

Lord of War Vol 3-1

Chapter 1: . Trouble after the war

When the war between the Principality of Lane and the Kingdom of Darbion broke out, the entire continent was actually regarded as a joke.

Because no one has ever felt that the Principality of Ryan dared to destroy the Kingdom of Darbion, even if the Principality of Ryan had the advantage in the war a few years ago, and once defeated the kingdom of Darbion, they eventually returned a large amount of territory. Logically speaking, the Principality of Lane, which was the winner of the war, could completely cede the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion. At least one of the parties won during the war between the two countries, and it is certainly impossible to return the territory so easily.

But the Principality of Lane still had to return it.

Because they are a principality.

The so-called duchy is the affiliation of other countries. To a certain extent, they have lost a very large degree of ziyou, and no matter what they do, they are involuntary. Otherwise, the end of the war that year would not have been for Asuna to return the territories that she had beaten down.

Therefore, no one paid attention to this war until the overall victory in the southern theater.

Except for the Kingdom of Fascism.

This country is really preparing for the act of taking advantage of the fire. For this reason, they even secretly assembled an army of 300,000, waiting to invade immediately when the Kingdom of Darbion is unprepared.

It's just that the situation on the battlefield, the performance has become too fast.

It's almost here, the assembled forces of the Fascist Kingdom are too late to react.

The overall victory in the southern theater, especially the genocide encountered by the family of Prince Kazes Hodgedi, finally allowed other neighboring countries to discover the difference between the war between the two countries. Judging from this scale, this is definitely an endless war. After all, Prince Hodgdi is the uncle of Darbion King Moro VII. In any case, he is also a member of the royal family, so his death is It is destined that this war cannot end easily.

Therefore, the defeat of the army of the Principality of Ryan in the Northwest Theater at that time was naturally regarded as a * revenge battle finally launched by the Kingdom of Darbion.

It was only a few days before and after the judgment of this view. When the new information was passed on, this time even the seven empires were silent. Although they did not receive important information such as the disappearance of all the sanctuary powerhouses in the Kingdom of Darbion overnight, the military departments of various countries also realized that this war might be the Kingdom of Darbion. The end of the country's destruction.

Even many people believe that the Principality of Lane dared to be so tough this time, it must be the instruction of the Millennium Covenant Empire.

Only the emperor of the Millennium Covenant Empire and the few core followers around him knew that this was not their idea at all, but the idea of a strong man of unknown origin. According to this super-powerful, it was that the Kingdom of Darbion had offended him, but due to certain rules, he could not destroy the country himself, so he planned to use the hands of the Principality of Ryan to destroy the Kingdom of Darbion. , So whoever dares to intervene in this matter is tantamount to provoking him.

As for how strong this strong man is, Turman only used one sentence as an explanation.

"In front of him, the suppression of momentum is enough to hurt me."

Hearing Turman's words, the emperor of the Millennium Covenant was also silent, because he saw with his own eyes Turman was wounded and returned, but fortunately, Turman finally brought a barely worthwhile News of news.

As for other things, the Millennium Covenant Empire can only remain silent.

Even if he does not want to be silent, there is no way.

Unless he is willing to trouble the devil-Enkos is still blocking the only way from the Millennium Covenant Empire to the Principality of Lane. According to front-line intelligence, five church knights have been completely buried in the hands of this demon, and even a living person has not escaped. This way, the emperor will naturally know that this is definitely a  one. the road.

Of course, the real reason why he didn't send troops to the Principality of Lane, which had already made it very likely to leave his control, was that the purge plan within the empire was about to begin. If this plan fails, then it will be a real civil turmoil in the empire. At that time, he will also need to rely on soldiers to suppress it, so at this time it is absolutely impossible for him to waste any troops to fight against a demon.

Therefore, the silence of the Millennium Covenant Empire naturally made other countries think they knew the truth.

Therefore, when the 300,000 troops of the Fascist Kingdom secretly assembled saw a blue-haired young woman standing alone in front of them, and waved their hands to summon thousands of water elemental guards from Shuiyue Lake, the Fascist Kingdom Think of this woman as a reinforcement sent by the Millennium Covenant Empire. Looking at this scene, recalling the fear that it had suffered from the invasion of the Chenas Empire, the Fascist Kingdom finally silently chose to retreat—at least even if it really wanted to fight, it would definitely not be on this battlefield filled with water. .

Compared with the Kingdom of Fascism, Marquis Devin Sodell Chabo also behaved very calmly.

When two figures of black and silver appeared in the northwestern theater to block the advance of Ryan's army, Dai Wen knew that they could not go any further. The aura exuding from these two young women made Dai Wen feel like two. A huge mountain range lay in front of them, and they still couldn't climb it for life. So in the face of this situation that has completely exceeded his manpower, Dai Wen directly ordered the entire army to stop advancing.

He could see that the two women just didn't want them to pass, and they were not hostile to them.

And Dewen, roughly understood why the sanctuary powerhouses of Darbion Kingdom disappeared overnight.

Just because he understands, it does not mean that others understand.

Many nobles in the Northwest Theater felt that if they could not continue to advance, then they would not be able to gain more combat exploits. Seeing that the Southern Theater and the Southeast Theater were completely over, and the coalition forces marched towards Garrod Fortress, these nobles would no longer be able to sit. Live, have asked to play. In this regard, Dai Wen's response was very simple, you fight as you want, anyway, the Saber family will not attack.

Then, the troop strength of the Northwest Theater was sharply reduced by one-third in one day.

Any soldier who strikes, none of them can survive.

So, the entire Northwest Theater could only watch as Asuna and Sean, the two guys who had made them extremely hateful, succeeded in taking down the Garrod Fortress, and then directly destroyed the Kingdom of Darbion.

Then, this war is over.

At the moment the war ended, the two women, one black and one silver, who had stopped the Northwest aristocrat from advancing in the opposite direction, left. But leaving at this time is meaningless to the nobles in the Northwest Theater, because this war has completely ended, and they have lost any opportunity to reap exploits. So it is obviously impossible to say that there is no resentment towards Sean and Asuna.

But even if you resent, what can you do?

After annexing the territory of the Kingdom of Darbion this time, the entire domestic aristocracy will inevitably face a new round of reshuffle: now it can be determined that the number of people who can be selected as the duke will not be less than six. After this war, the marquis of real power who can reach the sky in one step will also have at least six or seven more places. Those marquis and earls accumulated from the many years of accumulation in the Duchy of Ryan would certainly not care too much about these emerging nobles, but if these marquis and dukes were basically on Asuna's side, then they couldn't help but ignore them.

A new round of political struggle yin plan, from the moment the Kingdom of Darbion was completely declared annihilated, it was already brewing.

So soon, the envoys from the various nobles in the Principality of Lane began to rush to the Principality. However, if you carefully collect information, you can find that these envoys have hardly set foot in the two theaters of southeast and south of the original Darbion. On the contrary, the old aristocrats and emerging aristocrats who disliked each other in the Principality of Ryan had gone instead. Get close, especially in the royal capital, the banquets of the families are almost never broken.

.....

At this time, in the lord's mansion of the Void City, Sean was sneering and threw the documents sent by Asuna on the table. There was obvious disdain on his face: "A group of mobs know that Behind the scenes, you can declare war directly if you have the ability."

"Now even if we declare war head-on, we will be in a disadvantageous situation." William said coldly without lifting his head. He is now gathering his mind to draw lines on a map, list se and name names. , "Now we have less than 40,000 troops in our territory. Even if we have more experience in actual combat because of the war, but such a large territory, if there are really nobles to declare war with us, how do you plan to defend it?... It's better to use your brain to do things more."

"Don't we still have allies." Sean shrugged.

"Even if we have allies, it's useless." Hela said suddenly, "We have just experienced such a big battle, and we have fought three war zones from start to finish, so now, except for Baidi on Jingrui soldiers. The family's Grim Bear Corps is fairly complete, but the Hopson Guards, the Tequila Army, and the three major legions under our command will not be able to continue fighting in a short period of time.... As for ordinary soldiers, excluding the wounded. In part, we currently have only 15,000 soldiers left with the power of World War I.... And the most important point is that, in the face of those real veteran nobles, we do not have any advantage in high-end combat power. If we If you ask your allies to take action, it will inevitably arouse resentment and condemnation from other nobles in the entire kingdom, and disputes may turn into civil turmoil at that time."

"So, as the fuse of the outbreak of civil strife, we will become sinners." William took Hela's words, but at the moment he finally raised his head and glanced at Sean, his eyes seemed to be looking at an idiot, "In this way, Unless our allies insist on advancing and retreating with us, or even raising the flag to rebel, otherwise we will face the strength of an entire kingdom, and maybe allies will become enemies."

Even though Sean believed that Asuna and the others would not be enemies, he still felt very helpless when he heard this.

At that time, after the end of the war, he reached an agreement with the Boulder family, the Hopson family, the Baidi family, Florence, Asuna, and Ronnis, and signed the future positions on many aspects, whether it be politics or war. The above is a unified offensive and defensive alliance. Among the seven of them, it is now 100% sure that Asuna, Hatch Boulder, and Kos Hopson are all on the list of the first dukes of the Kingdom of Lane.

And he and the Patriarch of the Florence and the Baidi family are already on the list of marquis. On the contrary, the Boulder family originally had a few other people who could still occupy a place in the Kingdom of Lane in the game, but they can only get one. The title of nobility can not obtain territory. Even the tequila collar cannot continue to maintain this scale, and its territorial area will at least be cut by more than half.

So, there will be three dukes, three marquis, and one earl in this seven-man alliance.

This lineup is extremely eye-catching even if you look at those second-tier kingdoms, so it is not difficult to understand the mentality of other nobles in the Principality of Ryan to join forces. It's just that because they have just gone through the war, the only place in their alliance that has a relatively complete force is the Earl Ronnis. The rest of the troops have basically been completely exhausted, and it may be difficult to recover without a recuperation of more than three or four years. The scene.

At this time, they are most proud of and proud of their top power.

Only Asuna, Hatch, Kos, Florence and other four people together, there are seven low-level sanctuary powerhouses. Although Xiao En had no sanctuary powerhouse, Xuefanio and Rena were both invincible in the golden realm, especially Xuefanio alone was enough to make people daunting.

Although Sean didn't know where Andrew got it from [Ancient Dragon Bloodline], this can be called a bug, but after Rina drank it, she was really fine, and she also gained this bloodline ability. She hasn't fully awakened this bloodline power, but she has already had a very obvious improvement in her physical fitness. It is no exaggeration to say that Rena is half a dragon.

And this is not a surprise.

What really excites Sean is that Rina has been directly transferred from [War Knight] to [Holy Dragon Knight]! Not only did she retain all the aura skills possessed by the war knights, but also gained the powerful combat abilities possessed by the dragon knight series. It is said that Rina will not be afraid even if she is head-on from now on. Anyone can even say that she can still use the power of aura skills to suppress opponents whose strength is comparable to hers.

But everything is good and there must be bad.

Although the rank of Holy Dragon Knight is powerful, the difficulty of upgrading its rank is far beyond the imagination of others.

The ranks of the Dragon Knight series have become extremely powerful because of their individual abilities and the assistance of Yalong. Therefore, if you want to improve your strength, you must achieve simultaneous promotion with the mount. In other words, if Rina does not take care of her mutant emperor dragon, which she has named "Blackstone", and turns it into an eighth-level beast, then Rina will probably only be stuck at the upper gold pinnacle for her entire life. This level.

This is also quite helpless.

So if it's just a simple competition for high-end combat power, let alone their alliance of seven, even Sean alone is enough to walk sideways in the Principality of Ryan—provided that there is no intervention from the sanctuary powerhouse. But not to mention his allies, now he is 100% sure that after the end of the war, the old nobles and royal family of the Principality of Ryan possessed as many as eight sanctuary powerhouses, not to mention that these eight people were together. Taking a shot, just a random person is enough to make Sean a headache.

After all, Beth left the Void City yesterday. And when he went to Red Leaf Town later, the tavern that Andrew opened had also changed hands and sold, and Ablis, Dex, Nanali and others were all missing, so it is equivalent to saying that he has lost a piece of immunity now. Dead gold medal.

Then when he thought that he had already established two rival families within the kingdom, Xiao En felt a little bit painful.

"Then this time we went to the king, didn't we join the trap?" Xiao En looked at Hela, and then asked.

"Not this time." Hela shook his head and said, "After all, it's the stage of looting after the war. Whenever we depart or return, we will go with Asuna and others, so even if there are some bold nobles who want to assassinate. We will never choose the road.... Of course, if we enter the royal capital, then we may really encounter some troubles, and these troubles may only be solved by us."

"Really." Xiao En frowned slightly, "Then it seems that the person we are going to set off this time can only be more expensive."

"Yes." Hela nodded, "However, after we divide the spoils, we will probably begin to enter the contest phase. At that time, it will not only be an assassination, but also various yin tricks and political threats. . If in these contests once we expose our weaknesses or fail to stand up, then we are likely to suffer major losses."

"If it's just a domestic contradiction, it's okay to solve it." William finally stood up and moved his right hand. "What I am more worried about now is the pressure of public opinion from the outside.... After all, we were still in war before. Such a pretense, but now it's over, I'm afraid the guys in the business alliance won't let it go? If this happens, your head will be worth a lot of money."

Hearing what William said, Hela looked at Sean with some doubts, obviously not understanding what it meant.

So, William was very patient to tell all the stupid things Shaun had done to the Chamber of Commerce in the first place, especially the heinous crimes committed in the black market of the Gray Shadow Forest. Although the robbery was cool for a while, and Sean and others were indeed extremely profitable, the sequelae afterwards were enough to make people collapse. The most important point is that the City of Trade has listed Sean and others as black. List, deny them entry.

As a result, they naturally cannot replenish their troops quickly.

You know, Iron Wings are the northern barbarians of Qingyise!

Hela looked at Xiao En, full of helplessness: "What a lord who never cares about consequences."

"Hmph, what is the Chamber of Commerce Alliance? After I solve the next trouble, I will naturally settle the account with them slowly." Xiao En sneered, "By the way, is the territory of the Void Nether determined yet?"

"Here." William snarled at the map on the table.

Chapter 2: .Void Collar

Shaun reached out and took the map on the table.

This is a map with sheepskin as a carrier, and in terms of size, it is at least three complete sets of sheepskin stitched. After a special process, the back of this sheepskin map has a unique smoothness to the touch, while the front side has a subtle texture because of the map drawn on it. Tactile.

This map was sent by Asuna's orders only a few days ago, so that Sean could draw the territory he wanted on it.

Sean was not at all polite about this, and directly assigned the seven territories of Pandan, Yedby, Berbis, Chiraff, Day, Suoan, and Tinky to himself. Under the name of, and reorganized it into a new territory: Void collar.

The work that William was busy with before was to draw borders on the edges of these territories to mark the right to belong to these territories.

In addition, there are also several other colors on this sheepskin map as markers, indicating the ownership of these territories.

Basically, in addition to the Hatch Boulder family still occupying nearly half of the agave collar, as well as the three territories of the Kos Hopson family, Ronnis Holder, and Byrne Baidi. Nothing changed, Florence also unceremoniously took the territory of Prince Kazes Hodgedi directly, and even took several nearby territories under his name.

As for Asuna, it was because of the surrender of the Hopson family, so the heavy task of guarding the southeast portal of the kingdom and contending with fascism was not handed over to her. And on the contrary, under the suggestion of Devon Soder Sabre, the royal capital of the Kingdom of Darbion and the surrounding territories, as well as the Garrod Fortress, were all put under the name of Asuna. As a result, Asuna Na actually became the biggest beneficiary of this war.

Of course, from a strategic point of view, the seven-member alliance of Sean and others is completely divided.

Perhaps because of this consideration, Dai Wen would be so happy to propose that Garrod fortress should be given to Asuna. However, in the eyes of Neil and Hela, it is obvious that they have not shown any kindness from beginning to end. As the scale of the territory becomes larger, the difficulty of managing the territory increases directly and exponentially. . At first it was just a Tonis fortress, it almost made Asuna exhausted.

Now her territory is almost equal to the size of three dukes. How can Asuna manage it?

But in this kind of arrangement about territories, no one can interrupt and say anything. However, since everyone belongs to the alliance nowadays, Sean still borrowed Neil temporarily, and he was responsible for helping Asuna to coordinate and plan all of this, and only returned after finishing all these tasks. This is also why there are only Hela and William in the Big Three under Sean.

Looking at the black sideline drawn on the map, Xiao En's eyes fell on the territory of several other alliance members, and his eyes became more helpless.

In the League of Seven, the closest to him is undoubtedly Florence Wiles, who occupied the territory of the former Prince of Darbion and renamed it the Territory of Holy Rome. Chiraff County has only a quick march of more than a month. But even in this way, two territories roughly equivalent to the size of the Viscounty need to be crossed. If there is any delay during this period, then the time will naturally need to be increased again.

As for the territory of Tequila, the territory of the Hopson family, the territory of the Baidi family, and the territory of Lonnis, they are too far away from Sean's county-Sean directly merged these seven territories and renamed the void The seven territories were rectified and divided into nine counties. In addition to using the core of the seven territories as the place names of the seven counties, a new void county and a black swan county were added.

At present, the nine counties are roughly divided into four areas by Sean. Basically, Soma Hastings, Kazi, and Rudd are in charge of two counties each, while Daye, Void, and Hei Swan County, because of the previous perfection and thorough planning, has completely entered the orbit and does not need them to be responsible. However, Xiao En, who didn't know much about these things, could only trust these three guys and let them play their own way.

Gently lowered the map, and Xiao En's gaze fell on the counties near the Void Neck in the direction of the Xiadi Rift, and said in a deep voice, "Soma and Kazi have not been unusual until now?"

"No." Hearing Sean's words, William was taken aback for a while, and then he said, "Rupi had always arranged people to stare at them before, whether it was what they said every day, people they had contact with, letters they had written, and Or the food they have eaten, etc., all have dedicated personnel. But after so long, these two people have not shown any strangeness at all. The logistical supplies responsible for dispatching have never had any problems.... But the more serious they are, the less we dare to relax."

"So, does Thain know that his uncle is still alive?" Sean asked.

"I don't know." William shook his head. "But Thain doesn't seem to want to look for it at all. Moreover, with the complete end of the war recently, Thain's whole person also seems a little depressed. He has been drunk in the city these days. The tavern here is said to have owed a lot of money for wine, and I only asked people to check out yesterday."

"Probably because I felt that there was no way to kill me, so I was depressed." Xiao En said lightly.

For Thain, Sean still knows very well.

However, Sean has never used Thain since the battle that broke out between Berbice and Chiraff. Although he still has the right to lead five thousand soldiers, the army is not in a special period. It is not allowed to enter the Void City, so even if Thain has soldiers in his hand, he can't do anything against Shaun. Therefore, Sean certainly understood the depression of Thain, but he couldn't send himself to the door to kill him.

He is not a saint.

"So, do you want to deal with Thain?" William frowned, and then said, "He is so depressed, it is almost of no help to us, and in the following conflicts, he is very It may fall to other nobles. It is not a problem to use his ability to mix better with other nobles. On the contrary, with his ability and understanding of us, it may cause unnecessary trouble for us. ."

For Thain's ability, Sean still very much recognizes.

But the biggest problem is that this guy's hostility towards him has increased with ri. Even if he has been depressed recently, the red halo on his body has not diminished for a moment, but it is almost red and purple. This makes Sean really a headache. If he can use Thain as his own, Sean believes that he is definitely not inferior to Knok, Aldolph, Stalin and others. Of course, he is not as obvious and strong as they are. The fighting style is nothing more than.

"It can only be so." Sean sighed helplessly.

"No need." At this moment, Hela spoke up suddenly.

She actually knows something about Sean and the Hastings family, so Hela still appreciates this person who can endure it to such an extent, so she feels that it would be a pity if she was ruined like this. . Anyway, this kind of thing, for her, is just a little bit of brain cell thinking of a method, at least it is much easier than playing against William before.

"Let him know that Soma Hastings is still alive." Hela thought for a while, and then said, "As long as he knows that he still has a member of his clan alive, and this clan member has no idea that he ever did it. Whatever happens, then at least he will not feel desperate and lonely. Then at this time, we will send out some news to Thain, let him mistakenly think that Soma also wants revenge, so that he will definitely find a way to go with him. Soma contact, and then before they thoroughly contact and decide on the plan, we just need to wait and see the changes."

"This is useful?" Sean asked with some confusion.

"It's just the first stage plan." Hela shrugged. "Anyway, no matter what plan they come up with, they still have to follow the script I planned for the second stage. If the two of them can support the second stage, then I still have plans for the third and fourth stages.... But you still have to prepare for the war. In my plan, Thain will definitely take refuge in a certain nobleman of Ryan now, and then stab you in the back, so from Don't let him come into contact with too much classified information from now on. When the time comes, defeat him again, then let him go, and then defeat him on the front battlefield two or three times, and he will truly surrender."

Shaun thought for a while, always felt that Hela's plan was actually similar to the story of Zhuge Liang's seven captures of Meng Huo when he was on Earth. There are only some things that he would never think of such a detailed plan even if he knew it, but Hela could easily think of this and use it in detail. This is probably the so-called wise general and ordinary people. gap.

"Then you will be responsible for this matter." Xiao En said.

"What else do you need to be responsible for? It's nothing more than spreading a rumor. Just let Sigley handle this." Hela said calmly.

As an intelligence officer under Ri Hela, Sigley is indeed an unforgettable role, because her ability to collect and process information is even in the realm of the void, and only Rupiah can compare with it. It's nothing more than superiority. Therefore, when Sigley heard that Hela surrendered to Sean, she chose to surrender at the first time. Of course, the object of her obedience was still Hela, not Sean. Sean didn't mind this either. Instead, she became the deputy commander of the secret service agency in the void, and she was on the same level as Eli Kate in terms of class status.

Shaun doesn't quite understand these things. For him, it's enough for Hela and William to help him solve feasible problems. He only needs to propose a policy.

"Then, the next most important question is, who do you plan to go with when going to the Royal Capital of Ryan this time?" William asked.

"The candidate has been determined." Shaun said softly, "I will take Rena, Cecilia, and Xuefanio with him."

Hella and William were both taken aback when they heard the list reported by Sean, apparently some of them could not react.

The whole meeting room fell into a weird silence in an instant.

After was so silent for ten seconds, William said: "Your roster... are you sure you are not in the war?"

"Now there are at least thirteen sanctuary powerhouses in Ryan. This time Ryan's ritual for upgrading the kingdom is bound to be extremely grand. Even if these sanctuary powerhouses can't all gather, there will be at least ten people?" Sean asked back. Do you think I can make trouble in the capital?"

"That's not necessarily." Hela also said, "Miss Xuefanio is a church member, but she is no different from your followers in the eyes of the nobles in Ryan. She is purely in terms of strength. It can also be regarded as a half-step sanctuary strong, so if there is really a sanctuary strong, then it will not be regarded as bullying the small without using the rule to suppress.... Based on the unspoken rules in the aristocratic circle. In other words, there will definitely be nobles who will signal the strong sanctuary in the family to challenge you."

"Heh." Hearing Hela's words, Sean laughed instead, but his smile obviously became a little cold. "If the other party has the sanctuary dare to be so big, then Xuefanio will definitely let the other party taste one. A lesson that will never be remembered.... Even if Xuefanio doesn't take action, Rina alone is enough."

Today's Rina is invincible under the sanctuary, but if there is a lower sanctuary who dares not use the power of the rules to suppress and widen the power gap between each other, then Rina will be enough to fight the other party's ghost crying wolf howling. . And if against Xuefanio, then the victory or defeat is even more straightforward, because the battle of the priest with a knife is never a performance, but a real killing technique, so once Xuefanio is given a sword, and The fate of the opponent's sanctuary can also be imagined.

But this is not the most important thing. The most important thing is that Xuefanio still has a hole card that has not been revealed so far-this is another hole card that Sean has prepared after the departure of Bass.

The most impressive thing Sean had for the guild leader he followed in the past was the words he arrogantly said when he faced over 10,000 enemies.

"Do you think you can drive me to death with a trump card in your hand? It's ridiculous! Do you guys know what a hole card is? A hole card is a means to turn things around and is never known. It is called a hole card! All hole cards are a trump card, but the trump card that has been turned over can never become a trump card!"

Then, he saw with his own eyes that the president of Void Wings turned out five hole cards in one go.

One battle will determine the universe.

Now, Sean has two hole cards in his hand.

If the bass hadn't left, maybe it would be three.

"Just four of you set off?" William asked again, "Don't you need to bring some other guards?"

"No need." Xiao En shook his head. "If we only set off with four people, the mobility will be higher. Even if we encounter desperate revenge, we can easily break through.... But I don't think it will. Someone is so stupid to trouble us."

"That's not necessarily." Hela seems to be getting closer to William recently, so she has become particularly fond of splashing Shaun's cold water. "You can never guess what those nobles think, but if you and Lord Asuna If they act together, they should not encounter any danger or trouble."

"We've made an appointment to meet at Fort Tonys." Shaun said, "So during the month and a half of the journey to Fort Tonys, I have to go on my own road. At this time, there will be no sanctuary powerhouses to block the way?"

"It shouldn't be at this time." Hela thought for a while, and then said, "At least not when I go, but it's hard to say when I come back. Unless you have something you can tell and can completely restrain them. means."

"The means are available, depending on whether it is necessary." Xiao En shrugged, "Well, this matter doesn't need you to worry about for the time being. But just in case, let the Scarlet Knights hide their identity and follow them secretly."

"I see." William nodded, "You don't need to worry about the tactical aspects. I will make sure of this. But..."

"I have already thought about the strategic issues for you. Then you can just do as I told you before." Hela took a sip of nai tea, her face was light and breezy. Obviously, I am impatient that Sean needs to teach himself to socialize with these nobles. "The necessary display of strength is a status symbol, but it must be after you obtain the status of a marquis. If this time the noble award ceremony In the event of an accident, hiding your strength will become your top priority.... But if there is no alternative, then bet on the battle, and it is better to win the assets of a few families as much as you can."

"Hey, this gambling battle is my favorite." Sean gave a smirk, and God seemed extremely satisfied, "But those guys aren't that stupid?"

"So it is necessary to show that the enemy is weak." Hela shrugged, "Aren't you very good at this? I don't need to teach it.... But if the Royal Family asks about your raid tactics When, how are you going to answer?"

"Answer truthfully." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "I must show some extraordinary methods or skills, so that the royal family can stand on my side in this award ceremony. At least the Void leads me without an inch. Those who intend to let go, whoever wants it must defeat me!"

"But at present there is almost no source of troops in the territory to add..."

"It's time to contact Andre and Carlos, Ataba, and they said that I need their help."

"I see."

"As for the trade union side, I will deal with it after I come back."

"Yes!"

Chapter 3: .Return to Tonis Fortress

A team marched slowly on the verdant field.

The size of the team is actually not big, that is, it is only four people, but because there is a tall and mighty creature in the team, this way makes the team look a little eye-catching.

This creature is the mutant emperor dragon named Blackrock.

The emperor dragon is an evolutionary branch of the earth travel dragon with the blood of the black dragon, but only if the bloodline concentration in the body exceeds 40% but not 50% of the mutant earth travel dragon individuals can be excited. The power of the bloodline inside evolved into the Emperor Dragon. And the one level next to the Emperor Dragon is the Black Rock Earthwalking Dragon, which is the sixth level monster that Shaun saw near Blackstone. As for the level one higher than the Emperor Dragon, there are several types. These are basic All bloodline concentrations exceed 50%, so these individual players will be collectively referred to as the subspecies black dragon.

There is actually no difference in size between the Emperor Dragon and the Black Rock Earth Traveling Dragon. Under normal circumstances, the Emperor Dragon is slightly taller than the Black Rock Earth Traveling Dragon, but it will not be much higher. So on the whole, the difference between the two The gap is not big. It's just that since the bloodline thickness of the Emperor Dragon can be higher than that of the Black Rock Earth Dragon, then this proves that the Emperor Dragon must be stronger than the Black Rock Earth Dragon. This power is mainly reflected in its attack power and resilience. In these two aspects, as far as defense and endurance are concerned, there is actually no difference between the Emperor Dragon and the Black Rock Earth Traveling Dragon.

But this is only the Emperor Dragon and Heiyan Earthwalking Dragon that mutate and evolve only once.

Rina's emperor dragon, absolutely cannot be theorized under normal circumstances.

Although there are not no Yalong individuals that have mutated twice, they usually hardly appear on Yalong whose bloodline is already showing a xing state. Normally, the first mutation can also be attributed to blood awakening, but the second mutation is completely impossible to explain in this way. This is equivalent to saying that a new species is being born-and under normal circumstances After mutating once and awakening the blood, this type of dragon will basically move towards the path of evolution.

Like the black rock terrestrial dragon that Shaun encountered before, although in the end it has a very low chance of success, but once it succeeds, it will transform into a real black dragon. Such evolutionarily successful dragons are generally no longer called monsters, because they have completely surpassed the concept of monsters and have completely become the existence of legends.

As for those individuals that have mutated more than twice, they usually only arise under certain unexpected circumstances. In fact, they can only be regarded as new species of Yalong, and their essence is still not out of the category of monsters. Few can reach the level of eighth-level monsters.

But Blackstone's situation is obviously impossible to speculate with any common sense that Shaun knows.

Although it undergoes another mutation after the bloodline awakens and becomes the emperor dragon, it is still the emperor dragon in essence, and it is still on the evolutionary road, and it has not deviated from it to become a new dragon species.

Sean speculated that the problem must be Andrew's body.

This can be seen from Andrew's ability to give him a special potion of [Ancient Dragon Bloodline], so Sean actually has some doubts whether this mutant emperor dragon got the bloodline of the ancient dragon. ? Otherwise, how could it become so huge?

At least as far as Shaun knows, the real ancient dragon is only twice the size of a normal dragon.

And based on this theory, there is a reasonable explanation for Blackstone's size that is more than twice the size of the ordinary dragon.

Heishi's height is more than three meters. Although he has not measured it carefully, Xiao En can be sure that he will never be less than three and a half meters. But other than that, in other respects, it is not much different from the general earth travel dragon. Its body width is also about half a meter, and its back is very flat, without bone ridges or angular spikes. This also ensures With Rina sitting on it, at least she won't be able to bloom, and of course she doesn't need anything like a saddle.

Thanks to the blessing of Blackstone, Sean, Rina, Xuefanio, and Cecilia have not been disturbed by any long-eyed people along the way, and even passers-by will choose to avoid far away. Even for the lord of Sean, the residents of Void County and Black Swan County are already very familiar, but looking at the hideous monster, these residents still dare not approach, but say hello to Sean from a distance.

As a result, Xiao En and others dare not go to stay in the village and town, so they can only take a walk in the wild.

Fortunately, the four people on this trip, Sean, Cecilia, and Rina are all mercenaries, and Xuefanio was just an ordinary villager before being awakened by Eswinter. People in the church entangled and rested in the wild, so of course the four of them would not reject such things as sleeping in the wild.

Taking this opportunity, Sean has discovered a very subtle place.

As a seven-level beast, Blackstone is at the top of the food chain, but it still looks very docile in front of marshmallows. On the contrary, it always sniffs at Gollum, and its attitude is obviously full of dissatisfaction. Patience and upset. Perhaps if it wasn't because of the marshmallows, it is estimated that Blackstone might have a fierce fight with Gulu - of course, for this kind of result, Sean is not optimistic about Blackstone, after all, the force field that comes with Gulu is not a joke.

However, in this way, Xiao En can be even more sure that the blood of the black dragon in the black stone is definitely very rich.

Because in terms of faith, black dragons are actually a kind of giant dragons that prefer chaos and sex. They have always been enemies with the silver dragons that advocate order and light. But Gulu happened to have a very obvious power of order and light. This kind of power gave Sean the feeling that it was similar to the Lord of Morning Light, so it was not incomprehensible that Heishi and Gulu did not agree with each other.

Sean even speculated that Guru might be the condensate of the power of light, that is, the purest light. It's just because of the lack of actual arguments, so it's really difficult for him to deduce, but through a series of previous contacts, Sean found that Gollum was particularly afraid of the undead king Beth, perhaps because the power difference between them was too great, even balance. Can't do it, so Gulu will be afraid. Of course, if in front of Andrew, Gollum will find a way to hide away-although Sean cannot understand the reason for this, but since Gollum met Andrew for the first time and was taken away by Andrew for two or three days and came back Later, once he felt Andrew's breath, Guru would hide as far away as possible.

Intuition tells Sean that Andrew obviously knows the identity and origin of Gollum, but no matter what Sean asks, Andrew just smiles.

But the real magic is actually marshmallows.

This little guy has been staying at the Black Swan Castle for a long time, eating and sleeping well. Later, after the war broke out, it was only half a year since he hadn't seen him. Now this guy is almost the size of an adult lion. It's just that it's obviously still in a state of being in its first stage, because its body is still white with fluff, and it doesn't have black scales like its mother. It even has a ring of mane near its head. It looks like It's like a big lion.

However, the marshmallow's tail started to become firm and hard, and ordinary weapons could only leave shallow marks on the black reef, which broke into two pieces directly under the marshmallow's tail. And in terms of speed, Marshmallow can also catch up with the Cheetah, even with its claws and teeth, it can be easily bitten and killed. Although the Cheetah is only known for its speed, it can also be seen from the side. It proves that Marshmallow now has the power of being a monster.

Of course, it's not this that really makes Sean feel magical, but the marshmallow, which is a monster of war, can be the boss of Blackstone. You must know that apart from Rina, neither Sean nor Cecilia and Xuefanio can be too intimate with Blackstone, although Blackstone will not resist the approach of Sean and others for Rina's sake. But if you want to ride a black stone or a black stone, this mutant emperor dragon will show extremely obvious resistance.

But after the journey of nearly a month, the marshmallows depended on Blackstone for the whole process, and he did not come down and walk by himself. And the idiot, Blackstone, has been following Marshmallow all the time, and even thought it was a very honorable thing to let Marshmallow sleep on him.

For these things in the World of Warcraft circle, Sean can only say that "the circle is really messy."

But in the end, a group of four people took out two monsters and a strange creature that didn't know what creatures existed, and arrived at Tonis Fortress without any surprises.

This glorious fortress, Xiri once blocked a war that might almost destroy the country for the Principality of Ryan-although it is not in this world, its importance is also conceivable. Of course, for this world, Tonis Fortress is a giant war fortress built by Asuna with countless efforts. Although now that the Darbion Kingdom has been conquered, this fortress has lost its due. Value, but it is impossible to say that Asuna will abandon this fortress because of this, because for Asuna, this is her real home.

However, due to political considerations of the current situation, the Royal Family of Ryan will certainly not allow such a fortress that can be said to be a throat to be under their control.

Therefore, taking advantage of this victory in the invasion of Darbion's kingdom, Asuna was pushed down by the royal family of Ryan as the owner of this fortress.

Now the new commander of this fortress is a marquis who has never had any reputation and record in the country before. Many people don't even know where the new Marquis of Tonis came from. The outside world even speculated that if it weren't for the former owner of Tonys Fortress was also a Marquis, this territory would not be able to match without the identity of a Marquis. I am afraid that any cat or dog could become the owner of this fortress.

Because everyone knows that this fortress belongs to the Marquis in name, but in fact it is firmly controlled by the Royal Family of Ryan.

Of course, this cannot prevent other nobles from envy and hatred towards this marquis.

After all, from then on, this Marquis can completely live a life of drunkenness, and all his expenses and expenses will be paid by the royal family. However, as a price, he does not have any autonomy with regard to all administrative orders of this fortress. Even the guards responsible for its security only allow the size of 100 people. Other issues including city defense, public security patrols, etc., are all handled by Ryan. The Legion is responsible.

As for the information about Tonys Fortress, Sean already knew about it. So he also knows that this so-called 7th Legion, in a sense, is already an old acquaintance of him, at least from the news I heard from Asuna later, the former 7th Legion's legion The son who was in Tony's fortress didn't feel much better later, until Asuna left the fortress, his son was a little bit behind.

But not long afterwards, because of being close to the front line, he was directly called by Marquis Devin Sodell Chabo, and later in the Northwest Theater because of that fraudulent defeat, the Seventh Army suffered extremely heavy losses. of. However, after that, the role of having backstage and being backstaged, having background and no background has been extremely prominent, because the 7th Army, which was only loyal to the royal family, became the first army to be immediately replenished after the war. Even the commander of the legion was promoted to become a marquis of real power.

When Xiao En and others arrived, three long lines had lined up at the gates of Tonys Fortress.

There is a wooden fence between each team as a gap, and there are guards wearing the 7th Army patrolling around, so the actual situation is more orderly than the phenomenon, and there is no mess. However, the sharp-eyed Sean still keenly noticed that Tonys Fortress had opened up a special passage. In addition to the fence placed around this passage, there were also horses, and it was fixed with pegs. Obviously, it has been arranged for not a day or two. In terms of specifications and settings, Sean can be sure that this is a channel specially built for aristocrats or those rich and powerful.

There is also a passage for people in the fortress to leave, but compared to the excitement of entering the fortress, this road is extremely deserted, and there are few people walking around.

But if you think about it, you will understand.

After all, the Principality of Ryan is about to be upgraded to a kingdom. Such activities that can be said to be universal celebrations will inevitably continue for several months. Therefore, the closer you are to the prosperous cities or territories such as the capital, the more lively, and even business opportunities. There will be a lot more, so there will definitely be countless people flocking to these places from all directions. In addition, the Kingdom of Darbion is the country with the most nobles on the southern continent. If they want to maintain or enjoy the status and privileges of nobles after the war, they must be nodded by the royal family of Ryan. Therefore, these talents are This time, the real crowd must pass the Tonis Fortress.

Judging from the current entrance fee of one silver coin for everyone to pass through Tonys Fortress, only the crowd flow that Shaun saw today, Tonys Fort's income must have at least three hundred gold coins. If this situation continues for a month, Tony Fortress can at least bring in tax revenue of nearly 10,000 gold coins, and all this is only a conservative estimate of Sean.

However, with the appearance of Xiao En and others, there was a burst of sao movement and panic-like screams in the crowd.

The image of Blackstone is too prominent.

Xiao En could only smile bitterly at this, and then chose to stay away from the crowd as much as possible, and walked away from the passage dedicated to the nobles.

It's just that before Xiao En and others walked over, a dozen or so soldiers from the 7th Legion were already around. The first time they saw Xiao En and others, they even put their guns open. In the military formation, this hostile attitude was vividly demonstrated.

Shaun's brows frowned soon.

At the beginning, Black Stone was only a little confused about the other party's behavior, but after feeling Rena's dissatisfaction, this mutant emperor dragon immediately let out a deterrent roar, as the emperor who has been mutated twice and is completely awakened by blood. The emperor dragon, its threatening roar naturally brings a touch of dragon power. Although the effect is not as good as that of the dragon, it can directly weaken the opponent by more than 50%. It is all xing, but it weakens like the black stone. About 20% is fine.

The crowd who stood closer directly panicked and screamed.

This is the side effect of Longwei.

The real Longwei will not only have an all-xing weakening effect on the opponent, but also have negative emotions such as fear and confusion. But the general Yalong will not have this ability. Only those high-end types of Yalong at the top of the Yalong race with higher blood density will have this special effect. Therefore, if you want to deal with Longwei, you naturally need to let priests and priests or magicians fight with the barrier protection of Jing God, or directly form an army with strong combat power or strong self-confidence. Naturally, the identity is completely unstoppable.

So after the black stone uttered a roar, the otherwise orderly crowd screamed and collapsed. One of the little girls was so scared that they ran directly to the exclusive road dedicated to the nobles.

At this time, a luxuriously decorated carriage was suddenly rushing.

The driver who drove the car seemed to be really in a hurry, so he didn't pay attention to the situation where Xiao En and others confronted the Seventh Army, who was a short distance away from the exclusive road. In this case, the little girl suddenly rushed to this road, which was equivalent to hitting the carriage by herself. At the speed of the carriage, it was impossible for the little girl to survive.

"Marshmallow!" Sean snorted, "Go and save that kid!"

The marshmallow that was still lazily lying on Blackstone stood up reluctantly, and the next moment it galloped out like a white lightning.

The crowd did not have time to see the situation clearly. The carriage was already galloping by, and it finally stopped after rushing for more than ten meters. Seeing this scene, a woman in the crowd fainted directly, if it weren't for her. If there is a man beside her, I am afraid that the woman will just fall to the ground. However, when the carriage stopped, the coachman got out of the carriage with a panic expression, and then immediately ran to the carriage. When he saw the little girl with no trace of blood on the ground and a dazed and undecided face, his * was Se just relaxed slightly.

Marshmallow gently put the little girl in her mouth on the ground, the little girl cried out with a wow, but the annoying Marshmallow turned and left with a look of boredom, and ran back to Cecilia. 'S side, rubbing Cecilia's side as if asking for credit. The latter patted Marshmallow's head with a smile, and after a few blows, Marshmallow jumped back to Blackstone contentedly, yawned lazily, but did not continue to sleep. They were staring at the Seventh Legion soldiers who were pointing their guns at Sean and others with bad eyes.

As a result, the soldiers of the 7th Legion looked at each other a bit, and didn't know what to do.

They ran out, only subconsciously treating Sean and the others as dangerous people, but until now, the other party did not take action. Instead, they saved a civilian, which made them look a little embarrassed. But if they take the gun at this time, then they will be a bit embarrassed, but if they want to continue to compete with the other party, seeing that the other party is just two pets is so extraordinary, there is no courage to fight.

After watching the man put down the woman beside him, Xiao En ran to pick up the little girl with a look of joy and excitement, and then looked at the carriage. At this time, the driver of the carriage was no longer there. After he threw a small bag of money to the man, he drove the carriage to Tonys Fortress again. Xiao En didn't say anything about it, after all, the identity of the other party was undoubtedly It is a nobleman, it is really rare to be able to stop and check and throw a bag of money as compensation, otherwise, even if the pride of the nobles, even if the civilians are crushed to death, it will not feel excessive.

So Xiao En looked at the soldiers who were blocking the road again, and his voice was a bit low and majestic: "Keep the way aside, I don't care about your ignorance just now."

Several guards looked at each other, and after a little silence, the leading officer finally turned sideways slightly.

But just at this moment, a roar suddenly fell from the sky: "What are you doing! Faced with such a dangerous person, why don't you catch them quickly!"

Hearing this roar, Sean looked sideways. Although the person who roared was still a little far away from his side, Sean's eyesight was still able to see the face of the opponent, and dozens of sevenths were followed behind him. The soldiers of the legion ran up, apparently hearing that there was a false alarm, so they hurriedly brought in reinforcements. It's just that before he understood the situation clearly, he was treated as a dangerous person, which still made Sean a little unhappy.

But thinking of what the other party had done before, Sean can only express helpless shrugs for this person who has not understood the situation and made a final conclusion. Because even he didn't expect that he would come back for the first time after leaving Tonys fortress for so long, unexpectedly meeting an old acquaintance so soon.

Chapter 4: .We meet again

Perhaps because of a * battle, the people of the 7th Legion showed a * murderous aura.

Although this group of newly aided soldiers did not deliberately show a fierce and wicked appearance, each of them exudes a fierce and sturdy aura, which is similar to the appearance that Sean once saw. Difference. And when these people were getting closer to Sean and others, the leading commander also knew how to order some manpower to maintain order, and to disperse the crowd, lest the next possible battle would spread to the innocent people. .

Although I don't know what kind of mentality the other party considers, but being able to be so cautious and meticulous at least proves that this guy in front of me has obviously grown in the past year or so.

Soon, the people who were still queuing to enter the city were dispersed to a place two or thirty meters away from Xiao En and others.

If Blackstone seems to be an extremely dangerous creature, I am afraid that the crowds who have been dispersed will choose to watch them closer. Of course, not everyone would choose to watch. At this time, many people were reluctant to pay the head fee of that silver coin, and they chose to take advantage of the 7th Legion's attention to be attracted to the Tony Fortress.

Sean's gaze swept around again, only to find that the little girl and the person who might be her parents had left. In this regard, Xiao En just shook his head helplessly. After all, in a chaotic world where strength is respected, can he expect these civilians who have no identity to say anything for him?

As the crowd was dispelled, and the soldiers of the 7th Legion gradually approached, the commander of the opposing team naturally got closer and closer to Sean.

It's just that from beginning to end, his gaze almost stayed on Blackstone and Marshmallow. From the heat in Heishi's eyes and his doubts about marshmallows, Sean can already tell that the other party clearly knows the existence of such creatures as Earthwalking dragons, but whether he knows the mutant emperor dragon, it's hard to say. Yes, as for Marshmallow that is a creature that even Sean doesn't know, it is obviously impossible for the other party to know.

Therefore, the other party's eyes soon shifted to Rina. After all, Rina was standing next to Blackstone at this time, reaching out and patting Blackstone's body to calm it down. In the case of Bingxing of the Earth Traveling Dragon, being able to obey the commands and orders of a human being so docilely, then this undoubtedly completely shows the identity of Rina, so that the other party's eyes on Rina are also full of a kind of Hot, like looking at a possession.

The creatures of the earth travel dragon may not be peculiar to those empires that can form the earth travel dragon army. At best, they represent strength and luck. After all, not everyone can become a member of the earth travel dragon army. member. But for the Lane people, the beast of the earth travel dragon simply represents a symbol of identity, status, strength and so on. Being able to have an earth travel dragon or a follower of an earth travel dragon knight is simply one. A matter of great face.

But it is a pity that this kind of beast is still an existence that cannot be forced to the Lane people. Of course, the reason for this result is not that it is difficult to find Earthwalking dragons. On the contrary, there are several nests of Earthwalking dragons in the Principality of Lane. The real reason why Earthwalking dragons cannot be forced is the difficulty of taming them. Very big. This so-called difficulty refers to a taming technique, just like taming a wild horse, which requires special skills to be tamed.

Basically, only the two empires of the Millennium Covenant Empire and the Emilia Empire have mastered this kind of taming skills on the Southern Continent. Although there is also a kingdom called Satagastan that also has a dragoon legion, this No one can prove whether the country has mastered this technology, because this country has very little communication with the outside world, and in terms of the size of the Dragoon Corps, there is still a big gap with the two empires.

It's just that this kingdom also has a huge advantage that the two empires don't have: the town powerhouse of the Kingdom of Satagastan is a true dragon knight.

is not the rank of the earth travel dragon knight, the dragon knight or the holy dragon knight, but the real dragon knight: the dragon knight.

Therefore, any country that wants to invade the Kingdom of Satagastan must face a problem: in front of Longwei, any cavalry type unit cannot go on the battlefield at all, and even if it is a pure infantry army, it also has to face Longwei. Weaken the combat power to a certain extent, so that it is not enough for the Dragoon Legion of the Kingdom of Satagastan to charge. However, it is very subtle that the Kingdom of Satagastan has never shown any thoughts or signs of foreign aggression for so many years. They seem to be very content with the status quo. Its land area is still not much different from that of a duchy, so it has been over time. No one wants to trouble the Kingdom of Satagastan.

At least, no one will go to trouble this country until the giant dragon in the palace of this kingdom dies.

Now in the Kingdom of Lane, there will never be more than five nobles with earth travel dragons or flying dragons. If Sean is counted, there may be five. It's just that the other ones are definitely ordinary earth travel dragons and flying dragons, and they can't even be regarded as subdragon species in the strict sense. Because according to Xiao En's understanding, the definition of "Yalong" on the Marvel Continent is to have the blood of a dragon, and the beasts such as the earth travel dragon and the flying dragon are so thin that there is almost no dragon blood, the exact definition is "dragon-like." , Just like "humanoids".

So Sean can understand the heat in the eyes of the other party looking at Rina.

There is no doubt that the other party has obviously regarded Rina and herself and others as a small mercenary group.

In other words, a mercenary group that was lucky enough to get a dragon. If it weren't for knowing that Earthwalking Dragon would only serve one master during his entire life under normal circumstances, Sean would bet that the other party must be trying to kill Rina and take Blackrock away. After all, this method of killing people and selling goods is not unfamiliar to these nobles, and it can even be said to be easy to come by.

Of course, Sean will have this impression, the most important thing is that the other party is a person with this kind of criminal record.

Not long after, the other party had already brought a group of 7th Legion members to Xiao En and the others. However, since Sean and others are wearing hooded cloaks commonly used by adventurers, and they have not lifted the hood at this time, the other party did not recognize the identity of Sean and others, of course, the most important thing is the other party's. His eyes didn't stay on Sean at all, but on Rina, and even Xuefanio and Cecilia were ignored.

Perhaps in his eyes, the really valuable people should be Rina and Blackstone.

As for a white lion, although it is a species that has never been seen before, in his eyes, it is at best a level three or four monster, which is not enough to make him feel excited. Of course, if it is a buy one get one free, then he will definitely not refuse, maybe this time he can just go back as a gift.

"Which mercenary group are you from?" The old acquaintance standing in front of Sean's eyes was a set of standard official accents. "You dare to make trouble here in Tonys Fortress, don't you be afraid of being attacked by the king's army? Do you think you can do whatever you want if you have an earth-traveling dragoon?"

His voice was loud and full of the majesty of a superior, and he immediately caught the eye when he came over. This overlapped with the figure in Sean's impression. Originally feeling the  murderous aura of the opponent and the speed of reaction in handling things, Sean felt that the opponent's military career might have really grown in the past six months, but now it seems that even if it has grown, it is aristocratic. The temper and way of thinking have also not fallen.

Sean and others did not reply.

In this team, although Sean's strength is the lowest, his identity is the highest, and the other three are actually used to Sean's command and giving orders, so Sean did not speak, and the others just did not speak. However, they obviously turned their heads towards Sean, especially since Rina's hood had been lifted just now, so just judging from her gaze at this time, the other party knew that the person standing in the middle was this team. Of the head.

"Are you the leader of this mercenary group?" The other party spoke again, his voice as arrogant as ever.

Sean didn't speak, but he could see signs of nodding on his hooded head.

This action made the young 7th Legion commander's face flashed with sorrow, and the whole person's aura became much fiercer.

That is a  murderous aura that only those who really make a  battle on the battlefield will have, combined with the dignity of the higher-ups who are getting deeper and deeper, can indeed create an impressive and powerful aura coercion for ordinary people. It's just a pity that the person he is facing now is Sean, so his powerful aura, which is similar to not being angry, can't put any pressure on Sean at all.

But this time, the other party is rare to leave a new impression on Sean.

It's because the other party didn't take it forcibly, but started to think, and even used some shame-covering methods: "This is a special period. If you just go in like this, it will bring a lot of confusion and influence. So these few of yours Pets must stay outside first, and you have to go to the legion garrison to report with me. You will not be allowed to stay in the fortress until you are sure that you are not in any danger at all. However, during your stay, these pets are all It's not allowed to enter the inner city. It must be fostered at the legion's resident. We will arrange for someone to guard it, but you will need to pay a guard fee afterwards."

This statement sounds like there are no loopholes or flaws, but the other party did not clearly say how much the care fee needs to be paid. And Sean believes that the other party's eyes on Rina are so fiery just now, he must also know Rina's status as an earth traveler. Now that he knows this, it is clear that the other party is also very clear that once the dragon traveler approves of the rider, it is unlikely that he will go anymore. Being tamed, but the other party still wants to forcibly separate Rina and Blackstone, then this can only show that the other party either has some special means that he is confident of keeping Blackstone, or he wants to use this method and method to forcibly isolate Rina. The actions of himself and others facilitate his contact and wooing.

But whether it's the former or the latter, at least it proves that this guy is really thinking about problems with his brain, instead of just knowing how to take it.

In contrast, this food is more and more like a qualified nobleman.

"We'll stay at most for one night." Sean finally couldn't help but speak. Anyway, he already knows all the things he wants to know, so naturally there is no need to pretend to be a pig. "I will leave Tony tomorrow morning. Fortress."

Hearing Xiao En's words, the young nobleman's brow furrowed again, and his gaze at Xiao En became a little more puzzled. In Sean's view, it was obvious that the other party was familiar with his own voice and was a little more confused. After all, what happened at Tonys Fortress was not trivial. The two sides also had several confrontations with each other, so more It's not unusual to have a little impression.

It's just that this kind of doubt quickly faded away—especially after he looked at Blackstone again.

"It's probably impossible." The young nobleman shook his head. "It's just a report for review and inspection. You will probably stay for a few days. At least until you are sure of your danger, it is impossible for us to let you inside. The city, let alone leave Tonys Fortress. After all, the Kingdom of Lane will hold a grand banquet in a while, so you still have to prepare for some long-term stay."

Xiao En sighed slightly. In non-essential circumstances, he really didn't want to reveal his identity so quickly. This is not just what he thinks, even big figures such as Asuna, Hatch, and Kos chose to arrive in secret. Afterwards, even if they were on the road together, they all chose to pretend to encounter accidentally after leaving the fortress. In any case, they should try their best to avoid giving people a feeling of forming a party for private purposes.

So if Sean reveals his identity here, then he probably won't be on the road with Asuna and others. And this is exactly what Sean wants to avoid, after all, because of his previous strength in the southern theater and some deliberate behavior, he has already established many enemies for him. The same is true because he was once from Asuna, so those political opponents who dare not and cannot attack Asuna in the face will naturally choose to attack him.

According to the plan of William and Hela, this is the time to go to the Royal Capital of Ryan. It is best for him to find a backer to borrow from the downtrend and go with him, and try to avoid exposing his strength early.

It's just that the young aristocrat who made it clear that he was going to dig a corner was greedy, but let Xiao En understand that if he didn't reveal his identity, I'm afraid there's really no way to leave like this today. And if he really went to the station of the Seventh Legion, his identity would also be exposed, and some smart people might even speculate on some of his methods, which would be even worse for him.

After all, the Seventh Army has been Ryan's most famous aristocratic corps since its establishment.

The command of this legion has always been in the hands of the Royal Family. Even if there are some infighting or confrontation at the management level, it is a conflict and confrontation within the Royal Family. However, as the most important and most loyal army of the royal family, the nobles who came out of this army can easily gain the trust and recognition of the royal family of Ryan, so over time this army has become a trial for the noble families to show their loyalty to the royal family. Therefore, nobles began to send the less important heirs of their families to this army.

As a result, there are nobles who continue to provide supplies to the Seventh Army. Of course, the Royal Family of Ryan is very happy to see such a situation, which means that they don't need to spend a single cent to help them support them. The army, and they only need to throw away a little bit of meat in a timely manner to satisfy these nobles, why not? Of course, if it is a truly loyal family, or indeed capable talents, the Royal Family will not be stingy, they are still very happy to provide them with an opportunity or platform.

As a result, the 7th Legion is naturally more and more mixed. After all, because of political opinions or interest issues, the major nobles of the Ryan Kingdom will be hostile, or alliance, or joint, or neutral, and the reactions and attitudes of these families will naturally affect their being sent to the 7th Legion. Of those family children. But this is not without benefits, because almost all the nobles in the Kingdom of Lane have gathered, so the platform of the Seventh Army itself is also the largest source of intelligence for each family.

It is conceivable that once Shaun's disguised identity spreads in the Seventh Army, the major families will receive news in three days at most. And perhaps the young noble children of the Seventh Legion won't think too deeply, but once such information is passed back to the family, with the cautiousness of those noble old foxes, naturally they will quickly be able to outline a pair that can be guessed even if it is not completely accurate. A rough strategic plan diagram in the middle.

"Broad, are you so anxious to win over my people?" After Sean sighed helplessly, he still chose to speak, "Aren't you afraid that something is too hot, if you can't swallow it, you will Burn your throat?"

The pupils of the young nobleman named Broad shrank suddenly, because when Sean said these words, he could feel an extremely obvious awe-inspiring killing intent, which was a powerful aura that completely surpassed him. . He turned his head and stared at Sean, perhaps because of Sean's strong pressure, but he was sweating profusely in such a short period of time, his face became a little pale, and he gasped and said: "Who are you?"

Sean did not speak any more, just lifted his hood gently, and stared at Broad indifferently.

"It's you!" Broad's face flushed red.

For Sean, even if it turns to ashes, he will not forget, because it was the conflict that broke out at the gate of Tonys Fortress more than a year ago that completely ruined his fourth-line successor status. For this reason, he broke away from the Ceballox family in a rage, but at that time the Rodis family, the family of Broad's biological mother, did not want him to throw an olive branch, so he officially broke away from the noble status and started from a A soldier became a soldier, and after several encirclement and suppression operations and the war in the Northwest Theater, he finally relied on his own strength to climb to the position of the earl.

But it is just a virtual title, and there is no fief. Even in the Seventh Army, it is just a squadron leader.

So for Sean, Brod is still very resentful, because if it weren't for him, he wouldn't end up where he is today. However, in addition to resentment, he was more jealous, jealous of Sean's luck: because when the war broke out, he heard that Sean was the commander-in-chief of the southern theater, and he was still a baron. identity. And when after this war, he overheard someone mentioning the name Sean again, it was the list of marquis leaked from the royal family.

For this, he finally realized that he wanted to become a true nobleman by his own strength, which was by no means an easy task. So when the members of the Rhodes family came to meet him and said that the Rhodes family was willing to accept his identity now, Broad agreed without hesitation, and he was in the process of becoming Broad Rhodes. From a moment, he officially joined the competition for the heirs of the Rodis family.

Now, he is the second heir to the Rodis family, and the gap with the first heir has narrowed to a completely negligible gap.

So, if he can have an earth travel dragon knight as a follower, then this will definitely help his heirs fight. This is also the reason why Broad would show such a fanatical * se in his eyes when he saw Rena and Blackstone, because no one knew the meaning of the word "privilege" better than him.

Of course, after seeing Sean again at this time, Broad finally understood that what Sean has is more than just luck. Although his strength has not improved much, but under his aura and coercion, Broad does not even have the thought of resisting at all. How many people have to kill with such terrible murderous aura.

Broad couldn't figure it out.

"It's me." Sean nodded blankly, "We meet again."

Broad looked at Sean, silent.

"I said, I only stayed at Tonys fortress for one night and left the next day, so you'd better not block my way." Sean still said softly, but since his identity has been exposed, then Naturally, he would not be polite. Anyway, he had slaughtered two of the nobleman's men in Tonis Fortress. "You and I are also old acquaintances, because you should be very clear that if you block my way, What kind of end is there. I was able to kill your two guards a year ago. What do you think will happen today after a year? ... I didn't see any golden powers around you."

Listening to Sean's naked mockery, Broad was silent.

And those 7th Legion soldiers who followed Broad looked at each other. It was obvious that they had already heard that the two young men not only knew each other, but also seemed to have a long-term grudge against each other. But as their commander, Broad would not dare to let these people go if he didn't give an order.

"Disperse." Broad waved his hand.

All the soldiers dispersed quickly.

Sean glanced at Broad, but he seemed a little confused about his quick response, and frowned slightly. But since Broad said nothing, Sean naturally didn't mean to speak any more. He hesitated for a while and still didn't put on his hood. It was just that when he passed by Broad, he heard Broad's. With a whisper, after this made Xiao En slightly stunned, he put on his hood and left with Rina, Cecilia, Xuefanio and others.

After Xiao En and others left, the extremely suppressed atmosphere in the court finally began to dissipate.

A few soldiers who walked closer to Broad took the courage to step forward at this time, and then asked, "My lord, who was that person just now?"

The God of Broad was complicated, but he still shook his head: "It's nothing, you shouldn't see what happened today. If you let me know who passed it out in private, you will know the consequences yourself."

Hearing such a serious voice from Broad, the soldiers of the 7th Legion were a little awe-inspiring, because they seldom saw Broad showing such power. However, in the eyes of these soldiers, it was probably only because their chief had suffered a loss in the opponent's hands, and two guards were killed. This is very embarrassing, so they are forbidden to discuss privately. It can also be understood that, after all, nobles love face.

And Sean, who gradually disappeared from the vision of Broad and others, slightly raised the corners of his mouth: "Interesting."

Chapter 5: .Night visit

Under the dim night, a man in a gray-brown se hooded cloak was walking fast.

Although he has been walking in the shadow of Yin as much as possible, and he still walked against the root of the wall, in the eyes of some senior thieves, this person's concealment skills are very poor, and it can even be said that he has kept leaving all kinds of things along the way. trace.

Fortunately, it was late at night, and there were not many people on the street. Except for the soldiers of the 7th Legion who were constantly patrolling back and forth, no one was seen. It stands to reason to walk on such a heavily guarded street, even the most experienced thieves or even assassins must move forward cautiously, but for this person, it seems like entering a man's land. It is always possible to move forward with the blind spot of vision between the two patrols that is almost less than a second.

Many have noticed the sight of the people wearing the adventurer's cloak. After realizing this, they have chosen to withdraw their sights.

Now Tonys Fortress is a mixed bag. Even though the Seventh Legion has fully implemented military control, when a huge flow of people floods into this giant fortress, no one knows how many people with special purposes have been mixed into these people. In addition, now that the Principality of Ryan is about to be upgraded, the domestic aristocratic circle is facing a reshuffle, whether it is the upper aristocrats or the lower aristocrats. Therefore, although there is no foreign enemy invasion for the time being, it is still unavoidable that the entire Ryan kingdom will fall into a state of political turmoil in a short period of time. .

In general, political turmoil often means Yin's conspiracy, assassination, and even the decline and demise of one, two, or even several families.

Political victims, that's all.

It's just that the political turmoil that will be caused by the Ryan Kingdom this time is actually limited to a relatively small area.

To put it plainly, it is the conflict of interest between the veteran Lane aristocracy and the surrendering new Lane aristocracy.

In a state almost like being in an uninhabited state, the mysterious man soon came to a small hotel that looked rather dilapidated.

This is a hotel with traces of history in the inner city of Tonys Fortress. It is said that it was established when the fortress began construction. And in that busy time. This hotel has always provided good-quality food and hot wine for the soldiers and few workers in the fortress, so when the fortress was built, the marquise of the fortress of Tonis was held here. A celebration banquet, which has since become the most proud signature of this hotel.

However, with the change of time, when more and more people began to pour into this fortress, and various more high-end taverns and hotels began to open, this hotel was gradually forgotten in people's memory. inside. And now, this hotel has become the best choice for those impoverished travelers-even adventurers with a little money will not stay in this place.

But for some people, the existence value of this hotel is extremely high.

Because there are no adventurers, mercenaries, demon hunters, etc. to stay. Naturally, this hotel will not be popular. The lack of popularity usually means a lack of intelligence exchanges, which is naturally a worthless place for those who rely on intelligence to feed, so there will be no spies coming to such a place. . In this way, this hotel is equivalent to a natural soundproofing house, so in the eyes of those who really know the goods. This hotel is the best choice.

The person who has not revealed his identity so far carefully glanced around, then pushed open the wooden door of the hotel and walked in.

A rotten and moldy smell is oncoming. This made the mysterious man's brows slightly frowned.

The boss at the counter inside the hotel. It was an old man who was hanging down, and his face was already stuck to the bones, giving people an unusually oozing feeling. He raised his head slightly and glanced at the mysterious person entering the door. His eyes were so indifferent that it made people feel incredible. This mysterious person wearing a cloak even had an illusion of being seen through. How long has he not seen this illusion?

"There is only one room left." The old man's voice was hoarse as if it was blowing out of a bellows. The mysterious person could even see that when the old man said this, his chest was even directly compressed, which made him very worried that the old man would die immediately after saying the next sentence.

"No, I just came to find someone." The mysterious man said quickly. Even he himself didn't know why he was so cautious in front of this old man, it felt like he was meeting some elder in person.

"The woman who took the lead?" The old man glanced at the other person, "Go up, in the second room on the left, they haven't slept yet."

The mysterious person thanked him in a cautious manner, then turned around and started to go upstairs.

The whole small hotel felt like it would collapse at any time. As soon as this person stepped on the stairs, he made a creaking sound, as if he would be stepped on if he tried harder. In this way, he naturally dared to go upstairs cautiously without daring to use too much force, but fortunately, when he went up to the second floor, the floor became much thicker, which made his mood slightly relaxed.

The second floor aisle of the small hotel, you can see obvious traces of modification. It seems that there was no such aisle at the beginning, but even so, this aisle can only accommodate one person to pass through. According to the old man's statement, the man who has not taken off his hood and cloak knocked on the door of the second room on the left, and then the door was opened in the next instant.

The hotel room is smaller than imagined. There is only a bed against the wall, a table near the window, a chair, and nothing else. However, it can be seen that these things are obviously quite old, at least they must have a history of more than ten years. It can be seen that these gadgets definitely existed before the completion of Tonys Fortress.

The only good point is that the bedding in the room is very clean and even exudes a faint fragrance.

It was Rina who opened the door. She had already taken off her cloak and armor. She only wore a white denim shirt and a pair of trousers with tied feet on her lower body. The whole person looked like a fierce jingle. .

After seeing Rina, the man finally lifted his hood.

The face under the hood is astonishingly Brod.

There was a strange flash in Rina's eyes, it was obvious that she was a little unclear about Brod's intention to go here in such a deep night. For a while, the atmosphere outside the door seemed a bit tangled and low, after all, this morning. The two of them almost fought, and it didn't take long for Brod to visit late at night. It's no wonder that at this moment, Rina immediately tensed her nerves.

In the room, Sean was sitting at the desk, seeming to be flipping through a book. He took it so seriously that he didn't notice it the first time Broad came. It wasn't until the atmosphere in the room became a little weird and deep that Sean came back to his senses. Turning his head, he saw that Brod had been blocked by Rena, and he was in a situation of disagreement.

And Cecilia, who was lying on the bed, opened her eyes and glanced at the people outside the door. After seeing that it was Broad, she closed her eyes again and went back to sleep. The journey these days has made her feel very tired. With Broad's strength and situation, everyone in the room would not be able to dispatch together. One Rena is enough to make him come back and forth. So just turned over. Cecilia fell asleep again.

As for Xuefanio. She leaned against the window and didn't know what she was looking at. She placed the Bing Rin aside, and she didn't even sweep Broad from the corner of her eye from start to finish.

"Let him in." Sean said softly.

Rena looked back at Sean, her eyes a little puzzled, but after seeing Sean nod. Rina kept aside and let Broad in.

After entering the door, Broad closed the door conveniently, but after a glance at the room, he saw that there were no extra chairs. And after Rina and Xuefanio were both standing, Brod simply took off the cloak and threw it on the ground, and just sat down. This action made Sean's face a little bit surprised. It felt that Broad had indeed changed a lot in the past year. This made Sean's original frivolous attitude slightly changed.

"You came a little later than I expected." Sean said softly.

"It is not easy to cross most of the inner city without being discovered by anyone." Broad said, "What is the situation in Tonis Fortress today, I believe you should see it clearly today."

"Indeed." Sean nodded.

Speaking of this, Sean took a look at Broad with interest and smiled: "But I didn't expect that you would say that kind of thing this morning. I thought..."

"Think I would tell you about your arrival here?" Brod interrupted Sean.

Shaun smiled noncommittally.

"If it was before the war broke out with the Kingdom of Darbion, then I would do it, but after that, I won't." Brod said with a calm face, then calmly said, "I know we were. There may have been some festivals in the past, but in my opinion, those are just trivial things. As you said, we are all nobles, so you and I are very clear about the way between nobles, then you must have heard a word... .."

This time, it was Sean who interrupted Broad's voice: "There are no absolute friends, only absolute interests?...If I remember correctly, we are not even friends?"

"Friends and enemies are always only between one thought." Brod shrugged, "And the previous thing, I don't think our previous hatred will be too big to be close. Of course, the thing that time was indeed me. It was a bit too much, so in order to show my sincerity, I apologize to you here, and I have also prepared a manor for you in Wangdu, to ensure that if you don't want it, no one will be able to disturb you. "

"Except you?" Sean's eyes narrowed slightly.

"Yes, except for me." Broad was calm and admitted, "After all, that manor must pass through my hands. But I can guarantee that this manor is absolutely clean, even if you. No one will know the relationship between you and me when I move in."

"Are you trying to reach a secret alliance agreement with me?" Sean tilted his head.

"Yes." Brod nodded, "We all know that after the upgrade of the Principality of Ryan this time, the domestic political situation will inevitably cause turmoil. Of course, the Principality of Ryan has now been divided into Senner nobles and foreign nobles..."

"The distribution in the aristocratic circle has been finalized?" Sean asked in surprise.

Aristocratic circles have never been static. They will choose to group together or oppose each other because of differences in political ideas or entanglement of interests. Therefore, whether it is a group or an opposition, in order to continue to ensure the establishment of their own family in the country, they will choose to ally with other noble families. This alliance relationship is deep and shallow, but once an alliance agreement is reached, a fixed alliance will be formed. Of circles.

Usually the circles that have been established for a long time become old nobles, and those families that have only recently become nobles are generally called emerging nobles. If an emerging noble does not have an old noble as an introducer, the noble will be completely rejected Outside the circle. Therefore, if those families known as emerging aristocrats do not want to just become political victims in this way, they will also choose to group together, so the contradiction between the old and new aristocrats will naturally start from this.

This is an internal struggle among the nobles that no country can avoid.

However, in different national histories, there are completely different definitions of new and old nobles. Like in the Principality of Lane, the old nobles are those families that have been established for at least two hundred years, and since there have been almost no new nobles in the middle for nearly a hundred years, the assignment of new and old nobles is very clear, and there is no fuzzy boundary.

So, the distribution in the aristocratic circle is not just talking about it, at least it must reach a certain consensus.

"Yes." As one of the old noble nobles, Broad knew what Shaun meant, so he nodded.

"So what about the contradiction between the old aristocrats and the emerging aristocrats?" Sean's brows suddenly frowned. "Isn't there a huge and irreconcilable conflict of interest between the two? Why did they suddenly join hands?"

"So I said, there are no absolute enemies and friends in this world, only absolute interests." Brod shrugged, "The old nobles gave up all kinds of things worth about 18 million gold coins. Materials and resources, so the emerging aristocrats naturally jumped on it for the first time. At least before the end of this great turmoil, the Kingdom of Line..." Broad emphasized the words "Kingdom of Line": "Previously sealed Those nobles are already in one mind."

Sean did not expect that the political situation of the Kingdom of Lane would change so quickly, which was completely beyond his scope.

At least, he still remembers that there was no such situation in the game.

"So what do you mean?" Sean asked in a deep voice.

"I only have one request." Broad said softly, "Help me become the next Patriarch of the Rhodes family, then I will be on your side."

Chapter 6: .change plan

Brod really has the intention to cooperate with Sean, so he knows everything about Sean's problems, and he fully demonstrates his sincerity in seeking cooperation.

So, Sean quickly learned about the many situations and problems in the Kingdom of Lane now, especially with a clearer understanding of the situation.

The so-called nobles in the Senegal and nobles outside the Senegal refer to the distinction between the inward and outward directions with the Tonis fortress as the center. To put it simply, all the nobles in the former Principality of Ryan were all Senene aristocrats. The old and new aristocrats of the Principality of Ryan, who had previously had nearly irreconcilable conflicts due to some differences in interests and positions, suddenly breathed a sigh of relief. The former Darby nobles who poured into the circle of the aristocratic system of the Kingdom of Ryan showed the same rare political stance: their strong rejection of the nobles outside the Great Wall.

It is true that as Broad said, in the face of absolute interests, unless it is a blood feud, there is no grievance that cannot be let go.

In this way, the Senei noble group headed by the Marquis of Thornweed, this time preempted the nobles outside the Senegal to react and reached a conscious resonance before they formed a group. In the foreseeable half a year, those people who belonged to the nobles of the Darbion Kingdom will probably be sad. After all, these problems involve interests, the nobles of Lane will certainly show a very tough and aggressive.

And when the former Darby expensive clan of the so-called foreign aristocracy finally understood and began to cling together, they were already at a disadvantage. Will be pulled bigger and bigger. Even if Darby's nobles are led by a well-known politician, it will be difficult to reverse the situation in a short time. Once the time is long, no one can guarantee the unity of the nobles outside of Senegal. Centripetal force.

If there is still fighting in this situation. Then in the next ten years, the so-called foreign aristocracy will definitely be at a disadvantage for a long time.

Unfortunately, Sean, who started from this war, was included in the list of nobles outside the Senegal-in fact, even Asuna G. Evans was rejected by the nobles of Sené, and Sean was also Do not expect to be able to enter the circle of the nobles of Sené. They just wanted to blatantly attack

Asuna. The nobles of Sené didn't have the courage yet, so Asuna had become the only noble outside of the Great Wall who was not listed as a target in Sean's Seven-Man Alliance.

But this is only temporary.

Once the nobles outside the Senegal are suppressed in the overall situation, then the nobles of Sené will definitely force Asuna to choose to stand in line. Based on what Shaun knew about Asuna, she would certainly not abandon the alliance. But now her geographical location is completely blocked in Garrod Fortress. With this kind of situation in China, once the route of foreign materials is cut off, Asuna will immediately fall into a rather passive dilemma.

Thinking about it this way, Sean knew why the Marquis of Devin proposed to give Asuna all the territory of the original Darbion within the Fortress of Garrod. The interest group led by the Marquis of Thornweed not only did not oppose it. And they all voted for the reason. Because of this, they had trapped the beast of Asuna in a disguised form. It even kept her away from the political center of the entire Kingdom of Lane.

At this moment. Sean suddenly felt a sense of sorrow of killing a donkey.

"There are seven marquis of old power in the Kingdom of Lane, including Asuna. At present, it is certain that Commander Lloyd will never participate in the plan against his daughter, and that Lane's sword will not only propose to move those within Garrod Fortress. All Darbion's territory was transferred to Asuna, and there was no other action... At least he did not clearly state his political stance. The remaining three families..." Sean glanced at Broad, and then He spoke in a deep voice. "All have joined the interest group of Marquis of Thornweed?"

The predecessor of the Kingdom of Lane: During the Principality of Lane, there were seven marquis prefixed with "strength".

Among them, the Evans family occupies two seats, and the remaining five are the Marquis of Dwin Soder Sabre, who has the title of "Sword of Lane", the Marquis of Zober Rodis, who has the title of "Lane's Sword", and the owner of the so-called Ryan is the strongest. In the Heavy Infantry Regiment, the Marquis of Sebarox, Marquis Michael Att of Thornweed, Marquis of Karlovci Finristin.

Except for Asuna, the other six people are regular visitors of the twelve upper nobles of Ryan.

But what makes Shaun feel a little subtle. The Shab family, which is basically hostile to Sean, did not participate in the interest group of the Marquis of Thornweed. Instead, the Finlistine family joined the interest group on the condition that they exclude themselves. It is precisely because of this that their interest group is equivalent to pushing Asuna to the opposite side, so of course Asuna's father will not be able to participate in this interest group.

And these seven old marquis of strength of Lane must also be a member of the list of dukes that the Kingdom of Lane has drawn up.

Duke-level aristocratic conflict, this is not a fun game.

Broad heard what Sean said, and naturally knew what Sean was worried about, so he opened his mouth and said, "My family has not yet decided on its position."

Shaun raised his brow slightly.

"However, my cousin who is vying for inheritance rights is more inclined to this interest group." Seeing Sean's * se, Brod said quietly.

"Are you threatening me?" Shaun's face was cold.

"No." Brod's heart suddenly frightened, a sudden cold murderous intent made his heart suddenly twitch, as if being pinched by an invisible hand, but his face remained normal. The voice didn't seem to tremble at all, "I'm just making a mutually beneficial proposal to you.... If you think this proposal is good, then we can cooperate, so that your enemy will not only have one less help, but you can Get an ally."

"It's just that doesn't make my heart move." Sean thought for a while, and he was very satisfied with Brod's sincerity, but if it was just like this, he would be of no benefit, because even Brod. The ally mentioned was just a secret ally who couldn't disclose each other's identity and relationship like Ronnis did at the beginning. This did not have any real benefits for Sean at all.

And Sean, but it happens to be a typical person who does not see rabbits and scatter eagles.

"I can give you a batch of Grey Night Mine." Thought for a while. Broad said, "Probably enough for you to arm a main force."

Gray Night Mine, this is a rare metal mine mixed with traces of magic power. It usually appears as an associated mine, but it is extremely rare to appear as a non-associated mine in the territory of the Rhodis family. This is also the name of the gray night collar. For the sake of origin. However, Sean knew that Gray Night Mine was only rare in the surface layer. For the underground world, Gray Night Mine was a common ore that was almost flooded.

But only for countries on the surface, the gray night mine is still a relatively important resource.

Synthetic iron smelted from this ore with two other common common ore. It can be used to make a special armor. Players could not equip this kind of armor in the game at the beginning, but according to the calculations of the party, the texture of this kind of armor is equivalent to that of weak bronze equipment, and it also has a certain degree of magic resistance. And the protective effect is equivalent to the level of heavy armor, but the weight is only half of that of heavy armor-basically equivalent to the level of light armor.

The standard equipment used by the Silent Mountain, known as the strongest heavy infantry regiment of Lane. It is this special armor.

But in Sean's eyes. This "strongest" is actually very watery: Because it is equipped with such powerful equipment, Silent Mountain is only a quasi-fourth level army. If this set of equipment is unloaded, Silent Mountain will even directly descend to a quasi-level three army, which may not even count as a level three army. From this, it can be imagined that the military quality and discipline of this army are so bad. What degree.

If Sean replaces all three main armies under his command with this standard equipment, Sean believes that these three armies can even be directly upgraded to the quasi-five level. And with the steel wings and the impact shield, it might be able to directly break through the limits of the sixth-level army.

Level six, this is the limit value of the general army.

Starting from this watershed, if you want to continue to increase the army's combat effectiveness level. Then the ranks of all members of the legion need to be promoted-for the players, the rank is the representative of strength, but for these aborigines, the rank is not equivalent to the realm of strength. To reach the level of the seventh-level legion, all members of the army must be of the sixth-level rank; the eighth-level is the seventh-level, and the ninth-level is the eighth-level.

As for the tenth-level army, there is only one in the entire Marvel Continent.

So Brod made this condition, and Sean was really excited.

"Amount?" Sean asked.

"Ten thousand." After a little thought, Broad spoke up.

"Not enough." Sean shook his head simply.

If only the number of soldiers can be armed with 10,000 soldiers, it will not help Sean much. The most is to pile the steel wings to level six, and he can't even expand the scale. And the most important point is that these materials were provided by Broad. Once a war broke out, he didn't even have the reserve resources to supplement it, which meant that he had a weakness completely grasped by Broad.

"I can only provide up to 20,000 sets of equipment with the same standard as Silent Mountain."

"I don't need it." Shaun refused directly, "I want your mining rights."

"It's impossible!" Even if he let out an exclamation, the whole person almost jumped up, "If you give you all the mining rights, the gray night collar will no longer be the gray night collar. The mining of the gray night mine. Power is the foundation of our Rodis family's survival!"

"I don't mean to occupy the mining rights of Huiye Mine forever." Sean looked at Brod who was excited, and stretched out his hand to signal him to be safe and restless, "In this way, I only want you to mine Huiye Mine for three years. You use it. Three years of mining rights for the Gray Night Mine in exchange for your position as the head of the Rodis family, I think this sale is very fair?"

Hearing Sean's words, Broad could not help but fall into contemplation.

Sean knew that he was calculating the gains and losses, so he didn't bother. After all, for him, it would be a lucky thing if he could get the mining rights of Grey Night Mine, but if he didn't get it, it didn't matter, because he had already discovered a path to the abyss, and he waited until the territorial situation was complete. After stabilizing, he was going to go to the underground world to take a stroll, when the gray night mine didn't cost much.

"The vein found in Huiye Ling can only produce 100,000 tons of Huiye Mine each year. Of course, this is limited by the current mining technology. But theoretically, it can reach about 200,000 tons per year. "Broad didn't answer Sean's words, but suddenly introduced the ash night mine. "Take 100,000 tons of ash night mine as an example. In fact, after the smelting process, it is about 5,000 sets of silence. The standard equipment of the Mountain Legion...So even if you want three years of mining rights, at most 15,000 sets of the standard equipment of the Silent Mountain Legion are only. If this is the case, wouldn't it be better for me to give you 20,000 sets?"

"It's not the same." Shaun shook his head, "I'll ask you, how many years can Huiyeling's Huiye Mine be mined?"

"In terms of 100,000 tons of annual mining output, it may be possible to mine for another fifty years." Broad hesitated. In the end, he told Sean what was a secret to the Rodis family.

"In other words, there are still about five million tons of mineral reserves." Xiao En nodded slightly, "If I can say that I can make your annual mining output reach 300,000 tons?"

"How is this possible!" Broad subconsciously chose to refute, but he saw Sean's calm and composed appearance. He swallowed everything he wanted to say later.

"I want your three-year mining rights, if you agree. Then I can also pass on this technology to you." Xiao En said softly. "And I can assure you that I will never get involved with the ruins under the Grey Night Mine, it is still the secret of your Rodis family."

Hearing Sean's understatement about the ruins under the Grey Night Deposit, Broad's face changed drastically. The secret of this ruin, even in the Rodis family, is only known by the core few. And he only learned about it after he overheard it once. The other heir candidates didn't know about it. This was why Broad wanted to be the only heir anyway.

Because on the Continent of Miracles, anything that involves the word "remains". It must be invaluable, and it may even be a shortcut to make people powerful.

And this reason is why Broad wanted to avoid Sean's involvement in mining the Ash Mine.

"Trust me." Seeing Broad God se, Sean knew why he refused to let himself intervene in the mining of the gray night mine. "If you don't have my skills, then you will need at least twelve years from now. It is possible to dig out the entrance to that ruin."

This time, Sean didn't lie to Broad.

There is indeed an ancient ruin underground in the gray night collar, and it is also a Tier 8 team instance. When this copy was released, it was already when the game version was updated with the fourth expansion. The timeline at that time had passed to 1886, which is now twelve years later, so Sean said twelve years It's no joke afterwards.

Only Tier 8 is just the lowest entry barrier for this instance.

He still remembers that the guild leader he was in took the entire Jing Ying group and ran to open up wasteland. Basically, all the members were at the top level of Tier 8, and they still wanted to die in this dungeon. It took at least a month before and after to reluctantly open up wasteland to the third boss. It is said that it is already the best performance among all the teams that open up wasteland in the entire Southern Continent.

When the team led by Sean finally was able to play this dungeon later, the strategy of the first four bosses was already exhausted, so they did not spend too much time to keep up with the progress at that time. group. Later, when fighting the final boss, because of a terrain bug he accidentally discovered, after sacrificing half of the team members, they finally killed the boss and became the first team to clear the game.

In this world, the eighth rank is equivalent to high-level gold.

Shaun didn't think there would be so many high-level gold powers under Broad's command, because even Florence, now known as the lord with the largest number of powers in the Kingdom of Ryan, could not make up ten high-level gold powers. Rod really dug such a passage that could open the main entrance of the ruins in a short time, and he absolutely couldn't get this copy, so Sean believed that Brod would eventually come to him for help.

"If you need 900,000 tons of Grey Night Mine, I can satisfy you." Broad pondered for a long time, but in the end he found that he had no choice at all, so he could only say, "But I can't do it every year. Give you the mining rights directly...In this way, I will give you 150,000 tons a year, and I will pay you all within six years."

"If you want to pay in installments, then I want one million tons, which can be paid back in five years, but I must provide me with 200,000 tons of ash night ore every year. I do not accept any purification or smelting. Semi-finished products that have passed." Xiao En directly refused without hesitation, "If you can't accept this proposal, then we have nothing to talk about. I will treat you as if you haven't been there."

"Deal." This time, Broad only thought for three seconds, and he agreed to Sean's proposal without hesitation.

So the two parties quickly reached a consensus on this matter and signed a secret agreement with each other to prevent Broad's denial in the future. But in this way, Brod suffered a bit. After all, Sean completely took the initiative in this matter, so he didn't have any evidence and handle to leave Brod, but now When he needed the assistance of Sean, Broad could only choose to silently shut up.

When the agreement was completed, Broad quickly left the small hotel without staying for a moment.

And Sean, after a moment of silence, he wrote a letter to Xuefanio, asking her to send the letter to Asuna as quickly as possible. In the content of the letter, Sean has briefly stated the current situation in the Kingdom of Ryan, as well as the yin plans and tricks prepared by the nobles. Although he simply mentioned a few words in many words, Sean believes that Asuna's ability would definitely be able to quickly discover the trap inside, so as to respond in advance.

Of course, Sean also mentioned Broad Roddis, and talked about his private transaction with him again. This is also a means of protection by Sean. After all, although he has changed his approach and impression of Broad, it does not mean that he can immediately trust this person, even if there is no red halo on him.

But these are all secondary issues.

The most important thing is that at the end of the letter, Sean explained the danger of the situation, so he decided to temporarily change his mind, no longer meet with them but go to the capital by himself, and then everyone will provide it in Broad Just meet up with his manor. At the same time, in the letter, Sean had also explained that Asuna told her not to rendezvous with Duke Hatch and others, so as to avoid unnecessary situations and troubles. As for his own safety, he would find a way to solve it.

Chapter 7: Assassination

Yiri, when it was dawn, Sean, Cecilia, Xuefanio, and Rena left the small hotel.

Sean has always felt that this small hotel must have some secret, because as a player's intuition tells him that the more ordinary things seem to the extreme, the more likely they are to be extraordinary. It's just that this little old man completely ignored him, which made Xiao En guess that some special conditions should be lacking so that he did not respond. Of course, it is also possible that this old man is relatively withdrawn.

But for players like Sean, he would rather believe that it is the former.

The Fortress of Tonys is an integrated structure of the city and the castle. The outer city defense structure faces the direction of the original Kingdom of Darbion. However, with the fall of the Kingdom of Darbion, this part has now become a decoration and a burden. It is said that Ryan The royal family intends to split the outer city for renovation, and prepare to transform it into the model of the Axis City—that is, to reproduce the architectural layout of the current inner city directly in the outer city area of the original Tony Fortress.

Last night, Sean had already strolled around the inner city of Tonys Fortress.

He discovered that although the Tony Fortress has officially entered a state of military control, the quality of the Legionnaires in the inner city and the outer city is actually very different. Through the exchanges with Broad last night, Sean has generally understood that the situation of the 7th Legion is actually equivalent to a small aristocratic circle: those noble children who have chosen a backer and have a firm foothold can enter the inner city. Searching for oil and water, and those family children who can't find a backing can only go to the outer city to take charge of the hard and tiring work.

Brod, after his surname was stripped of the Cebalox family, he was no different from the nobles in the outer city.

It wasn't until he was once again favored by the Rodis family and became the second-in-line heir, that his situation improved. It's just that after going through many things and the hardest half of life for more than half a year, now Broad also really disdains to get along with those noble children who find their patrons to be fake, so they only met Shaun outside the fortress yesterday.

This also explains why Broad knows so much about the inner city patrol lines.

Because of the warrant from Broad to Sean, they did not suffer any difficulties when they left the inner city. After all, now in terms of identity alone, Broad is the real highest-ranking one in the 7th Legion-as long as the next Patriarch of the Rodis family has not been determined, even if Broad is now only a baron, No one dared to provoke him with his heir status.

In this way, it also omitted a lot of trouble for Sean.

And through this, Sean also discovered that Broad had indeed matured a lot. He not only knows how to add a fig leaf to himself in dealing with things, but also knows how to give up some so-called face problems for the benefit, and he even knows how to handle things more comprehensively. Sean feels that he is seeing himself with his own eyes. See the birth of a future political yin planner.

However, he doesn't reject this feeling very much.

Because of Broad's behavior, he also gave Sean some reminders.

In fact, Sean also knows that asking Rena to bring Blackstone out is likely to cause some unnecessary troubles, but the creatures such as Earthwalker are not as good as Guru or Marshmallow—whether it is Earthwalker or Wyvern. Such creatures usually only identify one owner throughout their lives, and when they identify the owner, they will always be inseparable from the owner.

So it is completely impossible to throw Blackstone in the void collar.

Sean bet that this guy can't see Rena the next day, then there will definitely be a news about Warcraft running away in Voidling. Therefore, as a last resort, he can only ask Rena to bring Blackstone. Although this is indeed a bit of publicity and full of bragging taste-for the players in the game, this behavior is indeed showing off and pretending to be 13, but for the sake of For the security of the territory, Sean had to do the same, so they all pretended to be adventurers along the way.

Originally speaking, even if an adventurer team or mercenary group has an earth travel dragon knight, those nobles will not take it too seriously, after all, they are very clear because of the stubbornness of the earth travel dragon. It's just that Sean didn't anticipate the current turmoil and chaos in the Kingdom of Lane, so at this time an earth-traveling dragon knight appeared. For those nobles who are eager to quickly increase their strength, it is no less than a cat seeing a fish. excited.

So it is a matter of course to cause some unnecessary confusion and attract the attention of various forces.

"Someone is following us." Rina suddenly spoke when she was about half a day away from Tonis Fortress.

Sean's * se moved slightly, but did not stop because of this, and the four of them continued to move forward. It's just that Blackstone seemed a little anxious. It began to spit out rough air, with a very obvious attacking performance. If it weren't for Rina standing aside and patting Blackstone's body, I'm afraid this big guy will start to violently go away. . Of course, with Blackstone's anxious behavior, the marshmallow, who had been sleeping on Blackstone's back, woke up uncomfortably.

"A few people." Seeing the performance of these two monsters, Sean knew that there was definitely not a good person following each other.

Earthwalking dragons are creatures with very keen perception, so usually they can detect prey in which direction from a long distance and start hunting. Therefore, whether it is breath, smell, or something else, Earth Xinglong is very sensitive. Therefore, at this moment, the earth travel dragon can become anxious, then there is only one reason: Blackstone feels a very strong or strong murderous intent and killing intent.

Only when it feels threatened, the earth travel dragon will become anxious and show the strength and combativeness of the dragon species.

"About three to five people." After all, Rina was born as a mercenary, and now her strength is the highest level of gold, and she also took the bottle of [Ancient Dragon Bloodline] that Andrew had given before, although the current strength of the bloodline in the body It hasn't fully shown the active state of appearance, but the improvement of xing and the sensitivity of perception are very obvious. In this way, it really helps Rina use previous experience and skills to judge the number of enemies, and There is no need to think of a way to counter-investigate.

"Now Brod's status in the 7th Legion has risen by all means. Even if his actions dissatisfied other 7th Legion nobles, at least no one will offend him now." Sean frowned. Obviously some do not understand the situation, "In this case, we left Tonys Fortress with Brod's handwritten letter. Why would anyone dare to follow us? And..."

Speaking of this, Xiao En's gaze also swept towards Blackstone. This mutant emperor dragon has become more and more manic, which also means that the opponent is gradually approaching them. At this moment, let Xiao En understand that the other people who followed them were probably not as simple as tracking them, maybe they really wanted to solve them. Knowing that there is an Earth Traveling Dragon Knight on their side who still dared to choose to shoot, this obviously shows that the other party is confident that they can limit Rina's power.

"It seems that those guys should be people with direct conflicts of interest in Broad." After Xiao En understood these key points, he let out a slight sneer, "The biggest possibility should be the first heir to the Rhodes family. Coming here, it seems that the Seventh Army is also in constant intrigue and disputes."

"So what?" Cecilia asked.

"Since the opponents are here, we would be too sorry for our luxurious lineup if we don't fight back." Sean stopped, then suddenly threw the cloak away, and at the same time directly activated the light body technique and adrenal glands. Stimulating the two ace skills, the whole person has already rushed towards the rear.

The enemy may be because they look down on Sean and the others, so they and Sean and the others have been constantly shrinking. Faced with such a close distance, Sean doesn't even need Rena's reminder at all. He knows this. Where is the guy hiding? Therefore, with Sean's two ace skills fully activated, a full-speed sprint has already rushed to his opponent. Seeing a touch of surprise on the opponent's face, Sean waved a sword.

In the face of such a sudden attack, although this middle-aged man of a certain age was shocked, he did not panic. Although he didn't know why Sean would find him hiding here, but now that everything is meaningless, he raised his hand slightly-he already holds a dagger in his right hand. The shape of this dagger is very different. Simple, but its texture is by no means ordinary, because this middle-aged man with this short sword actually blocked the dead bone blade that Xiao En slashed over.

Only a metal sound of "ding" suddenly came out, and with the splash of sparks, the pupils of Xiao En and the middle-aged man shrank.

Both knew that they had really met their opponents this time.

But before the two men confronted again, another two rushed towards Sean from the side. The speed of the two men was almost exactly the same, and even the weapons they used were the same. Obviously Sean The three people faced are an assassination team that has cooperated for a long time. Being able to have such a Jingzhe means, this is enough to prove that these people are by no means simple opponents, at least they are some famous killer assassins on the Southern Continent.

But of these two people, one of them is faster than them.

Rena!

A flame spear shattered into the air, and the long spear arrived before the Rena.

The tip of the gun was tapped on the dagger of a killer, and a powerful impact burst out suddenly, but it was not Rina who retreated, but the killer who was head-to-head with Rina was blown out directly, and the person was in mid-air. Zhong has already vomited several mouthfuls of blood.

But Rina can stop one person, but she can't stop the second person.

At this time, the short sword in his hand has been pierced under Sean's ribs!

If pierced from this angle, Sean's heart will definitely be pierced!

Chapter 8: .Druid Master

The brilliance of azure blue se radiated from Xiao En's body, and it quickly condensed into a blue se armor gleaming, as if Xiao En's body suddenly put on a set of gorgeous blue se light armor.

Ice Armor!

Almost the moment when Xuefanio's ice armor fell, a crisp metal clash sounded slightly.

Feeling the hard shock from the dagger in his hand, the assassin who tried to assassinate Shaun's pupils slightly shrank, but he did not insist, but immediately chose to withdraw and retreat, and quickly opened up with Shaun and Rina. distance. He retreated directly to his companion's side in one breath, and then when he saw his companion stand up from the ground again, there was a slightly relaxed spirit in his eyes.

As for the assassin who was in confrontation with Sean, after being put on ice armor by Xuefanio on Sean's body, he did not hesitate to choose a distance.

However, his gaze is already looking at Xuefanio-even though the cloaks on both Xuefanio and Cecilia are already covered, the energy fluctuations produced by the use of divine magic are still very obvious. .

In battle, it is basically common sense to give priority to solving the enemy's mages.

Although there is a clergyman in the opponent's team that really surprised them, it was only a little surprised. After all, there will always be some clergymen running out to make some extra money without hiding from their church. Therefore, for this situation They are naturally not surprised. Anyway, whether there are clergy or not is not a problem for them, at most it is a little bit tricky, but as long as the opponent's clergy is solved, then they still feel that there is no suspense in this battle.

So the next moment, the three assassins dispersed immediately, never clinging together, and each took three roads to approach Xuefanio quickly. These three obviously planned to kill the priest Xuefanio before coming. Resolve Sean et al.

Tactically speaking, this approach is indeed correct.

However, it depends on what team it is used for.

A team like Sean and others, Sean can only sigh who gave them the courage? Even if the intelligence work is not done well, they dare to attack them so rashly. I really don't know if it is better to say that the ignorant are fearless, or that they are all idiots.

However, at the moment of the confrontation, Sean still believed in the former's conjecture. After all, simply based on the strength of these three assassins, the average small team will indeed not be their opponents. After all, these three not only cooperate with each other, but each of them is very strong, and even the basic skills are very good. It's solid, it's time to take action and retreat when it's time to retreat.

Assassins like this are the real most troublesome opponents. So these three people are so conceited that they can solve Xiao En and others are just a manifestation of their strong confidence.

Of course, usually excessive self-confidence is equivalent to conceit.

At least, if they have done detailed intelligence gathering work, then they will not try to choose a priority to solve Xuefanio. Because Xuefanio, the priest with a knife of the Church of Ice and Winter, is the strongest among the four of Sean and the others. Rather than go to trouble with her, Sean feels that he might as well concentrate on assassinating himself first. In this way, their victory may be even greater. With Xuefanio's strength, she could easily kill these three assassins at the same time.

But even if Xuefanio alone can solve these three assassins, Sean did not intend to completely expose Xuefanio's strength here.

So he and Rina quickly greeted an assassin each. In fact, the three assassins who cooperated in harmony chose to disperse by themselves, which was a more favorable situation for Sean. And the target he chose was naturally the previous assassin who could block his own attack. He intuitively told Sean that the short sword in the opponent's hand was definitely not an ordinary weapon.

It's just that even if both Sean and Rena find an opponent each, an assassin still rushes towards Xuefanio.

Rina gave a soft whistle, and Blackrock let out a strong roar, and then rushed towards the third assassin's legs. The momentum that is almost like a gallop, even the other two pairs who are about to start a confrontation can't help but glance at the situation over there: the assassin who needs to face the black stone charge, at this time There was also a strange god-se on his face. After all, no matter who saw a huge three-meter-high dragon rushing towards him, this kind of shock was definitely not something ordinary people could bear.

However, Sean saw more things.

The roar from Black Stone is actually a necessary step for Longwei to launch. After all, Blackstone is not a real dragon, so of course it cannot be like those real dragons. Just opening your eyes can make all enemies in your sight be affected by the negative effects of Longwei-purely from the terminology in the game. This kind of dragon power of the dragon is actually a kind of rule-based domain suppression, but it is different from the rules that other races can use. The giant dragon can maintain this domain rule-based suppression all the time, and other races The powerhouse has no way to maintain it forever.

But the world is fair.

Although the dragon can be suppressed in this domain forever, it can also be used to counteract the suppression of the dragon's dragon by the jing god's protection and many other blessing abilities. This is why in the game, the team that wants to slay dragons must have wizards and priests to join. If they don't continue to use the auxiliary skills of jing  protection, no amount of players can besiege a giant. Dragon.

And Sean, at this moment, saw the roar of Blackstone, which was transmitted in all directions with a unique sound wave. The moment the three assassins were swept by this sound wave, there was a very obvious movement in their actions. Hysteresis. But in an instant, there were waves of ripples on these three people, blocking the sound wave, and then they could see their movement speed returned to a normal level, as if the black stone roared out of the dragon. It has no effect on them at all.

Shaun's pupils shrank suddenly.

If it weren't for the time outside the Tonys Fortress, Sean had witnessed that after Blackrock's roar, the soldiers of the 7th Legion were all affected by Longwei, and even the average people were scared into chaos and fear. State, then he wouldn't be surprised at this time. But just because he clearly saw that scene, Xiao En knew that Blackstone's Longwei also had an impact on people, so he would of course be surprised to see that Blackstone's Longwei had no influence on these assassins at all.

At this moment, Sean even ignored why he saw these traces of sound wave sweeping.

Because he has come to a conclusion: the other party also has a magician!

Only this conclusion can prove why Blackstone's Longwei has no effect on them!

That is because they have been blessed by the protection of God Jing!

"Be careful!" Xiao En only had time to make such a shout, and the assassin who confronted Xiao En immediately launched a violent attack.

His speed suddenly doubled, almost just a step forward, and he has already arrived in front of Xiao En, and the short sword in his hand pierced directly into Xiao En's heart.

In terms of theoretical speed, Sean might not be inferior to the opponent, but at this time, facing the sword that stabbed him, he was completely unable to avoid it. This is not only because the opponent's attack timing is very clever, but also because of the weapon's advantage-the short sword is only slightly longer than the dagger. For the assassins who use this weapon, it feels like them. The extension of the arm is the same.

So once you are entangled by this kind of assassin, unless you are a fighter, a martial artist, or a boxer, it will be difficult to turn around once you have the initiative. And the situation that Sean was in at this time happened to be that the other party directly controlled the initiative-everyone knew what would happen if an assassin posted and approached the initiative.

However, Sean also has a simple and rude cracking method that belongs to him.

Faced with the sword that pierced his heart, he stood up and ran into it without caring.

No one knows the effect of the Ice Armor spell displayed by Xuefanio better than him-basically any magic spell of the Ice and Winter Church displayed by Xuefanio will increase the effect by at least 50%. above.

However, a crisp sound of glass shattering broke Sean's thoughts.

In this real world, the effect of ice armor has also been greatly changed, not just a numerical representation as it was in the game. According to Sean's actual measurement, the ice armor technique displayed by the priests and priests of the Ice and Winter Priests can completely block a high-level silver master's full blow, and if this ice armor is made by Yuxue Fanio's words, then it can completely block the explosive blow of a high-ranking golden powerhouse during the peak period.

After all, Xuefanio is also a quasi-sanctuary powerhouse in the half-step sanctuary. Under the understanding of power, rules, and magic, it is completely different from what it used to be.

And the assassin in front of him who is fighting against Sean, not to mention his strength is the highest level of gold, not even the upper level of gold! But in the face of such an opponent, the ice armor technique displayed by Xuefanio was completely destroyed by the opponent's attack. How could Sean not be surprised!

"Curse Seal. Silver Scales!"

Faced with such an emergency situation, Sean also had to activate the most important hole card of his rank!

The short sword pierced through the light armor condensed by the ice armor technique. The assassin's eyes were still as stable as before, without the slightest fluctuation, and there was not even a hint of joy and pleasure in killing the enemy. His eyes, Everything in the emoji looks so natural. But the next moment, when the short sword pierced Sean's coat, it seemed to hit some rock, and the vibration from the short sword immediately caused the assassin's * se to produce a trace of fluctuations.

He couldn't understand why his short sword was actually blocked! ?

But soon, his lips were slightly opened and after a few clicks, Xiao En saw a sudden faint light from his dagger sword, and immediately after his heart was hit by a horn, it was as strong as it was. The impact force penetrated directly into the body through the short sword, which almost squirted out Sean's blood directly. Fortunately, he also took advantage of this impact to quickly get away from the opponent, jumped to four or five meters in one step and landed, and then slid out nearly three meters before finally stopping.

Shaun's gaze fixed on the opponent's dagger.

At this moment, Sean could finally be sure that it was not accidental that the opponent was able to block the dead bones in his hand, but that the opponent's weapons were also not ordinary products. If they were not legendary-level equipment, then the opponent's weapons were attached with light. Blessings like xing. Judging from the black smoke that is constantly emanating from his chest, Sean believes that the opponent's dagger is definitely a weapon that has been added with effects such as light xing, otherwise it will not be possible to have an effect on his silver scales. Produce such a strong and obvious interference.

This confrontation was only completed in an instant, and it was obvious that Sean was at a loss from beginning to end.

Almost when Xiao En just stood up, and when the effect of [Curse Mark. Silver Scale] was lifted for the first time, a violent roar followed.

Then, there was a shaking sound of the ground shaking that was not inferior to Blackstone's running.

Before everyone could react, a black figure ran out from the bushes on the side. Seeing that there were sturdy figures on both sides that were completely crushed and pushed down, you can know that this figure that suddenly ran out is definitely not a messy guy. .

When everyone saw this figure clearly, everyone couldn't help but be surprised.

Because this is actually a huge orangutan who is also close to three meters tall!

This orangutan is brown-seed all over, with smooth and velvety hairs leaning towards red-seed on the arms and legs, which looks unusually supple. It's just that its back and chest are dark, not only without hair, it even looks as hard as an iron block.

"Ironback King Kong!" Xiao En exclaimed, "How come there is Ironback King Kong here!"

Except for the three assassins, neither Xuefanio nor Cecilia or Rena could understand why Sean was so surprised when he saw this monster. Because at this moment, the eyes of the three of them have been attracted by the thing held in the right hand of the ironback vajra-it is a thick and strong tree that needs at least three to four people to be able to hug it together.

At the moment when the Ironback King Kong rushed out, it directly waved its right hand and slammed the forest tree it was holding toward Black Stone.

"Snapped!"

With a loud noise, the entire forest tree, which requires at least three or four people to hug, was broken into two pieces, and the black stone was directly pulled to the ground and slipped a few meters away.

But at this time, the Ironback King Kong rushed towards the Black Stone again without hesitation, held his hands together and raised his head high, and then slammed it down towards the Black Stone. Only a dull sound was heard, followed by a whine from Blackstone. Two consecutive heavy blows made Blackstone seem a little overwhelmed at this time-it is also a beast, but it can already be seen through this fight. The actual combat experience of the Blackstone is pitiful.

Perhaps because of the two mutations in a row, Blackstone's life has been smooth in these years, lacking the necessary fights, so the actual combat experience is somewhat seriously lacking.

However, Sean, the surprised  se on his face disappeared with the second move of the Ironback King Kong, replaced by a cold face: "That's not the real Ironback King Kong! But the one who can transform into the Ironback King Kong. Definitely a druid master....The situation of those nobles in the Elaine Kingdom can never afford a killer like you. Who are you anyway?"

This time, after hearing Sean's words, the assassin who was confronting Sean finally showed a trace of emotional fluctuations in his eyes.

But soon his eyes returned to normal. He still didn't say a word. It seemed that he didn't want to talk nonsense with Sean at all. He rushed towards Sean again with a single stride, and the short sword in his hand was straight again. Stabbed Sean's heart.

But this time, Xiao En's eyes were extremely cold. He didn't even look at the sword that the opponent pierced directly, but with his backhand he lifted the long sword directly to the position of his neck.

The sound of metal clashing sounded again!

The assassin's pupils shrank sharply again.

Shaun swung his backhand sword down. This time it was his turn to attack him very fast and accurate, but the opponent's reaction was not slow. He just turned sideways and chose to retreat. It's just that he also underestimated Sean's speed and strength. The black robe on his body was torn apart by Sean's long sword, revealing the silver chain mail inside.

"You really are not a human being." Shaun shook the long sword lightly, and said in a cold voice, "The nearest jing spirit tribe here is only the wild land....Which tribe are you from?"

The assassin looked at Xiao En, the  se on his face finally could no longer remain calm, it looked like he was looking at some monster.

"Don't tell me, are you?" Xiao En sneered, "Just kill! Don't leave any!"

When Sean gave an order, Rina let out a roar, her left eye turned into a vertical pupil, and a terrible breath suddenly burst out of her. The assassin who was fighting with her seemed to be frightened.

Generally, the action becomes sluggish in an instant. The long spear in Rina's hand shook slightly, and the flame spear shattered into the air, emitting a hot red brilliance, and the next moment it directly penetrated the other's heart, even the silver lock armor on her body was completely unstoppable.

But the fastest to kill the opponent is not Rina, but Xuefanio.

With Xuefanio as the core radius of 30 meters, the ground completely condensed frost. No matter how the assassin struggles, his speed can only get slower and slower. Originally, Xuefanio had the idea of catching the opponent alive, but since Shaun said that he was killed, so Xuefanio would certainly not show mercy. She could say that she would kill him without any effort.

Seeing Xiao En only gave an order, and two of his companions were killed beside him. The face of the assassin who fought against Shaun changed drastically. He roared in Jing Lingyu, even if he turned around without hesitation and ran away. And the druid who turned into the Ironback King Kong had just completely suppressed Blackstone, and he heard the screams of his companions and the voice of retreat. Although he was angry, he couldn't say anything right now. He let out a low growl, and two white wings began to grow on his back.

However, compared to the three-meter-tall figure of the Ironback King Kong, the two white wings appear to be much smaller.

But soon, his figure began to shrink, and his figure began to look like a white giant eagle.

But at this moment, a fire dragon suddenly smashed on his back, smashing him directly from mid-air to the ground. And Rina stepped forward and nailed the flame spear in her hand to the left wing of the druid directly.

Chapter 9: .The return of the stick

The giant white eagle that was nailed to the ground by Rina was nearly two meters in length. Creatures like this can be regarded as behemoths. It is impossible to completely capture it by nailing one of its wings with a single shot. But Rina is not an ordinary person. With the power of dragon blood activated, Rina's strength has increased significantly, so she just stepped forward and stepped on the back of the white giant eagle, and then left her hand. Pinching the left half of the wing was enough to make this druid unable to get up no matter how much he tossed.

When Xiao En and others rushed over, the druid was even more unlikely to escape.

"You still change back into a human form." Looking at the druid in front of him, Sean said in a deep voice, "Although the druid in the raptor state has great combat advantages, but the weaknesses are also very obvious. It can also scare and scare ordinary people. Forget it, you won't be able to overcome any storms in front of me."

Even though Sean said so, the druid still had no intention of regaining his human form. He still thumped constantly, trying to throw away Rina who was stepping on his back. It's just that he still underestimated Rina's strength. No matter how he struggled, Rina remained motionless, but because the wings were locked, the harder he struggles, the louder his howl.

And at this time, Black Stone has also climbed up from the shallow pit. Although the Ironback King Kong, who was transformed by the druid, was so smashed, but for it, it is just like some skin trauma or blood boiling. That's it, it couldn't hurt its internal organs. In all dragon-like and sub-dragon systems, the earth travel dragon is notoriously rough and thick, which is why the earth travel dragoon has always been a heavy cavalry genus, not to mention that the black stone has mutated twice. The emperor dragon, this individual is particularly outstanding in defensive capabilities.

So when Black Stone ran over and stepped on the back of the white giant eagle, Xiao En and others vaguely heard noises similar to fractures.

Cecilia couldn't help but sympathize with this hapless druid.

If it wasn't for Rena to stop him. Blackstone is about to bite off the druid's eagle head directly.

"You druids have a lot of problems. They are not listenable at all. They are all arrogant guys." Sean looked sarcastically, "If you still maintain the state of the King Kong, I'm afraid I want to It takes a bit of effort to clean up you, but at least you won't be as miserable as you are now. Of course, with such a huge size, you can't escape our sight, not to mention that it's so close to the Fortress of Tonys, there will definitely be an army at that time. Come to encircle and suppress.... But the only thing you did wrong is that you shouldn't directly deform the Raptor in front of us. Are you too far from putting us in your eyes?"

At this moment, the druid had no strength to mourn, and blood began to flow out from the peck of his mouth. Jing Qishen also instantly wilted a lot.

The rank of Druid is indeed a very difficult and even terrifying profession, mainly because they can transform into many kinds of creatures, and even legendary druids can transform into real dragons. Of course, if it's just a transformation, then it won't make people headache. The biggest problem is once the druid transforms into a certain kind of creature. They will naturally master all the instincts and abilities of this creature.

To put it simply, it means to have all the xing values of this creature.

Like an iron-backed King Kong. This is a seven-level beast that lives in the east of the mainland. Although there are some areas in the North and the West where you can see this kind of monsters, but there are still not as many as the East. As a seven-level beast, the Ironback King Kong is undoubtedly the dominator at the top of the biological chain. Although their attack methods are relatively simple, their power value is almost at the sanctuary level, so their attack power cannot be underestimated. And since the name is Ironback King Kong, it also means that their defenses are very outstanding, and the medium-effect silver demonized weapon that has not strengthened the sharpness of Xing can never cause damage to it.

In terms of combat ability, the Ironback King Kong and the mutant emperor dragon are comparable. It's just that because Blackstone was attacked and fell by stealth, it will be difficult to turn over after being completely overwhelmed.

If this druid has always maintained the form of the Ironback King Kong, for a while, Xiao En and the others will really be unable to clean him up. Because the only weakness of the Ironback King Kong is toxins, but Sean's team configuration at this time does not have a profession that can cast poison clouds or directly poison, but the huge body of the Ironback King Kong up to three meters will also It is not easy to make him a target in full view.

Here, Sean really wants to thank the "Skill reading bar" setting in the game.

Druid needs to read the bar whether it is transforming into another creature or regaining human form. This also makes it impossible for the druid to quickly switch between forms. And just now Cecilia's attack was also chosen at an extremely ingenious point in time-she only launched the attack after the druid transformed into a white eagle, not only did not interrupt his transformation, but also He was given a heavy blow, which allowed Xiao En and others to capture him alive.

While the white eagle is a bird of prey, although it has the ability to fly and has an extremely terrifying war skill such as "war dive", its defense is extremely low-at least compared to the Ironback King Kong, Sean Waiting people don't feel helpless. So once he was knocked down to the ground by Sean and others, then the druid would completely lose the ability to spread his wings and fly. In addition to the differences in body structure and endurance, he would need to use "tons". "As a unit of measurement, stepping on the druid without trampling to death is already a symbol of his strength.

However, a druid who can transform into a seven-level beast ironback diamond must also be a strong figure in the upper ranks of gold, and his physique must be more or less strengthened.

Sean knelt down, patted the druid's eagle head, and sneered: "Do you really think I can't help you?".

The druid master has lost the ability to struggle, but he still doesn't say a word to show his stubborn resistance.

Shaun didn't mind, he stood up, and then nodded to Xuefanio. After the latter stepped forward, the palm of his hand began to glow with a faint blue brilliance, and then slid from the top of the druid's back all the way to the part of the tail feathers-wherever Xuefanio's right hand slid, it would be faint. A blue spot of light shining like a star. These light spots hovered half an inch on the druid master's back, and then as Xuefanio sang in a low voice, all the light spots penetrated into the druid's body.

A refreshing feeling of coolness ran through the druid master's body in an instant.

Although the druid master had tried his best to endure, there was still a faint hum from his eagle. But soon, this cool sensation began to turn into severe cold, and the cold like blood freezing began to make the druid master constantly tremble, and the hair on his body began to condense with frost.

From heaven to hell, this transition is only in two seconds.

It's just that this hell-like torture lasted for a long time, and it finally stopped after ten seconds. At this time, the druid master was already breathing heavily.

"Although the  my priest believes in is not good at healing. But some first aid on the battlefield is still okay, but since it is first aid, there must be some sequelae of this kind." Xiao En said with a smile. "For example, what you have just experienced is using the power of ice to take your bones. With your physique, as long as you don't die on the spot, you will always be able to reconnect these broken bones with some time. After all, you are jingling the spirits. The goddess of the moon whom he believes in is also a  who is good at healing.... It's just that the taste of blood being frozen by the cold is definitely uncomfortable."

The druid raised his head with some difficulty, and from his eyes Sean read the meaning of anger and hatred.

"The question I want to ask is very simple. If you answer honestly, I can't let you go." Sean shrugged, he chose to ignore the anger in the other's eyes. "After all, I don't think there is any hatred between me and your Jing Spirit Race."

"Huh!" The druid finally made his first sound, although it was only a single syllable.

"It's a pity, this is not the answer I want." Sean shrugged. Then pull out the flame spear.

As the Flame Spear was pulled out, a blood arrow spattered from the wound. Because Sean had turned it a few times, the wound was actually larger than the part actually pierced by the Flame Spear. In addition, Sean deliberately used some of the interrogation skills learned from Ruby and William, and the pain caused the druid to snorted uncontrollably.

Sean knew that the druid's will began to weaken.

Xuefanio stepped forward again and began to heal the druid who had fallen into Sean's hands, but this time the treatment was different from the previous one: Xuefanio directly cast one. The incantation, just like treating Sean in the wild, directly condense the wound with cold ice in a simple and rude way, but the degree of suffering caused by the cold air flowing into the body is not weaker than that of the previous treatment of fractures. when.

Shaun took the flame spear and smashed the air, and began to wave a little bit in front of the druid master, and smiled: "Look, I always say my words. I said that I will never let you die, so you don't I want to die, by the way, I will show you something..."

While saying this, Sean reached out and touched his forehead lightly.

In the next second, Xiao En's forehead began to emit a faint black light from his fingertips. Then Xiao En lifted his left hand slightly and gradually moved his index finger away from his forehead. Then everyone saw a small black crystal diamond emerging from Xiao En's forehead, which looked like a black horn.

Along with the appearance of this black crystal diamond, a breath of Yin evil began to diffuse around.

This black se crystal diamond is naturally the immortal obsidian that Shaun obtained after killing the evil mind aggregates in the lookout area of the Gorge Rift.

But Shaun didn't want to remove the crystal completely. After showing it for a while, he immediately took it back, with a smile on his face still overflowing: "I know you can feel the dark breath just now. , So I might as well tell you that if you die, your soul will still be captured by me. Then I can even dismember your soul directly and only keep your memory... You should be very Be clear, what does it mean if I do this?"

In the eyes of the druid master, a terrified  finally appeared.

"Yes." Sean laughed, "Your soul can't return."

The return of is Jing Ling's greatest belief in the Goddess of the Moon.

They firmly believe that as long as they believe in the goddess of the moon, their souls will not be captured by the gods after they die. Instead, he will return to the arms of the Moon Goddess, waiting for the chance to regain consciousness. So those Jingling children who showed strong talents when they were young are considered to be the awakening of the souls of their ancestors in each Jingling tribe. This is also the understanding and definition of genius by Jinglings.

Therefore, for the Jing spirits, the inability of the soul to return means that they cannot rest, and the soul that cannot rest also means that the Jing spirits will always lose a genius.

For the Jing spirit tribe, although the ethnic division caused by the dusk of the gods was unwilling to them, they had to accept this fact, and even though some Jing spirit tribe abandoned the moon they believed in. The goddess. However, they believe that the goddess of the moon is tolerant and kind, so whether it is highland jingling, grassland jingling, forest jingling, blood jingling, dark jingling, etc., they are unwilling to have their souls unable to return, resulting in the race forever One is missing a genius.

After all, now on the Marvel Continent, their Jing Spirit Race has long been not as strong as it was in the past.

"So. What do you think now?" Sean said, "Do you want to answer my question. Or let me extract your memory?"

The druid was finally deterred by the fear in his heart. Shouted a sharp roar: "You are fighting against the Pofeng tribe!"

Break the wind! ?

Xiao En's brows frowned slightly: "No wonder you dared to send you, the Druid master, and even three jing spirit sword dancers to accompany you so easily. They turned out to be members of the Pofeng tribe. However, if I remember correctly, , The Pofeng tribe is just a third-class tribe? It is impossible for a third-class tribe to have as many gold powerhouses as flooding? Here, three gold powerhouses died in one breath, especially one of them was still like Druid master like you. I'm afraid you can't afford this kind of loss."

The druid master's eyes shrank sharply, and the horror in his heart was obviously unparalleled: "You... why are you..."

"I don't only know about your Brofeng tribe, I also know that you and Xuefeng tribe are hostile to each other." Sean shrugged, "Oh. That's right... If you remember correctly, now the Eye of the Storm tribe seems to be falling into During the civil strife, your two tribes should be fighting over..."

Speaking of this, Xiao En suddenly stopped. There was a shining  in his eyes, as if he had guessed something.

The druid master saw Sean's  se, and his inner anxiety became greater and greater, and all of this has been fully expressed by him.

Cecilia knew that Sean's genus Xing had begun to play again, although she could not understand why Sean always knew so many weird secrets, after all, she stayed with Sean most of the time. I didn't see what books Shaun had read or studied. But after all, she has been with Sean for a long time, so she is not surprised that Sean occasionally appears in this almost "omnipotent" mode.

Similarly, Rena and Xuefanio were not surprised at what Shaun looked like. They all knew that Shaun must have found something.

"If I'm not mistaken, you definitely have more than that." Sean chuckled. At this time, after determining the identity of the druid master's broken wind tribe, Sean finally remembered that he was in the game. One thing that happened.

At that time, in the game, the eye of the storm of the second-class tribe in the Wildlands, because of the sudden death of the old chief, and because of the previous wars with human invaders in the Wildlands, there was no time for the final selection of candidates. Therefore, a civil unrest occurred among several candidates in order to become chiefs. Basically, all the sub-tribes attached to the Eye of the Storm tribe were involved in this civil strife, especially the Pafeng tribe and Xuefeng tribe, two tribes that are both highland jinglings. The civil war was the most fierce. Therefore, this stage has also become the best opportunity for players who enter the wilds to dig for gold to gain prestige and equipment.

During this period, those players who had a high reputation in the Bro Feng tribe received a secret mission.

Assassinate the princess of Xuefeng tribe.

Of course, this secret mission is actually a task against xing.

So the players who chose to join the Snow Wind Tribe naturally also received a mission to save the princess. Unfortunately, their mission was not successful, so for a long time afterwards, the Xuefeng tribe was at a disadvantage in the battle with the Pofeng tribe. Although Sean didn't know how great and important the princess was, but from the later results, it was clear that the princess's value was still relatively high.

From the timeline, the trigger time of this task happens to be at this moment.

"Hey, I said, is the princess of the Snow Wind tribe really that important?". Sean squatted down and patted the druid's bird's head, "You actually sent so many people to encircle and suppress.... I'm really curious about what kind of woman this princess is."

"Why do you know!" The druid began to struggle again, but this time he chose to change back to human form, "Who are you! You... why are you..."

Next, Sean, Cecilia, Xuefania, and Rena saw the picture that made them a little stunned.

Chapter 10: .This is not a princess!

The druid master in front of everyone is gradually returning to his human form.

At the beginning of the game, Sean had also fought against many elf opponents, so he was very familiar with both the druid and the sword dancer, which is why he could block the attack of the sword dancer before.

But the reality and the game situation are still very different after all.

At least, Sean really can't understand why he is obviously a person, but he can become a creature such as a bird, a lion, or a gorilla, and he can even change the height and size of his body. This is simply destroying the knowledge structure that Sean has learned from the earth: in layman's terms, it is no different from destroying the three views.

But at this moment, Sean still sees something more ruining the Three Views.

This makes Sean have to sigh again, there is still a big difference between reality and games!

The white feathers on this unlucky druid master began to grow backwards and began to retract into his body, looking a bit like something being melted, gradually revealing the flesh-colored body under the wings. Immediately afterwards, everyone saw that the pair of fleshy wings that had lost their feathers began to shrink and shorten like discouraged, while the position of the wingtips began to expand instead, and gradually formed a fleshy ball, the five fingers seemed to emerge from the ground. The sprouts protrude from the meat ball and gradually elongate.

And as the wings began to transform back to arms and five fingers, the lower part of the body was also beginning to transform: the elongated eagle feet began to expand like inflation, and the spiral-like texture folds on it accompanied the inflation of the feet. Constantly smoothed, the sharp eagle claws also retracted into the body, and the hook-shaped three fingers also gradually shrank, and two toes grew from the side.

When the eagle's head is transformed into a human shape, it is obviously much more crisp: it's like someone holding an iron plate directly and slapped him on the face. Simply and neatly pat all the protruding parts flat, and then a face is generated.

Of course, compared to the other body parts that are regressing, the white feathers of the druid master's eagle head did not retract into the body, but some glued together like a fusion, gradually turning into a white long hair. . Of course, the color did not last long, and then everyone saw that the golden liquid began to fill the snow-white long hair like a filling. It felt like watching the process of dyeing cloth.

I have to admit that the elves are still more favored by the will of the world, because this race is extremely beautiful regardless of men and women.

Although the process of watching the druid transforming is a bit like watching a thriller, when the druid is restored to human form. His looks are indeed very handsome. Although Sean has not seen an elf woman in this world, although the outline of the druid master looks a bit soft, there is still a masculine beauty that belongs to men. However, Sean felt that the reason for this masculine beauty was largely determined by their figure: it was different from the kind of weakness that Sean had imagined. Although the figure of this druid master is very slender, and only a little slender in appearance. But in fact, his body has enough muscles to be enviable. It is a kind of  that knows at a glance that there is a powerful explosive force in the body.

Why did you ask Sean?

Because the druid master in front of him is naked at the moment.

No masking strands.

This is what really makes Shaun feel that the Three Views are ruined, and even Cecilia and others are a little dumb.

But for this druid, he felt that this was not a problem at all.

Because the internal structure of the body wriggled when the druid transformed back into a human form, Rina was afraid that Blackstone would actually trample the elf to death, so she did not let Blackstone continue to step on the druid. As a result, the druid was struggling to stand up as soon as he recovered his human form. Show your body naked in front of everyone as if you want to show off your body.

Of course, he himself was obviously not aware of what was wrong with this kind of thing, so he leaned towards Sean as soon as he stood up.

Although Sean has known for a long time, druids who are close to nature are more concerned about the so-called true temperament. Most of the time they will maintain the form of creatures, so they rarely wear costumes-the game official has an obvious text when promoting the profession of druids if they are wearing clothes when they are transforming , The clothes will always be broken, which leads to various troubles, so the only armor that players who choose to become a druid can equip is the commoner.

But in the game, the player Druid will still wear a common armor when he recovers his human form. Of course, even if the commoner is taken off, the body cannot be really naked. A set of commoner and cloth pants built into the game is enough to block the fantasies of many players. As for Druid NPCs, when they appear in human form in the game, they usually wear a cloak. Although some players are curious about what it looks like under the cloak, they have never heard of a player who can successfully see it. The look under the cloak.

until today.

Shaun finally knows what is under the cloak: there is a vacuum inside!

"Who the * are you!" The druid was still approaching Sean.

Cecilia and Xuefanio both seemed to have some brain crashes for a while, and they didn't know what to do. Of course, this can't be blamed on them. After all, because of their personality, occupation, birth and many other problems, the two of them usually come into contact with not many men. Although they have heard about some things, they still have heard and seen them. big difference.

Instead, Rina had to look calmer.

However, considering her status as a mercenary, and the fact that she ate, drank and slept with her large group of knights and cavalry before, it is estimated that this druid master is a naked man, even if it is a group of druid naked horses, Rui The only thing Na thought and considered was how to solve the most enemies as quickly as possible. As for the issues that ordinary women are more concerned about, such as appearance and figure, in Rina's eyes, they are basically the same, and there is no contrast at all.

In the end, it was Sean who resolved this somewhat embarrassing situation.

He threw a cloak at the druid: "Put the clothes on for Lao Tzu."

"You are despising our druid!" Although the druid's face was pale, his handsome appearance was a little more pale and pathologically attractive. "We are nature's darlings, we don't need to wear these burdens, it will affect our perception of nature..." At the end of the day, the druid's voice was also significantly smaller, because he had already clearly felt Xiao En's killing intent, so he finally changed his words directly: "But if you just wear a cloak, it's still acceptable."

"Druids are a group of dead perverts with a serious tendency to run naked." Sean cursed.

This druid master may have been stunned by the halo of Shaun's previous divine club, so this will be a little bit inexplicable for Shawn, but at least he is not as hard-headed as before: "We druids are indeed free. It's not wrong to say that we are abnormal.... But I hope you take back your previous sentence. Although I did not grow up in a human country, I also know what it means to run naked in your human country. But this is an insult to us druids! We are not running naked! We are close to nature! If you continue to insult us druids, you will definitely be punished by the wrath of the hunting goddess!"

"Okay, put away your set." Sean curled his lips in disdain, "The hunting goddess is just a  of weak power. If she can swallow the priesthood of the goddess of spring water and the goddess of forest, then she can barely be regarded as one. A weak  of divine power... I really don't understand what you highland elves are thinking. You actually turned your back on the high  of the moon goddess. Go to believe in a  of weak divine power."

The main  of the elves is the goddess of the moon, Aisia, but when the war of the gods broke out, the elves split into six groups: highland elves, forest elves, steppe elves, night elves, blood elves, gray elves . Among them, only the night elves and blood elves still believe in the goddess of the moon, Isiah, while the highland elves, forest elves, and steppe elves have changed to believe in the hunting goddess, forest goddess, and spring goddess respectively.

As emerging gods, the hunting goddess, forest goddess, and spring goddess have finally come to the ranks of endangered gods after countless years of gathering the power of faith. Formally becoming a member of the weak gods sequence is considered to have his own kingdom of gods. It's just maybe because the three elves of the highlands, grasslands, and forests all came from the ancient elves after all, so the three gods they believed in covered each other in terms of some parts of the priesthood.

So in the game, some players thought that the priesthood of these three goddesses was divided into three. Therefore, if the priesthoods of these three goddesses can be merged, then at least one  with weak or even moderate divine power should be born. In addition, if the priesthood is three in one, then it is equivalent to the three elves of the highlands, grasslands, and forests all believing in the same god, so the speed of gathering the power of faith should be faster, even even with the moon. It is not impossible for the goddess Aisia to sit on an equal footing.

So in the later expansion of the game, the most fierce battle happened to be the believers of these three gods.

Of course, it is the player who plays the war madness.

Facing Sean's ridicule, the druid's face flushed, but he just wanted to retort, Sean took the flame gun and smashed it, making the druid master gasp. . Just now, he could feel the extremely obvious sensation of fighting energy invading into the body. Given his current physical weakness, it is really difficult for some strong people to resist the pain of fighting energy invading into the body.

Of course, another reason why he didn't dare to resist was that Sean sneered and said that if he dared to talk nonsense, he would take his soul away.

"Who are you?" The druid still didn't give up.

But Sean is too lazy to talk to this druid. The reason why he didn't kill him is that he thinks this guy has some useful value. , Especially a druid who can transform into an Ironback King Kong, otherwise the Pofeng tribe would not send three sword dancers to protect this druid master.

Of course, Sean's bigger purpose is to prepare to sit on the ground and start the price.

Anyway, whether it is Pofeng tribe or Xuefeng tribe, there is no difference to him. It is understandable that he can help the other party if he can give him a high price. So keeping this druid from killing is purely just for the time when the Brofeng Horde can afford a good price, he can borrow this guy to build a step down. Of course, based on Sean's understanding of the elves, those arrogant guys may not turn their faces with him at this time in order to avoid extraneous branches, but after completing the commission, maybe they will start to assassinate themselves, after all, they died easily. The other two sword dancers.

As for the princess of the Xuefeng tribe, it is even simpler. If the situation is really critical, then he can only choose to accept the price.

So in terms of personal wishes, Sean is actually more inclined to help the Xuefeng tribe.

"Where did you find these guys starting to follow us?" Sean ignored the druid master and asked Xuefanio to help. He  this druid master into rice dumplings, and to prevent him from making noise, he tore a small piece of cloak to plug his mouth, then turned his head to look at Rina and asked.

"Not far away." Rena's answer was succinct and to the point.

So Sean lifted the Druid Zongzi with one hand, and then gestured. Rina jumped onto Blackstone's back, and began to gallop.

Accompanied by the roar of the ground. Xiao En and others soon followed Rina to a boulevard.

When Xiao En and others passed by before, they did not pay attention to the surrounding situation. Just rushed, so I missed a lot of things. Returning here to observe carefully at this time, I also found some traces of battle traces. Although these traces have been covered up, perhaps because of the urgent situation, these cover up treatments seemed a bit sloppy and hasty. So if you really recognize it carefully, it's actually not difficult to find out.

Seeing these concealing methods, Sean finally knew why these elves would look at them.

In fact, this is really just a misunderstanding!

The four elves that Sean met. They only serve as a guard, and their purpose is to prevent the possibility of the snow wind tribe reinforcements. At that time, Sean and others were in a hurry to leave Tonys Fortress, so naturally they were rushing. This situation seemed obviously abnormal to the four highland elves, so they chose to follow them, and it happened that they had been with Brow the night before. Dee discussed the domestic situation in Ryan, and Sean and others were also a little sensitive at this time, so when they found someone was following, Sean's first reaction was Broad's competitor, so the pace of advancement slowed down.

As a result, the highland elves immediately began to become sensitive, after all, what they did was also not visible. And the princess of the Xuefeng tribe can escape to the human kingdom. Who can guarantee that the Xuefeng tribe has no human allies? After all, the current situation in the Wildlands is also very complicated. It is hardly a secret that outsiders collude with the tribes in the Wildlands. Anyway, as long as they do not do anything to harm the interests of the Wildlands, most of the time the joint tribal council is also open. Close one eye with one eye.

So, the highland elves who chose to be close to Sean and others were actually not necessarily the idea of assassination.

Of course, regardless of whether the original idea was assassinated or not, it has now become an unsolvable mystery.

At least Sean believes that no matter how much he asks the druid master, he will definitely not admit it, and he also knows his own details. The black crystal on his forehead is just a mosaic piece of equipment. To resist mental damage, there is no effect of extracting the souls and memories of others. He is just using his understanding of the elves and the dark breath on the black crystal to frighten this druid master.

"How is it?" Sean dropped the Zongzi Druid, and then drew him again, allowing him to keep his own vindictiveness in his body from constantly attacking, preventing him from being able to change his form after regaining his strength.

"It should be left in this direction." As a long-experienced mercenary, Rina has experience in marching and fighting. Now she has been strengthened by the power of blood. Therefore, in the inspection and judgment of battle traces, even It was Sean who also trusted Rina's judgment very much. "There were probably five to seven people pursuing, and two to three people should be chased, and one of them should have been injured."

Shaun's gaze fell on the druid master again, and then reached out his hand to pull the rag out of his mouth, and said, "Then, would you like to tell me how many of you actually have?"

"I won't betray my tribe!" The druid opened his mouth, and finally failed to say the answer Sean wanted, "You never want to get any information from me!"

"That's it." Sean stood up with some regret. "Actually, I wanted to say that if your Pofeng tribe can afford enough remuneration, then I can help you solve the trouble.... Since you don't want to cooperate with me, then I have to go to Xuefeng tribe. Of people have cooperated, and I believe they will be happy to cooperate with me at this time."

The pupils of the druid master suddenly shrank, and then he remembered that Sean and the others were just four mercenaries. He could actually hire them, especially since the other party knew that the Brofeng tribe and the Xuefeng tribe were even The matter of the Wild Land must be a human being in collusion with the tribe of the Wild Land, so he hurriedly shouted: "Wait...wait...I..."

only. Sean obviously didn't intend to listen to his nonsense anymore, and he put the broken steps back into the druid's mouth again: "I'm really sorry, now I don't like listening to you.... So, you are the most It's better to shut up obediently, otherwise, I'll be in a bad mood and deal with you. You know what the end is."

When he thought that his soul could not return after death, the face of this druid master changed again and again. In the end, he could only choose to obey humiliateingly.

And Sean et al. It immediately followed the escape direction of the battle traces and chased deep into the bushes.

This time, except for Cecilia who was placed on Blackstone's back and led by Blackstone, everyone else erupted at full speed. Originally, Rina was an armed knight, her speed was not that fast, at least it was obviously impossible to catch up with Sean and Xuefanio. But after taking [Ancient Dragon Bloodline]. It is regarded as activating the power of the blood in the body, so after gaining all aspects of attribute increase, her speed is naturally not too slow.

Not long, the four soon heard fierce fighting in the depths of the jungle.

The sound of fighting was fierce. And the collision has never stopped, but Sean knows that it is because the two sides are close to each other in strength, so this kind of evenly matched situation occurs. Otherwise, if you look at the situation of pure fighting, it should be completely one-sided. The situation is right.

However, when he came close at this time, Sean did not rush out to show off some beautiful sections such as the hero saving the princess. At the very least, he must use the skill mechanism of the battle between the two sides to determine what kind of situation they are in. In such a situation, at least it is necessary to know whether this Snow Wind Princess has the thought and idea of saving the field.

Then, looking through the bushes' career towards the battle in the field, Sean once again felt that his three views seemed to have been ruined again.

The woman wearing a white princess robe sitting on the ground should be the so-called princess.

However, her weight tonnage has definitely reached more than 300 kilograms!

Faced with such a behemoth, Sean was simply shocked unparalleled: The elves who said that both men and women are slender, beautiful, and outstanding?

Although in terms of appearance alone, this Princess Xuefeng can indeed be equated with the word "beauty" in the normal aesthetics of human beings, but looking at her height of less than 1.7 meters and obviously more than 300 kilograms With her weight, Sean would not believe that this woman was a princess if she was killed, if her ears were not fake! Because according to the information that Sean remembers, the elves are at least 1.7 meters tall for both men and women, and they are all handsome men and women.

If judged by Sean's earth standards, it means that everyone is a standard model body.

But in front of all this, this looks pretty good, but with a body tonnage of more than three hundred catties and a height in the Elf tribe who can definitely be labeled as "disabled" in front of the snow wind tribe princess, Sean feels that he uses the game. It's naive to use the data in the real world.

At this moment, Xiao En's heart is like ten thousand alpacas running.

Closer, you can still hear Sean's lips chanting words: This guy is not a princess! This is not a princess!