reported the relevant information on the Void City, "And based on the data collected so far, everything The whereabouts of those arrested are unknown, and we suspect that they were executed secretly by the other party."

"I'd rather kill the wrong, don't you let it go?" Turman rubbed his chin thoughtfully. This is his inherent behavior when thinking about problems. "This is very much like an imperial method.... Speaking of it, According to the previously reported information, the commander under Sir Sean Connery is William Yale?"

"Yes." The intelligence officer immediately took out a piece of information from him and handed it to Turman. "He was the last survivor of the troops in charge of the border war ten years ago. Later, there was evidence that he was a treason. However, when we wanted to capture him, he managed to escape with the assistance of Reyce Monroe.... Although we failed to catch the traitor, his accomplice Reyce. Monroe is currently being held in the Imperial Prison."

Turman flipped through the data file in his hand, but his ugly face did not improve at all: "If he is lured, is it possible for him to become a citizen of the empire?"

"This..." The intelligence officer was stunned for a moment, but still said, "My lord, according to the laws of the empire. Once treason, it will never be hired again."

"I will bear all the problems and responsibilities. You just need to tell me whether this person has returned to the glory of the empire."

These intelligence personnel did not know the truth of the Battle of Porcilia, which does not mean that Turman, Diels and others would not know it. After all, they are the most trusted confidants of the new king today. It is also the backbone of the emerging nobles of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Even the No. 4 classified document "Bloodline Experiment" is very clear, not to mention that the Bocilia Battle incident that year was not a secret at all, at best it could be regarded as a semi-public yin plot.

"Our intelligence personnel are completely unable to contact the other party. If the normal infiltration work progresses, there will be a 10% chance of contact with the target after two or three years at the earliest." The intelligence personnel hesitated slightly. For a moment, and then tell the truth, "If you are eager to achieve success. It is likely that all the lurkers that Lord Diers has planted in the Void City will be uprooted by the other party.... In this case, the loss to us is very heavy. , I don't recommend this option."

Turman did not say his own views and thoughts, but picked up another piece of information and turned it over. Then he asked again: "The current strongest person in Void City is a priest with a knife?"

"Yes." The intelligence officer nodded. "She is a high-ranking golden powerhouse, a priest with a knife in the Church of Ice and Winter, which is a new church. In addition to that. Sean Connery. There is another church power under the lord's command, and the highest person in charge of the area is the saint Hitley of the Church of Life. She is also a high-ranking golden power.... But the strength of the church has never been counted in the comprehensive strength of the lord of the land. Therefore, the strongest under Sean Connery is a knight named Rena, the next gold."

"According to this kind of intelligence, let alone a mere void city, even in this entire area, including the Tonys Fortress, no one is an opponent of Diels." Turman has always looked very ugly. The * se, finally relaxed a little, "Since Diels is unlikely to encounter any danger, he is now in a place where he can't contact you.... Regarding this matter, you don't need to worry about it, now For the time being, I will take over all command power of the intelligence department in this area."

After carefully studying the information, Turman can be sure that Diels is unlikely to encounter any danger. So since there will be no danger and trouble, but there is no way to get in touch with them, then it must be in a closed space, and in Turman's cognition, there is a possibility of such a space, and there is only Now there is no mysterious bloodline laboratory with specific coordinates.

After all, is a blood laboratory that even the kings of the Millennium Covenant Empire are extremely nervous and valued. There will certainly be many institutions and other things in it, so it is not surprising that it is temporarily unable to get in touch. Anyway, Diels's job is to retrieve the two documents in this laboratory. As for the contact with the Phoenix Bloodline Awakener, that is what he needs to be responsible for.

So after officially taking over the command of the intelligence department on Pandaling and Tonis Fortress, Turman did not hesitate to issue the latest operational instructions.

"I don't care what method you use, and no matter how high the price you have to pay, you must find out what kind of person this William Yale is within half a month, and whether he may be threatened or lured. And whether it is possible to continue to return to the glory of the empire. Of course, the most important point is, what kind of existence this Reis Monroe is to him as shown in the intelligence data, for her, William Yale What kind of sacrifices and actions are possible."

"But if so..."

Before the intelligence officer could finish speaking, Turman said in a deep voice: "I have already said that no matter what method you use, and no matter what price you have to pay, you must complete this task. ... Please remember that this task is already related to the future development of the entire empire. Any problems and consequences will be borne by me. You only need to complete my instructions."

"Yes!"

Chapter 254: .Domingo's wish

A team is marching on the rough road. (You can find it)

The size of the team is not too big, about 30 people. But from the perspective of the team's specifications, this is the most standard Piaget travel specification.

The leader of the team is a knight. The reason why he is said to be a knight rather than a cavalry is because both the mount and the armor on his body have very obvious personal style characteristics, and there is a very obvious gap with the others behind him. People who show off like this are usually special cavalry units or knights, but considering that he is the only one in the team at the moment in such a costume, then there is no doubt that this person is a real knight.

There are six people behind this knight, Qingyi's black heavy armor, and even the war horse is wearing heavy armor.

In addition to the six cavalymen wearing a knight sword on their waist, there is also a knight gun with a handle behind the mount. However, the length of this knight gun is obviously a bit longer than the average knight gun, especially in the front part, which is clearly distinguished by white, black, and red. Each section is about five centimeters in length. .

This knight gun is one of the standard weapons of the Second Cavalry Regiment of the Kingdom of Darbion.

Three-stage lance.

When the general cavalry assaults, especially the cavalry as the arrow part, usually because of the inertia of the charge, the cavalry cannot be drawn out again when it penetrates into the enemy's body, which causes it to be unable to perform in the next continuous charging battle. The role of cavalry.

Based on this situation, Domingo Hastings was made a new cavalry weapon: three-stage cavalry.

The principle of this knight gun is similar to that of a lizard tail docking. Once the rifle cannot be pulled back in time due to the charging process, it can be discarded through the section marked on the rifle. In this way, as long as it is not for the loss of combat losses due to the charge, the cavalry unit will not be unable to immediately throw in the second charge due to the lack of weapons. Of course, the benefits of the three-stage lance are not limited to this. Easy maintenance is also one of the biggest features of this lance.

However, this type of lance is still in the trial stage, and the actual combat data has not yet come out. Therefore, the military department of the Kingdom of Darbion is still in dispute as to whether the lance will be immediately put into arms. However, the Second Cavalry Regiment, controlled by Domingo himself, was fully equipped, and the Second Cavalry Regiment itself was a heavy cavalry unit, and its requirements for cavalry weapons were also very high.

Behind the six heavy cavalry of the Second Cavalry Regiment. Just two carriages.

The first is a traditional carriage carriage, which is a must for the nobles to travel. Especially when it is a long distance, it usually integrates the bedroom and the dining room, especially the body of this carriage is longer and wider than the average carriage, I am afraid it is not just the bedroom and the dining room-for this As far as the nobles in the world are concerned. As long as you have enough money, it is not a problem what kind of carriage you want to order.

The second carriage is a flat carriage, which carries goods arranged in different categories. It is obviously a heavy carriage.

After the carriage, there are thirty cavalry in hussar costumes.

However, whether these thirty people are light cavalry remains to be determined. Because these people are not limited to using long spears as weapons, they even have various types of weapons such as bows and arrows, long swords, and shields. Rather than saying that these thirty people are light cavalry, it is more appropriate to say that they are infantry cavalry or mercenaries.

"Are these people really okay?" Inside the carriage. A young man who was obviously much younger took back the gaze that had stayed on the 30 light cavalry before, and the gods on his face looked a little worried.

"The person sent by Master Gesen should be trusted." A middle-aged man with a solemn and dignified face said in a deep voice. "Don't underestimate the strength of the mercenaries. These people have really grown up in countless life and death trials. Perhaps their discipline and advantages in all aspects are not as good as the military, but if they really fight, in the same number of situations. It's often difficult for the regular army to win these mercenaries."

Said by the middle-aged man, the young man nodded humbly to be taught.

"If your brother inherits the territory in the future, you won't have any opinion?" The middle-aged man, Domingo Hastings, looked at the young man in front of him, and asked softly, "Although I also want you Inherit the territory, but the Hastings family has the rules of the Hastings family..."

"It's okay, Father." The young man smiled and nodded. "I know you are actually under a lot of pressure. As an illegitimate child, I can get your recognition and cultivation. This is enough. So Hastings It doesn't matter who inherits the family. Relatively speaking... Among all the current candidates for succession, I am more optimistic about Brother Avignon."

A gentle smile appeared on Domingo's face. He reached out and touched the head of the bastard, and then said: "You don't need to comfort me. If your brother Avi is half of your ability, then I am Really feel at ease.... In the future, the Hastings family will be blunt, and you will still have to rely on you and Soma. Because Ting Qi has Soma to assist Avi, the situation will not get worse, but I am worried about other tribesmen. Dissatisfied."

"My father, don't worry, they will not dare to mess around." The young man said seriously.

"I'm still here, they certainly wouldn't dare, but what if I die?" Domingo said softly, with a somewhat indifferent vision in his eyes, "Our Hastings family was able to rise, thanks to your grandpa The Nugus family is close, so even if we are called by many people to be the most ferocious watchdog of the Nugus family, we have no right to deny it.... But what about this? Others can only do it. It's just a discussion behind the scenes, can it stop our family's prosperity?"

The young man listened silently, but did not speak.

He has a maturity and stability that is completely inconsistent with his age. Because of the identity of an illegitimate child, he has brought too much trouble, and he has also seen too much darkness in the world. In fact, it was this young man who was really optimistic about Soma, but when the Hastings family elders announced that the candidate for successor to one of the Hastings family patriarchs was not on the candidate list, he asked Ma knew that no matter how talented and talented she was, she still couldn't compare to her orthodox background.

It was at that time that Soma wanted to fight for the inheritance of the Hastings family. It really faded.

The young man knew that when his father admitted to himself, he was under great pressure. At that time, he almost could not become the heir of the Hastings family. Of course, all of this was actually said by his mother when he was dying - and before that, he even resented his father and his identity. But things in the world are often so wonderful. From the moment they know all the truth, this young man does not resent his family at all.

even. He is also very grateful to his father.

"This time, after taking the Banda collar, I will give you this territory." After a lot of words, the young man listened silently, until at this moment Domingo suddenly said that this trip would take him. Meaningful time. The young talent really froze for a moment, "Avi is not suitable to be a lord, but with Soma's help, it is okay to take care of Tingqiin. But if there is an extra Panda collar, it is completely beyond his. I can stand it... Now I heard that Pandaling is developing very well under the management of that Sean Connery, so if you don't manage it completely, it's a pity that I want to sell this territory. If you do, you have to let those nobles take a large amount of transaction fees, so I think about it. I'll give you this territory."

"But..." Some young people don't know how to answer, "I'm just an illegitimate child..."

"Is the illegitimate child not my child?" Domingo looked at his somewhat sluggish son, and suddenly became happy. "When I was young. I can see that you are very ambitious, but what is even more commendable is that you have a relationship with you. The ability to match the ambition. At that time, I was afraid that you would resent the family, and I was very sad why you were just an illegitimate child.... I even made many requests with the family elders, but it was rejected all the time. At that time, I actually thought about it. , Even if you cannot become the next patriarch of the Hastings family, then I will definitely make you a lord, even if you have any grudges against me, it doesn't matter, because I am your father and you are my son. "

The young man stared at his father in a daze. He suddenly found that his father had gray hair.

But this year, my father is just over forty years old.

"So this time, when Master Gerson of the Nugus family came to see me, I did not hesitate to agree." Domingo smiled, "This territory is regarded as my first gift to you. A gift for birth."

The young man suddenly remembered that the negotiated time with the lord of Pandaling was August 3, and that day happened to be his birth!

"Do you know?" Domingo stretched out his hand and gently wiped the tears from his son's eyes. "I always hope that one day our Hastings family can become a truly powerful family, even with Nugu The Si family can also sit on an equal footing, without having to hear other people's evaluation of our Hastings family as "a watchdog of the Nugus family". Although there is nothing wrong with being a loyal old dog, I really hope to be able to Become more human."

"My father..." The young man clenched his fists, "I will definitely not let my father down!"

"Panda is in your hands, I can truly rest assured that the Hastings family." Domingo smiled and nodded, "With your talents and abilities, you have the backing of the Hastings family, Hayes The Ting family can truly become prosperous... But it is precisely because of this that it can only continue to wrong you, and there is no way for you to be named Shanghai Sting."

The young man was still in tears, but his face showed a smile. Only at this moment did he truly feel the paternal love in Domingo: "It doesn't matter what your surname is, my father."

.....

On August 2ri, 1873, Domingo Hastings and the clerk Than Holm finally arrived in the Void City.

Chapter 255: . Pride of the Territory

In the evening of August 2ri, 1873, a convoy drove into the void city.

This team is even less than forty people, but the majestic momentum that the team exudes is like a large army.

The predecessor of Void City's city defense army was also a mercenary group. Although it has experienced many battles, it is still slightly inferior to this team in terms of momentum. Of course, a big reason for this is that many of the city's defense forces were later recruited and expanded. These people have received a certain level of training and were pulled out by William to encircle and suppress bandits. I haven't experienced any wars, so even if there are some mercenaries to support the frame, the momentum is still a bit inferior.

The knight who entered the city subconsciously snorted when he saw such a city defense army.

This knight is a knight of the Hastings family, and belongs to the Hastings family knight. However, he himself did not stay in Hastings Manor, but has always been with Domingo Hastings, and even has a formal official position—the deputy commander of the Second Knights of the Kingdom of Darbion. Personal strength has also reached the level of upper gold.

Whether it is personal strength or vision, in the eyes of this knight, the city defense forces of Void City are like a mob. Just relying on the scale of less than a hundred people in front of him, he didn't even need the cavalry and those mercenaries behind him to take action, one person was enough to wipe out this guard. So at this moment, in the eyes of this knight, the two units of Iron Wings and Thunder Lions, which are making a lot of noise in the entire Kingdom of Darbion, are naturally nothing.

After all, in the perception of this world, as the core city of a territory, the level of its city defense army represents the level of all troops in the entire territory. If the quality of the defense forces of a core main city is too poor, then other troops in its territory will naturally not to mention.

But he did not know that the management style of Sean and William was obviously different from the common sense of normal people.

after all. They first developed the steel wings, not the city defense forces of the Void City. As for the Thunder Lions, more than half of them are veterans with steel wings, so only in terms of combat effectiveness, these two units are the strongest in the army system under Sean, even better than Cecilia of Clove. The Cecilia Guards have to be a lot stronger-of course, referring to the Cecilia Guards today, not the Cecilia Guards before going to the Wildlands.

After all, the Cecilia's Guards suffered too much in the Wildlands. Although the scale has now been expanded to 1,000 people, the strength of the entire army is only at the level of a quasi-fourth level army, which is a bit worse than the previous level four Jingrui level. In the past countless wars, Iron Wings and Thunder Lion have honed these two armies, and they have also reached the level of a quasi-fourth army. In terms of military quality alone, it's actually not much different from the Cecilia Guards. The only advantage is that both armies have an organization of 5,000 people, while the Cecilia's Guards only has an organization of 1,000. That's it.

However, the Cecilia Guards is still far ahead in the other 1,000-man organization.

The knight's cold snort did not arouse other people's protests. Even if several city defense soldiers who stood closer heard it, they just raised their heads and looked at the knight with an idiotic look.

Under the guidance of William. The city defense forces of Void City never considered themselves to be the strongest army.

If the ten armies in the current territory must be divided into ranks of three, six or nine, then the city defense army of Void City and the militia group of Hongye Town are both the third-tier troops, and the first-tier troops are. Iron Wings, Thunder Lions, Cecilia's Guards, and even the pitch-black wings commanded by William himself are just the ranks of the second echelon.

The city defense forces, who have always been very self-aware, will of course not be irritated by this meaningless provocation and contempt. Just as someone in the Kingdom of Darbion said that the members of the Second Cavalry Regiment are not as good as the Red Cross Knights, the members of the Second Cavalry Regiment are also indifferent. After all, this is a fact.

It's just that the people of the Nether City's defense army were not angry. Instead, the knight was furious.

"What is your attitude!?" The knight looked at the few soldiers who looked at him with idiot eyes just now and exclaimed, "Do you want to die?"

"My lord. You are too overbearing, can we say that we should die just by looking at you?" A veteran who was obviously from the White Wing Mercenary Corps spoke neither humble nor overbearing. He was the captain of this unit. At present, he and his troops are in charge of guarding the city gates, "I have never heard of this principle, at least, there is no such reason in our Void City."

This veteran emphasized the three words "Void City", and its attitude and meaning are self-evident.

Domingo and Sisi in the carriage slightly frowned.

When they saw this city defense army, they also felt that it was a rabble, so for them who had never really dealt with Sean's army, they would not think that the steel wings army would be too strong. Where to go. In terms of the level and quality of this city defense army, it can't even become a reserve recruit for the private soldiers of the Hastings family, so it is natural to look down on this city defense army.

It's just that they didn't expect that the soldiers of this city defense army had the courage to refute. Moreover, what Domingo and Thain didn't expect was that this veteran had perfectly detained the three words "Void City".

At present, this place is indeed not Tin Chiyin, nor Luo Mingen, so of course the rudeness of this knight cannot occupy the heel of any name. Although according to the perception of this world, the gold-level powerhouses are naturally to receive the respect they deserve, but the foundation of this respect is actually relatively shallow, at least when facing those nobles with status and strength, the gold-level powerhouses The same is not worth mentioning.

"Taylor." In the carriage, Domingo's voice finally sounded, "We are still guests."

The knight who had already wanted to kill someone, when he heard this, he abruptly resisted the killing intent.

Currently, Pandaren does not belong to the Hastings family, so if he starts to kill people at this moment, then he really needs to give an explanation to the lord of the void city, and even lord Panda. Originally, it was just killing a soldier who had no status or status. This explanation is naturally light and important, and it is not impossible to even take one sentence. However, the current situation is that Domingo is going to compete with the lord of the Pandaren for the Pandaren. This is obviously an act of grudges. Maybe it is possible that he will have to pay his life for this account.

It was precisely because of this that the knight was abruptly holding back.

No one can be a fool who can become a superior gold powerhouse.

It seems that seeing the knight no longer behaves, the veteran did not make any provocative behavior. Before he dared to speak like that, it was just taking a righteous name. At this moment, the other party had already made a concession, if he was still aggressive. Then it's his problem, maybe he will become the city lord or leader and give the other party an explanation.

How can a veteran fried dough stick like him make such a low-level mistake?

So, the pair of hands held a certain distance to face each other in a slightly silent atmosphere.

I don't know how long it took, and finally a carriage came from the street towards the gate.

This carriage has no escorts. There was only one old coachman, but this coachman didn't look like a strong man in disguise, so soon everyone's eyes turned to the carriage.

I saw that after the door was opened, it was a young woman who got out of the car.

This woman has long golden hair, with the tips of her hair curled up slightly, a bit like the waves of the ocean. The woman's skin is fair and delicate, and her facial features are very delicate. Especially her eyes are full of agility, the whole person has an incomparable elegant charm in every move, I am afraid that anyone will see this woman. They would slow down their breathing subconsciously, fearing that they would disturb this beauty if they were not careful.

The young woman walked to the carriage of the Hastings family and said with a smile: "I am Cecilia. At present, Archon Neil and Lord Sean are both involved in affairs. So there is no way to come, so I was asked to come here. Come and lead Master Domingo to the embassy. The corresponding reception work is also ready. If Master Domingo has nothing else to do, can we set off now?"

"Of course." Facing Cecilia's inquiry, Domingo only slightly maintained the stance he should have as an earl, and nodded in agreement.

So, the next thing becomes very simple.

Cecilia led the way, and Domingo and his party soon arrived at the embassy that had been vacant. This embassy had also been used by Sean to entertain the Boulder family's envoys before, but that time the Boulder family's envoys came and returned in a hurry, and of course they didn't have much enjoyment. In fact, in terms of scale, this embassy is not much worse than the embassies in the royal capitals. The only thing that is lacking is probably that the embassy does not have too many staff.

When Domingo and others were settled down, Cecilia turned and left without stopping, without any intention of staying to accompany her.

And until this time, Domingo and others woke up, they had fallen into a disadvantage invisibly, and they were completely led by the nose by the young woman named Cecilia.

"It seems that our evaluation of this Sean Connery is still not accurate enough." Sitting in the room, Domingo recalled the details after entering the city, and then said in a deep voice, "Using a girl to come. Being a guide for us made us unable to attack her invisibly, and acted entirely in accordance with her arrangements. This point was seen from the back when she left without even thinking about it. Obviously, she knew what we were going to do a long time ago. No chance is left to us."

"Indeed." Domingo's illegitimate son, this time disguised as the clerk responsible for recording all matters of arbitration and negotiation, Sean Holm, also nodded, "and she is still a magician, although she is only close to the upper silver, but I feel a strong wave of magic power from her, and I am afraid it is about to break the limit. She is willing to take risks at this critical moment, and the personality charm of that lord may not be simple."

"It doesn't matter anymore," Domingo said in a deep voice, "Although the plan was broken, it really made me a little unhappy, but if I changed the person just now, at most it would just verbally disgust the other person, and it doesn't matter. Significance... Anyway, after tomorrow, this territory will be yours. Just find an excuse to solve the defense forces responsible for defending the city tonight."

Speaking of this, Domingo looked back at the mercenary behind him and asked, "Do you know anything about this Sean?"

"My lord, I don't know much about him, but he seems to be called the 'Lord of Miracles' here, and the entire Bandar leader is very convinced of him." The mercenary was hearing a lot. After Mingo's words, he finally walked out of the shadow of Yin, and he was the commander of the Heroic Sword Mercenary Corps that betrayed William and others when he was fighting against the Dabron Mercenary Corps, Ivan!

Chapter 256: . Negotiations [Thanks to the head of the master Yuan·Xiaoyan noxuan]

In the Void City, a gossip suddenly began to spread.

Pandaling is about to rejoin the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion, and Sean Connery, the lord of Pandaling, will also be driven out of Pandaling and return to the hand of Tonis's female demon. .

This gossip is just a night's effort, and the entire Void City is no longer known. In the middle of the night, the news from the South City Gate even made the gossip completely solid: The South City Gate's defenders greeted a convoy before the city gate was about to close, and then they met with each other. The people in that team clashed and even fought. If Miss Cecilia arrived in time to stop these people with magic, I am afraid it would have become out of control.

But afterwards, Miss Cecilia did not drive off these people, but instead welcomed them to the embassy. It seemed that these people had some evidence in their hands, which was sufficient to prove Sean Connery. The Pandaling was illegally occupied, so now he is required to return it.

Although this rumor is a bit too exaggerated, it actually restores the original appearance of the whole thing to a large extent.

On this point alone, it is enough to prove that this so-called gossip could never have been circulated randomly, but was spread by people from the Darbion Kingdom, or even the Hastings family. Otherwise, the accuracy of the news could not be so high, and even words such as "evidence" and "illegal occupation" would be spoken out.

For a time, the entire Void City fell into a kind of sad silence.

Many leaders couldn't help but remember that Pandaling was abandoned by the Kingdom of Darbion. Later, a lord such as Sean Connery finally appeared, and with his continuous efforts over the years, the development of Pandaren finally got on track, and even Void City was established, originally living a full life. After a hungry meal, even those who were to be insulted by the mercenaries finally started to live a good life. But suddenly ushered in such bad news, many leaders felt unbelievable.

In other words, they don't want to believe it.

However, when many leaders saw the people in the embassy entering the lord's mansion mightily, many people's eyes suddenly turned red.

"Your Excellency Domingo, I really can't figure it out." Sean stood by the window, he looked at the many people who spontaneously gathered outside the lord's mansion, and this phenomenon has not improved at all, but more and more. The people began to gather. His face looked very yin and heavy, "Why do big people like you spread such rumors?"

"Rumor?" Domingo smiled, "What rumor?"

"The rumors about me illegally occupying the Panda collar." Shaun left by the window, and then sat on a chair at the conference table.

This is a formal meeting room.

There is only one long table in the conference room that can seat twelve people-five people can sit on each side of the long table, and there is a place at each end of the long table. At this moment, Sean, Neal, William, and Cecilia were sitting side by side on the side of the long table by the window. It means that they are the masters here; on the other side are Domingo Hastings, Thain Holm, and the deputy commander of the Second Cavalry Regiment Taylor; as for the executive officer from the Peace Association, Chris Tina sits at the top of the long table.

The appearance of Executive Officer Christina is really a shock to Domingo.

Because of dealing with the Peace Association, Domingo is not the first time. Otherwise, he would not go to the Peace Association to intervene with regard to the ownership of Pandaling this time. In fact, in terms of military warfare, no one from the northern nobles of the Darbion Kingdom was willing to give support, so Domingo couldn't help it. In general, the arbitration officer of the Peace Association is responsible for such ruling issues. There has never been a precedent for an executive to be responsible.

At least, Domingo has never heard of it.

So the appearance of Christina really surprised Domingo. But this kind of surprise was well concealed by him, anyway, he had the land contract document of Pandan in his hand. As long as this document is in his hands, no matter what arbitrator or executive officer the Peace Association sends. The results will not change.

As for the rumor that made the entire void city sao move, it was indeed arranged by Domingo, but it was not Domingo's idea, but the mercenaries sent by Gerson Nugus to assist. Of course, Domingo is still an earl in name and the leader of their mercenaries, so in carrying out this rumor-spreading operation, the leader of the heroic sword, Aiwen, of course also greeted him. .

It's just that even Domingo didn't expect that those mercenaries who did this dirty work would have such outstanding results.

Only one night, the residents of Void City knew it.

Domingo hasn't forgotten another mission from his trip: assassinating Sean. As long as the negotiations for a while are over, all the leaders will see that Sean is about to be kicked out of the territory with their own eyes, and they will definitely be excited. At this time, just a little bit of temptation will inevitably lead to chaotic events such as riots. Take advantage of this chaos. The assassination of Sean was naturally a matter of unconsciousness, and it could even be used as a cover to cleanse the entire Void City.

This is simply killing three birds with one stone.

Although all the plans for the follow-up have been arranged, at this time, when Sean asked in a tone that was almost interrogating the prisoner, it was of course impossible to see the face of Domingo Hastings: "About this Rumor, I don't know at all. How do I know that this is not an excuse for you to push on me after you deliberately spread it? ... Besides, is this a rumor? Can you still show evidence that Pandaling is your domain? ?"

"Of course we can prove it." It was Neil who took the call. At this moment, the Jing Ling also had a look of indignation. "This territory is the territory that you had ceded to the Marquis of Tonis as the indemnity territory after the defeat of Darbion. After that, you evacuated all the nobles and armies in this territory. Especially more than three years ago, the whole territory was completely ruled by darkness. If it were not our lord who took over the rule of this territory from the Marquis of Tonis at that time Quan, this territory is still a barren wasteland nowadays....Now! You see that this territory has developed again, and you shamelessly want to retake this territory with Yin's tricks. You are really despicable. "

"Please pay attention to your wording." Domingo snorted coldly, but did not bother to argue with Neil. Instead, he turned his head and looked at Kristina, "Respected Executive Officer of the Peace Association, the other party's behavior is completely an insult to me as an earl, and I would like to ask you to strictly investigate it."

Although Christina is an executive officer, she still understands some of the actions determined by the arbitration, so she nodded, looked at Neil, and said: "Please pay attention to your words, if you continue to use this He attacked Count Domingo Hastings in an insulting tone. Then I can only ask you to leave the meeting room."

Hearing Kristina's official jingle, Neil gave Domingo angrily, but he stopped talking.

Instead, Domingo showed a satisfied smile on his face: "Now, I will answer your question just now.... You said that this was the reparation of our Kingdom of Darbion, but in fact it was after the war ended. The arbitration officer of the Peace Association was also present during the territorial negotiations, but at that time only the entire Angroda mountain range was ceded, and there was no relevant record of the Pandaren. As for why the Pandaren would withdraw the army and all the nobles later, then It is the internal decision of our Darbion Kingdom. There is no need to tell you outsiders who are not even aristocrats."

"But this territory was indeed taken by me from my captain, Marquis Tonis. Asuna-sama." Shaun said, "As a pioneer knight, I know the importance of territory development. And inevitable xing. This territory was the base area that Asuna-sama bestowed on me in the first place. I can't lie in this regard."

Rebuttal to Sean. Of course Domingo had already expected it, so he quickly organized a new argument for language.

Neil and William looked at each other, neither of them was too worried.

In fact, this kind of wrangling is the most common thing in a negotiation. As long as neither party can submit valid evidence to prove the ownership of the territory, the negotiation will only be delayed indefinitely. certainly. This kind of delay cannot be delayed for too long. After all, the ownership of a territory must be determined in the end, but generally when both parties cannot prove the ownership of the territory, the arbitration method of the Peace Association is usually that the two sides manage the territory for half a year, and finally A poll conducted by the Peace Association will finally assess to whom the territory really belongs.

It's just that today's situation obviously doesn't need to be that complicated.

As long as Sean takes out the territory contract document, he can immediately obtain the ownership of the territory. It's just that there are some things that must be handled in accordance with some existing rules after all. For example, the two sides are arguing with each other. Anyway, whether it is from the development of the territory or the opinion survey, Sean clearly has the upper hand-those surrounding the Lord's Mansion Residents who are waiting for the outcome of the situation are the best expression of popular sentiment.

After all, Sean is just building momentum.

You should know that the entire Void City is under the control of Sean and others. When Domingo spread the rumors last night, Ruby learned of the first incident. However, under the arrangement of William and Neal, Rupee not only did not stop the rumor, but even let the intelligence personnel of the void be responsible for spreading it. Therefore, the incident in just one night caused the entire void city to be exhausted. Everybody knows.

People's sentiments often better reflect the support of a lord.

If time is not too tight, William and Neal even want to pass the matter to Hongye Town.

"...You have no evidence to prove that this territory belongs to you!" After some comparable evidence, Domingo Hastings also seemed to find that Sean's eloquence is not inferior to him, and he vaguely I even heard the residents outside the lord's mansion shouting in support of Sean, which made him a little bit unable to sit still, "Panda's territorial contract documents have always been in my hands. How does this prove this? Is the territory yours?"

While saying so, Domingo finally took out a copy of the script and took a lot of pictures on the conference table.

And when this codex appeared, the faces of Sean, Neil, William, Cecilia, and others were all frozen and unbelievable. When seeing this scene, Domingo and Taylor finally smiled triumphantly. It was obvious that the other party hadn't expected that the territorial contract document was in their hands. After all, when the evidence of this decision appeared, it was The result is already doomed.

Only Than Holm, the illegitimate son of Domingo Hastings revealed a solemn * se, and his eyes fell on Sean's face from beginning to end.

"This is impossible!" Sean exclaimed.

"Nothing is impossible!" Domingo snorted coldly, his face full of triumph.

And Christina has opened the handbook, which indeed records everything about Pandaren, and also proves that this territory is indeed a private territory belonging to the Hastings family.

"Your territory contract must be fake!" Xiao En stood up with excitement.

"Fake?" Taylor let out a sneer, "Do you have any evidence that this document is fake?...Have you finally started jumping the wall?"

Faced with Taylor's taunts, Sean did not pay any attention to it. Instead, he directly took out a copy of the script and put it on the conference table: "This is when I took over this territory from Master Asuna. The territorial contract document that Master Asuna gave me, I always carry with me....How could it fall into your hands? Your copy must be forged!"

"Forgery?" Domingo's face was even more proud. "You can say this? In front of the professionals of the Peace Association, who is the forgery will have the result in a while. I will fall in time. I want to see, what else do you have to say."

Chapter 257: .Territory ownership?

"The people of Darbion Kingdom get out!"

"Our lord is Sean Connery! The people of Darbion Kingdom get out of our territory!"

"Get out!"

There are more and more residents surrounding the lord's mansion. The gathering of nearly 10,000 people has turned the center of the entire Void City into a sea of people for a while, and there are even other people coming over. At this time, those who are close at the beginning People who come here just want to turn around, which is not an easy task. But at this moment, no one complained from the residents and businessmen here. All eyes were focused on the lord's mansion, and the original noisy and chaotic noises became unusually neat. Unify.

"We are from the Principality of Lane! You dabbian dogs, get out of our territory!"

In the crowd, someone screamed again.

But this time, the atmosphere was a bit awkward, and there was no neat and unified shout as before.

Pandaling's predecessor was ultimately the territory of the Darbion Kingdom. The people here have always regarded themselves as Darbion people, even in the more than a year when they were abandoned by the Darbion Kingdom. He has not forgotten his identity as a Darbion. Although there are now many outsiders in the territory under Shaun's rule, the vast majority of them are still Darbians. Therefore, this sentence is actually denying the past and blood of these people, and perhaps other outsiders. The author can admit this, but if the Dabion people do not have enough courage, they cannot admit this statement anyway.

In other words, this is actually an insult.

Miracle Continent has many countries, and even often wars with each other, but both civilians and nobles have a kind of pride in their blood.

And these are the cornerstones that support a country.

Perhaps in the system of those nobles. They will also pursue the purity of blood and the power of strength. However, these are too far away for the civilians. What will truly make the civilians support is the recognition and pride of their own status. Without the recognition and support of these civilians, even if the strong come forward to declare independence, they will eventually Can't escape the end of decline and extinction.

The Principality of Lane is still an outsider to the Darbians after all.

They can recognize the arrival of Sean, and they can recognize Sean as the lord, because Sean has improved their lives and provided them with shelter. That's why they will be proud and proud of being a leader of Pandaling. But all this is nothing more than that. Wanting them to forget their identity as a Darbion is another problem.

At this moment, we need to make concerted efforts to shout out this sentence. One can imagine how ulterior motive the person shouting this sentence is.

The original angry group sentiment. It started to cool down.

"I am from Darbion." At this moment, another voice suddenly sounded. The sound was a little faint at first. But gradually the voice became higher, "But now, I am also from Lane! I don't know what those nobles are thinking, I only know how I came here in the past few years, and I only know that in my most During the period of difficulty and pain. It was Lord Sean who led me out!...If you must abandon the identity of the Dabion to become Lord Sean's lord, then...From today onwards, I will be the Lion. !"

"Dabion Dog get out of our territory!"

This shout. It is full of the smell of exhaustion, which seems to be the courage and strength of a lifetime.

However, after yelling this sentence, the face of the middle-aged man who was speaking showed a hint of red, a relaxed look mixed with pride, joy and relief.

was silent for a few seconds, and then someone shouted: "From today on! I am the Lineman! Darbion's beasts get out of our territory!"

At this moment, being a Ryan person seems to be a kind of pride, not a shame.

Once this chain reaction-like effect unfolds, the crowd in the entire square once again becomes more agitated, and the momentum, centripetal force, and cohesion are even far greater than before.

And such an inspiring shout, resounding throughout the city center like a storm, even the soundproofed Lord's Mansion could not resist this sound. Sean, Domingo, Christina and others in the conference room can all hear clearly.

It's just that, unlike the joy on Sean's face, Domingo Hasting's face was so gloomy that it almost dripped water.

Domingo, who has been a superior for a long time, has long forgotten the pain of the people living at the bottom of the pyramid. So of course he couldn't understand how far-reaching and significant the significance and impact of Sean's appearance was when Pandaling was living in dire straits. What he could see was the prosperity of Panda now, but he could not see how much Sean had spent on this prosperous development.

"Your prestige is really beyond the reach." Domingo sneered coldly.

But Sean didn't seem to know that this sentence was mocking him. He even nodded seriously and said: "If Earl Domingo can devote more energy to the development of the territory, then you You can also get the support of the entire Tinchine.... However, I heard that Lord Earl, you seem to be the commander of the 2nd Cavalry Regiment of Darbion. I am afraid that there is not much time to deal with the affairs of the territory? No wonder you can't understand the support of the people. This kind of thing."

Domingo's facial muscles twitched slightly.

"But speaking of it, Baron Soma is a very good administrative officer." Sean suddenly said with a look of nostalgia, "I also appreciate his talents and abilities. There is such an excellent administrative officer, Ting Ting. It doesn't seem to be an important thing for the leaders of Qiinling to know your name, Domingo Hastings."

Domingo stared at Sean angrily, but soon he took a few more deep breaths, trying to calm the anger in his heart. In front of the executive officer of the Peace Association, if he takes the lead in anger, then the situation is likely to turn into a very unfavorable side for him, and in order to avoid this situation, Domingo knows that he must not be irritated by the young man in front of him. .

The anger on Domingo's face has faded, and he smiled calmly: "I really hope that after the arbitration result comes out. Your Excellency can still laugh."

"Of course." Sean nodded, "We have prepared a celebration party later, Lord Earl, do you want to come together?"

Hearing what Shaun said, Domingo's face showed a trace of doubt for the first time. A real power figure like him, and the Hastings family backing him, of course, I have seen many people of all kinds, including those who want face and swollen faces to call them fat, so is this kind of people? Domingo could tell at a glance while pretending, but he had always thought that Sean was trying to save face, but at the moment it looked nothing like it.

There is a slight anxiety in my heart. Domingo couldn't help turning his head to look at Christina.

The executive has been studying the two territory contract documents for more than half an hour, which is obviously not a good sign.

"It's just a forged territorial contract. Does it need to be studied for so long?" Domingo's inner anxiety finally made him speak again.

"It is indeed a forged territorial contract document." Upon hearing Domingo's words, Christina finally nodded. He said in a deep voice, and at the same time threw back to Domingo the territory contract document that belonged to Domingo. "Fortunately, I came here this time. Otherwise, you will be fooled by your Excellency....Such professional forgery skills, you must have spent a lot of thought, let me guess who wrote it....Well, I can make it like this. There are no more than five clever forgery documents in this world, but considering the circumstances of Ting Qi's incumbent and the rumors he has received, it is Yong Ye's handwriting."

"Yong Ye?" Xiao En was taken aback for a moment.

If you just hear this noun, of course you won't know what it means. But Sean had dealt with Eli Kate after all, and this forged document was indeed from his hand, so when he heard this term. Sean immediately thought of the thief. But what he didn't expect was why even Christina, the executive officer of the Peace Association, knew about this person?

Is Evernight's Avery Kate really that amazing?

But Sean's stunned expression made Kristina think that Sean didn't know the meaning of the name, so she began to explain: "Yong Ye refers to Eli Kate of Yong Ye.... This guy is the Thieves Guild. The honorary elder of, although it is a bit horrible in terms of personal strength and combat experience, but if the ability to 'forge' can also be selected for rank, this guy's strength is definitely a grandmaster... and this forgery is not only He can easily solve it only in terms of documents, even the environment, identity, etc., just like a thief in the dark forever, so he is called the Son of Eternal Night.... But in general, everyone Call him Avery Kate of Eternal Night..."

"It's impossible!" Before Christina had finished saying this, Domingo was really hitting the table this time.

Such a strong reaction, naturally even Christina was shocked.

"My contract document can't be fake!" Domingo's face was shocked and angry, like a gambler who lost a bet, his eyes were bloodshot, "It must be you! You must have colluded with him, yes! The executive officer of the Peace Association was actually bought off!"

"Please pay attention to your wording, sir!" Christina's eyes showed a cold light, and her aura had changed slightly.

In the field, apart from William and Neal who are not good at fighting, people like Sean, Cecilia, Thain, and Domingo naturally noticed this change in aura at the first time, and even their silver realm. All of the masters can detect Christina's momentum changes, not to mention Taylor, who is also a high-ranking gold powerhouse.

The strong man who was the deputy commander of the Second Knights of Darbion, immediately got up and stood beside Domingo, protecting both Domingo and Thain behind him. His eyes were fixed on Christina, as if he was facing a big enemy. As for Sean and Cecilia, this moment has been completely ignored by Taylor, after all, they are just two masters in the silver realm. , Even the lower gold powerhouse is not counted, naturally it is impossible to be regarded by Taylor.

"What? I told you, do you want to kill people now?" Domingo looked at Christina with a full face, the crazy color in his eyes proved that he was not pretending, but really unacceptable. Such a fact.

This change made Neil, William, Sean and others curious about what happened to Domingo that made him unable to accept this fact? According to their investigation. This time, the Hastings family was obviously instigated by the Nugus family, so they competed with Sean for the ownership of Pandaria, and even angered Asuna, the Marquise of Tonis.

However, this plan does have a lot of benefits involved, because if it succeeds, at least the Kingdom of Darbion will be equivalent to reopening the import and export of the Strait Rift, and it will also delay the agreed plan of Sean and Asuna by at least two. More than years. However, even if Panda was not taken away from Sean, there would be no loss for either Nugus or the Hastings family. It can only be said that there is no such thing as the current economic constraints of the Kingdom of Darbion. It's just a change.

But no matter whether it succeeds or not, it is a very troublesome thing for Sean and Asuna.

This is purely a political confrontation used to disgust others, not even a conspiracy.

is precisely because of this. So even if it fails, Domingo Hastings is unlikely to be gaffes to such an extent. You must know that the Peace Association has never been bought by anyone or force. This is a common understanding that the whole world knows how crazy this Domingo is. Will it be said that Christina was bought by Sean such ignorant words?

"My lord!" Thain pulled Domingo's sleeve suddenly.

Telled by Thain so, Domingo suddenly woke up. The crazy color on his face gradually calmed down.

It's just that. Thain's move of overstepping did not escape the eyes of William and Sean and others.

Since Thain is just a clerk, not even a nobleman, even if he wants to remind Domingo to calm down, he should do it in other ways, not the slightly intimate way of pulling his sleeves.

But the current situation seems to have become a little strange and special, so although William and others have seen everything in their eyes. But it still didn't say anything. They are still looking at Domingo with great interest, and want to see what kind of crazy actions Domingo will make next. Of course, if they can fight Christina, then Sean definitely I don't mind at all.

"I'm sorry. Executive officer, I just lost my mind." But what Xiao En and the others didn't expect was that Domingo actually apologized directly and bachelor's. This behavior was really beyond their expectations. "I shouldn't doubt the fairness of the Peace Association....There must be other misunderstandings in it. This territory contract document cannot be false, because I personally confirmed it at that time."

"But the one you took out is indeed a forgery." Christina glanced at Tyler coldly. Although she really wanted to kill someone, since Domingo had already apologized, of course she couldn't. Holding on to it, "The material of this forged document is very consistent with the genuine product, and can even reach the level of being fake.... However, if there is a comparison with the genuine product, many problems can still be found."

While saying this, Christina opened Domingo's contract document, then took out the proof of the territory, pointed to one of the lines above and said: "Please look carefully at the back of this line."

Hearing this, even Xiao En and others were very curious and came to watch.

was originally just a very ordinary line of handwriting, except for the neat writing, there is nothing unusual. But under Kristina's guidance, everyone soon discovered that after this line of characters was written, there were some faint bumps and traces of ink erosion on the back of the paper.

"Now, let's take a look at this documentary proof from Lord Shaun."

When Kristina said this, she also pulled out the supporting documents from Sean's territorial contract. She didn't need to look at the front at all. When she turned to the back, she didn't find any traces of ink erosion, even Even if you touch it with your hands, you won't feel any bumps, just a smooth feeling. At this time, everyone even discovered that among the two documents, the forged one was slightly diffused at the seal of the royal family. Although it is not obvious, if you look closely, you will still find it; but the opposite is true. The authentic piece, the seal belonging to the royal family of the Darbion Kingdom, did not show any signs of diffusion, and even the seal had a layer of brilliance.

"All the papers about the territorial certification documents are issued by our Peace Association, and the handwriting on it is also written with a special magic pen and magic ink, so there is absolutely no possibility of such convex marks and ink erosion." Kristina continued to explain, "Moreover, the seal from the royal family also has special magical protection. The general forgery may last for a few days and then it will spread and melt on the paper like this.... From the traces. It will take at least half a year for this seal to truly dissolve. From this, I judged that the person who forged this document is definitely a master."

Hearing Christina's words, Domingo already knew that he could not clear the suspicion of this forged document anyway. But because of anger, he clenched his fists tightly. He couldn't figure out how. It was obvious that the territorial contract document was kept in the manor's manor after he got it, but why did he run to Sean again? Where's your hand? And why is his own document false?

Could it be that there are insiders in Hastings Manor?

Thinking of this, Domingo stared at Sean like a sharp sword.

Faced with Domingo's sharp eyes, Sean smiled indifferently. If his eyes could kill people, he would have died hundreds of times. How could he still live to this day?

But at this moment, Thain suddenly said: "Your Excellency Shaun, do you have any impression of the name Fran Dumoy?"

"Fran Dumoy?" Sean was taken aback for a moment, "Who?"

"A person who suddenly appeared in Luomingen and disappeared within a few days." Thain chuckled. "It is indeed a coincidence to say that when this self-proclaimed Viscount appeared, Soma Hastings The administrative officer once invited this person to a dinner at the Hastings Manor. After the dinner, following the departure of the Viscount, there was also a theft in the manor, and a famous painting worth hundreds of thousands of gold coins was lost."

"Does that have anything to do with me?" Sean was a little startled.

"It seems that there is no right now, but who knows the future." Thain said.

"Are you doubting me?"

"It is a big taboo to suspect a noble casually, but... Your Excellency Shaun doesn't seem to be a noble?" Saïen said with a smile on his face.

And at this time, Domingo finally reacted: "Executive Officer, I now suspect that my contract document was stolen by others. Therefore, I request the temporary termination of All Your Excellency Shaun's power over Pandaling, and Stop all military operations in the territory!"

"It's ridiculous." Sean sneered. "If you want to stop my control of my territory based on your casual lie, then can I also say that your Ting Qi's collar is probably not at all? Yours, also demanded to stop all your control of the territory, and let your Hastings family get out of the territory quickly?"

"Indeed." Christina nodded slightly, "This request is a bit excessive."

"but..."

"So." Christina groaned a little, and then said again, "Sir Sean Connery is still the acting lord of Pandaren. I will give you three months. If you still can't find new evidence to show that your territorial contract document was exchanged, then Sir Sean Connery will officially become the lord of Pandaria."

"This is very unfair to me!" Sean frowned slightly, looking very upset.

But this time, Domingo no longer made any entanglements, but nodded in response: "I don't think it will take three months, only half a month will be enough....I will immediately let the person in charge of the dinner that day Soma Hasting came over."

Chapter 258: . Sean's Strong Breakthrough Method

The ownership of Pandaren's territory is still in Sean's hands for the time being, but if Domingo Hastings can show evidence that Sean's territorial certification document was indeed stolen from Domingo, then The ownership of Pandaling will naturally fall in the hands of Domingo Hastings.

The Peace Association has always been called fair, just and open, but in many cases this so-called "fair, just and open" is actually relative. For peace and harmony, the purpose of its organization is "world peace." Although this proposition is a bit big, the lunatics in the entire organization are indeed demanding themselves with this important task. Therefore, in many cases, they rely on yin to seek methods. They usually close one eye for the rights they get.

Sometimes, even personally participate in a political game.

Like the previous coup d'etat of Tinders in the Kingdom of Puerto Rico, it is one of them.

It's just that, although the Peace Association will turn a blind eye to some Yin tactics, but there is a prerequisite, that is, this kind of yin trick cannot be put on the table, and the opponent cannot be caught. To the handle. Therefore, the Peace Association doesn't care at all in Panda's territorial contract document this time. If Sean really did it through theft, then as long as Domingo has no evidence, Panda will do it. It's still Sean's.

It's just that Sean didn't expect it, that Thain was also one of the guests attending the dinner at Hastings Manor, and his presence was caught by the other party. As a result, the smooth ending that was originally expected to solve the problem did not appear, and Sean naturally felt a little annoyed.

Fortunately, those little tricks that William arranged in advance still played a more positive role in the end.

At least, after passing the shouts of the residents in the square, Kristina has indeed been personally biased towards Sean. Otherwise, when Domingo asks to stop all the military operations of Sean in Panda, Kristina Christina would not refuse.

Because if true fairness and impartiality are to be achieved, then with the attitude of the Peace Association, Sean will inevitably be asked to temporarily stop all actions-whether it is political or military, and the required deadline will never be Three months. At least, the Peace Association will immediately recruit nearby lurkers, arbitrators, and executive officers, and then collect intelligence on the various situations of Sean and Domingo, as well as the development of the territory, and the people's sentiment. The two choose a person who has more influence and potential in the development of Pandaling as the lord.

However, this scene did not appear in the final decision of this meeting, which shows that Christina, who represents the Peace Association, is more optimistic about Sean.

So although the final arbitration was not made immediately, everyone knows that if Domingo can't submit new evidence within the time limit, then Pandaling will completely belong to Sean.

After the two parties left the meeting room, Christina did not leave, but raised her hand to set up a barrier!

Enchantment is a branch born out of the magic circle, divided into two types: natural formation and artificial formation. Compared with the complexity of the magic array, the enchantment can actually be regarded as a magic array that has been simplified. Although its function is relatively simple and there is almost no attacking, it is obviously better than the magic array when used for defense. Even more superior xing, at least after the successful cast does not need to rely on the caster to continue to provide energy, it is destined to enchantment is a kind of ability that will never be eliminated.

It's just that Christina's enchantment is very different from ordinary magic enchantments.

A general man-made enchantment, although it is Jingjian's magic circle, it also requires a method similar to drawing and engraving. It is impossible to display an enchantment with a wave of hands.

The only thing that can do this is the surgical enchantment.

Surgery, also known as freestyle, alchemy, this is a new kind of magic that emerged in the Chenas Empire.

Compared with the lengthy spells of magic and the extremely high magical talents and elemental affinity, the bloodline ability is more important in Alchemy, and this kind of technique can be performed even by people without magic, provided that they have a strong jing supernatural power. In this world, there are definitely many people who do not have the talent for magic but have great jing powers. Although most of these people have no blood abilities, they can't achieve too high achievements in Alchemy, but they can never get started with magic. In terms of alchemy, at least they can still have enough food and clothing.

It's just that the brand-new magic uses a new system that is completely different from the magic system, so it's impossible to use the old magic system to perform alchemy. Basically, all alchemists now use it through Predecessors continue to work hard to study and compile it. It's just that not everyone can write spells. Now there are no more than ten people in this world who can write spells. Therefore, compared to the huge and well-structured magic system, the only magic that can be performed today is not There are only a hundred kinds, and the total amount of existing spells is less than one-thousandth of the total amount of magic.

However, as a new magic system-nowadays alchemy is still not self-contained, so it is still classified in the magic system-this phenomenon is actually very normal, after all, it was the same encounter when magic was just emerging. And as more and more people become alchemists, alchemy has entered a new period of vigorous development. Among them, the magic enchantment that Kristina has displayed casually is the latest in the alchemy world in the past two years. Research results.

Of course, the "domain" that this kind of magical enchantment can affect is actually not big, and it is naturally not comparable to the enchantment formed by drawing and other means, but it is more than enough for use in this conference room.

And this enchantment cast by Christina is a "prevention" enchantment, and its specific function is "separation", which is specifically used to isolate all eavesdropping, peeping, and energy fluctuations. All the sounds that happen in this conference room at this moment will not be heard by people outside the conference room. Similarly, any attempt to detect and eavesdrop on all the magic and art in this conference room will naturally not succeed, unless the other party has a ratio. Christina's stronger strength or higher technical attainments.

It's just that if Sean was here, he would be extremely shocked by Kristina's methods.

Because Kristina's profession is an arcane warrior, and arcana is also called arcane in the magic system. It is one of the four major categories in the existing magic system. To put it simply, Kristina is a magic warrior. A kind of branch. According to the current situation, magicians are very repulsive of alchemists. After all, this is a direct collision between the two systems, just like the opposition between the magician and the magician in the past, and since Christina is an Austrian. The magic warrior is naturally a supporter of the magic system, so the magic system should be rejected. How can it be possible to use this kind of magic enchantment?

Kristina has the three major abilities of Arcane, Alchemy, and Melee. It can be seen how high her actual combat power is. Obviously, she must not apply the strength standards of a general high-ranking golden powerhouse to her.

At this time, after casting the spell barrier, Christina took out a small magic communication tool, placed it on the table and activated it.

Soon, a face appeared on the communication tool.

This is a majestic man with thick eyebrows and big eyes. Although he has passed middle age, he can still see the handsomeness of the past from his silhouette, but after adding the traces of years, the whole person is more attractive. But at this moment, there is a kind of anger in the middle-aged man's eyebrows. Although he tried to suppress it, Kristina can still read the middle-aged man's thunder hidden in his eyes.

"Really?" Christina asked.

The middle-aged man nodded reluctantly: "It is true that as he said, we almost made a big mistake about the Tindes leader."

"Then what will the association do now?"

"According to the investigation, only the high-level and some middle-levels of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce are heretics. On the whole, the pollution of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce is not too great." The middle-aged man said, "Although the Medusa Chamber of Commerce is uprooted. It's not a problem, but the involvement and degree of involvement are very wide. And this time, several plans of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce were discovered by the way. Therefore, the association has made a decision not to completely remove the Medusa Chamber of Commerce. It is targeting the Medusa Chamber of Commerce. At the same time that these plans are being monitored, the cleaning will begin."

Hearing this, Christina nodded slightly, and did not comment on the matter. After she learned about the Medusa Chamber of Commerce from Sean a few days ago, she contacted the headquarters in the first incident and reported the incident. After hearing her report, the people at the headquarters I was also deeply shocked and unbelievable, and immediately began to arrange for a thorough investigation.

I have to say that once a large organization such as the Peace Association is fully operational, its efficiency is still amazing. In just one day, the investigation reports on Medusa were submitted one after another. The subsequent intelligence screening and sorting only took half a day, and the time counted before and after was only three or four days. A series of arrangements have been made for the Medusa Chamber of Commerce.

It's a pity that Christina couldn't make it to the Kingdom of Puerto Rico this time to participate in this cleansing operation.

"So, how about Pandaling?" the middle-aged man suddenly asked.

When asked by the middle-aged man, Christina explained the situation of the previous meeting room and the gathering of the residents of Void City. The middle-aged man nodded as he listened, and from time to time interjected to ask a few more detailed questions. After Christina finished the report, he pondered for a while, then said: "Then your attitude now is inclined to Sean. Connery, the lord?"

"He is very popular with the people." Christina said.

"But based on the information available, this lord's plot is not small." The middle-aged man lowered his head slightly, as if he was reading some information. "If Pandaling continues to be in his hands, then Darby Ang and Ryan will inevitably start the battle again.... I even doubt that let Ryan and Darbion fight again is his real goal."

For this, Christina did not refute.

With her intelligence, since the middle-aged man in front of her can make a judgment, she, who has the same information, can naturally guess it. In fact, it is for this reason that she will give Domingo three months. If not, she will not be able to rely on the appeals of the residents that she heard in the meeting room in the morning. Domingo will not be given three months to buffer.

These three months are not so much a buffer, but rather a thinking time she wants to give herself.

Because anyone can see the ambition that Sean has. And the most terrifying thing is that he has the strength that corresponds to this ambition. What he lacks now is only a moment. As long as this moment is given to him, I am afraid this beast will show his hideousness in front of the world. But what Kristina couldn't understand was what benefit did the war between the Principality of Ryan and the Kingdom of Darbion benefit the young lord?

.....

Domingo and others who returned to the embassy all looked embarrassed.

When they came out of the lord's mansion, they were greeted by countless eggs, vegetable leaves, and tomatoes. In the face of this humiliation, neither Domingo nor Taylor would naturally accept them, and they had to draw their swords on the spot. It's just that before they acted, the guards of the Lord's Mansion had already intercepted them. Although it seemed to be protecting them, everyone knew that they were preventing them from attacking the residents of Void City.

In the body of this guard, Domingo and Taylor can see that this guard is extraordinary—at least compared to the city defense army, it is much better, and the military quality is even far second to Dabion. Above the Knights, this is definitely a true Jing sharp. And what made Taylor even more surprised was that there was still a female who was not inferior to him in the crowd firmly locked in, which made Taylor believe that as long as he took the shot, then this woman would definitely take the shot.

But Taylor couldn't figure out why this priest with a knife from the Church of Ice and Winter would do this?

Because of this, Domingo and others who returned to the embassy naturally looked very embarrassed.

"Damn it!" Domingo's face was extremely yin and sinking. He didn't expect that he would encounter such a thing. For him who holds the title of earl, it is simply a shame, but this moment is in someone else's. On the ground, he just couldn't have an attack.

According to normal circumstances, the nobleman does not allow anyone to insult, even if the nobleman is the nobleman of the enemy country, otherwise there will be no nobleman who can still claim the same treatment as the nobleman when he is defeated. In this world, no matter which country the aristocrats belong to, they must unite in front of the honor and dignity of the aristocrats. Only in this way can they demonstrate the special aristocracy.

But in Pandaling, it is obvious that it is impossible to comment on normal logic.

If this time it was changed to Tin Chiin, Domingo would definitely find an opportunity to humiliate Sean, but at least he would not let the civilians make such an egg-throwing and tomato-throwing behavior. If something like this really happened, then Sean drew his sword to kill a few civilians who had caused the instigator, and of course it didn't matter if he only lost a sum of money afterwards, and in the square just now, Domingo obviously intended to do so.

But before he had time to behead the few civilians closest to him, he was enveloped by the killing intent of the guards. .

This is simply provoking the aristocratic circle on the entire continent!

"That * hillbilly!" Domingo began to transfer his anger to all the furnishings in the room. Anyway, these furnishings were paid by Sean. "Is the guard army just steel wings?"

"This..." When asked by Domingo, Thain and Taylor looked at each other. They couldn't tell if the defending army of the lord's mansion was a steel wing. After all, they and this army hadn't been photographed. Face, "...maybe?"

In fact, the guards of the Lord's Mansion are actually members of the Cecilia Guards who have survived in the Wildlands. These veterans were not dragged down by recruits, and their actual combat effectiveness almost reached the standard of a quasi-five army. The murderous momentum formed by such a thirty-man guard army was a bit surprised to Taylor, but For both Domingo and Thain, it was a bit too heavy.

After all, a level five army of five hundred people can easily kill a high-level golden powerhouse. If the high-level golden powerhouse is not particularly strong, then this army can even achieve lossless brilliance. Record. And Domingo and Thain are just high-ranking silver masters, and they are a big step behind the high-ranking gold powerhouse, so it is not impossible to be shocked in aura.

"Are you sure Sean had sneaked into the manor?" Domingo looked back at his son.

Being stared at by Domingo, Thain did not panic at all. He nodded slightly and said: "I'm sure.... At that time, there were two guards beside him. Now I think one of them should be Alfred, and the other A physique is not inferior to Alfred, but I don't know who it is. In addition, there is a female knight. Brother Avi tried to recruit her to join the Hastings family. I am afraid that the female knight should be Rena. NS."

"The one who is not inferior to Alfred in physique should be Anno, now the captain of Steel Wings." Taylor took over, "except for Anno, like Rena, Alfred, and Sean. It should be no stranger to the nobles. After all, there are portraits circulating. Why would they still be allowed to enter the manor?"

"They are all properly disguised." Thain explained, "At least it is completely different from the current image. It's just that a person can change his breath and appearance, but there are some small movements that are accustomed to xing, and height characteristics. These are all Unable to change. When I first saw Sean, I felt a little familiar, but I didn't dare to confirm it. But at the end of the meeting, I found that he had a few small actions and Fran Duo, who was invited to the manor by Uncle Soma. Viscount Moy is exactly the same, so I opened the mouth to test him. I didn't expect it to be exactly as I had guessed!"

"But if it is disguised, even if Soma is allowed to come over, the other party will definitely deny it." Tyler frowned, "And... I heard that he has a very good relationship with the Temple of Wisdom, even the Marquis of Jeles Be very kind to him."

"So what?" Domingo snorted coldly. "Let Soma come over immediately. As long as Soma insists that he is the thief, then at least regarding the ownership of the territory, we can still * *For a while....At this time, we will put pressure on the Thieves Guild again. It would be best if we could catch the Eli Kate. Then we only need to let him confess the connection between him and Sean. Then Pandaling will belong to us."

"I'll let someone do it right away." Taylor replied in a deep voice.

"But I still need to prepare with more hands." Slightly hesitated, Domingo said again, "Let the Ivan go to prepare and tell him that the attack plan has begun. We must put some pressure on the lord, and even let them produce. Chaos is good....Tell the assassin to take advantage of Ivan's attack on Sean, and let him take an opportunity to assassinate Sean."

"Will it be too risky to take action at this time?" Saien was taken aback for a moment, "Such action, whether successful or not, will make us doubtful."

"No." Domingo said coldly, "As long as we are still on this territory for one day, then they won't doubt us, because no matter how you look at it, it's a frame of us.... Anyway, just let it here. When there is chaos, we will have a better chance to bring Panda into the bag."

.....

At the same time, in the lord's mansion, Neil had just finally calmed all the enthusiastic residents and returned to the small meeting room.

The reaction of the residents has long been calculated by William.

He and Neil had known for a long time that the other party would definitely arrange incitement among the people in their hands, so he simply took care of the plan, and also arranged for the people in the void to hide in the crowd, specifically to guide the , and there is no need to be sensational or sensational. For Sean, anyway, as long as the people's attention can be diverted to the kingdom of Bion, and then their hatred fire can be ignited, which is enough.

And this little trick is not even a trick by Yin.

The only thing they didn't expect was that after the Domingo three left the lord's mansion, they would actually become the target of all the people's attack.

Vaguely, Sean seemed to see the embryonic form of class resistance.

"Next, what do you plan to do?" Entering the conference room, Neil took the lead. "Although you did a disguise on your last trip to Ting Qi, but if the Soma insisted that you were the thief, then It will enter an endless stage of wrangling.... Apart from anything else, at least this event will definitely delay our plan and the development of the entire territory, or we may even be forced to terminate all territorial operations."

"Since we have already torn our faces, then let's just play a big ticket." Xiao En's eyes are cold, a little different from his previous aura.

"The big ticket?" William was taken aback. He felt that Sean was really full of attacks at the moment, "How to play?"

"Let Anno take people to pretend to be bandits and bandits, and then directly attack Soma's convoy." Sean said calmly, "Except for Soma and his assistant officer, no one else will stay....After that, you only need to take Soma. Secretly escorted him back with his assistant officer, isn't it up to us to decide the next thing?"

"But, at this moment..." Neal frowned slightly, obviously also worried.

"It doesn't matter, anyway, there will be a battle sooner or later, and Panda will lead us to it. It is completely impossible to hand it over, so there is no difference between fighting early and late." Sean said in a deep voice, "And if this attack is successful, The Hastings family is also a major weakening of its strength, which is very beneficial to our subsequent war operations.... In addition, this Soma is also an individual talent, and I also want to see if it is possible to conquer it."

"Not easy?" William frowned, "After all, he belongs to the Hastings family."

"I know it's not that easy, but it's not my style to do nothing." Sean has already thought about everything clearly. "And at this sensitive time, even if we attack, the first one will be Suspicion is certainly not us, after all, we are completely non-inflicted, and normal people will certainly not be so stupid....Of course, hands and feet should be clean, so the military transfers on the side of Da Yi will not be discovered. Fortunately, Switzerland Na is not in the Void City now, so Rina can go to support her."

"In this way, the possibility of success is very high." William thought for a while and found that this plan does have a lot of feasibility, "but I am afraid that Domingo and the others will simply follow the boat and insist that we did it. "

"I wish they did this." Sean snorted coldly. "In this case, there is no need to negotiate anything, just go to war.... If there weren't people from the Peace Association here, I was in the conference room just now. Declared war on them."

William and Neal were a little embarrassed when they heard Sean's words.

Speaking to declare war in front of the executive officer of the Peace Association, this is simply drawing the face of the Peace Association. In that case, Kristina must be the first to turn her face with Sean.

"By the way, just play harder." Sean thought for a while, then suddenly said again.

"What's cruel?" Both Neil and William have the same faces. Today's Sean seems to be a little different, and the whole person's attitude is much stronger.

"Planning an assassination attack." Sean said in a deep voice, "We attacked Soma's motorcade. This is a relatively passive thing after all. If Domingo and the others do not pursue it, we can't continue to say anything, and may even have to. It's not in our interest to pay a smile.... Directly plan an assassination plan against me, and then leave a little hole to lead the clues to Domingo and the others. In this way, we will completely occupy the initiative. We have the final say."

"This plan... is even worse." Neil was a bit stunned. Sean was crazy about war. "They will definitely not admit it."

"They admit that it doesn't matter whether they admit it or not. The most important thing is that we have an excuse and have the opportunity." Sean said calmly, "Think about it, what we lack now? A suitable excuse to fight the Kingdom of Darbion Originally, if there was no such thing as the ownership of Pandaren's territories, then the fool of the Nugus family that I arranged in the Wildlands would definitely come to my trouble and become our excuse and opportunity."

"Originally, if the territorial matter was resolved today, then we will stay dormant for a while. At least we will have to deal with the affairs of the royal family of the Principality of Ryan and the Millennium Covenant Empire, so that we can only be able to focus on Dabian. The kingdom is at war on this aspect. But now, since the Hastings family came to hit the gun, then I don't mind giving them an unforgettable lesson, and the timing is actually very clever, because it was the Hastings family who wanted to assassinate me. First of all, I am going to fight at this time is entirely our two sides, and only when the Hastings family is beaten badly, Nugus standing behind him will appear. Once Nugus appears, think about it. The influence of the Duke family is so great that it would be justifiable for Asuna to intervene, and with Asuna's tough attitude, it is not the first time she has done this to turn this private dispute into a war between two countries. ."

Originally, Xiao En's thoughts about this matter were purely a flash of chao-like inspiration, just to grasp the initiative of the situation. But as this line of thought went on, Sean soon discovered that the whole thing was very feasible, and he could perfectly avoid the trouble of visiting the royal envoys of the Principality of Ryan and the Millennium Covenant Imperial envoys. After all, once war starts, he will be the lord I must go to the front line to supervise the battle and command, so of course it is not a problem to bring Cecilia on.

If it later evolved into a war between the two countries, with Asuna's tough attitude in the war situation, as Asuna's pioneering knight, he must have a better excuse to justify himself. If everything goes well after this, then the Millennium Covenant Empire will want to trouble Cecilia again, and it must be two years later. By that time, Sean's identity and status will definitely rise, at least It is also far better than the current situation. Even the royal family of the Principality of Ryan must think deeply, rather than treating themselves as a pawn.

Furthermore, in the two-year war, who can guarantee that there will not be one or two sanctuary powerhouses under Sean?

At least, Rina and Xuefanio are the two most promising to be promoted to the sanctuary in a short period of time, and maybe Vivienne and Elizabeth can also be successfully promoted to the sanctuary powerhouse, and at that time they will be strong. There is also a bargaining chip for fair negotiations with the Millennium Covenant Empire. At least, you don't need to rely on Andrew and Bass anymore, and you can put these strengths on the bright side, then those who want to make his mind will have to consider these factors.

In addition, two years are enough time for the seeds that Sean buried in the Wildlands to take root and sprout. At that time, if the Principality of Ryan really can't keep him, he can break his army into pieces into the wilderness, and as long as he firmly holds the control of the Great Rift Valley, no matter who it is in the end, he will regain control. Panda leads this territory and must maintain friendly cooperation with him.

As long as there is enough strategic depth, Sean is tantamount to standing in an invincible position.

And even Sean can think of these, how could Neal and William think differently?

In an instant, Neal and William immediately decided to implement Sean's plan.

Chapter 259: . The confrontation begins

Starting from Tingqiin collar, if ri is on the road at night, he can reach Pandaling collar within half a month, but this must cross a baronial collar that is sandwiched between Pandaling collar and Tingqiin collar. Moreover, people on the road must pack light on the road. Except for the necessary dry food and drinking water, they cannot carry too many other sundries, otherwise it will still affect the travel speed, so naturally there is no way to bring too many people on the road. Can piece together a relatively sharp light cavalry team.

And usually, Jing Rui also means fewer people.

If Domingo is not eager to win the ownership of Panda, then the three-month period given by Christina is completely sufficient.

It's just that people tend to have problems in some decision-making because of certain anger or other emotions.

At least Domingo asked Soma to arrive at Panda within half a month, which was a very obvious mistake for Sean. Because if Domingo lets Soma arrive within three months, Soma's carefulness will definitely arrange a guard team of sufficient size, so that Sean wants to attack the team and kidnap Soma. , That is naturally an impossible target. After all, if you want to defeat a * of sufficient size, the premise is to have sufficient strength. Once Dayi has signs of a relatively large-scale military mobilization, this is definitely inconceivable. Anyone's.

But now, Soma only takes more than 20 people on the road with Qingqi, which is a great opportunity for Sean.

As for the intelligence, there are two lower gold powerhouses around Soma serving as entourage, and Sean simply ignores it. He had already sent Rina to set off. With Rina's current strength, although the weapons used were not particularly good, it was still easy to deal with two lower-level golden powerhouses. Originally, according to Sean's idea, it would be better for Alfred to go for reinforcements, but when he found that there were people watching in the barracks in Void City, he gave up this idea and instead let Ruby follow the identity of these people. Investigate.

Shaun knows very well that today's Void City is completely a mixed mess. There are not only spies from other nobles and royal families in the Principality of Ryan, but even the Millennium Covenant Empire, the Kingdom of Darbion, and the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance. spy. The existence of these people, from a certain aspect, did very delicately maintain the balance of the entire Void City intelligence network, but from a certain aspect, it also made the development of Sean's plan a little constrained.

Therefore, removing these nails in this way is also an important subject that the Void Realm has been trying to carry out. This time there is such a good opportunity, Sean of course should make good use of it. Of course, it can also be seen from this that Sean has extremely strong confidence in Rina's strength, otherwise he would definitely not dare to let Rina go to deal with the two low-level golden powers alone.

Although the person who joined Rina is Anno, Anno's current strength is only the lower level silver. In the battle of the golden realm powerhouse, he can no longer get involved, so Anno's specific responsibility is to jing the steel wings. The sharp team joined forces to besieged and killed the twenty or so soldiers of the Second Cavalry Regiment of the Kingdom of Darbion.

Yedby is a rich territory. Among the southern territories of the Kingdom of Darbion, this territory is only a baronial, but it is fat in the eyes of many nobles. If it weren't for Baron Yedby, it's pro-Bor. If the members of the German faction are backed by the Boulder family, this territory has long been eaten by the southern nobles. However, since the previous failure of the Boulder family's military operations against Pandaling, Baron Yedby's situation has become worse and worse. Although he is now a vassal of the Boulder family in name, he has already secretly and The Nugus family hooked up.

If this were not the case, he would not allow Soma Hastings to lead people through his territory swaggeringly.

Of course, before he really broke his face with the Boulder family, the baron would not dare to call the private army of the territory to protect and take care of this small army from the Tin Chiin leader along the way, and he didn't even have the itinerary to listen to this army. . In fact, if it weren't for the fact that both the Dai and Chilaf collars next to him were occupied by Sean, and behind him was the Tin Chiin collar, which was controlled by the pro-Nugusist Hastings family, the Baron Yedby. He would definitely not take refuge in the Nugus family.

In fact, not only him, but the other baronial that borders him, has long since broken away from the control system of the Boulder family and has taken refuge in another duke. It's just that what he did was a little bit more unusual, and now he was truly tearing his face with the Boulder family, and therefore helped Baron Yedby to distract the Boulder family's attention to a large extent, so that many of his secret tricks were not discovered.

But the baron also knew that it would be a matter of time before the Boulder family had a face-off.

It's just that he has no choice.

"That team will pass through the territory in about three days." The baron who was more than half a hundred years old stood in his mansion study and sighed slightly, "At least compared to the baron named Soma, I want to be lucky, at least a nobleman on the ground."

It took half a month to say that it's not long or short. It took almost ten days before and after it finally reached the edge of Yedby's collar, and with the feet of Soma and others, it passed through the back of Yedby's collar. It probably only takes another two days to reach the void city.

The safety on this road and the exhaustion of rushing at night have made Soma's team almost to the limit, so they naturally decided to take a good rest tonight and complete the last part of the road with more sufficient Jingshen. However, because I didn't carry any logistics materials such as tents, I could only sleep on the floor even if I was resting overnight. Fortunately, Yeadby was pretty good in terms of resources and environment, at least it's not a barren land, so I found a comparison. A comfortable place is not difficult.

Although it is a break, it is of course impossible to completely ignore the necessary vigil and other jingle work.

It's just two low-level gold powerhouses who are in charge of the night watch, which is somewhat unexpected. Just think about it carefully, these are basically Domingo's 2nd Cavalry Regiment soldiers. Compared with these golden powerhouses, their personal strength is only inferior bronze, although they have undergone high-intensity Training allows them to adapt to fatigue very well, but they are constantly on the road without rest and night, and even eating is done in the process of on the road, which is extremely exhausting for the body and the spirit.

But a golden realm powerhouse like them does not have too much pressure in this regard. Both their physical strength and the strength of their jingling spirits far surpass those of their soldiers, so if they are responsible for the night watch, it is actually the most suitable, because these ten days of rushing can be regarded as completely without any consumption for them. It's just that the noble status of the golden realm powerhouse has made these soldiers have long ignored this point, after all, this is a big man who needs them to respect and look up to.

Therefore, even if the golden realm powerhouses do not participate in the vigil, these soldiers will never have the slightest complaint. Now these two golden realm powerhouses are willing to watch the night and give them more rest time. These soldiers are naturally very grateful.

Looking at these soldiers who snored as soon as they lay down after thanking them one by one, the two golden realms looked at each other and smiled, and they didn't say much. One of them was a middle-aged golden man with his bare hands and looked up at Ye Se, and said softly: "These young people can sleep for seven or eight hours. It's really not easy."

"That said, I remembered that each time I had a rest for only ten minutes, I could only sleep once in two days, and it was less than two hours. Tonight such a rest is really not easy for them." Another brought The golden powerhouse of the knife nodded with a smile, "But these young people have good toughness, no wonder they are the direct descendants who are favored by adults."

While chatting like this, the two did not waste time.

The rank promotion of combatants is different from that of mages and priests. To a large extent, they require extremely hard training to improve their strength. Of course, this also has a certain relationship with talent, and this talent ability determines their ultimate achievement to a large extent.

As for vindictiveness?

This is an application technique, just like touching the rules, it is not a cultivation system. Even if you are training for fighting qi, you can only control the consumption of fighting qi when you use it. If you want to increase the amount of fighting qi, you can only rely on the promotion of your rank.

And these two golden powerhouses are training for fighting qi. At their age, they have not yet entered the upper level of gold, and it is impossible to break through the most holy realm. Their greatest hope in this life is to have the opportunity to become an upper level gold powerhouse, but this hope is also very slim, so they are in the hands of the same realm. , The consumption of fighting spirit has become their trump card for survival.

"Who?" Suddenly, the middle-aged man with his bare hands suddenly stood up from the campfire.

The middle-aged man with the knife reacted slightly slower than the middle-aged man, but he also stood up quickly with a look of awe.

At this time, just three hours after the cavalry fell asleep, for the extremely exhausted, they are now in the deepest sleep state. And the people who secretly approached them at this time were obviously not kind. It was just this unexpected move that made the two low-level golden powerhouses slightly surprised, because they were actually close to each other for more than 30 meters. When I found the trace of the other party, this is obviously not good news.

If the opponent is very good at lurking, then it is another matter, but to distinguish it from the sound of the opponent, it is obvious that the opponent is very unfamiliar with such techniques as sneaking. In such an unfamiliar situation and at such a close distance, they discovered the problem. There is only one proof: the journey of the past ten days is by no means as consumptionless as it seems on the surface.

Hearing the anger of the middle-aged man, the stalker also seemed to understand that it was impossible to approach by this means, so he did not hide anymore, and soon there was a rustling noise from the bush.

Not long after, a woman took a war horse and appeared calmly.

This woman is undoubtedly Rina.

And when the middle-aged man with his bare hands saw Rena, he was slightly taken aback: "It's your Excellency, I don't know..."

Before this middle-aged man's words fell, his face suddenly changed, and he rushed towards Rina without thinking about it, because at this time, he had already felt Rina's unabashed sex. Killing intent. And seeing this middle-aged man react so quickly, Rena didn't have the slightest expression. Although she was originally a mercenary, although she became a just and awe-inspiring knight, her years of mercenary career also made her understand, this It is impossible for everything in the world to be as smooth as she expected.

Therefore, at the moment the middle-aged man rushed towards him, Rina also turned on her horse with or without thinking, and at the same time she charged the middle-aged man with the gun, she raised it slightly. The left hand that was raised also suddenly swung down: "Offensive!"

When the two men had charged each other, another golden strong man with a knife finally realized the problem, but when he reacted and shouted "enemy attack", Rina's attack had already fallen.

In an instant, the bushes shouted and screamed!

Chapter 260: .Qi Zhan Wushuang

Rina shook the rein lightly, and the horse galloped out immediately, the spear in her right hand made a slight round, the end of the handle was close to the back, and her posture was also slightly forward, which was the standard posture of the cavalry when charging.

The distance of thirty meters, for the average cavalry, is just enough to complete the acceleration. But if the enemy usually countercharges, then in fact this distance is likely to be reduced by half, and only a distance of ten meters. For the cavalry, this is just the beginning of the "acceleration" process. If a battle occurs in the process, it is actually a kind of weakening of combat power for the cavalry.

And this rule also applies to knights.

So whether facing cavalry or knights, experienced combat veterans will try their best to prevent them from charging.

This middle-aged man who is obviously a fighter professional is obviously a person with extremely rich combat experience. So when he felt Rena's killing intent, he rushed towards Rena without hesitation. It is to minimize the increase of Rina's charge. Especially for these golden-class powerhouses, the distance of thirty meters is not even enough for them to explode. This middle-aged man has enough confidence to rush to Rina when she just starts to charge. In front of.

In this case, it is Rina who is uncomfortable.

but!

Is Rina a normal knight?

Rina's legs clamped the horse's belly lightly, and the white horse that was snatched by Rina from the barren land let out a psychic neigh, and suddenly accelerated.

Charge charge!

The unique sprint skills of the knight-of course, this skill must be much stronger than Sean's sprint in terms of power and distance.

Suddenly, only a white stream of light flashed.

A trace of horror appeared on the face of the middle-aged man who rushed towards Rina. He had no idea that his opponent could actually master such superb riding skills, and could make a horse at a distance of less than ten meters. Reach the highest speed charging state!

In desperation, the middle-aged man had to stop the impulse abruptly, otherwise it would not be his trouble to find Rena, but to send him to the door to let Rena kill.

I saw the middle-aged man had a sudden stop, his legs plunged into the ground like two javelins. With his standing as the core, a spider web crack with a diameter of more than three meters appeared in an instant. The strong air current bursting out of vindictiveness blew up broken stones and dust one after another, and a gray haze concealed the middle-aged man's figure.

Almost the moment when this middle-aged man stopped the momentum, Rena had already drove the horse and arrived with a spear.

She gently pulled the rein in her hand, the horse under her hips let out a neigh, and then the hooper stood up, while Rina slightly changed her posture following the posture of the horse, and the spear in her hand suddenly pointed forward.

Although this blow seemed to be an ordinary prick, the middle-aged man who was in the center of the battlefield knew that it was definitely not the case.

The grudge of Crimson Se surrounds Rina's spear, faintly forming a spiral-shaped impulse, and with the spear of the spear, there is a low whistling sound in the air, all of which prove that this gun is by no means simple !

Spiral stab!

This is a high-level knight martial arts, with very strong penetration damage and blasting damage.

Even people wearing heavy armor and the like would not dare to accept the knight's attacking skills, not to mention that this middle-aged man was still a fighter, without any armor at all.

Therefore, facing Rena's attack, he simply withdrew without thinking about it.

Following the spear's stabbing, the middle-aged man withdrew and retreated. The dust and fog that had originally filled the air were attracted by the Qi Jin surrounding the long spear, and attracted towards this Qi Jin. Suddenly, an unusually weird picture appeared in front of everyone: I saw that there was a nebula spinning in the air, and all the dust and fog quickly converged toward the star eye in the middle, and the dust and fog that had spread out in a blink of an eye. Shi completely disappeared in front of everyone, and the front half of the crimson spear in Rena's hand turned into golden light as if it had been coated with a layer of gold.

Seeing that the spear pierced from Rena's hand suddenly speeded up and stabbed again, the light layer of the golden se was like a golden serpent leaping towards the middle-aged man who was retreating rapidly.

Menacing!

This is yet another high-level knight martial art that is also famous for penetrating damage: Shadow Spear!

Compared with the spiral stab, which is a close-range martial skill, the power of the shadow gun is slightly weaker, but this is a mid-to-long range martial skill.

Of course, the so-called damage is slightly lower, which is only a relative point. After all, both belong to high-level martial arts, and no matter how low the power is, it is also extremely lethal to middle-aged men.

It's just that what really changed this middle-aged man's  se was that Rena immediately connected the shadow gun after she failed to perform the spiral stabbing. There was no pause in the entire attack. It was done in one go. This was completely done. It shows that Rina's combat experience and skills are absolutely at the highest level.

Jinse's long snake turned into a gun shadow, with an aura like a rainbow.

In a flash, he caught up with the middle-aged man who was retreating. At this moment, the middle-aged man felt inevitable.

"Drink!"

At this moment, the middle-aged man finally stopped retreating in a hurry, but stopped again and let out an angry roar. There was a layer of turquoise light on his hands, apparently to completely urge the vindictiveness. Immediately afterwards, I saw the middle-aged man clenching his fist suddenly, and then he punched the shadow of the gun, only to hear a loud roar, the shadow gun in mid-air was unexpectedly stopped offensive, but if you look closely However, it is not difficult to find that the shadow gun is still advancing forward.

This punch of the middle-aged man only stopped the shadow gun's momentum, but it failed to completely defeat the grudge sent by Rina.

However, this is obviously not the end!

After 's punch, the middle-aged man quickly retracted his right fist, and at the same time he struck out his left fist again. This time the shadow gun finally shook slightly, and the gloss was obviously dimmed by several points. But the middle-aged man did not pause at the slightest. As his left fist was recovered, he punched his right one again. In this way, the left and right punches came out one after another, and each punch was directed towards the tip of the shadow gun, accompanied by the shadow gun. With the constant vibration and the amplitude getting bigger and bigger, the light of the shadow gun became more and more dimmed, and in the end there was a crisp sound like broken glass, which was completely eliminated.

For Rina and another golden-level powerhouse, every movement of the middle-aged man is clearly visible, but in fact the whole process is not even a second.

At this time, the horse under Rina's crotch just fell to the ground.

But the next moment, Rina relentlessly displayed her horse charge again, and rushed towards the middle-aged man again, the momentum was obviously more powerful than the last time.

At this time, the middle-aged man was stunned. Just now, Rina used the shadow gun not to injure herself, but just to stop herself. But now I know this, but it is obviously too late, because Rina has rushed in front of him again-the same action as before, the warrior and the hoof are standing up, Rina is sideways and the gun is straight. The thorn, the spiral of vindictiveness is still wrapped around the tip of the gun.

But this time, the middle-aged man couldn't dodge anyhow, because he had completely lost the opportunity, and it happened to be at the moment when the old power was exhausted and the new power was not born.

But even so, the middle-aged man still did not confess his fate. He let out a roar and waved his hand to take the spiral stabbing from Rina. The vindictiveness of the natural se was so strong that it was almost completely seen. I don't know the fist of this middle-aged man, it is simply a yellow ball radiating light, which has shown that the middle-aged man is not confident that he can easily take this blow, so he will not hesitate to waste all the vindictiveness in his body. Hurry out.

The gun shadow of Crimson Se and the light ball of Earthy Se collided fiercely.

That is the vindictive collision between the fire xing and the earth xing.

The frantic airflow centered on the place where the two of them stood, and rushed out in all directions. The ground directly collapsed several inches deep, and as the frantic airflow gushed out, the surrounding ground seemed to be covered by something. After ploughing, countless gullies have sprung up.

The confrontation lasted less than a second, and the middle-aged man spouted blood and retreated several steps. The earthy yellow on his hands was so dim that there was almost only a thin layer left, and his face became extremely pale.

At this moment, the middle-aged man's eyes showed a hint of horror. He never thought that he would lose in this confrontation!

Although it was known for a long time that a strong knight rank could indeed slightly increase his combat power with the help of a mount, but he did not expect that this slightly increased combat power could completely suppress him. You know, this middle-aged man has stayed in the lower golden realm for a long time. Whether it is judgment, combat experience, consciousness, etc., he must far beat Rina, so when Rina charges, he knows that by charging The increase in power generated by the acceleration is much stronger than the power he had just consumed for the first round. It is precisely because of this that he will urge the fighting energy in his body to the extreme regardless of the consumption, but even this is actually still lost in the wrestling. Rina!

This result made this middle-aged man totally unbelievable.

However, this kind of confrontation is not very good for Rina. The opponent's urge for luck regardless of loss will of course bring some shock injuries to Rina. It's just that Rina, who is a mercenary, has long been accustomed to such small injuries. Before she met Sean, her strength was not as strong as it is now. Injuries are even more commonplace, and she also knows a rule, that is. You must not show weakness in the fight, otherwise, what is waiting for her may be the opponent's counterattack regardless of life and death.

So even at this moment, Rina's body was overwhelmed, but her face remained calm as before.

At this point, Rina is indeed better than the middle-aged man who is now accustomed to pampering.

The horse's hoof landed, Rina still did not hesitate, tapped the horse's belly with both legs, and the horse rushed out again, but because the distance between the two sides was too close, it was only a matter of a few steps, so she wanted to accelerate the damage. Obviously it is impossible, even if the horse charge is used. But for Rina, this was enough for her to reap the opponent's life, because her opponent hadn't caught a breath at this moment, and was already at the level of being completely unable to move.

This is also the judgment penalty for failure in a wrestling in the game.

So in the game, unless the player has enough self-confidence, he will never enter the wrestling state at will, because this failure penalty is really terrible. Especially in the face of expert players, a few seconds of hard time is enough for them to die hundreds of times.

Raise the gun!

Straight stab!

Rena's spear, pointed toward the middle-aged man's eyebrows.

However, the subtle sensation of piercing the head did not appear, but a soft "ding" suddenly sounded.

At this moment, another golden powerhouse finally rushed over. He tore away his companion, and at the same time raised the knife up, the blade just blocked the tip of Rena's spear.

Only one blow, this other golden powerhouse who has also passed his middle age also changed his face slightly.

Whether it is the golden powerhouse of the previous boxing fighter rank, or the golden powerhouse who uses the sword at this moment, both of them are strong people who are known for their strength, and they are also not inferior in terms of endurance. But in the face of Rina's shot, the strong counter-shock force still shook the hands of this golden sword-wielding man. What kind of power is needed to make this step!

But what surprised him even more, facing the boxing fighter who had no resistance, Rina did not take it lightly, but went all out to stab the gun. This is obviously a cautious knight who does everything. Facing this kind of enemy with almost no obvious weaknesses and flaws, this swordsman who has already experienced firsthand and understood why his companion is so embarrassed, his mouth is also a bit bitter.

For no reason, there was a very subtle thought in his heart: Maybe, both of them will fall here today.

And when he thought of this, the strong swordsman had a chill in his heart. Before the battle began, he was already doubting his fate. This was obviously shocked by the opponent's aura.

But Rina, she doesn't care what her opponent is thinking.

She only knows that the task that Sean gave her is not to stay, which means that in this battle, except for Soma Hastings who is listed as the target person can live, everyone else must die here. Especially these two low-level gold powerhouses, it is even more impossible to survive, because if they are allowed to escape, then the problem will become particularly difficult, and it may even affect Sean's plan.

So even if it is dead, Rina must keep both of them.

As for the cavalry, Rena never glanced at them from the beginning to the end, because this time Anno brought five teams of steel wings, this is fifty people, and they all have followed Alfred in the battle. The veterans of Jing Rui who are thousands of miles away are no worse than those Jing Rui who were assigned by Sean to guard the Black Swan Castle and deep into the wilderness. If these people can't keep the cavalry, then Anno is a steel wing. There is no need to be the commander-in-chief.

mercilessly, after a shot was unsuccessful, Rena also immediately returned her shot.

But in this action, Rina is completely different from ordinary knights.

When the spear retracted, Rina did not shrink her hand slightly, but almost pulled back in a small half circle. The crotch horse was a few steps back very cooperatively, which seemed to have a strange leisurely and elegant appearance. pace.

"Be careful!" The strong boxing fighter's eyes changed slightly, and he immediately reminded him.

But with this reminder, it was still one minute late.

Although this strong swordsman is about the same age as the strong boxing fighter, he was promoted to the next level of gold almost ten years later than him. Therefore, he has experience in the realm of the strong gold and combat experience, consciousness, skills and even It's the enemy experience and other aspects that are far inferior to the strong boxing fighter. It is precisely because of this that when Rena is close, his reaction will be so slow, and the attack and defense rhythm will be even slower afterwards. More than five seconds.

If it were not for this five-second gap, with his teaming with the strong fighter, even Rina, who has the power to fight the upper gold strong after riding, would be extremely difficult. But it was this five-second gap that gave Rina a clever opportunity to break through, and she did not waste this opportunity at all. In this almost fleeting time for others, she suffered a small injury. The price of hit the boxing fighter powerhouse.

So at this moment, even if the strong fighter knows Rina's tactics and skills, he can't get up to support him, so he can only remind him.

But I reminded, after all, it is still not as good as direct support.

"It's late." Rena whispered, her legs lightly tapped the horse's belly again, and the horse took two steps forward with a light step, and then jumped up like no one else.

Obviously there was no acceleration in the sprint, and there was clearly no assistance, and even an armed Rina, but when the horse leaped, it still jumped high over the top of this swordsman warrior.

The breeze was blowing gently, passing over Rina's face, and blowing her hair up.

White horse, black armor, red gun.

Leap, turn around, sting.

Like a beautiful picture of the Valkyrie descending.

Soaring in the sky.

The third high-level knight martial arts that Rina will show tonight, and this one is the exclusive martial arts of the Paladin knight system.

The swordsman who had no time to react at all, was stabbed by Rina with a shot behind him almost unguarded. Crimson Se's vindictiveness was like a burning flame, turning into a fiery snake that directly penetrated the swordsman's. On the chest, only a scorched and very thin burning hole was left behind, but what was even more strange was that there was no blood flowing out of the front and rear holes.

Looking at this wound, Rena's mouth curled slightly, and she seemed not satisfied with the result.

It's just that the Leap of the Sky is originally an attacking martial art that requires a certain degree of assistance. Rina just used the shortest distance and the jumping power of the hip, which is obviously not a normal horse, to barely perform successfully. Under the circumstances, the accuracy of the judgment will naturally still be somewhat unbalanced. Therefore, for this result, she can't actually ask for more, at least it will give the opponent a painful injury that is deep enough.

Of course, if there is enough distance to accelerate, Rina has absolute certainty and self-confidence. The attack just now will penetrate the enemy's heart.

For any strong person, the heart is the only source of strength, as long as the heart is destroyed, it is also tantamount to fall.

The horse flying in mid-air landed again, and the strong swordsman made a scream as if he was awakening from a dream, and staggered forward several steps. The blow just now, although not directly piercing the part of the heart, but it was only a few inches away. When the fiery red se's vindictive energy burned through his body, his heart was inevitably injured, although it was not as good as that. The famous fist fighter was so badly injured and embarrassed, but his vindictiveness was also greatly hindered for a while, and it was obviously impossible to perform as smoothly and smoothly as before.

Rina adjusted the horse's head slightly, ignoring the strong boxing fighter who was only three steps away from her, but once again locked her gaze on the strong swordsman.

Seeing this scene, the strong fighter who had recovered a little physical strength and vindictiveness brows, immediately ignores the disguise, jumps up and rushes towards his companion. He originally wanted to pretend that he couldn't afford to be seriously injured by his injuries. He wanted to use the last breath in his body to inflict the same serious injury as Rina. Although he is likely to fall due to this, he is not alone, at least as long as he can exert this restraint. The role of, then his companion must be able to kill Rina on the spot.

But in any case, he did not expect that Rena would actually abandon him such a person who is completely linked to the waste, but continue to choose the strong swordsman as the first goal.

At this moment, the strong boxing fighter finally felt chills.

But he knew very well that in front of this female knight who possessed the intuition of a beast, it was obviously impossible to escape-with his badly wounded body, it was impossible to escape the pursuit of a knight anyway. So the only way to survive is to join forces with your own companions. As long as the two of them work together, then there may be a battle to turn defeat into victory, but if you escape, then it is a real dead end.

It's also thanks to this strong fighter who has sufficient combat experience. If he changes to a person who is generally more life-saving or lucky, I am afraid that he will never think of joining hands against the enemy as he did, but turning around and fleeing at the first time. . Because in many cases, if the lower-level gold powers are determined to escape, it is difficult for even the upper-level gold powers to keep people without better means.

So watching this strong boxing fighter quickly rushed to his companion, Rina's face was also slightly strange. Of course, she could not see that this boxing fighter was pretending and trying to give her a fatal blow. Her idea was simple and straightforward, and that was to continue to use various breaking techniques to deal with these two golden powerhouses. Because the strong boxing fighter has been seriously injured, the threat to her is the lowest, but although the strong swordsman was also injured, he did not lose his combat effectiveness, so the threat is naturally greater than the strong boxing fighter. , Then it is a matter of course to solve this enemy first.

If the strong fighter is willing to take this opportunity to escape, then Rina will only be happier.

I just didn't expect that the will of this strong boxing fighter would be so firm, and the judgment would be so good, so Rina could only sigh a little helplessly, and then rode her horse.

This time, because the distance was a little longer, Rena did not hesitate to start the charge again.

is still lightning like white se.

Rina had already rushed to the two powerhouses who had already opened their battles, but the spear in her hand was no longer pierced towards the swordsman, but towards the strong fighter.

In each defeat, Rena will choose the enemy with the greater threat to deal with first, but if the opponents unite, then Rena will naturally choose the most injured enemy to deal with it. In either case, its core essence still points directly to the tactical purpose of each defeat. At this point, no one can shake Rina's will and determination.

In the face of this chill-filled blow, the severely injured boxer fighter naturally did not dare to take it, but chose to withdraw and avoid it.

Under normal circumstances, choosing to avoid at this time is tantamount to handing over the initiative to an opponent. This also means that it will often be brought into the opponent's fighting rhythm. In this case, it can only be passively defended. One carelessness is The fate of falling to death. However, at this moment, this boxing fighter was not fighting alone, he also had a companion who was not below him to assist him.

So I saw the cold light shining, the strong swordsman had already raised his sword, and used the wide blade as a shield to block Rena's domineering sting.

The strong force burst out, and the strong swordsman shook his hands, but this time his reaction was also very fast. When he almost felt the shock force feedback from the blade, he let out a scream, feedback from both hands. The power was transmitted to his feet, and then shook into the ground. In an instant, the place where the strong swordsman was standing collapsed more than an inch, and the cracks in the spider web spread out, even affecting the foundation of the horse that Rina's crotch was standing.

However, Rena's reaction was equally inferior.

The rein of her left hand pulled to the left, and the horse actually leaped to the left, easily dissolving the shock, even omitting the defensive action of retracting the gun.

But at this moment, the strong fighter who had already withdrawn suddenly jumped out and stepped on the back of the slicing knife. An invisible air flow suddenly erupted from under his feet and on the back of the knife. After exiting, it flew towards Rina instantly like a jet plane. The momentum was fierce, like a beast culled, seeming to tear Rina to pieces.

At the same time, this strong swordsman also wielded the knife, and slashed towards the four hooves of the horse under Rina's hips. The deep whistling sound entrained a shadow of the sword, and the howling wind sounded completely overwhelming the crowd on the other side who was fighting forgotten their lives. This was obviously also a manifestation of urging the fighting spirit to the extreme.

As far as the selection of fighters is concerned, this strong fighter is the perfect time.

In terms of the tacit understanding of cooperation, the one-to-one cooperation between the two people is also the most perfect.

In the short confrontation just now, they could already see that Rina and the horse of Hip were clearly connected. This is the basis for Rina's combat power to be able to play to the extreme or even far exceed the combined force of the two. Because under normal circumstances, people with the rank of knight can only fully display their strength when they have a mount. It is impossible to maintain such a relaxed self-confidence under the siege of the rank powerhouse.

Moreover, even if Rina herself does not have any obvious flaws and weaknesses, since Rina is a knight rank, then she has unavoidable weaknesses.

Mount.

Any knight can be considered very good if he can play half his strength without the mount.

So no matter from which aspect, as long as Rina is let go, then the two of them really have the hope of victory. Because after learning Rina's unparalleled ability to ride and fight, the two of them have obviously lost their confidence in victory in the face of Rina riding a war horse, so Rina must be sacked anyway.

Because of this, the two talents will choose such a wonderful cooperation.

The original intention of the culling of the strong fighter was not to hurt Rina, but just to pull Rina off the horse. And to be on the safe side, at this time, another strong swordsman also took the opportunity to slash at the four hooves of the war horse - although cutting a knife is no better than cutting a saber, it is enough now at a close distance. Under such a double attack, no matter how Rina responds, she will surely outperform the other party. This is what they value.

However, the next scene made both of them feel extremely chilling.

Because faced with the culling of the strong fighter, Rina did not even pay attention to him at all. She saw her lying back, lying on the horse like this. The fighter was strong. The reader just watched as he flew past Rina, but he could not touch a corner of Rina's clothes at all. At the same time, Rina immediately urged the horse to charge again, allowing the horse to take herself forward and rush out quickly, while Rina, who was lying on the horseback, also raised her hand back to the carbine, spiraling strength. The surrounding spear tip lightly points on the trailing blade.

A muffled roar exploded.

This shot not only stopped the attack of the strong swordsman, but also used this momentum to make the horse rush faster.

After , Rena stretched her waist, and she sat up again.

The reins quivered, the horse neighed, and the speed gradually slowed down, and then under the control of Rina Jingzhan's riding cao, the horse's head turned around, and it quickly circled a small half circle, nearly thirty meters away. Face the two golden powerhouses again.

Rina stared at the two people with indifferent eyes. At this moment, the two golden powerhouses swallowed at the same time, and the horror on their faces was clearly visible. They never thought that with the perfect tacit cooperation that could be said to be a lore, there was still no way to take this knight. Not only did they fail to shoot her off the horse, but even let her move nearly 30 meters away.

Everyone knows that for a knight who has mastered the charge skills of a war horse and possesses high-level knight martial arts such as spiral stabbing, shadow spear, and flying stabbing, the distance of thirty meters is by no means a safe distance, and it is even possible. Said it is a death distance. No matter which high-level technique is used to charge at this distance, the opponent can easily kill any of them, even if two people join forces to resist, it will only bring the situation back to the previous stalemate.

If the opponent is an impetuous person, then perhaps they can win with their veteran experience.

But through the previous fight, whether it is a strong fighter or a strong swordsman, they all know very well that the female knight in front of them is not only cautious and calm enough to make people feel terrible, but also has a fighting instinct that is almost like a beast. And judgment, and more importantly, she rides and fights unparalleled!

Knight Warriors Warriors, this is a supreme praise to the knight.

is like the title of swordsman, sword master, sword emperor, sword king, etc.

A knight can only play the strongest combat effectiveness when he fights with a mount. Therefore, when fighting with knights, many opponents will find ways to get the opponent down. As long as the horse is dropped, the combat power will be immediately reduced by more than half. How to avoid being shot down by the opponent in a fierce battle is a test of every knight's riding skills. Skills, only those knights who will not be shot down anyway, and who have demonstrated tyrannical combat strength on their horses, can be dubbed the honorary title of "Warrior Warriors".

There is no doubt that Rena is clearly able to bear this honor.

Of course, as far as the strong fighters and the strong swordsmen are concerned, they certainly don't know the terrible aspects of the Paladins rank system. The holy sword knights who can compete with the holy spear knights are all holy sword knights who belong to the same rank in the system. As for other holy shield knights, holy bow knights, guard knights, etc., which are also special high-level professions, they are also very good. It is difficult to compete with the holy sword and holy spear in the same rank.

Without him, riding and fighting unparalleled.

At this time, the other battlefield dominated by Anno is also approaching the end.

More than twenty cavalymen of the 2nd Cavalry Regiment of Darbion had never survived. Under the attack of more than half of the steel-winged Jing Rui veterans, this cavalry who could not even get on his horse could not perform at all. The fighting power it deserves. Under Anno's command, he successfully wiped out all these cavalry with only one death, two serious injuries and ten minor injuries. Of course, there was another unexpected surprise.

"You can't do this to me!" A shout sounded in the encirclement of the northern barbarians, "Let go of me! I am a noble! I want negotiation! I want the noble prisoner treatment! ... Do you know that I am Who? I am..."

When they heard this shout, the faces of the two golden powerhouses changed suddenly, and they all turned around and rushed to support them.

Although the two of them were beaten almost helplessly when facing Rina, and even suffered heavy injuries, even if they are now, the two of them will kill Anno and all the northern barbarians. It's a breeze.

But, will Rina let the two succeed?

Almost at the moment when the minds of these two people changed slightly, under the influence of William, how could Rina, who is very good at seizing the opportunity, miss this opportunity?

White se's streamer struck at these two people almost in the blink of an eye.

"Not good!" The face of the strong boxing fighter suddenly changed when he felt the sound of the wind.

But when he just reacted, the bright red blood had already bloomed in front of him, like a bright red rose.

The strong swordsman was actually shot through the heart by Rena!

Immediately afterwards, before the strong boxing fighter withdrew and retreated, the anger that pierced the strong swordsman's body suddenly burst out, blasting the upper body of the strong swordsman to pieces, and Rina shook the gun at The strong fighter came straight forward. Seeing that the gun was piercing without any fancy, the middle-aged boxer fighter immediately slapped the gun with his hands folded, even if he would be pierced by the gun, but at least he could barely save his life.

But the result of the facts made this boxing fighter golden powerhouse look horrified.

Because the result of the fact was not what he expected, Rena's shot effortlessly pierced his hands, and then pierced his eyebrows. When the red se's vindictive energy rolled in his skull, he In an instant, his head exploded completely like a bursting watermelon.

The headless corpse, slowly fell to his knees, and then fell down.

The next situation is naturally the cleaning and cleaning traces on the battlefield, at least not allowing people to find that they are clues under the command of Sean. However, for the northern barbarians who have lived in the polar regions all year round, they are completely familiar with the old work of driving in a light car, and they are simply effortless.

At this moment, An Nuo dragged three people over.

Two of them are Soma Hastings and his assistant, Kazi.

However, it was the third living person who was truly unexpected.

"It's you?"

This person is indeed Domingo's eldest son, Avi Hastings!

He looked at Rena in disbelief, God se was full of deep puzzlement: "Why?...No, who are you?"

Anuo squinted at the young man, apparently a little unable to bear his noise: "This guy, what should I do?"

"I am a nobleman, I want noble treatment!" When Avi heard this, he was shocked and immediately shouted, "You know who I am. I am the future Earl of Tinclein, and I can pay. ransom!"

Hearing what Avi said, Rena turned her head to look at Anno and nodded slightly: "He is indeed a nobleman, the eldest son of Domingo Hastings."

Hearing what Rina said, Avi's face showed a touch of joy, but he did not notice. After Rina said this, she shrugged slightly. Only Soma and Kazi noticed, but it was precisely because they noticed this action that their faces changed drastically.

Anno turned around and retreated indifferently, but he was standing behind Avi, then took out his own small axe, raised the axe on Avi's head, and then slammed it down. It smashed Avi's head with a single axe.

Pulling out the axe slightly, Anno muttered: "Noble? Sean doesn't need noble."

Looking at what happened before him, the faces of Soma and Kazi became extremely pale.

Because of the name "Sean", they have already let them know which force these people in front of them are from. It's just that they didn't expect that the lord of Pandaren would launch this attack so courageously. Isn't he afraid of being discovered by the people of the Peace Association?