

Lord of War Vol 3-161

Chapter 161: .Conspiracy [third more]

How strong the combat effectiveness of the Lost Knight is, the general surface races have a lot of experience.

But in the underground world, there is a saying that "Ning fight the Styx lizard dragon, not encounter the lost knight". The so-called Styx lizard is also closer to the top of the food chain among the many beasts in the underground world. Because it has a more obvious dragon bloodline in its body, it is only a seventh-level beast, but its combat power is not necessarily better than eighth-level. How weak is the monster, even the ordinary lower sanctuary will find it difficult to face the Styx lizard.

Sean, he understands the terrible part of the Lost Knight very well, so when he met Rotti Kabas at the leader of the Fenlistine clan, he thought about avoiding the fight between the two sides as much as possible. It's not that Sean really didn't take Rorty Kabas. It's just that after the fight, he would have to rest for a long time in the fight. Only then did Sean want to avoid it as much as possible. Fortunately, Rorty Kabas was. An innovation party is not like the stubborn Evernight Party and the Vengeance Party.

This also gives both sides room for maneuver.

At this time, these mercenaries were fortunate enough to be able to experience the terrible aspects of the Lost Knight.

I saw Rorty Kabas crossing the leader of the %top %point %novel mercenary group. After rushing into the crowd, the exaggerated knight's gun in his hand swept a sweep.

Dark black vindictiveness radiated from this knight's gun, turning into a nearly physical barrier, and several mercenaries who happened to be standing in front of Rorty Kabas were immediately shot and flew out. Among them, the mercenary on the left who was shot and flew out for the first time suffered the most vindictive pressure, and his figure was still in mid-air and had not yet landed. It was already unable to suppress the invasion of the dark vindictiveness, and was directly exploded into blood mist and pieces of meat in mid-air.

And the second and third place, although the dark vindictive attack is relatively small. But the frontal sweep from the lost knight from Rorty Kabas is something that only the people of the Silver Realm can resist?

Therefore, before landing, he was breathless in mid-air, and the body of the second one that was shot flying was even more distorted.

Only one strike, which seemed the most common sweep, killed three people directly, and the hearts of these mercenaries were almost completely shrouded in fear.

But, is this blow really just an ordinary sweep?

Dark gun skills. Dragon tail sweep.

Lost Knight is the inheritance class of the underground world. No matter how many ranks this profession is upgraded to, it is still called the Lost Knight. But if you want to advance again, then you must find the remains of the riding god. And complete the task of riding the gods relics to be able to get new enhancements. Prior to this, the increase in strength brought about only the growth of various combat abilities, and there was no significant qualitative change effect.

Therefore, the strength of the personal aptitude before becoming the lost knight is largely related to the combat effectiveness after becoming the lost knight.

and. Before becoming the lost knight. Regardless of the attributes of your own fighting spirit, once you become a lost knight, your fighting spirit attributes are forcibly converted to dark attributes. This is also a major drawback of the Lost Knight. After all, dark attribute vindictiveness has advantages in dealing with normal physical attributes (wind, fire, ground, water, and derived attributes), but it appears to be somewhat inadequate when facing light attributes. .

In the surface world, basically the vindictive attributes of all church knights are light attributes.

But if only in the current combat environment, it would be no exaggeration for Rorty Kabas to be called a humanoid monster.

But just for such a short moment, Rorty Kabas directly ruined seven mercenaries. Except for the dragon tail sweep at the beginning, three people were directly killed, and the next two stabbings with guns. Can successfully kill one person every time. As for the other two unlucky ghosts who died under Roti Kabas, they were affected by the way when he took off his gun. It can be said that they died horribly and innocently.

Moreover, what makes these mercenaries unexpected is that Rorty Kabas's weapons look heavy, which obviously should cause his speed to slow down, and such enemies are most afraid of being trapped in the encirclement. Especially Rorty Kabas still uses long weapons. However, in the actual battle, he was extremely swift. The mercenaries around him did not even restrict his actions, and they didn't even have the power to parry. They were completely beaten by Rorty Kabas.

It was another flash of skill, these mercenaries almost all died, leaving only two lower gold powerhouses who were supposed to be deputy heads of the mercenary regiment.

As for the group leader, it happened to be intercepted by Sean at this time.

At the beginning, this team leader didn't put Sean in his eyes. After all, no matter how he looked at it, Sean looked like a nobleman rather than a truly experienced person. As for the strong like Xiao En, he has already seen a lot of them, most of them have no actual combat ability. The so-called golden realm is just for the better-looking family face. But when they really met, the head of the mercenary group realized that he was wrong.

He knew that this time he really met the so-called geniuses in the empire.

Sean's first sword, without any tricks, used frontal attacks to force the head of the mercenary regiment back. The shot of the second sword directly broke the defensive parry of this regimental commander. Although he was not resolved by Sean's Three Swords because of his long-term combat experience, he was already trapped by the underestimation at the beginning. When he was in the crisis of death, and he was completely at a disadvantage at this time, it was obviously impossible for him to stand up and gain the right to fight rhythm.

Not to mention that Sean's strength itself is not weaker than him, and his combat skills and experience are even above him. The advantage of weapons alone is enough to crush this mercenary group leader.

In addition, Sean had no plans to engage in a protracted battle at all, and he didn't even have the idea of delaying time, so the actions were extremely cruel and deadly.

After only a dozen confrontations, Sean finally caught a flaw in the head of the mercenary regiment, and the Black King in his hand easily tore through the opponent's defensive parry.

I saw the sword light flashing, and accompanied by a scream, the right hand of this mercenary group leader holding the sword was cut off by Sean. Immediately afterwards, Xiao En didn't have any thoughts of keeping his hand, and the sword in his hand turned. He swiped across the opponent's throat, and as a blood arrow shot out, the head of the mercenary regiment covered his throat with one hand. Then he fell to the ground slowly, and he couldn't stand his eyes until he died.

I thought I could rest assured, but in the end it fell short.

Only after solving the head of the mercenary group, Sean did not turn his head to support Rorty Kabas, but stood still and fell into some kind of contemplation. This is the first time that Sean has not relied on the advantages of weapons to win when facing an opponent whose equipment is not as good as his own, but relying on his own fighting skills and sword skills to win. In the confrontation just now, Xiao En faintly had a subtle and mysterious unique feeling.

is like a sword in your hand. It's just a part of one's own body.

It's just that, before Sean really felt it, a screaming scream next to him pulled Sean from his meditation back to reality, which was quite uncomfortable. And then. Even if Sean wanted to calm down and immerse himself in the feeling just now. But it's impossible.

"Your movement is a bit loud." Sean was a little dissatisfied.

"I can't be blamed for this kind of accident." Rorty Kabas felt aggrieved, "I don't know how this guy would make such a scream."

sighed helplessly, Xiao En knew that he must have missed an opportunity, but if this kind of thing could be encountered so casually, it would probably not be an opportunity. Sean was quite open about this, so he quickly let go of these worries. Started searching on this mercenary captain.

Generally speaking, small, precious and important treasures. It must be placed on the head of the mercenary group.

Shaun's guess was not wrong, he quickly found a wooden box from the head of the mercenary group.

The wooden box is not long, about one foot or so, but the wooden box is slightly heavier, obviously the material of the box is not simple. Just holding it in your hand, you can faintly smell the fragrance of flowers and trees. It seems that this ordinary wooden box can't conceal the breath of the treasure in the wooden box.

And Sean, his face changed when he smelled this scent.

Because he had smelled this fragrance not long ago.

"This is..." Rorty Kabas's face changed as he smelled the fragrance in the air.

There are not many things that can be called the treasures by the elves. Most of them are related to the future and development of the tribe. And here in the wild land, the three treasures recognized by those tribal elves are the broken branches of the tree of life, the seeds of the vitality tree, and the immortal wood.

The seed of the tree of vitality is also the seed born from the tree of life. It is an indispensable and important thing for every elven tribe in the wild land that separates from the big tribe and wants to develop separately. Although the effect is not as powerful as the tree of life, it is also necessary to feed a tribe of elves.

As for the broken branches of the tree of life, they are the branches and leaves that fall from the tree of life. The broken branch has no effect on itself, but it has great value for the tree of life that is not itself, because it can accelerate the growth process of a tree of life. It is like the broken branch of the tree of life of the Eye of the Storm tribe. It has no meaning to the tree of life of the Eye of the Storm tribe itself. , Is a very precious treasure.

Immortal wood is relatively rare in the wild. Strictly speaking, this kind of thing should be called lightning strike wood, it is the only dead wood left after being struck by lightning and incinerated. Of course, if it is just dead wood, it will naturally have no effect. One of the prerequisites of the immortal wood is the rebirth of lightning strike wood, that is to say, the dead wood that can still give birth to buds after being burned by thunder fire is qualified to be called lightning strike. Wood.

This kind of thing is also an extremely supplementary thing for the tree of life.

And what Shaun holds in the wooden box is neither the immortal wood nor the seed of the vitality tree, but a piece of real life tree snags!

This kind of thing is sold for auction in the trading capital, and some elves are madly begging for purchase, and it is simply a breeze to auction off the sky-high price of millions at random. For a mercenary group, the thing that can auction millions of pan-continent gold coins is not to mention the entire mercenary group. Treasure, that is also a worthwhile adventure.

But Sean knows better than these stupid mercenaries how dangerous it is to carry such a thing in the wilderness. For those elves, this is simply an unbearable temptation. Now these mercenaries only conceal the fragrance of the broken branches of the tree of life because of the strong smell of blood on their bodies. Once they are cleaned, the tree of life is broken. The fragrance from the branches is enough to make the elves in the vicinity of 500 meters attack them.

"This thing is very hot." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "And, where did these mercenaries get the information?... I thought they got the information from the elves at first, but it's life. The stubborn elves would rather die than reveal the things like tree snags."

"Conspiracy?" Rorty Kabas's voice also seemed a little low.

"It's definitely a conspiracy." Shaun was absolutely sure, "Let's go back and meet with Cecilia and the others, saying that we have to clear the signs along the way."

Chapter 162: .Non-human [first more]

In the middle of the night in the wild land, it became more icy, and the roaring cold wind was blowing, and it was always easy for people to tremble.

But even in this cold night, there are three figures walking.

The person on the left is more than two meters tall and looks unusually strong, but he seems to have a hunchback, and his hands are longer than normal. Even if he is arched, his hands almost touch the ground. However, he didn't wear the cloak commonly used when walking in the wild, but just looking at the appearance of his whole body wrapped in bandages, it seemed that it didn't matter whether he had a cloak or not.

The person on the right seems to be a seven or eight-year-old child. His body is not even stretched, but his gestures and feet are full of old-fashioned feelings. He also didn't wear a cloak, just a black tuxedo-style dress, but it was ridiculous that he had two daggers tied around his waist-but in the case of this child, it was probably a long one. Sword out.

Only the person in the middle looks more like a traveler deep into the wild.

The black hooded cloak makes it impossible to see the figure and gender of this person, but it is obvious that he can walk with the two strange companions on the left and right. This mysterious person wearing a black hooded cloak is not a good person. Update 162. Non-human "Are you sure there really won't be any mistakes?" The man who looked like the child's right suddenly spoke.

"Can't you believe me?" The person in the middle responded coldly, and a ray of killing intent radiated from him.

"Hey, calm down." The kid on the right raised his hands. The expression was a bit exaggerated and exclaimed, "Unless you want to be cut into dozens of pieces by me, don't reveal your killing intent."

Hear the words. The mysterious man in the black robe just snorted coldly, but at the same time the killing intent on his body was slightly reduced.

It's just that when the three of them walked a few steps forward again, the man on the left was covered in bandages and suddenly jumped out to the side. At this moment, he or it showed completely unusual jumping power and agility. With just such a vertical leap, he opened a distance of more than 30 meters with the other two companions, and when he landed, there was even a tremor in the whole earth. In the dusty environment, the ground within a radius of ten meters actually sank to a depth of nearly one meter.

The mysterious person in the middle and the child on the right were also at the moment the bandaged weird jumped away. They stopped at the same time and turned around to attack each other.

The kid who looks like an imp has a terrifying strength that is completely different from his age. Update 162. Inhuman, he drew the two short swords from his waist in an instant, and the air was instantly enveloped by dense silver-white sword shadows. These sword shadows almost completely covered a few feet in front of him. The sound of howling in the air joined together. It was like a violent wind of a masterpiece, and besides that, there was only a sword shadow shrouded, but the child's hands were not visible at all, even the afterimages could not be captured, as if his hands had completely melted into the air.

In contrast, the mysterious man in the cloak does not seem to be as powerful as the child.

When the squally wind shrouded in the shadow of the sword was blowing, the cloak on the mysterious man was finally blown away, revealing the graceful body under the cloak.

This is a woman!

But the weird thing is. The woman's skin is not white, but a blue-gray.

She did not use any weapons. She just stretched out her right hand to attack the child, but her speed was not much slower than the child. Most of the blue-gray afterimages invade the area covered by the sword shadow, and almost where there is a sword shadow, a blue-gray hand shadow will inevitably appear, and every time these two afterimages overlap, there will be a sound. The harsh metal noise and the splashing sparks.

Chapter 163: . Prosaic growth

After solving the remnants of the mercenary group, Sean and Rorty Kabas did not make any stay, so they chose to leave immediately. And after Xiao En found that the thing in his hand was a broken branch of the tree of life, he threw it into the storage ring without hesitation. Carrying this thing with him would only cause him endless trouble. .

However, the unexpected harvest of the broken branches of the tree of life made Sean feel a little bit happy.

At least he fulfilled the promise of the princess of Xuefeng tribe.

However, there was no prompt to complete the task in Sean's taskbar, so Sean guessed that this thing should be sent to the Xuefeng tribe. Now, he only hopes that the broken branches of the tree of life must not be stolen from the eye of the storm tribe, otherwise it will be troublesome.

On the way back, Sean and Rorty Kabas carefully cleaned up the trail clues they left behind. Because there is such a tracking expert as Rorty Kabas, there is no problem in the anti-tracking question: .s. Naturally, there is no problem, but in order to prevent the opponent from being too enchanting, Sean even gave his footprints. Erasing it can be described as a painstaking effort.

He didn't think that those guys who could trick this group of mercenaries into looting with conspiracy would not be able to trace the traces of these mercenaries. It's just that he still didn't understand why anyone would want to  the snags of the tree of life. After all, except for the elves who are interested in this kind of stuff, any other races don't care about these stuff at all, even living in the underground world. The blood elves and dark elves also don't need the broken branches of the tree of life. Because the underground world is simply not suitable for the growth of the tree of life. Moreover, the long time has given them new ways of nurturing children.

Thanks to Sean's caution, he avoided the death spine a few hours later and found only the bodies of the mercenaries. It could not be traced to Sean's head. Of course, if Sean is allowed to meet these Deadthorn people, then he must doubt whether he has missed some important historical events in the game, otherwise why Deadthorn suddenly and inexplicably ran to the wild to collect The broken branches of the tree of life?

However, in view of this, Sean also had a bold guess: since someone is planning to fight the tree of life in the wild, then I am afraid that the three trees of life in the wild will not be spared. Maybe it's possible to get a snag from the second tree of life. I just don't know, if two life tree fragments are sent to the Xuefeng tribe by that time, will the benefits of the system reward be higher?

On the return trip. Because they were worried about being watched, Sean and Rorty Kabas could be said to go all out. Even if they were evacuating and clearing the trail, the speed of the two people was not slow.

So about an hour later. Sean reunited with Cecilia and others. After listening to Sean's guess. Cecilia and others were also surprised. All of them seemed to be vaguely aware that there seemed to be a storm brewing in the Wildlands, and they seemed to have been involved in this storm. It's just that if you want to say something about it, it won't be enough. After all, besides Hina, which one of the people present is not a talent that can be alone, but the combination of their team. In terms of combat power alone, it is even a head-on encounter with an ordinary low-level sanctuary powerhouse. It is not that there is no power to fight, of course, the premise is that there is only one person in this lower sanctuary powerhouse.

If there are more than two people, or if they are strong in the middle sanctuary, then Xiao En thinks it is better to run away.

After a simple night in the desert, Xiao En and others set off again the next day.

Because of the broken branches of the tree of life on his body, Sean had no plans to go to the Xuefeng tribe during this trip. At this time, he had to put this matter on the agenda, but Sean's importance was placed on it. Behind the trip to Heishuize. After all, as far as Sean is concerned, the thing buried in Heishuize is very important to him, because if he guessed correctly, that thing can allow him to successfully step into the realm of high-level gold.

Chapter 164: .The person being hunted down

Time is passing slowly.

The strength of Sean and others is also improving at the same slow speed.

For many people, Sean is simply synonymous with "miracles". Because as early as three years ago, he was only a low-ranking bronze, and he was just a newcomer who had just set foot on the stage of world history. But who could have imagined that, in only three years, Sean changed from the lower bronze and directly into the lower gold, which was an increase in the strength of the entire two realms.

Of course, it's not that no one has speculated that Sean must have used some secret technique to forcibly enhance his strength. After all, there are not few people who can do this kind of thing on the entire continent. However, only those who have really fought against Sean know that there is nothing false about Sean's strength improvement, and every time his strength advances, he can fight alone those veterans who have been in this realm for a long time. , This is really scary.

So when Sean really sinks his heart and begins to sharpen his sword skills, Cecilia will be surprised.

In Cecilia's eyes, Sean is very much in line with the world's ten thousand! Book! .nsb. cut definition of the so-called "genius" in this world. It can even be said that because of Sean's existence, Cecilia Ya also has a new understanding of the word genius. At least Cecilia has never seen Sean's research in swordsmanship, but he is able to defeat many masters who have been practicing in swordsmanship for many years with swordsmanship. People, this really surprised many people. And when Xiao En calmed down and began to refine his swordsmanship again. Cecilia felt that something was changing in Sean's body.

This change may not be so obvious at the moment, but it is gradually. Cecilia found that whenever Sean started to swing a long sword, his temperament would change, becoming more ethereal and outstanding. And this kind of temperament, Cecilia remembered seeing it in the chief court swordsman who was known as the Rumbel Swordmaster, but soon, Cecilia laughed at herself again.

If Sean continues to work  the way of swordsmanship, then it is very possible to become a sword master in the future. But if you want to say that you can become a Juggernaut right now, even if you blindly worship Sean, Cecilia finds it impossible. Not to look down on Sean. It's the meaning of every person who can be called "Holy", but it's not just the four words "Sanctuary Powerful", but it also refers to the fact that the achievement in a certain aspect is truly true. Of transcendence and sanctification.

In Cecilia's eyes, she may not know how to judge the superb swordsmanship. But she was fortunate enough to see the sword master of Rembel who made a sword. It was still vaguely able to distinguish some gaps between Xiao En and the sword saint. After practicing the sword, there is a short rest time.

This is the same for both Sean and Hina. Even Harding has his own training to complete every day, and compared to Sean and Hina, Harding's training will be harder-Harding will not stop until he has completed enough training. Come down. Unlike Sean and Hina, just after completing some simple training. You will start to enjoy your own breakfast, and then you will be on your way. Until the noon and evening rest time will continue to train for a while.

This day is already the 22nd day after Xiao En and others entered the wild land.

The training and fighting along the way have greatly improved Hina's strength. Although she has not officially broken through to the upper bronze, she is not far from this state. Of course, in Sean's true eyes, Hina's growth is clear at a glance, and he also knows why Hina has not become a high-ranking bronze. To put it bluntly, the reason is simple, that is, she has not found the right advancement. Order direction.

Under Rena's dealings, although Hina mainly learns spear skills and martial arts, she has more or less absorbed Rina's unique chivalry and style. Therefore, from the very beginning, Hina's job transfer direction was to grow into a knight, and her Tier 3 profession was indeed a knight. But when Rorty Kabas became Hina's master, Hina suddenly turned into a question mark in the occupation column of personal attributes, which surprised Sean very much.

If it weren't for Hina's growth attributes that did not produce any strong changes, Sean would have to wonder if Hina's strength growth was a problem.

is precisely because of this, so even if Hina's personal combat skills are already very mature in the lower bronze level, she has no intention of stepping into the upper bronze. This point made Sean puzzled, but he guessed that when Hina's professional question marks resumed growth, it might be when she stepped into the upper bronze.

After a simple breakfast, Harding's training just ended. These days, everyone has become accustomed to Harding's masochistic training method, so no one is too fussy.

However, after Harding came back, his first sentence was not to ask for breakfast, but to point in a direction, and then he said: "There is a battle ahead."

"Fighting?"

Everyone was surprised.

"What's the matter?" Sean frowned, "What scale of battle."

"It should be a private grievance or something." Harding thought for a moment. "Anyway, a few guys who seem to be mercenaries are chasing and killing someone... But that person is also quite strange, it looks like a human. But it doesn't feel like a human being."

"Oh?" Hearing Harding's words, this made Sean a little interested, "Let's go and see.... Is the other party strong? Forget it, this question is no use, since I dare to go deep into this. Those mercenaries who are the worst performers are also high-ranking silver masters, and they are not suitable for Xiao Hina to practice."

So, a group of six quickly rushed in the direction Harding was pointing.

Although it has become more and more adaptable to the world now, many times Sean still retains the mentality of some players. For example, Sean doesn't want to miss this kind of join in the fun at the moment. It's just that he himself couldn't say why he had such an idea. Maybe it was Harding's saying that he was like a human but not a human that made him interested.

Soon, the six people saw Harding's so-called battle.

Except for Hina, the distance of two or three hundred meters naturally cannot affect them with the eyesight of other people. So naturally, they saw that there were eight humans dressed like mercenaries on the green wasteland ahead of them who were struggling to hunt down a green-haired man. These eight people are not just a desperate pursuit, but trying to outflank them, and the pocket is constantly shrinking. If there is no accident, the green-haired man may not have much activity in a while. Space out.

Faced with such a situation, the green-haired man was not reconciled to catch it, and would attack his surroundings from time to time. But every time he shoots an arrow, it is, without exception, blocked by the round shields in the hands of these mercenaries. As long as these round shields are not pure iron, they are just covered with iron. Knowing that this archer is obviously not very powerful, but he is very accurate.

But in this environment, it is very difficult for an archer who has no precision but no strength to get any benefits. If he was allowed to stand and shoot, then it might also threaten the lives of these mercenaries, but in this environment of chasing and chasing, unless the archer can "break the defense" damage, otherwise. He couldn't help these mercenaries at all.

For an archer, once the activity space is completely compressed, then the end of the game is naturally conceivable.

"In another ten minutes at most, his space for activity will be completely compressed." Rorty Kabas directly issued the verdict, "With the physical strength of those mercenaries, it is not difficult to maintain for another ten minutes. The battle will be won. The negative is already obvious."

"Mercenary?" Xiao En said faintly, "Those guys are not mercenaries. Didn't you see that they obviously wanted to capture that guy alive? If they were really mercenaries, they would have already started to fight back, how could that be the case? It took a lot of time to encircle, chase and intercept."

"You mean..." Cecilia quickly reacted, "Those are slave trappers?"

"Eight or nine are not ten." Sean shrugged, "The green-haired guy should not be human. Anyway, the slave hunters active here in the Wildlands will definitely not be interested in humans.... But look at that guy. He doesn't look like elves or barbarians. Is there any race that looks like a human in the Wildlands?"

"I want to know, I'll know if you ask him about it." Rorty Kabas said lightly, but his tone was also filled with excitement. It was obvious that he was also interested in the green-haired man. , "Can't get out?"

"Why don't you do it!" Before Sean could speak, Harding was already very angry.

This guy was once planted in the hands of the slave hunting team, so naturally he would not have any good feelings about the slave hunting team. At this time, learning that the eight guys who looked like mercenaries were the slave hunters, Harding had long been unable to contain the anger in his heart, and it could be said that he could not wait to rush to tear them all to pieces.

As a qualified commander-in-chief, of course, Sean needs to take into account his own emotions.

In addition, the opponent is nothing more than a slave hunting team, and Sean and others are really interested in the green-haired man, so without thinking about it for too long, Sean nodded and agreed with Harding's action.

When was almost a little bit on Sean's head, Harding had already rushed towards the slave hunting teams like a black whirlwind.

Chapter 165: .Mermaid Treasure

This is a one-sided battle.

Although in broad daylight, Harding's combat effectiveness cannot be fully utilized, but his vision, skills, and his own strength are there after all, so the few slave trappers who are only upper silver can naturally not be Harding's. opponent. So when Xiao En and others rushed over, Harding had almost ended the battle.

Not completely wiped out, at least two people turned around and fled immediately depending on the situation.

Originally Harding wanted to catch up, but Sean stopped him.

"Why?" Harding, with anger on his face, was a little dissatisfied.

"The killing is meaningless." Sean shook his head. "And you can't vent anything by doing this. In this world, there are too many slave arresters. As long as the world still needs slaves, then this industry will never disappear.... So, even if you kill them all, you will only find that your inner anger is getting more and more, but it will not decrease."

Although he knew that what Shaun said was correct, Harding was still instinctively dissatisfied, but he did not go on to chase the two people, and snorted softly.

"Really, thank you so much!" It seemed that Sean and others were kinder and saved themselves, so the green-haired man quickly gathered around to thank you, "I thought I was going to die. Fortunately, I met you here." "Don't you think that we are also making your idea?" Sean glanced at the green-haired man, and then said with a chuckle.

This look. The smile on the face of the green-haired man quickly froze.

Looking at it up close, Xiao En realized that the man in front of him had a very pleasing outline. Although I can't talk about how handsome he is, he has two dimples when he smiles, which makes him look like a gentle boy next door. His pupils are aqua blue, and his hair is dark green, and it is not long, just shoulder-length, slightly curled up at the tips of his hair. The skin of the whole person is fairer, but the figure is as thin as Sean has seen before. This may be the reason why he doesn't have much power.

Even at this moment, because the smile froze, Sean did not feel any negative emotions of fear in the other party. Instead, he seemed to accept his fate.

"Why didn't you run away?" Sean couldn't help but asked.

"Because running is useless." The man said helplessly. At the same time, he glanced at Harding, Rorty Kabas and others. "I'm not a fool. You can solve the wicked man who has chased me for almost half an hour by just one person. How can I be your opponent....So, I can only admit my fate." "It's really honest." Sean smiled, but then shrugged, "Well then, I only have a few questions to ask you..."

"Will you let me go after you ask?" the man asked with excitement.

A strange look appeared on Sean's face, but he still said, "It depends on my mood and your answer."

"I promise to know everything." The green-haired man nodded very diligently. Putting on an appearance of listening carefully, "First of all. Allow me to introduce myself.... My name is Lanster, Lanster Galen Jelling, and I am from a small coastal country in the north. I am currently determined to become one. Walking on the mainland as a bard."

"Bard?" Sean gave this guy who called himself Lanster a weird look.

If he is really a bard, then it makes sense to explain why his strength is only high-ranking silver, but he dares to go deep into places like the inner circle of the wild land. Unless those really vicious races or monsters, otherwise, not everyone will rashly attack a bard, mainly because there is no benefit or benefit. After all, the bard is a well-known poor ghost—in fact It's not really poor, but most bards will spend all the money they made that day.

Of course, in the game, the bard profession is also not very popular among players, mainly because the attack methods are too single, and the combat positions they are engaged in also conflict with some church clergy professions. Therefore, except for some player groups that do not have a clergy, or a dungeon map that clergy players cannot access, no team is willing to bring bards to upgrade together, and even some large guilds are not willing to accept this profession. Players.

It's just that, although the Lanster confessed abnormally, Sean still knew that the other party did not tell him the truth.

At least he chose to keep his race secret.

"But if it's a bard, what about your guitar?" Sean asked rhetorically.

Bard is a relatively special profession, in addition to the use of bows, arrows, swords and other weapons for combat, their musical instruments are also types of combat weapons. Of course, the basic bards are different in their own preferences, and the musical instruments they use are also different, but they are mostly banjo and harp. The former is a common instrument of male bards, and the latter is female. Of common musical instruments.

"Guitar?" Lanster was taken aback, "What's that?"

"It's your banjo." Guitar is the collective name for male bards in the game, but obviously nobody in this world knows it, so Sean quickly changed his words.

"Blame those damned guys for destroying my banjo, damn!" Lanster exclaimed a little angrily, but then his face became a little surprised, "how do you know I use a banjo."

Sean rolled his eyes: "Because most male bards use the banjo as a musical instrument accompaniment, of course, the possibility of using other instruments is not ruled out. It's just that you don't look like it... The above my intuition. "

"Your instincts are really accurate." At this time, the expressions and body movements on Lanster's face matched his identity as a bard, which seemed very exaggerated.

"Why are those guys chasing you down?" It seems that if Sean continues to talk like this, he doesn't know when he can ask the real content. So Cecilia couldn't help but cut in, "The slave hunters here in the Wild Land will not attack humans at will."

"Because." Lanster's voice gradually faded. He even brought the unique voice change of the bard, which made Sean roll his eyes, "I know a great secret! This secret is related to a treasure! In this film There is an ancient ruin buried beneath the territory, then..."

Before Lanster finished speaking, Sean sighed, "Is the treasure you are talking about, the ancient tomb of the Beast King, the secret of the water demon, or the holy land of the Winged Man?"

All the way. Sean always follows the map, so he naturally knows which tribe belongs to the territory around here. So when Lanster said that there are treasures buried in this territory, Sean roughly knew that it must be the dungeon treasure. It's just that this territory belongs to the ruling territory of a third-class tribe. So there are actually three dungeon treasures in this area, but it is not very clear which Sean the treasure was mentioned by Lanster, so he simply reported the names of these three treasures.

Only, for these three treasures. Sean is not interested at all.

The Beast King Ancient Mausoleum is a deserted underground city. The difficulty of the challenge is only the upper silver. What is produced is a decaying Beastmaster's battle axe. Even if it is started, this axe needs to complete a series of troublesome follow-up tasks before it can be restored into a powerful silver-grade magic weapon. If it is valuable, then Sean doesn't mind taking it away, but this battle axe is a hatchet, not Alfred's usual weapon, and Sean does not have anyone who uses an axe.

As for the secret of the water monster, it produces a pearl of the deep sea. But it is actually a magical imitation item, so it can only be used five times. The effect is to provide the holder with up to 30 minutes of underwater breathing time. Five times combined is only two and a half hours of underwater breathing time, which is also a tasteless prop.

Wingman Holy Land, what it produces is not bad, a weak gold-grade magic weapon in the shape of a trident. It's just that this dungeon happened to be near the third-class tribe, and it was still under the holy land built by that tribe. Entering this ruin would be tantamount to destroying the third-class tribe's holy land, Xiao En was not that stupid. When this ruin was discovered in the game, it was because a player's mission was in conflict with the tribe. As a result, the guild power was used to level the tribe without stopping, and then the entrance of the ruin was discovered.

And Lanster, after hearing Sean's words, looked at Sean in disbelief, his eyes were completely straight, and his voice became even more stuttered: "You...how did you...how did you know? No, Why do you know so many treasures, I... It took a lot of effort for me to know the secrets of the water demon... I... are you also here for these treasures?"

"No." Sean rolled his eyes again.

"You already knew these treasures?" Roti Kabas looked at Sean, his voice and expression were not surprised, as if he had become accustomed to Sean's erudition, "Why didn't you tell us?"

"We weren't here for these treasures." Sean said lightly, "and these dungeons have nothing good." At this point, Sean turned his head and began to look at Lanster again, and then spoke. Said: "I believe you are a bard now.... With your professional ability, it is not difficult to know the secret location of such a treasure, but not everyone can enter the wild land. , You'd better stop hitting these treasures."

Lanster didn't seem to hear Sean's words. He kept looking at the people around Sean, and then he found that everyone seemed to be not curious about how Sean would know the secrets of these treasures, even if they had never heard of them before. Sean has not heard of it.

This kind of performance is as if they have known that Sean is a very knowledgeable person, and often make some unexpected behaviors, and they have become accustomed to it. And Lanster, after making this discovery, he suddenly developed a strong curiosity about Sean, so when Sean was about to leave, he suddenly ran forward and stopped Sean and the others. Down.

"What else do you want to do?" Sean looked at the bard in front of him a little amused.

"You seem to be very knowledgeable." Lanster stared at Sean very seriously before speaking.

"It's okay." Sean thought for a while. He felt that he could not be regarded as erudite, at best he knew some things and secrets that the world did not know now.

"Then do you know what the treasures are in the Water Demon Vault?" Lanster asked again.

This time, everyone looked at Sean with a little more curiosity. Obviously, they also want to know the answer.

"It's just an imitation of the deep sea pearl." Sean began to get a little impatient, "I'm not interested in that treasure at all."

"Wait a minute." Looking at Sean and the others about to leave again, Lanster was also a little anxious. "Yes, it is indeed an imitation of the Deep Sea Pearl..." When he said this, Lanster looked at Sean. His gaze also became strange, "Although I don't know how you know it, you should be very clear about the value of the Pearl of the Deep Sea."...

"The true pearl of the deep sea is indeed a priceless treasure." Sean frowned, and he was a little annoyed by Lanster's endless entanglement. The same Rorty Kabas and others looked at Lanster with a bit of bad eyes. "But it's just an imitation. It can only provide up to five use effects, and the duration of each time is less than 30 minutes. I don't think this thing will have any value....Perhaps, when it is used the number of times. After using it up, maybe one or two thousand gold coins can be sold."

One or two thousand gold coins. If he and Cecilia were still serving as mercenaries, then Sean is still a little interested, but now it is really difficult for him to mention one or two thousand gold coins. What interest. In particular, going to the Water Demon Secrets is not a simple matter. This kind of income and adventure are completely inconsistent with each other. Maybe it can even be said to be a loss-making business.

"You are indeed very knowledgeable, but... have you ever wondered why there is only such a deep sea pearl in a dungeon treasure?"

When he heard Lanster's words, Sean was taken aback for a moment, and then he thought deeply.

The so-called dungeon treasure is only in the dungeon mode when the wasteland is first opened up, which means that everyone can enter as long as they find the entrance of the dungeon, and they will fight and compete on the same map. Therefore, the wasteland reclamation income of a dungeon treasure has already been fixed. The more teams you enter, the less the income of each team will naturally be. This is why the problem of malicious pk always occurs when the dungeon is reclaiming wasteland.

Once the dungeon is successfully reclaimed, the dungeon will be transformed into a copy mode, when all teams can enter, and they will not be on the same map.

On the forum at that time, there were a total of four teams in the Wasteland Water Demon Secret Store, and each team had a wasteland reclamation video. Although three of them were eliminated in the process of land reclamation, when the fourth team successfully reclaimed the dungeon, the final gain was only income worth less than 30,000 gold coins, even if the other three teams were counted. As a whole, the lost income is not even 50,000 yuan.

However, there are a total of seven teams participating in the dungeon wasteland reclamation of the Beastmaster Guling, and the final harvest is evenly distributed, and each team has an income of nearly 100,000 gold coins.

This gap can be very large.

It's just that, after the team successfully opened up wasteland, the Water Demon Secret Hidden has indeed become a dungeon mode.

Sean frowned, he suddenly thought of a possibility: Is it because the wasteland is incomplete?

If the wasteland is incomplete, the dungeon will become a copy, but this copy is naturally incomplete. Of course, it is not without the opportunity to remedy, but the effort required is more troublesome than the first time the dungeon was opened up, and it is very troublesome to trigger a series of hidden conditions.

"It seems that you don't know, right?" Lanster guessed when he saw Sean's brows frowning. "The imitation of the Deep Sea Pearl is just a surface arrangement. It is also entering the real water monster secret. The key to hiding. Strictly speaking, that treasure should be called a mermaid treasure."

Chapter 166: .Mermaid

Sean looked at Lanster with more and more weird eyes. It was not until Lanster was a little hairy that Sean laughed: "That's it. That's it! I understand!"

Everyone looked at Sean curiously, obviously not understanding what Sean understood.

In fact, what Sean understands at this time is naturally unable to tell others.

The group of people who opened up the wasteland water demon secret store did not completely develop this dungeon, so it formed the later incomplete copy. Although some people did think that this dungeon was incomplete later, they were always trying to make this dungeon complete, but because they had not been able to find hidden clues, they were finally determined that the wasteland of the water demon secret store had been opened up. Is complete, this is a copy of the five garbage.

Yes, this copy of the Water Demon Secret Vault is a five-person copy.

Although there is no limit on the number of people in the dungeon, there is a limit on the number of people after being converted to a copy. It's just that the water demon secret copy, even if there is no limit on the number of people in the dungeon wasteland mode, but there is only one imitation of the Deep Sea Pearl, so in the end only five people can enter the real dungeon. Because the imitation of the Deep Sea Pearl is activated, it will form a water breathing buff that lasts for 30 minutes. It does not mean that players can share the 30 minutes of each use through a relay race. This This is also the point where the team that got the Deep Sea Pearl imitation "Chang"..ne products was very dissatisfied. In subsequent dungeons, players can still get an item called "Deep Sea Pearl Imitation" after clearing the level. However, unlike the situation of the first wasteland reclamation, the copy of the Deep Sea Pearl in the dungeon cannot be brought out of the dungeon. This is also the reason why some players suspect that the water monster secret has not been completely opened up. Just no matter how they look for it. But it was still unable to find a place to use the Deep Sea Pearl in this copy, so it would not be stopped later.

But who can think of it.

This dungeon, or a copy of wasteland, needs a tour guide!

Without the guide's guidance, it is impossible to open the real water monster dungeon. This is the most crucial hidden clue in this dungeon!

The reason why the dungeon failed when it was opened up was also because there was no tour guide.

But. Is this tour guide so easy to find?

Obviously not.

If Sean had not guessed wrong, Lanster Galen Yelling must have appeared in the wild in the same way in the game. It can even be said that the player knew this copy of the Water Demon Vault must have been known through Lanster Galen Yelling. But unfortunately, those players either killed Lanster as a monster, killed him accidentally, or sold him to the slave hunting team. Anyway, anyway, Lanster Galen Yelling in the game. There must be no in-depth communication with the players. This led to the failure of wasteland reclamation in this dungeon.

"Are you a mermaid?" Shaun stared at Lanster, and then said again, "If I remember correctly, the mermaid is a grace race of the gods, and its history can even be traced back to the dawn of dawn. But since After the end of the Ash Age, with the destruction of Atlantis and the fragmentation of the mainland, the situation of the merman tribe was worsening day by day, probably more than 10,000 years ago. The merman tribe should be officially extinct from the miracle continent. That's it.... I didn't expect that there would be survivors."

After hearing Sean's words, Lanster's face changed drastically. A feeling of trembling and horror instantly surged from my heart. This feeling made Lanster seem to have an illusion. He seemed to be deep in a vortex of ice, and the blood in his body seemed to be about to solidify. This made his complexion almost transparent, and the blue blood even appeared looming. All of a sudden, his racial identity was truly and completely exposed.

The blood of the merman tribe is clear and blue.

Shaun's mouth raised slightly.

"I heard that if a mermaid cries, tears will turn into pearls." As a magician, Cecilia's understanding of mermaids is limited to books. At this time, it is inevitable to see real living creatures. Will look more excited, "And if you go out your eyes, they will turn into night light beads."

"No, no, it's all a rumor!" Lanster was already unable to move because of the fear of being seen through his identity. At this time, when he heard Cecilia's words, the whole person jumped in shock, "Even if I cried. If it does, it's just ordinary tears, at best it's a little saltier than normal humans, and even if my eyes are dug out, it's absolutely! Absolutely! It will never turn into a luminous bead!"

"Really?" Cecilia started to look up and down Lanster with suspicion, "I heard that mermaid is full of treasures, and the textbook also writes that."

"That's all speculation!" Lanster said with a weeping face, very innocent. "As a mermaid, how can I not know! I am really no different from you humans. I am also a human being, not a Warcraft. Or what kind of monster, how can it be said that the whole body is full of treasures. Would you dig out human hearts or eyes?"

"Well, yes." Cecilia nodded, "Many sorceries are like this, and there are even various sacrifices of living people."

"Mom, the terrestrial world is terrible." Lanster was really about to cry, but no tears fell.

"This time this little guy is telling the truth." Sean sighed. He finally knew why Lanster had mysteriously disappeared in the game. Obviously he believed that "mermaid is full of treasures". There are not a few people who say, "The tears of a mermaid will not turn into pearls, and the digging eyes will not turn into luminous beads. As for things like the heart of a mermaid, it is also nonsense."

Sean wanted to stretch out his hand and rub Cecilia's head, but realized that she didn't know when, Cecilia had grown up almost as tall as him. This made Sean have to feel miraculous about the height of the people in mainland China. .

"The tears of the mermaid actually only have a special ingredient, which is very suitable for medicine. And the healing potions that add the tears of the mermaid are very effective. As for the heart of the mermaid, it is actually just a gift from the ancestors to the younger generations. , It can be a warning quote. Or it may be a weapon that has been used, or a way of doing things and other weird things. It does not refer to the heart of a mermaid." Sean said softly, "As for the wizards, priests The so-called mermaid heart is practically the murloc heart.... Many people can't tell the difference between murloc and mermaid, but in fact these are two species. Although the former is considered humanoid, it is essentially humanoid. In terms of it, it belongs to the category of monsters like goblins. The latter is a veritable humanoid creature, which can be regarded as an orc type."

"Yes, yes, yes. That's it!" Lanster nodded hurriedly, with a face of approval, "You are really knowledgeable! More knowledgeable than our mermaid elders!"

The life span of the merman tribe is naturally a long-lived race compared to human beings. After all, it was the grace race of the gods in the age of dawn. Just like an elf. It's just that the identity of the mermaid in the dawn of dawn is just a pet, unlike the elves that can claim to be the people of the gods, there is still a big difference between the two. Therefore, the mermaid has the same beautiful appearance, sweet singing voice, and even long life span as the elves. Of course, they are not as long as the elves, which are four or five hundred years old. Under normal circumstances, the mermaid can only live for about two hundred years. A strong mermaid might be able to live for four hundred or even five hundred years, but this is the limit.

As a pet, after all. In the eyes of the gods, there is no need to know the battle, so because of this talent limitation. The merfolk are not good at fighting. Because of this, the mermaid tribe has hardly ever seen a strong man above the sanctuary, even if it was the extremely strong Mermaid Empire Atlantis, the strong man in the empire is not legendary, just the upper sanctuary.

This is also the main reason why Atlantis would collapse and sink to the bottom of the sea.

But on the other hand, the mermaid tribe who likes peace by nature is also a more knowledgeable race, because their long life span gives them a lot of time to understand various knowledge, and even know how to apply this knowledge to it. In real life. Like the Atlantis empire back then, it was famous for its power of science and technology, and even the murlocs that can be seen almost everywhere in coastal locations are actually made by the merfolks to guard the empire's waters and waters. As cannon fodder in war.

"It's really boring." Cecilia curled her lips, looking a little bored, but her eyes were still moving around Lanster. Obviously, if given the opportunity, Cecilia still wanted to do something wrong with Lanster. Good experiment.

This is probably the so-called common problem of magicians.

This reaction naturally scared Lanster to hide behind Sean.

Sean, who knows some basic reactions and behavior habits of the Mermaid tribe, feels troubled at this time. Because it is obvious that this mermaid has regarded himself as the closest person, as the current means of seeking refuge is an instinctive reaction of the mermaid to the close people.

"What do you think?" Xiao En sighed helplessly, turned his head and looked at the people next to him, "Should I go to see the ruins?"

"I don't care." Harding shrugged.

"You decide." This was Cecilia's voice.

"What remains? What is that?" Hina and Hitley were still a little confused.

"Go, I really want to see it." For dark elves, treasure hunting is also one of their great pleasures, and this kind of thing is obviously impossible to miss.

"I only need one thing in there, and all the other things in the secret store belong to you!" Seeing that Sean and others became interested in the mermaid treasure, Lanster hurriedly stated his position, "I swear, I The thing you need is not the most valuable, just because it makes the most sense to me, and I don't want anything else, so I promise that this adventure will never let you go for nothing. ."

Seeing that Lanster was already talking about it, Sean looked around at the other people again.

He really wants to know the true face of the dungeon of the Water Demon Vault. After all, this was a secret that no one had discovered in the game. Therefore, as someone who still maintains the mentality of some players, he is really interested in this kind of adventure. . But in the same way, Sean is also very clear that this dungeon is a five-person limit, which means that only five people can actually enter the mermaid treasure dungeon, and their team has six people, then this It means that one person must be waiting on it.

Sean is very familiar with the system of the original game.

So since this imitation of the Deep Sea Pearl limits the number of uses, and the duration of each use is 30 minutes, then this means that they have to stay in the water for a long time. Although this is the real world, if you can swim for thirty minutes with one breath, maybe you can pass through this area, but Sean doesn't think these guys have this ability.

"You can go, but there is a problem we need to solve." Xiao En said softly, "Who is responsible for staying behind?"

Chapter 167: .Entrance to the Water Demon Vault

The Water Demon Treasure, or the Mermaid Treasure, is not far from where Xiao En and others are now.

Although Sean is a little confused about the specific location, it doesn't matter at this time, anyway, Lanster knows where it is.

So when the group moved forward, it was naturally led by Lanster, but so far, Sean and others have not been able to decide who is responsible for staying behind.

Two people like Hina and Hitley are definitely not good. The former is because their strength is not strong enough. After all, staying behind is not just in a daze, but also needs to deal with some dangers and problems that may follow. Once they are not dealt with properly If they do, it is inevitable that they will still be suppressed by force. It is precisely because of this that Hitley, who has no combat ability, is naturally unable to stay behind, and Cecilia, who is also a magician who lacks melee combat methods, naturally cannot.

The only remaining candidates are Sean, Harding and Rorty Kabas.

Sean just glanced at the enthusiastic Rorty Kabas, knowing that this guy would definitely not want to stay behind, the dark elf's cunning and various faulty characters were simply the most perfect interpretation of this guy. If let him be in charge of staying behind, Sean really doesn't know what kind of troubles will happen, the book% says 3.nsb.m anyway, with the character of Rorty Kabas, it is absolutely impossible to stay on top of it obediently. And Harding.

To be honest, Sean still doesn't trust him so much, or he is not trusted enough to allow him to act freely. If Harding is allowed to stay on it, maybe he turns around and runs away, then Sean really doesn't know how to deal with it by then. Can't he immediately return to the Nether of the Void and solve all of Harding's ethnicities, right?

With Harding's strength, once he is allowed to grow up, I am afraid it will bring great troubles or problems.

certainly. This refers to situations where they are on opposite sides.

As for Sean himself, to be honest, he wants to know what the mermaid treasure is like more than anyone else, so of course it is impossible for him to stay behind.

There were no results in the discussion, so Sean could only give it up temporarily, and waited until the dungeon to make plans.

.....

Shortly after Xiao En and others left, a group of about thirty people arrived at the place where Xiao En had rescued Lanster before.

The leader is a middle-aged man with a calm momentum.

There are three scars on his face that cross his left eye from his forehead. If it is a little bit to the lower right, it is estimated that his right eye will also be abolished. However, the marks of these three scars are very close, and it seems that they were not attacked by weapons. It's more like a scar caused by the sharp claws of a certain creature. For those veterans who have been on the verge of life and death all year round, just by looking at the scrolling and * color of these three scars, they can easily distinguish these three scars, perhaps at least six or seven years old. If Sean was there, he would recognize who this man was at a glance.

Dragon Slayer. Maien.

A variety of dragon-like and dragon-like creatures that are rarely seen in normal times. It is not a rare creature in the wild. Instead, they belong to creatures that can be seen everywhere. When the dragon knight army of the Millennium Empire was formed, the earth travel dragons and two-footed wyverns were all captured and tamed in the wild land. They also included the various dragons and genus that can be seen in other surrounding countries. Dragons are also transported from the wild land here.

And Man, his fame battle was made famous by single-handling a Velociraptor, and the scar on his face was left to him by this Velociraptor. From then on, Mann would attack without hesitation as long as he saw a dragon-shaped creature. There were more than 100 sub-dragons and dragon-like dragons who died directly in his hands, and after each victory, Mai En would shatter the dragon corpses. And will eat the most precious part of his body.

Because of this, Mann has the unique title of "Dragon Slayer".

In addition to eating the meat and organs of many dragon-like creatures, although Mann's personal strength is only the uppermost gold, the two abilities of strength and endurance have already reached the growth limit. In the game, some players even speculate that Mai En's physical strength should have reached the standard of a bronze body, but he has been unable to break through to the sanctuary realm because of his personal talent.

Of course, Sean will know such a number one person, also because Mai En has more than twenty missions directly or indirectly related to the entire wilderness. And if there were players in the game who wanted some dragon creature materials, they would definitely be able to buy them through Mai En. There was no possibility of out-of-stock at all. Of course, the price was definitely not cheap.

Mann squatted on the ground and checked for a circle before he stood up again, frowning slightly, which made the aura that exudes from him even colder: "The person who attacked you was attacking you with his bare hands. of?"

"Yes." A survivor who had escaped Harding's attack just now nodded. "He is wearing a cloak, we can't see the specific situation, but the arm armors on his hands are very strange, they are black and red. , But it looks more like inborn, rather than wearing armor like handguards. His speed is very fast, and also very fierce, other people are almost completely torn when they meet him. ."

A cruel grin appeared on Man's face: "This guy is definitely not a human.... You said that the other party has a companion?"

"Yes, there are probably four or five people, because the distance is too far, it is not very clear." Another survivor replied.

"This guy is not a human, so surely none of the people walking with him are humans." Maien stretched out his hand to touch the scar on his face, and smiled even more. "Unexpectedly, there was a man who ran away, but it attracted Such a big fish is really good.... Today the witch priest of the Haika tribe said that I will encounter good things, and he did not lie to me, haha!"

"Over there, let's start the chase right now, so many of us..." a middle-aged man with the same strong breath exuding from his body asked in a deep voice.

"We?" Man raised his eyebrows, turned his head and glared at him. Just this one glance made the opponent afraid to continue to speak, "Stop being smart there. People who can tear them apart with their bare hands, do you think they can win by relying on the crowd strategy? What's more, do you think there is only one opponent like this? ...Can you use your brain more when you do things?"

was so scolded by Mann. The middle-aged man lowered his head uncomfortably, not daring to speak casually.

"Isn't that mermaid always clamoring to know what treasure? Those guys must have walked with that mermaid because of this... Oh, really ignorant, we have been active in the wild for so long, if there is really What treasures have been discovered by us a long time ago, and it's their turn." Maien said coldly, "Notify everyone. Pay close attention to everything around you. As long as you find someone who is dressed like them, immediately notify me.... You guys It's best not to act on your own terms. Because you are not their opponents at all."

Speaking of this, Maine pondered for a moment, and then said again: "Let Rornas, Klee, and Jerba all prepare for me."

Every time Mann called out a name, everyone's heart trembled slightly. Until Mann called out these three names. All talents suddenly realized that the situation before them seemed much more dangerous than they thought. Because these three people are the most profitable assistants under Mai En, and only when dealing with more difficult opponents or dragons, Mai En will let them all come back and prepare for battle.

This time, no one dared to say anything, everyone just silently implemented Mann's orders.

And Man, he glanced at the corpses around him cruelly. Then he licked the corner of his mouth: "Sure enough, the real opportunity to make big money is still in chaos. Now the wild land is in chaos. Anyone who really dares to run out, hehe...If you don't take advantage of the present If you make a few pens, I am afraid there will be no such good opportunity in the future."

.....

On the other side, Sean and others, who had been stared at by Deaththorn and Dragon Slayer without any knowledge, also came to a hill under Lanster's leadership.

In the wild land, because of the topography, it is rare to see peaks above 300 meters above sea level, let alone mountains. There are a lot of hills like this slightly raised, or hill-like plains with uplifting terrain, and the more you move toward the deep belly of the wild land, such terrain will appear more frequently, and it is precisely because of this. The terrain enables the cavalry armies of the human kingdom to maximize their combat advantages.

On this hill, there are dozens of huge stones that are as tall as a person.

Because of the weathering of these stones, except for a few pieces of which can still be seen broken marks, the others have become smooth and smooth. But if you look closely, you can still see that these rocks should have been a huge boulder at first, probably about seven or eight meters high, and they were broken into such large rocks of various sizes after being crushed by a strong force.

"It should be near here." Lanster glanced around, then said, "Wait a minute, I, let me see..."

Looking at Lanster starting to take out a small book from his pocket, and then began to look for it, Sean sighed helplessly, and then began to look around the surrounding environment. After coming here, Xiao En roughly knew where the entrance to the Water Demon Secrets was. In the game, there were players here to pk. He accidentally smashed one of the stones to reveal the entrance. The road to the dungeon.

And normal people, how can they come here to play stones when they are full and staying idle.

Blasting all the stones is naturally a way, but Sean does not intend to do this. Maybe it was for a little vanity, or maybe it was because he wanted to show off his magic stick or erudition, so Sean was going to find the entrance of the dungeon directly.

Wandered around, and then compared the environment of the entrance of this dungeon in his impression. Soon Shaun locked a huge boulder.

Taking a deep breath, Xiao En gently lifted the Black King in his hand.

At this moment, an airy and unique temperament instantly radiated from Xiao En's body, even causing energy fluctuations in the surrounding space.

This kind of energy fluctuation is very slight, and only people with very keen perception can notice it. And among the people present at this time, there are several people who are very sensitive. Almost at the same time, Harding, Rorty Kabas, Cecilia and Hitley turned their heads and looked at them. The direction in which Sean stands, of course, depends on each person's perception and understanding of the rules, and the pictures they see are also different.

Cecilia is naturally the one that can see the most content.

The energy in the space turned into strands of white silk threads, which were then wrapped around Xiao En's right hand one after another, like a spring silkworm spinning, the entire right hand of Xiao En was wrapped into a white light cocoon.

The next moment, when Sean swung the sword out, the light cocoon instantly scattered into countless white silk threads, and then densely wrapped around Sean's black king—in Cecilia's eyes, this handle The black long sword was as silver as a holy sword at this moment. It's just a pity that when Sean's sword was swung, only a quarter of these silver-white rays were swept out at the same time, following the traces of the black king's wave, and shot out, but they were entangled on the black king. Three-quarters of the drop failed to shoot together, instead they collapsed on their own.

Cecilia sighed slightly.

Since she was able to see the line of rules, she has a completely different view of many things in this world. So Cecilia knows very well that the silver-white energies just now are the power of the rules of this world, and Sean can attract these energies, which proves that he has begun to walk on the road of contact with the laws, but it is a pity. Yes, this kind of ability seems to only occasionally appear when Shaun is out of the sword.

In other words, in the screen that Cecilia can "see", Sean is getting closer and closer to the level of "Holy" in the way of sword skills. If all the white rays were swayed, then it would be a blow from the real sanctuary powerhouse. But just like this, it is still impossible to become a strong in the sanctuary, at most it can only be said to have the strength to defend the lower sanctuary.

Just don't become a real sanctuary powerhouse, so at most, he can only wield this powerful sword skill two to three times, and he can't really compare with the sanctuary powerhouse.

It seemed that Sean was just swinging a sword, but this huge boulder had dozens of light and shadow jumping in an instant, and then it turned into dozens of smaller stones and fell to the ground. Afterwards, Sean took advantage of the fact that the stones had not completely landed, and immediately swung two swords again to make the broken stones smaller, and he could even kick these stones away with just a light kick.

A cellar-style door was presented in front of everyone.

"Ahhhhh, I found it, I found it, I know the entrance is..." Lanster closed his notebook with a look of excitement, then turned his head and shouted to everyone, just as soon as he turned around, he had already seen it. The entrance of the water demon secret is nakedly presented in front of everyone, "...Where..."

Chapter 168: .Like a world away

At the entrance of all dungeons on the Marvel Continent, it is of course impossible to be naked in front of everyone.

In the game, all NPCs have their own thinking and will, not dull data. So they will also have their own lives and adventures. They will also explore, learn, and do all kinds of things. Compared with the players, it's just because they can't resurrect indefinitely. So if there is a dungeon entrance blatantly placed, these NPCs would have been the first step to explore it.

Opened the entrance of the water monster secret store, and there was no scene where a large amount of airflow was sucked in as everyone expected, but it seemed very calm.

At this moment, everyone knows that this dungeon may have good ventilation capabilities. If the place is sealed for too long, once it is reopened, it will cause the airflow to * back. It is truly a magnificent scene like a whale. .

Sean once had the privilege of encountering such a scene.

. No. Wrong. .s. Cecilia stretched out her hand and shook slightly, Solomon's eighteenth flames appeared, and immediately after Cecilia waved her hand, these flames quickly flew towards the entrance doorway, illuminating everything along the way. . What appeared in front of everyone was a staircase like a spiral staircase in the mage tower.

This staircase is made of ground rock. The height of each step is three centimeters. Except that you need to bend down and lower your head when you first enter, you find that the passage height of this underground staircase is not low after entering it.

Shaun was the first to walk into it.

It's just that when he walked into this passage, he felt a sense of a world away in his heart.

The first team that discovered this dungeon in the game started video shooting from here. And when Shaun stepped into here, the scenes that were shot in the video began to replay one by one in Shaun's mind.

Shaun stretched out his hand gently. Stroking the wall next to the stone ladder, the touch is not the bumpy feel of the ordinary rock layer, on the contrary, it is very smooth, as if someone has carefully polished it. From this careful style, Sean can be sure that the dungeon ruins are really related to mermaid, because those guys are indeed infected with many elves' faults, especially in the manifestation of such details. They are like obsessive-compulsive disorder patients.

Sighed slightly, Xiao En cleared up his mood, and then started to walk forward. The dungeon of Water Demon Vault is actually not big. If you really want to explore the entire area, it only took less than five hours in the game. Of course, after changing to the dungeon mode, it only takes a little more than an hour to clear the level, if the team members are sharp and are already familiar with this dungeon. Then you can even compress the time to less than one hour.

Although everyone doesn't know why Sean showed such a sympathetic side just now. But Sean didn't say it, and it was hard for others to ask. Of course, people who are very curious and gossiping like Rorty Kabas naturally set their sights on Cecilia, even with some inquiries. It was a pity that Cecilia shook her head helplessly, saying that she didn't know.

A group of people filed in.

This dungeon is obviously very deep. Because everyone walked for almost three minutes, but they still didn't mean to the end. Along the way. Because of the oppression of the dark environment and the constant sound of everyone's footsteps, Hina and Hitley both had a strange sense of depression. This feeling made them very uncomfortable, even if it was Cecilia. The strong and firm mental power also felt a little discomfort at this time.

On the contrary, Lanster can easily hum a little tune in this environment. Obviously, the mermaid family has lived in the deep sea for a long time and has long been accustomed to such an environment. Similarly, Harding and Rorty Kabas, the two residents from the underground world, also did not feel any discomfort, or they felt that the reactions of Hina and Hitley should be normal, but Sean seemed a little bit uncomfortable. normal.

Is Shaun abnormal?

In fact, this is not the case. At this time, he should be said to be extremely normal, even with unprecedented clarity of mind.

It takes five minutes to walk the entire spiral staircase, no more, no less, exactly five minutes.

This countdown has been chanted silently in Sean's heart.

When there were thirty seconds left in the countdown, Sean stopped suddenly.

Originally, Sean was walking in the forefront. As soon as he stopped, the whole team naturally had to stop. Because of the heavy flames of Solomon from Cecilia, the surrounding environment can naturally be seen very clearly. Everyone looked around a little curiously, and found no difference. After all, what they saw when they walked down. All the stairs and walls are exactly the same.

Just as Rorty Kabas was about to ask questions, Sean suddenly drew a sword and knocked on his next step.

In a short time, the entire three steps in front of them were completely shattered and collapsed, revealing the trap underneath—the lancet trap.

This is a very common trap, not even a trace of magical craftsmanship. Just dig a hole in the ground and bury some sharp things underneath it. Anyone who accidentally stepped on the air will fall into these traps, and then the result will naturally be directly penetrated by these sharp objects.

"This....."

"Habit is a terrible thing." Sean said faintly, "The surrounding scenery is exactly the same for five minutes. The dark and dull pressure alone is enough to make all of us feel irritable, so mentally The consumption will only double, and it is easy to overlook some details."

Hearing what Shaun said, everyone's heart was stunned, because the situation just now was exactly as Shaun said, they were completely relaxed. Even Rorty Kabas and Harding, two people who are accustomed to the dark, didn't take it seriously just now. They didn't realize it until they heard what Shaun said. From the moment they stepped into the dungeon stairs, the exploration had already begun, so the danger was naturally buried.

is just the length of three steps. It's hard to stop Xiao En and others, and they passed safely with a single leap.

The next step is just the last ten steps. When the journey is complete, everyone comes to a bronze door.

This bronze door is not so majestic. At best, it can only be regarded as exquisite and complicated, with the style of the elves pursuing gorgeousness, but it is not decorated with hollow in the carving. This point is still very different from the elves.

Looking at this bronze door, Sean whispered his own stupidity secretly.

All the clues in it have been pointed out from the beginning that they are related to the mermaid clan, but why did no one think about it in the game at the beginning?

To know. As the favored race of the gods, the mermaid tribe has the earliest contact with the elves, and the two tribes have always had various exchanges, so they naturally become learning objects for each other. The mermaid is the same as the elves. The same is the pursuit of gorgeous and exquisite style. It's just that the merman tribe is more practical than the elven tribe, so they don't say that in order to deliberately make things look beautiful and gorgeous, they make a lot of complicated patterns.

"Be careful in a while." Xiao En took a deep breath, knowing that when the gate is opened, the first wave of enemy attacks will be ushered in. That is to say, from now on. All the traps that were set up when this dungeon was set up will be officially activated. I don't want us to have any downsizing here."

The team that recorded the video. It is here that the stabbing spear trap and the bronze gate have compromised five people-the three who fell into the stabbing spear trap were directly killed in seconds, including a priest who is responsible for healing; and in the bronze gate, It was because of the lack of a healing priest, that when the team encountered a group of puppets here, they were too pressured to support them, so they sacrificed two more members.

But, Sean can't tell them that after the bronze gate is opened, he will be attacked by the mechanism puppets, right? Many words

When they were asked why they knew, Sean couldn't answer at all, so he could only remind them to be careful.

"Behind the bronze door are twelve organ puppets. Once this bronze door, the twelve puppets will be activated." Just when Sean was about to open the bronze door, Lanster suddenly spoke. This made everyone present stunned.

Sean turned his head and stared at Lanster in surprise. It wasn't until Lanster showed a chilling look again that Sean said, "Since you know this information, you should tell us earlier, and then we will do more. I'm sure I can successfully explore this dungeon."

If Sean had some doubts about Lanster's value in the past, then there is no doubt at all now, because he knows that his previous conjecture is correct. To explore this dungeon, you must bring Lanster in. Only in this way can you truly enter the dungeon where the mermaid treasure is buried. Similarly, in this dungeon called the Secret of the Water Demon, there is Lanster in the dungeon. It can also avoid a lot of troubles and problems.

"Is there any way to crack it?" Roty Kabas asked.

"According to the ancient records of our mermaid tribe, the mermaid crown can control these organ puppets, but this crown has long been missing, so I can only provide you with some weaknesses about the organ puppets." Lanster hurriedly said. Said, "This bronze door is equivalent to a magic node control valve. Once the door is opened, all the defense facilities of this water demon secret will be activated. The mechanism puppet behind the door is activated by the supply of magic power, but at the door It takes a total of one minute to open to the completion of the magic power supply, so how many organ puppets can be destroyed in this minute depends on our strength."

Hearing Lanster's words, Sean finally understood why the team in that video was attacked by the agency puppets when they entered the encirclement of these agency puppets.

Originally, he thought it was the people of the adventurer team who stepped on the mechanism that caused them to be attacked. It turned out that this was not the case, just because the entire dungeon's defense facilities were all activated. However, if there is a one-minute buffer time, Xiao En feels that it is not a problem to solve the twelve organ puppets behind the bronze door.

"The mechanism puppet of the Mermaid is driven by a magic circuit device. This device is all installed under the puppet's head." Xiao En pointed to his throat, and then said, "Probably in this position.The easiest way is naturally to destroy this place. As long as this magic circuit is destroyed, these puppets cannot move. However, the mechanism puppets of the Mermaid tribe are made of special synthetic metal materials, which have certain magic resistance and Hardness defense, so the best way is to attack from behind and directly disassemble the head of the mechanism puppet, so that you can attack the magic circuit inside."

"That's it." Everyone nodded.

"Yes, that's it." Harding looked at Sean with admiration, "You are really very knowledgeable. It took me a long time to find these materials."

"Okay, don't talk nonsense, everyone is ready to fight." Xiao En said in a deep voice.

He may not be able to accurately say that there is a guarding power like an organ puppet behind the bronze gate, but since Lanster said it, it is naturally not difficult for him to "icing on the cake" in a timely manner. After all, everyone knows that he is famous for its wide range of knowledge. Therefore, simply announcing the weaknesses of the organ puppets is naturally good for the entire team.

When everyone was ready, Sean walked to the bronze door and reached out to push the bronze door.

Just when his hand just touched the bronze door, the long-lost system prompt appeared again.

【You have triggered the Dungeon Dungeon-Mermaid's Treasure】

【Task Objective 1: Find the entrance of the Mermaid City】

【Task objective 2:? ? ? 】

【Task Objective 3:? ? ? 】

[Task Objective 4: Dungeon exploration degree reaches 100%]

[Task Reward: When you complete task objective 1, you will get a lucky draw chance; when you complete task objective 2, you will get a directional equipment lottery chance; when you complete task objective 3, you will get the mermaid crown; when you complete task objective 4, you will get a legendary treasure Picture one.]

【Task penalty:? ? ? 】

Chapter 169: .Puppet

Shaun was taken aback.

It has been a long time since he heard the system prompt. The last time he heard it was when he made a deal with the Princess Saloqi of the Snow Wind tribe. It's just that compared with this time, the task rewards are naturally different, because Sean hasn't gotten the prize draw for a long time.

Of course, what Shaun cares more about is the reward for completing mission objective 2. He really wants to know what the so-called "pointing equipment lottery opportunity" is. But when I glanced at both Mission Objective 2 and Mission Objective 3, they were all question marks, and I knew that these two missions might not be easy to complete, let alone that they were also question mark mission penalties. However, Sean judged based on the experience in the game, he believed that this task punishment must be related to task objective 2 or task objective 3.

There is nothing to hesitate.

After Xiao En took a deep breath, he stretched out his hand and directly pushed the bronze door open.

It is lighter than expected, and it seems to be exactly what Lanster said. This bronze door is just a decoration at all, and I have never thought of actually blocking people outside. It's just that when the bronze door was pushed open, Cecilia still keenly sensed that the lifeless magic power became unusually active at this moment, and it spread wildly throughout the dungeon. "The magic reaction is a bit too active." Cecilia reminded in a low voice.

Xiao En's eyes dazzled, and after a slight nod, he pushed the bronze door completely open with a fierce force.

Immediately, an exquisite square was presented in front of everyone.

Located in the middle of the square is a giant pool with a diameter of at least ten meters. There is a three-layered fountain sculpture in the middle of the pool. The bottom layer is the square angel. This is the secret sword angel guarding the four sides of the mainland in the dawn of dawn. Legend has it that the energy shield formed by their guards protects the entire miracle continent from being destroyed by the energy of the void. Above the four angels is the base of the Trinity, that is, the three creation-level artifacts of prophecy, disaster sword, and shelter shield. The third floor after that is the legendary Birssrod, known as the "Dawn of the World Wall".

When the bronze door was opened and the magic power system of the entire water demon secret was activated, the pool began to emit a hazy mist, and even a rainbow imitated by magic appeared on the Birssrod's architectural model. The clear spring water began to spray from the entire Birssrod.

The floor of the square is covered with platinum magic stone known for its hardness and purity. It is said that even the legendary weapon known for its sharpness, the lava demon's axe, would never leave traces on it. certainly. This kind of material is almost impossible to find on the mainland today, because it is the material before the twilight era. Based on this alone, Sean can be sure that the history of the construction of this dungeon is probably in the twilight era. Besides. The symmetrical stone pillars, bushes, benches and other facilities are also distributed on this square in accordance with the mermaid's understanding of aesthetics.

In front of the square, which is the only way for Xiao En and others to enter the dungeon, there are twelve organ puppets kneeling on the ground in the posture of knights seeing the king.

The twelve organ puppets are all light green, and they are also modeled after the standard style of armor used by the lower entourage elf knights of the holy elf clan. At this time, these organ puppets were kneeling on one knee, and two-handed broad-edged swords were inserted in front of them. Both hands hold the hilt tightly.

The mechanism puppet. The bronze knight.

After a quick glance at the surroundings of the square, the eyes of Xiao En and others gathered on these puppets. Judging by the eyesight of Sean and the others, if they were advancing while observing this dungeon. Then when you walked into the encirclement of these bronze knight puppets, it happened to be one minute. And Sean, who was fortunate enough to watch the video, knew very well that once these puppets moved, they weren't slow movements like alchemy puppets, they could be said to be swift and windy.

"Forty-seven seconds left!" Harding said in a deep voice.

Shaun and Rorty Kabas had a shock in their hearts, and the next moment they rushed directly into the formation of these puppets like a black whirlwind. Harding is closely followed. But in terms of speed, it was Harding who passed Sean and Rorty Kabas first. Break into these puppets first-this is the second time Sean saw Harding's shot. When he shot the slave-catchers before, Shaun didn't care too much, so he naturally ignored Ha Ting's explosive power and speed.

Demonite family, although there are also many promotion directions, but most of the demons are more confident in their own strength, so their advancement direction is similar to the unarmed combat professions such as monks and fighters.

Like Harding, he is one of the leaders-the blood warrior.

This is a profession unique to the demons. They incorporate the armor into their flesh and blood through occult rituals, and can freely switch between * and armor during battle. And when this profession advances to a higher level, these armors will turn into a metal-like protective layer and stick to the body of the demon. At this time, the demon will no longer need to be transformed into flesh and blood to have it. Very high physical defense capabilities.

The only flaw is that the resistance to magic will be lower. Of course, this low is compared with certain classes with relatively strong magic resistance. In terms of the magic immunity inherently possessed by demons, it is higher than many unarmed combat classes or other warrior classes. Do not know how many times.

Like a black whirlwind, Harding rushed directly into the group of puppets. His hands had been transformed into armguards. Only a black light raised, and the head of the seemingly sturdy mechanism puppet was directly cut away by Harding. Afterwards, I saw Harding directly pierced with one hand, and countless blue and white electric lights flashed up. When Harding's hand was taken out from the neck of the puppet, there was a palm-sized chip in the palm of his hand.

This is the core of the magic circuit of these mechanism puppets.

After succeeded in one stroke, Harding directly crushed the chip in his hand, then turned around and rushed towards the second mechanism puppet closest to him.

At this time, Sean and Rorty Kabas had each come to a mechanism puppet.

Although Rorty Kabas's weapon is not conducive to destroying the armor structure of the organ puppet, he has a more straightforward solution-brute force. It was just a simple sweep of the gun, which directly smashed the head of the mechanism puppet and deformed it. When the second shot was shot, it completely pried open the helmet of the mechanism puppet, but it was due to the knight's gun. With regard to length, Rorty Kabas certainly couldn't destroy the core circuit inside as easily as Harding, so he had to take it out and crush it again by himself. As a result, the destruction speed was naturally not as fast as Harding.

As for Sean, although the actions are equally swift and neat, it is inevitable that he is still inferior to the powerhouse like Harding. But compared to Rorty Kabas, Sean is naturally much more relaxed. Each puppet only needs two swords-the first sword cuts off the puppet's helmet horizontally, and the second one stabbed inside, accompanied by a blue and white one. The electric spark splashed out, and this mechanism puppet was basically destroyed.

But what is really unexpected is Lanster.

The real fighting power of this celebrity fish is naturally not very good. His lack of strength and physical weakness are his biggest disadvantages, but in this situation, his value is equally astonishing. Seeing him hitting the bow with an arrow and just standing in place for aiming, the aura exuded by the whole person was completely different. When Lanster let go of his right hand, and after the arrow was shot, an organ puppet exploded and fell directly to the ground.

If there was not an arrow inserted in the two-finger-wide hole in the body and helmet, no one would know why this mechanism puppet would fall.

Although at the beginning, Sean had guessed that if Lanster was allowed to stand up and play, his archery should be good, but he did not expect the accuracy to be so high. This is not the category of goodness, but Very sharp category. I am afraid that compared to Marton, it is probably inferior in terms of personal strength and mobile shooting.

Before the twelve organ puppets are fully activated, it is not difficult to deal with them, after all, they are just the lowest-level bronze knights. Of course, once activated, it will become a little tricky, because these mechanism puppets are engraved with magic array patterns, and their specific combat strength is roughly equivalent to the upper silver-of course, this is to indicate the face combat strength, but because of the magic array pattern After being activated, these mechanism puppets will become able to carry a lot, and it is not easy to destroy their helmets easily.

In less than fifty seconds, Xiao En and others solved the twelve organ puppets that had not yet been fully activated.

Rotti Kabas only destroyed two, and like Lanster's record, Sean also only destroyed three. On the contrary, because Harding had a relatively large combat advantage, he destroyed five of them alone.

Looking at the five mechanism puppets lying on the ground, Xiao En and others were a little relieved. Only Sean knew very well that the next battle was the real difficulty in exploring this dungeon, because the mechanism puppet. Bronze Knight was just the lowest-level guarding force, covering almost the entire area of the dungeon in the water demon secret store. There are also twelve puppets that are higher than the Bronze Knights. The Silver Knights are the patrol guards of this dungeon. As for the bosses responsible for guarding the secrets of the water monsters, there are a total of three, respectively, the No. 1 boss: has a combined attack The mechanism puppet with combat capability. Twin knights; the second boss with extremely terrifying destructive power: mechanism puppet. Greatsword knight and the third boss who finally guards the deep sea pearl: mechanism puppet. Golden knight.

Chapter 170: .It's not the same thing

After solving the bronze knights on the square, there is no trace of any enemies in this huge square.

Shaun looked around. On the pool in the middle of the square, Billsrod, who represented the wall of the dawn world, had already begun to emit the light of magical rainbow. Not long after that, clear spring water began to flow from Billslow. Gushing out of the pool on the German model, and then filled all the streets of the model, rendered as a clear blue road, pouring down on the edge of the model like a waterfall.

Beneath Billsrod, there are three creation-level artifacts known as the Trinity.

When the spring water fell on these three artifacts, there was light shining again immediately, and a non-existent invisible magic circle quickly appeared under the water of these springs. This is obviously not a powerful magic circle. Its effect is probably a function of gathering spring water, because in the eyes of everyone, all the pool water falling from Billsrod is absorbed by this magic circle to the center of the circle, turning into a clear spring. Fall into the third floor sculpture below.

There is no miraculous scene, but here is a return to the original, the sword held by the four angels has pool water gushing out from the tip of the sword, and then it turns into four pillars of water and falls into the pool below. When the four streams of spring water were injected into the pool, and when the ripples began to sway, everyone had the illusion that the water in the pool had come to life, and it seemed that even the originally slightly dim pool water became much brighter. . Therefore, even Hina, who has almost no sense of magic. You can also feel that this dungeon has produced some different atmosphere.

"All the defense mechanisms of the entire dungeon have been turned on." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "Next we have to be more careful."

"Where shall we go next?" Cecilia asked.

The square built by the mermaid is obviously not built in the style of the vestibule. It is a true central square style. In other words, this square has four avenues, front, rear, left, and right. The road in front is naturally the bronze direction where Xiao En and others came in. In addition, everyone can choose the direction of advancement at this time and there are three avenues, namely, left and right and behind the fountain.

From the surface, these three passages are the same. It seems that no matter which one you choose to move forward, there is no difference. Anyway, if you want to explore the entire water demon secret underground city. Then these three avenues must be walked again. The current problem lies in choosing which one to go first.

Sean remembers. The team that came in first chose the avenue in the middle.

It was only when they tried their best to reach the deepest point, only to find that a magic door was blocking their way, so they had to turn back and choose another path. It is precisely because of this that they will encounter the second team that subsequently entered this dungeon, and a battle broke out directly on the square between the two sides. The final result was that the first team was outweighed by the second team, which was heavily armed due to attrition and excessive losses during the previous exploration. After that, the second team chose to explore to the left, and it didn't take long for the third team to enter here, but fortunately the third team chose to go to the right, so the two teams avoided a battle. In the following video, you also learned that if you want to pass the gate blocked by the magic barrier in the middle, you must defeat the two bosses on the left and right, which are the so-called No. 1 and No. 2 bosses, and then turn on the mechanism to release it. The magic barrier of the gate.

But because the second team took the lead in killing the boss on the left. Therefore, the players regard the two mechanism puppets and twin knights who know how to fight together as the number one boss.

It's just a pity that after the two teams solved the two bosses, they had friction in the square. As a result, the fourth team to enter this dungeon was cheaper. And the video of killing the third boss mechanism puppet. Golden Knight is exactly what the fourth team released. In a sense, the fourth team that has reaped the benefits of the fisherman is the most rewarding. One of them.

"Left or right, choose one." Sean thought for a while, then said. "According to the thinking habits of the mermaid, the road in the middle is definitely the most important. It is also very likely to be the destination of our trip. But it is precisely because of this, so it will definitely set up a lot of protection. Generally speaking, the mermaid is We will not set up traps that cannot be eliminated, so we must first explore the left and right sides. After opening all the mechanisms that can be opened, we can pass those numerous mechanisms."

"Yes, that's it!" Lanster exclaimed at the right time. His existence is almost like embodying Sean's erudition. "You are so amazing. I didn't expect you to treat us mermaid like this. I understand. My tribal elders spent a lot of effort and time to sort out my information. Even if I took over it later, it took more than ten years to come to these conclusions."

"So it seems that your IQ is definitely not very good." Rorty Kabas chuckled, "Predecessors have already done it for you, and it will take you more than ten years before you can reach a conclusion. , I really don't know what your head is for."

"Of course it's for learning." Lanster took it for granted. "In addition to studying those materials, I also need to learn string playing, poetry, literature, painting, archery, and swordsmanship. Oh, yes, I still have to learn all kinds of etiquette, as well as mainland humanities, genre, geography, and art appreciation, etc.... I am determined to be an excellent barn. poet!"

Rotti Kabas looked at Lanster with a monster expression on his face: "You are completely beyond the scope of normal bard learning."

"Huh? Huh! Is that so?" Lanster looked shocked, "Don't the bards on the land need to learn this?... But the bards I saw in those books seemed to be You have to learn these things, isn't it..."

"Well. The bards in the late morning and twilight era really need to learn these things." Sean suddenly envied Lanster. The longevity race was different, and the time was almost inexhaustible. But he nodded and said, "But now the times are different. Today's bards have long learned to cut corners. All they need to do is to sing, play and compose a poem or something.... Of course, most bardics. Poets will also learn the tricks of thieves, and if necessary, they can also earn a living by stealing secrets."

Speaking of which. Sean stretched out his hand and patted Lanster on the shoulder, and said, "In a way. You are now a very good bard."

"I think it is meaningless to discuss the topic of bards here." Cecilia curled her lips, "It's better to decide which side we want to go first as soon as possible."

Everyone looked at Sean.

Sean thought for a moment, and then said, "Right."

In fact, it doesn't matter whether it's on the left or on the right. Anyway, the so-called No. 1 and No. 2 of the two bosses are just the player's statement. In fact, which one you want to play first is the player's freedom. It's just that the video on the left was released by the players first, so it was called the No. 1 boss, but relatively speaking, it is actually the No. 2 boss on the right: the mechanism puppet. The giant sword knight is easier to deal with, after all, it has some attack power. In addition to being scary, it is not difficult to deal with.

After a short break, everyone moved on to the road on the right.

Along the way, it can be clearly seen that the merman tribe is also very dedicated to the construction of this dungeon, which can only be regarded as an outpost or a watchtower. Because almost every ten meters in the right passage, there is a huge stone pillar that is four meters high and requires at least three people to hug each other. These stone pillars did not carry any carvings, but the rows of stone pillars on the left and right sides have an unspeakable atmosphere at first glance.

However, the ground paved with platinum magic stones only extended for about a hundred meters and then disappeared. It can be seen that it was even in the dawn of dawn. This kind of stone is not mineable in unlimited quantities.

It's just that the mermaid, who is born with a special pursuit of gorgeousness, also chose another alternative-the blue crystal stone.

This is also a kind of special stone, but it is not produced naturally, but is specially processed, but only the mermaid family masters this processing method. But the ground of the entire avenue was covered with blue crystal stones, and Sean and others stepped on it. Although you can feel the firmness of the ground, ripples will spread out every time the footprints fall. Just like walking on the water, this feeling is also very shocking.

However, dungeons are synonymous with danger after all.

Not long after Sean and others walked on the road paved with azure blue crystal stones, they were attacked by several bronze knights.

After these bronze knights are activated, because there is no magic command from the central system, all the bronze knights are in a state of guarding standby. As long as there is no target recognized by the central system, these bronze knights are naturally enemies. However, because of the limitation of the standby state, they will not patrol in this dungeon, but will only attack those that enter the line of sight. enemy.

Unfortunately, because Shaun and others did not have the recognition of the central system and entered the sight of these bronze knights, everyone was treated as an enemy.

When dealing with those immovable bronze knights before, everyone felt that it was the same thing when they disassembled them: not to be afraid.

But after the real fight at this time, Harding and Rorty Kabas discovered that it was not the same thing!

In the beginning, Rorty Kabas didn't particularly care about the bronze knight who suddenly swung a sword from the side. He just swung the gun casually. Under a burst of sparks, Rorty Kabas took two steps backwards before he stood firm. Although he had a hasty counterattack accident, as a typical representative of the brute force profession, Rorty Kabas actually retreated two steps in a row. The ability to stabilize the figure is enough to prove that the strength of these bronze knights is also not small.

Although the bronze knight retreated more steps under such a collision, it still made Rorty Kabas' brows frowned.

The next moment, when Rorty Kabas decided to take advantage of the bronze knight's body to take advantage of the first step to attack, but he did not expect that he stabbed at the opponent's head by the bronze knight. Swing the sword to block it. Although this result once again caused the bronze knight to retreat several steps in a row. But it is also an indisputable fact that Rorty Kabas' attack failed.

On the other side, Harding also encountered a problem.

The bronze knight who launched a surprise attack at him swung a broad sword, and every attack was a heavy slash. He didn't do other attacks at all, it was obviously against Harding's tactics that he had no weapons. If you change to an ordinary person, swinging the two-handed broad sword in your hand so frequently will definitely accelerate the loss of physical strength. However, in terms of the strength of the upper silver, it will not take long to be unable to swing the weapon due to exhaustion, but these bronze knights are not human, and It's a puppet!

How can a puppet feel tired?

Faced with such a result, Harding finally had to start trying hard to carry the attack of the Bronze Knight. But every hack. Harding's arms would be numb, even if Harding could get close to the bronze knights. It was also destined that he was unable to take apart the helmets of these bronze knights.

These are just two bronze knights, and they have already plunged Harding and Rorty Kabas into a bitter battle. If they encounter twelve bronze knights in the square, no one dares to guess the result. To know. These bronze knights are equivalent to the level of high-ranking silver in terms of their combat power alone, and perhaps even with the protection effect of the magical barrier on their bodies, they can barely reach the strength of quasi-low-ranking gold.

But whether it is Harding or Rorty Kabas, which one does not have the strength of the upper gold pinnacle?

At this moment, in the dungeon environment, to Harding, it is basically like being in the underground world. It is impossible for his strength to be suppressed at all.

And this time, even Lanster's precise shooting obviously didn't play much role. Because the two arrows he shot were easily blocked by the bronze knight. There is no threat to these bronze knights that have been completely activated.

As a product of the high-tech era, the standards of these bronze knights are clearly beyond the current era.

And Cecilia, the fire cast blew the body of these bronze knights. It was also blocked and weakened by the radiance of the magic circle radiating from its body, only leaving several dark traces on it. This result made Cecilia feel unbelievable. It was obvious that the magic resistance of these bronze knights was much higher than she had imagined, and they were almost reaching the effect of magic immunity.

"They have a magical barrier. Before the magical barrier is consumed. No magical attack can have an effect on them." Sean, who was teaming up with Rorty Kabas against the bronze knight, saw Sisi helping Harding. Leah deflated after eating. He directly said, "Attacking at the same location can speed up the consumption of the magic barrier of these bronze knights."

Hearing Sean's words, Cecilia nodded slightly, and then began to condense Solomon's heavy flames into fireballs, and then launched a continuous attack on the bronze knight who was fighting Harding. This time, the magic barrier on the bronze knight could not withstand Cecilia's serial attacks. After hardly resisting the fifth fire bomb of Solomon's heavy flames, the circle surrounding the bronze knight The white magical brilliance was completely shattered, and the magic bullets behind it almost all blasted on him without exception.

In a split second, most of the bronze knight's back was blasted to pieces.

Obviously, with the power of Solomon's Heavy Flame, it was still enough to melt the armor on these bronze knights.

And Harding, at this time, there is no hesitation. He took advantage of his speed to successfully go around behind the bronze knight with the illusion of a fake sprint, and his left hand was directly inserted into the broken piece that was burned out behind him. In the hole, the core of the magic circuit was forcibly pulled out, and then crushed. The bronze knight who had suffered a lot from Harding took out his core. The blue light under the helmet flashed several times before it was completely extinguished, and his whole body fell directly to the ground.

However, after solving the bronze knight, Harding had no time to rush over to help Sean and Rorty Kabas. A silver-white elf knight-shaped puppet with a shield in his left hand and a gun in his right suddenly appeared. Appeared in the sight of everyone, and it was only about 20 meters away from Harding!

"Fuck! Silver Knight!" Sean couldn't help but let out a painful groan when he scanned the knight's appearance, "Hading, watch out for his explosive sprints!"

Almost as soon as Sean's words fell, a red glow appeared from the pupils under the Silver Knight's helmet. The next moment he flexed his body slightly, his left hand erected his shield in front, his right hand raised the spear flat, and then suddenly ejected from behind it. A large number of blue and white flames, and with the help of this explosive force, this silver knight stabs towards Harding!

The distance of 20 meters is a moment of effort for this silver knight, and it has almost completely exceeded the dynamic capture ability of a normal person.

Only Harding, who also possesses a certain attribute value in agility, could see the silver knight's attack trajectory, and tilted his body slightly at the moment of imperative. But in spite of this, the sprint speed from the silver knight and the rush of air flow, the impact from the spear easily tore the cloak and clothes on Harding's right shoulder.

And Harding obviously did not expect that this would not be able to completely evade successfully, and did not attach the flesh and blood armor to his body, so a blood stain appeared on his right shoulder soon, and a tiny blood drop oozes out of this blood stain.