

Lord of War Vol 2-91

Chapter 91: .The Path of the Abyss

Shaun squatted on the ground, staring at a hole that was almost invisible in front of him.

The diameter of this pit is more than three meters, and the edges are hard black rocks like iron. It looks smooth but it feels very rough to the touch. And down from the pit mouth is also made of these stones. These stones are not small, they are enough for any adult to climb with both hands and feet, even the bear people want to climb in this pit. , It's just that this deep pit is completely invisible, absolutely no one dares to risk it.

Sean stood up slowly, his eyes turned a little gloomy.

"Is it really the path of the abyss?" Cecilia saw Sean's face, and she had a sense of understanding in her heart, but she still wanted Sean to answer.

The Path to the Abyss does not refer to the portal to the abyss plane.

Other planes like Abyssal Purgatory and Hell require plane portals to open. However, limited by the power of the law, this type of portal is not easy to open. Even the top powerhouse as strong as the legend can't use his own power to tear the space at will to build a fixed-point plane portal. This is why Andrew It takes countless energy to find those things that will allow him to find the coordinates to go back.

So in this world, the path of the abyss usually only means one thing.

The way to the underground world.

That is the world where dark elves, blood elves, crypt demons, cavemen and many other races and monsters live. They call themselves underground residents and hate all surface residents and creatures-or the two hate each other. Therefore, surface residents have been trying their best to prevent underground residents from appearing, while underground residents are trying their best to run to the surface to make a fuss. One game.

Occupy the surface world?

Whether there is such an idea, no one except underground residents knows.

"It is indeed the Path of the Abyss." Sean nodded, "But it is indeed sealed."

"Which side?" Dini asked.

Not everyone can recognize the path of the abyss, but many people know some common sense about the path of the abyss.

The Path of the Abyss is a passage connecting the two worlds, the surface and the underground, but it's amazing that this passage is not entirely created by manpower. This is a bit like a loophole in a program, but this loophole can be exploited by residents of both the surface and the underground world. As long as they use some special methods in this loophole to go deeper in the opposite direction, they can get through. Create a channel connecting the two worlds.

This is a bit like an unstable portal.

And since it is a portal, it can naturally be closed.

The residents of both the surface world and the underground world can forcibly close these passages with the same special means.

The war that the underground world invaded the surface world once brought the surface world into chaos. Later, after the situation was controlled and counterattacked, the underground world naturally tasted the evil results. After more than a decade of war broke out on both sides, many passages were naturally forcibly closed or blown up by the two sides. It is really not easy for the world today to find a passage connecting the two worlds.

And I don't know why, now there are almost no "holes" in this world, and the two worlds, the surface and the underground, have gradually forgotten the existence of both. In the eyes of children of today's era, the underground world is just a fabricated illusory world. If Cecilia had not really faced the Crypt Demon together with Sean, I am afraid she would have thought that this was just a fabricated story.

"Look at the surrounding rocks." Sean pointed to the hard black rocks around.

Everyone followed the direction of Sean's fingers and looked at the rocks around the pothole.

"The opened path of the abyss, these stones will emit a soft blue-white light, these lights are like the energy protection barrier of the portal, it can ensure that people in both worlds can go back and forth." Sean explained. Said, "The path of the abyss without this kind of light means that the path of the abyss is completely sealed. As for which side is sealed, we can look here..."

After Xiao En said, he pointed to the circle around the pothole, and continued: "If we have sealed the Path of the Abyss, then there will be a red circle around the channel, otherwise it will be in A red halo appeared on the other side.... In the final analysis, this kind of seal has no technical content. It is to set up a pair of magic circles. All light up."

"Exhausted?" Andre looked blank.

"Transfer the magic array technology to the axis." Cecilia reacted immediately, "Through complete control, all the energy is extracted and sealed. Once the energy is exhausted, the secondary array will lose its value and be destroyed by the collapse of the magic. Annihilate itself, and at the same time prevent the person on the other side from performing reverse control."

"That's it." Xiao En nodded, "Whether it is our surface world or the underground world, we use this technology.... Strictly speaking, our surface people are still the learned underground people. They invented it first. This kind of technical means."

"In this case, isn't the initiative in the hands of the party who arranges the magic circle?" Andre's reaction is indeed not slow. As expected, he is a ruthless character who can survive in the wild for many years. He immediately caught the key to the problem. Place.

"Yes, so there are currently several sealed Paths to the Abyss. Except for one that was sealed by us, the other initiatives are completely in the hands of the underground world." Sean nodded. "For this, several empires must send heavy troops to guard there.... The Millennium Covenant Empire, do you know what the word 'covenant' means in this empire?"

Everyone shook their heads blankly.

"The guardian." Sean said, "The Millennium Covenant Empire has a huge dragon knight army. In terms of overall military strength, it is definitely the best of the seven empires, but why is it always relatively low in the ranking of the seven empires? In order to abide by the Millennium Covenant, they must use nearly half of the entire empire's military power to resist the invasion of the underground world and conquer the infidels. The empires that can defend the path of the three abysses with the power of one country, except for the Empire of Zenus I am afraid that no empire can compare to it, but the Zenas Empire also has inherent weaknesses."

"Internal party conquests continue." Cecilia said, and then suddenly saw everyone looking at her, and immediately subconsciously added: "I saw it in the book."

So everyone looked at Sean again.

In everyone's perception, Sean is an aristocrat from the Zenas Empire.

"Indeed." Sean smiled and nodded. "So the Zenas Empire is already very difficult just guarding the two abyssal paths. There is no army or nobleman in the empire who is willing to do this thankless thing. ... So basically in the Zenas Empire, only those armies and nobles who have been sentenced to heavy sentences will be arranged to guard the path of the abyss. This is very different from the Millennium Covenant Empire."

"Then which empire are we going to report to this path of the abyss?" Tini asked, "The closest one here should be considered as the Millennium Covenant Empire, but they are already guarding the three path of the abyss, I am afraid there is no way to mobilize troops. Come here? And the next closest is the Zenus Empire, but according to what you said, it is impossible for the Zenus Empire to send troops over?"

"This magic laboratory was originally from the Millennium Covenant Empire..."

As soon as Andre spoke, he was interrupted by Sean: "Why report?"

"But if we don't report it, our military strength can't defend a passage to the underground world." Andre was taken aback for a moment, and then replied, "According to the regulations of the Peace Council, if a loophole and a path to the abyss are found, Shouldn't it be reported to the nearest empire?"

"What is my business with the rules of the Peace Council?" Sean curled his lips. "There are so many places for this kind of channel to be used. Who said we can't control it. Just open the channel again, and then reverse the axis transmission. Magic array, if the main array is set on our side, then the initiative of this channel will fall in our hands."

Hearing Sean's whimsical words, everyone showed a look of surprise.

"It's impossible!" The astonishment on Cecilia's face soon calmed down, and then turned into a questioning look, "The most important feature of the axis transmission magic circle is that it will set up all the energy of the axis of the magic circle. Exhausted, and its casting is completely controlled by the main formation. The secondary formation here has been automatically annihilated, and the energy has also been exhausted. We can't control it at all."

"Actually, there is still a way." Xiao En said, "As long as we re-portrait a guiding magic circle here, open the closed channel a little gap, and then we continue to inject energy into the gap to let the opposite main line Continue to absorb energy until it exceeds the critical point and explode, then the sealing magic circle will be completely ineffective, and the path of the abyss will be opened again."

Hearing Sean's words, Cecilia immediately lit up, and she was already a little eager to try.

But Sean is very clear, what he said is very simple, but the actual operation is not as simple as imagined. Just calculating the energy output of the oriented magic circle is a huge project, not to mention how huge it is to support the continuous operation of the entire magic circle. Even if these two points can be solved, the continuous input of energy is definitely An amazing expense, but it is much simpler than the former two.

It's fine if you have money.

It's just that this kind of technology will never be realized before the magical power source is developed. In the game, the battle between the two worlds, the surface and the underground, is also the most important content of the fourth expansion. Using the timetable of this world, it will be ten years later.

Sean began to feel that it is necessary for him to accelerate the development of scientific research in this world.

The underground world is a real treasure house of wealth.

Chapter 92: .Into the savage land

The Ancient Ruin Area is the last resting place for the slave hunters before they leave the Gorge Rift, and it is also the first resting place after entering the Gorge Rift.

In the morning light, a team left this last resting place mightily.

Shaun, in the end, he couldn't wait for the dozen or so missing soldiers.

Five bear men, five northern barbarians, and two slave trappers brought out by Andre.

Even if the gathering of evil thoughts is resolved, the ancient ruins area is obviously not a safe place. After all, no one knows how many ghouls and ghost fires are hidden in this area. If you want to clean up here, you need more than just time, but also a lot of patience.

And Sean currently has no thoughts and time to spend all on this aspect.

Out of the strait rift, it can be regarded as a real entry into the wild land.

This vast land is actually not really wild in the strict sense. Although there are very few and really not suitable for planting here, but because of the introduction of foreign merchants, there is now a set of farming methods that are entirely their own on this land. The provision of classes can be self-sufficient. And the closer to the center of this area, the larger the area of the oasis.

Those truly powerful tribes, almost every one has an oasis that can be called a vast oasis. With such an area, let alone grazing and breeding, even the conditions that are not suitable for planting can be improved. Therefore, any large tribe can be regarded as a kingdom, even the surrounding countries near the wild land regard this area as They would not easily approach these places in their own slave farms.

In recent years, because the western orcs and elves of the mainland have become united and cautious, and the north is not a particularly suitable place to capture slaves, the slave hunting team has to start to develop towards the wild land. It is precisely because of this that almost none of the most outlying tribes have survived in the Barren Lands in recent years. In order to survive, they had to choose to merge with other tribes, or simply belong to those more powerful tribes.

In fact, every tribe, regardless of its size, will have its own ancestral history, so whether it is merged or submitted to other tribes, it is a very shameful thing for these tribes. Therefore, there are totally uncoordinated contradictions and disputes between the tribes and slave trappers in the Wildlands. Naturally, there are reasons for them, and they even have no good feelings for those merchants who use this area to hurry.

"My lord, now because of the wanton capture of slaves by the slave capture teams, it is impossible to find any tribe population if you don't go more than a thousand miles." Andre said to Xiao En, "the small tribes in the periphery, early In the past few years, almost all of the slave captures have been wiped out, and only a few people have survived by chance. They can no longer be called tribes. For this reason, they have to retreat deeper and join other tribes."

"Don't the tribe have a strong xenophobia?" Sean asked modestly.

Even though Sean knows the future development trend and understands and understands many secrets, it does not mean that he is really omnipotent. The cognition of the world view and race view of this world rests entirely on the background introduction of the game, and he hasn't read it patiently yet, so he has a general understanding of the races in this world and the main reasons for their conflicts and contradictions. That's it.

The word "tribe" was originally used to specifically refer to the orcs and elves.

Only later, was it applied to these inhabitants of the Wildlands. However, there is no objection to this point. After all, the inhabitants of the Wild Land here are not only the orcs, but also the elves, and even people of other races can see them, and they are not generally fierce-even considered by humans. It is the most trash goblin, and it must not be underestimated in the wild land.

The tribes, especially the tribes of the orcs, have a very strong xenophobia.

The most obvious feature of this kind of xenophobia is that it expresses hostility to the people of other tribes. So under normal circumstances, the survivors of other tribes, even if they did not kill each other as food, even if they were very kind, how could it be possible to accept them to join their own tribe?

"Lord Lord, the tribes with obvious xenophobia are the orcs in the West. This rule does not apply here in the Wildlands." Andre was a little frightened about Sean's humble performance. This is exactly what he had in mind. There is a big difference between those lords, "Here in the wild land, wars are very frequent, so the population declines very fast, especially those small tribes. Even if they can win the attack of the slave hunters after a regular battle, usually Few people can survive, so in order to survive, it is impossible for any xenophobia to appear here."

Xiao En nodded, expressing that he had understood, and then said with a serious face: "You have rich survival experience in the wild land, so we all follow your instructions on how to act. You don't need to think that I am a lord. What dare you say, you are the commander here, and I, including Cecilia and Dini, will follow your orders."

"Yes!" Andre was not hypocritical, he simply nodded and agreed, "Then our first stop is to go to the Zhufeng Tribe."

After hearing Andre's words, the werewolves and gray elves in the slave hunting team immediately dispersed. They will serve as scouts for the entire army when it is marching, responsible for guarding the surrounding environment and movements, and ensuring that they will not be touched by the enemy. I don't know when I get to the side.

In the wilderness, you need to be careful not only with other tribes who may hunt outside, but also other colleagues.

But Andre knew that he was lucky to keep up with a good lord who seemed pretty good at the moment. Not counting the veterans who have been with me for several years, just the remaining thirty-five northern barbarians and thirty-five bears are definitely an extremely fierce combat power-if outsiders just simply think this Unit strength is nothing, if you want to use cavalry charge to fight, then the opponent will soon discover that they are not encountering butter, but a reef that has been hit by the waves countless times; and if they want to use long-range means If you win, this is even more wishful thinking. Tower shields and half-length shields are enough to withstand any arrows except enchanted armor-piercing arrows, and the counterattacks of these northern barbarians are by no means vegetarian. There are absolutely hundreds of shots within 300 meters. What's more, almost every northern barbarian on this trip is equipped with enchanted armor-piercing arrows.

This is an elite unit that can no longer be elite.

Andre observed this team silently. He really couldn't figure out why the Northland Barbarians, a race that has always been underestimated, could be trained to such an elite level? In his memory, the Northland Barbarians are the least valuable slaves. If it weren't for those who could not be compelled or those who just debuted as slaves and wanted to find a training target, no one would capture the Northland Barbarians at all, because many times The barbarians in the North can't sell it, and the daily food expenditure is really not low, which is easy to lose money.

Moreover, most of the nobles who buy the northern barbarians will not buy so many in one go. They just buy a small group of people to take care of their own manor planting problems or territories planting problems. But when he stayed in the barracks some time ago, he had seen too many northern barbarians. These northern barbarians weren't used for farming, but a group of real soldiers. They had almost the same as the army that Andre had seen before. The unanimous breath made him feel extremely unbelievable.

He knows very well that if they fight alone, each of their slave trappers can easily win each other, but if it is a confrontation of ten people, then they will be very strenuous, and if the number of people is right If they wait, they won't lose, but it's probably difficult to win. And this is because there are several high-level silver masters in his team. You must know that this army called Iron Wings is just a group of lower-level bronze-strength northern barbarians, and a few have the upper-level bronze strength.

But this is such an army, but it is the first army well-deserved under the lord of Sean, and it can even be said to be the main force of the entire territory.

It is said that there is the banner of this army among the army that Darbion Kingdom least wants to encounter today.

Now, the thirty-five northern barbarians who came with them are said to be the most elite soldiers in the army of Iron Wings, which made Andre feel a little safer in his heart. Of course, he was actually quite disapproving at first, but with the raid that broke out in the Gorge Rift and his performance along the way, he had to believe that these northern barbarians had nothing to do with real elite soldiers. Difference.

Of course, Andre didn't know, but Sean was still a bit dissatisfied.

Because the steel wings are still only a level three army at present, although this is considered a regular army in the military system, it is only to the extent that it can be "a battle". But what Sean really wants is a four-level "elite" that can generate deterrence, or even a level five "ace"...

It's a pity that at present, Panda leads the only fourth-level army, but it is the army of the Cecilia Guards that does not obey the command. This gives Sean a headache.

The first goal of the team's trip is to Zell Wind Tribe.

Although is a tribe, in fact it is no longer a tribe in the wilderness. This tribe was destroyed a few years ago. Later, when the slave trappers saw that the tribe was in a good location, they established a resting place similar to the tribe. Later slave trappers came in more and more. As more, this tribe gradually became an important fulcrum for the outer trade routes of the Wildlands. Later, as slave trappers were wounded and unable to leave the Wildlands and chose to settle on the fulcrums of the trade routes in the Wildlands, the Zhanfeng tribe was considered to be an important fulcrum. Really developed.

Nowadays, it is said that inhabitants of the savage land tribes occasionally come to these trading fulcrums to purchase some daily necessities.

The goal of Shaun's coming to the Wildlands is not to capture slaves. Therefore, it is natural to witness a trade fulcrum like this in person to see how it works and what level the price of goods is at.

Chapter 93: .Zhufeng Tribe

The situation in the savage land, many people have heard of it.

However, the truth of the facts is not very clear to the hearsay.

Under the leadership of Andre, everyone came to a world completely different from what they imagined.

In my impression, the tribe should be slightly barren and dilapidated. Even if this tribe is just a name, the oasis outside the Barren Land is really scarce. Even if a tribe's predecessor is used as a temporary base, it is impossible to go anywhere.

But when he saw Zhufeng tribe with his own eyes, Xiao En was still shocked.

His shock is different from the shock of others at the scale of the Zhufeng Tribe.

In the game, there is no such situation.

Sean remembers clearly that in the game, there are great hatred and confrontation in the wild land and outside the wild land. Although there are several supply points or front-line bases set up due to the relationship of the game, the scale is very small. And later, due to some missions, many players chose to join the tribal camp in the Wildlands, and instead destroyed these supply points. At that time, foreign players who wanted to enter the Wildlands to do tasks needed "guidance".者” relationship.

Those players who joined the hordes of the Wildlands in the early stage were also specifically allowed to become members of the elders of the tribal alliance because of their outstanding contributions in such wars. Such identities are the so-called "guides", and these people are worthy for a while. Rise. Because only through their introduction and guarantee, other players can join the tribal camp in the Wildlands, and such an introduction fee is as high as tens of thousands of game currency, and converted into cash, it is also 30,000 credits.

Is it because there are no players in this world, so these frontline bases can be developed?

The look on Sean's face still remained shocked.

The Wind-Evening Tribe is not so much a tribe as it is a town.

Of course, the walls here cannot be piled up of stones, but some walls similar to soil slopes. Naturally, the defensive ability is not expected. A bear can just kick it up and collapse a piece. But everyone knows that the role of these earth walls is not to defensive, but to clarify the scope of the territory. Anyway, as long as these earth walls are within the scope of these earth walls, they belong to the jurisdiction of the Wind-Zhufeng tribe. Anyone must Abide by the rules here, as for the outside of the earth wall, it doesn't matter to them.

As for houses, they are also not made of wood or stone, but tents. These tents are big or small. The big one is two or three times larger than the main tent in the military camp outside the void. The small one is obviously a bit reluctant to live alone, and the construction of these tents is also There are no rules at all, which makes the entire Zhufeng tribe seem a lot more messy, but it is unexpectedly cleaner.

In the wild land, stone and wood are relatively precious resources, so unless those large tribes are extremely large, it is impossible to use stone or wooden walls and houses.

"My lord, this is the Zhufeng tribe." Before everyone entered the tribe, Andre pointed to the door of the Zhufeng tribe and said, "There is a rule for any trading point. The sale of slaves is not allowed.

Any fighting occurs in the trade point. It is okay to have conflicts of opinion, but if you want to fight, you must leave the tribe more than one mile away."

"Aren't the slave catchers all the unruly guys? Would they be so obedient?" Sean asked in a puzzled way.

"Every trading point has at least one low-ranking strong man sitting in the town. This is the deterrence." Andre said, "A slave trapper like us does the hardest and most tiring work, if it's not true. There's no way anyone wants to be a slave hunter? So a gold powerhouse sitting in the trade point is enough to make any slave hunter dare not act rashly. Besides, besides the gold powerhouse, every trade point also has one. As for the armed forces, those merchants are not stupid."

"Armed Forces?" Cecilia was slightly interested. "How many people are in this armed force?"

"It's hard to say, it mainly depends on the size of the trading point." Andre said, "But there are usually two to three hundred people, which is larger than any single slave team, and they are all. It's sophisticated equipment, so there is generally no slave hunting team in the trade point that would be so indifferent to provoke the managers here."

"These trading points can afford so many people?" Sean was a little curious.

According to his visual observations, the Zhufeng tribe is less than one or two thousand people or more. In the wild land, with this scale, both the settled population and the floating population are considered to be relatively large. The "small tribes" mentioned by Andre are one or two hundred people or even less. Even some larger tribes usually have a population of four or five hundred people, but they can actually invest. The number of people who fought was no more than a hundred.

This is also the reason why the slave hunting teams in the Wild Lands generally have a limit of about 100 people. On the one hand, it is convenient to move. On the other hand, because the number of people is small, the demand for materials is not enough. In the trade point, it can be supplemented at a very low cost. Moreover, once the slavery is successfully captured, everyone will be divided. There is enough money.

Those tribes with more than a thousand people are usually only encountered in areas deeper in the wild land, after all, the oasis there is more extensive.

"There weren't so many people before. It has only recently developed, but it is not a problem for the trading point if there are many people." Andrei shrugged and said indifferently.

"Why?" Dini was a little dazed.

It was Sean who immediately caught the key point: "No matter if there are many people or few people, there are only so many resources, so you only need to raise prices."

"Lord Lord is wise." Andre slapped a little flattery. "In the past, five Pan-Continent gold coins can be exchanged for a water bag of water. When we left with Master Vivian, it has risen to 20 pan-continental gold coins. The mainland gold coins, now there are obviously more people in the Zhuangfeng tribe, I am afraid it is more than this price."

The water bags of people who are active here in the wild land are specially made. Each water bag can store the normal amount of drinking water for three days, and it can even last for more than five days if it saves a bit of use. Generally, people who will be active here in the wilderness will carry at least three water bags, and the distance between each trade point is about 20 days, so generally there are few problems in replenishment, regardless of Whether it is a slave hunting team or a caravan, obviously they are all very budget-conscious people.

Of course, even if it is going to go deep into the wilderness, if the drinking water problem is not solved, it will not be easy to risk.

At the current level of the slave hunting team, it is the limit to go deep into the wild land. If you continue to go deeper, not only is it not easy to replenish resources, but it is also easy to encounter relatively large-scale tribes. It is very likely that members of the slave hunting team will become the food of those tribes.

After all, in the Wildlands, there are still many ethnic groups who don't mind cannibalism at all.

"Zhufeng Tribe, what is it like?" Cecilia asked.

"There is a low-level golden powerhouse, although he is not the peak powerhouse, but he has been famous for a long time." Andre thought for a while, then said, "There is also an armed force of about two hundred people, which seems to be infantry cavalry. Once faced with the combined operations of three slave hunting teams, the strong man did not take action. The three slave hunting teams were completely defeated, and the armed forces of the tribes...zero casualties."

"It's interesting." Sean raised his brow.

The slave hunting team is not an army.

At least this team that Sean put together has not been recognized by his real eye. In other words, most slave teams cannot be an army. But after all, the slave hunting team is also a long-time and tacit combat team. If it is not an army, it should also be regarded as a mercenary group. At least Sean found that his passive skills can take effect, so it should be judged by the system as a mercenary group and risky. The existence of a group.

With such a team that cooperates tacitly, it generally takes at least a regular army of the same size to be able to suppress it.

Shaun silently calculated the combat effectiveness of the Zhanfeng tribal armed forces, and then quickly came up with the answer he wanted: a standard three-level army may be transformed in the direction of a fourth-level army.

"How long ago was this incident?" Sean asked.

"Two or three years ago." Andre thought for a while, and said with some uncertainty, "but at that time our range of activities was not here, so I just heard it. Later, although the range of activities was transferred to this side. Come, but this kind of thing is a trade point secret after all, we dare not to inquire about it, but it is true that those armed forces are well equipped, I have seen it with my own eyes."

Cecilia glanced at Sean, a little curious about Sean inquiring about the reasons for these things.

"Knowing ourselves and the enemy." Xiao En smiled, "If we are going to develop into the wilderness in the future, the Zhufeng Tribe will be the first trading point we face. Knowing more about it is not a disadvantage."

Cecilia snorted, and there was not much reaction or thought. Tini did the same. On the contrary, Andre and the members of his slave-catching team were shocked.

"My lord, attacking the trade point is tantamount to having an affair with the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance." Andre hurriedly reminded, "Although the Zhanfeng Tribe is only a joint operation of several small chambers of commerce, it is also a trade route supply guarantee for the wild land. One of the routes, there is the shadow of the top ten chambers of commerce."

"Businessmen are all chasing profit, as long as the profit is enough, there is nothing they can't sell." Xiao En said softly, but near the gate of the Wind-Zhufeng tribe, his eyes were quickly attracted by the excitement at the gate, "That's it. what?"

"Oh, the slave trade." Andre glanced at it, and then said, "Slave trade is not allowed in the trading point. After all, tribal people in the wild land occasionally come to buy things, so the blatant slave trade is very important for this. There is no benefit to having a trading route.... It's just that free trade at a trade point does not matter. Anything that happens will be borne by those people, as long as the trade point is not involved. But the general slavery team if it's not true There is nowhere to go, no slaves will be traded outside the trading point."

"Why?"

"Because the asking price is not high, it is at least half cheaper than the normal slave market, not to mention the auction through the underground slave black market." Andre replied, "Like an ordinary gray elf, it can be sold in the slave market normally. There are two or three hundred Pan-Continent gold coins, but one hundred gold coins will go to the sky here, and you can even bargain."

Xiao En and others nodded clearly, but then he let out a soft huh.

Chapter 94: An acquaintance

Along with Xiao En's whisper, everyone couldn't help but follow Xiao En's gaze.

That is a barbarian.

He is not much different from ordinary savages. He has the same beard, his hair that looks messy because of sticking, and he has a sturdier and sturdier figure than ordinary people-the muscles on his body are well-defined. Full of a masculine atmosphere. The only difference is probably that his skin is not the wheatish or bronze color common to barbarians, but a light red similar to copper.

This is the unique skin color of the barbarians in the Wildlands.

Under the wild land, there are various mineral veins with extremely rich reserves, the most of which is red copper. Because the copper veins are close to the surface, their minerals have completely affected the groundwater of the oasis and the daily necessities of some other tribes, so this caused the skin of the barbarians in the wild land to appear a light red. Race has no effect.

Cecilia looked at the barbarian, and then said with a little surprise: "That's...what's the hammer?"

"Heavy hammer." Sean narrowed his gaze slightly and said in a deep voice, "The former deputy commander of the Habind snake mercenary group is also one of the candidates for a tribal chief here in the Wildlands. Andre, Are you sure the people standing there are all slaves?"

"Yes, yes." Andre was a little surprised, "Those people are indeed slaves, at least now.... Chief candidates, this value is different."

"What do you mean?" Sean asked.

"To be a candidate for the chief of a tribe, the potential is absolutely excellent at the very least." Andre explained, "Such slaves are not easy to catch, because every tribe will protect these candidates. But once they are caught, they can generally be sold at a high price. Even if these trading points do not dare to sell slaves because of the rules, they usually send people to contact them to buy them in advance."

"Then do you think the other party knows this person's worth?"

"It's hard to tell." Andre hesitated for a while, still afraid to draw a conclusion.

"Let's take a look."

Since Xiao En came to a conclusion, naturally no one would dare not follow it, so people immediately followed suit.

It's just that there are no less than a hundred people around the gate of Zhufeng Tribe. Maybe I saw that Sean's team was indeed very elite, so when the team came oncoming, the noise began to gradually become lighter, and eventually it became completely quiet. Most people were naturally about the sudden arrival of this team. I feel very curious.

After all, there are forty bears in Sean's team.

As the bear people of the orcs, they have an extremely burly size, which is naturally better than the barbarians. However, in the Wildlands, under normal circumstances, the bear people are synonymous with slaves, and the slaves in the Wildlands are equivalent to gold coins, so the bear people who are alone usually end up not much better, even if the bear people are in groups. The emergence of the team, as long as the number is not too large, there are still outstanding slave hunting teams that dare to eat.

Because of this, even if there are people from the tribe who dare to disguise and come to trade here, they will only be barbarians, not orcs, gray elves or other races. So when Sean's team approached, everyone on the scene looked at the bear man's eyes, just like a vicious, hungry beast.

It's just that no matter how vicious and vicious, slave hunters are definitely the smartest group of people.

It's impossible for the bear people to have sophisticated equipment. After all, although the Wild Land does not lack mineral veins, it lacks forging technology. Any merchant would not dare to sell sophisticated equipment or even smuggling here. dare. And these bear people led by Sean, not to mention the impact shield, a heavy shield that is indistinguishable from the tower shield, the hammer and the chest protector, etc., are obviously of high-quality level!

Armed bear like this, the fighting power is absolutely terrifying. Before figuring out the opponent's bottom line, no slave hunter will act rashly.

Of course, the most important thing is that in addition to these 35 bear people, dozens of other people who came along were all wearing cloaks that are unique to the Wildlands. People like this are usually in the same group, so there is no one. Shot.

The crowd naturally divided a passage, but only four people walked into this passage, and the others stood aside in a tight defensive formation. A sense of silence made the faces of many slave arresters instantly look. Slightly changed.

This is definitely a peer with strong strength and deep background.

Andre knew his identity very well, so when he approached, he lifted his hood.

"It's Andre, he is still alive."

"That sand wolf? Didn't it mean that he died a year ago?"

"It seems that not only is he not dead, but the team's strength has also become stronger."

After seeing Andre revealing his appearance, many exclaimed murmurs sounded from the crowd. It was obvious that many people here knew Andre. As to whether Andre knew them, it would be different. Let's talk about it separately.

But when he heard the whispers in the crowd, Sean was still a little surprised. Because Andre had never mentioned his name before, nor said how good he was. His performance has always been quite satisfactory, and it looks like the situation of the tour guides on the earth before. However, Sean knew that being able to have a name of his own in the Wildlands is definitely not an easy task, even more than Alfred's name "Scarlet Fury Lion" It is more difficult.

"Are your slaves sold individually or in batches?" In the crowd, Andre's momentum is more in line with the style of a high-ranking silver pinnacle master, and he is not as humble as before in front of Sean. Speaking straight to the person who was selling slaves.

"Bongs! Want to buy us, dream!" Before the person in charge could reply, the hammer named by Xiao En to buy was already yelling.

But the answer to him was a long whip.

The long whip was drawn on the chest of the heavy hammer like a snake. With just a whip, you can clearly see the sudden change of the face of the heavy hammer. The facial features are almost completely twisted together, and the big beads of sweat are already densely covered in an instant. Face.

Shaun has now officially stepped into the Silver Realm, and his vision and sensitivity have naturally improved greatly, so he can clearly see that this whip has already used the power of vindictiveness. This force passed through the skin and muscles without reservation, and completely knocked on the bones of the hammer, and obviously also used the means of concussion, which would greatly aggravate the pain, and the hammer was not beaten by this whip. Screaming is already his skill.

"It turned out not to be tamed." Andre let out a contemptuous sneer, "You are embarrassed to sell such a slave."

"You are also a colleague, I think you also know our difficulties." The person in charge's expression was a bit ugly. The curse of the hammer just now was obviously bad for his business. How could this make him happy, "Whether it is a single You can buy them in batches. But if you buy them in batches, I can consider them cheaper."

Andre glanced at all the slaves present.

There are not many slaves. There are only 13 people. Each of them wears heavy iron fetters on their feet. The weight may not be less than a hundred catties. Even the barbarians in the wild land are of this size and weight. There is no way to move freely, even if you walk, you can only move in small steps. The hands were also * with iron chains, all tied behind his back and connected to the iron fetters on his feet. This method of binding was enough to make these slaves incapable of fighting.

"These slaves are all locked with double locks... The danger is very high." Andre's eyes were already showing impatient expression.

"They are all fighters, and they are no weaker than silver masters." The person in charge wiped the sweat from his forehead. "We worked hard to capture this batch of slaves. Even the captain was seriously injured. Returning to China for treatment, but the journey along the way is not short, so we have no choice but to make the best move."

"How is it cheaper?" Andre said lightly.

"50 gold coins per person, you take all of them." The person in charge immediately replied, "If you want to buy it alone, 60 gold coins per person."

"Thirty, everyone." Andre turned his head to look at the person in charge, "They are too dangerous to be tamed, and you have already used torture once, and you don't know how many people will survive in the end. ."

"forty five!"

"I don't like bargaining." Andre said in a deep voice, "And you also know the rules."

When the word "rules" was heard, the person in charge's face suddenly changed, but although he was the person in charge, it seemed that he was not the one who made the decision. This can be seen from the struggle and hesitation on his face. I can tell.

"Forty gold coins per person, you take them all away." Seeing that the situation seemed a bit deadlocked, a middle-aged man who had been standing in the crowd suddenly spoke, "I am the deputy captain of this slave-catching team, this time I did sacrifice a lot of people. In addition to the cost of supplies along the way, we also have to pay for the blood money and the captain's treatment. Otherwise, as long as they are out of the wilderness, the worth of these slaves can definitely double. You know too, let's not waste time."

Xiao En's hand moved slightly. Although the movement was very slight, it was still caught by many people present. All of a sudden, everyone's eyes focused on Xiao En's body.

"It seems that you are the real leader of this team." The middle-aged man's perception ability is also extremely keen, even when he turns his head and looks at Sean.

Xiao En sighed slightly in his heart. His intention was to remind Andre that the deal could be traded, but he did not expect that the people here in the Wild Land were so sensitive in perception, and they deserved to be a group of people wandering on the edge of life and death. Now that the identity has been recognized, Sean naturally has no need to hide anything, but he did not lift the hood, but simply threw out five purses and then put them in another purse. Count out twenty gold coins and hand them to the other party: "Deal."

Chapter 95: .New destination

After the thirteen slaves were bought, the crowd of onlookers knew that there was nothing to watch, so they dispersed. And the two slave dealers and several others walked towards the Zhufeng tribe together. They were very fast, obviously worrying about something.

In an instant, only Sean and thirteen slaves were still outside the Zhanfeng tribe.

"Huh, if you want us to be obedient, you don't have to count on it." The heavy hammer finally relieved his breath until then, but even if he was relieved, his voice could still be heard. The whip just now was It really made him almost fainted, "The people of the Chongyan tribe have never had a gangster!"

"Unlock them." Sean said softly.

When this sentence came out, the hammer and the other twelve barbarians were stunned. These iron chains weigh more than two hundred kilograms. If they are normal, they are not a burden at all, but the iron locks cleverly tie their hands behind them, which makes them unable to break free even if they have strength. Not to mention that as slaves, they can only get a small piece of black bread every day to maintain their lives, so there is no strength to resist and escape.

After Andre heard what Shaun said, he naturally followed it immediately, without any hesitation. It's just that his whole person's aura at this time is also condensed in the most peak state, the whole person's body is tight, as long as the situation is wrong, he can immediately give the enemy a fatal blow, this is manifested Out of Andrei's caution and carefulness.

The heavy hammer didn't move much except for the initial shock. He stood so quietly, it seemed that he was really tamed. It's just that the more so, the less Andre dare not care, because the barbarians of the silver realm also mastered a very unique technique, which is a bit like human vindictiveness, but the group of barbarians is not called vindictiveness, and It's called anger.

The biggest difference between anger and vindictiveness is that the greater the blow, the more angry the person is, the stronger the bursting power will be. Other than that, all other characteristics are no different from vindictiveness. However, it is said that the outburst of anger will really affect the lifespan of the barbarians, especially if they are forced to anger in the case of serious injuries, even if they can defeat their opponents, they will never survive. on the contrary.

The silence of the barbarian usually does not mean showing weakness, but may be brewing some kind of fatal counterattack storm.

Although the person in charge said that these thirteen barbarians are as strong as the silver realm, but in fact there are only two people who really have the silver realm strength, one is the heavy hammer, the other is standing on the heavy hammer. The person behind. That is to say, only these two people can explode out of anger and do a desperate fight, but judging from the physical conditions of these two people, if they really do this desperate fight, no matter what the final result is, the two of them are obviously impossible. Survive.

Perhaps because of the quietness of the barbarians and the presence of Andrei's enemies, the surrounding atmosphere seemed to become a little stagnant.

"I didn't expect that you would be caught and used as a slave." In such an atmosphere, Sean suddenly spoke, and suddenly broke this sense of stagnation.

Heavy Hammer heard Sean's voice, and felt a bit familiar, but for a while, he couldn't figure out who the other party was, but there was an inexplicable sense of fear in his heart.

Sean saw the slightly dazed appearance of the heavy hammer, and knew that the other party was wondering his identity. In fact, as long as any normal person hears Sean's words, he will feel very confused. After all, this tone does not sound like an enemy at all, but rather like a communication between friends, so Sean stretched out his hand and lifted his hood. .

"It's you!" The first moment he saw Sean, the hammer let out an exclamation.

This exclamation was like a signal. The barbarians who were almost ready to fight to death looked at the young man who had just lifted his hood in a little amazement. The Hammer is one of the chief candidates of the tribe. They are naturally very clear. Think about the grumpy temper that almost everyone knows in the tribe. Then look at the shock and surprise on his face at this time. All the savages couldn't help but began to guess the identity of this young man.

What kind of person is to make the most grumpy tiger in their tribe become as cute as a kitten?

"It's me." Sean nodded, very casual, which became even more unfathomable in the eyes of other savages.

After being unlocked by the heavy hammer of the double lock, still had a look of uncertainty on his face, especially after feeling the vigorous vitality in Sean's body, the look on his face became more respectful and shocked.

He clearly remembered that, about a year ago, Sean's strength was only inferior bronze. At that time, he felt that he could even kill the opponent with a single blow. Just because the other party is a distinguished guest from many big tribes here in the Wild Land, this identity makes him completely afraid to act rashly. Therefore, when Sean asks him to leave Hongye Town, he will choose to leave obediently, otherwise he will use his How can you bear that kind of humiliation if you have a bad temper?

However, it has only been more than a year, and he has felt from Sean a vigorous vitality that is not inferior to him, and even has a power that has the same source of anger as his own. This is undoubtedly belonging to being The mysterious power called "fight". In other words, Sean now has as much strength as himself, maybe even a bit stronger than himself.

This made Heavy Hammer feel an inexplicable horror in his heart, even he didn't know the reason.

He subconsciously glanced at the middle-aged man who was unlocking for his other companions. From the breath radiating from him, he could judge that this man was far stronger than himself, and maybe it could be blocked by fighting his own life. The other side, but this is the limit. In addition, the other two people standing next to Sean, although one of these two people is similar to himself, the other is weaker than himself, but the hammer believes that people who can stand next to Sean are by no means simple. .

What's more, behind the four of them, in the team of eighty people, there are several people whose aura is not inferior to them or even stronger than them. However, the most visually stunning still belonged to the thirty-five bear people. The heavy hammer was the barbarian who had left the wilderness, so he also knew the standards of soldiers in those countries outside the wilderness. In terms of equipment, it is undoubtedly the same as those heavy infantry.

is really an elite force.

Heavy Hammer's eyes showed a bit of envy. If his tribe had such a fighting capacity, the situation would be different.

"Tell me, how did you get caught." While Heavy Hammer was still imagining that his tribe would have such a powerful army, Sean interrupted his illusion, "I haven't seen it in more than a year. , No matter how bad your strength is, there is no reason to be like this....You are a candidate for the chieftain of a tribe. It's hard to say if you leave the wild land, but you will definitely have followers when you return to the wild land."

Hearing Xiao En's words, the hammer's face finally showed anger: "The beasts of Yanqi tribe! They colluded with outsiders and sold us!"

"What's the matter?" Sean really became interested now, "You have not elected a king in the Wildlands now? Why is it so messy?"

"The king's call is that only those super tribes with a scale of thousands of people or more are eligible to go. Small tribes attached to a large tribe like us are not eligible to participate directly in the royal court council. So regarding the future results, we can only wait for the tribe to which we are attached to convey it." Heavy Hammer explained, "As for a small tribe like ours, no one cares at all if it does not achieve the purpose of letting the dependants look away. After all, any big tribe there are a few or even a dozen tribes under his command. If there is no achievement, who cares."

Xiao En nodded, saying that he has roughly understood: "So that's it, then what's the matter with you and Yan Qi?"

"The dispute between our Zhongyan tribe and Yanqi tribe has been around for a long time. The specific reason is that no one knows what happened. Anyway, as long as they find each other's tribe outside, they will start hunting." Heavy Hammer said. Said, "Originally, the strength of our Zhongyan tribe is stronger than that of Yanqi. After all, the hunting in these years is the number of times our tribe's people have won. When we were hunting outside the other day, we happened to find the Yanqi tribe. A hunting team in China, so we launched a chase, but it turned out to be a decoy. They colluded with a slave hunting team, and the result is what you see now."

"Since your strength is stronger than the opponent, isn't it enough to annex the opponent's tribe from the beginning?" Xiao En was puzzled.

"But our strength is also limited." Heavy Hammer said helplessly, "If we want to forcibly annex the Yanqi tribe, although it is not impossible, but our tribe will also be greatly injured. Then it will be easy. It was annexed by other tribes. Moreover, Yanqi tribe is a group of kobolds. It is not good for us to annex their tribe, but it will breed many new problems."

When he heard the kobolds, Sean understood why this Yanqi tribe colluded with the slave hunting team.

Fundamentally speaking, the kobolds here in the savage land are smarter than the outside kobolds. They know how to cooperate and intrigue. Cunning creatures like this are naturally much smarter than the barbarians who only know the honor of blindly charging. . But in terms of combat effectiveness alone, a barbarian can beat two or three kobolds, and with the pride of a heavy hammer, he can't completely annex the Yanqi tribe, so this is enough to prove that the number of Yanqi tribes is probably three times more than heavier. Rock tribe.

"Then what are your plans now?"

"Great guest, I don't know why you came to the Wildlands." Heavy Hammer asked with some embarrassment.

"Feel free to look around and walk around to learn about the situation in the wild land." Xiao En replied, "rest assured, we have no plans to arrest slaves for the time being. How can you say that you and I have a relationship and will not let you? Be a slave."

"Thank you so much." The hammer immediately knelt down and bowed his head to thank Xiao En. The other barbarians behind him also followed suit. I don't know if we can be allowed to travel with you for a period of time? I can guarantee that my entourage and I are all people who can fight, and will definitely not affect your itinerary and plans."

"What's the meaning?"

"My lord, if you let them leave now, I'm afraid they will become slaves again if they can't go far. This is the trade route of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce, and it is also a place where countless slave traps and trappers gather. "Andre immediately reminded, "And my lord, I don't know much about the areas that are too deep in the Wildlands. We really need people in the deep and abdomen of the Wildlands better than me."

"Great guest, I guarantee that I can do all these tasks!" Hearing Andrei's words, the heavy hammer that rolled in the outside world for a period of time would not understand it, and he immediately put down the guarantee letter on the stick. "If you don't mind the great guest, you can stay in our tribe for a while. The high priest in our tribe has lived for one hundred and fifty years. He knows a lot of information about the wild land, maybe it will be helpful to you. ."

"What do you say?" Sean turned his head and looked at Cecilia and Dini.

Originally, Sean had never thought of going so far, he just casually learned about the situation in the wilderness, so that he could make future plans for this place. But after hearing the words of the hammer at the moment, he was really interested in the information. After all, although he spent a period of time in the game in the wild land, but the time was not long, and now there are many wild land. The situation is seriously inconsistent with his memory, so he really needs to update his information.

It's just that the tribe that can attach to the big tribe is probably not a journey that can be completed more than a thousand miles in the wild land. This is likely to delay Sean's stay in the wild land. Although the current situation in the territory is temporarily in a relatively stable state, time is not allowed to be so wasted by Sean, and there are still several battles waiting for him.

"I don't care." Dini shrugged. She came to the Wildlands with the purpose of honing her skills, so she didn't care about the result.

"I think it might be worth checking it out." On the contrary, it was Cecilia, who didn't know if the magician's natural curiosity played a role. At this time, he agreed to go to the Chongyan tribe to see the situation. "Listen. Saying that the spells of the priests of the tribe are very different from our magicians, I would like to see it, maybe it will help me improve my magical ability."

Now that Cecilia has already talked about it, Sean certainly couldn't refuse: "That's good, we go to the Wind-Zhufeng Tribe to make supplements, and we will leave here early tomorrow morning and move on to the Chongyan Tribe.... But I can. Let's talk about it first, we won't interfere in matters between your Zhongyan tribe and Yanqi tribe."

"Yes, this is natural, and I really don't dare to bother you, the distinguished guest."

Chapter 96: .Trade Point

Wind-Chasing Tribe, as one of the 72 fulcrums of the head and tail snake route, the importance of the existence of this trading point is much more important than most people imagine.

The so-called head and tail snake route is a trade route specially developed by the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce Alliance for the wild land. It has a total of 72 trade points. These trade points are located on the outermost periphery of the entire wild land, and they just circle in a circle. The distance between each trade point is about 20 days, and the front and back error will not exceed five. sky. In other words, it would only take four years to complete the seventy-two trading points of the wild land.

Of course, this refers to the situation where you want to visit the entire periphery of the wilderness. But in fact, few people can do this, even if it is a person like Andre who has lived in the wild for more than five years, he has not really completed an area-the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance against the wild. The territory is vast, and the 72 trading points are divided into six regions according to the import and export of the six wildlands.

The six major areas are the Great Rift Valley, Ellison, Birmingham, Nadalavka, Robert, and the Millennium Covenant Area, which is completely controlled by the Millennium Covenant Empire.

The Zhanfeng tribe is one of the twelve trading points in the Great Rift Valley, and it is definitely the first trading point to arrive after entering from the Gorge Rift.

According to normal circumstances, the Zhufeng Tribe should be able to become the most prosperous trading point in the Great Rift Valley, or even the center of the entire region. But in fact, the opposite is true. Among the twelve trading points in the Great Rift Valley, the ranking of the Wind-Zhuh Tribe has not been higher and maintained the mid-stream level. The main reason is that the slave hunters in the barren land are not frequent. The entry and exit of the two regions, coupled with the palpitating mortality rate and scarcity of resources, so the development situation is also a matter of course.

Of course, this has a lot to do with the regional situation. After all, going out from the Great Rift Valley is the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion and the Principality of Ryan, and this entry point happens to be in the relatively barren border area of the two countries. Merchants cannot find much profit and business opportunities here. Without nature, there will be no development. Most slave hunters will choose the three areas of the Millennium Covenant Area, Birmingham Area, and Ellison Area as the main development and import and export areas, so these three areas are the real most prosperous areas in the entire head and tail snake route.

Andre had lived in the Zhufeng tribe for a period of time, so he was quite knowledgeable about this place. Therefore, under Andre's leadership, Xiao En and others didn't need to take too many detours, and easily found a place to stay. The place.

This is an area composed of dozens of tents. There is also a fence around this area to distinguish it from other tents. The inside of the tent is also somewhat different from the other tents that Sean saw along the way. In this huge tent made up of dozens of tents, there is an earth-yellow carpet. There are also some furniture and decorations inside, except for the surroundings. Everything seemed to be made of fabric, and it gave Sean and others the feeling that it was no different from those hotels in the city.

After passing through an area similar to the lobby of a tavern, this is the lodging area called the Wind Inn. What is different from ordinary hotels is that the "rooms" of this hotel are divided into high and low grades-like the high-end room shared by Sean, Cecilia and Dini, it is an independent tent with lining. There is a soft and thick layer of white wool upholstered blanket, and some symbolic furnishings are also covered with a layer of upholstery at the corners. In addition, even the washing area and toilets have corresponding plans. , Unlike the low-end area, you need to share a toilet, not even a washing area.

Zhufeng Tribe used to be a tribe in a wild land after all. Even if it is now a human territory, many things cannot be changed if you want to. After all, water resources are a scarce resource in the wild land. Therefore, the entire Zhufeng tribe has only one public bathhouse. Anyone who wants to take a bath can only go here, and the fee is very expensive, even the water in the bathhouse is not. Change every day.

The independent tent where Xiao En and others live can have an additional washing and bathing area, which is already considered a big project in Zhufeng tribe.

However, there are usually no women who come to the savage land, so it is not embarrassing for the slave trappers, merchants, and guards to deal with it in the public bathhouse. But Andre was able to discover this carefully and choose such a suitable place to stay, which naturally allowed him to win the favor of Cecilia and Tini. After all, these two women have a relatively long period of time. Time has not taken a shower.

While Cecilia and Dini were busy taking a shower, Sean did not stay in the room, and there is no need to worry about the safety issues here, because this Zhufeng Hotel is a hotel jointly run by several small chambers of commerce of the Zhufeng tribe. The lower gold powerhouse and the armed tribe of the entire trading point are directly responsible for guarding, and no one dares to make trouble here. Of course, even if they want to make trouble, most people probably won't be the opponents of Cecilia and Dini, not to mention Andre and others are there, unless the lower golden powerhouse takes the shot himself.

So Sean left the Zhufeng Hotel very relieved and started to wander around here.

The wild land has the rules of the wild land. Although this is a jungle society that advocates the weak and the strong, it is undeniable that because of the emergence of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce, this area is also rarer and more orderly, at least in the trade points. Inside, no private fights are allowed. Coupled with the extreme wind and sand here, under normal circumstances, people who are active here in the wild will wear special hooded cloaks with them. The style and color are almost uniform, so if it is not specially watched by people or accidentally leaked In terms of identity, so-called retaliation is usually not very successful.

At this point, it has greatly increased the safety of the slave hunters living here in the wild land.

After Sean bought the savages before, he did not treat these savages like ordinary slaves. Naturally, he fell into the eyes of some caring people. In addition, there were bear people in Sean's team, and Sean himself When the real face was revealed, not many people nearby saw it, so some people stared at Sean because they doubted Sean's identity, but because of some unspoken rules, no one dared to take action here.

But when Sean strolled around for a while, he still keenly felt that three people were following him.

What is the purpose of these three people, Sean does not know, but he is not interested in knowing. The reason why he left the team to hang out at this time is just to better understand the specific situation of the trade point of the first and last snake route, because there was no such situation in the game before, although he followed the guild to Utopia when he came to Utopia. It's already after the second expansion, and entering the Wildlands here or even after the third expansion, but after all, players are different from NPCs, because they all know how to search for so-called "guides" and "tutorials." "Even in the forum, there will be exchanges with each other.

However, looking at the entire development history of "Miracle" on the forum, nothing similar to the present has happened. He always felt that this world had already deviated greatly from the world history he knew. If he continues to deviate from this situation, will the world change according to the major historical events he knows as a turning point?

Sean started to feel a little worried, or fear.

Fear of the unknown.

At this moment, a person who was only as tall as Sean's shoulders suddenly collided with Sean.

"I'm sorry." The man apologized in a panic.

This is a teenager who seems to be a child. Although he is wearing a hooded cloak unique to the Wildlands, the head hat on his head is not covered by a veil, so Sean can see the other person who is still slightly immature. face. This discovery made Sean a little surprised, because according to Andre's introduction along the way, Sean generally understood the situation in the wild land. The most unlikely people here are children and old people.

Women's words are very rare, but they are not uncommon.

After all, sometimes when aristocrats travel, there will definitely be maids around them. Of course, someone like Xiao En who brought a female magician and goddess official out directly, let alone never seen it before, or even heard of it.

In the wild land, the only people who can see children and old people are the prisoners, that is, the slaves.

But the child in front of him is obviously a normal human being, not a slave, because slaves don't have hooded cloaks.

But astonishment is astonishment. Sean had already heard about the trade point from Andre before, and even smiled and said, "If you just return the money bag to me, I will treat it as nothing happened. ."

"Sir, what are you talking about?" This time, the teenager really showed a look of panic.

"Of the three people who have been following me, one is your companion?" Sean reached out and touched the right side of the cloak. There was an extremely small long mouth. Although the cloak did not appear to be damaged on the surface, In fact, it has been cut open by some kind of weapon that Sean doesn't know. "Now only two people are following me, and the other one has disappeared. Obviously you transferred the money bag you stole from me. That's it."

"Sir, I'm sorry, I don't know what you are talking about." The young man shook his head in a panic, turned around and already wanted to escape, but was grabbed by Sean with one hand, and he was already in pain with the slightest effort. The teenager was almost in tears, "Sir, please... please let go, it hurts."

"The first lesson in the Thieves Guild, shouldn't you teach thieves how to choose targets?" Xiao En's right said tightly holding the young boy's left wrist, still smiling, "Eighty Pan Mainland gold coins, although it is not a lot of money here in Zhufeng Tribe, it happens to be our overnight accommodation fee. If you only take a few gold coins, I will just open one eye and close one eye and bow my head. Fei is not such a way of dealing, either.... His hands are a little darker."

"Hey, outsider, don't you know that Zhufeng Tribe does not allow private fights? I still keep this kid."

Xiao En turned his head and saw that the person who opened his mouth to stop his behavior was one of the two other people who had been following him, and several other people had already surrounded him at this time. This scene reminded Sean of a lot of interesting things. The corners of his mouth raised slightly—even though no one could see it, Sean still smiled very happily, and even his voice became a little excited and brisk: "Is it because the thief is a child, so I should forgive him for this wrong behavior?... Since you adults are not good at disciplining your children, why don't you give me an education?"

"What do you want to do!?"

"Crack!"

A crisp fracture sound, sounded on the spot!

Chapter 97: .trouble

"boom".

The sound of a heavy object falling on the ground shocked Andre and others by surprise.

"Pain..." The heavy object murmured in protest.

Everyone present looked at the heavy object that was thrown on the ground by Sean—a young man with a miserable expression.

"My lord, this..." Andre glanced at the young man, then raised his head and glanced at Sean again, somehow he couldn't figure out what his lord was doing.

"People from the Thieves Guild." Sean moved a chair casually and put it down, then sat down, looking at the somewhat restrained and scared young man on the ground, and said in a deep voice, "This little guy is quick and courageous. It's quite big. I dared to steal my purse while I was distracted for a while. If I didn't hit me at the end, I'm afraid I would have to wait until I came back to find out." At the end, Xiao En stretched out He kicked the boy's  fiercely, and said coldly: "Okay, don't pretend to be wronged or afraid."

The Thieves Guild, as a guild on the mainland with the same reputation as the Brotherhood, Wizards' Guild, Knights' Hall and other large professional organizations, this guild is very unpopular. In other words, apart from the people of the thieves system, no one would have any kindness towards this guild, even if they were forced to deal with the people of this guild, they would definitely raise twelve points of vigilance and alert, who I dare not take it lightly.

Because this guild is not only doing some sneaky things, but their intelligence gathering ability is also beyond doubt, and in terms of their breadth rather than professionalism, if they think they are second, no one would dare to think that they are the first. . In addition, the Thieves Guild also provides services such as assassinations, assassinations, etc., and even has contacts with many other organizations.

And low head fee is a proprietary term of the Thieves Guild.

In fact, this has become a very common phenomenon on the Marvel Continent: When any stranger goes to a place where there is a thieves guild, some of his money is stolen by the thieves belonging to the guild. Especially citizens like those who are preparing to open shops in new cities, even if they have clearly discovered that someone is stealing their own money bags, they will choose to remain silent, because if they resist, then there will probably not be any shops they opened. What kind of business.

The people in the Thieves Guild will not make trouble with you, but they will let a bunch of gangsters or gangsters sit in front of your store. How can anyone dare to come to you to buy things?

Of course, the Thieves Guild would not dare to be too outrageous for those who are powerful and powerful, and usually take away one or two gold coins symbolically. And how can ordinary masters or strong people have too much reaction to one or two gold coins, so they have the right to send beggars and save some troubles that may arise, so that both parties can get along It is more pleasant, and even some people will contact the thieves' guild in this way.

It is precisely because of this, so this behavior is called lowering the head fee.

However, it seems to Shaun that this is the same virtue as the so-called collection of protection fees in the 1970s and 1980s on the earth. As for this, Sean naturally understood it. After all, he had heard a lot of Andre's nagging along the way, so of course he was too clear about this rule. It's just that this time it's the Thieves Guild's people who made their hands darker, and they cut off the money bag containing 80 Pan-Continent gold coins on his body. He looked down upon Sean, who is now considered a master at any rate.

"My lord, you and the people from the Thieves Guild..." Andre looked astonished, "A conflict?"

"Teached a little lesson and interrupted the hands and feet of those who don't have eyes." Xiao En said lightly, "but don't worry, you didn't kill them, the thieves' guild's face is not ugly.... Since They pick the wrong person without long eyes, so of course they need to pay a small price. They can't let my 80 gold coins throw away in vain? Even if I throw this money into the sea, there will still be a popping sound. ."

"No, no, I mean..." Andrei's face was obviously a little nervous, "My lord, who did you and the Thieves Guild first move?"

"Of course it's your grown-up." The young man really doesn't worry at all. It must be that since pretending is useless, he is too lazy to act. "You can see that you are very familiar with the rules of the trade point. Well, why didn't the adults teach you? It's fatal to make this kind of mistake."

Sean looked at Andre blankly, but saw the latter with a wry smile: "My lord, the rules of the trade point are that private fights are strictly prohibited. This private fight includes even if a thief steals your purse, you will only Can catch people but never take the lead."

"That means if my purse is stolen, then I can only consider myself unlucky?"

"Of course not." The young man had a leisurely look. He even dared to stretch and yawn freely here, "Trade Points have rules for Trade Points, and even our Thieves Guild must abide by the rules here. You caught it. I, the other brothers will definitely come out to stop you, but if you can successfully take me to the chief's residence, we will naturally return the money bag, so you shouldn't make a move just now, and you will take Brother Eminem as soon as you make a move. All of his hands were broken, and young people nowadays just can't hold back their breath."

Shaun looked up at Andre, who nodded.

"You kid is calm." Xiao En grinned at the boy, which made the boy suddenly feel a sense of horror.

"You, what do you want to do?" The young man shrank back in a little fear, but before he climbed a few steps, he seemed to hit the pillar. He looked up with a little horror, but saw a barbarian He stared at himself fiercely. Although he didn't hold a weapon, his aura was extremely strong and strong. It was the cold killing intent that really rolled out of the sea of corpses.

At this time, the boy finally started to look at the surrounding situation thoroughly.

The place where he is now, he clearly knows that it is in the low-end tent of Zhufeng Hotel. A tent like this can accommodate forty people. At this time, there were nearly 30 people in the tent, ten of them were barbarians born and raised in the wild, and there were also humans, werewolves, gray elves, goblins, dwarves, and many other races, look. It looks like almost all races in the entire Wildlands are organized together.

The young man turned his head in horror, this time he was really frightened. It's not because of Sean's strength, but because of Sean's background and identity. After all, the teenager has spent a lot of time in the Wildlands. He also knows better about the conditions in the Wildlands, and because he knows more about the situation in the Wildlands. , So he knew how difficult it is to integrate such a team.

"Me, I'm just a child." The boy panicked a little.

"I think I am a child now?" Xiao En snorted coldly, "You can be quite calm, you just looked like you didn't care."

"My lord, we don't need to entangle with this kid now." Andre said, "We must take the lead to leave this place before the strong man at this trading point can react, otherwise, once the other party receives intelligence and starts to gather troops. , We will be very troublesome."

"Go and call Cecilia and Dini, they should still be taking a bath." Sean frowned, the development of the matter was indeed beyond his expectation, "How about the supply of supplies? Enough for us this time. Was the departure consumed?"

"I have asked Mr. Hammer to go out to purchase, but they have not returned." Andre said with some worry, "If we are too much at this time, Mr. Hammer's situation will be a little unfavorable."

"Get them back immediately." Sean sighed. "If you usually fight in a trade point, what will happen to you?"

"Basically, none of them are alive, all for the purpose of establishing their power." Andre said in a deep voice, but at the same time he immediately ordered a werewolf to find the hammer and others, because in the past, the supplies were supplemented by Andre. I took them there, so they knew exactly where these things were purchased. Naturally, the werewolf's feet would have an advantage, "Then this kid..."

Andre made a gesture of wiping his throat.

"Don't, don't kill me!" The boy jumped up with a look of horror, but when he tried to escape, he was caught with one hand by a barbarian.

"This kid is still useful." Xiao En said faintly, "His hands are fast and he is careful enough. The most important thing is that he has a good acting level.... I wanted to see if he could get a subordinate. , I didn't expect that this kid would cause a lot of trouble."

What Xiao En liked was naturally the boy's neat movements and his unafraid of death, which was clearly a "man of art and courage".

For the understanding and cognition of this world, Sean is no longer the one who needs the assistance of the system to get to know him well, so even if he doesn't know the name of this little devil, but this little devil has been silent from the past. He knew that this young man was a relatively talented person. As for Sean, who is currently extremely lacking in various talents under his command, talented people are naturally necessary to be recruited under his command.

Otherwise, how could Sean bring this young man back, and would have crippled him like the rest of the thieves' guild.

Does Sean really care about the 80 gold coins? In fact, he just found an excuse to catch this kid back.

Since Sean has already planned, Andre will of course not say anything, he is personally responsible for calling Cecilia and Dini. For these two elders who are equally temperamental, Andre certainly knows how to serve better. If other people are allowed to go, I am afraid they will go directly into the tent to call people, and Andre is very good. I can understand what Sean means when he said "the two are taking a bath" to him.

As for the current meeting, after hearing Sean's words, the young man looked at Sean incredulously.

Chapter 98: .Junior Rupee

Rupiah has calmed down a bit, at least after knowing that he will not die, he will not worry so much.

As a thieves born in a thieves' guild, Rupi received only one indoctrination since he was a child.

Only valuable people can survive.

This is the rule his adoptive father taught him, and he has always followed this rule, so his life over the years has not been good, but it is not bad. Of course, compared to the young girls of his age who are new to the Thieves Guild, his situation has naturally always been the envy of everyone. But unfortunately, after Rupi's adoptive father was killed in a failed assassination operation three years ago, Rupi's good days began to come to an end, no matter how hard he tried to make himself more valuable and present, but he The exclusion is worse.

The young rupiah finally achieved rapid growth in these successive setbacks, and finally understood the warmth, hypocrisy, and snobbery in the world.

So two years ago, he chose to enter the wild land to develop here.

As a fascist, the area that Ruby chose to enter could not be the Great Rift Valley, but the Ellison area with the Rios Forest in the Principality of Ekiri as the entrance and exit. But in one of the three most prosperous areas in the Wildlands, how can there be a place for a child who is only fourteen years old? So in order to be able to survive and to exercise his strength, Ruby spent more than a year crossing the Ellison District and finally came to the Wind Chaser tribe in the Great Rift Valley.

In this obviously backward area, although the situation of Zhufeng Tribe is fine, it is indeed very barren compared to other places. But such a place is more suitable for Rupiah's life. So after half a year, Rupi not only completely took root here in the Wind-Zhuking Tribe, but his strength was also upgraded from Tier 2 to Bronze. Although the strength is not particularly strong, The Wild Land is finally no longer the kind of level that would be called by people at will. Perhaps because this place is too poor, there are fewer disputes. Rupiah gets along very well with the members of the Thieves Guild here.

And with his adoptive father's training and practice over the past few years, Ruby finally established his position in the Zhufeng tribe. If it weren't the case, how could Sean catch the rupee when so many people would come forward to intercept it?

Originally relying on this method, the thieves' guild here in the Wind-Zhufeng tribe has always mixed up pretty well, because if it is an ordinary person, this lower fee can only be paid out obediently even if it is not very happy. Even if there is some strength, people usually don't make trouble here, so in most cases, this low head fee will not be able to get back in the end.

But, is Sean an ordinary person?

He has used countless facts to prove that anyone who wants to treat him as an ordinary person will end up miserably.

"What's your name?" Sean raised Erlang's legs, sat on the chair, and asked Rupiah.

"Rupee." At the moment, the young Rupee looked like he had already accepted his fate, and answered his name honestly.

Sean's eyes flashed with a golden light, and the Rupee's data quickly appeared in front of him, which made Shaun a little satisfied. At least in this respect, the Rupee did not intend to hide anything, but chose to tell the truth.

[Name: Rupee]

【Race: Human】

【Combat Class: Thief (Tier 3)】

[Personal attributes-strength: 18 (28); endurance: 19 (34); agility: 23 (34); wisdom: 15 (27); will: 19 (34)]

Although it has long been known that Rupiah's talents should be considered very good, when the data returned by True Eye emerged, Sean was a little surprised. The current attributes in the personal attributes are not very good for the lower bronzes, but this is actually related to the nutrition and personal exercise of the rupees. Senior gamers like Sean will not care about these at all. What they really care about is The potential value of a character.

Take the personal attributes of Rupee, when his potential is fully developed, the three attributes of endurance, agility, and will can be as high as 34 points, which is even higher in the lower bronze level. . Even those children from aristocratic origins cannot be any better than the rupee in terms of potential, and they may even be inferior.

In other words, Rupee is the second genius that Sean has seen in the two or three years since he came to this world.

Alfred is a powerful character in the game, but he grew up relying on hard work and the motivation of revenge as a support, not a genius; and Rina, strictly speaking, she is not a genius, as for why she left As for the growth path of the Gunslinger and even the Holy Gunner, Sean is not clear about it; as for Anno, it is because of racial boundaries that he is destined to be impossible to become a strong man. In addition, the Aldolf, Stalin, Knok, etc. encountered in Pandaling can only be regarded as potential commanders. It is obviously impossible to become an enemy of a thousand people or an enemy of ten thousand people. .

It is undeniable that William and Neal are also geniuses.

It's just that William is a commander-type genius, and Neal is a lord-type genius. The two men happen to be a military and an internal affairs, and they are also not related to military force.

Therefore, strictly speaking, Rupiah is really the second talent with great potential that Sean has seen only after Cecilia.

According to Rupi's current personal attribute potential, there are at least three growth paths suitable for him in the future: the path of magic thieves targeting treasure hunters, assassins with full-time assassination methods, and even the development path of bards.

Shaun rubbed his chin, and his gaze at Rupi immediately softened a bit, because at the moment he just lacked a magic thief to help him build the underground magic laboratory located in the rift valley.

Of course, this kind of softness is that for Sean, it falls in Rupi's eyes, that is, he instantly feels the malice from the world.

"You...you...you...what do you want to do!" Rupi shrinks back cautiously and fearfully, even if he knows that there is no place to hide, but Rupi still wants to hide himself, he I think it's terrible that this man looks at his eyes.

"How about let's make a deal?" Sean said.

"I don't think there is anything to talk about between us." Ruby shook his head, "No matter how authoritative you are in the outside world, as long as you enter the wilderness, you must abide by the rules here. Now it is you who break the rules first. And he hurt so many brothers in our Thieves Guild. Even if the Thieves Guild does not trouble you, Lord Billy will never let you go. He hates others to challenge his authority."

"Who is Billy?" Sean turned his head and looked at Andre.

"It's the trade chief here. At the same time, he is also a strong man who sits in the tribe of the wind chasing tribe." Andre said, "Every trade point has a trade chief. They are the rule-makers of the entire trade point, including price transactions. Or the licensing of trading rights, etc., it's up to them.... But not every trade chief is a strong one, Lord Billy is one of the few exceptions."

Cecilia suddenly said: "In other words, as long as you kill him, then the Trade Point of the Wind-Zhufeng Tribe will be in chaos?"

Andre thought for a while, and then replied: "Not necessarily. Although Billy-sama killed, the Wind-Zhuking Tribe would indeed be in chaos because of the loss of the strong position, but after all, there is still an elite armed force. Unless the entire slave-catching team of the trade point is willing to unite, it is impossible to compete with them.... But I don't think anyone will be willing to offend the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance."

"That's not necessarily." Xiao En smiled, but his expression was obviously colder, "We are leaving here now, it is enough to give him face, if he still wants to go to war with us, then I too Don't mind picking up this trading point."

Rupi looked at Sean and the others with horror. He really couldn't imagine why anyone would dare to discuss the topic of killing the trade chief so indifferently.

In his eyes, Billy, the trade chief at the next golden pinnacle, is an existence he can only look up to.

You must know that the gap between upper silver and lower gold is by no means a simple quantification of the same order. The gap between the master and the strong is a qualitative difference. In other words, if a low-level gold powerhouse is willing, he can easily kill the ten-digit high-level silver peak master easily. If he does not have this strength, how can he sit in a place where the weak and strong food is like a wild land? What about trade points?

And don't say that trade chief Billy is the powerhouse of the next golden pinnacle. Behind him is the giant Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance!

The power possessed by this behemoth is not willing to provoke it easily even if it is a thieves' guild.

"Hey, I'm talking about you." Sean continued to put his idea on Rupiah, "How about joining me? I just need a magic thief right now. Of course, your current situation definitely can't help me. , But you can rest assured that I will let Cecilia teach you some magic-related knowledge and make you an official magic thief."

Hearing what Shaun said, Cecilia, Dini, and Andre reacted immediately.

"Are you sure he can do it?" Cecilia asked with some confusion.

"It's still a bit potential." Shaun replied, "Isn't that magic trap not difficult anyway?"

"It's not difficult, but it's a relatively old magic trap. Even if he becomes a magic thief, he can't solve it in a short time. You need to learn the corresponding ancient magic knowledge." When it comes to topics related to magic, Cecilia As if he had changed himself, the whole person immediately became rigorous and serious.

"It's okay, anyway, we won't go back in the next few months. Take advantage of this time to teach and teach as much as possible."

"Okay." Cecilia nodded, she was also very curious about the things hidden in the magic laboratory. But if you hire a magic thief, the confidentiality is naturally unlikely to be perfect, so instead of hiring a magic thief, it is better to let Shaun train one by himself.

It's just that Cecilia didn't really think that the boy in front of her could become a magic thief.

Ruby, on the other hand, looked stunned at Sean and the others. He looked at each other and discussed his future in front of him. This made him feel very awkward. Shouldn't they ask him first? Opinion?

"When did I promise to join your subordinates!" Rupi made a protest.

"Really?" Sean raised his eyebrows, "Since you don't intend to, then you are worthless. Um... such a person is also a waste of food, so just solve it here."

"Actually, my lord, you misunderstood. I'm just a little worried that I will let you down." Rupi's face turned into a barren land. The climate is fast, "It's really an honor to be able to serve you, my lord."

"It's okay, I'm very generous and generous." Sean smiled, but this smile made Rupi again feel the malice of the world.

At this moment, the hammer has returned.

It's just that he brought a piece of bad news that Shaun didn't want to hear: "My lord, we are surrounded."

Chapter 99: Billy, Chief of Trade surrounded?

Everyone is a little startled, is this trade chief really planning to kill them all here?

Ruby looked at Xiao En and the others with a gleeful look. Anyway, many people saw him being carried back by Xiao En, and he would say that he was kidnapped. As for whether Sean's group is alive or dead, how could he care?

Shaun got up and started to walk outside the tent. The others hurriedly got up and followed.

It seemed that the trade chief of the Wind-Zhufeng tribe was too much. Others who were resting at the Wind-Zhufeng Hotel had already come out. However, when Billy, the trade chief of the Wind-Zhu Feng tribe, personally led the armed forces to surround the entire inn's tent at the door. , These people turned pale with fright in an instant.

"People who have nothing to do with the private fight at the market just now, please leave." A middle-aged man said in a deep voice.

In an instant, a large number of people left immediately.

Under the deterrence of the lower golden realm powerhouse, no one dares to stay here.

Of course, Sean wanted to leave, but he knew very well that Billy had already known that he was the one who had personal fights. Because from the moment he appeared in front of Billy, Billy's eyes had been fixed on him. This feeling made Sean a little bit uncomfortable-no one would feel that he was being treated by a strong man. After the momentum is locked, you can still feel comfortable.

"Aren't you leaving?" Billy's gaze fell on the people around Sean, "I said, people who have nothing to do with the private fight in the market can leave."

Cecilia looked around in a circle, and then whispered: "It is a formation of encirclement and suppression. This formation can maximize their combat capabilities."

Hearing Cecilia's words, Sean's eyes also looked around.

Infantry cavalry. Strictly speaking, they are not cavalry. Although they have certain horse fighting capabilities, they are basically infantry. From Sean's point of view, the so-called infantry cavalry is basically an infantry with high mobility. Compared with the real cavalry, there is still a big deficiency in the charge ability, but this type of army can Adapt to the combat requirements of more occasions and terrain.

Officially armed soldiers of the Wind Chaser tribe, everyone wears a set of leather armor. Leather armor is not animal skin, but some kind of tanned leather. The defense ability of this kind of leather armor is not weak, and it will not increase the physical exhaustion of soldiers in combat and increase the weight of horses. Especially in places where the climate is obviously hotter in the Wildlands, although the breathability of leather is not high, it is at least more comfortable than wearing armor. This is indeed the best defensive equipment for the soldiers of the Zhanfeng tribe. .

The soldiers surrounding the Zhufeng Hotel have been divided into two layers.

The soldiers on the first floor are holding a round shield in their left hand and a short sword in their right hand. This configuration gives them a strong ability to fight in close quarters. Unlike the steel wings under the command of Sean, the combat distance must be controlled within a certain range to have the combat advantage. Once the enemy rushes close to him, they will not have any combat advantage by relying on the long spear. The sword also made them have to abandon part of their defensive capabilities.

The second-tier soldiers standing behind these soldiers are all drawn and ready to shoot.

Sean didn't see if they were equipped with other weapons, but under the aim of hundreds of sharp arrows, no one could ignore this killing momentum.

"I think there is any misunderstanding between us?" Sean has been able to judge the strength of this armed force, which should basically be equivalent to the steel wings under Alfred's command. This combat power is enough for Sean Don't dare to take it lightly, "Billy Trade Chief."

"I don't think there is any misunderstanding between us."

Trade chief Billy is a middle-aged man. His face is slightly longer, his chin is relatively pointed, his hooked nose and thin lips make him look a little cold, his blond hair is neatly combed, and he is wearing a hunting outfit. It is also very clean, and it can be seen that this is a very strict person. And people like this usually don't have the slightest amount of sand in their eyes, that is, as Rupiah said, trade secretary Billy will never allow any challenge to his authority.

"You broke the rules of the trade point, then you have to pay for it. I think this is a very reasonable thing."

"This is the first time I set foot in a wild land. I think there may be other remedies." Sean is not ready for a formal war with the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance. If possible, he certainly hopes to be more secure. Ways to resolve the current troubles and disputes, "for example, compensation for gold coins."

Billy raised his right hand and exhaled in a deep voice: "The archer is ready!"

Xiao En's gaze froze. He knew that there was no turning point in this matter right now: "After I entangled him for a while, you immediately broke through."

"Then what do you do?" Cecilia's brows frowned slightly, "Even if you can entangle him, but if you are surrounded by soldiers, you can't escape."

Cecilia didn't doubt Sean's strength, which she and Dini knew very well. But this kind of trust falls in the eyes of Andre and Rupee. It is not unbelievably simple. Andre is better. After all, he knows Sean's identity. Even the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance will definitely not be unreasonable. If you have a bad relationship with a lord, if it is really too much, as long as Xiao En can survive this time, no one can stop the next time the army suppresses the situation.

And the rupee, I really can't believe it at all.

Are these people crazy? ——This is the first impression in his heart, and the second impression is: "Wow! Do you want to die, don't pull me down! I'm still young! My future..."

"Stunned." Sean said calmly.

After punched down with a heavy hammer, Ruby's head was battered.

"It's a miracle not to have a concussion." Sean took a glance.

"I will pay attention to it in the future." The heavy hammer is a barbarian, and the attack is indeed not serious. After he was able to punch Rupiah's head, it has not exploded like a watermelon. It is already a very incredible thing.

"Do you think that there is a hostage on your hand, do I be merciful?" Billy's eyes were slightly narrowed, and his voice was already clearly angry, "Shoot!"

The distance between Xiao En and others and these armed soldiers is very close to each other, even less than 30 meters. At this distance, the arrow shot by the full-string bow will penetrate the bodies of Xiao En and others in less than two seconds. Even with the strength of the Silver Realm, it is useless, because it is absolutely impossible to stimulate the fighting energy to the extreme. Resist the arrows from all directions, and the low-level silver masters can only use fighting qi as a means of attack. If you want to condense the fighting qi into armor to strengthen your own defense capabilities, you must be a high-level silver. arrive.

As a low-level gold power, Billy can clearly see at a glance that there is only one high-level silver among the five people in front of him, three of the other four are low-level silver, and the other is even an upper-level silver. Bronze only.

Dare to chase the wind and make trouble with the tribe with such strength?

A cruel sneer appeared on Billy's face: I want everyone to know that the brutal blood is not a legend!

But this cruel sneer just broke out, and Billy's face immediately became very difficult to look: a group of bear people suddenly rushed out of the tent, holding tower shields in their hands, and easily shot them at Sean and so on. All people's arrows are blocked.

Zhufeng tribe who came and who left, Billy, as the trade chief, naturally knew very well.

So he knew that a group of guests lived in the Wind-Zhufeng Hotel before, and there were dozens of bear people in this group of guests, and even the famous sand wolf Andre in the team, so he was also paying attention. . But I didn't expect that the young man in front of him was the true leader of this team. With the strength of this slave hunting team, he was indeed qualified to walk sideways in the Great Rift Valley.

It's just that Billy knows very well that since he has already said something dead before, then naturally there is no room for reversal. No matter what the price is paid, he must completely keep this slave hunting team here.

"The archer prepares, the spearman prepares!" Billy spoke again.

Soon, Xiao En and others saw that the armed soldiers who originally surrounded Xiao En and others quickly separated into two layers. Although it seemed that they were only reducing the number of people in the first layer of encirclement, the overall formation was But it is a bit denser, which is obviously a manifestation of enhanced defensive capabilities. But the original second-tier archers retreated to the fourth-tier position, and their arrows were no longer aimed at a flat level, but were prepared to use projectile methods.

As for the extra armed soldiers of the second and third tiers, they did not know where they brought a batch of short spears and held them high in their hands, ready to throw them.

The throwing distance of the short spear is naturally not farther than the range of the bow and arrow, but in the close range, the short spear has the greatest lethality, and the armor penetration is far more terrifying than the arrow. Especially in the hands of some races that are born with power, a short spear is a reminder, especially the armed forces under Billy's command. Their short spear throwing is specially trained, so it is called the name. The tower shield with the strongest defensive ability among the shields, their short spears are enough to break a line of defense.

Sean slowly raised his right hand, and shouted in a deep voice: "Round formation!"

All the bear people immediately took a few steps forward. They formed a tight circle, and the impact shield was held in their hands and stood side by side. The sound of the neat steps and the sound of the shield was like a dull bell and drum. It sounded, and hit Billy's heart fiercely. From the standpoint of military literacy alone, it was clearly not inferior to the armed forces he trained. But if that's the case, that's all. Soon a new group of people came out of the tent. Their appearance in hooded cloaks made Billy unable to determine their race and identity, but the same was true of these people's hands. When holding the short spear, Billy's composure could no longer be maintained.

The same short spear throwing, but Sean's troops used the largest and most defensive tower shield among the shields. The throwing of the short spear can only use the impact force to knock off the center of gravity of the shield-holding hand. Open a defensive loophole and want to use a short spear to penetrate the defense of the tower shield directly, unless the enchanted explosive spear is used. But what Billy's troops used was a buckler that couldn't even defend himself completely, let alone an enchanted explosion spear, even if it was an ordinary short spear thrown in one round, his casualties were definitely not light.

Billy took a deep breath to calm the mania caused by something unexpected in his heart. He hasn't taken any action for a long time, because since the rules of the wild land have been followed by everyone, no one will be in the wild again. The place is making trouble here. But this time, regardless of whether it is really a misunderstanding like what Sean said, Billy, who is already riding a tiger, has no way to choose peace talks, because there are still many slave trappers around, so Billy decided that he You have to do it yourself!

Almost at the moment when he made up his mind, Billy rushed towards the circle formed by Sean and the others like a hungry wolf.

No one expected that Billy, who is already a strong, would actually use this sneak attack method, and he did not have the consciousness of being a strong at all!

Chapter 100: .I fight gold with silver

No one expected that Billy didn't even explain anything about the scene, and suddenly launched an attack on Sean and the others.

Xiao En's pupils shrank suddenly, and even he hadn't expected that there would be a strong person so shameless, and immediately activated the two abilities of adrenal stimulation and light body surgery at the same time. Vaguely felt that his heart suddenly shook, and a steady flow of power rushed from his heart to his body. Sean could feel that his consciousness and feelings became exceptionally clear at this moment, and the whole world seemed to become slow. Like the action replay, Billy, who was originally swift and thunderous, also clearly appeared in his field of vision.

"In five minutes, you must break through!"

After Shaun left this sentence, he flipped his right hand, the dead bone was in his hand, and immediately rushed towards Billy.

Billy's eyes narrowed slightly. He did not expect that the young man in front of him was so courageous and dared to attack himself. But this did not make him have any intention of being merciful. Since he has already used sneak attacks regardless of his identity, it is naturally impossible to be particular about it, not to mention that the two sides have faced each other from a hostile standpoint from the beginning. How can the enemy be soft-hearted?

It's just that Billy also knows that after this battle, I am afraid that his subordinates will suffer a little loss.

Because even if he can kill the opponent in a flash, but this second is enough time for the opponent to throw dozens of short spears. In this wave of attacks, how many people under his command can survive, then only Resigned to fate.

But when he thought that after killing the opponent team, he could harvest so many slaves and sophisticated equipment, Billy felt that this loss would not be so difficult to accept.

The two quickly collided in the middle of the charge.

The dead bone in Sean's hand waved toward Billy's throat.

Because of the extremely fast speed, the slashing of the long sword seems to tear the entire space apart. The airflow surrounds with the movement of the sword, and it is a real gap in the eyes of both sides!

Billy's pupils finally shrank suddenly, and with this sword, he has truly felt the crisis of death!

There was an incredible look on his face. At this time, his momentum was already extremely fast, and it was completely impossible to stop immediately. Watching this silver-white long sword swing towards his throat like this, if he continues to rush forward without any hindrance, then this sword will directly behead him without any suspense!

how is this possible!

Billy is already a strong player in the golden realm. Whether it is combat experience or vision, he is far from comparable to ordinary people. He can even start to use the momentum and pressure to form his own home court advantage. This is why the strong in the golden realm can Easily deal with the root cause of multiple silver masters. So from Sean's sword, he saw Sean's rich combat experience and judgment ability. Even in terms of the power and speed he wielded, Billy could see that Sean's possession and realm were completely incompatible. Strength!

This is where Billy really can't believe it!

A mere silver, how can it be possible!

But no matter how unbelievable, as a strong person in the golden realm, he still has a strong psychological quality. So in the next second, Billy's right hand was already raised, and a rune suddenly lit up on the silver metal glove, followed by a red flame igniting from the glove, the surrounding The temperature of the space suddenly rose by more than a dozen degrees in an instant, and Sean could even feel that the water in his body was losing crazily.

Magic weapons!

The white long sword and the flame-flaming gloves collided with each other.

Frenzy energy fluctuations raged out instantly.

The place where Sean and Billy stood suddenly collapsed by several inches. Several cracks about three or four inches thick spread wildly from where they stood, and the strong air currents were also at this moment. It burst out suddenly, and even overturned several nearby tents. And in the eruption of this airflow, the magic flame on Billy's right hand glove was even directly extinguished!

Billy's face changed suddenly, and in the next second he felt a slight pain from the back of his right hand.

It was the long sword in Sean's hand that finally slashed on the metal back of Billy's right hand trap - and before that, Billy had completely relied on the magic flame on the metal glove to resist Sean's slash. At this time, the magic flame was extinguished, and after losing the ability to resist the outside world, the long sword would naturally slash on the glove, but what really changed Billy's face was the slight tingling sensation in his right hand.

A crack appeared on the metal glove!

Magic weapons require special materials to make, otherwise they cannot withstand the explosion of magic power at all, so this type of equipment is known for its sturdiness. But now, this enchanted weapon in Billy's hand was cut into a crack by Sean's sword. In terms of the particularity of the enchanted weapon, it is equivalent to announcing that the metal glove in Billy's right hand is already It was completely abolished.

After a sword and his prestige, Sean is simply not forgiving, and he has the momentum to directly cut off Billy's right hand.

The long sword in his hand moves forward, and the sword is more powerful!

Seeing that this sword was more fierce than before, Billy had to give up the idea of bypassing Sean and attacking the army behind him, and his left hand protruded from the side, grabbing the dead-bone sword fiercely. Only this time, what burned out of the metal glove on the left hand was not a hot flame, but a crystal-blue white mist. Compared with the high temperature that had risen sharply before, the moment when the white mist came out , But it was a severe cold hitting, as if the whole body's blood would be completely frozen.

Billy's left hand swipes to the left of the dead bone sword, and the white frost instantly condenses the entire sword body with a layer of ice. Immediately afterwards, his right hand suddenly clenched a fist and hammered down the sword, and Sean could even see the vindictive energy surrounding Billy's right hand-but after the fist fell, the result was similar to that of Billy. The imagined situation is completely different.

The ice on the long sword was indeed crushed by Billy's punch, but the dead bones of the sword were still intact!

Sean doesn't pay attention to Billy's look. He only knows that his time is very tight and he can't stand any consumption at all. With a flick of his right hand, he shakes off the icy debris on the long sword, and then the next sword is directed towards Billy's heart pierced away.

Billy didn't dare to use his right hand to pick up Sean's sword. Although he didn't understand why cold freezing would not work on the long sword in Sean's hand, he knew very well the special ability of the magic weapon. If it is not stimulated, it is absolutely impossible to stop the stabbing of the long sword! It is precisely because of this that Billy had to give up the opportunity to attack and use his left hand to block Sean's stabbing.

The point of the dead bone's sword point was on the white mist of the glove, but it couldn't penetrate any more. On the contrary, because of the long stay, the part of the sword's point began to condense ice due to the stay of the cold. At first the ice cube was only a small point, but as the time stayed longer, the ice cubes were growing in the same way, but the growth of the ice cube did not spread to the sword, but continued to grow. Now, it was only a few tens of seconds. The ice cube was almost the size of a basketball, and Sean even felt that he couldn't hold the long sword.

"Sure enough, it's a duo of ice and fire!" Sean raised his brows, and at the same time, he urged the fighting spirit in his body to rise. At the moment when the strength was increased, Xiao En immediately drew his sword and retreated, and the fighting spirit poured into death from his right arm. Bone, the sword energy radiated immediately crushed the huge ice block at the tip of the long sword.

Only at this time, Sean did not continue to attack, but backed a few steps and kept a distance of one meter from Billy.

The duo of ice and fire is a rare and powerful silver magic weapon. Strictly speaking, this pair of metal gloves is actually two medium-effect silver demonized weapons, which are dominated by fire and ice respectively. However, after a reconciliation and remake by an alchemist, this pair of metal gloves became A powerful silver magic weapon is not inferior to some ordinary special effects silver in terms of combat power, but there is also a premise here, that is, to stimulate the special abilities of two gloves at the same time, and only in this way Can fully utilize the power of this pair of gloves.

In the beginning, Billy didn't fully stimulate the special abilities of the pair of gloves because of the big brother. It only stimulated the flames of the right fist. So this allowed Sean to find an opportunity to destroy the right fist. The magic circuit structure makes Billy's powerful silver demonized weapon drop into medium-efficiency silver. Otherwise, even if Sean possesses epic weapons and dead bones, he will definitely not be able to gain the upper hand in a frontal confrontation.

This is not to say that Sean's combat experience is inferior to Billy, but that it is determined by the difference in realm.

Golden realm powerhouses are already fully able to use aura and coercion.

At this moment, Billy did not continue the onslaught either. He just stared at Sean firmly, and the screams and screams that came from his ears had been completely ignored by him.

From the very beginning, he knew that if the opponent wanted to break through, his armed soldiers would absolutely not be able to stop him. This is why he would even make a quick attack in person, even if he did not hesitate to attack. It's just that he didn't expect that he would be entangled by someone in the lower silver realm. This is definitely a shame for him, but after this brief encounter, he also discovered that he wanted to kill the opponent immediately. Obviously it is impossible, because the opponent has a fighting power and combat experience that is almost not inferior to his own, especially in the battle of weapons, he even completely loses.

"Epic weapons?" Billy glanced at the dead bones in Sean's hands, the greed in his eyes was obvious, "It seems that your identity is not simple."

"My identity is definitely bigger than you think." Xiao En sneered back, "Today Zhufeng Tribe treats guests like this, I remember it in my heart, and I will definitely have a report in the future."

"Do you think you can still run?" Billy stood up straight, his whole aura immediately became different, he had obviously used aura and coercion.

Under the interference of this kind of aura and coercion, it is difficult for normal people to exert their strength normally. Either their movements become a little sluggish, or their thinking cannot keep up with the opponent's movements, and they may even cringe. Reaction, this is the main reason why the golden realm powerhouse can deal with a dozen or more silver masters on their own.

Even if Sean has a wealth of insight and combat experience, physical resistance cannot be forcibly changed, so in this case, he will also have various negative reactions. But what is different from ordinary people is that Sean can see the influence of the aura and coercion on him, because at this moment there is an abnormal state on his personal panel, which clearly shows the influence he is receiving at the moment.

It's just that Sean has no plans to fight Billy here to death.

He knows exactly what he can and cannot do.

Five minutes, two and a half minutes have passed at this moment. With Andre, an experienced veteran, plus violent elements like Heavy Hammer, if the sharp knife team formed by them just breaks through the encirclement at this moment, there is nothing at all. People can stop it. And this is because neither the magician, Cecilia, nor the priest, Dini, took action, otherwise, I am afraid that no one would be in the mood to fight against a team of magicians and priests.

"Trade Chief Billy."

"Huh?" Billy can naturally see that at this moment the slave hunting team under Sean has torn open his encirclement, and is destroying all the way in a straight line. The trading point he has worked so hard to manage can be described as a heavy loss this time, and it is natural now. It's impossible to be in a good mood anymore.

"I'll send you a sentence." The worse Billy's mood is, the better Sean's mood will naturally be, "Today I will fight gold with silver, and the other day I will kill gold with silver!"
