

Lord of War Vol 3-131

Chapter 131: .The road stained with blood (6)

Standing in front of Sean was a man who was in prime of life. His figure was not burly, but he was holding a giant knight's spear with exaggerated appearance.

The knight gun is a derivative of gun weapons. The biggest difference between it and the long spear and the spear is that the knight gun is thick at the top and bottom. Basically, knight guns are similar to the shape of a cone. The lower part of the gun body is used to protect the hand of the knight as the axis. The forward extension part is the gun body and tip, and the backward extension part is The handle, and the handle part is usually only a small section equivalent to the length of the knight's forelimb, and the tip of the gun is mounted on the metal cone of the gun body, rather than the flat sharp tip of the conventional long gun.

But the knight gun held by this man is different from the freeze knight gun.

The handle of this knight's gun is about 1.2 meters long, almost reaching the height of the man's shoulders. The diameter of the circular fan-shaped guard is also nearly three centimeters. The gun body part is also not a conventional conical shape, but a tapered cylinder created by relying on the guard part, but the overall shape is still thicker and thinner. The tip of the gun is not for installation, but is connected to the entire knight gun.

But what Sean really valued was the body part of this knight gun.

Because the part of the gun body is drawn with a unique spiral texture, it can reduce the resistance burden of the airflow on this knight gun when it is used for straight stabs, and of course it is also conducive to the speed increase of straight stabs. However, if this is the case, then Sean will not be allowed to observe carefully. What really caught his attention was that he found that these specially carved spiral textures showed a silvery gray inside. This also means that this knight gun is completely solid and pure metal, which is completely different from the general knight gun, which has a wooden structure and can only be used as a disposable consumable.

Based on this reading, it is enough to prove this man holding a knight's gun. Its strength value should never be ignored.

Feeling the strong aura from this man, even Sean had to concentrate. For a skillful fighter like the Black Hawk who takes the agile route, Sean has some ways to play slowly with the opponent, but like this kind of pure strength fighter who can drop ten guilds with one force, Sean dare not be the slightest negligence, because As long as he was shot cruelly by the opponent, then Sean would definitely be hit hard even if he didn't lose his fighting ability.

This is also after the first hedge. The reason Sean needs to take a few steps back to stabilize his figure.

And this reading is because the other party also shot in haste like Sean.

However, if you can choose. Well, Sean would rather face such a powerful guy than against an opponent like Black Hawk. Because in the confrontation with the latter, as long as a little distraction, then it must be the end of death, and the former's words are at best just serious injuries.

Out of the corner of Sean's eyes, he glanced at the man who was still running away from Singon. Then whispered: "Cecilia."

The blond young mage waved his right hand knowingly. Flames condensed in the air and quickly turned into three flaming arrows.

Flame Arrow, an enhanced magic of Flame Arrow, four-level magic.

Compared with Flame Arrow, it is not only more powerful, but also does not require the caster to consume additional mental power to control it. Only after the caster marks the target with spirit, it will automatically track the attack. Type magic. certainly. This kind of automatic tracking magic has a small flaw and defect, and in many cases it can be artificially destroyed.

At least. In the game, no one except the novice magician will use the arrow of flame, even the arrow of flame is more valuable to the magician than the arrow of flame.

The three flame arrows shoot towards Singer in the shape of a product. Although it looks no different from a normal attack, Sean is very clear about Cecilia's tactical behavior. Although these three flame arrows look They appear to be exactly the same, but in fact they are in order.

Shaun's gaze, since Cecilia cast the arrow of flame, he no longer paid attention to Singon, because he knew that once Cecilia shot the opponent, there would be no way to survive. The only thing he needs to pay attention to now is to prevent the interception of the big guy in front of him. As far as the weapon in the opponent's hand is concerned, as long as one swipe is performed, it doesn't matter whether Cecilia's attacks are ordered or not, and the opponent will not cause any substantial damage 100%.

But.

Facing Sean's vigilant gaze, the man didn't even mean to move at first. He just stood here and confronted Sean, as if he was also worried that Sean would bypass him. Continue to pursue and kill Singern.

Two seconds later, Sean had already reacted.

"Cecilia, be careful!"

It was almost as soon as Sean's words fell, there was a sudden explosion in front of him.

Although the explosion sound sounds like it sounds at the same time, in the ears of professionals, you can still hear the very obvious difference between the front and back, that is, the explosion sound is crescendo. It's just that compared to the magic with explosive power that Cecilia cast before, the explosion of the flame arrow is not particularly strong, and in fact, the flame can only be caused by destroying the flame arrow from the outside with a strong hand. The explosion of the arrow.

But from Sean's perspective, he could clearly see that a man with two swords in his hands easily destroyed these three flame arrows with strong means-his sword blades fell on these accurately. On the arrow of flames. In spite of the strong wind, he himself was not harmed at all.

And this man, after blocking the three flame arrows, he did not stop at all and continued to launch his offensive-before then, this man was obviously ready for all attacks and fighting ideas: he Use the acceleration generated by the explosion of fighting energy to swept to the front of the arrow of flames, swinging the sword to block Cecilia's attack, and then taking advantage of the effect of the explosion of fighting energy before it completely disappeared, stepping again and taking advantage of the force to initiate a new round of attack.

Blast flow technique.

A high-level vindictive technique that uses the power of vindictive energy to move quickly twice or even multiple times.

Although in theory all warrior professions can learn this skill, they really use this skill and derive a corresponding tactical attack system from it. There is only one occupation.

Night Fighter-In this way, it also explains why this swordsman was not injured, because the Night Fighter itself has a certain demon-breaking effect. It's just not as proficient and effective as the profession that specializes in the devil system.

Of course, depending on the weapons and fighting styles used, there are still many genres of night fighters, just as there are many genres of fighters. However, the main genres of Night Fighters are divided according to weapons, and some genres are divided in more detail: for example, the swordsman holding double swords in front of him is obviously the genre of sword fighters, and it is still the double sword style.

After blocking the Flame Arrow's attack on Singon. This night sword fighter broke through the smoke and fire waves of the explosion without any scruples, and charged towards Cecilia at an extremely fast speed.

This is the two-stage connection of blasting technique, and it is also the minimum standard of blasting technique. certainly. In the player's mouth, there is another name for this skill-Explosive Turning to Land, because Explosive Flow is a weakened version of Explosive Turning. It can only be used when moving on the ground, and cannot be used to resemble Explosive Turning. That way, you can move in the direction of the sky.

Seeing this night sword fighter attacking Cecilia at a very fast speed. Sean turned around to rescue almost without even thinking about it.

But the man who has always stood still with Sean. At this time, it suddenly moved.

At a speed that completely violated common sense, he suddenly launched a round of fierce attack towards Sean-just as Sean slightly turned his head and was about to turn around. The length of the knight's gun in his hand is at least about 2.5 meters, which allows him to attack from two meters away, so even if the distance between him and Sean is more than five meters, he only needs to move forward a few steps. Sean can be easily included in the attack range.

The gun pierced out, and Sora even heard the roar of wind and thunder, and Sean could even feel the feeling of collapse at the tip of this knight's gun, and the basic template of the domain was vaguely established-of course, the prototype is not enough. But if it continues to grow, the formation of a field prototype is also an inevitable result.

Faced with this shot. Even Sean didn't dare to insist.

He almost leaped back towards the rear with a very fast figure, and he did not dare to get close to within three meters of the gun. In terms of the attack method of this man, it is meaningless whether he has the range attack skill. , Because of the piercing of his shot, the attack range formed is directly covering a three-meter range around him. The roaring wind and thunder sound is not as simple as it sounds scary.

But the shot failed, but the man was not in a hurry to read it, as if he had already seen that Sean would dodge, so he just raised his leg without rush, and at the same time returned his gun to take away the gun-instantly Suddenly, the wind and thunder in the air were louder, but this time there was a visual vibration. Sean's expression was even more startled, because for people like him who had already explored the rules of the world, he would naturally be able to see that the two simple actions of this young man who held the gun and closed the gun can actually trigger Resonance in space-within the three-meter attack range covered by his spear, the entire space is unstable.

When the man lifted his right leg forward and fell heavily to the next step, the ground was even shaken with several cracks, and these cracks spread in an irregular shape.

Seeing this reading, Sean's eyes lit up slightly: usually when the strong vent to the ground with extremely strong power, they will cause physical traces such as cracks and cracks, but like Sean, Rina, and Xuefanio. For a person who has extremely fine and standard control of his own power, when he unloads such external forces that burden himself, what will inevitably be a cobweb-like crack.

Irregular cracks indicate the first reading: The man holding the giant knight gun is obviously not accurate and perfect in his power control.

This reading, for Sean, became the only place he could use!

After one step fell, the man suddenly stabbed with his gun again.

is still a simple straight stab, and the distance between it and Sean is even far more than five meters. Naturally, it is impossible to hurt Sean at such an attack distance. It's just that this time, Xiao En didn't hesitate to swoop out to the right, and he didn't dare to stand on the straight line of the gun.

Along with a series of huge roars, the trees behind the place where Xiao En was originally standing, the tall trees over twenty meters tall, suddenly collapsed. All the tall trees, all of them, had an extra blasting fracture on the position of the tree body-a full distance of twenty meters in length, and everything higher than fifty centimeters was either turned into dust or collapsed directly.

From a visual point of view, I have to admit that this momentary blank is extremely spectacular.

While taking advantage of this moment of dodge sideways, Sean also took aim at the same time, Cecilia's actual combat experience is no longer the same as before. At the moment when Sean shouted to be careful, she had already made a perfect defense strategy: summoned a full three sides of lava shield to surround her, when the night sword fighter rushed out of the explosion smoke At that time, these three lava shields were completely superimposed on each other, blocking the subsequent attacks of this night sword fighter.

Immediately afterwards, Cecilia's counterattack was also extremely sharp.

Solomon's eighteen heavy flames appeared directly beside Cecilia, instantly turning into eighteen flames, and the streamer turned into an arc like a shotgun and blasted towards the night sword fighter.

As a profession with a certain demon-breaking effect, this night sword fighter felt the power of the eighteen flames of Solomon at the moment when he felt the emergence of Solomon's eighteenth flames. Therefore, when the flowers of flames turned into eighteen streams of light. When he blasted at himself, the night sword fighter retreated quickly. However, he was even more extreme than Sean facing the man holding the giant knight gun, because the distance he pulled directly exceeded ten meters.

Eighteen flame flowers all rushed towards the same one, but the night sword fighter had already withdrawn, so this attack was naturally useless.

But different from ordinary magic attacks, when these eighteen flame flowers blasted into the air and read the same, they did not produce the huge roar and explosion that the night sword fighter expected, but merged one after another. But when Cecilia waved again, the fireball, which had been fused to the size of a basketball, was once dispersed into eighteen flowers of flame, suspended by Cecilia's side.

Sean's quick glance, just to see the scene where Cecilia blocked the night sword fighter and launched a counterattack.

Seeing this, the heart that Sean had been hanging on was finally let go. He knew that Cecilia had no problem dealing with this night sword fighter. He glanced at the direction in which Singer was escaping. There was no shadow of Singer at this time. He could only sigh slightly, and he could only wait for the troubles of these two obviously not ordinary powerhouses to be resolved. , And then go to Singer to settle the account.

Chapter 132: Mutiny

"Which family are you from?" Xiao En looked at the man holding a huge lance, and asked in a deep voice. ;Music;reading;novel.music reading +x.

"Does it matter which family I am from?" The man who was no more than forty years old in his prime asked rhetorically with a solemn expression on his face.

"In fact, reading is important." Xiao En smiled, his face was a little relaxed, not as solemn as before, "But if it is possible, I would like to ask if you want to join my family. Become my follower."

"Master Void, this joke is not funny to read." The man sneered, "Do you think I will betray the Aite family?"

"I think you might have misunderstood the meaning of my previous sentence." Xiao En looked at the man in front of him very seriously and made sure that he did not understand the meaning of the sentence before he said again, "I The question is, which family are you a member of? Not which family's guest or followers you are."

"What's the difference..." The man was a little confused, but before he finished what he wanted to refute, he was completely taken aback, looking at Sean with a ghostly expression on his face.

"Very well, I think you really understand what I mean this time." A smile suddenly appeared on Sean's face, and then he spoke again, "From the attack method just now, I already know that you are a lost Knight, otherwise, it is impossible to explain you, who has been able to resonate with space forces. Why can't you control your power perfectly and accurately?... The only explanation is that you have used a special secret method to seal your own too powerful. Dark power. This makes you feel wrong about the balance of your own power."

When he said this, Sean's left hand also made a few gestures, which seemed a bit frivolous: "And he has a powerful dark power. At the same time, he has a secret method that seals the dark power that is enough to survive on the surface. All of this They are all methods unique to the holy blood race....Of course, I also smelled a strong and pure dark power in your attack just now. Of course, at the beginning I thought it was caused by spatial resonance, but in the beginning, I only discovered the truth when you attacked for the second time.... So to be honest, I'm very curious about your purpose in coming to the surface world."

The man with a solemn face originally heard Sean say the words "Lost Knight". His face suddenly changed. But what really changed his face was when Xiao En said the words "Holy Blood Race". In the same way, this young man also keenly noticed the Night Sword Fighter who originally belonged to the same camp as himself. At this time, he turned his head and looked at him in a daze.

The atmosphere of the environment on the field, at this time, there has been a very subtle change.

Because if we say that the disputes between Sean and Ryan's nobles are conflicts of interests, and blood feuds between the nobles. It's an internal problem within Ryan.

The appearance of the lost knight. It is enough to rise to the level of the dispute between the two major factions of the surface world and the underground world.

The so-called lost knight, this is a inherited rank.

The so-called inheritance ranks are special existences like Sean's Swordsman who are extremely difficult to advance each time. They can also be regarded as hidden professions in the game. Basically every professional advancement is like playing a treasure game, you need to solve a lot of puzzles before you can advance-of course this is the performance of the players, but it is actually not good for the NPCs. Not much.

Lost Knight is a unique inheritance rank unique to the underground world faction. Its iconic abilities are known worldwide for their great strength, endurance and will. If the war knight is the profession with the strongest combat ability among all knight professions in the surface world, then the lost knight represents the profession with the strongest combat ability in the underground world. In terms of many characteristics. These two professions have almost the same fighting methods and methods: beyond the standard strength and endurance, the same almost zero agility, and the combat skills are few and single but they have extremely terrifying power.

Of course, if there is a difference, then the lost knight is an inheritance rank, which means that the lost knight has much more room for improvement than the war knight.

"No matter which family you are from, but I think we might be able to talk." Xiao En continued to laugh, "because as far as I know, most of the lost knights come to the surface world to find the remains of the riding god. This is also a kind of experience for you. Of course, there are very few cases where they come to the surface world to shoulder other tasks, such as opening the path to the abyss, or establishing an outpost to attack the surface world."

The man held the right hand of the huge lance handle, and gripped the handle tighter.

Cecilia looked at the knight who did not look very burly, but was extremely shocked, and sighed silently for his future.

This is not the first time she has seen Sean use his unique ability to fudge with a stick. In fact, whenever Sean begins to show this kind of analysis that almost completely naked the target, it means that Sean has already started. Completely occupy the dominant power. Once Sean is allowed to take the lead in a conversation, then the changes will be completely controlled by him. If this is considered a domain ability, then this exaggerated knight has already fallen into it. Shaun's field.

Once you enter Sean's "field", there will only be two results: the first is to follow Sean's suggestion, and completely fall into the script, become his chess piece or...follower. As for the second result, it is not so good-looking, because it is often accompanied by "death" as a pronoun. But in any case, Sean has mastered the key to this battle.

"I can accept the holy blood as my followers, and in fact, I will soon have fifteen demon descendants...Of course, the premise is that those in the Chamber of Commerce Alliance should be more cautious during transportation, and don't accidentally give I played with a few of them."

Looking at the man holding the giant knight's gun, Sean is not able to judge the identity of the opponent for the time being, because the secret technique that seals the power of darkness will also change the sealer's own appearance and racial characteristics. However, some habitual characteristics cannot be changed. For example, the demon descendant's fear of sun exposure, the blood clan's thirst for blood, the werewolf's mania on the night of the full moon, and so on. And the races that can become the lost knights are the only four holy blood races of demons, blood elves, dark elves, and blood races, but considering that the sun is shining at this time. There was another strong mountain fire nearby, and this man did not wear any things to block the sun, so Sean simply eliminated the option of "Demonite" completely.

Among the remaining three options...

"That Viscount of Assama's blood family, you introduced it to the Doogo family?" Sean looked at the man and said, "So, don't you happen to be a member of the Assama family? ...If this is the case, it is really a pity."

"If I were really a member of the Assama family, I wouldn't stand here and talk so much nonsense with you." The lost knight stared at Xiao En for a long time before speaking in a deep voice. "Dino Assama is indeed the one I introduced to the Doogo family, but I am not a member of the blood clan.... I am a dark elf. Of course, in your human terms, you can also call me the night elf, Night elves, dark elves. Whatever you call them."

"Oh. So as long as I meet another blood elf and forest elf, I can say that I have seen all the elf races today." Sean made a rather exaggerated gesture, "You can Becoming a lost knight is really beyond my expectations. Because as far as I know... the dark elves, or night elves, night elves, dark elves, are not easy to be the lost knights, even more difficult than the blood elves. Become a lost knight."

"Nothing is absolute in this world."

"Indeed, so I'm very lucky. What I met was a Reform Party, not the Evernight Party or the Vengeance Party." Sean read the head. "In that case, we still have a place where we can reach a consensus.... In fact, although I don't mind what kind of people my followers have, I still don't want to want to build an outpost for the holy blood race on the surface world. People who stand there exist. As for the path through the abyss, in fact, I don't think it matters, if you are aiming for trade."

Hearing this, the dark elf's eyes suddenly lit up.

But the night sword fighter showed a look of horror, looking at Sean in disbelief. Even if Sean didn't look at the expression of the Dark Night Sword Fighter, he knew that what he had just said had completely subverted the other's three views. It was tantamount to completely destroying the cognition he had built over the years. It was neither anti-social nor anti-human. For too much.

"How can I trust your words." The dark elf was silent for a few seconds before suddenly asking, "I mean, the possibility of trade."

"Because I have a path to the abyss, and I have also mastered the way to open it, but I still lack energy power for the time being, but I will be able to solve this problem soon." Shaun shrugged, "Here it is. Before... To be precise, before I met you, my idea was to establish an outpost on the other side after opening the path of the abyss, and then use this to open up my territory, although I do not reject the underground world. Residents trade, but I know very well that there must be a series of wars. But now... maybe with a Reform Party as a link, I can save a lot of trouble."

"You are indeed as knowledgeable as the rumors, Lord Sean." The dark elf leaned towards Sean and bowed his head slightly-this action meant to show respect to the dark elf clan, "My name is Rorty Kabas, from Bolton of the Immortal River, member of the Reform Party. As you can see, I am a lost knight. I have been on the surface for twelve years. My purpose is two, one is to find the remains of the riding god, and the other ...Is to explore the possibility of cooperating with human beings."

Great Sage Blood Race, each race not only has a different tribe, but also a different political or identity stand.

Like the dark elves, there are three major parties.

Both the Evernight Party and the Vengeance Party are parties that advocate attacking the surface world, but the difference between the two is that the Vengeance Party's claim is to eliminate all humans, which is quite similar to the blood elves. As for the Evernight Party, it is not as extreme as the Vengeance Party, but it is one of their habits to treat humans as slaves or livestock, and they especially like to trade with human slaves and blood.

As for the Reform Party, their proposition is the possibility of coexistence with mankind. This coexistence is not just about business dealings in trade. It also includes the good wishes of living together under the same sky. It's just that this kind of thinking is naturally treated as a heresy in the underground world where paranoias, violent elements and avengers gather. This shows how difficult the Revolutionary Party's living space is.

certainly. This is not to say that the Reform Party is a modest faction, and they are also merciless towards elements of hostile forces.

"It can be seen that the Aite family has not satisfied you." Xiao En shrugged, "but I am not shocked at first reading about this. ... Anyway, I still welcome you to join. My subordinates Right now, there is a very lack of talents like you, especially the possibility of communication between me and the underground world situation in the future. It really requires the assistance of someone like you who is familiar with the rules of the underground world."

For Sean's words. The man who called himself Rorty Kabas was noncommittal: "If I find that there is an incompatibility problem between us, then I will choose to leave, and even face you.... Lord Shaun, I hope you can understand This reading."

"You will find out soon. You are not the only one who said this to me." Sean smiled. Then he said, "As of now, no one has left." Immediately, Sean turned his head and looked at the Dark Night Sword fighter again, and laughed softly: "Since we have reached a consensus, then I want to We can solve the trouble like now.... I believe that when the Aite family learns about your rebellion, their faces will be very beautiful."

The night sword fighter who witnessed the conversation between Sean and Rorty Kabas. At this moment, after seeing everyone's eyes falling on him, the immediate reaction was to turn around and leave.

But it was almost the moment this dark night sword fighter turned around. A dark power that was not weaker than Dino Assamae spewed out of Rotti Kabas' body in an instant. In just a moment of effort, the skin of this dark elf, who was still human before, turned light black in an instant, and his hair also turned silvery white, and even began to grow continuously until it reached the waist.

And the aura emerging from his body also fully demonstrated that the strength of this dark elf is the highest level of gold, and it can even be said that the half-step sanctuary. The difference compared to Rina is probably only because the lost knight does not have one. It's just a powerful mount.

This time, when Rorty Kabas stepped on the ground and rushed towards the Night Sword Fighter, the place where he stepped on the ground completely showed a perfect spider web crack. This spider web crack is not large, only less than three centimeters in diameter, but it can be seen that a large amount of explosive force of fighting energy has been shaken deeper into the ground instead of spreading to the surroundings. This is the power control is extremely perfect. Performance.

At this moment, Sean really saw the strength of this lost knight.

It was a black lightning that almost completely tore through the entire space. The strong dark power and even the power of the void had a vague resonance. Almost in the blink of an eye, Sean's field of vision was completely occupied by a thick dark black. This is the power fluctuation of Rorty Kabas. For the sanctuary strong, what is lacking is to completely converge this force into the body to complete the strengthening of the body.

Just one shot, the Night Sword fighter was completely blown to pieces.

But what Sean saw was that the horizontal mirror surface pierced by Rorty Kabas had a sudden ripple, and after the ripples, cracks appeared in the air, as if the entire space was stabbed by Rorty Kabas' spear. break.

"Master Shaun, are you still satisfied with my strength?" After the gun was closed, Rotti Kabas, who had lifted the Secret Art Seal, exuded a truly dangerous and terrifying aura from all over his body.

"I'm very satisfied." Shaun read the head, "You are stronger than I thought....So now, we have only one trouble left."

"Actually, there should be two." Rotti Kabas said, "...This time our action team is composed of three to four people. When I set out to rush here, I received The order is that there are three teams to fight together, and here I only see Lord Shaun that you have solved one team.... In addition, my team is composed of three people, besides me and him, there is another one. Remote attacker."

"So you mean, there is another group that hasn't appeared?" Sean raised his eyebrows. "Oh, no, strictly speaking... there are four or five enemies hiding in the dark waiting for an opportunity. So maybe my method of solving those guys and your betrayal have already been seen by those people, so my real troubles are just beginning now?"

"Almost." Rorty Kabas read the head.

"You are smarter than I thought." Sean looked at Rorty Kabas, and suddenly understood why he would suddenly release his own secret technique seal, "Two-way cast name certificate, we are completely tied together.... But I am not. Repel this behavior. So next, let's catch those mice together."

"I don't think this is necessary anymore."

A sudden voice interrupted Sean's words.

Followingly, the long-range attacker whom Roti Kabas referred to as a member of the group was dragging a corpse out of the forest.

The owner of this corpse is surprisingly Singhn who slipped from under Sean's nose just now.

Chapter 133: .The Void Realm is in Action

Singern's body was stiff and unusual.

From his escape to the present, it will not exceed ten minutes before and after, so his death time will only be within ten minutes. At this point, even if a person is frozen to death, his corpse will at least maintain its normal softness, and it will not look like it has been dead in the polar ice sheet for several days. .

Sean's nose twitched in the air a few times, then he waved his fan and sniffed the scent in the air vigorously, then raised his head and looked at the remote man who was supposed to be hiding in the dark and was responsible for killing Sean. attacker.

"Are you...Avery?" Sean looked at this person in disbelief with the aura of an upper-level golden powerhouse, and his tone was full of doubts.

And Cecilia, at this time, also looked at the sudden appearance of the strong man with a look of stunned expression.

"Master Shaun, is this someone you know?" Roty Kabas asked, but he didn't slack on this person who should be regarded as the same camp before. He still maintained his due vigilance. Judging from the position between him and Sean, he can also stand in front of Sean's novel for the first time.

"It's me, Lord Sean." The strong man nodded slightly, "I'm here at the instructions of Lord William."

Hearing the other party's confession, Sean turned his head to Rorty Kabas and said, "This is Eli Kate, Eli Kate Galanold. I used to be from the Thieves Guild, but now it's my secret. One of the heads of the organization."

Elekate nodded slightly to Rorty Kabas, as a greeting. At the same time, he took out several test tube bottles from his body, respectively poured some liquid on his left hand, and then smeared it on his face. And soon, the skin on his face showed a peculiar effect similar to melting. It looks like the situation is exactly the same after monsters such as clay monsters, mud monsters, and Polly are killed. I have to say that this is indeed a bit disgusting.

At least Cecilia doesn't want to see this powerful "makeup remover" effect at all.

When this layer of disguise completely melted from Elli Kate's face, he reached out and tore it from his face completely, revealing the true face of Elli Kate: still the appearance of waking up, holding two Big dark circles. But other than that, other aspects are pretty good, at least much better than when Sean met this guy when he was in Luomingen.

"Sir Sean. How did you recognize me?" Avery Kate was obviously curious about Sean's recognition of his identity.

In fact, it's a weird thing for someone with special expertise like Eli Kate to be not curious about it.

Shaun pointed to Singer's corpse on the ground, and then said, "Ice Age... The idea of this thing was a quick-acting poison that William and I discussed in a very accidental situation. And here it is. A week after the idea was put forward, William took out a sample for me. I remember the fragrance. At the same time, William also conducted an experiment in front of me. The effect of this poison was much slower than what William and I had imagined. .At least..."

"It's impossible to produce an effect in ten minutes at least." Eli Kate smiled and finished. "But Lord Shaun, it was almost a year ago. And six months ago, Lord William told me. I put forward this concept and hoped to use my professional level to make adjustments. It took me about three months to complete the ice age formula reorganization, and produced the first ice age, which fully realized Lord William Special effects such as quick-acting, colorless, odorless, and volatile as ordered."

Sean only remembered at this time that when Avery Kate introduced himself, he said that he had three specialties. One of them is poison.

In fact, he is now in charge of all the poison preparations in the entire Void Realm. Even the knowledge of pharmacology in the realm of the void is taught by him. From a certain aspect, this can indeed greatly reduce the chance of death of members of the Void Realm from accidental poisoning during missions, and it can also allow those who are not good at frontal combat to have more self-protection capabilities and intelligence theft capabilities. And torture ability.

It's just that, as to the tastelessness of "Ice Age", the dark elves who are also masters of poison obviously have different opinions.

Rotti Kabas pointed to Singhn's corpse, and then said: "Now there is such a strong and peculiar smell everywhere, even people with rhinitis can smell it, do you still call it tasteless?"

"Before and during use, Ice Age is indeed tasteless and colorless.... For us humans, it is enough that poison can do both before and during use. As for the situation after use, then Obviously it's not in our consideration." Eli Kate shrugged, with a face of disapproval, "But if it can be improved, I really want to improve it, but I really don't know why once the blood in the target body is affected by the ice. Century influence is completely frozen, and after confirming the death of the target, this strong fragrance will be produced on the corpse. I think this is probably one of the two biggest flaws of the current ice age.... But in addition, it has one more thing. The benefits of easy preservation."

"What's the other flaw?" Sean asked.

"This kind of poison does not produce energy." Ali Kate said regretfully, "It needs the magical effect unique to the goddess of ice and winter to be produced. According to the current situation, only the snow method Miss Nio and Miss Tini were able to condense the core materials needed for this poison...Although I don't know why, I call this thing the source of the glacier. It is condensed by the grace of God.... In Miss Dini's situation, the source of the glacier she provides every month is only enough for me to make an ice age."

"I didn't expect that this  you said has this ability." Rorty Kabas's voice was a bit mocking.

"That's just because you don't know the origin and story of this god." Sean said lightly. "She is a contemporary  with the goddess of the moon, Isiah, whom you believe in, and its divine power is no better than Isiah. Weak...simply put. This goddess not only fought with the  of war and seized some of the priesthoods of the  of war at the time, but later also snatched fragments of the godhead of the  of god, which indirectly caused the  of  to become the  of death. From a certain kind In terms of degree, this goddess and your moon goddess can be regarded as allies.... So I guess that the special charity ability of the goddess Eswinter that can produce toxins is derived from the original godhead fragments of the gods of the underworld. "

The goddess of the moon, Aisia, according to legend, has a lot of entangled relationships with the * of the gods, one is a couple, the other is a brother and sister, but the truth of the facts is no longer clear. The only thing that is clear. It is that the goddess of the moon, Esiah, is now in an absolutely hostile relationship with the former Pluto who has been reduced to the * of death. Once the believers in the world encounter each other, they will never die. There is no possibility of compromise.

As a powerful * of the same era, Isiah, the goddess of the moon, has also seized the godhead of the * of death. These two points are enough to make Rorty Kabas throw away some prejudices and maintain the goddess of ice and winter, Aswinter. Enough respect.

"So. We have three ice ages now?"

"Unfortunately. There is no one left." Eli Kate said, "Master Shaun, you should know that I am not good at frontal combat. My full-time specialties are traps, poisons and disguise. It was originally intended to replace the Dovigo family. As this guest, I spent half a month learning all his habits, and finally I succeeded in getting him to take an ice age and pretending to be this strong..."

"Speaking of which. I'm very curious, you have such a strong aura... I remember you are just a low-level bronze strength."

"It's just a little magic trick." Avery Kate said softly. "The so-called strong breath is actually just a perception. What I need to do is to conceal and deceive other people's perception. This is not a very difficult thing. But although I can deceive other people's perception, my own The level of strength is there, so once I do it, I will still show my stuff."

"Then how did you solve Singhn?"

"Although assassination is not my area of expertise, it doesn't mean I don't understand." Eli Kate said lightly, "As a reinforcement, I approached a guy who was scared and full of flaws. I have many This method can easily solve the goal, which is not very difficult. But considering that it is very troublesome to explain, please allow me to omit the repetition of this process."

"Of course." Sean nodded. Although Sean is curious about this kind of professional technique, he can roughly guess what is going on. "So, there should be an ice age?"

"In the hands of the rupees."

"The rupee is here too?" Sean was a little surprised.

If Hela, Neil, and William are the three giants of the Netherland, then Avery Kate, Ruby, and Sigley are the three giants of the Netherland. At this moment, Eli Kate has appeared in front of Sean and said that the rupiah is also dispatched. This is equivalent to saying that the secret agency that Sean and William value most in the Void Realm has dispatched two giants to join forces. This level of attention It is already second only to the operation of the Battle of Darbion against the southern theater.

"More than Rs. Sigley is here. She is now following General Alfred." Eli Kate said, "This is a joint operation of all departments in the Void Realm. I am responsible for Alfred. General Reid's Thunder Lion and Lord Dwight's Scarlet Knights dressed up in disguise, so that they could infiltrate secretly to prepare for a possible crisis.... Sigrid is responsible for intelligence liaison, collection, analysis, and transmission. Instructions from Lord William and Lord Hela."

"What about the rupees?"

"He is responsible for interception. This is the most dangerous part of the whole plan." Eli Kate said in a deep voice, "Your strong team does have three groups, but the third group has been solved by Void Dark Blade. Of course, we also paid some price. After all, our opponents are all low-level gold powerhouses. Even with the traps I arranged in advance, some manpower will be lost.... But all of this is already in the expectation of Lord William. ."

Sean knew that after the original Battle of Darbion, William carried out a series of reforms in the Void Realm, mainly focusing on the concentration and adjustment of powers, dividing it into three major departments. They are the imaginary air force's intelligence room coordinated by Sigley, which is responsible for intelligence collection and analysis; Eli Kate is responsible for poison production, pharmacological knowledge transfer, trap production, and a series of camouflage, infiltration, and counterintelligence operations related to this. The realm of Eternal Night; there is also the Void Dark Blade, which is specifically responsible for assassination, secret protection, surveillance and other operations under the command of Ruby.

"It seems that this is the second joint operation of all departments in the void."

"Master Shaun, I hope you can understand that you are far more important to the Void Collar than you think. I have notified Lord Alfred that the Scarlet Knights are also rushing here. It is expected that you will arrive tonight, and we will * you back to the temporary base....As for the safety of Mrs. Rena, Rupi has already taken someone to assist, so you don't need to worry."

Chapter 134: .Heavy pace

Tonight's weather is exceptionally clear, and you can see the shining stars when you look up. The endless starry sky always gives people a unique sense of psychological satisfaction. !

In such a bright night, the black trend emerging from the other side of the earth is particularly dazzling.

This black trend undulates like a wave, even if it is far apart, but as long as you see this black trend, you can clearly feel the lingering coldness and solemnity, as if the sickle of death is floating. The top of the head is average.

The quiet and icy cold night, after the emergence of this black trend, it became even colder and more terrifying. Especially with the advancing of this black trend, the rumbling sound from the earth brought an inexplicable and unusually heavy pressure.

Only those who are in contact with this black trend will know how terrible this black trend is.

In the direction of this black trend, any existence that blocks the front has completely become a thing of the past. With incomplete statistics in the past three days alone, more than a thousand people were buried in front of this black wave. The bright red blood made a shocking mark on the collar of the Finlistine, just like this black. The name of the evil tide.

The Scarlet Knights.

If there were nobles who had doubts about the combat effectiveness of this knight order before, after seeing the reports of all the battles that took place in these three days, I am afraid that no one would dare to question the combat effectiveness of this knight order.

In a battle of less than five hundred people, one round of assault is enough to cause heavy losses, and the rest of the time is just to harvest the exploits. Of course for other legions. Perhaps combat achievements are very important, but for the Scarlet Knights, this is completely unimportant. So under normal circumstances. Unless it is the enemy who continues to stalk and fight, the Scarlet Knights will all go away after a round of assault and heavy damage to the enemy.

The only thing that can really make the Scarlet Knights launch multiple assaults is the scale of more than a thousand people.

In the past three days, three thousand-man Fenlistine lead guards have been devastated.

Ten does not save one.

Although this has something to do with the combat power of the garrison led by the Fenlistine clan, with the size of the Scarlet Knights no more than 300 people, the daily rest time is less than three hours. However, there has been no reduction in the number of personnel during the fierce battle, which is indeed enough to prove the strength of a knight group. And such a knight order that is already very powerful in the Kingdom of Lane is only at the level of a fourth-level army. It is conceivable how powerful and terrifying the pure white wings knights at the level of a ninth-level army.

In this cold night. The Scarlet Knights still maintained a perfect wedge-shaped formation, even if there were no enemies nearby at the moment, they did not relax in the slightest. Perhaps it is precisely because of this rigorous attitude that does not have the slightest slackness, that is why the combat effectiveness of the Scarlet Knights can maintain such a high level.

but. As long as it was someone who came out of Rena's command. I am afraid that no one will be lax.

After all, the experience of being a knight apprentice was very special to Rina. She learned from that knight a lot of precious spirits that no longer exist. These chivalry spirits may be dispensable for many people today, but they are vital to building a strong knight order.

Under the leadership of Rena, the Scarlet Knights have maintained a tradition to this day.

That is, the strongest person in the team will always take the lead and stand in front of the weaker ones in the team.

So at this moment, the foremost person who is riding a thousand horses must be the strongest in the entire Scarlet Knights. And in the entire Scarlet Knights. The position of the strongest belongs to only one person-the future may not be clear, but at this moment. It will only belong to one person.

Dwight.

Whether in the entire Scarlet Knights, or in the entire void, Dwight is a legendary character.

He was born in a poor family in Baige Town. This family is already so poor that they can't even sustain three meals a day. In order to help take care of his family, Dwight had to start to help find a way to make a living when he was only seven years old. For this reason, he has engaged in many types of work and also experienced many people and things. With his tenacious vitality and survival, he spent the most chaotic years of Pandaling at that time.

But it is a pity that his family did not pass this difficult time smoothly.

If you want to talk about anger and resentment, Dwight does have plenty of reasons to hate Ryan. But he didn't. On the contrary, it was the nobles of Darbion that he really resented, because when Asuna made it clear that he would not invade the banda, it was the nobles of Darbion that abandoned the banda's people. It is also for this reason that when Sean began to recruit recruits on a large scale in Panda, Dwight joined Sean's army.

After that, Dwight, with his own efforts and correct attitude, was promoted from an ordinary soldier to a squadron commander in command of a soldier in just two months, and then when William was about to build a team for Rena As the cavalry unit, Dwight signed up to participate in the cavalry unit screening and was successfully selected. Although the military position has not changed in the slightest, he can still only command a hundred subordinates, but it is known that the military position of the cavalry is half a level higher than that of the infantry, so in a strict sense, Dwight is also considered a promotion.

After becoming Rina's commander, Dwight did not let go. He not only learned a lot about chivalry from Rina, but also learned a lot of unique fighting skills of knights. Finally, after countless fierce battles, Dwight became the most influential figure in the First Cavalry Regiment after Rena, and he was even recognized by Rena as the deputy commander of the First Cavalry Regiment.

After was the establishment of the Scarlet Knights, Rena's personal guard, and he deservedly became the first guard of this personal guard. After that, the Scarlet Knights were completely independent of the First Cavalry Regiment, and were officially recognized and canonized by the Void Lord, and Dwight became one of the Void Lord's now officially recognized generals. Rina is a big shot on the same level.

All this happened in the past year and a half.

In the Void Leadership, there are only two cognitions about Dwight: He was born the poorest, but he was promoted the fastest. Only a small number of people really know how much effort Dwight has put in to have today's position.

"Captain." A knight who is also the Scarlet Knights suddenly stepped out, quickly approached Dwight, and then whispered, "Brothers are all a little tired, shall we take a break here first?"

"There's no time." Dwight shook his head. "We are already two hours behind the scheduled meeting time. The enemy army was clearly prepared just now. They don't want to fight for death, just delay. Our progress is only, so we have no time to delay. We must meet with Lord Sean as soon as possible." At this point, Dwight paused for a while before continuing to say in a deep voice, "And according to Lord Elickett's intelligence, Because of our rapid actions, the Silent Mountain troops also speeded up their pace. Now Lord Fred is leading the troops to attack, and we can't let Lord Fred be disappointed."

"But....."

"George, we are running out of time." Dwight looked at his companions and said with a serious face, "You and I know how important Lord Shaun is to the Void Collar, so we must Escort Lord Shaun back as soon as possible. Only in this way can we send out again to support Lord Rina."

When he heard Rena's name, George's eyes suddenly brightened, and the entire crew of the Scarlet Knights also seemed morale up at this time.

If Sean is a very special existence for the Void Nether, then Rena is also a very special existence for the entire Crimson Knights. The recruitment of the Scarlet Knights has maintained the standard of selection from the 1st Cavalry. Although in a sense, the 1st Cavalry is like the reserve of the Scarlet Knights, but for the Scarlet Knights, This is more like a kind of sublimation.

"I understand, commander." The member of the Scarlet Knights named George nodded heavily, and then gently strangled the reins to slow down the horses under the hips, waiting for the whole knights to resume. After advancing, he kicked the saddle sideways, allowing the horse to keep up with the speed of the entire knights.

In this scene, it looks like a drop of water falling into the sea as harmonious.

But if you look at it from a distance, you can find that the speed of this black wave has become faster, and the roar of the earth has become louder, and it seems even more shocking in this silent night.

.....

In the same dark night, when the Scarlet Knights bypassed Bai Mengsen and moved quickly towards the location of Sean and Eli Kate, another wave of black frenzy was quickly approaching Finlisting's clan collar. .

This black frenzy is bigger than the Scarlet Knights.

If you look closely, you can see that this black frenzy is composed of all infantry.

Each infantryman is wearing a black light armor that imitates heavy armor, and he holds a black square shield that is as high as a person in his right hand. Although it is in the shape of a heavy shield, the shield is not thick at all. On the contrary, it is just a general light shield. It's only the thickness, and their right hand is a special chopper with a wide to narrow surface. In addition, these infantrymen do not have any weapons and armors.

In the entire Lane, there is only one unit in this outfit and configuration.

It belongs to the private armed corps of Cebalox, Silent Mountain.

At this time, Silent Mountain arrived at the Fenlistine clan collar a full three hours earlier than the expected time of the Eternal Night Realm.

Chapter 135: .The Lion King's Fangs

Silent mountains.

Known as Ryan's strongest heavy infantry corps, with a full scale of 50,000 people, it is the largest single legion among all the private soldiers of the nobles in the Principality of Ryan, and there is no one. Even if Ryan has now been upgraded to a kingdom and entrusted to the seven dukes, the Silent Mountains can still rank among the top five in the scale of all the noble private soldiers in Ryan. Even if you look at the size of the Silent Mountains in the next five years It is still in the top ten of Ryan.

Silent Mountain Range has been divided into five troops from the beginning of its completion, each of which has a full scale of 10,000. But in fact, only the core main force is the real "Silent Mountain", and the other four troops are actually only troops that exist as auxiliary troops. In a way, it is precisely because of these four auxiliary troops that they are greatly reduced. The fighting power of the entire silent mountain range.

This is only known to the top of the Ceballox family.

The troops from the Silent Mountains sent by the Marquis of Ceballox this time are just the real main force in the Silent Mountains. It was precisely for this reason that the intelligence provided by Eli Kate to Alfred appeared to be biased-the Silent Mountains arrived three hours earlier than expected.

I have to say that the abacus of the Marquis of Ceballox is indeed very shrewd.

Especially, after receiving the Thunder Lion, one of the three main armies under the Void Duke's command, was dispatched, this made the Marquis of Ceballox more excited.

As everyone knows, Sean's three main armies are full of 10,000 people, and in the southern theater of the previous war against Darby, whether it is the Lion of Thunder or the Iron Wings, they have all been sent to the entire Darby. The people of Ang and Ryan proved that these two units are the most well-deserved heavy infantry regiments—Thunder Lions. Fortunately, they are a mixture of light and heavy infantry, but the steel wings are real heavy infantry regiments.

In this way, it is naturally equivalent to weakening the value of Silent Mountain.

Therefore, the Ceballox family urgently needs a war that can prove the value of Silent Mountain.

Prior to this, the Marquis of Ceballox only wanted to prove the containment effect of the Silent Mountains in the battle to intercept Shaun launched by the Finisterine clan leader-even if it was the Duke of Void Such a strong person can also be blocked. But when the Lion of Thunder appeared, the purpose of the Marquis of Ceballox changed. As long as he defeated the Lion of Thunder, which was as famous as the steel wings, it would be enough to declare the power of the Silent Mountain to the entire Lion.

In response, Silent Mountain quietly changed the direction of the army in the middle. They rushed towards the stronghold just established by the Thunder Lion. At this time, the Marquis of Fenlistine was also wrangling with the Marquis of Ceballox in order to temporarily take over the command of the Silent Mountain in his own territory.

.....

Looking at the black frenzy coming straight forward, Alfred, who was instructing the construction of the stronghold fortifications, narrowed his eyes slightly.

Around him, many Thunder Lion soldiers who took off their armor and were sweating to build fortifications because there was no fighting for the time being, invariably stopped their work, and then raised their heads and followed their commander. Lion King Alfred looked away. Perhaps the humans in the Thunder Lion Legion can't see exactly what the black tide rumbling in the dark is, but relying on these time war instincts and sense of smell, they can still clearly know that at this time This Kuroshio, which looks calm and has a strong sense of killing, is a powerful force not much weaker than them.

In fact, the Silent Mountain may indeed be only a quasi-fourth level army in the eyes of Xiao En, but the real Silent Mountain, as the core combat force, is a well-deserved level four army.

Before Sean, Iron Wings, and Thunder Lion appeared, it was not unreasonable that this army was called Ryan's strongest heavy infantry army.

Even if it is self-proclaimed, no one will deliberately deny it.

The corners of Alfred's mouth raised slightly, his face also showing a bit of excitement. He was no longer the general who was not good at fighting at the beginning. After years of warfare, Alfred actually already knew how to correctly judge the true level of an army. Moreover, Alfred has also worked * the information about the various military teams, so he has already recognized which army the dark tide on the opposite side originated from at a glance.

The Silent Mountain that belongs to the Cebalox family.

After jumping from the three-meter-high guard tower, there was a sudden tremor from the ground, and several cracks were formed in Alfred's footsteps. Even the ground of the guard tower was affected. The entire guard tower was affected. There was a slight tilt.

Fire Lion's fangs were held by Alfred with one hand, and behind him there was a strange sound of metal collision.

There is no need for Alfred to order or command anything. As the core unit of the Thunder Lion and Alfred's garrison, the Thunder Division has already finished dressing and began to gather at Alfred's side. Followed by the soldiers of the Thunder Lion, the entire camp did not even sound an alarm, and it was completely assembled, forming a square formation behind Alfred.

The whole process, there is no mess or rush, everything is being implemented step by step.

Alfred raised the flaming lion fangs on his right hand slightly, and then smashed it to the ground fiercely. With the impact of the end of the axe handle with the ground, a sound of "boom" sounded. All the soldiers of the Thunder Lion There was a roar of excitement. They raised the weapons in their hands, and then slapped their shields or the ground fiercely, and a murderous aura that was not inferior to the silent mountains suddenly rose.

"My lord, they are three hours ahead of the estimated time to arrive at the Finistere clan collar." A man wearing a dark blue heavy armor and a lion helmet said in a deep voice, "and they still appear in such a place. , We didn't even find out in advance, this is completely wrong with the information provided by Mr. Eli Kate."

In the Thunder Lion, there is only one type of person who can wear this special heavy armor and can move freely, and that is the Thunder Hero Division, which belongs to Alfred's garrison. Because the Thunder Lions legion is not entirely composed of humans, humans only occupy a small part of the population. Therefore, it is not a uniform armor that can dress this legion, which has led to many soldiers of the Thunder Lions. In fact, they only have half breastplates.

However, as the core main combat force, the Thunder Division must be somewhat different from ordinary soldiers. Only in this way can it arouse the internal competitiveness of the entire army and enable an army to maintain long-term strong combat effectiveness. Therefore, under William's suggestion, every soldier who becomes the garrison of the Thunder Hero Division can obtain a tailor-made heavy armor. Although this has increased the consumption of the military resources of the entire Void Territory, from a long-term perspective, It is still very advantageous.

The person speaking at this time was Alfred's most powerful brave general, the head of the Thunder Master and Alfred's direct adjutant.

"It's normal." Alfred smiled. "It's not that there is a problem with the intelligence on Elli Kate's side, but that this silent mountain is eager to prove their strength. After all, this time the enemy is fighting together, so There will definitely be conflicts in the command system. Before unified coordination was achieved, Lord William had expected things like this....Of course, it was a little earlier than Lord William expected."

"Master William also expected it to be wrong?" The Alfred's direct adjutant asked in shock.

"Master William is not a  either. He can expect the Silent Mountains to come out and pounce on us. This is very incredible. If you change to someone else, will you have such an expectation? It's not as good as the time point. Misjudgment seems to be that William is more like a human being." At this point, Alfred suddenly thought of Sean, and the corners of his mouth could not help but raised slightly: If it was the situation that the guy expected, then I'm afraid it's not even the point of time. Will it go wrong?

"The whole army is ready for battle!" Alfred gripped the battle axe made by Shaun in his hand, and then shouted in a deep voice.

"Oh!" The entire Thunder Lion responded with the same loud roar.

A huge square formation of seven thousand people quickly dispersed, drawing a long front.

Thunder Lion is a corps of light and heavy infantry, of which the ratio of light and heavy infantry is 7:3, but almost 3,000 of the 7,000 light infantry are long-range strike forces like archers. In the temporary stronghold led by Nordara, Alfred left a thousand archers and two thousand light infantry. Therefore, among the seven thousand thunder lion soldiers brought out at this time, the heavy infantry appeared slightly More.

It hardly needed Alfred's order. The Lion of Thunder, who had been familiar with various combat tactics, opened a battle line, and then launched a rapid change.

Three thousand heavy infantry stood at the forefront of the battlefield with their shields. They did not assume the posture of holding the top shield, but they also shielded their front with shields, and at the same time erected their long spears diagonally. Behind these 3,000 heavy infantrymen are 2,000 archers. Unlike the archers of ordinary human kingdoms, all the archers of the Thunder Lion are composed of strong half-orcs, which makes their The arrow's penetration and lethality are extremely powerful. The two thousand light infantry were scattered on the left and right wings of the archer, with one thousand on each side, but instead of guarding the flanks, they opened a relatively large distance.

Alfred took a few steps forward and stood at the forefront of the entire legion, squinting at the silent mountains ahead.

seemed to feel the provocation of the lion king. After a short pause in the Silent Mountains, it suddenly strode forward.

The roar of the earth is even more loud and amazing.

And the momentum of the silent mountains is even more magnificent.

Alfred stared coldly at the distance between the Silent Mountain Range and his side, silently calculating, and waited until the Silent Mountain Range was only 500 meters away from his own formation, he roared: "Fall arrows!"

In a flash, the first wave of arrows from the Lion of Thunder was thrown out from behind the formation of 3,000 heavy infantry.

And as Alfred expected, Silent Mountain also launched a charge-style attack on the Thunder Lion at this time.

In this way, judging from the battlefield situation, it is almost like Silent Mountain itself rushing into the range covered by the thunder lion arrow rain. In front of the three-sided armor-piercing arrows thrown by these half-orcs, even if the armor of the Silent Mountains is a special armor relative to the heavy armor, it is completely unable to withstand the blow of this arrow rain. In a flash, hundreds of people directly Fall down.

Almost at the same moment when the Silent Mountain launched the charge, the light infantry on the left and right wings of the Thunder Lion also moved instantly and quickly outflanked the Silent Mountain.

As soon as the first wave of arrow rain was shot, all the archers had already begun to prepare for the second wave of arrow rain, and then they threw out again without hesitation.

This time, because of the shortening of the distance and the many wounded soldiers after the first wave of arrow rain, the damage caused by the second wave of arrow rain was far more astonishing than the first wave. Hundreds of people fell directly. .

However, this did not end there.

After Silent Mountain pulsed over a distance of two hundred meters, the three thousand heavy infantry at the forefront of the Thunder Lion quickly dispersed to the left and right, giving way to the two thousand archers behind. But facing this imposing silent mountain range, the two thousand archers did not have the slightest timidity. The bow and arrow at the forefront should squat down, and the archer in the second row directly faced the soldiers in the silent mountain. Spread a flat shot.

In the face of such a close range of a strong bow, even in the Silent Mountains, he had to lift a shield to protect him. The speed of the charge slowed down involuntarily for a while, but this sudden change did not come from the commander's tactical change. So for a time, the Silent Mountain Range appeared a state of disconnection, and the rhythm of the entire army's charge instantly became chaotic. This naturally caused some small chaos to the entire Silent Mountain Range.

Originally, this kind of chaos can be completely ignored for Silent Mountain, because the enemy can't take advantage of this momentary gap.

But this time, their opponent is not an ordinary army, but the prestigious Thunder Lion!

In just a moment of chaos, the light infantry on the two wings had already completed the roundabout, but they did not immediately rush up. Instead, they took out their hatchets and suddenly carried out a round of throwing blows towards the sides of the Silent Mountain. .

Almost at the same time as this round of throwing axe was thrown out, the second round of flat shots and the lobes and projectiles from the back of the archer troops once again carried out a covering and comprehensive attack on the Silent Mountains. At this moment, the whole team was silent. The chaotic effect produced by the mountains is expanded.

Looking at the silent mountain that stopped one hundred and fifty meters away, Alfred finally raised the flaming lion fangs in his hand, and shouted in a deep voice: "All army, assault!"

Chapter 136: .bloody battle

A tauren suddenly waved his left hand and smashed a soldier's shield, knocking it back. Although the standard armor of the Silent Mountain was made of special synthetic iron, it was as heavy as a heavy armor in terms of effect. Shield, but in fact the weight of these equipment is not very high. (So in the face of more powerful forces, it is difficult to rely on the weight of the equipment to stabilize the center of gravity. Therefore, in a strict sense, the Silent Mountains are only empty and heavy infantry, but there is no such thing as heavy infantry. force.

After pushing the enemy back with a punch, the tauren's right hand also suddenly raised the spear, and slammed it towards another soldier in the silent mountain on the right.

Faced with the tauren's stabbing spear, the soldier of the Silent Mountain Legion hurriedly protected him with a shield.

There are sparks splashing.

But the sharp tip of the gun did not pierce this heavy shield. Of course, the power that this tauren exploded was enough to make the soldier in the silent mountain unable to stand firm.

I saw the soldier in the Silent Mountains finally stabilized after retreating several steps.

But when he stabilized his figure, what he saw was the shocking picture of the tauren rushing towards him with strides. Perhaps it was because of the years of fighting, or perhaps it was due to the usual training. After a moment of shock, the soldier's mind quickly stabilized, and then he squeezed the spear in his hand and shot the tauren back. Remember the violent straight stab attack-this attack, he did not stab blindly or panic, but aimed at the throat of the tauren.

Under normal circumstances, this blow by the soldier from the Silent Mountain really deserves the words "electric light and stone fire".

But for the tauren. Such an attack is not enough to be afraid of-not to mention that he is a member of the Thunder Heroes. Even if he is a racially talented advantage, the tauren is much stronger than humans. So facing this is almost a blow from the lightning. However, the tauren stretched out his left hand to hold the gun for a moment without letting go, and then with a strong stroke, the soldier from the Silent Mountain was flung out and hit several companions nearby. , Immediately let a few people mess up.

This situation is a great opportunity for the Thunder Lions!

Bake time. The soldiers next to the Thunder Lion waved their weapons without hesitation, and landed fiercely on the soldiers in the silent mountains. In this state of tough attack, no matter how good the equipment used by the soldiers in the Silent Mountains is. It is also impossible to reach such a round of attacks.

In fact, in most battles, heavily loaded soldiers often die not directly from weapon attacks, but from internal injuries such as violent impacts.

It didn't last long. The silent mountain soldiers who fell on the ground were silent. Obviously dead.

However, these thunder lion warriors had not had time to be happy, and a blood-colored spear point had already emerged from the chest and abdomen of a bear. The intense pain caused the bearman to let out a roar, but this result was only in exchange for the blood that suddenly spit out of his mouth. Facing such a result, the few comrades of the Thunder Lion next to him were naturally angry.

But before these people made any counter-attack, several spears came out from the chest and abdomen of the bear.

Soon, another soldier from the Silent Mountain quickly approached, and then stood behind the bear man on the right side.

Only one "clang" sounded. The bear man suddenly swung his gun towards the back of the attack, but was also blocked by the silent mountain soldier team that cooperated with him in a tacit understanding. And this sound seemed to be a heavy weapon blocking sound. As if it were an agreed secret sign, after the bearman's death-killing counterattack failed, several spears that had emerged from the body were also withdrawn at this moment, leaving only a few wounds that were constantly bleeding. .

Even if the bearman's self-healing ability is strong and vitality is strong, but facing several blood hole wounds so close between the chest and abdomen, it is impossible for him to last long, let alone such intensive attacks, the internal organs in the body Has long been stabbed.

But the decisive fatal blow did not come from these wounds, but a shot that penetrated his head from the back after causing these wounds to drop the bear man's attention and vigilance!

As this bearman fell, the Thunder Lion soldiers who had already roared towards the Silent Mountain Soldiers who had teamed up to attack, also became more fanatical, and even began to ignore their own injuries and injuries. safety.

For a time, this small local battlefield that took place in the entire battlefield became even more chaotic. It's just that this chaos is not calm, but like a ripple that gradually expands, and soon begins to affect a larger area, and more and more soldiers from both sides are involved in the mode of melee. At this moment, the so-called formation and cooperation have almost become a joke, and the only thing that can be driven is the instincts of the participants themselves and the memory of the military formed over the years.

In fact, as early as the beginning of this battle, Silent Mountain was at a disadvantage.

Because the series of tactical strikes launched by Alfred not only caused the Silent Mountain to directly lose more than 500 people, but also plunged the Silent Mountain into a brief chaos, and these are the best things the Thunder Lion can use. Advantage. Therefore, when the lion of thunder cuts into the silent mountain like butter like a hot knife, the formation of the entire silent mountain is completely cut into two.

But I have to say that the core main force of this Silent Mountain indeed deserves their name.

After a brief period of chaos, he quickly launched a counterattack, once equalizing the situation, at least so that the gap between the two sides did not cause a significant change. Of course, more importantly, the number of people in Silent Mountain is 2,000 more than the Lion of Thunder, and the Lion of Thunder has 4,000 in light infantry costumes—when the melee began, there were 2,000 archers. He threw down his bow and arrow and threw himself into melee combat.

However, at the beginning, although there was no obvious gap, it was a multi-racial soldier facing the Thunder Lion. Silent Mountain still seemed a little uncomfortable. In most cases, injuries that are fatal to normal humans are in front of races such as bear, tauren, and lion. But it is not deadly enough, because the vigorous vitality always allows them to hold on for longer, and the dying counterattack from them is also particularly fierce.

However, in any battle, there will always be corresponding countermeasures.

So, in the case that these "foreign races" could not be solved one-on-one, the soldiers of Silent Mountain learned the most basic squad combat, and this had a wide range of results. Not only did it stabilize the situation again for a while, but because of the number of advantages, it began to gradually press the Thunder Lion to fight.

Of course, this situation did not last long.

Because the Thunder Lion has a more core force. Thunder Master.

If the Silent Mountains and the Thunder Lions are both Tier 4 Legions, then the actual combat effectiveness level of the Thunder Hero Division is Quasi Tier 5, or even Tier 5 level. When such a group of people with more combat power began to shine on the battlefield, the situation for Silent Mountain was not optimistic. If not, there is still an advantage in terms of numbers. Silent Mountain can be said to be a completely disadvantaged situation. It's just that with the current situation developing, Silent Mountain will eventually enter the rhythm of defeat.

Of course, this is also not a good result for the Thunder Lion.

Because anyone with a little insight into the situation of the game knows that the result of this defeat will inevitably occur when the number of people on both sides drops to about 5,000. And with the advantage of the number of people in the Silent Mountain, when the number of Silent Mountain is reduced to less than 5,000, the number of Thunder Lion may be less than 4,000. If Silent Mountain's will is stronger, then only when the number of personnel is reduced to three thousand will it be the same as the number of Thunder Lions. Resulting in a rout.

Such a result can be regarded as a big defeat for the Thunder Lion. Not even a terrible victory.

After all, the Lion of Thunder has their pride, because when facing so many elite troops in Darbion, they did not have such a result. If such a result appeared in the private army of the Ryan nobility, it would be for them. Words are a shame. And it is precisely because of this shame that the attack of the Thunder Lion has become more violent, causing the Silent Mountain to produce greater pressure.

However, in such a chaotic battle, there is a battle in one place, and no one dared to intervene.

That is the most central position in the entire battlefield.

That was a fight that belonged to the two commanders alone!

In terms of strength, Alfred is actually slightly lacking.

As the core main force of the five troops in the Silent Mountains, its commander may not be the commander of the Silent Mountains Legion, but it must be the strongest person in the entire Silent Mountains Legion. Only such a person is qualified to be the commander of the strongest troop in this Silent Mountain.

And this person, his personal strength has reached the level of the lower level of gold.

From a certain point of view, but Alfred, who is only at the top of the silver pinnacle, is naturally slightly lacking compared to the opponent.

But.

In terms of equipment, the commander of the first unit of the Silent Mountain is completely incomparable with Alfred.

Just a golden-grade magic weapon like the Flame Lion Fang is enough to make this Silent Mountain Legion's strongest person not dare to act rashly. Therefore, in this battle between the commanders of the two sides, the commander of the Silent Mountain, who has the strength but no corresponding weapons and equipment, is naturally frustrated. The only thing he can do is rely on his strength. Slightly better and Alfred dealt with, trying to give a fatal blow through the flaw.

But this idea is good, but it is a nonsense to Alfred, because before he became the commander of the thunder lion, Alfred was originally the commander of a mercenary group, and at the beginning In order to avenge his mercenary group, he dormant for many years and finally won by himself. So in terms of personal combat experience and skills, Alfred is confident that he will not lose to anyone.

Moreover, even if there are one or two flaws, Alfred is confident that he can block it, because after the Battle of Darbion, Alfred replaced all three magic patterns on the equipment: he completely abandoned it. The advantage of speed, instead, pays more attention to the advantages of strength and endurance, which makes him naturally become more durable in battle, and at the same time can withstand more attacks on himself caused by accidents.

In all respects, Alfred may not be as strong as those in the Golden Realm, but in terms of consciousness, attitude, thinking, and cognition, Alfred is compared to those in the Golden Realm. The strong are no worse. He knows where his greatest advantage is, so he naturally knows how to make better use of his own advantages.

After the two sides exchanged an attack block again, Alfred suddenly deliberately slowed down by half a beat, revealing a small flaw.

Alfred knew that he and the other party had been in a stalemate for a long time, and the strength and energy required in this process were already a very heavy burden for any silver realm master. In such a situation, there will inevitably be situations such as physical decline or lack of concentration, or slowing down of movements, so the only thing he needs to do is to use this point in time to set up a trap.

And when Alfred saw that the opponent's attack became more violent, his heart began to smile.

Because Alfred knew that the other party had already taken the bait.

If you were to be any gold powerhouse, I am afraid that you would have taken advantage of the flaw that Alfred revealed just now to get started. But this strong man didn't do anything about it, so Alfred knew that this was a very cautious opponent.

Faced with such an opponent, Alfred naturally has his own set of mature tactics.

When the fighting time between the two sides was deadlocked for two minutes again, Alfred once again revealed a flaw. Although this flaw was deadly enough, it felt like it was deliberately shown off, and just as Alfred expected, the other party was not fooled. But then, Alfred accelerated his own offensive rhythm, revealing a kind of despair after his opponent was not fooled.

Alfred almost after the emergence of this fighting rhythm, Alfred saw the slightly raised corners of the opponent's mouth-although the movement was extremely small, it was still keenly caught by Alfred. This made Alfred's inner smile even stronger, because he knew that his opponent had really taken the bait this time, and the only thing he needed to do was to reveal a small flaw again in one minute, even better than the first time. The flaws revealed at one time are even smaller.

It's time to end the battle. — I glanced at the chaotic battlefield from the corner of my eye, feeling the constant falling of his comrades, and the anger in Alfred's heart was constantly rising.

Chapter 137: Stop the road

The cold wind in the middle of the night is particularly gloomy.

Even if it is a house blocked by a courtyard wall, in this * ghostly weather, some people can't help making complaints. With the advent of winter in full, this situation will worsen, and the weather will naturally become more severe and icy.

And the indoor environment is so cold, let alone the outdoor situation.

As long as they are not strong in the sanctuary, they cannot completely resist the influence of nature, so cold and heat are still a threat to most strong ones.

Especially for elves.

Perhaps the dark elves and blood elves living in the underground world will be better off, but for the several elves living on the surface, the cold has always been a place they try to avoid. The situation of the highland elves is better. After all, the temperature in the plateau area is slightly lower than that of other places, but in the cold season, even the highland elves will try to avoid outdoor activities.

But right now, there is probably no such option.

Whether it is Vigna or Marton, these two highland elves look a little trembling at the moment. On the one hand, it is because of the influence of the cold on them, on the other hand, it is also because of the erosion of the abyssal toxins in the body.

The changes brought about by reality are more real and delicate than Shaun can imagine.

In the game, the abyssal toxin does not have a great impact on the player, even if the poison is deep, it can be cured and healed quickly, not to mention there are various special medicines that can be used to resist the abyssal toxin. But for NPCs. Abyssal Toxin is not something that can be easily resisted. If you want to get a thorough cure, you must find a priest of the Life Church to deal with it.

So in the history of the Marvel Continent, an expedition against the abyss. It has always been a high-level colleague of living churches.

But this is just an introduction in the game.

In this real world, the situation has become quite different again. The abyssal toxin is not only a stubborn disease that cannot be cured quickly, but also it will continue to erode the body of the poisoned person. So if Venia and Mardoona were able to retain 60% or 70% of their combat power before, then there are only about 50% left, and this situation is still deteriorating.

So that these two elves. At this time, he must stay on Blackstone's back for a long time to rest.

Fortunately, since I solved those enemies last night. They didn't encounter any place for the whole day today, which allowed both Vigna and Marton to get a relatively sufficient rest time. And Rina, although the influence of Abyssal Toxin on her is not as deep as that of Venya and Marton, but it still has some influence. At least it is obviously impossible to restore the strength of the heyday before returning to the territory.

Marshmallow feels some dissatisfaction with the occupation of the place where he rests for a long time, of course, more dissatisfaction is that Cecilia is not by his side. But just as Rina and Blackstone have a contractual bond, Marshmallow and Cecilia also have a contractual bond, so he can feel Cecilia's position, so in this special team, it is Marshmallow. Come to lead the way.

Although the road ahead is a bit difficult, no one chooses to give up.

at this time. Rena and others are walking on a trail.

This long-abandoned trail used to be a road used to transport mineral resources, but when the mine resources were mined more than a decade ago, the strongholds built around the mine resources were also removed. Therefore, the trail became desolate because of loss of renovation, and even became rugged because of weathering. It is only possible to find the record of this trail in the map of the territory of the Finlistine family more than ten years ago.

Rena and others will go here, thanks to the Void Realm's all-terrain mapping for the entire Principality of Ryan under the order of Hela half a year in advance. And this time, because Hela and William negotiated the path, there are any trails or hidden options for the territories to be passed. Whether it was Sean or Rena and others, they remembered very clearly.

In desperate situations. Leaving this trail, you can arrive at the Green Spring River one day earlier than originally planned.

The River of Green Spring is the meeting point agreed by Rena, Sean and others.

If there are no more accidents in the future, they will arrive at the River of Green Springs before noon tomorrow, after which they only need to wait for the rescue of the Scarlet Knights.

Of course, the premise of all this is that no accidents happen.

The marshmallows who led the way didn't mean to stop at all, so Rina and others naturally had trouble stopping. I just don't know why. Half an hour ago, Rina noticed that Marshmallow seemed to be a little anxious. This was mainly reflected in his actions, which was obviously more anxious than before, and she did not look like this before. I haven't seen it, at least in the past two days, I haven't seen Marshmallow show such an expression.

So Rina keenly felt that something was wrong.

The marshmallow in the running stopped suddenly, and suddenly turned to face, the whole body was taut, the hair on his body almost stood upside down, and it made a roar towards the darkness in the distance.

With the strength of marshmallow, it is only a monster equivalent to the strength of the human bronze realm. A monster like this may be a big trouble for people in the Bronze realm. Even the lower silver is a big trouble, but for the high-ranking silver or even the gold realm's masters and powers, Marshmallow There is no threat at all, and even if you want to kill it, it seems easy.

It's just that even if it is only Bronze, the sense of smell and hearing of cotton candy is still not ordinary people, or ordinary monsters can compare.

Seeing Marshmallow showing such a vigilant look, just like last night when faced with a sneak attack by Donkey Kong, Beasts, Penrose and others, Rena immediately realized that there was an enemy in ambush in front of her left. And also found this abnormality. There are also two people, Weinia and Marton. Although these two people look a little tired, they also know which one is more important at this moment. He immediately jumped off Blackstone without hesitation, and was ready to fight.

Even Black Stone showed a ferocious roar.

When Rena and others were ready for battle, two figures walked out slowly in the dark.

A middle-aged man on the right is close to two meters tall, but he does not have that particularly burly feeling. He looks a little thin. But the breath radiating from his body made the three people present including Rina dare not act rashly.

If Rena is in its heyday. She believes that the winner is still unknown, and it is not a problem if she wants to push her opponent back to a draw. But now, Rina's eyebrows are frowning tightly, knowing that the other party has locked the Qi on her body. Therefore, any action she made at this time is likely to cause a stormy attack in an instant, and this is exactly what Rina wants to avoid at this time.

As for the person on the left, Rina recognized it.

This is a short man with a height of less than one meter six-in places where the common height of Miracle Continent is one meter seven or even more than one meter eight, the height of one meter six is no different from those who are taller. But it was this thin and even wretched guy who made Rena and the others very troublesome yesterday, and even Marton and Winia gave up fighting with him.

Because of this person, it is a beast.

So when they saw the beasts appearing here, Rena and the others suddenly understood why the other party was able to find them. Because last night. This wretched man called the Beast showed his amazing talents for tracking and chasing. No matter how Rina and others acted, they couldn't get rid of this man, so that finally led to the massacre. Only during the massacre of the troops that dealt with the Gray Wolf Blade. Rina and the others also exhausted almost all their strength, even if they had some physical recovery intermittently along the way today, but under this kind of physical and mental exhaustion, the recovery they can get is naturally limited.

The thin man glanced at Vinia and Marton, then set his gaze on Rina again, and said in a deep voice, "My name is Ferns."

Ferns' voice. It's a bit hoarse, but it's not that low-pitched voice full of magnetism. It sounds more like the kind of husky that the vocal cords have been damaged. It's just that in this kind of hoarseness, there is a simple and capable unique temperament, this kind of almost idiosyncratic character is simply clear at a glance.

And Rina, when she heard the words "Ferns", her brows wrinkled even tighter.

Different from Winia and Marton, Rena, as one of Sean's earliest followers, is also a core member of Sean's command. She is very aware of the hostile figures in the major families that need to be paid attention to. And Ferns of the Fenlistine family is undoubtedly one of these key lists. It is said that he has been stuck at the top gold pinnacle for ten years, and so far, only the final touch is needed to break through. Domain, so the accumulated combat experience and momentum are naturally incompetent.

At least, in the Principality of Lane, among the invincible powerhouses under the sanctuary, Furnes can definitely be regarded as one.

"You have no retreat, surrender." Ferns said lightly, but the calmer his expression, the more confident he seemed.

"You alone can't kill us," Rina said in a deep voice. Although her current strength is only about 70% of her heyday, she is not necessarily inferior to Furns just by her momentum. What's more, there are Vinia and Marton, if they join hands, they are comparable to a high-level golden powerhouse.

"I really can't kill you." Ferns did not deny Rina's words, but admitted frankly, "However, what I need to do is not to kill. Whether it is to defeat you or to haunt you, It is not difficult for me.... If you are in the heyday, then even I dare not rush to come alone, but you who have been poisoned by the abyss, you must have suffered a lot of strength."

Hearing what Fernes said, the faces of Rena and others changed.

"You fought with a demon * in the capital. This matter has spread throughout Ryan, and all the sanctuary powerhouses who participated in the battle at that time were more or less infected with the abyss poison, so I don't think you can get lucky. Exemption." Ferns still said calmly, "Furthermore, based on the battle feelings reported by the Beast yesterday after fighting with you, we conclude that you have been corroded quite deeply by the abyssal toxins, and the strength you can exert at this time is also extremely limited. "

"Yesterday, I really shouldn't let you go." Rina looked at the beast, breathed out a suffocating breath, and said faintly, and she looked at the beast more like she was looking at a dead person.

"It's too late to say anything now." Ferns shook his head, "I just want to avoid unnecessary fights.... So before I came, I had notified all the nearby troops and strong men that could be mobilized, and they rushed over. It's just a matter of time. Before that, I and the Beast teamed up to chase or intercept you. It was very easy.... So, can I advise a few of you, don't you waste your efforts? "

"What if I say no?"

"So what a pity."

Chapter 138: .Background of the Void

The air current visible to the naked eye suddenly spewed out, like a strong wind destroying the forest.

Under this strong pressure, the earth quickly collapsed and disintegrated, and countless fine stones were dragged by the airflow and slowly floated into the air.

And in the source of the airflow, a man and a woman are confronting each other.

Ferns' weapon is also a long spear, but unlike Rena's whole crimson spear, Ferns's spear is dark and dim, and even the tip of the spear is dark black. This results in him. Fighting in the dark environment has great advantages. Especially in an environment like this one, the more dense and dark the night is, the greater the strength that Furnes can exert.

Rena, because she didn't know this at the beginning, she suffered a small loss.

Fortunately, this dark loss did not completely lose Rina's combat effectiveness. On the contrary, it stimulated the bloodliness in her body and made her more and more courageous. And this was something that Furnes hadn't expected. For this reason, he had to start to devote all his attention to the battle and take this battle seriously, so there was this frantic scene now.

If it is under normal circumstances in [top_点] novels, Venia and Marton can also intervene in Rina's battle, which naturally increases Rina's chances of winning. However, when the real combat power of both Venia and Marton was severely damaged and reduced, the fierce battle between Furnes and Rina was completely unacceptable for the two to intervene, even if they wanted to support. It is not an easy task at once.

Of course, another reason is because there is another enemy staring at him.

Although beasts are also strong in the golden realm. But his personal strength is not very high-end, on the contrary, he is good at chasing. This also caused his fighting style to be more like an assassin and an assassin. In this way, it would not be that much pressure for Venia and Marton to cope with each other. only. It is also impossible for the three of them to join forces to deal with Furnes as imagined at the beginning.

The beast that wandered on the edge of the battle also couldn't get involved in the battle between Furnes and Rena.

The battle between the two people, every time the strong wind and air flow brought up by each other's collision, it was a terrible attack. If you were accidentally caught by these air currents, even the silver realm masters would be injured slightly or severely, and killed in severe cases. And with the physical strength of the beast, it was not much better than the masters of the silver realm. So of course he did not dare to intervene in such a dangerous battle.

A black sword light flicked out.

The sword light is very fast and abrupt, and even the angle is obviously carefully selected.

And the target of this sword light is Marton.

It is well known. Occupations such as archers usually lack melee combat ability due to their professional characteristics. After all, like the royal army of ancient holy elves, it can not only shoot arrows, but also magic, and can also fight in close combat. It no longer exists now. So the beast chose Marton as the target of attack. It cannot be said that his decision was wrong.

It's just obvious that the almighty elves no longer exist, but this does not mean that the elves have really degraded to the point of disregarding their heads and tails.

Especially a character like Mardun who can become the entourage of the Snow Wind tribe princess. Even if he is most proficient in shooting, this does not mean that his melee ability is really zero. It can only be said that compared to his archery. In terms of being weaker.

But just when Mardun wanted to block the sword light, there was a counterattack that arrived faster than he thought.

That is a dagger from Vinia.

The elf sword dancer who specializes in melee combat. The inheritance represented is skill, not pure strength or professional characteristics such as agility and endurance. And as one of the most difficult occupations in the game. The Elf Sword Dancer does have many unique features. However, when this profession is commanded by the former sword dancer of the Brofeng tribe, the combat power exerted is absolutely completely different.

A gloomy sword light swept out from the side.

only heard a slight "ding", the two sword lights collided with each other, and then the black sword light retreated sharply.

However, Vinia, who had been preparing for a long time, did not give up this rare opportunity, and soon her other dagger stabbed in the direction of the black sword light retreating like a shadow.

This blow was also silent by Lei Xun. It can almost be said to be a super level that Vinia's current level can play.

There is no muffled sound, no  smell, it seems that the sword of Winia has not made any contribution.

However, Winia could clearly feel the touch of the short sword piercing the beast's body just now. As the leader of the sword dancers of the Breaking Wind Tribe in the Wildlands, who has been in various wars and slaying all year round, it is impossible for Winia to forget the feeling of a sharp weapon piercing the enemy's body, so at this moment, even if he did not hear it. The muffled sound of the beast, or the smell of blood, but she was still sure that the beast was injured.

This is an innate intuition.

Almost at the moment when the beast was repelled, a strong shock suddenly broke out in the battlefield between Rena and Furnes.

The raging energy is truly like a violent wind, ploughing all the ground around it like a raging wind. Numerous cracks have made this desolate trail that was already dilapidated and terrifying like the land of the abyss of hell. .

The two figures in the battle also separated slightly by mistake at this time, and did not continue to fight.

But just by looking at Fernes's slightly trembling right hand at this time, one can imagine what the price he paid in the loud confrontation just now. Obviously, the members of the Fenlistine family still underestimated Rina's combat power. Of course, this is inevitable. After all, there are not many people who know Rina has the blood of a dragon. But that is in the past tense. At this moment, there are probably many people who know that Rina has the blood of the dragon.

Because of Rina at this time, her eyes have completely turned into vertical pupils, dragon scales have emerged on most of her body, and the whole body can also be clearly seen bulging a lot. To some extent, this greatly strengthened Rena's various abilities. It was also the main reason why Rina was not defeated by Furnes here, but the current situation is only half-dragon, and it is far from enough to defeat Furnes.

At this point. From the fact that Furnes only trembled her right hand, and Rena had multiple bleeding wounds all over her body, it could be seen that there was still a big gap between the two sides-at least at this time the gap between them was not small.

However, no one thought of it.

At the moment when the two people separated by mistake, there was a figure suddenly jumping out of the shadow of Rena.

Almost everyone sees this figure appearing, their hearts will inevitably jump. A name suddenly appeared in everyone's mind.

Shadow Assassin.

Because only the shadow assassins have such a clever means of concealment-almost all dark places are places they can use.

The shadow assassin jumped out of Rina's shadow. It seems that Rina's shadow is a pool, and he has been diving in this shadow before. So the sudden appearance at this time was so elegant that almost everyone was stunned, of course the most important thing was. The timing of this shadow assassin was too good. It happened to be the moment when both Furnes and Rena were exhausted. Whether it was to recover or exchange breath, at least one second of buffer was needed.

One second is enough for a shadow assassin to complete an assassination.

When he saw the shadow assassin rushing out from Rina's left side, but did not make any attack on Rina, Ferns knew that the assassin was coming towards him. He also knew that it was absolutely too late to wait for the natural ventilation time at this time. So he exhaled in a deep voice, and forcibly reversed the vindictiveness in his body. In order to restore such a moment of action.

But no matter how fast he is, the attack from the shadow assassin is not slow.

A short sword glowing with blue brilliance pierced Furnes's clothes without hindrance, and then plunged into his body.

It's not deep into the flesh, it's only about half an inch.

Because at this time, Ferns, who had forcibly reversed his internal fighting spirit, had completely recovered his mobility, and sealed the dagger's deepening with his powerful body muscles.

However, this shadow assassin was not greedy for merit. After a blow, he saw that the force was impossible and he abandoned his sword and retreated without hesitation.

"Want to run!" Furnes snorted coldly, and raised his hand to stab the shadow assassin in the reverse direction.

However, at this time, Rena, who had also recovered his anger, did not let Furnes succeed. The flame spear in her hand had already been pierced with a spear, and the tip of the gun and the tip of the spear of Furnes's long spear just hit each other. A small eye of the storm formed from it, and then a violent wind burst out suddenly, raging around again.

According to the previous experience in the fight, Rena has already made it clear that the weapon in Furnes's hand is also a golden-grade demonized equipment, otherwise it would be impossible to collide with her own flame spear for so long without the slightest impact. In the same way, she also knew the specific strength of Furnes, this blow was only the beginning of the two sides entering a fierce battle again.

It's just that this thought just came to Rina's mind, and it disappeared because of Furnes' actions.

Because this time, the person who gave up the attack first was Furnes.

Seeing his face changed drastically, the whole person quickly stepped back dozens of steps, pulling the distance between Rina to more than ten meters, and then stopped retreating. And his left hand suddenly covered his chest-there was the place stabbed by the shadow assassin's dagger, and the white mist visible to the naked eye was constantly emerging from here, forming large swaths of frost that were madly moving around. Spread.

The beast, at this time, also appeared beside Furnes at the right time.

"Let's go." The shadow assassin finally spoke.

"Is...Rupee?" Rina looked at the shadow assassin with some surprise.

"It's me." Rupi nodded, "Finally caught up....We are leaving here now, the enemy is gathering here from all directions, if we slow down, we might not be able to leave easily."

Regarding Ruby's statement, Rena did not refute. They have engaged in a fierce confrontation for nearly five minutes here. If this time is on the battlefield, it may not be a big deal, but for them who continue to retreat, it is already a fortune. Time that cannot be ignored is lost.

Almost no hesitation, Rina just waved hello. Winia and Marton hurriedly turned over and sat on Blackstone's back, and then ran forward quickly following the cotton candy that had been hiding by Blackstone at the beginning of the battle. Rina and Ruby also turned around quickly and hung them behind Blackstone. He didn't seem to care about exposing his back in front of Furnes and the Beast.

"Don't... just leave me alone!" Ferns hurriedly let out a roar when he saw Rina and the others leave, but with a mouth open, a lot of cold air came out of his throat, "Catch up, go up! Nope! ...Let them go."

The Beast glanced at Furnes, and finally nodded.

But just when the beast is about to chase up. A dozen people, all wrapped up under their cloaks, suddenly rushed out from all directions, forming an interception net and blocking them in front of the beast and Furnes. These people do not have any identities. Except that everyone has a short sword in their hands, it can be vaguely distinguished that these people are assassins, assassins, and the like, there is nothing else that can be distinguished at all.

"That's..." Rina turned her head and saw the scene where the beast was stopped.

In terms of reason. With the personal strength of the beast, it is enough to break through the interception net composed of dozens of assassins and assassins. But this time. However, he was stopped by this interception net, and he obviously became a little slow in his actions. These personal reactions fully showed that the beast was indeed injured.

"The Dark Blade of the Void." Ruby said without turning his head. "In the past six months, after the revolutionary changes in the Void Realm, no one is idle. The one I caught from the Millennium Covenant Empire. The assassins have learned a lot of training methods. Among them, it is not only the improvement of personal strength, but also organizational training and training, etc.... Those people can be said to be dead soldiers of the void."

Rina looked at the dozen or so assassins and assassins who had intercepted the beast and Furnes. The look in his eyes also became awe-inspiring. And when she turned her head and looked at the rupiah again, Rena also had to admire Sean, because at this time the strength of the rupiah had exceeded the level of the upper silver pinnacle, and she was one step into the ranks of gold. You must know that when Rupi was brought back by Sean, it was only in the Bronze Realm, but in this short year, he went from the lower bronze to the upper silver pinnacle. This talent is really enough to surprise anyone.

"Please don't feel pity for them, Lord Rina." It seems to be aware of Rina's gaze, and Ruby's tone has an unprecedented lowness, "That is an insult to them.... They are all orphans, the existence of the void. Give them the meaning of survival, so for the sake of the Void Leader, whether it is them or me, or all the members of the Void Dark Blade or the entire Void Realm, we are willing to give our lives for this."

"So." Ruby turned his head, looked at Rina, and said softly, "Please respect our profession."

"I was impolite." Rina nodded slightly.

This is the first time that Rena has truly sensed the power of the Void Collar, and it is also the power of Sean.

Because when everyone thought that Sean was just a baron who picked up shit, the Cecilia Guards, Thunder Lions, and Iron Wings all shined on the southern battlefield and hit the entire Principality of Lane. The faces of all the nobles let them know how powerful the legions under Sean's command are. And when everyone thought that Sean Kong had a strong army, but there was no strong under his command, the performances of Rena, Xuefanio, Venia, Marton, Cecilia and others in the martial arts festival, And afterwards, the scene of the king against the demon * of war, once again slapped all the nobles with a resounding slap.

This time, just when all the nobles thought that Sean was desperate, the actions of all members of the Void Realm once again slapped Sean's enemies. Let them know clearly that what Shaun's subordinates are truly powerful is not just the army and power, but the intelligence system and crisis response capabilities are also unmatched.

And all this is inseparable from a fact.

That is everyone's sense of belonging to the void, the sense of dependence and identification with Sean!

This is the foundation of the void!

Chapter 139: .The attitude of the royal family [seeking a monthly pass]

The miracle calendar December 18, 1875, the aristocratic civil strife that shocked Ryan finally happened.

This day is a particularly uncomfortable day for the Finlisting family.

Because the Royal Family's attitude is not only so firm that everyone feels incredible, but even the reaction speed and execution power are so fast that it is shockingly fast. Originally, the Finlisting family thought that they would have at least two days to deal with, and they could also minimize their influence, but in reality they didn't even have two hours.

The Grey Wolf Blade Legion, on the early morning of the 18th, was taken back by the Marquis of Floris who had personally arrived at Fenlistingburg.

Since the Finlisting family changed the name of the private army to the public army, it has always been funded and trained by the Principality of Ryan, but the command has always been in the hands of the Finlisting family. Just as the Kingdom of Darbion once delegated the command of the Second Cavalry Regiment to the Hastings family. So when the Royal Family finally wanted to take back the command of this legion, Finlisting's people could only watch, it was impossible to rebel, right?

Not to mention how many nobles would respond to the call if they rebelled, the status of the rebels alone prevented them from gaining more support. Similarly, due to the lack of sufficient powers, troops, generals and other factors, even if Fenlisting really rebelled, the final result would only be completely erased from Lane's history.

No nobleman would do such a stupid thing.

However, if only the command of the Gray Wolf Blade is taken back, then the Finlistine family is not really a major loss. What they really need to face is the two accusations that they intend to break out of the kingdom and try to murder the Void Duke. . If these two accusations are confirmed, even if the Finlisting family is not deprived of their nobility status, it will definitely be unavoidable that they will be downgraded.

Originally relying on the influence of the Sené noble faction, coupled with two days of dealings, the Finlistine family can indeed minimize the impact of this murder of the duke, of course, if Sean dies. , Then they don't even need to do extra activities to be safe.

But who would have thought that the result would be such an unexpected situation.

The patriarch of the Fenlisting family, Brans Fenlisting, was taken away by the Marquis of Floris after the Marquis of Flores took back the command of the Gray Wolf Blade. In the Finlisting family, there is a very subtle situation, that is, the patriarch and the head of the family are separated, and the person who has inherited the title of the Finlisting family's hereditary nobility is the patriarch of the Finlisting family.

However, above this patriarch, there is also the head of the Finlisting family. He is the master of the entire Finlisting family. Almost every order that determines the future direction of the Finlisting family is made by him. After that, the patriarch of the Finlisting family is responsible for the specific implementation. The head of the Finlisting family was also succeeded by the patriarch.

Seeing his son being taken away by the Marquis of Floris, the elderly Karlovci Finlistine was already in tears. As a politician, he knows very well that if his son is taken away this time, it is probably because heaven and man will be separated forever, because he must be solely responsible for the murder of the Void Duke this time.

But the so-called misfortune does not come singly.

When Brans Finlisting was taken away, private guards from the Finlisting family returned the seriously injured beast and Furnes.

The situation of the beast is pretty good. His own skills are definitely in the golden realm. It was only because of his injuries that he was dragged by the dead men of the Void Darkblade. Of course, those dead men could not hold them for too long, but they died with them. Forgetting death's offense, the beast's body also added a lot of new wounds. Of course, this only seems to be serious, but in fact, as long as you rest for ten and a half days, you can basically heal.

Furnes is the real trouble.

As the most important combat power of the entire Finlisting family, it is also the guardian of the Finlisting family. The existence of Ferns is the guarantee of the Finlisting family. But at this moment, the guardian came back with a serious injury—almost half of his body was frozen into ice cubes. If it weren't for Furns' vindictiveness enough refined and strong, it was condensed by the power of divinity. The poison "Ice Age" is enough to kill it on the spot.

But even so, once Furnes's fighting spirit is exhausted and he can no longer suppress this poison, then his fate will probably be inevitable.

Seeing this scene, the elderly Karlovci directly fainted.

The entire Fenlisting family fell into a chaos in an instant.

However, in addition to the Finlistine family, if the loss is equally heavy, there is also the Cebalox family.

The main force of the Silent Mountain Legion was wiped out.

The Silent Mountain, known as the strongest heavy infantry regiment of Ryan, has always been the pride of the Cebalox family. Although according to the circulated news, only one army was destroyed, not the entire Silent Mountain Legion, so in the strict sense it cannot be regarded as the defeat of Silent Mountain, but only the true insider will know that it is destroyed. The army of the Silent Mountain Legion is the real main force, and the remaining 40,000 soldiers of the Silent Mountain Legion are just auxiliary troops.

The so-called auxiliary soldiers refer to soldiers including logistics, bulk, transportation, etc.

Although the combat effectiveness of the auxiliary troops of the Silent Mountains is much stronger than that of ordinary logistics troops, the auxiliary troops are only auxiliary troops after all. Therefore, the nobles who know something about the Cebalox family are very clear that the 10,000-person army of the Silent Mountain that was swallowed by the Thunder Lion is the real Silent Mountain. Therefore, even if many people now think that the name of Ryan's strongest heavy infantry cannot be changed because of this, after all, it is not a true silent mountain, and in the many wars in the southern theater of Darbion, it has been fully proved that the scale of 10,000 people has been reduced. The Lion of Thunder is almost invincible during the battle, so the result of such a war cannot deprive Silent Mountain of the title of "the strongest heavy infantry".

But for insiders like the Cebalox family, they couldn't be more clear.

Lane's name of the strongest heavy infantry, from that night on, no longer belonged to the Silent Mountains.

should belong to the steel wings.

Why?

Because the Thunder Lion is not a purely heavy infantry corps at all, but a mixed light and heavy infantry corps. Only the steel wings that are as famous as the Thunder Lion are the real heavy infantry regiments. And since the Iron Wing can be as famous as the Thunder Lion, and the Thunder Lion can wipe out the main force of the Silent Mountain, then the name of the strongest heavy infantry naturally falls on the head of the Iron Wing.

And the most important point is that this time the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance transported a group of slaves to the Void Nether. It is not a secret. Even the number is not hidden. There are a total of 30,000 Northland Barbarians and two. Human trafficking of ten thousand barbarians. As we all know, the Iron Wing is a legion composed purely of the Northern Barbarians. The arrival of these 30,000 Northern Barbarians is obviously for the expansion of the Iron Wing.

Once the training is completed, the steel wings will be a standard 50,000-thousand corps. Once such a heavy infantry corps appears on the battlefield, its deterrence is completely predictable. And now the news about the Void Nether's continuous conscription is also coming out from time to time, and there is no doubt that the Void Neck, which occupies a vast territory, is booming at a palpitating speed.

The Duke of Void's assassination plan failed, and all the nobles who participated in this conspiracy must be punished.

Perhaps, Michael Att, Marquis of Thornweed, and Roha Calci, one of the Seven Duke of Ryan, who did not explicitly come forward, could be spared. The Marquis of Foz Sebarox and the Dovigo family may both face cuts. Jue's heavy punishment. Moreover, they had to accept this punishment because it was a mediation from the royal family. If they did not refuse this punishment, then the royal family would sit on the sidelines, and then they would have to face the anger from the Void Duke alone.

This time, the attitude of the royal family has been very clear, that is, standing firmly behind the Void Duke, Sean Connery, instead of appearing as a bystander or mediator.

This can be seen from the non-stop mobilization and command of the Marquis of Floris. Of course, what is even more surprising is that Tonys Fortress actually opened the right of way to the three legions from the Nether Nether, allowing them to enter the hinterland of the kingdom all the way to complete the rendezvous with the Duke of Void.

This is already a completely undefended attitude.

When Sean and William joined together, Sean finally felt a sense of relief: "Fortunately, you are here."

"You have worked hard." William smiled, "This time, Hela and I were negligent, otherwise it would not have caused the situation to become like this."

"It's none of your business, it's the problem of the God Eye organization." Xiao En sighed, "Make more preparations. I estimate that next year, there will be a second release and adjustment of the rankings. Now we receive this. A copy is basically a draft.... The God Eye organization has never done such an oolong thing. I guess that if it hadn't been for the military  who had learned to put the God Eye organization together, even the God Eye organization would have been more prepared. Started to fish in troubled waters."

"It seems that next year should be choking." William laughed loudly. "However, many things on the territory are already scaled up. All we need is to make some simple adjustments and wait for Andre. The news will do."

"The Wildland?" Sean's eyes became a little deep, "It's been a year and a half... But before that, we still have to deal with the current affairs quickly.... Hitley is here. Is that right? Let her show Xuefanio quickly. There are Rina, Wigna, and Marton in the back who also need urgent treatment."

"Don't worry, everything is under control." William patted Sean on the shoulder, and then said, "Now Hitley is inspecting Xuefanio.... Dwight has also led the Scarlet Knights to respond. Rina and the others, so don't worry, they will be back in a few days. You have worked hard these days, let's take a break, we are now on the way back to Tonis Fortress, this time we will not make any stops. , I have returned to the territory directly, and Hela is also waiting for you to go back."

"Okay." Xiao En nodded, "This journey is indeed a bit hard. ... And, I am afraid there are still many things to deal with after I go back."

"Yes." William nodded. "Originally, Hela would also come here, but the people from the Heerson Institute arrived early. For this reason, Hela had to entertain those people first. And in a few days, Pan People from the Mainland Chamber of Commerce Alliance will also arrive at the Void Neck, and you will have to sign the handover work in the end."

Hearing William's words, Sean also nodded, but soon he remembered something, and hurriedly said: "By the way, you can send someone to the clan leader of Finlisting and look for a man named Han Pusen's people... He is the housekeeper I hired in Wangdu. The housekeeping and internal affairs skills are pretty good. If you leave it to Neil for training, you can quickly come in handy."

"Hampson?" William nodded, "I see, I will send a letter to Rupiah and let him take people to search and rescue."

Chapter 140: .Reorganization of the Legion

The morning sun shines through the huge French windows about three meters high.

Lying on the bed, Sean slowly opened his eyes, and the soreness in his body was transmitted to the brain through the sensory nerves, which made Sean let out a somewhat unpleasant groan. During the time when he ran away, Sean hardly got a chance to rest, and after returning to the territory, he forced his spirit to deal with a series of entertainments, including signing for merchandise from the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance, and Arrange the meeting between the academic masters of the Heerson Institute and the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance.

The advent of the teleportation magic circle is a general trend and a secret that cannot be hidden.

For those guys in the Temple of Wisdom, the advent of the teleportation magic circle can greatly increase the prestige and influence of the Temple of Wisdom, which is only good for them, but not harmful. As far as the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance is unprofitable and early, if they can take the patent for this technology from the Temple of Wisdom, then they can get huge profits from it, and at the very least they know what is needed to build a magic circle. The materials are enough for them to make a fortune.

However, this kind of negotiation is between the Return to the Mainland Chamber of Commerce Alliance and Heerson to study [Top][点] The story has nothing to do with Sean personally, so he naturally didn't bother to intervene. Of course, the most important thing is that the people from the Heerson Institute he knew did not come this time. It is said that they are conducting related and reporting new experiments at the headquarters, and Pachuli Boulder Then went to the Chenas Empire.

Although Sean does not know what the new experiment of the Heerson Institute is, but the reason why Paqiuli went to the Chenas Empire. Sean knew it.

Developed in accordance with the history of the time period, the next side of the South Continent should be entering the collision phase of magic and alchemy. In the process of this stage, because of the existence of Paqiuli. So the Southern Continent will soon become a holy land of alchemy, and the name "Free Creator" is also praised in the process. This is also the irreversible process of [Alchemist] and related derivative ranks are officially introduced into the player's professional system.

In the game, the occupations that players can find are not static. As the history of the game progresses, along with the occurrence of many historical events in the game, more and more occupations will become new occupations for players to choose from. Similarly, bloodline power, racial talent, mounts, pets, and many other things. It also gradually appeared as the time of the game's history progressed.

What Sean is thinking now is whether to train a few alchemists.

"Boom—Boom—"

A heavy and powerful knock on the door sounded.

Just listening to the voice, Sean knew who was coming: "Come in. William."

Pushing the door in, it was William in a formal suit.

In the void collar, William rarely wears formal clothes—so-called formal clothes are not suits such as evening gowns. It's a void-collar military dress designed by Sean and William. Usually William wears such clothes. It also means that there are more important guests.

Sean jumped off the bed, and then began to wash in the basin that had been prepared on the side: "Is there any new plan for the Lion of Thunder?"

It has been a full ten days since Sean and William reunited and returned to the Nether Nether smoothly. It was February 1876 in the miracle calendar, and it has been two since the "Duke of Void Assassination" moon. Except for the first few days after returning to the territory, Sean still stayed outside of Void City. After that, everything that should be handed over and interviews came to an end. Sean returned to the Black Swan Castle.

Xuefanio is still in a coma, but Hitley, the saint of the Church of Life, personally treats him to eradicate the abyssal toxins in his body. As well as some sequelae caused by the cast of Goddess, it is obvious that she will not stay asleep like this all the time. Of course, the goddess of Ice, Snow and Winter in Eswinter would not watch her son fall asleep like this, and if necessary, she would be awakened by forceful interference with divine power. The reason why it has not been done so far is just that it is unnecessary.

So Sean knew that when Xuefanio awoke, then the Void Lord would have a true sanctuary powerhouse.

Although it is only a lower-level sanctuary, [the priest with a knife], a sanctuary powerhouse who is exceptionally proficient in combat skills, has a combat power that is by no means comparable to that of ordinary lower-level sanctuary powerhouses. Coupled with a series of auras that Xuefanio possesses, such as saints, popes, high priests, etc., her true combat power is probably even more terrifying than the average low-level sanctuary peak powerhouse.

Don't forget, the goddess of ice and winter is an out-and-out war goddess.

In addition to Xuefanio, there is another trouble that has troubled Sean so far.

Thunder Lion Legion is scrapped again.

Even Sean has to admit that the Silent Mountain Legion is indeed very powerful. Perhaps many so-called "informers" now believe that even if the entire army of Silent Mountain is dispatched, it is impossible to win the dual combination of Steel Wings and Thunder Lion—in fact It is true. However, many people have overlooked one point. Wars are often not judged by whether the entire army is annihilated.

If the entire army of the 50,000 Silent Mountain Legion is dispatched, perhaps the final result will indeed be the annihilation of the 50,000 Silent Mountain Legion's soldiers, but Sean will also have to catch the Thunder Lion and the Iron Wing Legion. So can the final result be regarded as Sean's victory?

He doesn't want such a win.

It is not difficult to supplement the current source of Iron Wings. Counting the 30,000 northern barbarians transported by the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance, plus the current northern barbarians in the territory, it is still not difficult to form a 50,000 Iron Wing Legion. questionable. However, the level of the legion may drop to the level of the quasi-three level, and it will probably take a few fights and a year of training before it can return to the level of the fourth legion.

Each legion expansion and large-scale manpower replenishment will reduce the combat effectiveness of an army. This is an irreversible fact.

However, it is not an easy task to supplement the source of troops for the Thunder Lion.

This time fighting with Silent Mountain, not only Alfred was injured, but less than 2,000 of the 7,000 Thunder Lion soldiers survived the battle, and thousands of them were injured in different injuries. According to Hitley's treatment after the incident, at least 700 people would retire permanently, and another 300 or 400 people would need to rest for more than a year before they could return to the Legion. This was based on the premise that Sean was willing to spend a lot of gold coins for them. .

Today's Thunder Lion, there are only less than four thousand people left.

Although those 15,000 barbarians can be incorporated into the Thunder Lion, this is also equivalent to the Thunder Lion's complete re-organization, so it will become a first-level legion again. By then, the efforts of the past two years or more It's all gone. Such a result is not what Sean wanted, so so far, even if nearly a month has passed, the Thunder Lion has not carried out any reorganization or reorganization.

"First draw five thousand savages into the Lion of Thunder." William knew Sean's concerns and thoughts, although he didn't know that adding 15,000 savages into the Lion of Thunder would cause the Lion of Thunder to become a first class. Legion, but as an excellent commander and commander, he is very aware of the consequences of doing this. "First, let the size of the Thunder Lion return to the level of 10,000. The previous conscription in the territory almost emptied the future. Three years of manpower, so it is unrealistic to get a quick manpower replenishment in a short period of time."

"I know too." Sean thought for a while, and found that there is really no good way. "Then let Fred recover, and then let him recover the five thousand barbarians."

Alfred was also injured after the battle with the Silent Mountain Legion. Although the injury is not serious, it is impossible to participate in any battle again in a short time. If the barbarian is included in the Thunder Lion at this time, it will only This led to a power struggle within the legion. So no matter what, he must wait for Alfred to heal from his injury, and replenish the source of troops in the presence of his legion commander, and let him surrender the unruly barbarians.

"Where are the other ten thousand barbarians?" Sean asked.

"I'm going to be incorporated into the Jet Black Wings Corps." William explained, "The dark wings will also be expanded. This legion will become our secret weapon. So if it remains only 10,000 people in the future, it will be largely in the future. It can only be reduced to a foil army, which is a bit wasteful."

"Has the type of legion decided?" Shaun asked again, "The jet black wings are now a heavy infantry type legion."

"It's decided, the heavy army." William nodded, "Our territory lacks a heavy cavalry. We have found a relatively stable supplier for war horses, and we can even start to build a horse farm. So pitch black wings. I plan to train into a heavy armored regiment, a combination of heavy infantry and heavy cavalry....The previous 10,000 soldiers with dark wings have been trained, and then I only need to train their riding and cavalry abilities, and the new The 10,000 barbarians who joined can also be nurtured in the direction of heavy infantry."

"It's really good." Xiao En nodded, "Anyway, I don't understand these things very well, so I will be responsible for all of them."

"I know." William smiled, "But, don't you plan to ask who I am here?"

"You don't need to ask me to know." Sean smiled, and the smile on his face looked unusually confident. "Calculating the time, the Marquis of Flores should almost come over. Bring our respected King's information about the previous one. The solution to the matter."

"Indeed." William nodded, "However, only the Marquis of Floris is alone."

"Oh?" Sean raised his brow.