

Lord of War Vol 3-141

Chapter 141: .Ryan's Compensation [Three more monthly tickets]

After Xiao En took over, the Black Swan Castle has undergone five refurbishments. Although it cannot be said to be reconstruction, it has basically been overthrown and rebuilt in many places. However, the only thing that has not undergone any rectification is the underground structure of the Black Swan Castle.

Here is the lair of Hina Worst and her Crypt Spider Queen—the soldiers who are in charge of guarding the Black Swan Castle, call this place an ice nest.

Of course, Hina will definitely not sleep in this kind of place. She has a room of her own in the Black Swan Castle, and she has been systematically trained by Rena before. After receiving the power feedback from the Crypt Spider Queen, she has a room of her own. Hina's personal strength has also been steadily improving. Although she is only fourteen years old, she already has the strength of the lower bronze, which is considered a category of genius in some respects.

Moreover, this Crypt Cold Spider Queen has also begun to lay eggs in the ground. Since Hina signed a contract with the Crypt Cold Spider Queen, it has been more than a year now, just in time for the first time of the Crypt Cold Spider Queen. Egg stage.

The so-called first egg stage is the first egg laying by the Crypt Cold Spider Queen. The Crypt Cold Spiders hatched from these [顶][点] eggs have stronger combat effectiveness than the Crypt Cold Spiders born later. Their duties are similar to the existence of the Queen's Guard, so they are looking for food later. In terms of things like that, these Crypt Cold Spider Guards will not take action, they will only attack enemies that threaten the Crypt Cold Spider Queen.

Basically, every crypt spider guard possesses the strength of level six monsters, that is, the combat power of the lower level gold.

Now. Most people no longer approach the "Ice Nest" at will, because even if Hina and the Crypt Spider Queen are restrained and suppressed, there is no guarantee that no one will perform some weird behaviors. And once the Crypt Cold Spider Guard is judged to be threatening. Then they will attack immediately, with the power of the sixth-level beast, even if Xina and the Crypt Cold Spider Queen want to stop it, it is definitely too late.

So, William and Neal both issued clear orders to the people in the Black Swan Castle, prohibiting anyone from going to the ice nest.

Over time, newcomers to the Black Swan Castle. I didn't know that there was a special place called the Ice Nest under this old castle.

Like the Marquis of Floris, even if his personal strength is very strong, he still hasn't found what is hidden under the ancient castle. In his eyes. There is no difficulty in attacking the Black Swan Castle at all. Even if he is only given a small force of only about a hundred people, he also has several different tactics to take down the castle in one day, of course, the premise is the castle guard. The strength is also around a hundred people.

Think of this. Sitting in the conference room of the Black Swan Castle, the Marquis of Flores gave a wry smile: "Occupational disease."

A knock on the door sounded.

interrupted the divergent thinking of the Marquis of Floris.

I opened the door and entered. It was Sean, and there was no one else behind him.

"My Lord Duke." After seeing Sean enter the door, the Marquis of Flores hurriedly got up and said.

"Master Flores, you are welcome, we are all so familiar." Sean smiled, speeded up his pace and walked to the side of the conference table. He did not choose to sit opposite the Marquis of Flores, but next to him. Seated at the nearest location. To some extent, this can indeed show Sean's attitude.

At this moment. He still doesn't want to break with the Kingdom of Lane.

"Regarding your encounter with the Finistering clan this time, His Majesty the King is very worried, so I am here to express condolences to you." The Marquis of Flores thought that Sean was so young, and he would definitely meet him at this time. He was furious with what happened to him, and he even prepared several sets of rhetoric for this, but when he saw Sean behave so calmly, the heart of the Marquis of Flores sank.

He has dealt with Sean more than once, so he has a basic grasp of Sean's character. If Sean is angry, then it can at least show that he did not take this matter to heart, and there are at least many ways to appease Sean. But once Sean showed a calm attitude, it proved that this matter had been completely included in his priority, which proved that it was obviously impossible to smooth out this matter simply.

"Thank you, Your Majesty, for me." Shaun replied politely, "Master Flores, regarding the things we mentioned in the King Capital before, I have prepared five thousand barbarians, this time you leave. You can take it away at the time. I will arrange the relevant guards to accompany you and take care of your safety on the road."

Hearing Sean say this, the Marquis of Flores finally sighed helplessly.

After a moment of silence, the marquis said: "Your Excellency Shaun, I am really sorry for the previous situation, but His Majesty the King did not expect that the Fenlisting family would do such a frantic thing. Wait until we know. In the event of the situation, it has been stopped as quickly as possible.... At present, all the personnel involved have been arrested as long as they have real evidence."

Hearing what Floris said, Sean took a deep look at each other, and then sighed: "I also know the difficulty of His Majesty the King. In fact, I did not blame His Majesty the King or the Kingdom of Ryan. When I learned about the actions of His Majesty the King, I did breathe a sigh of relief. Regardless of the considerations, this is indeed something I must be grateful for. Otherwise, I am afraid that I will not be able to leave the control of the Fenlisting family. The clan has taken it."

Shaun himself also guessed afterwards that a man who has been in perfect control of his territory for hundreds of years, and even the surrounding territory has been infiltrated and controlled, he does not think that he can really break through the siege so easily. Even if there is all the Void Realm dispatched and tacit cooperation, this is destined to be a tragic and * road. If there is no infiltration and assistance from a larger force behind it, Sean would not believe it anyway.

So, the only explanation is that the Marquis of Floris got a nod from King Ryan, so he spared no effort to help.

"Your Majesty's decision has been made." The Marquis of Floris said softly, and then took out a clerical document from his arms. Handed it to Sean, "The Finlisting family will be reduced to the title and retain the title of hereditary viscount. The vassal will be moved to the north. The Dovigo family will be deprived of the title of nobility, become a commoner, and banned. The next three generations of descendants received the title. As for the Cebrox family, the title remains unchanged, but the title will be reduced to a hereditary earl."

For a noble family, lowering the title is not a terrible punishment, anyway, as long as there is war. Then there will always be a chance to move forward. But once you are forced to ask for a change in the affiliation, then this punishment can be very serious-of course, it may also be due to the loss of the war in a private war. And need to pay for the Fengyi that he has worked so hard for many years.

The Dovigo family was revoked the title of nobility and demoted to civilians. This was indeed a great punishment, more serious than the Fenlistine family was forced to change the fiefdom. There are even three generations of descendants who cannot obtain the title. This is tantamount to announcing that the Dovigo family will never even think about mixing in the Kingdom of Lane. Basically, it is no different from the exile of the Dovigo family, but doing so is only slightly better in name.

As for why the Cebrox family's punishment is so light, Sean is also understandable. After all, Silent Mountain still has a scale of forty thousand people. With such a solid team, it takes some time to train again. A silent mountain range came, of course, the title of "Ryan's Strongest Heavy Infantry Corps" would definitely not be able to keep. And when he thought of this, Sean was a little envious of these nobles with a solid foundation.

"I see." Sean nodded slightly. Expressing acceptance of this result, in fact, the punishment for these hostile families is severe. It was already in Sean's expectation, but before he discussed with Hela and others, he probably needed to protest by himself, but he didn't expect that he hadn't said anything yet, who claimed to be second only to Ryan in history. The wise king of the first King Ryan made such a move.

In terms of comforting people's hearts, it is truly unmatched.

But the next moment, Sean's eyes fell on the document pushed by the Marquis of Floris.

"This is another gift for you." Floris emphasized the word "you" in addressing Sean, which made Sean's face a bit of surprise.

For a long time, the communication between Sean and Floris has been polite to each other, but they have never been polite to this level. So Xiao En, with some doubts, tore open the flame paint on the file bag and took out a few pieces of paper inside.

This is a duplicate contract document, or a standard magic contract, that is to say, it is an official document approved by the contract god. Once you sign this document, it means that both parties will act in accordance with this contract document in the future.

But what really stunned Sean was the words printed on the front of the contract document.

Void Principality Project.

"This is..." Xiao En looked down and found that on the contract document, the King of Ryan Ingus Ryan had already signed his name.

"This is another compensation from His Majesty the King." Marquis Floris smiled, "Congratulations to Your Excellency Shaun, I will call you Grand Duke Void from now on."

"Grand Duke Void..." Xiao En looked at the contract document in his hand with a bit of astonishment. He did not expect that King Ryan would give him such a big gift, which is equivalent to saying that he completely approved Xiao En. All autonomous actions on the territory include the construction and scale of the army, currency issuance, tax adjustments, trade import and export adjustments, and various laws that can be completely determined by oneself.

As long as Sean signs a name on this contract, then besides paying a certain amount of sacrifice to the Kingdom of Lane every year, he can do whatever he wants, even if he launches military operations against the Nobles of Lane. , And from then on, it has not been commanded and ordered by the Kingdom of Lion at all!

Void Duchy.

This development seems to be much faster than Sean expected.

Chapter 142: .Void Duchy

How long does it take from being a civilian to becoming a duchy?

No one knew the answer until February 9, 1876 in the miracle calendar. But after this day, there was an answer.

Miraculous Lord, Lord Void, Sean Connery, it took less than three years to prove one thing to the entire Marvel Continent: It only took less than three years to go from a commoner to the Grand Duke of the Principality.

This kind of feat can be regarded as a miracle even if it cannot be said to be a great feat.

But the real discerning person knows very well that this kind of feat of Void Grand Duke Sean Connery cannot be imitated at all.

The strong, famous generals, and the army are indispensable.

Even if you have these, you still need extremely powerful opportunities and a keen olfactory judgment that is almost abnormal.

The so-called prophecy is said to be one of the three creation-level artifacts in the dawn of dawn.

The last time I heard this rumor was thousands of years ago.

It is said that the Zenas Empire relied on this scripture when it was founded. Later, as the foundation scripture of the country, the prophecy has been kept in the secret sanctuary of Zenus Empire. However, thousands of years ago, a very serious theft occurred in the Chenas Empire, and the prisoner has not been caught yet. The stolen thing is said to be this prophecy. It is precisely because of this theft case that the Miracle Continent has the "prophecy" this legendary method. It is said that countless large forces and organizations have been involved in this case. Only now that thousands of years have passed, the whereabouts of this prophecy is still a mystery.

Sean didn't know whether the story of the prophecy was true or false, anyway, he hadn't heard of this in the game. But what he knows very well is that once this statement is confirmed, then his void Principality will not have a peaceful day. By then, all kinds of mixed characters will definitely appear, and now it is still very immature. Principality of the Void. Can not withstand the visits of these sanctuary and legendary figures one by one.

So, Sean naturally denied this, claiming that he had never heard of prophecy or anything. It's just this claim. Of course, he can't speak out blatantly, but through the secret activities of the Void Realm, spread out in the form of grapevine news, as to how to add oil and jealousy. Even later it became "If Grand Duke Void really had this prophecy. He is the Emperor of Void, how could it be?" Xiao En completely ignored the statement.

Right now, he still has a lot of trouble to deal with.

As for the choreography of the Lion of Thunder, Sean can just throw it directly to William to be responsible.

As for the territorial issues, Sean does not need to pay special attention. Basically, Neil has arranged everything in an orderly manner, and most things have been on track. Even if it is now upgraded to a duchy, it is just making some new laws. As for the use of currency. Sean decided to use the unified Millennium Coin.

is also the official currency of the Millennium Covenant Empire, which is consistent with the pan-continental currency unit issued by the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce Alliance.

For the rest, Sean only needs to know one about it.

So after the discussion in the morning, Sean went to visit Alfred, Rena and others.

Old Fred was accompanied by Hina. This little girl is now more and more slim, and she will grow up to be at least an alluring beauty in the future. In addition to learning martial arts with Rina, Hina also learned related aristocratic etiquette from the etiquette. After all, Alfred is now a marquis, and Hina, the daughter of the marquis, of course also These noble etiquettes must be understood.

In addition to Alfred's promotion to the nobility, Rena, William, Neal, and Hela also received the titles of Marquis. And Hela has restored Garcia's family name instead of using the Nugus family name. It's just that Hela has not joined in the current affairs of the Void Duchy. She borrowed it from William. The realm of the void is fully investigating the current survivors of the Garcia family.

In addition to the Marquis, Anno and Klov gained the title of earl. At the same time, Anno was also the first Northland barbarian to obtain the title of nobility on the whole wonderland.

Among the remaining people, including Thain, Dwight, Aldorf, Stalin, Knok, Soma, etc., all received the title of Viscount. Although this title is lower than Anno, the northern barbarian who has always been despised by the various races on the Marvel Continent, no one in the Void Principality thinks that this kind of title reward is wrong, after all, whether it is merit or right. Before the Void Collar and in Sean's following time, all of them were inferior to Anno.

As for the division of feudal fiefs, because the previous changes to the Void Nation only allowed nine people to receive the award at most, it should be reasonable that the five marquis each received a county as a fief, but in William and Neil, Hela Under the proposal of the three giants of the void, the fief did not carry out large-scale distribution and rewards, and still adopted the previous management mode of the void.

Of course, this behavior is indeed a violation of the basic principles of nobility.

However, considering the future plan for the Northern Expedition, the territorial issues do not need to be worried at all.

After visiting Alfred and knowing that Alfred had no problems, Sean turned to visit Venia, Marton and Rena. In this regard, Sean found something quite subtle. That is, the two tribes that were supposed to be enemies of the world, but it seems that because of the King Capital Demon Incident and the experience of the subsequent escape route, these two tribes The highland elves no longer had the same hostility they had before.

Although they haven't formally chatted with each other, they are still very happy to help each other with a small favor-such as handing a glass of water, sharing fruit or food, etc. But the only thing is a pity. Because of the race and physique of these two people, the influence of Abyssal Toxin on them was much deeper than that of Rena, so that even after Hitley spent a lot of grace to rescue them. It will take several months for these two guys to completely cure them.

As for Rena, this woman who is too strong to explain with common sense, she basically recovered on the third day after receiving Hitley's emergency treatment. Even when Sean checked Rina's personal attributes again, she actually had a new saving throw [Intermediate Abyss Resistance], which allowed her to get better when facing creatures and environments with abyssal toxins in the future. Substantial exemption. Even if she was unfortunately recruited, she wouldn't be able to be weakened by a large margin like now.

Know that, under normal circumstances, there are only legendary powerhouses who have entered and exited the abyss and the plane of * many times. It is possible to obtain this resistance exemption.

But Rena is just a half-step sanctuary-well, in fact, she can be considered a lower sanctuary now, of course after the half-dragon personification. If it is completely dragonized. The combat power will directly soar to the level of the pinnacle of the lower sanctuary. But in any case, Rina's strength increase is still the fastest and the most terrifying among all the followers of Sean.

The only problem at the moment is that Sean does not know how to train the dragon knight, nor can he provide Rina with a real dragoon.

This is a big regret after all, because it also means that Rina has never been able to fight with Black Rock perfectly. The so-called Holy Dragon Knight is just a joke after all, and the two of them still fight separately. Each. In this way. Blackstone's strength could not be further improved either, so Rina could not become a true sanctuary powerhouse after all. Can only rely on the Dragon Humanization of blood to increase combat power.

But anyway, the Void Principality has two sanctuary powerhouses, even if they are only the lower sanctuary, it is enough to form a deterrent to those who have bad intentions.

And the strong above the middle sanctuary, usually most of them will not appear so easily, even if they do, they will rarely use force to solve the problem. At this point, just looking at King Ryan's entire Seventh Avenue now in ruins, it is not difficult to know how amazing the destructive power erupted from the battle of the Sanctuary powerhouse. Even in the trading capital where "gold is like a dog, and the sanctuary is everywhere", it is difficult to see the powerhouses at the peak of the middle sanctuary, let alone those upper sanctuary.

Not all sanctuary powerhouses will honestly stay in one place, and only those who have no hope of breaking through higher levels of strength will they become the powerhouses in the eyes of all forces. The sanctuary powerhouses who are ambitious, but also have enough strength and self-confidence, continue to travel far to hone their skills and seek opportunities to break through to a higher level. Some upper-level sanctuary powerhouses and legendary powerhouses, even Will travel and explore between planes.

Not all strong people are willing to become gods.

And Rina, she is different from Xuefanio. As long as the latter prays with peace of mind, as long as the goddess of Ice and Snow and Winter does not fall for a day, she can continue to improve her strength until the day when she becomes the legendary pinnacle powerhouse. But if Rina wants to break through the shackles of strength, then she needs to continue to hone her martial skills, and the best way for this kind of training is naturally to take risks and stay alone to become a commander-in-chief, then Rina The speed of the strength improvement will be much slower.

Of course, Rina and Xuefanio are different in the way of strength improvement, and the achievements they can obtain in the future are also different. The goddess of ice and winter will not allow the existence of subordinates that threaten their status, so if Xuefanio is unwilling to become the goddess of the goddess of ice and winter in the future, then her highest limit in the future is the fifteenth order, which is also Legend pinnacle The greatest peak that a strong man can reach.

And Xuefanio, because she is relying on her own efforts to improve her strength, then she is likely to succeed in entering the ranks of the super strong-that is, the ranks of the sixteenth. The existence of this class basically already has the capital to kill the gods and the apostles. If they are promoted to the seventeenth rank, they also have the ability to invade the weak gods and gods, which is enough to threaten the weak gods. Survival.

Although Sean could not inquire specific information and data about Andrew and others, he guessed that Andrew and others were at least a twentieth-order horror.

This data only exists in the theoretical speculations of the party and the data party in the original game. Anyway, the peak NPC officially announced in the game was only a 15th-tier legendary peak powerhouse. This was the fourth expansion when the opponent came out. It was at that time that the players knew the original twelve. Tier is not the final tier of the game. It was also at that time that it was discovered that there were super powers of Tier 16 above the original Tier 15.

Of course, the existence after the sixteenth level is all speculated by the players themselves.

After patrolling the Black Swan Castle as usual, Xiao En went back to his study along the same path. He had to take out the plan of the Northern Expedition within today, because the empty leader behind-now it should be said to be the empty principality. A series of matters are waiting for his Beizheng plan to appear before making a decision.

However, when Sean pushed open the door of the study, he was stunned.

Because of an unexpected guest, unexpectedly appeared in front of him.

Chapter 143: .visitor

Plain text online reading of this site domain name Mobile phone synchronization reading please visit

"Do you have a prophecy?"

The uninvited guest in Xiao En's study saw Xiao En open the door and asked straightforwardly.

Xiao En looked at the person in front of him with a bit of amazement, and after a long time he finally had to accept the fact that the other party did exist, and he even sneaked into his study without knowing it. You know, in today's Black Swan Castle, there are a large group of powerful people, including Rina, a quasi-sanctuary powerhouse, as well as Venia and Marton. Although they have not recovered from their injuries, At least there are strong players in the golden realm.

More importantly, the guard force of the Black Swan Castle today is no better than before.

Although there are only one hundred and fifty people stationed here, but this soldier named the Black Swan Guard by William, everyone is the strongest drawn from the various legions under Sean, and almost everyone has it. Can be close to the combat power of decathlon. With just these one hundred and fifty people, they can already face a low-ranking golden peak powerhouse. You must know that if you convert it into an army's combat power, this is the strength of a quasi-fifth level army.

Uniform special full-body heavy armor, standard weapons are long-handled battle axe, heavy broadsword, fine iron heavy gun, the off-hand standard is the impact shield, one-handed knight sword, the spare standard is the effective shooting distance of 300 meters, which can be easily The strong arm warbow that penetrates the chain mail and the special three-sided barbed armor-piercing arrow.

The Marquis of Floris said that giving him the same size of force can capture the Black Swan Castle, but that is based on the premise that the soldiers guarding the Black Swan Castle are only regular troops. With the sturdy combat power of the Black Swan Guard. And multi-ethnic mixing, unless the Marquis of Floris is given a thousand-man Grey Wolf Blade-level army, he can hope to win the Black Swan Castle.

but. There is no difference between this kind of win and bloodbath.

But all of this, but nothing can be said about the person in front of Sean.

Although there is a gap in realm strength, when he saw this scene with his own eyes, Sean was still a little helpless.

"Do you believe in the rumors?" Looking at the person in front of him, Xiao En sighed helplessly, "If I really had something like a prophecy book, I would not be an emperor now. I would be an emperor. ...I am afraid that the eighth empire on the Marvel Continent will also be born."

"Tell the truth." Hearing what Shaun said, the person who came up and down looked at Shaun. Then he said in a deep voice, "I think if it were you, maybe it could really create the eighth empire on the mainland."

"If I really want to start, will you agree?"

"No." Without hesitation, he denied this kind of question which can be said to be tentative. "Once the eighth empire appears, the situation on the mainland will surely cause large-scale changes. Unless it is the inevitable development of current events, the Peace Association will not allow the birth of the eighth empire."

Sean shrugged, and did not continue to argue with the other party on this issue: "Speaking of which, I haven't congratulated you yet.... Congratulations on your formal entry into the sanctuary and becoming a silver-robed executive officer. From the death thorn side. Is the matter resolved?"

"It is indeed one of the five core lairs of the Deadthorn Organization. Thanks to the information you provided. So our raid plan was very successful. This is a major success of epoch-making significance. I also learned the law in this battle. And the power of the domain, successfully broke through the limit and entered the ranks of the sanctuary. From a certain point of view, I really have to thank you well, but thank you, thank you, this time I am here not just to thank you. ."

The person here is Christina F. Fisher, the silver-robed executive officer of the Peace Association, a bug-level existence that integrates arcane, alchemy, and martial arts.

Take advantage of the gap between Christina's words. Sean poured a glass of sparkling wine for the two of them-a drink similar to Champagne in the Earth Federation era. Of course, he also secretly opened his true eyes to Christina. I just didn't expect it under this look. Sean almost dropped both cups of fruit wine with a trembling hand.

"What's going on?" The sanctuary powerhouse possesses extremely astonishing intuition, almost no need to look at it. At this moment, Kristina felt the shock in Sean's heart, "What are you shocking?"

"I just fought a demon god, and there are still some abyssal toxins in my body that have not been processed, so in fact I don't have the strength of a golden powerhouse as I seem to be on the surface." Sean handed a glass of sparkling wine to Chris Tina swallowed cautiously at the same time, "The power you radiated just now was a bit shocking to me. This is the reason for my heart shock."

"I'm sorry." Christina was stunned for a moment, and then she said, "It hasn't been long before I advanced, and now I can't control my power perfectly."

Sean didn't say anything about this issue. He knew very well that Kristina's ability would of course not be able to control his own power like she said. In fact, Sean was shocked that Christina had actually won the extremely rare and special sanctuary title: The Fearless.

The minimum standard for obtaining this title is that the person who is entrusted must have the strength of a sanctuary powerhouse, and his own will attribute must reach the mark of two hundred and fifty points. This title can make the holder immune to almost all magical influences and damages of the soul energy system except the soul type, and any damage skills that require determination of will attributes can be completely exempted, including some illusionists and other rank promotions. The domain ability controlled after arriving in the sanctuary.

If it's just that, it's not too much. But the problem lies in the fact that the title of Fearless can also improve the melee ability of the holder, and over time, the effect of this ability will also get a greater increase.

To put it simply, if Kristina and her enemies have exactly the same strength, attacking each other can cause one hundred points of damage to each other, but for every additional hour of fighting time, Kristina will be added because of the title of fearless. Success gains ten points of damage increase, but her opponent may drop ten points of damage due to physical exhaustion. In other words, the final combat damage may become 110:100 or 110:90.

Fight a protracted battle with Christina, who has the fearless. Only people with pitfalls can do this.

As for a quick fight?

Christina, who integrates alchemy, arcane arts, and powerful personal martial arts, Sean really can't think of anyone who can suppress her in the same level. Rina, who is completely draconic, can only be tied with Christina, and if the fighting time is prolonged, even Rina will gradually be at a disadvantage until it is completely defeated.

The Peace Association has cultivated such a monster, how can Sean not tremble?

"You said you didn't make a special trip to thank me this time. Why did you come here?" Sean took the topic lightly. He was determined not to provoke Kristina unless necessary. If possible, it is best not to see such a dangerous person in the future.

"I'm here to monitor you."

"Puff!" Sean directly sprayed out the frothy wine in his mouth, and at the same time there was a very violent cough, "Cough...cough cough, you, what did you just say?"

"I'm here to monitor you. You have been included in the high-risk list by the Peace Association." Christina took a deep look at Sean, and then continued, "Because your growth rate is so fast. It took you more than two years from the baron to today's Void Grand Duke. If I hadn't had contact with you before, I would definitely think that you have a prophecy.... At present, the Peace Association believes that if you let you go. If you continue to develop freely, it is likely to cause major changes in the layout of the entire continent. Therefore, yesterday, the Tianping House passed the order of surveillance and protection with four votes in favor and three votes against it."

Tianping House, the highest authority within the Peace Association. Almost all orders concerning the Peace Association are issued by the Tianping House. Harmonious Tianping is the armed forces directly under the Tianping House. The seven mysterious existences called the Peace Sages are in control of the entire Libra House. The specific operation mode is to appear in the form of proposals, and then the seven Peace Sages will vote, because there is no abstention. The existence of, therefore, all decisions of the Tianping House can only be passed or not passed.

But what Shaun cares about is not that. What he really cares about is the phrase "surveillance protection" said by Christina.

"What do you mean by surveillance and protection?" Xiao En asked in a deep voice.

Kristina explained: "Because of the prophecy."

Xiao En's face instantly became exciting: "How can anyone believe this stuff!"

"I have already said that if it were not for my previous contact with you, I would definitely think that you have a prophecy." Kristina said lightly, "but I know you don't, and it doesn't mean that other people are also You will know. Even if you try to separate the relationship yourself, for many people, they will only think that you are in a guilty conscience.... And organizations that have shown great enthusiasm for the prophecy include Deaththorn and the Temple of Shadows. , The Priory, the Book Association, etc."

Almost every time Christina utters a name, Sean's face gets darker.

However, if Deaththorn, the Temple of Shadows, and Sean of the Priory can not care too much, then it is impossible for Sean to care about the organization of the Book Association. Because the big boss behind this organization is a lich that has survived since the Ash Age. Its first appearance was at the end of the fourth expansion. With a powerful presence of Tier 15, it directly killed a head I don't know where it came from. The ancient dragon, and then began to dissect the dragon in front of millions of players, and unceremoniously took more than 90% of the spoils.

If, as Christina said, if he is targeted by the Book Association, an organization with almost the same attributes as the Heerson Institute, Sean really doesn't know how to feel.

Chapter 144: .Northern Campaign

"So you stayed to protect me?" Shaun glanced at Christina.

Although he asked in this way, he actually didn't think that the people of the Peace Association would be so kind. These lunatics suddenly appeared next to him, and they must be plotting against him. Maybe, just use yourself as a bait, ready to surprise Deaththorn and the Temple of Shadows. Although this approach made Sean a little uncomfortable, but on the other hand, his safety was indeed guaranteed. At least there was no need to worry about being inexplicably killed by the powerhouses such as Deaththorn and Shadow Temple.

"I will be responsible for your safety, but I will not intervene in any disputes between nobles and nations. I will only deal with those who have the idea of prophecy." Christina said, "And, I will not follow. By your side, I will be responsible for protecting you from the dark.... Don't forget, I have another mission, which is to monitor you."

"Okay, I see." Sean doesn't need to ask, but also knows why the people of the Peace Association are monitoring him.

Since they are all included in the high-risk list, it also means that from this moment the name Sean Connery is officially = top = point = novel = appearing on the list of all silver-robed performers of the Peace Association. When necessary, even more damaging existences such as the golden robe executive officer or peace messenger of Harmonious Tianping will be dispatched. And entering this list also means that the madmen of the Peace Association already think that they have the ability to change the landscape of the mainland-although in a way, that is true, but the feeling of being targeted is still Not very pleasant.

For the organization of the Peace Association, maintaining the stability of the Miracle Continent is their greatest responsibility.

so. The so-called surveillance naturally hopes to prevent Sean from turning out a bigger storm.

It's just that Sean is obviously not a good boy, he will not obediently obey the peace association. At least for the Northern Expedition Plan, it is impossible for Sean to give up. Even if the Jinpao executives or peace messengers were sent to stop this, Sean would not compromise, and the big deal would be a fight with the Peace Association.

Anyway, he has a hand that can be used-at least in dealing with the Peace Association.

After conveying her mission, Christina didn't seem to have the need to stay. After she and Sean told each other, she actually walked along the corridor outside the study. And along the way, all the black swan guards along the way turned a blind eye to her. Now Sean finally knew how the woman got in.

Surgery enchantment.

This woman, as always, knows how to use her own advantages.

And the special existence of the new type of magical barrier, the magical fluctuations are very slight. Seeing Kristina's appearance, it is obviously a special barrier that refracts light and perceives. It should be a kind of illusion, so it can walk as if entering no man's land. However, if you hit it head-on, you will still be discovered, after all, it is only the perception of outsiders that is eliminated. Its actual physical existence is still real.

But see this. Also firmed up Sean's idea of looking for a few alchemists.

Because just as only magicians can detect magic fluctuations, only alchemists can distinguish and sense the weak magic fluctuations of alchemy.

"Perhaps the woman Paqiuli would be happy to recommend a few alchemists to me to fill the vacancies in my lineup." Sean rubbed his chin, thinking, "It seems necessary to write a letter to that woman. ."

In a way, Sean and the Boulder family are now considered to be allies, and Paqiuli is also the daughter of the old Boulder, although the relationship between father and daughter does not seem to be very good-thinking of this, Sean found It seems that few of the old Duke Hatch's direct blood relatives have a better relationship with him. But this is a family affair after all, and Sean is really hard to ask anything. But no matter how you say it. Xiao En felt that Pa Qiuli, the second-second girl, could still be saved, at least there were a lot of mutual benefits for both sides.

And Sean was a person who just thought of it, so he quickly wrote a letter to Pa Qiuli.

Faced with a shrewd woman like Paqiuli with some neurotic attributes, Sean did not intend to talk too much nonsense, and simply wrote out his purpose, and of course he also proposed that he would give a certain return. As a bait to lure this shrewd woman into being deceived, Sean wrote an alchemy-of course he did not understand the programming structure of alchemy, but he had never seen alchemy in the game in the previous life, so he can fully understand the performance and effect of alchemy. Write it out and use it as an inspiration to stimulate Pa Qiuli.

However, he can't write the complete performance, it is enough to start Paqiuli to remember.

After finishing all these tasks, Xiao En took out a confidential file, unsealed it, and pulled out a map from it.

This map is the topographic map of the barren land that Andre and others have detected since the recent period. On this map, there are relatively clear and detailed data on the distribution and comprehensive strength of the various tribes, but even this only detected about one-thirtieth of the entire wild land. It is necessary to make a thorough and complete investigation, not to mention that it is impossible, the time spent is to be measured in ten years.

This is not what Shaun wanted.

While checking the data on this map, Sean took out the plan that William, Hela, and Neal had negotiated during the recent period and started to compare.

The so-called Northern Expedition Plan is actually not the real Northern Expedition. It is just that Sean truncated the follow-up plan of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance's first and last snake plan.

What he really wants is the black soil located in the southeast area of the Millennium Covenant Empire.

This is a vast area of black soil, almost equivalent to the territory of the three void duchys today. Anyone who can purify this area can immediately obtain the equivalent of a small kingdom. The Thousand-Year Covenant Empire has always wanted to bring this black soil back to order, and even prepared fire for thousands of years ago, but the campaign that has lasted for hundreds of years has never succeeded. Moreover, during the last battle two hundred years ago, the fire was extinguished, and it was only then that he completely gave up the idea of returning this piece of land.

For this black land. Sean has unparalleled eagerness.

Because this black soil is one of the six sacred places in the whole wonderland.

Utopia, also known as the "ideal township of the earth".

Its history can be traced back to the Ashes, and it is also the last refuge left by the gods to the sons of the people at the end of the twilight era. But it is a pity that this shelter was eventually eroded by darkness.

Sean still remembers that it took the president of their guild a full half a year before leading the entire guild's five elite groups to conquer this dungeon copy and successfully ignited the fire of order. Let this black soil return to the brilliance of order. Of course, the strongest player among the players at that time was only Tier 11, and this dungeon was Tier 12 dungeon. The difficulty of the strategy is naturally not small, which is why the millennium covenant empire has been unable to overcome it.

After all, NPCs are not the same as players. Players can be resurrected if they die. Those NPCs are really dead if they die. But with today's methods. If Sean died. That is also really dead, so in essence, he does not have any special advantages, and it can even be said that he is not as powerful and rich as the Millennium Covenant Empire.

But the only advantage is that Sean, who has attacked this dungeon once, still remembers the weaknesses of the dungeon boss and other points that need attention. Perhaps this is one of his few advantages.

So if he really wants to conquer this dungeon, Sean feels it is necessary for him to form an adventurous team. Because this copy of "The Lost Paradise of the Devil" doesn't mean that there are more people. This is also the truth that Xiao En's guild group was destroyed after more than ten times. And the most ideal battle plan is a perfect match team of about ten people, of course, the minimum rank requirement for all members is the tenth rank.

If there is an eleventh order. That is naturally more perfect, if it is a twelfth level, then the difficulty will be reduced by at least half.

It's just that Sean doesn't think this idea is realistic.

Because the twelfth rank is a legendary existence, even if it is on the entire miracle continent today, there will be no more than thirty people who have reached the twelfth rank and have not continued to travel. It can be imagined from this, what kind of concept is this ten legendary powerhouses of the twelfth rank? As for the high-ranking Sanctuary powerhouses of Tier 11, although the number is naturally much larger than the legendary powerhouses, Sean doesn't feel that he has any qualifications to invite them, as long as these people are not preparing to break through the legends. Yes, they must be the guests of the big powers and empires, because Sean is just a small principality, so he is not qualified to talk to them.

So in a short period of time, Sean will not consider the final stage of the Northern Expedition Plan for the time being. What he currently has to consider is the second and third phases of the Northern Expedition Plan.

The so-called second stage is to completely consolidate the defenses of the entire strait rift, prevent enemies who may attack from the direction of the strait to Pandaling, and completely control all the defense lines in the strait rift area, and complete the peace. The fronts of Andre, the Great Red Fire Tribe, and the Heavy Rock Tribe are united.

The third stage is to begin to develop the power to the Millennium Covenant Area, and gradually consolidate its sphere of influence, and prepare for the war to encroach on the Millennium Covenant Area. Of course, if this step can be accomplished through negotiation, Sean will of course not mind, but if there is no other way, then he has to fight the Millennium Covenant. Who will let the Utopia's black soil be in the Millennium Covenant area? To enter this black land, you can only enter from the territory of the Millennium Covenant, or you can only pass through the jurisdiction of the Millennium Covenant in the Wild Lands.

As for regaining the entire wilderness, Sean never even thought about it, because this is simply impossible.

So, while thinking about the specific action steps, while referring to the plan of William and others, Sean is constantly making revisions and calculations. Although he has always been the image of a shopkeeper, but this kind of thing is related to the future of all followers, he naturally has to deal with it personally. Of course, the most important thing is that since he has already rewarded his subordinates with a knighthood, then the title must also be given.

However, the territory of the Void Principality is also relatively limited. No matter how it is divided, it will obviously appear unfair. Therefore, Sean and William have planned long ago, and all the titles will be captured here in the Wildlands. Although it was really difficult at the beginning, and these vassals were also very barren, but Sean had already figured out a solution for this. After all, now there is a magic teleportation array, which is no longer in terms of distance teleportation. what is the problem.

The mature technology of the magic teleportation array also represents the early arrival of the era of magic technology. The impact of the birth of these new magic technology is far greater than anyone can imagine.

Not to mention the revolutionary technology in equipment, magic, etc., just the greening and regeneration is no longer a problem.

So, Sean is imperative for the Beizheng plan.

Chapter 145: .Stable

The plan for the Northern Expedition was quickly listed by Sean Luo. {

The framework of the plan basically follows William's strategic plan, but some minor adjustments have been made in the specific implementation. However, the current main stage is to build a fortification on the side of the Rift Valley. In this regard, Sean put his idea on the fortress that Dabion used to build, which was time-consuming and labor-intensive, because there was already there. For a relatively complete foundation, the resources he needs to invest are not particularly large.

Of course, the most important thing is that the wind and coldness have disappeared automatically because of the fact that the sacred mudboard has been taken away by Xuefanio, so it is much more convenient to transport resources. In this respect, it is tantamount to reducing a lot of expenses, so it is natural to spend more financial resources on other areas. In addition, Sean now has a group of dwarves and goblins with good craftsmanship. If they build a fortress, it will save a lot of trouble.

As for the troops to be stationed here in the future, Sean is also ready.

Stalin's First Step Corps.

Of course, with the current size of the First Step Corps, such a fortress would definitely not be able to defend, so the problem immediately returned to its origin.

Recruitment.

When he thinks of this question, Sean has a headache again.

So after hurriedly approving the adjustments to the Northern Expedition Plan, Xiao En threw these documents to William in one mind and continued to let him take responsibility.

Because he has more important things to deal with right now.

"When are you leaving?" Sitting in the meeting room of the City Lord's Mansion in Void City, William scanned the documents in front of him. Asked without looking up.

"If there is no accident, it should be these few days." Xiao En said, "It won't be great to drag it any longer. After all, it made you wait for another year."

Although William did not say anything, his left hand holding a document suddenly used excessive force a bit. But soon, he seemed to notice the problem, so his left hand slowed down a bit, but the wrinkles on the paper fully showed how strong the force was just now, but William still tried his best to use a calm tone. Said: "Don't say a year in advance, even now you can't go. Because the civil strife there has just ended recently, it is obvious that outsiders will not be allowed to enter the country."

"I know, the information Rupiah gave me said this." Sean nodded. "In this regard, how about Soma and Aceh?"

"It seems that I have accepted my fate, and I have completely stopped the idea of telling the news." William said lightly. "Neil said that these two people have very strong practical ability. I can see that they can really help a lot.... Besides, the treatment we gave them is not bad, and now Voidling has been upgraded to a principality. , Even if they go to inform them, what treatment can they get? It is better to continue to stay on our side as the founders of the country."

"Human nature." Sean smiled, "So what about that fellow Thain?"

"The contact with Soma is getting more and more frequent, but it can be seen that Soma doesn't feel much about revenge or the like." William replied softly, "I don't know why you value Thain so much. Although I admit it. This person does have some abilities, and we do have some lack of talent at the moment. But I always feel that this cancer is already a bit big. If this continues, it will definitely get out of control. The threat that erupts by then will definitely not be as easy to deal with today as it is today. ."

"Threatening?" Sean raised his eyebrows, "What's the matter?"

"According to the information received from the Void Realm, Thain recently walked very close to some underground figures, and a small group of mercenaries began to infiltrate on the border.... If the woman from the Peace Association is correct If it is, then the Void Neck will definitely become a mixed bag. With Xuefanio still not awakening, once Thain rebels, it will cause great losses to us." William will hold all the files in his hand. Put it down, and then said in a deep voice, with an unprecedented seriousness, "The most important thing is that you are about to leave the void for a long journey, so once there is a large-scale chaos in the rear and you are not there, then..."

William's words are not finished, and Sean also knows what the consequences are.

Although the Principality of the Void is now officially established, this deterrent is enough to make many domestic aristocrats put down their minds. But if Thain gets into trouble at this time, it will only weaken the strength and foundation of the Void Principality on a larger scale, or it will cause a larger scale of chaos to be spread out. At this time, almost all forces can take the opportunity to come. Fish in troubled waters for a piece of the soup.

This situation is definitely not what Sean hopes to see.

"Then what do you think should be done?" Although Sean already had the answer in his mind, he still asked habitually.

William did not reply to this, he just stretched his thumb across his neck.

Circumcision ceremony.

"Sigh." Xiao En sighed, "We have used him for so long. In fact, you and I know very well that this is indeed a talent, but it's a pity that blood feuds can't coexist at all.... I wanted to take advantage of him. Before his vengeance became particularly big, I first found a soul wizard to brainwash him. It seems that time is completely too late."

"No way." William also sighed. If he had a choice, he really hoped to keep such a character as Sean Hastings. "Now we don't have so much time to deal with these issues slowly. We must Solve these internal problems with the fastest means of thunder. Only in this way can we officially start our Northern Expedition plan. Otherwise, the longer it is, the more disadvantaged it will be for us."

Sean sighed, then said helplessly: "You are responsible for everything."

"I see." William nodded.

Both sides are very clear to each other, when they say this here, they have basically completely determined the future of Sean Hastings. Basically, the newly promoted viscount may have a hard time living tonight, seeing the sun the next morning. But Shaun believed it too. William will definitely take care of these things and ensure that no traces or clues will be left, and at least will let Viscount Thain Hastings leave in dignity. There will be no news of the assassination of Viscount Sean Hastings.

After a brief discussion about Thain and some of the following issues, Sean and William turned to discuss other issues. Both Neil and Hela are busy today. Now the Big Three of the Void, they rarely gather together to discuss issues. After all, the Void Principality still has a lot of government affairs to be dealt with, and these all need Neil to deal with. As for Hela, the restoration of the Garcia family has been enough to make her suffer for a long time. So in a short period of time, she probably has no intention to participate in the construction of the Void Principality.

In the Void City, the first teleportation magic circle has also been constructed and has been tested. Make sure there is no problem, as long as the transmission network is completed, it can be put into use immediately.

This batch of teleportation magic arrays, of course, is not as dangerous as Sean's adventures. Basically, safety performance is guaranteed. But the construction of every teleportation array. All have distance restrictions. Although anyone is allowed to carry out ultra-long-distance transmission, there must be a node setting during the transmission process, and it cannot be transmitted to other places out of thin air.

To put it simply, it is like Sean wants to directly transmit from the Void City to the Royal Capital of Lion, then it must be ensured that there will be a teleportation array as a node of stable time and space every some distance, otherwise it will not be able to form a smooth teleportation network. As a result, the transmission will fail. certainly. With the transmission array and transmission network, it is not possible to transmit anywhere at will. The transmission network between the two transmission points must be open and connected, then the transmission can be carried out.

The so-called connection refers to the coordinate registration between the two transmission points. If the time and space coordinates are not known to each other, then naturally they cannot be transmitted.

Similarly, if one of the parties closes the transmission array, then the other can not transmit, and even cause the interruption of the transmission network.

It is like Sean wants to directly transmit from Void City to Royal Capital of Ryan, and once the Tonis Fortress Teleportation Array, which is one of the nodes of the transfer network, is closed, then Sean will not be able to send directly to Ryan because of the interruption of the transfer network. Royal capital. Or because King Ryan closed the teleportation array, then Sean also went to the King Ryan city that could not be directly teleported to.

Sean knows very well that although the appearance of the teleportation magic circle brings more convenience, it also makes many strategic locations more important. Basically, as long as these strategic locations are occupied, once the teleportation magic circle is closed, it will cause a large-scale paralysis of the teleportation network. The emergence of this kind of situation is about to change the future war situation to a large extent. This has caused many famous generals who specialize in tactical operations to begin to withdraw from the stage of history, while those strategic leaders who were not optimistic about Began to board the stage of the world's famous players.

The so-called technology changes the world, this sentence is more than just talking.

Sean knows very well that when the future magic technology officially appears, the impact on this world will be more terrifying than the magic teleportation array.

But before that, it's still early for these things to appear.

After discussing these things, William can finally usher in a short break: "This time, you are going to the wilderness, who are you going to take?"

"Cecilia must go with me. I also want to bring Rina. She needs more training and cooperation. Besides that, I plan to bring Hina with him." Sean said, " This little guy has good potential, and it's time to start learning to fight and kill the enemy, otherwise, even if she becomes a golden powerhouse, she will be no different from those noble idiots who have no fighting power.... Besides, I want to bring Dini too. superior."

"Are you going to pretend to be a mercenary group?" William was taken aback.

"No, it's the adventurer squad." Shaun corrected William's statement, "Magic, warrior, priest, the standard adventurer squad model.... With this capacity, it is easier to move in the wilderness. After all, that The place has gone through too many wars, and the mercenary group is not easy to mix up. And if you are an adventurer, even if you are looking for fire, there are excuses available."

"Indeed." William thought for a moment, then nodded.

The mercenary group will never do useless work, so if they rashly appear in the wilderness, they will definitely attract high attention. On the contrary, if it's just a team of adventurers, then if you act in the wild, you can use experience to explain it, and if you are lucky enough to be able to find the fire then, the team of adventurers can also participate in the competition, no matter from In any case, it is more suitable for action than the status of a mercenary group.

"Since you are going to leave these few days, then I will let someone help you prepare for your trip."

"En." Sean nodded, "If it's no accident, it should be the day after tomorrow.... By the way, did Hampson find it?"

"Not yet." William shook his head helplessly, "The Void Realm has tried his best. But the good news is that no body has been found, so I can't say that Hampson is dead. Don't worry, take the Void. Even if Hampson is really killed, they will be able to find some clues. At present, there is no report in the Void Realm, which proves that he is not dead."

"I know." Xiao En sighed helplessly, and now he has no better way to guess.

Because the topic suddenly became a bit heavy, both William and Sean fell silent. But after a while, William took the lead to break this silence: "By the way, there is still a problem, how do you plan to solve it?"

"What's the trouble?" Sean was taken aback for a moment.

"About those demons." William said, "They have been taken care of since they were escorted over. The dark elf you brought over has visited them several times, but those demons are obviously not wary. Just relax, now you plan to travel a long distance, what do you plan to do with those demons? You can't keep them in custody until you come back to deal with them?...In that case, these demons will basically be abandoned."

"Where is Rorty Kabas now?" Sean asked.

"That guy has been staying with those demons lately." William replied, "Now, you should be able to see him by going to the secret room. There are also fifteen demons, but...I think these There seems to be a big figure in the demon descendant, because the dark elf's attitude is obviously a bit unusual."

Hearing William's words, Sean's brows finally frowned, because he trusted William's intuition very much: "Let's pass now."

Chapter 146: .Devil Harding

The secret prison located underneath the Void City City Lord's Mansion is the highest core secret of the entire Void Duchy. =====

Not many people know this.

Originally, the dark elf Rorty Kabas Bodun was not qualified to enter this place. After all, he had just joined his camp and not long ago, and the dark elf had never given people a very good impression. The cunning and betrayal were almost complete. Incorporated into their blood. However, Shaun still acquiesced in allowing him to enter this secret prison because of the need to expedition to the underground world in the future.

At least, the idea that Sean thought at the beginning was really to make Rorty Kabas and these demons have a good relationship, so as to facilitate his persuasion to surrender. After all, the demon descendant's combat effectiveness is so strong that no one is willing to abandon it easily, unless there is really no way to reverse their views, or these demon descendants are all scarlet members.

Neither Sean nor William are the masters who can sit still, so when Sean said to see the demons, William also got up.

Soon, the two came to this underground secret prison.

The fifteen demon descendants were not imprisoned together, but isolated. After all, as one of the six descendants of the holy blood, their combat effectiveness is very terrible. Almost every demon descendant is a master-level existence of both demon and martial arts, even if compared to the ancient sacred elves, it is not much more than that, and there are rumors that the so-called demon descendants are the sons of the gods in the twilight age, because they hide in the underground world and escape. After the catastrophe of the Ash Age, they still maintain an extremely strong and pure blood.

Of course, according to the theory of change in species adaptability. These children of the people who have become demons also have great weaknesses.

They are the kings of darkness. As long as they are in a dark environment, they can burst out unparalleled and powerful combat power. But during the day. In other words, where there is direct sunlight, the demon descendant's combat effectiveness must be at least half weakened, and things such as holy light and silverware also have a relatively obvious damage effect on the demon descendant.

Usually, as the creatures lurking in the surface world, the demons appear the least.

And even if it appears, it usually comes with a special shelter and armor. This kind of armor can ensure that they will not be weakened by the sun in the surface world. However, this type of armor is made with special craftsmanship and cannot be repaired in the surface world. So once it is damaged, the demons have the choice to return to the underground world, otherwise their combat effectiveness will be greatly reduced.

The fifteen demons sent by the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance have all been processed by some special methods. Almost everyone has a certain injury. Coupled with the strict control of food intake and drug suppression, the strength displayed by these demons is no different from ordinary people, and at most it is the strength of the upper bronze. With the guarding power of the Void City City Lord's Mansion, even if these demons could escape this secret prison, they would definitely not be able to do without the City Lord's Mansion, so Sean and William were relatively relieved.

In the secret prison, Sean saw Rorty Kabas sitting on the ground at a glance, chatting with a demon who was imprisoned.

For these demons. William's way of imprisonment is relatively benign, only restricting their space for action. Did not cause greater physical harm to them. Of course, there will be strict restrictions on appetite. After all, once these demons are restored to combat effectiveness, almost every one of them has the strength of the upper silver pinnacle or even the lower gold. No one dares to neglect this point.

"Sir Sean." Seeing Sean approaching, Rorty Kabas, who was sitting on the ground, hurriedly got up and saluted Sean.

Sean nodded slightly to greet him, and then walked to Rotica's side and fought alongside him.

The demon descendant detained in front of Rorty Kabas looks no different from an ordinary demon descendant: the same sub-white long hair, fair to almost transparent skin color, and a natural black magic pattern imprinted on his body. —This is also the reason why the demon descendant can easily use magic, and the whole body reveals a sickly appearance.

However, Sean discovered that the eyes of the imprisoned demon descendant were very attractive. Although he had tried his best to make some disguise, the spirit of spirit can not be hidden by simply disguising. . At least, Sean doesn't think that except for the ascetics of the Chenas Empire, there is anyone in this world who can hide their breath like stagnant water.

Then Sean's gaze turned to Rorty Kabas.

At this time, Rorty Kabas did not wear that heavy armor, but his exaggerated huge lance was still taken by him. Moreover, the position where Rorty Kabas is standing at this time is also very delicate. All the spaces in the cell where this demon descendant is held are just within his attack range. As long as Rorty Kabas is willing, he can be in Instantly kill this demonic descendant who seems to be physically and mentally exhausted.

"You can't be locked in this cell." Sean immediately understood Rorty Kabas's intentions, and also knew that William's guess was not wrong. There was indeed an unusual guy in this group of demons. It's just that Rorty Kabas has been here for the purpose of coming to this secret prison these days, but it is also to watch the guy in front of him.

Hearing what Shaun said, the demon descendant was puzzled: "This lord, what are you talking about?"

Xiao En smiled, sat down on the spot, and then smiled: "Okay, you and I are very clear about things, don't deliberately conceal things.... I didn't expect that the guys in the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce really It's because the dog can't change eating shit, so he didn't tell me the actual situation, and made it clear that he wanted to see what I had lost."

The demon in the cell pursed his mouth and did not speak.

Instead, Rorty Kabas smiled and said, "I'll say that Lord Sean can see through your disguise at a glance. Now, should you believe what I said before? If you cooperate with this lord, it will be for you too. There is no harm, anyway, no matter how bad the situation is, it can't be worse than what you are now, right?"

"Hmph." The demon snorted coldly, but his momentum began to swell, and there was no longer any concealment at all.

In an instant, the aura exuded by this demon descendant reached the level of the pinnacle of high-ranking silver, and what surprised Sean most was that this aura was not weaker than he was at the beginning, it can almost be said It is the strongest silver standard. At this moment, Sean's eyes on this demonite became a little different. Even though his strength was weakened by nearly half, he still had the strongest standard of silver. If it was in its heyday, it would be a superior one. The level of the golden peak, even a half-step sanctuary is possible.

Sean found that as his own power gradually grew, more and more powerful men began to appear gradually.

"Which clan's prince are you?" Sean said lightly. "Being able to communicate with the dark elves of the Reform Party means that you are not a pure Scarlet member. The rest of the answer is not difficult to guess. You failed in the struggle for clan inheritance, so you were banished?...The other members of the demons are your followers, right?"

The demon descendant turned his head and stared at Xiao En, his eyes flashed with surprise, but it was only for a moment. Then he turned his head to look at Rorty Kabas, and said softly: "I only now begin to believe what you said before."

Hearing this, Sean could clearly feel that Rorty Kabas's spirit that had been tense had also relaxed slightly, and was no longer as vigilant as before. He smiled with a rare smile, then turned his head and said to Sean, "Master Sean, this is Harding. Indeed, as you said, he failed in the clan's inheritance battle. But the reason for the failure was not. He is not strong enough, but he tried to change the position of the clan, which caused dissatisfaction and was exiled."

"My clan is a staunch supporter of the Scarlet Banner." The demon named Harding added, "But I don't think so. The war between the underground and the surface of the two worlds has been maintained for so long, but No one can conquer anyone. I think that if the two worlds can establish interoperability, this may be a good thing for each other.... So I tried to change the position of the clan, and use this as my competing heir declaration ."

Sean suddenly felt that this demonic descendant named Harding was really stupid and a little cute.

The Scarlet Banner is a branch of the demon race. Its nature is similar to that of the revenge party in the dark elf race. They all advocate the elimination of all mankind. And since Harding's previous clan was a staunch supporter of the Scarlet Banner, then Harding's remarks were naturally a rebellious existence for this clan, and it was probably similar to the nature of Neil's expulsion from the forest elves.

Sean even felt that Harding had not been executed and had allowed him to leave. His clan was already very kind to him.

After all, the members of Scarlet Banner are all extremely extreme.

However, this punishment for Harding did not show mercy.

Because of the exile of the demons, the exile is directly transmitted to the surface world through a special transmission device. Moreover, this transmission method is still one-way transmission, which means that it is almost impossible to return to the underground world in this life, so if you are lucky, you may be able to disguise and mix into the human world, or even add something like the death thorn. Accountant is a special organizational force with the identity of a participant.

And if you are unlucky, this is the situation now.

Of course, from the perspective of Sean, Harding's luck should be considered good, because he met himself.

"How about it, are you interested in joining my camp?" Faced with this demonite named Harding, Sean unsurprisingly threw an olive branch, "You and your followers, I will not Make any restrictions. Of course, if they are willing and able to prove their strength, I also have a lot of positions that need them."

Chapter 147: .The Banished King

Demonite, is a natural king of darkness. &.{ }

Before the catastrophe of the Ash Age completely broke out, they had already hid in the underground world, and to a large extent they still maintained an extremely powerful bloodline ability. At least when every demon descendant is born, the natural magic pattern carried on his body determines that they can easily master a lot of magic even if they don't deliberately learn it. Of course, the level of magic power is related to the complexity of the magic patterns on their bodies.

In a way, it looks like a blood warlock.

But in addition to magic, the power of the demons is also very powerful, which may be attributed to their blood of the sons of the gods. Even the weakest demons have the same strength as a lion half-orc or tauren half-orc, which largely determines their extremely high fighting power. Coupled with things like night vision, keen sense of smell and hearing, as well as perception, etc., the demons can be said to be bug-level races.

The only thing that makes the other five of the six holy blood races is fortunate is that the demonite's ability to reproduce is extremely low, which is probably not much better than the elves. However, this comparison is based on the ancient sacred elves. If the current blood elves, dark elves, and even other elven races in the surface world are compared, then these elven races can be regarded as flooded compared to the demons.

The low reproductive ability also makes the lifespan of the demons extremely long.

The life span of a normal demonite can easily exceed 500 years, even if it is a demonite who breaks through the sanctuary realm, it can live for more than one to two thousand years. And almost every demonic descendant. As long as they are not suffering from unrecoverable serious injuries, their strength can slowly grow to the upper level of gold to stop this growth. The only difference is that there are weak and strong, just like races in the surface world. Some people can challenge the upper gold peak even when they first enter the upper gold realm, and some have reached the lower gold peak but cannot beat an ordinary lower gold.

As for why they are born to be kings of darkness, it is because the combat power that the demons can exert in a dark environment is at least half an order higher than the normal level. And the more complicated the dark environment, the greater the increase in their combat effectiveness. For the demons, darkness is like a part of their body. Only after entering the rank of the legendary assassin system, can they dare to compete with the demons in the dark environment.

As far as the demon-born young man named Harding, who has been stripped of the clan name in front of him, the fighting power he broke out in the dark environment is almost comparable to the lower sanctuary. Of course the biggest disadvantage. Probably because he didn't have the domain ability of the lower sanctuary strong, which led to a head-to-head battle with the lower sanctuary strong, but the battle time would inevitably not be too long, and it would be impossible to win.

The difference between the strong in the sanctuary and the strong in the non-sanctuary. too big.

Non-sanctuary powerhouses who can basically fight against the lower sanctuary powerhouses without dying. All can be regarded as fighting geniuses in the true sense.

But Harding, when faced with the olive branch that Sean threw, he did not give an immediate answer, but showed a thoughtful appearance.

However, Sean was not in a hurry. He shrugged casually, and then smiled: "Well, I can release you temporarily. Let you visit my territory, and I will let William give You arrange a legal identity. You can do whatever you like. But I can't let you move around by yourself, so Rorty Kabas will be by your side these days. Whether you treat it as a surveillance or a companion, you can do whatever you like. What do you think, as long as you are interested in joining my staff someday, then you can just tell William."

"Then my ethnicities..."

"Of course they will stay here." Xiao En smiled, "This is my biggest concession. I can't release all of you demons. As for the reason, I think you know it yourself. ...Of course, if you say you want to leave, I won't stop you, but do you think you can find other ways to survive in this surface world?"

Faced with Sean's question, Harding fell silent again.

But the silence this time was shorter than usual: "I will think about it."

"Okay." Xiao En smiled, "Anyway, this cell can't hold you up. Come out whenever you want to. But don't blame me for not reminding you in advance, if you plan to let all your companions go. , Then I won't let you go so easily."

When Sean said this, his tone was very kind, without any murderous or other emotions, but the more he was like this, the more Harding could feel the seriousness of Sean's attitude. He did not hesitate to believe that if he really dared to release those people and try to take them away, not to mention whether the dark elf next to him would stop him, even if he didn't stop him, he was being brought in. When he was in this secret prison, he already felt the strict guards outside.

For the demons, their perception, smell, and hearing are far beyond the scope of normal people, so even if they are blindfolded, they can use their own perception to remember the terrain and judge the surrounding environment. The degree of danger.

So just by weighing it inwardly, Harding knew that it was impossible for him to leave here with his ethnicities. Even if they are lucky enough to leave, I am afraid that not many people will be left, and the problems they need to face in the future will be even more serious. After all, it is completely conceivable how difficult it is for the inhabitants of the underground world to survive in the surface world. Know.

When Harding recovered, Sean and William had already left.

Seeing Harding's slightly dazed expression, Rorty Kabas smiled: "Master Shaun has already left.... Look, as I told you before, you are in front of that adult He can't hide anything at all, his erudition is far beyond what a normal person can understand."

"He is really relieved." Harding snorted softly, but when his hands held the iron pillars of the cage, his hands suddenly began to change.

The originally pale hands suddenly became dark black as if covered with a layer of rust. You can even see countless scales appearing on your hands, but these scales look like they are made of metal. It is not a biological scale, just like a pair of natural armored handguards.

As Harding's hands began to force to the left and right, the iron pillars of the cage were quickly pulled left and right, revealing a hole for one of them to pass through.

With a light step, Harding walked out of the cage.

"My King." Seeing Harding walk out of the cage, the demons imprisoned in other cells nearby knelt on one knee and lowered their heads facing Harding.

Pious, but respectful.

"It's actually the exiled king." Roti Kabas smiled and looked at the young demons standing in front of him, "This is a bit beyond my expectation."

"The human being you respect is indeed very knowledgeable, but it seems that his knowledge is also limited." Harding said in a deep voice, and his hands gradually began to return to the pale appearance of normal demons. "Obviously, he has not See who I am.... However, I do have some interest in him, but the current situation does not mean that he is qualified to let me stay and assist him."

"Let's make a bet." Rorty Kabas gave a smirk. Only then did he reveal the unique cunning of the dark elves.

Harding glanced at Rorty Kabas, even though he knew the dark elves were notoriously cunning, but he couldn't help but respond, "What bet?"

"I bet Master Shaun knows your true identity." Rorty Kabas laughed.

"Oh?" Harding raised his eyebrows, and the breath that belonged to the king finally radiated from him at this moment. Divided into the kind of domineering domineering, "What is the bet?"

"You won, I will do one thing for you, even if it is to help you escape and be hostile to Lord Sean." Rorty Kabas's face still shows the kind of relaxed and easy-going appearance, but his eyes are A flash of confidence and cunning, "If I win, then you have to do something for me.... How?"

"So what is the criterion for winning or losing?" Harding asked in a deep voice.

"It's very simple. Let's go to Sir Sean together and ask if he knows your true identity?" Rorty Kabas smiled, "Look, how simple and rude. Of course, to avoid You are shameless, you will be the one who will be questioning at that time, and I will not speak the whole time. If there is a need, I may not even show up."

"The noble demon will not be shameless!" Harding's face showed a bit of anger.

"Who knows." Rorty Kabas shrugged. "Someone used to say that noble elves are honest and kind. But do you think we dark elves are honest? As for blood elves, you believe it is in their dictionary of life. Is there the word 'kindness'?"

"Huh." Harding snorted again with disdain.

However, Rorty Kabas defaulted this cold snort to a poor expression of words: an uncultured king of exile.

Of course, in front of the face-saving Harding, Rorty Kabas would certainly not say such a thing. The impression of their dark elves is indeed not very good, full of derogatory words such as cunning and betrayal, but this does not mean that they are really stupid. If irritating the opponent is to gain a greater advantage, then the dark elves will definitely do it without hesitation, but if they can't get any benefits, they will not irritate the opponent at will.

Chapter 148: .Solve internal problems

Ignoring the secret prison, Sean and William quickly left the underground prison. :3w.

Along the way, William still showed some anxiety: "Really let him be free? Isn't this... not so good?"

"No." Xiao En's face really didn't care at all. "As long as you take care of the other demons, that guy won't do anything stupid, because he is only left with these fourteen. Ethnicity. So if he really wants to save people from leaving, he will focus his attack on other demons. He will definitely choose to submit.... Of course, don't kill those demons as much as possible, otherwise things will happen. It becomes very troublesome, and if it really becomes a situation of endless death, you must make sure that the demon descendant can't leave the void city alive."

"Those demons are really that important to him?"

"Of course." Xiao En nodded, "Those demon descendants are his future capital. If he died, there would be one less. If he is just an ordinary demon descendant, it doesn't matter, but he is really not an ordinary demon descendant. What about the descendants... Therefore, the other fourteen demon descendants are his weakness."

"What do you mean?" William was puzzled and looked very puzzled, "I don't quite understand."

"He is a king. An exiled king." Xiao En said lightly, "The clan structure of the demons is different from that of our humans. In their social structure, the strong is always the king. So even if it is an already The king who has ruled an entire demonite clan for hundreds of years, as long as a new demonite powerhouse appears and challenges him to the throne, he must accept it. At this time, for these two demonites, they are They are all competitors of the clan heirs, and they are the existence of equal status."

"This is really completely different from our human society."

"The surface and the ground are two completely different worlds." Sean shrugged. It looks like a person who came by, "It is not an exaggeration to say that these are two plane worlds. If you have a chance in the future, you also go to the underground world and you will know what is going on. Anyway, the surface world has everything Conventional thinking and logic are all useless in that world."

"It sounds like you have been to the underground world." William curled his lips. "You didn't see it in books. Most of those classics are fictitious. After all, the war between the surface and the underground world has ended. It's been thousands of years. Now there is no access to each other at all. Although some underground world creatures do appear occasionally, no one knows how they appeared. Let alone go to the underground world."

"I....."

Sean really wants to tell William that he has indeed been to the underground world, and more than once. But he said this, not to mention whether William believed it or not. Just to explain when and how he went to the underground world. It made Sean quite helpless. So in the end he also had to acquiesce in what William called "underground world through books".

Of course, he still did not give up and compensated: "Anyway, it is different from the surface world, trust me!"

"Yes, I believe you." William stretched out his hand and touched Sean's head as if he was comforting a child, but this action was exchanged for Sean's eyes. However, William still said thoughtfully: "Then according to what you said, Harding was banished..."

"He wasn't banished because of his lack of strength, he was banished only because of the different ideas of the clan." Sean shrugged. Then he continued, "Although this situation is rare. But it is not impossible. In the history of the Demon Clan, the highest situation is that more than 20 Demon Clan kings have been attacked by their own clan in a hundred years. Exile..."

Sean paused for a while, seeing William showed a look of surprise, then licked his dry lips a little, and said again: "...but to be a king of the demon clan, think about how powerful this is. The individual? Of course, the clan he belongs to is a small clan. If it is a strong big clan, I am afraid he will exist above the legend. But even so, Harding is also a very powerful demon descendant, this is what I said. There is no reason why he can't be shut down at all. As long as he wants to leave, no one can stop him in this Void City. Perhaps only Rena and Xuefanio can do it....The premise is that he is alone."

"Naroti Kabas..."

"Move the steel wings to cooperate with him and sacrifice about ten thousand people to kill the exhausted Harding." Sean said lightly, "Of course, this is at night, if it is morning, Luo Te Kabas alone is enough."

William noticed that what Sean said was exhaustion.

This also means that if Harding is not dragged to the point of exhaustion, then there must be almost no killing Harding under normal combat conditions.

But Sean seemed to think that his way of saying something was wrong, so he added: "The prerequisite is that Harding has regained the strength of his heyday. With his current strength, even in the night environment, Rorty Kabas It's enough...Of course, Xuefanio, who has broken through the realm of the sanctuary, can also kill Harding solo in a frontal battle. After all, above the sanctuary, the world is completely different."

Although William didn't understand martial arts and other things, he still understood the power of the sanctuary powerhouse.

After that, the two discussed about Harding as they walked. For Sean, as long as Harding is still under control, no matter what he does, there is no need to interfere. However, after learning about Harding's strength, Sean can't take Rina with him for his upcoming journey. After all, allowing Harding to act freely means that he will have the ability to restore his strength to his heyday. So Rina must stay and sit in Void City to prevent any accidents.

In this way, whether to take Hina out to practice together, this becomes another question that Sean has to worry about.

If you simply consider the actual combat experience, it is really good to bring Hina. But the martial arts that Hina is learning now are all spear skills. At this point, Sean can't teach Hina. So letting her stay with Rina is a better choice.

But this kind of problem does not need William to worry about it. Because he has more important things to deal with right now.

.....

In a city in Berbis County, a young man returned to his home from the street.

This is a small three-story house.

The outside of the house looks a bit dilapidated, but after opening the door, the inside of the house looks very delicate and clean.

The young man who returned home seemed a little tired. After sighing, he took off his jacket and threw it on the sofa chair in the lobby. He didn't light up any candlelights or magic lights. Instead, he followed the terrain in his memory and started walking towards the second floor.

The old stairs made a creak.

On the second floor, the man did not stop, but walked directly to the third floor.

The third floor of the house. There are two doors, except one is his bedroom, and the other is a room used by men as a study. At this time, what he opened was the door of the study. Then on the counter next to the porter. Light up an oil lamp.

The fire light illuminates the silhouette of the young man.

Syne Hastings.

At this time, Sean Hastings, although his face was unconcealed with exhaustion, there was a very strong anger in his eyes, and this anger even made it difficult for him to remain calm, because he was holding an oil lamp. The right hand was shaking slightly.

He strode to the desk in the study, put the oil lamp on it, turned around and pulled out a red-covered book in the bookcase nearest to him.

only. When he picked up the book, his movements suddenly slowed down. Subsequently. At the moment he turned around, he suddenly smashed the book towards a shadowed position behind him, and then he grabbed the door without hesitation.

is as cautious as Thain.

A cold light shone in the study, and the book that was thrown into the shadow corner instantly tore into countless shreds of paper.

A man covered in a cloak walked slowly out of this shadow corner. But he didn't rush to chase the escaped Sean Hastings, but casually began to look through the messy documents on the desk. But the next moment, there was a violent fighting sound from outside the study, as well as the sound of weapons fighting. Although the sound resounded very quickly, it was not very strong, at least not to the extent of disturbing the people.

After a short while, these voices gradually subsided.

Immediately afterwards, footsteps sounded.

The slightly embarrassed Sean Hastings was clutching his right wrist and walking in from outside the study, and behind him was followed by several people who were also covered with cloaks. The daggers in the hands of these two people are on Thain's body: a waist and a vest, as long as Thain dares to move, the two daggers can kill Thain in an instant. So in such an environment, Thain could only accept his fate honestly.

The man standing by the desk saw that Thain returned to the room, he put down the hood of the cloak, revealing the face hidden in it.

And Thain, when he saw the person in front of him, his pupils suddenly shrank: "I didn't expect that Lord Ruby would come here. I'm so honored."

"On the secret order of Lord William, I am here to make sure Lord Thain goes to the place where he should arrive." Ruby said calmly.

"Haha." Thain sneered, but his eyes started to turn left and right.

"Don't worry about it in vain, do you think that since I can show up in person, will I leave you with any opportunities?" Ruby said softly, "This time we cooperated with the Void Darkblade operation and the Cecilia Guards. All the troops that you have worked so hard to transport in secretly over the years should be almost completely wiped out now....So, if Lord Thain is willing to give up resistance, then I can guarantee that Lord Thain can at least keep the whole body. , And will be buried with the viscount of the Void Duchy."

While saying this, Rupiah also gently placed a glass of wine on the table.

"It seems that I have no choice?" Thain was silent for a moment, and then he said, "Can I ask a question?"

"Yes." Ruby nodded, "Master William has already explained that if you have any questions, you can tell you as long as you have an answer."

"When did you find it?" Thain stepped forward slowly, and the two Void Darkblade Assassins behind him did not relax, but kept up with each other step by step, and the short sword in his hand always pointed firmly. Two key points of Thain.

"I knew it from the beginning." Ruby replied, "Actually, you are dissatisfied with Lord Sean, Lord Sean has known it a long time ago, just thinking that you are indeed extremely accomplished, and that you really have the ability to correspond to your identity. And Sean is not a person who can't tolerate anything, so he will always let you go, even if you do these small actions in private, he doesn't care.... But this time, he can't continue to tolerate it, because the current emptiness The principality needs stability."

Hearing Rupiah's words, Thain was stunned for a moment, and then he let out a burst of laughter: "Haha, I have always been the stupidest one! No wonder I have said so much and Uncle Soma is unmoved. Even advise me to stop, haha...haha...I didn't lose injustice!"

After that, as soon as he raised his head, Thain drank the glass of wine on the desk without even a trace of resistance.

And Rupiah just watched silently all the way, until Thain really died.

Chapter 149: .White Cocoon

Viscount Thanh Hastings died due to overwork. The news spread throughout the void duchy on the third day after Thanh Hastings died. %

Except for the veterans of Ting Qi, in this world where communication and information are not developed, few people know what the Viscount has done. Especially when all the noble nobles in the Void Principality have no nomination, even fewer people know about the feats of Sean Hastings.

The only thing people know is that he is a viscount, and maybe he has done some very important things.

Because, at his funeral, even the Grand Duke of the Void Sean Connery and the current Big Three of the Void Duchy have all appeared, not to mention other marquis, earls and other great figures. It is said that even the Lion nobles in other territories have sent envoys to participate, and this funeral can be regarded as very grand and grand.

The person who presides over the funeral ceremony is not the priest of the Death Church, but the priest of the Life Church.

In the territory of the Void Duchy, there are only two types of churches that can conduct missionary missions, namely the Ice and Winter Church and the Life Church. As for other churches, they are not allowed to preach in the territory of the Void Principality, and Sean's approach naturally caused dissatisfaction among many churches, but he himself didn't care at all. Swinter, the goddess of violence, stood up.

According to Sean's observation, this goddess should now be in a state of medium divine power, otherwise Xuefanio would not be able to step into the sanctuary. After all, the strength of the priesthood system is related to the strength of the gods to which the belief belongs, the more powerful the gods are. The stronger the believers they believe in, so to judge whether a god's divine power is strong enough, it often depends on how many strong people he belongs to in the church organization in the world. Can be judged.

Nowadays, the church of the goddess of ice and winter, not counting Xuefanio, has two golden realm powerhouses, namely Dini and another cutting-edge priest with a sword. As for the armed organization of the church, almost all members of the Frost Priest have the strength of the upper silver realm. As for the other priests and priests, they are at least upper bronze. These signs fully show that the ice and snow of Eswinter The goddess of winter is definitely the most standard medium power.

From being on the brink of extinction to becoming a medium power. Even if Eswinter was a  from the dawn of the old days, the speed of recovery was too rapid. A large part of it was attributed to all the northern barbarians who believed in this goddess. certainly. What's more, I would like to thank Sean. If it weren't for the Void Principality's extremely powerful capital and the exclusive right of belief, I am afraid that a war of belief would have broken out long ago.

When the funeral was over, Sean left first.

And other big figures in the void duchy also have their own things to be busy. So they all chose to leave after the funeral. Only Neil, the hapless guy, was arranged to entertain the noble envoys who came to the funeral.

Logically speaking, this is actually a way to connect with other nobles, and its effect is almost second only to that of a banquet. But Sean's absence is actually an impolite behavior, at least for the old nobles, it is naturally a very uncomfortable practice. However, considering that it hasn't been long since Sean became a nobleman, naturally no one would really care about his behavior and practices. Anyway, it was the chief interior officer of the Void Principality who received them. Today's one of the three giants of the void, this face is enough.

Shaun did not pay attention to these nobles. Naturally, there is a reason.

The original time to go to the Wildlands, but also because of Thain's death, had to be postponed again. But in addition to this reason, another reason is that Harding suddenly changed his mind and wanted to go to the Wildlands with Sean to take a look, and then decided whether to join Sean's subordinates, and Sean nodded instead. agree. But before Harding made a decision, it was naturally impossible for his demons to leave the secret prison, but Sean also promised that he would never treat these people wrongly.

In this regard, Harding agreed, although his face was uncomfortable.

But this way, who should be added to the entourage list to the Wildlands is a headache. It's just that Sean's headache didn't last long, and Rorty Kabas volunteered to accompany him. In his words, he has a common language with Harding, a person of the same holy blood race, and he himself came to the surface world. In order to find the relics of the riding god, so I didn't want to stay in the Void Principality.

In this case, Sean was naturally not easy to refuse, but after thinking about it, he decided to take Hina with him, instead letting Rina stay and sit in the Void Principality. After all, if it is to play spear skills, Rorty Kabas's spear skills should be more superb. Rina may have been known for spear skills before, but when she turned to the holy dragon knight, she was in martial arts. Achievement is shifted.

Furthermore, the Void Principality now indeed needs a person with sufficient personal force to sit down.

No one can determine the time of Xuefanio's awakening at present, and Vinia and Marton are unlikely to recover from their injuries in a short time. Although the Church of Frozen and Winter has a golden priest with a sword, she is personally The strength is actually worse than Dini, so the current high-ranking members of the Void Principality are almost zero. Sean even considered letting Tini stay, instead, he went to Hitley to borrow a priest or priest from a life church.

But before that, Sean needs to solve another problem first.

In a room in the Black Swan Castle, Cecilia walked in with marshmallows. He was lazy and looked a little reluctant to take care of Sean's cotton candy. After entering this room, his eyes suddenly lighted up, and he appeared unusually excited. He quickly ran to Sean's feet and changed his usual attitude. Sean's icy attitude.

Looking at the appearance of marshmallows, Sean kicked it out: "You are the grass on the wall."

If it was usually kicked by Sean like this, Marshmallow would definitely have to do his best even if he couldn't beat Sean, but this time he stuck it up cheeky again, even wagging his tail in a good manner. . For Sean, this scene was extremely surprised, because he had never seen cotton candy wag its tail like a puppy, and in essence, cotton candy is not a canine creature.

Shaun glanced at Cecilia and found that Cecilia also showed a surprised look.

"Maybe, he and the stray dog near the castle have been closer recently." Cecilia thought for a while, and then barely gave a reason.

"Ordinary creatures?" Sean was a little surprised. "Doesn't this kind of ordinary creatures exist just like food for marshmallows?... Is it to get more fat and eat them?"

Hearing Sean's words, the marshmallow snorted obviously a little uncomfortable. But soon, he considered that Sean had a very good thing now, so he clung to it again, which looked much smarter than before.

"Stop teasing him." Cecilia smiled, "Give him those elemental crystals."

Hearing this, Xiao En was not good at talking, so he threw the three element crystals obtained from the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce directly to the marshmallow.

The difficulty of obtaining elemental crystals is not low even in the middle and late stages of the game. This is not to say that the dungeon is difficult to fight, but the drop rate is very cheating, even if it is to remove the element plane, it only increases the drop rate by about 10%. That's it.

The blue crystal, black rock steel, and emerald stone represent the elemental crystals of water, earth, and wind respectively. If paired with the crimson flame that was eaten by marshmallows, Sean would be The four-color holy flame, a special gem that gathers the power of the four elements, can be extracted with confidence. Although this thing is a magic gem, but I don't know why. In the game, all forging life assistants who reach the master level can be synthesized, and the quality is a legendary item.

There are no more than ten kinds of legendary quality gems in the game, and the most rare thing is that once the inlay is integrated into the equipment above the legendary level, even epic or higher mythical equipment can be born. This is the special feature of legendary quality gems. As for Sean, what he wanted was to forge an epic wand at least for Cecilia, but he didn't expect the crimson flame to enter the belly of cotton candy.

But since we have already invested a piece of element crystal, there is no reason not to continue investing, so at this time, Sean will throw these three element crystals together to marshmallow. Of course, the most important thing is that Sean remembered the words of the holy beast in the crypt cave, and that the holy beast was so powerful and terrifying that it was not in its complete form. This also made Sean want to know. What is the complete body form of the marshmallow group?

Almost after Sean was distracted and thinking for a while, Marshmallow ate all the three element crystals, and even some powder on the ground was licked clean by him. Cecilia, who had been staring at the marshmallows, was surprised to find that after the marshmallows had eaten all the crystals of the elements, she actually burped, and then lay on the ground and began to fall asleep. After a while, she felt like a human being. There was a sound of snoring.

But this is not the most surprising. The real surprise is that when the marshmallow fell into a deep sleep, the hair on its body suddenly began to grow like a frenzy, quickly wrapping around like silk, completely wrapping the marshmallow. It turned into a huge white cocoon about one meter high. Xiao En stretched out his hand and poked, but found that the hardness of this thing was far beyond what he imagined. Even if he gently came up with the Black King, only a few sparks spattered, not even a shallow mark. Down.

And soon, red, blue, green, and yellow brilliance began to shine in the cocoon. Although the brilliance of each color disappeared in one second, after each of the four colors of brilliance flashed once, the brilliance of each color would re-emerge in about ten minutes. Shine once.

At this moment, both Sean and Cecilia looked shocked: "Is this beginning to evolve?"

Chapter 150: .Safeguard

"Is this a mammal or an insect?"

Xiao En looked at the white cocoon in front of him, and finally asked after a long time.

=====

Cecilia also shook her head. It was obvious that she was also confused about the situation, because she had always treated marshmallows as mammals, and his mother was also in the form of beasts, not insect creatures. But now, this action similar to spinning silk into a cocoon is obviously a special action that belongs to insect creatures. It's just that the magician and the scientists of the Earth Federation are almost the same, and they all believe in the principle of investigating the right to speak, so Cecilia did not reply.

She just walked forward, and then reached out and tapped the white cocoon in front of her eyes gently.

The sound from this cocoon-like object is somewhat metal-like, and the feeling from the touch makes Cecilia feel the same.

It's just a thorough metal texture, but it doesn't look like it. Instead, under Cecilia's light pressure, there was a soft-shell-like reaction. This situation made her very incomprehensible with the sparks from the sword that Sean tested just now. Because in some ways, Sean's actions just now should prove that the hardness of this cocoon is far beyond that of conventional weapons. In the latest test of the Black King, the impact shield processed by a special forging method can still be used. Easy to penetrate.

But Cecilia just used her fingers to press and poke lightly, but it did not produce the high hardness in this impression.

"Perhaps, this is not a cocoon." A long time later. Cecilia said in a not very sure words, "It should be some kind of magic shell with the power of rules."

"Magic Shell?" Xiao En was a little startled, although he understood many things very well. But he obviously doesn't know such a highly professional term, "What is the magic shell?"

"Simply understand it as the force field protection of the magician." Cecilia thought for a while, and then explained to Sean that this kind of being a teacher still made her a little excited, "I can feel the air. Almost all the magical power flowing in the inside is concentrated, and the concentration of this magical power also makes the shell produce the corresponding power of rules. I can barely see that this rule is related to rebound.... So I guess, it should be. The stronger the attack against this shell, the more powerful the rebound will be. If you just launched a full slash against this white shell, I am afraid you will also be injured."

"Fuck, this little guy is sinister enough." Sean looked at the eggshell-like thing, and then cursed. "So we just don't care about anything now?"

Cecilia saw Sean look a little frustrated. Just cheer up. But after hearing Sean's question, she quickly replied: "Almost. I guess it should be through the magic and the elemental power of the alien plane to transform the marshmallow, but how long does this process take? It's hard to tell. It may be days, months, or longer. After all, marshmallows are a kind of Warcraft we have never seen before, so..."

"Hey." Xiao En sighed helplessly, "I originally wanted to improve the strength of this idiot before we were about to set off to the Wildlands, but I didn't expect it to be this kind of result instead.... But forget it. Anyway, in places like the Wildlands, a Level 2 or Level 3 monster can't play a big role."

I heard Sean say so. Cecilia snickered again.

The feud between Sean and Marshmallow has long been no secret. Basically, all of Sean's followers know it well. However, this kind of discord is actually more of a disagreement to each other, but if there is any emergency, Sean and Marshmallow will still cooperate with each other, of course, the number of times is only a few. Cecilia guessed that this is probably the result of Sean always throwing marshmallows in the past-just like Sean always throwing Gollum as a ball.

"Let's wait a few days, if this guy hasn't got out of the cocoon, we don't care." Sean thought for a while, and then said, "From the Wildlands, Andre has sent a more accurate message. Intelligence materials, there may be some big moves recently, so we can't waste time anymore."

Cecilia nodded clearly and said nothing. She knew what Sean was going to do in the Wildlands, so she naturally distinguished the priorities. In this regard, Cecilia never drags Sean back, but always maintains her height. Warm and supportive attitude. Of course, she also understands why Sean is eager to let Marshmallow improve his strength, because when he took Marshmallow away, Sean wanted to cultivate Marshmallow into his own guard beast, and now the strength of the enemy that Sean has to face has increased. The stronger it is, the current situation of marshmallows will not be able to play any protective role at all.

So, Sean was impatient.

"I'm alright." Cecilia gently took Sean's hand, and then showed a faint smile, "I can take care of myself well, what I lack now is just a small excitement. That's it. But even if it doesn't, I will be able to enter the sanctuary soon. The blood in my body tells me that, so... don't worry about me."

"En." Sean nodded. He squeezed Cecilia's little hand, then stretched out his other hand and gently patted Cecilia's head, then turned his head and looked at the one who doesn't know what to do now. Said it was an eggshell or a cocoon, "Is it okay to just leave it like this?...Do you need someone to come and take care of it?"

"No, anything that is entangled with the power of rules is not so easy to deal with." Cecilia shook her head, "I have now begun to come into contact with the lines of rules. Although it is not complete, it is more or less. Something can be seen. The marshmallow cocoon, or eggshell, is now completely protected by the laws of the world anyway. As long as he does not come out, then he is safe, at least there is no external force to destroy it."

"External force?" Sean frowned, "Ordinary force may not be able to destroy, but there is no absolute law of the world. In other words, there must be something that can be restrained, or can destroy the shell of cotton candy. "

"It's true, but this is not common." Cecilia hesitated for a moment, and then said, "If it is really so dark, then there is really nothing to say. Even if it is protected. , It's also going to be unpredictable. It's hard to say something like the line of fate."

Shaun thought for a while, then stepped to the cocoon and tried to reach out and hug it. This time, because no brute force was used, Sean quickly felt a completely different touch. It's just that at first he thought that it would take a lot of effort to be able to hold it up, but in the end he just hugged the thing that couldn't tell whether it was a cocoon or a shell with just a little effort, and the feeling of starting it was still Very light, just like a small package.

"What are you going to do?" Seeing Sean picked up the marshmallow shell, Cecilia asked.

"I'm going to take it to the temple." Sean said, "The temple of the Church of Life has more power, maybe it can accelerate the incubation of marshmallows. And in terms of protection measures, it will be even more powerful. Be safer... As long as the enemy is not a brainless stupid, he will definitely not go to the Life Church. Once this behavior is discovered, after being marked, he will not be able to approach the Life Church in his entire life."

As the church of the gods in the world, it is not natural to say that others can come and go as they please. And if you rush into it at will, then it is easy to cause attacks from church clergy, even if they are invincible, they will place the mark of the gods on the opponent's body, and once they are marked by the gods, then unless it is The  to which the divine power belongs has fallen, otherwise the words will never disappear.

Even if it is dead, the soul will not enter the Styx, but will be taken away by the deity who has been marked by the seal of God, and will suffer forever.

Therefore, ordinary people would not do this behavior of trespassing into a church temple. This is because even a pastor can do it easily. Unless the person who intrudes into the church has the ability to kill all enemies facing him in an instant, there is no way to escape. Through this punishment.

Of course, it is not impossible to forcibly erase the mark of the gods, but that is based on the cover of the gods.

In other words, gods with weak powers can cover weak powers, and high powers can cover medium powers. However, it is not so easy to cover and erase the mark of the gods belonging to the gods of the same high divine power, and the goddess of life happens to be the gods of the high divine power. Coupled with the importance of the life church in this world, Sean thought that even those lunatics who could be equal to the Peace Association would not do such a thing.

Seeing that Sean has made a decision, Cecilia will certainly not stop it. After all, the safest place in the Void Principality is indeed the Church of Life.

So soon, someone at the Black Swan Castle prepared a carriage, and then Sean took such a one-meter-high eggshell and sat in the carriage. Apart from Cecilia and a coachman, they were all in the same carriage. There is no one else. This time, Sean didn't even carry the Black Swan Guard, and he didn't seem to need it anyway, so he might as well stay in the Black Swan Castle to protect the two of Vinia and Marton.