

Lord of War Vol 2-371

Chapter 371: .Sacrifice of Asuna

"Why me?" After a stunned face appeared on Sean's face, he quickly turned into shock and disbelief, but was quickly replaced by an upset, "Wait, this is a bit wrong, no matter what I do. Obviously, it's not enough to serve as a battlefield commander? This is... a very oily task, especially now that the southern battlefield is almost a foregone conclusion, this..."

The last sentence, Sean no longer needs to say it, because he has realized the real reason why Asuna made him the commander of the southern battlefield.

As we all know, serving as a commander on the main battlefield is not an easy job. It can even be said that this is a double-edged sword at all. Unless someone is extremely confident in their own strength, no one is willing or willing to ask for it. This post.

The reason is simple, because a main battlefield commander is not only responsible for the battlefield command, but also has the responsibility of coordinating and coordinating all the military forces and nobles on the battlefield. Therefore, for many battlefield commanders, dealing with the nobles is a hard work. If you don't, these nobles will hinder you when you need it. But as far as the superiors are concerned, they don't care whether the nobles are really helping or disabling. They will only think that you are not doing well, delaying fighters, etc., and once these charges are taken seriously, the most serious result may be straightforward. Deprived of the title of nobility.

Therefore, unless it is those who have real talents or who think they are extremely capable of diplomacy, few people are willing to assume the duties of this battlefield commander.

This is why Sean feels upset.

But, as Sean understood the meaning of "double-edged sword".

Since there is a bad side, naturally there is a good side.

If the battlefield under the command of the battlefield commander is victorious or even a full victory, then this is a battle that is enough to make anyone jealous, and it is still a major battle that no one can take away. In other words, on the southern battlefield currently divided by the Principality of Lane, given the current clear situation, no matter who is the commander of the southern battlefield, he can definitely add a strong record to his resume when the war is over. One stroke.

And this is why Asuna recommended Sean as the commander of the southern battlefield.

Because of the current situation, it was Sean who shot it all alone. It can be said that Sean's contribution is the greatest. After all, the Principality of Ryan did not give Sean any form of support during this process. And at this moment, a so-called commander suddenly dropped in, and he could easily take away nearly 90% of Sean's credit, which even Asuna couldn't see.

Of course, another consideration of Asuna was to pave the way for Sean to enter the upper aristocratic circle of the Principality of Ryan.

"The price is heavy." Seeing Asuna just smiled, Sean sighed helplessly.

He knew very well that if the commander of the southern battlefield was not him, he would certainly not be able to keep so many territories when the war was over. Maybe he would even be rewarded with a baronial title, even a territory. no. Because he knows very well that the wolves-like nobles in the Principality of Lane have long been very jealous of the rich territory and military power he occupies now, so he must have a sufficient weight of identity and prominent military exploits in order to be able to keep after the war. Everything I have worked so hard to lay down now.

"It's not disastrous." Asuna shook her head, "I just paid the price of losing my position as the commander-in-chief. But my credit as the commander of the southeast battlefield, those wolves have not the courage to kill them. And most importantly. Yes, the fertile area in the northwest of Darbion is enough for the wolves to fight to the blood."

"But you also lost the opportunity to settle in Fengshen Lake." Xiao En said sharply.

He has not forgotten that the deal he made with Asuna was to let Asuna settle in Fengshen Lake. But now, if Asuna does not serve as the president of this national war, then the major contributions and achievements of breaking the Darbyang capital will naturally not be included in the name of Asuna, and because of the southeast theater and The Kingdom of France has borders. Maybe Asuna will even be forced to start a war with the Kingdom of France. This is definitely a thankless thing.

Suddenly, Xiao En's mind suddenly resembled a thunderbolt, and his whole body was shaken suddenly, and he looked at Asuna with a stunned look: "Where is Tonis Fortress?"

Asuna's  se seemed a bit unnatural.

At this time, Sean still didn't understand. In order to enable him to become the commander of the southern theater, Asuna not only lost the title of commander-in-chief of the entire battle, but even handed over the Tonis Fortress. The price is definitely not small. You know, in the first war between the Principality of Ryan and the Kingdom of Darbion, Asuna invested all the resources captured in the war into the construction of Fort Tonis. It can be said that this fortress is all of Asuna. Hard work.

But now, this fortress has been expropriated by the Principality of Ryan. If it is said that Asuna has lost her own territory.

"It's not a big deal, at least if the Southeast Theater wins, I can delineate the territory." Asuna is free and easy, the unnatural se on her face flashed away, "Furthermore, even if you lose Tonis Fortress , I can also build another one in the new territory, nothing more than it will take a little longer. And once Dabion becomes history, Tonys Fortress will be of little value."

"Humph." Sean snorted coldly. He knew very well that Fort Tony is really important to Asuna. It's just that Asuna didn't want to answer directly. Even if Sean knew these things, he couldn't speak. "Just I'm afraid that the wolves of the Principality of Lane have more than that. They agree that you can delineate the territory at will in the southeast theater of Darbion, but this territory must be bordered by the Kingdom of France? ... This shows that it is to be placed. The first line of conflict with the Kingdom of France."

"Is there a difference?" Asuna smiled, "Perhaps it seems that I have lost a lot of things this time, but if I look a little longer, who can guarantee that I have not gained more?"

Strictly speaking, Sean knew that Asuna was right.

In terms of short-term benefits, Asuna can be said to have made a major sacrifice. Not only did she lose the commandership of the war with Darbion, but even Tonys Fortress was lost, which is already economic distress. For Asuna, it is undoubtedly worse. However, in terms of long-term benefits, her gains are also huge. At least this time after the war, Florence will become a marquis of strength. In addition, the current situation in the southern theater is stable, as long as there is nothing big. By mistake, Sean's title of Marquis of Strength would definitely not be able to escape, so that means that Asuna has two firm Marquis of strength as her political allies in the Kingdom of Lane.

And looking at Hatch Boulder, who is sitting here with Asuna at this moment, it means that the Boulder family will definitely be on Asuna's side in the future, plus Ken sacrifices family interests and Boulder. The Dubai family who rebelled together, the joining of these two families is naturally an extremely powerful reinforcement for the newly established aristocratic circle of Asuna. After all, the Boulder family even now has many outstanding talents, and these talents will play a very important role in the future Principality of Lane.

In other words, although on the surface it seems that the war with Darbion Kingdom this time is weakening Asuna's strength, in fact, the group of people who have gained the most benefit from this war with Darbion Kingdom But all of them are Asuna's future allies. This is actually equivalent to Asuna's growth in strength in exchange for time, which is very similar to Sean's development plan for a period of time when he started from scratch.

However, even though Sean knew and understood Asuna's actions and reasons, he still felt very upset.

Because of what the Principality of Lane did, Sean felt very sick.

"I will return Thunder's Front to you soon." Sean said in a deep voice.

"I'm not in a hurry about this." Asuna shook her head, "Because at present, even if I want to start a war, I will definitely not be able to fight in a short time. After all, the Northwest Theater has just triggered a war, and your side The situation is stable, but the supply line cannot be too deep, so in a short period of time I have nothing to do. And in a strict sense, both the agave collar and the Roman collar can be classified into the northwest. In the war zone, even if the war in the northwest war zone is opened, I will have strong backup support."

Regarding Asuna's statement, Hatch, the old fox, quickly nodded and said: "Asuna-sama, please rest assured, I will fully cooperate with your actions when that happens."

"I am here to thank Master Hatch for his full support." Asuna smiled, then turned to look at Sean, and said again: "Since everything that should be said has already been said, then I have one now. I have to ask you for help."

"You don't need to say something polite. Your sacrifice has far exceeded our original agreement. I'm not the kind of person who doesn't know what is good or bad."

Shaun's words made Hatch slightly confused, but he knew who he was now, and he also knew why Asuna brought him here. In fact, Hatch is also very curious about the young man Sean Connery. Although he has guessed more than once that the relationship between Sean and Asuna is by no means simple, until now he heard what Sean said. , Ha Qi knew that the relationship between these two men might be deeper than he had imagined.

Asuna nodded, so what she said next was not polite with Sean: "I hope you can contain, and even attract all the fighting power in the southern region of Darbion. I am going to unite with Master Hatch. And Mr. Berne  the agave collar.... As long as we successfully rendezvous with the Boulder family private soldiers of the agave collar, then I can open the front of the southeast theater of Darbion and drag Darbion into it. The situation of three-line combat."

Sean frowned, and said in a deep voice, "But if you want to get a agave collar, you need to traverse at least three Darby Ang territories. Even if I hold Darby Ang's southern nobles in this journey, The troops, but others will come to stop you from advancing. And even if you do successfully merge, the agave collar is now a solitary place on the map, and you will face the dilemma of lack of logistics and troops."

"This point, I will still need the cooperation of Lord Sean at that time." This time, it was Hatch who spoke. "After regaining the agave collar, I will let Bourne lead the troops to ensure the safety of the logistics line. At that time, all logistical materials will pass through the southern theater where you are responsible, Lord Shaun. Therefore, Lord Shaun, your control of the southern theater will directly affect the lifeline of me and Lord Byrne and Asuna."

"Wait, you mean... there are only three of you in the Southeast Theater?" Sean's face changed slightly.

"Although I don't want to admit it, it's actually exactly what you said." Asuna smiled helplessly. "The only ones who are really responsible for all military operations in the southeast theater of Darbion are really only I, Lord Byrne and Lord Hatch. It's just people. Although several other nobles have joined the Southeast Theater, in fact, even if I don't say anything about their purpose, you should know it. As for the Ryan Ministry of Public Affairs, they made a decision before. Will fully support the Northwest Theater."

"Huh." This time, Sean's face was not as simple as unpleasant, but really hard to look at.

"By the way, there is another thing I must tell you."

"Say, no matter how bad the news is, I'm afraid I won't be disappointed." Sean curled his lips.

"Because the current situation is that your southern theater is the most stable, there will probably be a few nobles who will come to you to get a share of the pie." Asuna hesitated, but she still said, "I hope... you Try not to offend these nobles as much as possible."

"Oh, it depends on whether they are qualified to take a share from me." The discomfort on Sean's face is already extremely obvious, "Okay, since I am the commander of the southern theater, then this theater is I have the final say. As for those nobles, you don't need to worry. I will end the southern theater as soon as possible, and then tilt my troops and resources to your side."

Looking at the expression on Sean's face, Asuna knew that it would be useless to persuade her, so she stopped talking, and instead nodded her head to agree to Sean's arrangement. Of course, she was also praying silently in her heart, hoping that the few nobles who were about to fight in the South would not be so stupid.

Chapter 372: .Yangqi

Sitting in the meeting room, Sean is far more tired than he looks.

At this time, it was late at night, and no light source was lit in the room, but the room was not in darkness at this time.

The soft brilliance is scattered throughout the room, reflecting the entire room like daylight.

The unidentified object gurgled leisurely in mid-air at this time, and occasionally swayed from side to side, as if drunk. The sleep for a while, seems to have given it some new powers, but there is no way to give full play to these powers, so in fact, there is no obvious improvement in Sean's combat effectiveness. Basically most of the time, Sean uses this as a lamp.

The effect is outstanding.

At this time, nearly half a month has passed since Asuna came to Void City. The Ryan Southeast Expeditionary Army composed of her, Duke Hatch and Marquis of Bourne has officially opened. From the time point of view, it should have just left Tin Chiyin. collar.

At this time, on the conference table in front of Sean, there was a battle report.

The content of this report is very simple. To put it simply, Ryan's Southeast Expeditionary Army, who has just left Tinkiin, wiped out the Darbion Garrison of Tinkiin. This is another heavy loss for Hela. .

Darbion Kingdom, the strongest military power is not the southeast area where the Kingdom of France continues to fight, but the southern area where Asuna has invaded before. Because of this war, the aristocracy in the southern region was like a nouveau riche to develop military power like a nouveau riche. As a result, the private army in the southern region totaled 400,000, which was almost equivalent to half of the entire kingdom's standing military. , And the number of private soldiers from the aristocracy in the southeastern region that had been fighting with the Kingdom of France all the year round was more than half.

But this powerful military force has also taken a turn for the worse because of the rebellion of the Boulder family and the Dubai family.

Even if he only had two hundred and fifty thousand, the southern nobility of Darbion would not be too embarrassed. It would not be a problem to regain lost ground or even counterattack under Tonis Fortress. But on the contrary. Due to various accidents, the southern nobles of Darbion have now fallen into a state of powerlessness-they watched Sean's strength rapidly expand and become stronger, but they were helpless at all.

Now in the southern theater, Hela can be said to have no advantage at all, on the contrary, he is even caught in a dilemma.

Of course, it was the result of this battle report that was placed in front of Sean that caused the situation like this.

He knew that this was a favor given to him by the Boulder family.

And this favor, he still had to recognize it.

Originally, Hela had a total force of 250,000. At that time, the momentum she formed was simply unstoppable. It can be said that Sean was completely driven to a dead end. But, for some reason, she didn't wipe out Sean with this wave of thunder, but instead gave Sean a chance to breathe. In this way, through the hiring of mercenaries and rapid military development. Supplemented by William's almost tactical strike against Xing, Sean successively swallowed nearly 70,000 troops in Hela in a cannibal way.

Of course his own loss. It's equally disastrous.

Aldorf's mobile infantry regiment, Stalin's first regiment, Knock's second regiment, and Rena's first cavalry regiment. All the four troops were completely clean, and even Stalin was seriously injured. Fortunately, because of the timely appearance of the steel wings, he successfully broke through the blockade that Hela tried to place, and successfully rescued Stalin back to the steel wings training base, plus Rena's return. At least for now, Pandan is completely safe near the rear of the Gorge Rift.

The only unfortunate thing is that the Chiraff collar and Berbice collar, which were finally able to gain the advantage with difficulty, and can even be said to be able to be recaptured, have fallen into Hela's hands once again. And this time, the strength of the reinforcements to these two pieces is no longer the previous 70,000 troops that Hela used as cannon fodder from the beginning. It is an army that has truly experienced countless battles.

But the same, Hella's loss is not light.

The Second Cavalry Regiment in her hand was nearly destroyed by the Grim Bear Corps, plus the 10,000 Fourth Legion soldiers who were lost to Tin Chiin, as well as the report submitted by Sean just now. In the battle situation, Hela also failed to recapture the Tingqiin collar and Dayi collar, and even the Yadby collar, who had finally managed to stand on his heels, fell into a precarious level.

Today, Shaun's total military strength is still 70,000. Although 40,000 of them are from six mercenary groups, the overall combat strength is still intact, and the army located near the Void City alone has reached 60,000. On the other hand, Hella, apart from the 60,000 troops currently attacking the Tequila collar, there are only 80,000 troops left in her hands. Among them, there are less than 40,000 in Yadby collar and another 40,000. It must be divided into the Berbish collar and the Chiraff collar. If it is said that Hela has no advantage at all in the face of the forces located in the Void City.

The result of all this is the Ryan Southeast Expeditionary Army led by Dingqiin. Had it not been for the Duke of Hatch to annihilate all the 30,000 troops that Hela arranged in the Tinchin, Hela relied on the block line of Tinchin and Yedby, Berbis and Chiraf. It is enough to completely block Sean's strategic intentions to go south, and continue to form strategic repression of Sean, and even isolate Asuna and others who are already going south to open up the Southeast Theater.

Once Hella continues to occupy such an advantage, even William will be powerless.

And now, Hela's general situation has been broken.

Sean doesn't know much about the styles of the top ten generals, but he is very clear about the advantages and disadvantages of the lower rankings.

Like William, this guy's view of the overall situation is much weaker than the other ten generals. Even in the battle at the strategic level, he is slower than the others, but if it involves the tactical policy, William is often able to. In an instant, he worked out a highly targeted attack, thus gaining a major advantage on the local battlefield. And compared to offense, William is also better at defensive counterattack tactics, no matter how difficult the situation, he can always find a place to live and grow like weeds arbitrarily and crazy.

As for Hela, the seventh woman on the list, she is exactly the opposite of William.

The opposite is not to say how strong her offensive is, but to say that her strategic overall view is extremely long-term. What she is best at is the kind of silent layout. Then when the opponent realizes the seriousness of the problem, Hela's general trend has been formed. In this case, any tactics, tricks, and yin schemes have all been useless.

It's just that Hela's shortcomings are also very obvious and fatal.

That is, once her general situation is cracked before it is completely perfected, then she will fall into a period of fatal emptiness. In other words, because Hela is not good at tactical formulation, she cannot immediately come up with a plan to make up for the moment she is broken, and she is also rarely able to come up with a complete backup plan to substitute. This is why Hella can only be ranked seventh.

The sixth place among the ten players. It is an extremely obvious watershed.

Xiao En's eyes narrowed slightly, and the feet that had been placed on the table were also retracted, and then stood up.

At this moment, Xiao En's body exudes an extremely fierce aura, like a sharp sword that has been out of its sheath: "It's time to make a conclusion."

seems to feel the momentum of Sean. Gulu flew down from mid-air and stopped on Sean's left shoulder. Rubbing Xiao En's cheek affectionately. He stretched out his hand and gently rubbed the position of Gulu's head. The corners of his mouth raised slightly, which made his awe-inspiring aura a little softer.

The knock on the door suddenly sounded at this moment.

However, the people outside the door didn't wait for Sean's answer, so they opened the door and entered.

is William.

Although he is not good at any martial arts, as a peerless celebrity who is qualified to stand on the list of ten generals, his aura has never been inferior to any strong man. The same sensitivity to aura will naturally be very keen. He just glanced at Sean, a flash of surprise flashed in his eyes, and then returned to the tranquility like chun water, while Bannock stood outside the door. The Barrier Paladin who had been following William since returning with Sean, then gently closed the door.

"A decision has been made?" When the door of the meeting room closed, William finally spoke in a deep voice.

"Well." Shaun nodded, "These guys, you and Neil have worked hard. I know that the backlash from the Chamber of Commerce Alliance will definitely disturb you a lot."

Doing such a thing in the gray shadow black market, if the Chamber of Commerce Alliance will remain quiet, then it will not be able to deter the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance of the seven empires. It's just that even if they have the intention to find Sean's troubles, they are still powerless in a short time, so they can only use some diplomatic means and public opinion intervention, but at this time the war between the Principality of Ryan and the Kingdom of Darbion is complete. When the outbreak occurs, the influence of the Chamber of Commerce Alliance will be correspondingly reduced to a minimum. In addition, Sean is now one of the commanders of the three major war zones in the Principality of Lane. His logistics supplies no longer need to worry about it. All of this will be controlled. The Principality of Lane is solely responsible.

"It's okay." William was noncommittal. "Those guys couldn't create any chaos in our territory after we implemented a complete blockade. It was their biggest mistake to turn our faces and withdraw from our territory."

Sean smiled, and did not continue to say anything on this topic, but said: "Order the whole army, the war has officially begun. We must completely end the war in the southern theater within two months, and then go south to reinforce Asia. Sina. The longer the time delays, the more difficult it will be for the expeditionary force in the Southeast Theater, which is isolated under the tequila collar."

Hearing Sean's words, William frowned slightly: "Two months, time is too urgent, we can't end the Southern Theater."

"You don't need to worry about this." Xiao En said softly, "I will organize a force to go directly behind the enemy line to catch Hela. If the other party loses the commander Hela, then you should be able to finish it in two months. fighting?"

"If this is the case, it is indeed possible, but the casualties will be very heavy." William said without thinking about it, "You know that the military in the southern theater is much stronger than we thought, so no matter what we do. If you do, the casualties will be very heavy."

"Then, let Xuefanio prepare for war."

Hearing this, William's face finally showed a shocked spirit.

As Sean's confidant, he is also responsible for all of Sean's military forces. He is very clear about the two hole cards that Sean has hidden so far.

Xuefanio and her clergy have now officially formed a large-scale group of priests, which is one of the two hole cards that Sean has not opened. Even if the war situation before, no matter how bad the war situation was, Sean did not have the idea of using this hole card. Because according to William's previous understanding of Sean, his hole card was obviously intended to be used in a war with the main army of the Kingdom of Darbion, but at this moment it is about to be opened so soon. How can William not be able to use it? Shocked?

And Sean seemed to have guessed William's thoughts a long time ago. He just smiled and said, "Asuna has already paid a lot for us. It's time for us to make some rewards. Na knows that she will never lose sight of her investment in us."

The corner of William's mouth raised slightly.

He appreciates Sean, just like this kind of person who appreciates Sean. If this were not the case at the beginning, William would not have been following Sean, because he knew his strength very well. If he was really just for a so-called command and commandership, he could definitely find better and higher than he is now. The starting point, instead of following Sean from nothing.

"So, how are you going to go deep behind enemy lines to catch Hela?" William thought it over carefully. After confirming that all the links he was responsible for were correct, he finally asked about a link that was not under his control but was very important. "Since it's already a war between the two countries, all borders must be sealed off, so even a squad of a dozen people entering the Kingdom of Darbion will be subject to strict interrogation. There are no ten people?"

"You don't have to worry about this." Sean gave a mysterious smile. "A few days ago, someone from Heerson contacted me. They happened to have a project to test, so I decided to help them a little bit. ."

William was taken aback. He already knew what the project was, but he immediately retorted: "This is too dangerous!"

"War, how can it be dangerous?" Xiao En said in a deep voice, "Since I am your lord, then I can't just stay behind and watch you die. This is not my style." Having said that, Seeing that William still wants to talk, Sean said without thinking: "I have made up my mind, you don't need to say any more, I have already prepared the candidate, and I will be able to set off as soon as Rina comes back."

Looking at Sean's tough attitude, William could only helplessly sigh: "Okay."

"Now, it's time to raise the banner that belongs to us." Sean turned around and looked out the window, with a bit of excitement on his face, "From now on, we will no longer be an army without belonging.... You are all from my Sean Connery!"

It is night, and Void City finally raised its first banner since the city was founded.

A flag painted with a pair of peculiar wings: the left wing fully expanded and the right wing fully closed.

That is the wings of the void that represents attack and shelter!

That is the wings of the void representing the Connery family!

That means...

They will no longer be the Wings of the Void of the Borderless People!

The banner belonging to Sean Connery, at this moment, is officially raised to the whole world!

Chapter 373: .Noline Sharon

Perhaps it was the burning and spreading of the war. The sky of Pandan had lasted for several days, and it looked like a sinking yin.

The southern theater under the charge of Sean has also officially entered a combat state at this time.

But what was beyond everyone's expectations was that the situation on the battlefield was not as straightforward as the outside world had guessed. There were only two troops attacking Yadby, with a total strength of only 20,000 men. Compared with the 40,000 troops stationed at Yadby, they are naturally at a disadvantage, but apart from the Principality of Lane, the entire Darby No one in Ang Kingdom would think so.

There is no other reason.

One of these two armies is called Iron Wings, and the other is called Cecilia Guards.

Shaun's three strongest armies directly dispatched two of them, which shows how much he attaches great importance to Yedby.

As for the vacancy caused by the emergency transfer of the steel wings, the six mercenary regiments hired by Sean totaled 40,000 to fill, and the commander-in-chief was Stalin who had awakened. Hitley, the saint of the goddess of life, personally rushed to the front line to provide first aid for Stalin, unless he really died, otherwise, as long as there is a breath, it is impossible to die. Of course, it is definitely impossible to return to the battlefield for a short time. , According to Hitley's statement, at least two months of cultivation.

Therefore, William's order to Stalin was to hold fast to the enemy forces that might be attacked from the Berbice leader and the Chiraff leader.

As far as Stalin was concerned, giving him 4,000 men he could block the attack of more than 10,000 people for three days, not to mention that this time there were six troops directly following his orders, with a total strength of 40,000. For these mercenaries, Stalin would rather persevere to the death, this kind of blood  also made them feel sincere admiration for being commanded by such a person. None of the heads of the six mercenary regiments objected.

Therefore, William did not pay attention to the situation in the southern part of Pandaria. He has devoted all his attention to the upcoming battle of Yaderby.

Because according to Sean's decision, it is clear that he is looking forward to the final outcome of the entire southern theater through this battle of Yedby. Therefore, in this battle, William must not only win, but also win very beautifully. At the same time, he must attract the attention of the enemy on this battlefield and reduce unnecessary troubles for Sean's upcoming actions.

The war to lay the final result is already on the verge of breaking out.

However, at this critical moment, Sean still has one thing to deal with.

The gilded group of noble children who came to the southern war zone. Has entered the Panda collar.

There are a total of six nobles who came here this time, one earl, three viscounts, and two barons, all of which came from relatively powerful families in the Duchy of Lane. They are members of the younger generation who are mainly cultivated in their respective families. Except for the earl who was a nobleman on the ground, the other five of the six only had an aristocratic title without any real gains. Even the gilded troops that came to the southern theater this time were either borrowed or hired or provided by the family.

But these. Sean didn't pay attention to it at all, because the total strength of the six nobles combined was only 10,000. What Sean really valued was the war supplies provided by Lion's government, especially the two supplies of food and arrows, which are really urgently needed for the current Panda collar, as for other things like others. Materials such as iron. Sean was not so eager.

A long dragon, marching on the plain.

This long dragon team erected more than a dozen flags, but in general it can be divided into seven images, six of which are family emblem flags from six different nobles in the Principality of Lane. The other one represents the system of the Lion Public Ministry.

The leader of the team is a middle-aged man riding a rare silver white sirloin horse.

The Sarang Warhorse is a kind of tall horse with a back height of about two meters raised by the Sarang family of the Principality of Ryan. This kind of horse is rumored to have the blood of a unicorn, so it has a relatively large advantage in sprinting ability and endurance. , It's just that the blood has become very thin, so the sirloin horses are the most common in light gray and gray-white se, but occasionally, white or silver sirloin horses with obvious bleeding ability will be born.

Basically, this kind of Sharan warhorse with obvious bloodline capabilities will not be sold to the outside world, but is used by the Sharan family as a stepping stone to enter the upper aristocratic circle or into the sight of the powerful aristocrat. According to rumors, the Sharon family's future a dozen white or silver white war horses have been divided up by the powerful and powerful in the Principality of Ryan. It can be seen that this man is about 30 years old but can ride this horse. The identity of the middle-aged man of the silver white se sireng war horse is by no means simple.

"Master Sharan." A fat man drove the horse under the hip to approach the middle-aged man with a grin.

can be called Lord Sharan, the identity of this middle-aged man riding a silver-white sarang horse is also called out.

At this time, the middle-aged man glanced sideways at the nearly fat man who came up, and most of his eyes were focused on the horse under his crotch. At a glance, he could see that this fat man was riding a good horse. This kind of horse was very friendly and approachable because of its spleen and abnormality. Therefore, in the Principality of Lane, it was more sought after and welcomed by the nobles, but for most of them. For the nobles, this kind of good horse is for those young noble children to learn how to ride.

When these noble children are adults, they generally will not continue to ride this kind of horses, because they are not suitable for training as war horses, and in terms of endurance, sprinting ability and many other aspects, such good horses are not considered to be good horses. How good it is. This fat man can ride this kind of horse. The only proof is that his equestrian skills are absolutely not very good, and it can even be said to be very bad, so this kind of friendly and approachable horse is needed as a mount.

Of course, the fat man's tonnage is also a great burden for this horse.

But these, the Earl of Xueyehua with the highest title among the six nobles, Noraine Sharon would definitely not say it. After a glance at the opponent, he quickly retracted his gaze, with an elegant aristocratic smile on his face, and whispered: "It turns out to be Viscount Harder. I heard that you are a little uncomfortable recently. Why don't you cultivate in the carriage? Woolen cloth."

"It's not good for your body to stay on the carriage all the time." Not too old, but at least two Harders the size of Nolane smiled cheerfully, "I'm coming out to breathe. Hey...through Breathable."

Noline smiled noncommittal.

Of course he knew that what the fat man Harder said before was just an excuse. He just didn't want to get out of the carriage. This was a common problem among the nobles. Even Nolane himself had some common problems, so he certainly didn't do this in this regard. What would you say.

Seeing that Nolane didn't seem to be planning to say anything, Harder laughed a little bit without embarrassment. He looked at the silhouette of the city that was faintly visible not far ahead, and then suddenly said, "What is this called? The people of Sean Connery really thought it would be great to be the commander-in-chief of this southern theater, and they didn't want to think about their status. A baron would dare to be so defiant."

"Yes." Just then. Several other viscounts and barons also approached on horseback. At this time, the other viscount took the call, "I don't know if this baron named Sean has a secret relationship with the woman of the Evans family, otherwise. How could that woman let him be the commander of the Southern Theater in such a decisive way, and even preferred to give up being the commander-in-chief by herself. Hey."

At the end, the viscount gave a faint yin smile. All men are present. Naturally, he also showed a tacit smile.

Only Nolane didn't smile, he just frowned slightly.

For the Sharon family, Asuna G. Evans is also the person they need to make good friends with, at least in the book that Nolan has seen that records the future can get a silver white se Sharon war horse. In second place is this woman named Asuna G. Evans. So no matter what this woman said or did in the previous Royal Ryan meeting. It's not for him to slander.

And compared to the other noble children who came to the Southern Theater this time, Nolane actually also secretly inquired about the baron's deeds through some of the Sharon family's intelligence network, so compared to others, he knows more. It's a bit. Even bluntly. In his capacity, he can go to the Northwest Theater to make military exploits, or to follow Asuna to the Southeast Theater to have a good relationship with Asuna, but he still came to the South Theater. There is a big reason for this. This is a secret decision from the top of the Sharon family.

It seems that seeing Nolane's brows frowned slightly, the natural smiles of the nobles became somewhat unnatural.

At this time, another baron rolled his eyes, and immediately said, "How can Sean Hode take on such an important responsibility as the southern theater commander? In my opinion, the responsibility of the southern theater commander should be assigned to Nolan It's right for an adult to serve."

"Yes!"

"That Sean is just a baron, our Lord Norain is an earl!"

Several nobles immediately agreed again, and many people secretly sighed that their thinking was not agile enough, and they had missed such an opportunity to favor Nolane.

However, Nolane's performance this time still made these nobles a little confused: "Compared with Baron Pandaling, I am much worse. At least, I don't think I can do what I am today. The extent to which it can be done."

"Haha, Lord Nolane, you are too modest." The fat Viscount Hader said with a smile, "Who didn't know Lord Nolane, you were the first graduate of the Lane Military Academy, and you were even an exchange student. I went to the Royal Military Academy of the Millennium Empire for further study. Not everyone has this honor."

"That's right."

There was another echo that made Nolane feel a little bit noisy.

He glanced at these nobles with almost smirk on their faces, but in his heart he shook his head and sighed helplessly. At this moment, Nolan fully understood what the ignorant is fearless. It is precisely because he was the first graduate of the Ryan Military Academy that year and also studied as an exchange student at the Royal Military Academy of the Millennium Empire for several years, so he became more aware that this man has now risen to the wings of the void. How high is the military attainments of Lord Panda of the banner.

If Asuna's invasion of the Kingdom of Darbion made him feel a great pressure that he couldn't breathe, then the Baron Sean Connery has caused him to feel an unmatched defeat in his heart. feel.

After all, not everyone can escape from the encirclement network formed by the 250,000 army that the Kingdom of Darbion has organized.

And it was precisely because he had studied all the war information about Pandaling and the southern part of Darbion that the Dory Charang family was able to collect in the last year, and then submitted a war report to the top of the Charang family. Thanks to his action to come to Panda to lead today. Because he had to witness with his own eyes whether the baron, who has now been officially noted on the Sharon family's precious roster of war horses, is really worthy of the Sharon family.

Chapter 374: . Sean's Dismissal

As the Void City approaches, Nolane can feel the majesty of this city more and more, and more and more feel that the lord is not easy.

In the beginning, the lord of Pandaling, not to mention the Sharon family from Nolane, even the other upper-class nobles in the Principality of Lane who are stronger or weaker than the Sharan family. The one who really knows this pioneering knight is that the millennium covenant empire came for him. Although I don't know why these empires with higher eyesight later hurriedly left, this is indeed the first pioneering knight. This time, he officially entered the sight of the nobles in the Principality of Ryan.

And he Nolan will know that Sean is such a person, it is derived from the baronship that Asuna rectified his name.

The name of pioneering knights now basically only appears in some countries on the Marvel Continent where wars are fierce or bordered by dark areas. As far as Nolane knows, generally nobles who have pioneer knights under his command will not let these pioneer knights leave easily, because once they are rectified, it is equivalent to acknowledging their noble status, and they can no longer command and order them at will. .

In Nolane's view, a war madman like Asuna would definitely hold this sharp blade called the "exploitation knight", and would never let go so easily.

But the fact is that it completely subverted Nolane's cognition.

Sean Connery not only became a baron, but also became the commander-in-chief of the Southern Theater.

Looking at the void city in front of him, Nolane had deep jealousy in his eyes.

He is also a field lord. Although his territory is not large, he also has a castle and several villages, so he knows what it often means if a new city is established in a territory. Unless it is a lord who already had a city when he took over the territory, if a city is to be developed in any lord's territory, it often takes the efforts of several generations, because the establishment of a city basically represents This territory already has a complete and standardized order, as well as its own economic center, cultural center, power center, and so on.

And Pandaling, as the area that was most affected by the war during the war between the Principality of Ryan and the Kingdom of Darbion, Norain knew very well that it was impossible to have a city in Pandaling, and even in his opinion, he wanted to fight in this area of war. It is extremely difficult to establish an economic system of your own in the burned territory, let alone develop an economic core. But in fact, Pandaling now has more than one economic center, and even two other centers have been established. If at this time he still doesn't see that Sean has much more abilities than him, then he is not the Sharon family. The earl of birth.

Looking at this city now known as the Void City, Nolane silently calculated all the data of this city.

Through these data, Nolane can clearly judge the scale of the city, and once he is informed of the scale, he can correspondingly infer what kind of gains the existence of this city can bring to Sean. beneficial.

However, before Nolane took a closer look, his pupils suddenly shrank.

The earth began to roar.

A cavalry team wearing red seized light armor is rushing towards them from the front. The opponent's speed is very fast. This is simply the charging speed of the cavalry when they attack, the billowing smoke and the roaring horseshoes. , All made everyone feel a palpitation.

"Enemy attack!" Suddenly someone screamed.

Listening to the voice, Nolan recognized that this was one of the viscounts who had spoken to him before.

His loud scream quickly made the entire long dragon team begin to deform. But this kind of deformation is not going in a good direction. Listening to the messy and rushing footsteps and all kinds of ding-dong sounds, Nolane can even tell that the formation is completely chaotic without looking back. sound.

On the battlefield, the formation is chaotic, which often represents the coming of massacre.

But Nolane's gaze swept towards the banner held by the cavalry team that was rushing forward. The pattern drawn on that banner was exactly the same as the banner pattern raised in the Void City at this moment. This also means that the cavalry team in front of him, with a size of about sixty or so people, is the private soldier of the baron, and even though Nolane doesn't want to admit it, he still has to admit that this cavalry team is here to welcome him. Their team, of course, is also giving them a good start.

The distance between the two sides is getting closer.

With the eyesight of Nourion, he could even see the sarcasm in the eyes of the leading cavalry opposite.

Ugh.

He sighed slightly in his heart, and then raised his right hand. A group of soldiers in black armor who were slightly inclined to move with the chaotic sao, saw Nolane's movements, but they were calm on the contrary. After coming down, there was no more movement.

This change is very rapid, it looks like a black stone is thrown into the boiling water, no matter how boiling the surrounding water, it will not affect any change of this stone.

Then, Nolane saw a flash of surprise in the eyes of the opponent's leading cavalry.

Although it was short, it really expressed the surprise of the owner of this eye. Of course, what was quickly replaced was that the other party had a little more respect in the eyes of Nolane, which came from the respect of the soldiers.

It's just that after reading this meaning, Nolane's mood is even heavier.

Any lord dreams of training his private army into a force like the national army that can truly order and prohibit. But in fact, only a very small part of it is truly successful. Like in the Principality of Lane, there are no more than five lords who really have private soldiers that can be called an army. Two of them are members of the Evans family, even if it is his private soldier under Nolan Sharon. The army is far from reaching the level that can be called an army.

As the distance between the two sides gets closer, and when there are almost less than ten meters left, the chaos caused by the combined army of the six nobles becomes more obvious.

At this time, no one has ever thought that the other party has fewer than seventy people.

Of course, even Nolan's brows have been slightly frowned, because the distance between the two parties is too close.

However, just as Nolan was hesitant to change his gesture, the cavalry leading the opponent suddenly raised the spear in his hand.

I saw the horseman holding the crimson spear in his right hand high, pulling the rein of the horse in his left hand, and suddenly mentioning it. The man who neighed the horse under the crotch stood up, although the horse was still moving forward because of the habit of xing and rushing. It took a few steps, but at least it stopped the charge.

Immediately afterwards, the most visually impactful side was completely presented in front of the coalition forces in front of them.

Along with the movements of the lead rider, the more than sixty cavalry behind him also made a sudden emergency stop: neat and unified rein movements, neat and unified horses neighing and people standing up, although after the emergency stop There was a little chaos and incompleteness in the formation, but when the charge aura brought by extreme movement changed to a murderous aura brought by extreme silence, no one would be shocked.

Especially when compared with the more than sixty people on the other side, the coalition forces are simply a laughing stock.

In an instant, the audience was silent.

However, this awkward silence was quickly broken. The leading rider put the spear in his right hand on the saddle and then took off the helmet.

Under the full-face helmet, it is the face of a female xing!

"Are you the nobles who came to the southern theater to support Lord Shaun this time?" the female rider said.

Noline nodded slightly, and at the same time began to secretly look at the young woman in front of her. However, when he turned his fighting spirit into motion and tried to judge the strength of the young woman in front of him by the feeling of fighting spirit, he felt a sudden tingling in his eyes, and such an overwhelming reaction even shocked Nolane's heart.

This means that the strength of the two sides differs by at least one order!

Nolane, as one of the next generation successors that the Sharon family emphatically cultivates, he has always been proud of being a golden powerhouse when he is less than 30 years old, and now it is only half a step before he can break through to the upper level of gold. His strength is much stronger than Kiasna's talent in cultivation. However, this woman who is younger than her own no matter how you look at it, is actually a powerhouse of the upper gold pinnacle, and it can even be said that half of her foot has stepped into the realm of the sanctuary. This result naturally makes Nolane unbelievable.

Even the golden powerhouse, there are not many in the Principality of Lane, let alone the powerhouse near the sanctuary!

"Underneath is Rina." The moment Rina showed her grudge and observed herself, she had already felt Noraine's actions, so at this time she looked at Noraine more or less. Gloriously, "According to Lord Shaun's order, lead the Scarlet Knights to * the adults into the city. As for the adults' troops, they can only camp outside the city temporarily."

Knights!

Hearing Rina's words, everyone's faces changed this time, and the gazes in the bright red light armor behind Rina also changed.

There is enthusiasm, jealousy, and suspicion.

As we all know, the establishment of a knight order is not so easy. Although it is very difficult to cultivate a knight order, as long as they are willing to spend money, even the Principality of Ryan can create a knight order of a thousand people. But all this is just the beginning. The real difficulty in developing a knight order lies in the subsequent training costs, and the resources needed to improve the combat effectiveness of the knight order will often be ten million times that of creating a knight. The initial funding of the mission.

And if there is such a sum of money, let alone Jing Rui troops, even an ace troop might be able to train one.

Be aware that even if it is the kingdom of Darbion, their rival of the Principality of Ryan, there is only one Knight Order.

And that knight group only has three hundred people.

Although the knight group in front of us only has more than 60 members, but if this is really a knight group, I am afraid that the combat power of these more than 60 members is at least equivalent to a standard powerful combat unit of the same level.

But more importantly, nowadays, there is no lord in the Principality of Lane owning the Knights. So in other words, if there is a conflict between a nobleman or lord in the Principality of Lane and Sean in the future, if you want to use force against him, then you must carefully weigh whether you have enough troops to solve or contain this team. The movement of the Knights.

Norrain couldn't help but look at the young woman who called herself Rena again.

A high-ranking golden pinnacle or even a half-step sanctuary strong, a knight group, with the background of fortification, plus almost arguably talented military talent.

Although Nolane didn't want to admit it, but at this moment he can only admit that the strength and foundation of this lord named Sean Connery has far exceeded his imagination, let alone surpassed him. Even if it is to catch up, I am afraid that he will need his life's jing power. In the same way, he also understood why a war madman like Asuna would be willing to stand up to Sean's opinion, without controlling him at all, because a fierce man like Sean could not accept any control at all.

Of course, what he has to admit even more is that Shaun gave them these aristocrats to disarm them at this time, which is indeed very effective.

Chapter 375: .Don't be humiliated by yourself

In the spacious conference room, six people were already seated, and another six people were standing around.

These six people are the six nobles from the Principality of Lane.

It was just different from what the other viscounts and barons had imagined. After entering this conference room, the only one of the six of them, Earl Norian Sharon, with the highest title and strength, did not sit in the conference room. The main seat on the right side of the table is the left-handed chief who sits on the left main seat, which is the position of the back window.

Long conference table usually has two themes, located on the left and right. As for the meetings and exchanges between the two sides like this, the representative with the highest status as the supporter can sit on the right side of this long table, while the others who come with it are sitting on the left hand side of the right side. It's on the back against the wall. But at the moment Nolane sits in a different position from common sense. His current position is equivalent to placing his identity under Sean, which means that he is Sean's subordinate and not equal to Sean. Representative.

This almost counterintuitive reaction by Nolane naturally caused the other five people to be suspicious, but Nolane was far above them in terms of status, status and strength. Therefore, even if they were not happy, they would not be able to sit on their backs. The position of the wall can only be seated on the left of Nolane in order of identity and status.

This time, Rina found another interesting detail.

In the second seat on the left hand side of Nolane, there was a fat man and a thinner man who wanted to sit down, but after looking at each other for a minute, the fat man chose to give in. It's just that on the fat man's face, Rina can't see any shame or resentment, but a calm face, even with a bit of hidden disdain and sarcasm.

In this process, the other four nobles, including Nolane, only glanced at them and none of them spoke. Obviously, the other viscount and the two barons had a very clear understanding of their status and status.

As for the other six people standing around the conference room, except for Rena, the other five are the guards of these nobles. Among them, the strongest one is already a quasi-strong man with half of his foot in the golden realm. It was Nolane who did not enter with his entourage. However, considering that Nolane is a strong man in the golden realm, his own combat power is certainly not weak, so it is not worth making a fuss about not having an entourage.

Rina just glanced at everyone, silently observed and evaluated the strength of everyone in the room at the moment, and stopped talking, but stood on the side.

For a time, the conference room also fell into a low atmosphere.

Norrain looked around from time to time, but judging from the gods on his face, he seemed to be thinking about something, instead of paying attention to the surrounding situation. However, his ability to hold his breath in this way does not mean that others can also wait so peacefully. Almost five minutes later, the sound of rustling curtains began to sound in this conference room, most of them. Most of them are expressing their dissatisfaction.

"Your lord is really busy with business." Finally, someone couldn't help it.

Rina's eyes swept along the source of the sound, and found that the speaker was the Viscount who was sitting in the second seat of Nolane. He bit the word "busy" so hard that anyone could hear it. There was a lot of disdain and ridicule in his words.

"Lord Lord is indeed busy with business. Before you arrive, Lord Lord is dealing with a very important matter.

"Rina replied neither humble nor humble, her face still kept a quiet smile, in fact, if Sean hadn't specifically explained that she had to keep smiling as much as possible in the face of these nobles, she would not do this kind of surface. Kung Fu, no! The gun smashed all these guys to death, and Rina was enough to save face.

Rena is completely born with the loathing of nobles.

"Huh, busy with business." The thin viscount was already too lazy to behave, and the dissatisfaction and mockery on his face became more obvious. "What is more important than meeting us? But it's just a baron."

"Please pay attention to your tone, Lord Viscount." The quiet smile on Rena's face has already disappeared, replaced by an equally undisguised disgust and indifference. "In terms of current identity, Lord Lord is Southern The handsome president of the war zone, your Excellency may indeed be higher than the Lord Lord in terms of noble title, but your current status is not as high as Lord Lord, so you had better pay attention to it, otherwise I have the right to throw you out of here."

"Throw it out?" The face of the viscount suddenly became very difficult to look at. He suddenly patted the table and stood up, pointing at Rina and yelling, "What are you? Even your lord is here. Don't dare to speak to me like that! You actually said you want to throw me out? Irwin! Throw this * out of here for me!"

The middle-aged man standing behind the viscount suddenly showed a grin on his face. He squeezed his hands and started to walk towards Rina.

Rena had already observed before, this middle-aged man was the strongest among those noble entourages, and he was already half-footed into the golden realm. Although the number of powerhouses in the Principality of Ryan is not small, it is not too much. At least it is impossible to be like those empires or big kingdoms. Even the children of ordinary nobles will have strong-level followers around them, so it is like this. Those who have the quasi-strong level are the targets for the nobles' children to scramble for employment.

Generally speaking, a mere viscount can afford to hire such a quasi-strong person as an entourage, which is enough to prove that the family of the viscount should not be simple.

At this moment, Rena suddenly understood why the fat viscount would choose to give in. Obviously, the fat viscount should have developed well in his own strength and background, but his family strength is not as strong as this thin nobleman, so he has strong disdain and sarcasm in his eyes after choosing to retreat.

"I advise you not to humiliate yourself." At this moment, Nolane said suddenly.

The scene suddenly fell into silence for a moment.

However, the thin viscount burst into laughter suddenly: "Haha, Lord Earl is right, but it's just a baron's mere casualty. It's better not to insult yourself! I don't know if it depends on the body. Climbed to the position, do you really think that your lord will stand out for someone like you? Huh, you dare to say that you want to throw me out, but I want to see how you throw it!"

The middle-aged man was a bit stunned when he heard Nolan's words before, but after the viscount's words were uttered, the grin on his face became stronger. But Rina discovered that the earl of Nolane shook his head insignificantly, which made a strange flash in Rina's eyes, because Nolane's behavior clearly showed that the sentence just now was not jingling her. .

It's just that, even if she knew that Norain was not jingling her, Rina's mood at this time was very tangled. If you talk about strength alone, let alone this person, even if you add all of Nolane to take action together, Rina is sure to put them all down by one person, but Rina is no longer the mercenary Rui. Na, her current status determines that her every move represents Sean, so she is worried that if she shoots here, it will affect Sean.

After all, no one in the territory knows that after this war is over, Sean will definitely need to enter the circle of the nobles of the Principality of Ryan. If he makes enemies for Sean here, then he will be against the nobles of the Principality of Ryan in the future. The circle is naturally extremely unfavorable.

Others didn't know what Rena was thinking at this time, but in their opinion, the hesitation and entanglement on Rena's face at this time was a sign of timidity.

"Afraid?" The viscount's face showed an [excited]  se "Hmph, I tell you, even if you wear that armor, you will definitely not be Irvine's opponent. There are some gaps, it's not. Say you can make up for it by wearing a set of light armor."

"This, I admit it." At this moment, the door of the meeting room was suddenly opened, and a young man with black hair suddenly walked in from outside the door.

This person is naturally Sean Connery.

His appearance immediately attracted the attention of all the nobles in the entire room.

However, the expressions on the faces of these nobles are different: there are sarcasm, ridicule, and of course, there is also a look of gloat.

"Rena, you go and change the armor." Sean turned his head to look at Rena, and said softly.

Rina was taken aback first, but soon nodded and turned to leave.

"Hold on!" Seeing that Rina wanted to leave, the viscount suddenly said in a deep voice.

Shaun finally turned his head and looked at the viscount.

"Your entourage has offended me just now. Now that he wants her to leave with such a sentence, it would be too cheap for her?" Seeing Xiao En's gaze, the Viscount looked back without showing any weakness, his face appeared. There was a smile that was not a smile.

"Then what do you want?" Sean asked calmly.

"It's very simple. As long as she is willing to admit her mistake and apologize to me, I can consider forgiving her." The viscount sneered. "Of course, I just think about it. If you really want me to forgive her, then it depends. Behaved, I was in a hurry this time, and it happened to be missing a close-fitting girl."

Personal shi woman means, everyone present understands it.

So they naturally knew very well what the viscount meant by saying this on this occasion.

He this is shame in Chi Luoluo's shame!

The most humiliating nobleman in the noble circle for another nobleman is not to defeat the opponent in a duel, but to * away the opponent's love or his fiancée. At this moment, in the eyes of these nobles, Rena is obviously Sean's lover, so this method is naturally the most intuitive humiliation for Sean.

At this moment, Rina's eyes immediately turned red.

"Oh." A sigh sounded in this conference room.

Sean glanced at Nolane suddenly.

Although the sigh just now was only one, it was actually made by two people. The second person besides Sean is naturally Nolane. However, Nolane's sigh is very slight, even if it is slightly off. His most recent emaciated viscount did not hear. If Sean and Rena were not strong enough, they would not have heard either.

"I wanted to save you some face." Sean took his gaze away from Nolane's face and turned to the viscount. His voice has become much colder. "Since you don't need it, then I don't need it. I'm polite with you." While saying this, Xiao En also turned his head to look at the middle-aged man, and said, "Are you sure you want to shoot her?"

"Why? Reluctant?"

"Haha." Sean smiled slightly, "Rina, whatever you like."

A white light burst out.

Only a roar was heard, and there was already a roar of broken stones and glass in the conference room.

In the eyes of everyone's astonishment, Rina stood in the same position where the middle-aged man stood before. As for the middle-aged man, she was nowhere to be seen at this moment. The only thing that can be guessed is the hole left by the broken windows and walls in the conference room.

"So I said, don't take humiliation."

formed a clear mocking contrast with the suddenly pale  se, which was the words Nolane finally sighed.

Chapter 376: . Regarding meetings, I have special skills

In the meeting room, plunged into a silent atmosphere.

Rina, standing on the spot like a  of war, the awe-inspiring aura exuding from her body clearly shows that her strength is far beyond everyone's imagination.

In fact, even if Rena did not continue to exude this cold suffocation, there would never be anyone stupid enough to continue to provoke her. This is not only because of Noraine's "inflict shame" just now, but the more important issue is that everyone hasn't seen how Rena shot, but the quasi-powerful man who is second only to Noraine's strength It has been abolished, and the meaning of it is already very obvious.

Sean stretched out his hand and patted Rina's shoulder gently.

The latter condensed his momentum, then stepped aside and stood behind Xiao En, but the distance was not kept too far.

Half body position difference.

Norrain and the other nobles' eyes flashed a hint of surprise, because they all knew that this distance gap meant surrender. And in this world where the power is respected, let alone the major empires, even the Principality of Lane, it is not easy to get a quasi-powerful person to be willing to surrender, let alone just like Rena. Within half a step, you can become a true powerhouse in the sanctuary.

Xiao En took his seat calmly, did not look at the surprise on the faces of the other nobles, but looked at the standing Viscount, and said softly: "Then, the Viscount who doesn't know what his name is, you are now Should I sit down and continue our meeting, or should I let someone throw you out of here?"

"Throw...throw it out!?" The viscount opened his eyes wide and looked at Xiao En with an incredulous expression, "Do you know who I am!"

"Who are you?" Sean raised his eyebrows.

"Huh, I'm..."

"Okay, needless to say." Sean interrupted him with an impatient wave of his hand, "Rena, throw him down to me....If you don't die, he will be fatal."

Hearing what Shaun said, everyone was immediately shocked.

Rena walked towards the viscount without expression, and everyone immediately understood that Sean was not joking when she said this. Almost every nobleman looked at Sean as if he was looking at a barbarian, because Sean's approach was too rude, and such a rude counterattack was no different from officially declaring war. NS.

The reason why I said almost, it was because there was another person present who did not reveal this kind of god.

Noline Sharon.

This Count Xueyehua kept quiet to a certain extent from beginning to end, and did not show his noble status, nor did he move out of his family background. He seemed to be the one with the lowest rank and status in this room. . However, it was precisely because of Noline's silence that the other nobles did not speak at this time, which more or less relieved some pressure and problems for Sean.

"Don't come here, I'll tell you!" Seeing that no one was speaking for himself, the face of the viscount became a little panicked. He stretched out his hand towards Rina, but because of the excessive movement, this finger was almost poked. Rena's face.

A crisp fracture sounded in this conference room.

Immediately afterwards, it was the scream that the viscount suddenly uttered.

Everyone looked at the right hand that was completely deformed by Rina's "lightly" block with a stunned look. Not to mention the nobles who had almost no personal strength, even the entourage brought by those nobles, their foreheads also flowed out of beads. Big beads of sweat. Then the next moment, what they saw was that Rena stretched out her hand to directly grab the collar of the viscount, waved her hand and threw it towards the hole that had been smashed.

A few nobles immediately stood up in shock, you know, this is the fourth floor!

Over twelve meters in height!

The screams of screams from high to low make everyone sound like a horror.

Two seconds later, the sound of a heavy object falling on the ground sounded again, but the sound sounded a little more hollow and accurate.

"He can't die." Looking at the four nobles who still had amazement on their faces, Xiao En said calmly. After all, so high, there will always be some injuries."

Looking at Sean's calm tone as if he was talking about what he had for dinner, the four nobles couldn't help but feel a chill in their hearts.

"Your approach, I don't think it is desirable."

Finally, Nolane, who had been silent for a long time, spoke: "He is also a Viscount anyway, and you have achieved your goal by hurting his guard. By doing this, you are hitting his family in the face, so In the first place, even the family behind him wants to stay out of the matter."

"Is his family great?" Sean stretched out a hand to prop his cheek, tilted his head and smiled.

"In the history of the Principality of Lane, the Sabo family has produced two marquis and seven earls. In the strongest period, there were even ten strong men who were at the top of the golden peak." Nolane said softly, "This family used to interact with the Evans family. They are also called Ryan's shield and sword. Even if the Shab family is not as strong as it was then, but at least the foundation is still there, so there are still many people in the Ryan Principality who are willing to sell this family for a bit."

"It sounds like it's still amazing." Sean smiled, "What about your family?"

"It depends on the price." Nolan smiled, and at the same time stretched out his hand, "Nolan Sharon, Earl Xueyehua."

"Sean Connery, Baron Panda." Shaun smiled and shook Nolane.

"So I still think what you did just now is very unwise." Nolane said softly, "This will erect a lot of enemies out of thin air for you."

On the two words "a lot", Nolane emphasized his tone.

"I think you should be clear." Sean shrugged. "After this battle is over, whether I like it or not, I will have to face a lot of sudden enemies. I can say that I have no choice in this matter. If that's the case, why can't my enemy be chosen by myself?... I was worried about his lack of status before, but now it seems that I don't need to worry about it."

Hearing Shaun's words like this, the faces of the other four nobles immediately turned pale.

Since Sean dared to say these things in front of them, it meant that he did not put all four of them in his eyes. And in fact, apart from the fat Viscount Harder, the other three people, no matter their own strength or family background, did not even have the qualifications to enter the eyes of the Sabre family.

"You are more aggressive than I thought." Nolan smiled.

"In the future, you will find that I am far more aggressive than you can imagine." Xiao En smiled back, "but there is one thing you said wrong."

"What's up?"

"I don't count as making enemies if I throw it down." Xiao En smiled slightly, "Rena, how long will it take you to get the viscount and the army he brought back?"

"It depends on the degree of casualties you allow, adult." Rena said calmly.

"The Scarlet Knights, the Void City Defense Army, and the Jet Black Wings are all under your command."

Sean's words are no different from whatever it takes.

"Within an hour." Rina said in a deep voice, and after a salute, she turned and left the meeting room.

"Now, this is the real way to go by the rules." A faint smile appeared on Xiao En's face.

"I must admit." Nolane retracted his surprised gaze, and nodded in convincing, "You are indeed more aggressive than I can imagine."

"So, can we discuss something about the Southern Theater?"

"Of course." There was no need for Nolane to speak this time, and the other nobles nodded one after another.

Because of Sean's ability to demonstrate deliberately before, the next meeting naturally went smoothly. Originally, a commander like Sean, with their noble coalition forces with background and foundation, the most common way is to ignore all the orders of the commander Sean, and detain military supplies, but I have seen Xiao Well, after such a completely irregular approach, no one would dare to use these little tricks.

Even even if Sean had to obey the command of a person without a title in the task assigned to them, these people did not dare to say anything. Of course, at least on the surface they dare not say anything. As for whether there will be any extra actions in the dark, no one can guarantee this at this moment.

Just as the meeting came to an end, the door of the meeting room was knocked suddenly.

Sean estimated the time, which was about the same as he expected, so he said, "Come in."

Soon, the door of the room opened, and three people walked in from outside.

The leader is Florence, followed by Dante and Mensor.

For Florence, Nolane knows and knows him far better than Sean. After all, this is a young master from the family of the Duke of Wiles in the fascist kingdom, so it is normal that there will be strong people around him to follow this. It's just that Nolane didn't expect that he would meet this pioneering knight who is now subordinate to Asuna and who will surely have a place in the high-ranking noble of the Principality of Lane in the future.

Thinking of this, Nolane couldn't help but look at Sean.

He can already guess something vaguely.

Sure enough, he quickly got confirmation from Sean's words: "As for the Overseer, Sir Florence and Mr. Mensor will be in charge, and they will go to Panda Town with you."

Warlord, this is a very important duty, and its scope of power is larger than that of a general commander. Under normal circumstances, the commander-in-chief of a main battlefield is held by the commander's most trusted confidant, and this is also one of the main ways for the lower aristocrats to open up the channels of the upper aristocrats in aristocratic wars.

"So, are there any questions next?" Sean asked again.

Everyone shook their heads, so Sean announced the dissolution of the meeting.

"This meeting is a bit short." Florence said with a smile.

Normally, a joint meeting like this type of coalition's arrival in support will never end without a few hours of wrangling. But Sean's meeting ended without even fifteen minutes. From this point of view, Florence said that the meeting was a bit short and very practical.

"I have special skills about meetings." Xiao En laughed, "Okay, let's not talk about it, but I am worried that those guys will be dishonest."

"Then what do you want me to do?"

"On this, shouldn't you know better than me?" Sean shrugged, his face was indifferent, "Just kill a thousand people, those guys must be honest. I believe you can't do this? "

"Then what should they do when they mutiny?"

"Are you afraid of so many powerful people around you?" Xiao En chuckled lightly, with a relaxed expression on his face, "Anyway, this matter is left to you, and you must suppress it anyway, even if you take those nobles It doesn't matter if you kill someone completely. Anyway, there is no undead in war."

"I see." Florence nodded, "But I'm curious, what do you want Dante to do?"

"Do a big thing." Sean smiled mysteriously, "As long as this thing is done, let alone a Tin Chiin collar, even if it is the territory of the Howard family or the Nugus family, you can choose it at your discretion."

"This plan sounds good." Florence smiled, "Then you are a big deal, I won't ask what it is."

Just then, Rina suddenly walked in.

Sean glanced at him, a little surprised: "The speed is a bit faster."

"The opponent has only two thousand people. We didn't even have a confrontation, so the opponent chose to leave." Rina said in a deep voice, but there was strong dissatisfaction in her tone, "Lord Lord, they are here."

Hearing Rina's words, Sean nodded slightly to indicate that he knew, then turned his head and said to Florence: "If this big event succeeds, you will soon know what it is. Keep it secret for now because you don't want to leak the secret. ...You also prepare for a while and set off with the so-called coalition forces. Dante and I will leave first."

"Go, I wish you a prosperous martial arts."

"So are you."

Chapter 377: .Heerson

Under the guidance of Rena, Sean and Dante left the lord's mansion quickly and walked towards a building that looked like a warehouse.

But when he was on the road, Dante had already discovered that the guarding forces around the streets around the warehouse were obviously a little abnormal. Cloth related cards.

"This place is very important at the moment, and it is the key to our victory in turning the tide of the war." It seems that after seeing the doubt in Dante's eyes, Sean explained, "Of course, this is actually an experiment.... But any one can be done. The emergence of something called an epoch-making product must be accompanied by countless experiments. We are the little guinea pigs of this world's historical evolution."

"White Mouse?" Dante was a little puzzled.

"Oh, it's the creature that magicians often use in experiments." Xiao En forgets that there are no experimental creatures like guinea pigs in this world, so he said something casually.

"Then this creature must be very powerful and terrifying." Dante said with a sigh. Although he doesn't know what a white mouse is, as long as it involves a magician's living magic experiment, none of its test subjects is The docile ones are usually all kinds of terrible beasts.

"Almost." Sean said shamelessly.

"Lord Sean is really knowledgeable." Looking at Sean's expression, Dante thought that Sean was humble, so he praised him very sincerely.

In the young knight, the eight great jing gods of the knight are simply deduced incisively and vividly.

In this way, it actually made Sean even more embarrassed. Even if he did not say anything wrong, it is really difficult to have anything to do with him. Of course, outsiders will not have anything to do with him. Just understand.

So in a very subtle atmosphere. Dante, Sean, and Rina quickly crossed the defense lines and came to this warehouse.

Standing outside the warehouse door, you can hear a continuous burst of extremely subtle sounds, but the sound sources of these sounds are very mixed, obviously not from a fixed sound source, but from multiple sources. A completely different source of sound came out.

Rina knocked gently on the door.

Soon, the side door of the warehouse door was opened, and a roaring explosion sounded from the warehouse. The deafening noise instantly wrinkled the two high-ranking golden peak experts except Sean. Frowned. Obviously, this kind of noise interference has been able to essentially affect the hearing of these two people. On the contrary, Sean, who was not as strong as the two, was not affected much.

Shaun walked into the warehouse first, followed by Dante and Rena.

When the side door of the warehouse was closed, the entire interior of the warehouse immediately lit up with golden light. These golden rays of light surround the inner walls, domes and ground of the entire warehouse, intertwined intricately, looking like a huge and dense magic array. As for what the function of the magic circle is for, the people present don't even need to think about it. It's clear at a glance just by looking at it.

A large silent magic circle!

And it is this large magic circle. Only then completely separated the inside and outside of the warehouse into two completely different worlds.

The interior of the warehouse has obviously undergone transformation and reorganization. The shelves that should have been lined up have all been emptied. At this time, a group of sturdy workers with their upper bodies are busy here. Workers like this are usually more common in seaport cities, but they can also be seen in cities where trade is frequent, and cities like Void City where trade has completely ceased. It is really not easy to find such a porter, and it is thanks to Sean that he can find nearly a hundred.

As these workers pile up the metal components that have been made and formed on the ground, there will be wisdom temple scholars wearing white scholar robes holding the design drawings to make minor adjustments in the local area, and once they see their nodding. There will be a magician stepping forward to link and connect these components by magic, and once such work is completed, the more complete parts of the metal components that have been connected will glow with the brilliance of light gold.

Dante even saw a huge peculiar machine in operation: it continuously cut some metals, and then cut them into pieces of different shapes. Every time a piece of construction is cut out, someone will immediately remove these components. The magician who has been waiting for a long time will step forward to inject the magic, and then hand it over to some dwarves who seem to be blacksmiths for the final Processes such as grinding and polishing.

The huge noise that everyone heard before comes from these.

This warehouse looks like a secret arsenal. It's no wonder that such a loud noise needs a large silent magic circle as a shelter, otherwise, I'm afraid it can be heard standing outside the void city.

"This is..." Dante said with a look of surprise.

"The first type of teleportation array." A middle-aged man in a silver-patterned white robe calmly walked towards Sean and the others. After hearing Dante's words, he replied with a smile, "This is still The name given by Your Excellency Sean."

"Isn't my name supposed to be the No. 1 machine?" Xiao En asked back.

"The first number of the teleportation array, this name feels awkward no matter how you hear it, so I changed it to the first type." The middle-aged man with a silver hair smiled, "but the name of the teleportation array is indeed your name. I have to say, the name is indeed much smoother than what a group of old guys think."

Shaun smiled.

Coming from the future, he is naturally very clear that the official name of the teleportation array in the game was very long, so long that all players were too lazy to remember it, so naturally he called it a teleportation array in private.

A apt and fluent name.

As for the "first type" right now, Sean uses his toes to think and know that this is probably the second-generation magic technology product developed from the prototype.

"Hello, I'm Jeles Cassien." The silver-haired middle-aged man smiled and said his name. He didn't say anything other than that, but he was even standing in the upper position. It is already the best self-expression to be able to talk and laugh freely in front of the golden peak powerhouse.

"Hello, I am....."

"I know you." Jeles smiled, "Silver Flame Falcon Knight Dante. I heard that you were a lone traveler before."

"Yes, before Master Florence rescued me."

Jeles is not really interested in Dante's past or anything else. He is only interested in the teleportation array currently being assembled. So after hearing Dante's words, Jelles turned his head and looked at Sean again, and said, "Paqiuli is ready. As long as we are assembled here, we can start teleporting immediately, but you're sure Do you want to participate in person?"

Sean knew that an experiment like this would definitely be accompanied by a certain degree of sacrifice. The popularization of the original teleportation array should be in a later era, at least not what it should appear at the moment. It is only because of his appearance that the evolution of the magic technology is advanced, and naturally it will lead to the early appearance of the teleportation array. However, although this epoch-making technological product appeared ahead of schedule, any technology or magic was born in the magical world. It is bound to be accompanied by a certain degree of "sacrifice", only truly safe and feasible cao work. Will be officially popularized on the mainland.

at the moment. The Teleportation Array is only an epoch-making magical technology product led by Heerson, and its number of experiments is very small, at least as far as Shaun knows, no live human testing has been carried out yet. So it can be said that this time transmission is actually a very risk of death, and this is the reason William tried his best to oppose it before.

Sean didn't know that the teleportation array was actually successfully tested in the first few experiments, but he didn't have time to wait. So he can only bet.

Betting that his luck is as good as always, betting that the lucky necklace previously obtained in the Wildlands can really bring him good luck.

Because only this action is successful, he can completely end the war in the southern theater in a short time, otherwise the war will be prolonged for a very long time. Although the final victory will still belong to him. But he couldn't guarantee that Asuna and the others could last that long in the Southeast Theater.

"Well, I'm sure." Xiao En nodded, "There are two reasons. The first is that I really don't have a choice. I must fight this war quickly. The second is that the development of history must be Need to accompany the victim, if possible, I would be happy to be this victim."

Seeing Shaun's attitude so determined, Jelles also nodded, and said nothing.

After all, he was a scientific researcher from the Heerson Institute, so he was very indifferent to this attitude of choosing to sacrifice for the sake of experimentation, so when Sean strengthened his conviction, he certainly would not speak to dissuade him. It's just that if Sean really had an accident this time, he would certainly feel sorry afterwards. After all, Sean's existence value is very high in the eyes of him and his mentor Bonnie.

It is precisely because of this that Bonnie will give Sean a little support for his decision to reject all opinions.

Even if this kind of support will evolve into a kind of...

Cheating.

Because many important and well-known components of the teleportation array had been made before arriving here, when Xiao En and others arrived here, they heard the news that the teleportation array had been set up and could be started at any time without waiting long.

"About some principles of the teleportation array, I must tell you." Seeing that Sean and the others have made preparations, Jeles once again said, "At present, although our deciphering of the design drawing is fairly smooth, But many places are actually quite vague, at least as far as the current situation is concerned, only living people can be transmitted, and other things cannot be transmitted."

"So what about metal things?"

"Strictly speaking, only creatures with vital characteristics can teleport." Jeles said, "If anything else is teleported, it will eventually disappear. And on this point, I have also communicated with Pachuli and others. The person in charge of this project has discussed it. There are currently two theories. The first is that such items cannot be accurately positioned and transmitted through the guidance of magic, so they are all lost in the void; the other is...being... It's broken down."

"No matter which one of these two answers, it's really hard to like." Sean frowned slightly.

Because if according to Jeles said, Rina's luxurious equipment cannot be brought over, and the same Dante can't use his enchanted spear. This is both powerful for the two knights. Give a discount.

Although Sean knew that this teleportation formation was completely different from the one in the game in his mind-at least the teleportation formation in the game was not as big as the one in front of him, and he never lost the player's equipment when teleporting. . If the only thing to say is the same, it is probably that the transmission fee is also very expensive.

"At present, our technology on transmission is not very mature, but the only advantage is that it is relatively stable."

"compare.....?"

"Yes." Yeles said with an expression that looked like an academic researcher, and said very seriously. The technology really needs to be much more mature. The specific method is to cut an area of the void, and then use magic to maintain the stability of the void, prevent the interference and destruction of the turbulent flow of the void, and finally put it on the known coordinates."

"Okay." Xiao En sighed helplessly, "Then are you sure that we won't lose a certain part of our body after we put it over now?"

"With the current technology, we can already maintain the space area at a height of two meters and a radius of three meters, so it's okay to send four or five people." Jeles thought about it seriously, and then said.

Of course, if he did not add the last sentence, then Sean would still be more happy.

Because, the last thing he added was

Chapter 378: .Beheading Tactics in the New Era

...

In the last few days, Hela has always felt a little upset.

The source of this kind of restlessness, even she herself didn't know what was going on. Because even if the general situation that was almost a foregone conclusion was cracked by Sean, she did not have the illusion of heart palpitations like now, so the restlessness in the past few days made her feel a little irritable.

It's just that Hela knows very well that as a good commander, the most important thing is to guard against arrogance and rashness, so even if she feels a bit crazy, she still must remain calm.

Or rather, try to stay calm.

Several small documents came from Sigrid, and then Hela hurriedly glanced at it and asked Sigrid to take it away after signing the name.

But when Sigrid was about to leave, Hela suddenly shouted: "Wait."

Sigley stopped and looked at Hela with a puzzled look.

"Bring me the last document." Hela frowned slightly. She didn't look at these documents when signing the signature. She just glanced at them, but at this moment, she suddenly remembered what was on the last document. The situation description seems a bit strange.

After hearing Hela's words, Sigrid couldn't help showing a sense of surprise in her eyes. Because in her impression, Hela is not like such a careless person, she does everything by herself, especially in the review and review of these intelligence documents, she will pay a high degree of concentration, almost just read it again. She can remember everything, and even deduce a rough outline of the strategic situation based on this.

But in fact, Hela not only lost her mind, but even the contents of the file were hardly looked at carefully.

It's just that although Sigli was surprised by this, she still walked back soon and pulled out the last document and put it in front of Hela.

Hai stretched his hand to open the file, and finally found what he wanted after flipping a few pages. Then her brows frowned.

"Yedby's defense has been broken three times in a row?" Hela's voice couldn't help but become a little higher, "Why did you wait until today for such an important thing?"

Sigley's heart flicked. When this information was passed on, she knew it must be bad. Because in Hela's plan, the strategic importance of Yederby's leadership is extremely high. Even if the garrison led by Tingqi is annihilated, none of the two sides currently occupy Tingqi, so just stabilize the current situation. Later, after the tequila collar has stabilized. They can still regain a strategic advantage, but only if Yedbyling is still in their control.

This is also the reason why Sigrid knew it was going to be bad when she saw this information.

Of course, when Hela was neglected in the first place because of Hela's absent-mindedness, Sigrid did feel a little relieved at that time.

"Because at the beginning, I only noticed that there was a little movement on Pandaling. According to the investigation by the scouts, it was only about 20,000 people. So..."

"So you didn't take it to heart?" Hela sighed in a deep voice, "The fall of the Mountain Lion Corps is an obvious jingle. Why don't those fools have learned to be smart? Since the other party dared to send 20,000 troops Attack. This is enough to prove that the combat effectiveness of these two units is definitely stronger than those idiots think!...How long has the war broke out?"

"Three days." Sigrid replied in a low voice.

"Three lines of defense were broken by the opponent in three days!?" Hela stood up all at once, because she was a little irritable, she couldn't sit still at this moment, "The two opposing troops inquired out. Which two are they?"

"One is steel wings, the other..." Sigrid hesitated.

"Say!"

"Many people in the Fourth Army recognized their identities."

Hearing this, Hela's mind instantly blew. Obviously the circumstances of this incident were a bit beyond his expectation: "You mean... this other army is composed of the descendants of the Fourth Army? And the scale is still about 10,000 people?"

"Yes." Sigley nodded.

"Can Yedby still be able to stop the collar?" Hela frowned, and at the same time she walked to the sand table map on the other side and began to study carefully.

"It's a bit difficult." Sigley knew that Hela had begun to be serious, so she replied with a serious face. "The situation in Yadby is not suitable for defense. The terrain of the territory is relatively open and flat, with very few dangerous grounds. It is actually the most suitable terrain for cavalry operations, but because of the destruction of the Second Cavalry Regiment, we have no choice in the battlefield situation. Choosing to stick to it, you can only resist hard in almost every battle..."

"If this is the case, then the other party's loss should also be very heavy."

"In theory, it should be the case, but in reality... we currently suspect that the enemy should be reinforced by wizards, because the strength of the two sides is very different in terms of combat levels." Sigley said in a deep voice, "The first two lines of defense The defeat may be attributed to contempt, but the third defeat cannot simply be regarded as contempt, because Earl Bervey has already attached great importance to the opponent and even dispatched the Fourth Army. However, we are still weak in the head-on confrontation, and There are obviously mana fluctuations on the enemy's body, which has a tremendous increase in combat effectiveness. This is the reason for the third defeat in the confrontation."

"So what is Bervey's opinion?"

"Request to dispatch the wizard group."

"I agree." Hela nodded, and said in a deep voice, "Let the Berbish leader immediately send a corps to * him and pass by the Grey Shadow Forest in secret.... As for the Berbish leader and the Chiraff leader, Over there, let them hold on for the time being. Pandaling's troops in this direction obviously want to contain our combat power, and we must not let the other party discover the force transfer on our side."

"Yes."

"Also." Hela thought for a while, and then said, "Let the Howard family speed up the steps. If there is no way to expand the results within half a month, you must immediately give up the offensive and return to reinforcements. I estimate that it will be more than halfway through. In about a month or so, the coalition forces of the Marquis of Tonis and the Boulder family should enter the agave collar. With their menacing situation, I am afraid that the first few units encountered with them will all be broken. "

"I see, my lord." Sigrid nodded and saluted, then turned and left.

Wait until Sigrid leaves. Hela finally rubbed her eyebrows. At this moment, she suddenly felt a little tired, and her inner anxiety became more obvious. Intuition told her that she had overlooked something, but she couldn't think of it all the time. The feeling that this important thing was forgotten made her feel very uncomfortable, because she hadn't encountered such a situation for a long time.

At this moment, Hela knew that she was an opponent this time.

And this opponent is definitely not the person named Sean Connery, but the person she didn't deliberately value before.

William Yale.

The man who currently serves as the military president of Pandaren, caught her off guard with a series of fast-paced sports battles. This forced her to have no more time to think and speculate carefully, so she could only choose the best combat method at the moment to deal with it. After all, if you want to deal with an army with a wizard group, then she must send a wizard group, and originally in her plan, the wizard group temporarily rested in Berbice should be attacking the southeast of Pandan to seize the gorge. An important force in the Rift Valley.

But Hela also knows. Now that the current war has officially evolved into a war between the two countries, it is not impossible for Panda to get the support of the Principality of Lane to own a wizard group. So in order to deal with the battlefield situation here. Naturally, she could only send the wizard group over. Otherwise, within a few days, the entire Yedby collar will return to Pandaling's control, and her loss will be even more severe.

Therefore, even if all these changes make Hela feel uncomfortable being led by the nose, she still has no other choice.

is just the inexplicable sense of crisis in my heart, but it has been unable to wave away.

But at this moment, a strong shaking of the mountain suddenly surprised Hela a little unsteady. It fell directly to the ground, and many furnishings in the room even fell to the ground from the place where they were placed one after another. The screams began to ring outside the door, and Hela even heard the crash of something collapsing.

"What's the matter?" A hint of panic flashed in Hela's eyes. The fear in my heart began to be infinitely magnified, "Why is there an earthquake?"

.....

At the same time, in an underground place not too far away from the Nugus family manor, a very strong magic wave burst out.

Even if this crypt has received a dozen protection bonuses, under this powerful magic wave, these protections burst like fragile eggshells, making a series of crisp sounds. Although the magic wave transmitted from here has been weakened by the protective shield, when the force is transmitted to the rock layer, it still caused a very violent crust reaction. A large number of cracks began to spread in the ground, and the sand and rock rose and fell. Turned into choking dust.

Only at this moment can people feel their own smallness and the terrible nature of nature.

Fortunately, this extremely violent wave of magic power did not last long. Although the reaction and reverberation seemed to be too amazing, it only lasted a few seconds. Of course, the earthquake caused by this cannot be just a few seconds. This kind of transmission response is likely to cause violent turbulence for up to one or two minutes. As for the scope of influence, it is impossible to calculate.

In the yellow fog of sand and rocks, there are four black figures walking out slowly.

Someone raised his hand slightly, and suddenly there was wind blowing in this underground environment, blocking the pervading yellow sand, exposing the figure of the four people who were covered.

The four people are naturally Sean, Dante, Rena, and Cecilia.

Originally, Sean didn't plan to let Cecilia follow, but after listening to Jelles's words, he temporarily changed his mind to let Cecilia follow. After all, the transmission of the teleportation array is to cut the void space with powerful magic power to create a stable environment. According to this principle, if there is a magician and maintain the output of the magic power, then the harm of the teleportation can be minimized. .

Facts have proved that Sean's speculation is correct.

After the teleportation array starts to operate, although it seems that the created range is indeed two meters high and three meters in radius, in fact, this stable range will be continuously reduced after entering the void. Therefore, if the teleportation distance is farther, then this created stable area will become smaller, but after adding Cecilia's continuous supply of magic power, at least four people can reach the destination safely and without damage.

Of course, the result of this transmission process is that Cecilia's face is as pale as paper.

"Is she okay?"

Welcome to Sean and others. It is Paqiuli Boulder, who is also born in the Heerson Institute. The magic circle here is arranged by her, but it is obvious that the sound caused by this large magic circle is still a little beyond. Her expectations. As for Cecilia's situation, although Paqiuli didn't understand a little bit of martial arts and magic, as the pioneer of future alchemy, she could see the reason for Cecilia's presence here at a glance.

"Fortunately, just take a rest." Cecilia said, "It's just that the consumption of magic power is a little excessive.... But in the next battle, I may not be able to help much."

"You don't need to worry about this." Paqiuli took over Cecilia's words. "The guards of Nugus Manor have become a little tight recently, so I guessed early on that you might need some more powerful support, so I have prepared two people on my side to assist you."

When she heard Pa Qiuli say this, Xiao En turned his eyes to the two people behind Pa Qiuli.

This is a man and a woman.

The man is about 30 or so years old, although he seems to have a bit of vicissitudes of life. But his face is still relatively young. Of course, these are not what really attracts Sean's attention. But this man has black hair, black eyes and yellow skin like him. These characteristics without exception indicate the identity of this middle-aged man.

A Zenas.

The person who swept the breeze just now was the Zenas.

Because there is no trace of magical fluctuations, one can clearly draw a conclusion: the technique.

Being able to follow the alchemist beside Paqiuli, the strength of this middle-aged man is definitely not simple.

"This is Rosso." Paqiuli reached out to the man, "He is a master of swordsmanship."

"Master of Swordsmanship?" Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, only then did he see the middle-aged man's waist with a black sheath bladed sword.

"The Qingfeng you saw just now is one of the few alchemy techniques I have mastered." The man named Roseau spoke. His voice has a unique calm tone, giving people a feeling of indisputable fame and fortune, "I am actually good at swordsmanship, and the way of fighting is probably similar to that of magic warriors."

Hear this. Sean immediately knew what the occupation of the man in front of him was.

This is a special profession unique to the Zenas Empire that will be very popular in the future: Alchemy Warrior.

The essence of is similar to that of magic warriors and magic knights. They all use martial arts as the main means of combat based on the use of alchemy. However, because of the convenient use of magic arts and the special features that can be stored, the magic warriors have to be more flexible in combat skills, and they belong to the combat profession that combines strength and agility.

"This one is Avril." After a brief introduction to Rosso, Paqiuli stretched out her hand to a girl next to her, "She is the Demon Bowman."

Devil-Breaking Archer!

Sean's eyes showed some surprise again.

This is another special profession, and it is still a relatively high-level one.

To put it simply, the word "devil" is used to deal with magicians. However, the demon-breaking profession is a rank dedicated to warriors. It can be roughly divided into three categories: demon-breaking warrior, demon-breaking assassin, and demon-breaking archer. Demon-breaking fighters are the most common, demon-breaking assassin second, and demon-breaking archers are the rarest.

Because of the "devil-breaking" relationship, this type of profession is actually very good in personal combat ability, so even if the devil-breaker is in melee ability, it will not be inferior to the general melee profession. And the reason why they are called Demon Breakers is actually entirely because people in this profession have incomparable talents in archery skills that other Demon Breakers can't match. Of course, the other two Demon Breakers also have unique talents. ability.

But in any case, the magic warrior and demon archer are very good at speed warfare.

If it is replaced by a long drive straight into the kind of breakthrough layered blockade to execute decapitation tactics, the two of them will naturally not have much effect. But for Sean's plan of cheating to execute decapitation tactics, these two people are undoubtedly a great help.

"This time, thank you anyway." Sean looked at Pa Qiuli and said sincerely.

"I have done so much to help you, there is only one request." Pa Qiuli stared at Sean, and finally said after a long time.

"you say."

"In any case, you must rescue my father." Paqiuli said in a deep voice, "This is my only request."

"I promise you." Sean nodded. "After this battle is over, they will soon realize the terrible tactics of this new era beheading....If you have already implemented it according to my plan before, then don't Say it's your father, I can even guarantee that your entire family will survive intact."

"These things, Jeles and I have already arranged. The successful data collection of this experiment will be of great help to us in the future." Paqiuli said, turning her head to look at Cecilia. At a glance, "Next time, this will definitely not happen.... But this new era of beheading tactics can only be used in this battle. When this war is over, a lot of intelligence will enter others. In his eyes, the teleportation array will soon become popular at that time, so the countermeasures to prevent the teleportation array from carrying out beheading tactics will also appear one after another."

"No need to worry about this." Sean smiled indifferently.

The special tactics developed by players exploiting loopholes are more than teleportation beheading tactics?

Only when the world gets closer to the era when Sean was in the game, can he become stronger.

Now, this new era of beheading tactics is enough to shock all military strategists in the entire Marvel Continent in this war!

Chapter 379: .Assault on Nugus Manor

The temporary location chosen by Paqiuli is very close to the manor of the Nugus family.

I don't know how she found such a place and arranged it, but this is really a perfect place for the beheading operation that Sean is about to implement.

Five silhouettes rushed all the way from the hidden place, and went straight to the manor of the Nugus family.

Roseau is the first to take the lead.

At the beginning of his action, the warrior of magic arts applied a magic technique similar to swiftness to everyone. This was one of the several magic arts he mastered. Of course, it is not called swiftness in magic arts, but "light swiftness". Its effect is to increase the movement speed of the subject. In terms of effect, it is actually similar to swiftness, but compared to swiftness. In terms of light spirit arts, the duration is shorter, but the magic power and Jing divine power required are also lower.

Roseau's speed is extremely fast. He is like a black leopard. With the help of light spirits, those obstacles are almost as if they no longer exist.

or leap slightly, or rewind, the speed has not slowed down at all.

And immediately behind Rosso is Sean.

At the beginning, Sean was still worried about the instability of the teleportation formation, and it was very likely that his strength would also be greatly reduced. After all, the reason why his combat power can be compared with the upper gold powerhouse is entirely because of him. Almost luxurious equipment. However, after he deliberately ran back to Bass and asked some related questions, and the answer was that the storage ring could be used to solve these problems, Sean no longer worried about the problem of declining strength.

Otherwise, even if he sends over to implement the decapitation tactic, it will only be a burden.

So Sean, who was following Rosso at this time, was still the outfit that looked simple on the surface, but was actually luxurious enough to amaze everyone in this world.

As for Dante and Rena, both of them also put on their own equipment at this time.

These two who were born as knights. Perhaps because of the armor on the body, there was no way to go too quickly, but with the support of endurance advantages and the assistance of light spirits, the two people did not fall behind, but were still able to form a triangle formation with Sean to continue advancing.

Avril Lavigne is at the end.

The demon-breaking bowman, if he talks about speed alone, at least he should be a type comparable to Sean, but at this moment, he is at the end, which is obviously deliberate.

Beheading the group of five people, although they are divided into three batches, the speed of the five people is actually not slow at all.

In just a few minutes, they had already jumped over the walls of Nugus Manor and officially entered Nugus Manor.

at this time. Nugus Manor has just stopped the strong shaking of the earthquake, but on the ground you can see ravines about half a meter long. There are also many cracks on the main body of some buildings, and several of them have even collapsed. There are many people around who are helping to rescue them. They may remove the collapsed rubble. Or trying to put out the fire, the whole scene is in chaos.

So came in for a surprise attack by five people including Xiao En. Some of these people didn't even react.

Only a dozen or so guards who were probably considered bad luck suddenly reacted to this earthquake. So one of them immediately turned around and ran away, obviously trying to sound the jing paper in the manor, while the other ten people rushed towards Xiao En and the others without hesitation.

According to intelligence, there are probably nearly a thousand soldiers staying in Nugus Manor at this time.

As for the combat effectiveness of this guard, Xiao En and others are not clear, but there is no doubt that it can be judged. Those who can be valued by the Nugus family and stay here are bound to be true loyal dead men. Therefore, when making this beheading plan, Xiao En and others already understood a little bit, facing these guards. None of them can have the slightest mercy, and must solve these goals as quickly as possible, otherwise their beheading action this time will inevitably be aborted.

This is not to say that Xiao En and others will die here, unless it is a fifth-level or even a sixth-level army, otherwise it will never be able to stop Xiao En and others who want to escape. But if it were just to stop the pace of Sean and the others recklessly, thousands of people could still do it, and this little time was definitely enough for the target person of this operation, Hela Nugus, to escape smoothly.

Once she escapes, it is not impossible to find such a perfect battle plan in the future, but at least it will become more difficult.

A black light flashed in the air.

Immediately afterwards, the guard who turned and ran immediately fell down.

The bright red blood began to flow out slowly under his body, and soon formed a small pool of blood. On the guard's corpse, there was already a fist-sized black hole in its heart, and black flames on the edge were constantly burning, making sizzling noises and bursts of stench.

Avril Lavigne, who stood at the back, slowly retracted her bow without saying aloud, and then immediately began to run, continuing to keep up with the whole team.

The appearance of black light can be clearly captured by everyone present, but apart from Sean and others, these guards were not able to see the specific situation, but even if they didn't look at them, they knew that since the enemy had taken action, there was definitely none. The possibility of leaving alive. Therefore, these guards didn't have any expressions of horror. Everyone's face looked like death. He raised his weapon and rushed towards Rosso.

Rosso's face did not change the slightest, but the movement that was originally a rush suddenly slowed down. I saw that his right hand was already resting on the hilt of the black sheath on the left waist. The momentum changed abruptly.

If the feeling that Rosso gave to people before was just indifferent, then at this moment, he was exuding a kind of awe-inspiring aura that no one would enter.

A chill suddenly appeared.

Rosso pulled out the long sword from the scabbard.

This is a two-sided blade that is different from a normal long sword, but a blade-shaped sword with only one edge.

I saw that this sword was pulled out by Rosso, and at the same time, there was a strong wind blowing out along the trajectory of the sword being pulled out.

The airflow was still in mid-air, and it was faintly visible that the cyclone of Baise began to spin. After half a meter, a small tornado was already extending in the air, and it gradually expanded within everyone's sight. And the speed of rotation is getting faster and faster. Just one meter later, the tornado grew into a small tornado with a diameter of more than two meters and a height of three meters, and the speed was far beyond everyone's imagination.

Among the ten guards, only a few on the left and right sides had time to disperse. The other five or six guards who were too late to disperse were thrown into flight by the tornado on the spot.

The next moment, Rosso just kicked his feet, and the whole person instantly disappeared in place, and then appeared above the heads of the five or six guards.

One horizontal.

One vertical.

is just two simple and sharp swings of the sword, but it can be seen that the almost majestic sword energy surges in the air, like a silver dragon surrounds.

These guards are under the strong sword energy of Rosso. Without the slightest resistance at all, he was directly torn apart by these two sword auras. When Rosso retracted the sword in the posture of a vertical sword and fell, under the strong pressure from above and below, the corpses that fell to the ground from mid-air not only smashed into deep pits and The cobweb-like cracks squeezed even the broken body into a complete deformation. As if all the bones in the body had been smashed into pieces, it became a puddle of mud.

And the tornado was completely beaten up under this pressure.

Rosso's face turned white. Immediately, the rosy returned quickly.

at this time. Sean, Dante, and Rena have also rushed to the scene. The four of them don't need any words or eye contact. Dante and Rena both find the guards on the left and right who have escaped by chance.

In an instant, the shadow of the guns is like a forest, and the blood is like rain.

is just a face-to-face effort, and none of the dozen guards can survive.

at this time. The servants on one side who worked in this manor already looked scared and panicked, and several of them turned around and ran away.

"There is no time to waste." Sean stretched out his hand to stop Rosso, who turned around and was about to kill again, and said in a deep voice, "I've studied it before. We must rush to control Hela before he arrives at the Grand Front Garden, otherwise. Let her run and we will probably never catch her again."

Roseau did not say anything, but nodded in agreement.

He was the person Paqiuli found. As mentioned before, Sean will be solely responsible for the actions this time, so Sean's words are absolute orders. Even if Sean's order makes Rosso uncomfortable, he will not disobey his order as long as he does not violate the principle. After all, this time he is willing to help a lot. One reason is to ask Pa Qiuli, if only a little effort can be used. Let Paqiuli agree to her request, so it's okay to follow Sean a little bit.

The five people ignored the ordinary people who had no fighting capacity and continued to run straight ahead.

Before coming here, Pa Qiuli had given Sean a map, which had marked a red route and several other routes.

Red se is the main route, but if this main route is blocked, then other alternate routes of Yan se can also ensure that Xiao En and others reach the destination, of course, it is necessary to detour slightly. It's just that for Sean and others, detours are not a problem. The real problem is the continuous blockade after being discovered in advance by the enemy. This will affect their plan this time.

Just as everyone had just passed a turn, Avril Lavigne suddenly blew a whistle.

Sean, Dante, Rena, and Rosso stopped immediately without hesitation.

Almost the moment the four people stopped, a black light passed over everyone's heads, and then fell about half a meter away in front of everyone.

In an instant, successive explosions roared one after another, and a whole corridor made of white stones disappeared in front of everyone in an instant. Such a powerful explosion even destroyed the surrounding buildings on both sides. After the dust and mist dispersed, what appeared in front of everyone was a ruin.

But if it is just ruins, it will not have any impact on everyone.

With the abilities of Sean and others, turning over this piece of ruins is a breeze.

The real reason for everyone to stop was the person who had been standing on a high spot in the ruins at some unknown time.

He wears a light hunting suit that is easy to move. He has a few strands of white hair hanging down on his forehead, but the overall hair is black. Although he does not have black pupils, he can vaguely distinguish the kind of Chanas. Outline. Obviously, the middle-aged man in front of him was a mixed-race with Zenus blood, and he was also a good swordsman. Because his belt is slung on each side of a sword with a shape very similar to Rosso's saber.

"He is a two-headed snake. Achaer, one of the guest officials hired heavily by the Nugus family, has been famous for a long time." When he saw this person, Rosso's voice sounded at the same time, "It is said that the distance to the sanctuary is very close. In a state that can break through at any time."

Xiao En's gaze glanced at this person, the other party's momentum is very restrained, even if a person like this is not in the sanctuary, I am afraid that he will not be too far away from the sanctuary.

"Since you know my name, then you should know that today you can't leave here alive." Hearing Roseau's words. Achaer spoke indifferently, in this respect it was somewhat similar to Rosso's indifference, "However, it is really surprising to be able to launch a raid on Nugus Manor and get deep into it. But it is very It's a pity that it ends here."

"That's it?" Sean raised his brow slightly, and his eyes became a little more hostile. "I think you haven't figured out the situation yet."

"It's useless to talk more." Ah Haier wasn't going to continue talking nonsense. Even if he jumped down from a high place with one leap.

It clearly looked light and fluttering, but at the moment his feet touched the ground, there was a strong roar and explosion, and the place where he stood collapsed to a depth of nearly one meter within a radius of one foot. There is no dust floating, no cobweb-like cracks, it looks like all this is completely compacted in an instant!

Force field!

This time. Sean's pupils really shrank.

The middle-aged man in front of him is actually a strong person who has come into contact with and can start to borrow the power of the rules a little.

Everyone's faces became slightly difficult to look at.

"I'll deal with him." After two or three seconds of silence. Dante said suddenly, "You keep going."

"You are not his opponent." Shaun shook his head, "You need your other two partners at least if you want to use your full combat power, but now your mount and Silver Falcon are not there, so your combat power is actually to fight. A discount, leaving you alone is no different from letting you die."

"Then I will stay too." Rosso frowned slightly, but he still said, "But if things are really unbreakable, I will not insist on it, but will choose to retreat."

"No need." Sean continued to shake his head, "Dante alone is not an opponent, but it does not mean that he and Rina are not opponents when they join forces.... Rina, no problem?"

Rena did not speak, but just lightly swiped the flame spear in her hand, a flame suddenly appeared from the tip of the spear, and at the same time she lowered the mask on the helmet.

She has replaced her pale and weak words with practical actions.

"Arrogant."

Achaer gave a cold snort, and suddenly stepped on his right foot, and the whole person rushed towards Xiao En.

But the figure was not close yet, so he stopped abruptly.

His right hand, I don't know when he has drawn out a silver-white sword, and the long sword is pointed at Sean.

Beside his feet, a black arrow fell to the ground, and a black flame was burning on the arrow.

Soon, the black inflammation burned a small area around it into a shallow pit, and then the black inflammation gradually extinguished.

"Devil-Breaking Black Flame?" Ah Hai turned his head and looked at Avril, "No wonder you found such a secret magic trap just now. It turns out that there was a Shatter-Bowman."

After that, Ah Haer's figure suddenly flashed again. This time he no longer attacked Sean, but rushed towards Avril Lavigne.

Devil-breaking profession can be regarded as a tricky trouble for any profession, especially Avril Lavigne is also a devil-breaking archer, and the hidden arrows they produce are often impossible to guard against. Therefore, giving priority to solving the demon-breaking profession, especially the demon-breaking archer, is the conventional logical cognition of almost everyone in this world.

Only this time, before Ah Ha'er rushed three meters, a silver dragon broke out, and directly swept towards Ah Ha'er.

Faced with such a powerful attack, Ah Haier was finally no longer as relaxed as the previous sword that picked Avril's arrow, but stabbed the silver dragon with both hands holding the sword at the same time. Every time you prick, there will be a deep white mark staying in the air. If you look carefully, you can find that Achaer's  is not a random stabbing, but the location of every two  is very close. , It looks like a double-headed snake suspended in the air.

But even so, Ah Haier retreated more than ten meters before finally not retreating.

At this time, the silver dragon had dense cracks, it looked like it was wounded all over, and only one breath was doing the final dying struggle.

"Broken!" Ah Haier roared.

With a roar, the whole Qilong burst completely in an instant.

But at this moment, there was a figure who stood up in the blasting shock, and pierced Ah Haier's eyebrows with a shot: "Your opponent is me."

"Huh!" Faced with this almost natural assassination, Achaer was fearless. With a cold snort, he easily blocked Dante's attack under the attack of the two swords, but But it was inevitably moved by about half a meter.

Just very quickly, Ah Hai's face changed abruptly.

Seeing Ah Hai's hands shook suddenly, and the spear held by the crossed swords was immediately shaken off, but he himself jumped high at one step, and fell into a place a few meters away with a backflip in the air. And when he was still in the air, he saw a red light sweeping past where he stood just now. If he hadn't reacted fast enough, the moment he was just now would definitely be enough to cause trauma to him.

At this moment, Ah Ha'er finally found that the two men's cooperation was even more difficult than he thought.

When he looked around again, Sean, Rosso and the archer Avril were gone.

Chapter 380: .What about the subordinate silver?

Sean did not stay and continue to pester the double-headed snake.

Because he knows very well, Dante and Rena are enough. Although the two people were unable to exert their true combat effectiveness because of the loss of their mounts, the combination of these two knight professional powerhouses is by no means as simple as one plus one equals two.

The power of the armed knight lies in the endless aura skills of this rank. Aura skills have always been listed as [Leader Level] skills in the game of Marvel. This is a special skill that is almost duli in the entire game skill system. Every aura skill is not easy for players to learn and master. Yes, it is basically possible to learn through tasks that are nearly as difficult as the team's epic level.

Because this type of skill is very difficult to master, it also has a very powerful effect: it does not conflict with any augmentation or enhancement skills.

To put it simply, it is theoretically possible to make a low-level silver master and an upper-level golden peak power draw a tie.

Of course, this is only theoretically feasible, because in fact, even in the game, no players have successfully tested this kind of scheme. After all, this plan requires too much increase and strengthening of skills. However, at least in some respects, Sean did see the truth of this theory: The Scarlet Knights could indeed reach the level of a Tier 5 army under the activation increase of Rena's various aura skills.

Therefore, with the assistance of Rena, Dante will not be inferior to the two-headed snake Ah Haer even if he does not have the Silver Falcon and Bai Yanju. Of course, the only downside is that Dante is currently unable to borrow the power of the rules to form a force field, but this point belongs to Achaer's advantage will also be offset by the addition of Rina, so Rina and Dante Even if the two of them couldn't kill Achaer, they could definitely contain and contend against him.

So, Sean, who trusts the duo of Dante and Rena, will naturally not continue to waste combat power.

His goal is to subdue Hela before he leaves the manor.

or.....

Kill.

The guards in the manor are also relatively strict, so in Sean's tactical plan, they are focused on breakthrough battles, and end all possible encounters as quickly as possible. In this way, the importance of Avril Lavigne and Rosso has been greatly manifested. After all, only these two people can keep up with Sean. This is how Sean chooses to let Dante and Rina go. The reason for this hard bone.

Of course, the other main reason is that Rosso will never be the opponent of the double-headed snake, even if Rina is on the side to assist.

Follow the direction of the red line marked on the map-although a little time was wasted due to Achael's obstruction, but Sean Sean, Avril Lavigne and Rosso are all agile professions and do not need to take care of Dante. In the case of the two tin cans with Rina, the speed of the three of them at least doubled, so they were faster than the initial speed.

The three of them kept a few meters away from each other, and swiftly moved forward in the manor in a straight line formation.

Of course, since this manor of the Nugus family can become the power center of the family, its guarding force will naturally not be a display. However, those ordinary guards may be called quasi-fourth-level troops in terms of actual combat effectiveness, but the number is only 1,000 after all, and they are scattered throughout the manor. Even if you know that there are already invaders at this moment, but you want to assemble it right It is obviously impossible for Sean these three to form a suppression.

Although the rank of the Alchemy Warrior is only seventh, it belongs to the strength of the lower level gold, but because of the endless support of alchemy, the actual combat power is almost equivalent to the strength of the upper level gold. As for the Demon Archer, although it is slightly inferior in terms of combat power, it may not be as troublesome as the Alchemy Warrior, but this is a genuine Tier 8 profession, which means that Avril is a real high-ranking gold powerhouse.

Don't talk about Sean, even if only Rosso and Avril are alone, it is enough to break through the defense line of Nugus Manor where there is no strong man.

There was another rapid trembling of bowstrings.

Five heavy armored soldiers with heavy halberds fell down.

These heavy armored soldiers should be the sharper guards in Nugus Manor, because they are very different in equipment from those guards that Sean and others have encountered before. From the quality point of view, the quality of these heavy armored soldiers To be better. But it's a pity that these people met an archer with the strength of a high-ranking golden powerhouse, so the heavy armor on their bodies could not stop the strength from Avril Lavigne-hardly need to make up or make up the knife, even if Avril is Because of the eagerness and failure to deliver the full blow, it was enough to easily penetrate the heavy armor on the chest of these soldiers, and then completely crush their hearts.

When Rosso, who was advancing at full speed, passed by these soldiers, they began to slowly fall, and when Sean passed by the bodies of these soldiers, they just fell to the ground and waited until Avril overcame them in one fell swoop. When the soldiers fell to the ground, blood had just flowed out of their bodies.

This is the efficient embodiment of killing.

Sean, Rosso, and Avril didn't fight with these guards even once. Before the encounter between the two sides was about to start, they had completely killed the enemy in advance.

For Sean and others, this is no longer a raid, but a war.

Next, the three of them encountered several waves of defense lines that heavy armored soldiers with heavy halberds tried to deploy, but these lines of defense were all strangled in the cradle by Avril before they were completed. It's just that as the route deepened, Xiao En and others began to feel the pressure increase, because the number of enemies has gradually increased. It is getting closer and closer to Rosso, who is at the forefront of the team.

Finally, when they arrived at the key location on the map that Paqiuli drew for Sean-the Grand Front Garden, Sean and others also ushered in the first completely formed line of defense.

A total of fifty-five heavy armored soldiers with heavy halberds, and a strong man over two meters tall.

The strength of these fifty soldiers will naturally not be put in the eyes of Xiao En and others, but if this brawny man is added, the situation will be completely different.

This middle-aged man just stood in place, exuding a mountain-like steady breath from all over his body.

He is licking his upper body, the muscles on his body are well-defined, and he can see the explosive power contained in this muscle just by seeing it with the naked eye. The man's lower body was only wearing a pair of coarse cloth shorts and his feet were bare, but there were two small shallow holes where he was standing, which seemed to be caused by the inability of the ground to support his net weight.

All the traces indicate that the power possessed by this man is definitely an extremely terrifying value.

"I'm coming." Rosso moved his shoulders and neck, and then walked a few steps forward, with his right hand resting on the hilt, a move that can be slashed out of the sheath at any time.

Xiao En's brows frowned slightly, and for a while, he couldn't remember what the rank of this man was, but it must be related to the profession of extreme pursuit of strength. If he took the shot himself, it would not be a problem to win against the opponent, but it is likely to spend a lot of hands and feet, which may lead to Hella's safe escape. Therefore, Sean did not say anything about Rosso's initiative to fight. A word of reminder: "Don't fight him head-on."

"I know." Rosso nodded, "You go first."

He is a speed-type and skill-type occupation, so even if Sean does not remind him, he also knows how to use his own advantages to attack the opponent's weakness.

"Okay." Xiao En nodded, there was no extra nonsense, immediately turned around and left, and Avril Lavigne naturally followed up immediately.

But after Xiao En just ran a few steps, a strong wind suddenly rushed toward his face!

Black se's Yin shadow directly enveloped Xiao En's entire body.

Without the slightest hesitation, Xiao En Dang rushed out of Yin Shadow's envelope even if he directly activated the Light Body Art. Avril Lavigne did not enter the shadow of Yin because of her habit of keeping distance.

There was a loud roar, and rubble splashed like locusts.

The long sword in Xiao En's hand was waved impermeably, and a series of clinking sounds blocked all the gravel flying towards him.

Rosso, who was a little further away, swung his sword, and there was still a flow of air moving with his sword, but unlike the way he started killing before, this time the air flow was not far in front. Making a transparent screen, blocking all the stones flying towards him, the whole person seemed extremely relaxed and freehand.

Only Avril dodged quite embarrassedly, but it was impossible to dodge to Avril only by the stone rain.

The short but violent stone rain finally ended.

Sean's face became serious, because his right hand was slightly swollen and sour, and he almost couldn't stop the violent stone rain just now.

He turned his head and glanced at the brawny man.

I saw that the ground in front of him was missing a slab of at least two meters square out of thin air.

At this moment, Sean finally remembered what the job of this brawny man was.

Crazy Violent.

This is a profession that has gone all the way to black in the profession of [Luxury]. He almost completely abandons other attributes including will and agility, and only focuses on the pursuit of the improvement of strength, even endurance is only maintained. At a necessary level only. Of course, this rank is also a genuine Tier 7 profession, which means that in terms of strength, this brawny man is a well-deserved lower-level golden powerhouse.

If you want to say that there are any shortcomings of the violent violent, then this profession is the end at the seventh level. If you want to develop to a stronger strength, then you must change the rank, but there are too few professions that can be selected by the violent violent. At the beginning, many players in the game developed almost at this level. After the dead end, almost all of them chose to delete their accounts and start again, and the situation only improved slightly after the special advanced occupation of the mad violence fighter was discovered.

Injecting vindictive energy into a certain substance, and then throwing it out to detonate the vindictive energy in the substance to cause powerful aoe damage, which is the best game of violent violence.

【Furious Throw】 .

Because the madman has a power value that is almost abnormal, and coupled with this medium and long-range attack method, the madman can often exert a fighting power that exceeds the average upper-level golden powerhouse at certain times.

And a profession like Rosso will definitely not be the opponent of violent violent men. Because of the fighting style and methods of the violent fighters, it can be said that it is perfect to restrain all agile occupations.

"A high-ranking silver in a mere gulp, dare to be presumptuous here." The brawny man glanced at Sean with contempt, and the  se was slightly sordid, "Although I don't know how you escaped Ah'er's ambush, but I can tell you with certainty that this is your burial place!... You must pay a heavy price for the invasion of Nugus Manor!"

"A low-ranking gold in a small amount, dare to scream in front of me." Sean was cold. He knew that if he didn't make a move, he would really not be able to leave here, but if he entangled here for too long, then this One action also loses its meaning, "I will solve this guy, and you can solve the guards for me."

"You?" Rosso let out a surprise.

Although Avril did not speak, her eyes towards Sean were also full of strangeness. It was obvious that they did not believe that Sean's strength could deal with this brawny man. Through the huge stone thrown by the strong man just now, whether it is Rosso or Avril, it is clear that although the two of them are stronger than the strong man, they are completely defeated by the opponent in the way of fighting. Therefore, Even they dare not say that they are sure of victory.

"We don't have time to spend with each other." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "So I must personally take action to solve this guy, but after I take it, I will have a short period of weakness, so I need you to help me solve it. Those soldiers."

Rosso and Avril looked at each other, and suddenly felt a little clear in their hearts.

For Sean, both of them have heard Pa Qiuli's introduction. Although they have not seen it with their own eyes, they can be praised by Pa Qiuli, which is enough to make them trust Shaun. At this moment, I heard that Sean said that he would have a period of weakness when he shot. With the knowledge of the two, he immediately knew that this was definitely a special ability such as Sean's secret skills, so he had a little more confidence.

Of course, the most important thing is that those guards have not really been put in the eyes of these two people, even if there are as many as fifty people on the other side.

So Rosso and Avril nodded.

And Sean, after seeing the two men nodding, he no longer had the slightest hesitation, and rushed towards the brawny man with a single stride.

At the beginning, his pace was not fast, one step at a time.

But the momentum is extremely astonishing, almost no less than the powerhouse of the upper gold pinnacle.

After ten steps, the momentum has flattened and has fallen to the lower level of gold.

But at this time, Sean is one meter in one step.

Ten meters later, Xiao En was less than ten meters away from the brawny man, but his aura almost disappeared, just like an ordinary person.

The distance of ten meters is considered a rather dangerous distance.

For both Sean and the brawny man, this distance is already within the attack range of both parties.

Although he was shocked by the awe-inspiring aura that broke out at the very first moment, the brawny man did not show the slightest expression on his face. At this time, he had returned to tranquility, only the deep disdain still existed in the depths of his eyes.

This is the contempt of the upper-level strong against the lower-level weak.

With Sean's strength not being the upper silver pinnacle, there is indeed no golden powerhouse who would look at him directly.

After all, this is a world where the weak can eat the strong.

So, the brawny man finally showed a smirk on his face.

His both hands clenched fists suddenly, and his archers slammed into the ground with lightning speed.

In terms of his astonishingly large size, such a rapid speed can be regarded as super performance. Of course, the most important point is that the behavior of the strong man at this moment obviously belongs to the category of sneak attacks, because at this time, Xiao En didn't know why he suddenly stopped at a distance of ten meters.

Fists hit the ground.

A cloud of dust suddenly appeared on the ground.

It was the ground cracking completely under the punch of this brawny man.

In the next instant, the earth screamed like a scream. At a distance of ten meters between the strong man and Xiao En, the entire ground was completely shattered, collapsed, and bulged. It was like a spear stabbing the stone tips one after another, like a tossing ocean wave rushing towards Sean, the speed was completely beyond the range that the naked eye could catch, and the rising dust blocked the sight, thinking It is not easy to see the murderous intentions hidden in it.

The earth roared.

Crazy Violent is another equally lethal skill.

The distance of ten meters is just a blink of an eye, and it may even be less than two seconds before and after.

In the confused vision that everyone could not see clearly, with a roar, a huge stone pillar that was obviously more than three meters suddenly protruded from the ground where Xiao En stood before.

On the top of this carnation, there are pieces of clothing belonging to Sean and blood that is almost full of vividness.

An arrogant smile appeared on the face of the brawny man: "The inferior silver..."

But before he finished speaking, a bright silver light suddenly burst out of the gray mist.

Awe-inspiring breath of fear that made people palpitation, and even made people completely unable to breathe. With the appearance of this silver light, it enveloped the entire courtyard like a king.

"What about the subordinate silver?" Sean's voice sounded calmly.

Then, the silver light finally resembled a waking dragon, breaking through the gray mist and rushing towards the strong man.

The se color in the entire world seems to be completely lost because of this silver light.

The seven forms of soul, requiem.

At this moment, the brawny man's eyes finally showed horror se: "No!"