

Lord of War Vol 3-291

Chapter 291: .Dark Blade

Xiao En looked at the night pearls on the corridor a little enviously.

Such a big night pearl can only be obtained by the mermaid, and it is also arranged as a Chinese cabbage. Although there has never been an auction of this type of luxury goods in the game, in this real world, Sean can still roughly know the value of these night pearls. He thinks that if all these night pearls can be dug out and sold, it must be sold. It's another big income.

It's just this kind of thing.

There is a strange breath of silence in the long corridor.

This kind of breath is different from the situation of the sea sand promenade.

On the sea sand promenade, Xiao En and others will be nervous, but only because there are pits there, if one is not careful, they will die, so they need to be avoided as much as possible. But it's different in this long corridor. Sean can even feel the slight tingling sensation on his skin, which is a very strong danger signal.

He glanced at Noro and Harding, and saw that they were also cautious, which at least proved that it was not the illusion of Sean alone.

At this time, Sean somewhat missed the situation in the previous game.

The map function that comes with the player system can reflect the name of the current map very well, which allows the player to easily judge the importance of the current location. Naturally, players can omit a lot of unnecessary exploration troubles, and they can often find the destination of the trip quickly-of course, the map of the wild area is an exception, but the map like the Mermaid City is very useful NS.

Everyone moved forward cautiously.

The promenade seems to be very long, and it is still straight, but everyone still finds a different place in this promenade.

After traveling a certain distance, the luster of Ye Mingzhu will be slightly dim. Although at the beginning, everyone focused their attention on preventing possible surprise attacks, so they did not notice this light change. But after traveling for a certain distance, no matter how faint the change of light is, it is quite different from the time when you first stepped into this corridor. If at this time, Xiao En and others have not found anything strange. Place, then they really don't have to continue to explore.

Sean slowly raised his left hand.

Everyone stopped.

"I probably know what kind of mechanism puppets we will encounter." Xiao En looked at a long corridor with almost no light at all. Shen Sheng said.

The reason why I say it is almost. That's because the light of the night pearls hanging on the top of the promenade has become extremely dim, leaving only a very faint fluorescent light. If it weren't for these night pearls to be indistinguishable from all the night pearls seen on the road, Xiao En and others would think that those night pearls were just bigger fluorescent stones.

Oliana and Noro didn't have much reaction. Harding and Lanster looked very ugly when they heard the words "organ puppet".

"What type of puppet?" Harding asked.

"If I didn't guess wrong, it should be the assault series." Xiao En's face looked a little uncertain. "Dark Blade."

There are many types of organs made by the Mermaid. However, although the details and fighting methods are different, in fact, they can be classified according to six different types. In addition to the knight series that has been contacted by Sean and others, in addition to the specially strengthened knight series in terms of combat skills, there is also a legion series specially used in war; enhanced defensive capabilities and sturdiness, specially used for important facilities and area protection The guardian series of work; the series of wizards that have strengthened the magic system and can perform magical attacks similar to the archmage level; the series of attacks that enhance combat functions at the expense of defensive capabilities and are specifically used for hardline operations and assaults; and finally One type: A special series that is made according to special environments and needs, strengthened in multiple abilities, and comparable to the existence of heroes.

Dark Blade is the second mass-produced product born in the Assault series. At that time, it was a specially developed assassin model to cooperate with the legion series of the agency puppets to execute a war. So they are modeled after the assassins and assassins in the elves. Although the selection of materials for light operations is not as strong as the Guardian series and the Knight series, they are in terms of lethality and combat performance. The assault series is second only to the existence of the special series.

The dark blade is even more among the mechanism puppets of the assault series. A product that can be ranked in the top five.

Others don't know what the Dark Blade is, but Lanster, who knows the Mermaid tribe and its related history and technology very well, suddenly looks very ugly.

"Should we change our way?" Lanster said, "Under the infinite supply of magic power with the central system of magic power, the Dark Blade possesses very special abilities, which will make them even more difficult."

Just like when Sean and others did not close the power energy room when they were at the outpost, those bronze knights and silver knights have very powerful combat abilities and special force field shelters. The dark blades are supplied with sufficient magic power. They also have a special combat ability: darkness and concealment. This is also the reason why Xiao En and the others looked at the slightly dark passage ahead and did not find any traces of the mechanism puppets.

"What if the power energy room is in front?" Sean did not make any decision. After a moment of silence, he asked back.

This time, it was Lanster's turn to fall silent.

"Dark Blade, with the support of magic, they can indeed blend into the darkness like a shadow assassin, but this type of mechanism puppet is the lowest threat to us." Sean took a picture of Lanster. Shoulder, and then smiled slightly, his smile was full of a self-confident appeal, "After all, the mechanism puppets are not creatures, they are just mechanical creations. They just act according to the set procedures and do not think, so they It's much easier to deal with than a real shadow assassin."

While saying this, Sean also took the Black King out and threw it to Noro: "You come to clear the way."

Nolo shrugged, and after the Black King, he walked towards this darker corridor without looking back.

Shaun came to the Mermaid Capital this time, and his purpose was very clear, so he deliberately emptied all the gold and silver jewelry in the storage space. Only the food and drinking water necessary for daily life are left, and the other is to bring some long swords-for Noro, these weapons are consumables, it is impossible to support his vindictive infusion, so Sean naturally Nothing is particularly good. Just bring the ordinary white long sword. Anyway, throw it away.

Of course, as in the current situation, if Noro can do it alone, Sean will naturally throw his black king to Noro, so that he can also save a fortune. In addition to this, he brought a few more wooden swords, which he had specially brought before to teach Oriana-Shaun was afraid of using real weapons. A care will chop off Oriana's paws.

When Noro walked into the dark corridor. His eyes couldn't help but become cold.

The mental tentacles that belonged to him began to spread out, extending towards the surrounding in all directions at a very rapid speed. Within the range of Noro's mental tentacles, is his domain range.

Nolo's domain is called 【Earth Despair】 .

The name knows at a glance that its domain rules must be related to the earth element. In fact, for a strong player like Noro, who is proficient in swordsmanship, his general domain ability will focus on strengthening himself and supporting effects, and the domain will also tend to increase lethality as much as possible. The combat power of hitting kills.

But Noro is different.

Although his field is mainly supporting effects and strengthening himself. However, he did not pursue the combat effectiveness of one hit kill, and his domain enhancement effect is mainly to increase his own defensive ability. This is certainly related to the characteristics of the "earth element". It's just that, generally, even if the sanctuary powerhouse is not satisfied with their domain abilities, when they have the ability to modify the domain at the upper sanctuary stage, they will try their best to form a domain that is more in line with their own combat habits and styles. The worst will be perfect. Its own domain defects.

But Noro did not.

When he reached the upper sanctuary, he did not add attack methods to his domain, but still strengthened the domain's support effect again. It's just that at this time, the rules that Noro has touched and analyzed have also touched the "gravity" from the "earth element", and the ability he re-improved and increased when he was in the upper sanctuary was naturally related to the "gravity." Related.

In Noro's domain, he can adjust the gravity within the domain as he wishes, and the adjustment range is ten times higher and lower.

This is a very practical and terrifying ability.

Noro is precisely relying on this ability, in the past record even when facing the legendary strong, he also has the power to fight. It's just that now his strength is limited to the middle sanctuary, and the domain's abilities are naturally unable to be fully utilized. Generally speaking, the adjustment of gravity can only reach five times the adjustment, but this is enough for normal conditions. And used it.

Noro, after listening to Sean's description of these dark blades, he knew why Sean let him take the lead.

In fact, only he can easily deal with these dark blades.

Noro did not expand the domain too much. With his current strength, the limit for the full expansion of the domain is about two hundred meters in radius. However, at the edge of the domain, his control will be weakened and reduced accordingly, perfect. The control limit is within a radius of 100 meters. At this time, the area covered by Noro's mental tentacles is a radius of fifty meters. In this area, he has almost absolute control, even if his enemies are also based on the laws of "earth element" and "gravity". Yes, Noro can also be absolutely confident that he can suppress the opponent.

As Nuolo walked forward about thirty or forty meters, he felt that something suddenly entered his domain.

Within Noro's sight, he didn't "see" anything, but his domain clearly told him that something was approaching. No need to guess, Noro also knew that what was approaching him must be the so-called Dark Blade.

Without any action, Noro just stood there, waiting quietly for the other person to approach.

It's just that, what Nuolo didn't expect was that when this dark blade, which was completely invisible, approached a distance of about ten meters, the opponent no longer approached.

This made Noro frowned slightly.

But he still hasn't taken any action yet. After waiting for about four or five minutes on the spot, and confirming that the opponent won't take any action, Noro stepped forward again. On the surface, he didn't seem to notice this dark blade, but in fact, the mental tentacles had already entangled the opponent's body, as long as the opponent moved. Then he can change the opponent's space gravity in the first time.

As the distance between the two sides got closer, Noro's expression became more relaxed.

It's just this kind of relaxation, just a superficial phenomenon, in fact Noro has already clenched the Black King tightly.

After all, this creation of an organ puppet is the first time that Noro has seen and heard. There is no such thing in his plane. And face all things that have never been touched before. No matter what it is, it will inevitably feel a burst of tension, which has nothing to do with the level of strength, it is pure instinct. Only after the first encounter, after establishing a corresponding intelligence database in one's own personal consciousness, this instinctive conscious reaction will be alleviated.

Just even so, Noro has perfect control of his own abilities.

His heartbeat does not fluctuate at all.

Even when he has completely passed the dark blade, his heartbeat is still as calm as a normal person. It seems that no enemies and crises have been found at all. But Noro is very clear. In fact, when he was passing the Dark Blade, his skin exposed under the air had a very strong tingling sensation, and he could feel the sensation of a needle-like killing intent rushing to him.

But no matter how close he is to the Dark Blade, from the perspective of perception, Noro didn't notice the existence of Dark Blade at all.

If it hadn't been for his domain that had been reminding him of the distance between him and the Dark Blade, Noro really couldn't believe that there was something in this world that could be hidden from his perception—the target of the killing intent. Perhaps it is also a flaw that will be discovered, but in such a dark environment. The killing intent rushing from all directions makes it impossible for people to judge the enemy's position.

is just a passing moment. In fact, Noro has already completed a psychological charge contest with this organ puppet.

It's just that the contest with Noro is not the consciousness of this organ puppet, but the merfolk who designed the dark blade central program during the First Mermaid Empire.

This is a contest between two planes after several eras.

After Noro and the dark puppet completely passed by, Noro still pretended not to find the puppet, but continued to move forward. And almost when Nuolo walked out the distance of three or four meters again, the dark blade behind Nuolo also moved-keeping a distance of about three meters from Nuolo, just like that. Behind Noro, he was neither far away nor close. Only when Noro stopped, it would stop there.

This made Noro frowned again.

But soon, his frowning brows relaxed again, because he already understood the plan of this mechanism puppet.

In Noro's domain, there are several more fluctuations.

The sensing of every wave of fluctuations represents the entry of a new existence into the realm of Noro. This is the benefit of the realm of Noro.

silently counted in his heart, there are five new existences in total, which means that five more dark blades have entered the realm of Noro. Judging from the information fed back by the domain, these organ puppets are slowly approaching in a form of outflanking. Together with the dark blade behind Noro, they can form a circular encirclement.

This is a very typical siege tactic, which is an ambush strategy.

It is usually an ambush strategy used by an assassin or killer when encountering an extremely powerful enemy-by tricking the target into an ambush circle, and then suddenly violent, using a moment of astonishment and slow response. To achieve the purpose of assassination. Of course, this tactic is occasionally used to ensure that the assassination is foolproof, just like when William was assassinated by five shadow assassins.

As Noro who is also proficient in assassination techniques and assassination books, he naturally understood the intentions of these puppets in an instant.

But at this time, he still has some doubts. That is the way these organ puppets fight. What are they relying on as a basis for judgment? How do they judge that their strength is stronger than them, and can't solve themselves with their personal combat power?

Noro is really incomprehensible.

But no matter how difficult it was to understand, Noro did not quietly wait for their encirclement to close at this time.

Within its domain, the gravity of the entire space changes suddenly.

At this moment, Noro, who has a dark vision, instantly saw the true face of these dark blades-they were special metal puppets smeared with matte materials. They don't have a palm, and at the front of their arm is a pointed cone structure similar to a thin thorn sword, and everything else is no different from the structure of the human body. Of course, the only difference is that its head cannot be like a human or an elf, but a flat metal helmet shape.

seems to be because of the distortion and change of gravity. The special abilities of these dark blades were blocked. Their bodies have been distorted, deformed and broken to varying degrees. And almost at this instant, two red lights lit up on the helmets of these dark blades-Noro guessed, this is probably the visual field information collection function used for observation,-and then, these dark blades He immediately launched a fierce attack on Noro without hesitation.

Noro's eyes flashed with surprise.

Five times the gravity suppression, even the middle-ranked sanctuary powerhouse of the Grey Crow tribe, was pressured by Noro to vomit blood. But these institutions are puppets. Under the pressure of such a strong gravity. Actually, they didn't turn into scrap iron one after another, but they still possessed fighting ability. This discovery naturally made Noro feel novel.

So he turned around and stabs the nearest dark blade with a backhand.

Noro is best at assassination, his swordsmanship also has a master-level demeanor.

With just one sword, just as Sean broke through Oriana's defensive line before, Noro easily shook away the two pointed arms of the dark blade behind him, and then the sword directly penetrated without change. About three inches below the puppet's helmet.

The long sword touched, and Noro's pupils shrank slightly again.

The hardness of the armor on this mechanism puppet. It was higher than Nooro had imagined, so this made him naturally unable to pierce the puppet's armor at once without an attack with all his strength. Fortunately, Noro is not an ordinary strong. It was a strong man in the sanctuary realm, so at the moment when a counter-shock force came from the tip of the sword, Noro once again used the power of the domain to concentrate gravity on the tip of the sword and the armor of the puppet. The invisible black light circle flashed, and in the next second, the black king in Noro's hand pierced in without any hindrance, and then directly smashed the power core of this organ puppet.

Immediately afterwards, he drew his sword with his backhand, and Noro turned around and backed away, using his body to hit the "dead" mechanism puppet, and at the same time the sword swept across.

Just listening to the muffled sound of the transfer of gold and iron in the air, the attacks of the five organ puppets that came at the same time were lightly blocked by Noro, and even under Noro's lead, two of the organ puppets were affected instead. Xing, a little distance from the other three companions of the mechanism puppets. And Noro's attack obviously did not stop there. After affecting the figures of the two organ puppets, Noro immediately pierced with two backhand swords.

Because of the experience of the first match before, so this time Noro's attack naturally knows how to play.

With the sharpness of the Black King, it is natural not to be blocked by these armors that are already made of lighter materials. Therefore, the two organ puppets were naturally solved by Noro in an instant.

Following, Nuolo took advantage of the other three organ puppets not to recover, the black king in his hand turned into a violent wind, and the three sword shadows once again pierced the core weakness of these organ puppets at the same time, completely destroying them.

solved six organ puppets in a row, and Nuolo also had a clearer measure of the strength of these organ puppets in his heart.

The combat power of the dark blade is roughly equivalent to that of the shadow assassin at the top of the silver peak, but with the protection of the dark concealment ability and almost completely invisible characteristics, the actual combat ability of these dark blades is already equivalent to that of the lower level of gold. The strong. If you count the fact that they are organ puppets, so there is no pain response, etc., the actual combat effectiveness of these dark blades will rise to a more terrifying level.

Compared to the Bronze Knights and Silver Knights, the Dark Blade is more difficult to deal with.

Only a guy with domain ability like Noro who completely restrains these dark blades can solve it so easily. Otherwise, even if Harding or Sean is changed, it will inevitably take a lot of confusion to solve it, and it may even cause serious injuries. Of course, for the team that has a saint like Hitley, there will be no trouble as long as it does not die on the spot, but there is no need to go to the risk if it can be avoided. .

Nolo knew the strength of these dark blades and the combat situation, he did not advance so cautiously.

The range of instantly expanded to 100 meters.

For a moment, Noro immediately sensed at least ten dark swords.

Without the slightest hesitation, the gravity effect was activated immediately.

The ten organ puppets were immediately damaged to varying degrees, but Noro was still outside their range of perception, which immediately made these organ puppets feel like a headless fly. After discovering this situation, Noro fell into contemplation again, but his footsteps did not stop, but continued to move forward, and soon these ten organ puppets discovered the promise. Luo's existence immediately killed Nuo Luo.

This time, they did not try to hide their figure again, so Noro easily saw the air traces of these ten organ puppets moving in the dark.

At this moment, Noro knew how these dark blades were completely invisible.

The matte material applied on the body of the dark blade is actually a kind of magic pattern material. With the large amount of magic power supplied by the magic array, this kind of magic pattern material can make them blend well with the dark environment. And this kind of fusion is a bit similar to the effect of brilliance camouflage, it can completely refract light, so it is impossible to capture these dark blades hidden in the darkness with the ability of the naked eye alone, plus the darkness. There are things at the feet of the blade that absorb sound transmission, and they are inherently dead, so their movement is not only silent, even the heartbeat and breathing that ordinary shadow assassins can't solve can be perfect. avoid.

All of this is the secret that the Dark Blade can be completely invisible.

It's just that Noro's gravity pressure destroys the surface structure of these organ puppets, causing their armor to be damaged and cracked. Then the magic pattern effect will not work, or the effect will produce some distortion, so they are moving. At that time, the air will appear with corresponding airflow traces.

Although for Noro, it makes no difference if you can't see these mechanism puppets, but now that you can see these mechanism puppets, it will naturally become easier for him to fight. Before these dark swords approached, Noro had already used the burst of sword energy to solve all these organ puppets.

And then, Noro began to make some new attempts.

He no longer completely destroyed the five-fold weight in one breath, but began to gradually stack one, two, and three times.

This superposition method quickly discovered that he didn't even need to fight these dark blades anymore. He only needed a little bit of superimposed gravity to achieve a better effect of directly suppressing five times the gravity in one breath. Under the gradual superimposition and suppression of these gravity, the body of the dark blade will be destroyed more thoroughly, so that the distance of hundreds of meters apart, when Noro approaches, these organ puppets have completely turned into a mass of waste. Iron.

Chapter 292: .The power of the field

"Are you sure that sissy can do it?" Harding glanced at the dim corridor, then asked.

For demons, spider demons, and werewolves, people of the three races of dark elves, blood elves, and blood races can all be summed up with a "sissy", after all, they all look very feminine and beautiful. However, don't expect the word that was originally circulated from the werewolves to be commendatory. It's just that the werewolves were used to fight against the blood clan at the beginning. Later, I don't know who pushed the word. Was used on the blood elves.

Most people guess that it must be the Nerubian.

Because these guys are naturally not very high in IQ, their brains are often difficult to turn around. Most of the time, they are even stronger than the werewolves. Therefore, it is understandable that the spider monsters stupidly don't know the difference between the blood family and the blood elves, because in their understanding, the blood family and the blood elves actually look the same, and they all have a "blood" in their races. "Character.

Well, you are also a group of sissy.

It is said that a well-known spider monster at the time said so-you can't expect a group of patients with facial blindness to distinguish who is from whom, right? They have not mistaken women for men, they are already thankful.

After that, it is said that this famous Nebbo made a joke: "Dark elves? Oh, they look exactly the same as those blood elves!"

So, in the underground world, sissy has become a scornful term for blood, blood elves, and dark elves, just as outsiders call "tin cans".

Harding, as a resident of the underground world, his various habits are naturally more inclined to the style of the underground world. In particular, his personal strength is not weak. In addition to facing the famous powers and existences of the older generation, Harding, who has always been his own way, naturally does not need to give face to anyone, so he has always treated dark elves, blood elves, and blood elves. They are all called "sissy".

The dispute between Harding and Rorty Kabas was caused by Harding's words. Only after the relative ease of the relationship between the two in recent years, Harding did not continue to call Rorty Kabas a sissy.

However, Harding and Noro are not familiar.

Although Noro is not a blood elf, dark elf, or blood, there is no doubt that he has the blood of the elf in his body, and it is likely to be a more pure blood than the few elven races surviving on the Marvel Continent today—— In addition to this means that Noro has a higher talent. It also means that his appearance is indeed more biased towards female faces. If it weren't for this guy, he always has a trivial way of proof of "I take off my pants to show you". Few people really believe that this guy is a man.

Sean glanced at Harding, and said with a calm expression: "If that guy hears you, you should be careful to be beaten by him so that you can't take care of yourself."

"Just that sissy fragile body?" Harding raised his brows. "I can beat him ten!"

"You don't even have to fight Rorty Kabas." Hitley, who had been staring at Oriana and brushing him with a vigor from time to time, suddenly turned to Harding and shouted, "Most of the time. You. They were all beaten up by Rorty Kabas."

"That's his shame!" Harding snorted unconvinced. "He always picks a place where the sun shines and fights with me, he has the ability to pick the night!"

Hitley didn't know the many evils of the demon. She tilted her head and stared at Harding with a suspicious expression on her face. Finally, she turned her head with a completely unbelief and continued to stare at Oriana. This made Harding so angry that he turned to find Hitley's theory, and even brought out many classic battle cases of demons. It's a pity that Hitley's head was dizzy, and she didn't know what Harding was talking about. Finally, impatiently, he threw a small healing technique on Harding, and finally made Harding shut up.

Hading, who was aggrieved, squatted down beside Sean, his face was dark and ugly—not annoyed, he was cured by Hitley's healing technique.

Sean looked back at Hitley, who was still staring at Olianna seriously, without even thinking about it. It must be because Hitley and Cecilia got so close that they learned some "pranks." So, Sean patted Harding on the shoulder with some sympathy, and then said, "It's been hard for you in the Winter Tribe."

Harding suddenly had the urge to cry.

However, what Shaun said next made Harding amazed.

Xiao En said: "Nolo, because of his injuries, can only use the strength of the mid-level sanctuary. In fact, he is a strong man at the peak of the upper sanctuary. I am afraid that he is not far from the legend.... ...Even if he only has the power of the mid-level sanctuary, he is much better than you in terms of domain manipulation skills and various combat experience. So...well, Noro beats ten of you alone."

Nolo is the middle sanctuary, which Harding knew for a long time.

It's just that, after all, I haven't seen Noro truly exert his strength level, nor have he seen Noro display his domain ability, so Harding just regarded Noro as an ordinary mid-level sanctuary. Like Harding, Rorty Kabas, and even Xuefanio, Rena, Venia, Cecilia, which one will put the general sanctuary in the eyes, especially Xuefanio and Rena Once the two of them broke out completely, their combat power was even comparable to that of the upper sanctuary.

So, although Harding's previous sentence "one can play ten Noro" is a bit exaggerated, in fact, it also proves that Harding does not regard Noro as a real mid-level sanctuary powerhouse. At least, Harding felt that Noro was not so good in the breath that Noro usually exudes.

Furthermore, Sean did not tell Harding at this time that Noro's domain completely defeated him.

The actual weight of Harding is not as simple as it seems on the surface. He has a set of heavy armor fused into his body, even if it is not visible at ordinary times, but Harding's own weight must be calculated into this set of heavy armor. And with the ability of Nooro's domain [Earth Despair], as long as a gravity adjustment, Harding can completely lose combat ability and behavior, even ten times the distortion of gravity, Harding's fate will never be better than this moment. How good is the sword of darkness ravaged by Noro.

Regarding the domain's ability, it has always been the core secret of the sanctuary powerhouse.

Even if Noro is Sean's person, Sean does not intend to expose Noro's domain abilities.

This is his most basic respect for Noro.

After all, the law of gravity, this very rare law, can only be derived from the two laws of space and earth. It's just the possibility of evolution from the law of space in general. It is much higher than the law of the earth.

Noro can perceive, analyze and successfully control the law of gravity from the law of the earth, which is not something ordinary people can have.

I don't know how long it took, even Oriana stopped practicing.

In the process of Noro's resolution of those dark blades, Oriana has been repeating the basic movements of the sword technique taught by Sean. Separate each of these actions separately, and Oriana can do it perfectly. Even the most standard posture. But when she connected this set of movements together, she felt very strange, and it was even more uncomfortable when she performed it, so her movements naturally deformed very seriously.

In this regard, Sean has no good way or quick way, after all, Oriana is not a "player", she does not have the proficiency to quickly master the skills. So if Oriana wants to learn [Mystery Swordsmanship. Change]. Then she must get used to this kind of force technique. And can withstand all kinds of strange feelings brought by this kind of force technique.

However, this is just learning, and there is still a long way to go from mastery and mastery.

【Mystery Swordsmanship. Modification】, this ability was started by Sean from the bass. It can be said that this skill integrates several basic swordsmanship skills commonly used by Sean before. And Sean, naturally, with this skill, reached the essence of the "Juggernaut" threshold, and now he can advance to the sanctuary as long as he is strong. You can become a veritable "Juggernaut", at least Sean thinks. He already held the title of Sword Master in his hands.

What Xiao En didn't know was that the plane that Beth was in was much more advanced than the main plane of Miracle Continent. In their world, what titles such as Sword Saint and Emperor Wu were really worthy of the title. . Unlike the Marvel Continent, there are no ten and eight who are called Sword Masters and Self-proclaimed Sword Saints. Sword Saints such as Sword Masters, Flash Sword Masters, Thunder Sword Masters, etc. can really be called Hundred Flowers. Contend for beauty. Of course, the strength of these sword saints is basically guaranteed, at least they are in the realm of the sanctuary, but the strength between them is high and low, from the lower sanctuary to the legend.

And Beth, in the game, the official flagship banner was "Sword Emperor". There are no messy prefixes and suffixes, just two words.

Sword Emperor.

[Mystery Swordsmanship. Modification] improved from the bass, it is natural to imagine that it is definitely at the top level in this world.

If it wasn't for Sean that he didn't blindly pursue the effects and power of this passive skill in his later period, but instead delved into the artistic conception of this swordsmanship, I am afraid that Sean would not be able to find a "sword master" that belongs to him. the road. Players spend proficiency points to learn skills, after all, they are only "borrowed" from others, and can not be regarded as a product of their own. This is also the reason why Sean did not spend proficiency points to learn soul-saving afterwards.

So, the only thing Shaun can do in Oriana's learning of this swordsmanship is to guide and give some tips, but she still needs to master it herself.

Just when everyone almost felt a little bored, in the dim corridor, a figure finally walked slowly.

Nolo's expression still seemed very calm, but Sean, who had a soul connection with Noro, could feel that at this time, there was a hint of excitement in Noro's heart. It's just that he hides it well on the surface, so everyone didn't find anything from his look and expression.

"How is it?" Harding could not wait to ask.

He has stayed here for a long time, and the whole person has a kind of boring itching-the demons and dark elves are impatient guys, let them stay quietly, it is more than killing them. Uncomfortable. Players call this habit of "hyperactivity reaction", and this is also the standard method used by players to determine whether the opponent is a real NPC or a fake NPC after the appearance of the racial conversion potion.

"It's all cleaned up." Nollo nodded, "The strength of these dark blades is not that strong, but they will have a lot of advantages when fighting in the dark, so it will be more troublesome to deal with."

"Then how did you solve it?" Harding asked subconsciously.

"Use the domain." Noro smiled.

Then Harding's face suddenly changed slightly.

A powerful pressure was instantly suppressed on Harding's body. This pressure caused his body to produce a burst of pressure that was completely irresistible. This pressure almost made him kneel down involuntarily. Even if Harding wanted to transport the domain to counter this pressure, he could only make him stand barely. At this moment, he found that his understanding and mastery of the law was completely at a disadvantage.

The battle between sanctuary powerhouses is mainly to use domains to suppress and resist, dissolve, and contend with each other. In this kind of combat situation, which party has a deeper and more familiar understanding of the law, and which party can obtain the greatest benefits in the battle. If the two parties in the fight are unfortunately in the domain under the same law, then those who have a deeper and more thorough understanding of the law can even completely dismantle and control the opponent's domain.

The situation between Harding and Noro is different. Although the laws analyzed by both parties are not the same, Noro is still able to completely suppress Harding in the field. In addition to Noro's domain, Kharting is in the law. In terms of understanding, mastering and borrowing, Noro also surpasses Harding.

However, this kind of domain suppression, although it may seem like a long time, is actually only a momentary effort.

Nolo played a small hand, and then put the domain away, did not continue to suppress it, after all, Harding was also his own no matter what. It's just that Noro was using this method to tell Harding that he had heard the sissy comment before.

"Since it's safe, then let's go on." Sean did not notice the little movement between Noro and Harding.

Everyone left immediately, especially Harding, who wished to be as far away from Noro as possible.

For a time, Noro and Sean did not know whether it was intentional or unintentional, but they fell in the end.

"What did you find?" Sean asked in a low voice, "It makes you so excited."

Nolo did not speak, but suddenly stretched out his hand, revealing a small piece of sand in his palm.

Chapter 293: .So long and thick

The sand on Noro's hand is just a small piece, even slightly larger than the nail cover.

This piece of sandstone, as a whole, presents a dark brown, as if it has been soaked in blood for a long time, but there is no * smell on it. On the surface, this piece of sandstone has a luster like obsidian, but it can be easily judged at a glance that this is not a spar, and the overall feeling is strangely weird.

But when Sean saw this thing, the look on his face changed drastically.

He raised his head in disbelief, and looked at Noro, his voice trembling slightly: "Earth stone crystal?"

Noro shook his head.

Shaun's face showed a touch of disappointment.

Earth stone crystal, this is a very rare material, usually only found on the plane of the earth elements, and you have to be lucky enough, because this material is accompanied by element activation and acts as an existence similar to that of associated minerals. Born.

The so-called element activation is actually the element that has been nourished and nurtured by magic for a long time, and finally produced consciousness, thus becoming a creature with the characteristics of a living body. And according to the activation of different elements, different elemental organisms will be produced-basically all elemental organisms are born like this. And this kind of companion resource does not mean that every elemental creature will be born following it, just that it will be produced with a very small probability.

Earth stone crystal, condensing very rich earth elements, it has the characteristics of stable space, and it is usually an essential material for making plane space doors.

In the material collection sheet that Andrew gave to Sean, there is a demand for earth crystals. Although the demand is not much at first, it is only one kilogram, which is two kilograms, but this thing has never appeared since the Ashes, and Sean is still having a headache where to search for these two pounds. . Going to the Elemental Plane is the best choice, but the problem is that this type of Elemental Plane does not mean that you can go if you want. Even if a space teleport scroll of the elemental plane is obtained by chance, there is no guarantee that the place you go is the elemental plane of the earth.

Moreover, how to get back is still a problem.

Sean thought that the thing Noro was holding was an earth stone crystal, so even if this small piece seemed to be only two or three grams, at least it was not a reward. Hope to get two catties of earth stone crystals at once. Sean never thought about it. He is even ready to find an abandoned plane space in the future, and then dismantle the earth stone crystal from it.

"It's not the earth stone crystal, what is worth your excitement." Sean can't figure out what else is worthy of Noro's excitement.

Moreover, it was not that Xiao En couldn't think of things that looked so similar to Earth Stone Crystal. It's just that although those kinds of things were of high value, they were not so rare. Anyway, just put out enough money. Such things can still be bought from the black market-Sean can only buy things from the black market now. The Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce has put him on a blacklist and also barred him from entering the trading capital.

Looking at Sean with a disappointed look, Noro suddenly chuckled, "Although this thing is not an earth stone crystal, it is an earth fragment."

Shards of Earth! ?

Sean has never seen the real thing of this kind of thing, but he has heard of this kind of thing.

Its quality exudes the myth of purple luster!

The quality of materials is divided into four grades and ten levels different from equipment. All materials are divided into only five levels, which are white ordinary, blue high-quality, dark green rarity, golden legend and purple myth. As for the quality of gray, it is rubbish, usually the kind that no one wants to recycle in the store. certainly. In addition to these five qualities, there are actually two kinds of red and dark gold. These two qualities are products of specific variants. Although the level of materials is still written with rarity and legend, the former is between the rare and the legend. Between legends, the latter is between legends and myths.

Earth Fragment, this is the purple quality material that Sean has seen for the first time since he came to this world!

This kind of material is inherently accompanied by three limit value characteristics: [very stable], [very heavy], and [very strong].

Whether it is used for the production of equipment or other props, the role of the earth fragments is beyond everyone's imagination. According to the legend, even in the dawn age, this material is only those that are truly at the top level in the world. Only used by blacksmiths. And more than that, the reason why the Earth Fragment is so admired is that it has another hidden element-the power of the law.

Earth fragments, as the name suggests, are fragments that are broken into pieces after being concretized by the laws of the earth, so this kind of material naturally contains the power of the laws.

Therefore, this kind of material is also something the strong are willing to fight for their lives.

Especially people like Noro, whose domain rules are based on "the earth" as the benchmark law.

The value of the earth fragments in his hands is greater than that of the hands of other sanctuary powerhouses, because for most sanctuary powerhouses, the law of the earth only allows them to understand one more law. Means of force. But for the sanctuary powerhouses like Noro, who used the "Law of the Earth" as the main law from the beginning, this material can give them a deeper understanding of the Law of the Earth, and even increase their understanding of the law of the earth. The resolution of the law is complete.

It can be said that this piece of earth fragment is a kind of combustion-supporting agent for Noro.

And if it falls into the hands of those golden realm powerhouses who have not touched any laws, the earth fragments are also a stepping stone that can enable them to become sanctuary powerhouses.

To put it simply, the purple-quality material of the Law of the Earth is an item that can produce the power of the sanctuary in quantity-provided that the power of the golden realm who has obtained this material cannot be too low in comprehension. Of course, a piece of earth fragment can only allow a golden realm who is expected to impact the sanctuary realm to successfully step into the sanctuary. Once the golden realm has successfully absorbed and analyzed the residual law fragments contained on this earth fragment, This piece of earth fragments will also become ordinary black stones.

Like this moment.

This piece of earth fragment in Nuolo's hand has been absorbed by Nuolo, so there is no fluctuation of the power of the law in this stone, only the relatively strong earth element is left. This is also Xiao Enhui believes that this piece of sand is the cause of the earth crystal. But now that the truth is known, this piece of sand is worthless. Even the materials are not counted, because the earth element contained in it will be completely lost and dissipated in a short period of time, becoming gray quality garbage.

"It's a pity." Xiao En sighed with regret, "This thing is indeed much more valuable than the earth stone crystal."

Sean's tone, without the slightest pretense.

The reason why the earth stone crystal can be used as the material of the plane space portal. It is because it has a [more stable] effect in its characteristics. Follow Sean's hands-on practice in the game. There are two grades of difference between [More stable] and [Extremely stable], and the earth fragments are not calculated according to the concept of "gram". It is calculated based on the size of the block and the degree of the power of the law. .

Even a small piece of earth shard in Nuolo's hand, which is roughly equivalent to one gram of earth crystal, is almost equivalent to one hundred grams or more of earth crystal. If Sean can get the earth fragments, let alone anything else, as long as there are about seven or eight pieces the size of a fingernail on Noro's hand, he will be able to fulfill Andrew's two catty needs.

"Do you want to build a portal to the space plane?" Seen Sean's expression. Noro understood Sean's plan.

Normal people after hearing about the earth fragments. It is bound to feel very excited and shocked, especially if someone like Sean has a country behind him, because this kind of thing can create something that is powerful in the sanctuary, which is only one level behind the essence of the void. However, in addition to the appearance of shock at the beginning, Sean's more thoughts are still the earth stone crystals. Enolo's knowledge and knowledge naturally understood Sean's intentions in an instant.

Because of the earth stone crystals, it is only used to make plane space portals.

As for using the earth fragments as a substitute for the earth stone crystals, no one who has a bad mind would not do that. Noro didn't know that Sean really wanted to use the earth fragments as a substitute for the earth stone crystals.

"It's not me. It's a friend of mine." Sean sighed, and his tone suddenly became a little irritable. "Because of me, he is now in deep sleep, and he doesn't know when he will be able to wake up, so this is what I owe him.... I hope I can help him collect these materials before he wakes up."

"Earth stone crystals are really difficult to obtain. Even if you go to the elemental plane of the earth, you may not be able to collect the required quantity." Noro thought for a while, and then said, "But you are anxious about this kind of thing. It's useless, it's better to find a way to improve your strength first, so that you can participate in more adventurous environments."

Sean also knew this was the reason, so this time he asked Noro and Harding, who drove the big ones, to bring their trumpets to wipe out the mermaid capital. In fact, this is already a completely cheating strategy mode, but there are certain limitations in the game, such as the reduction of experience points, the decrease of equipment drop rate, the increase of monsters' strength, etc., but in this real world Here, there will be no such problems.

Furthermore, Sean doesn't care about the equipment drop rate anymore.

He originally came from the treasure house and secret house of the mermaid capital.

"Speaking of it, I know a secret technique that can be used to pull away the fragments of the earth, and to strengthen the body." Seeing that Sean's face is still not very beautiful, Noro suddenly said, "Your current physical condition, if you pass If you exercise, it may take more than ten years to complete the transformation. But if you use earth fragments, then I think you can shorten this process to a few years."

"Didn't the earth fragments have been used by you?" Sean was stunned for a moment, then glanced at the piece of sand that was put away by Noro again, "have you already absorbed the laws of the earth above? What is it doing, this will be a very ordinary stone in a day or two."

Hearing what Shaun said, Noro gave Shaun a blank look: "You really don't understand anything."

"What?" Sean was a little dazed.

"Earth fragments, even if I absorb the fragments of the laws of the earth inside, but this thing is still very valuable." Noro said with a look of contempt, "Of course, this also requires a little means.... I have already used the domain. The force seals this piece of earth fragments, and the earth element inside will not be lost. Therefore, in some cases, it can still be used as a special medium required by the earth element. Many magicians like this Contains a lot of earth elements.... Besides, I can also digest this piece of earth fragments by some means. I incorporate it into my domain.... In short, don't underestimate the earth fragments."

"Okay." Sean shrugged, "This stuff is useful for people like you."

Thinking about it, Sean still didn't tell Noro that the casting medium is the most indispensable in the world. Because the magician's casting medium is a one-time consumable. A thing rich in earth elements like the fragments of the earth. Used as a spellcasting medium is completely wasteful-the cost performance is seriously inconsistent, because the higher the elemental content in the elemental spellcasting medium, the greater its value.

Earth-based magicians rarely need to use elemental media, let alone rare things such as earth fragments. If this is flame fragments or water source fragments, then the value is much higher, at least one or two million high prices can be sold.

"Didn't I say it. It works for you too." Noro said again. "You can use the laws of the earth fragments and the power of the elements to strengthen your body."

"So, this piece of earth has already been used by you?" Sean rolled his eyes.

The problem has been circumvented back to the original point.

"But." Noro finally understood what Shaun meant this time, and he suddenly smiled a little bit mean, "I didn't say there was only such a piece of earth."

Hearing this, Sean couldn't help but stop.

He turned his head abruptly, finally showing an expression of extreme excitement on his face. And obviously, Noro misunderstood Sean's meaning.

"How many pieces are there?" Sean thought, he could finally deal with Andrew. His requirements are not high, as long as seven or eight yuan is enough-in fact. If you let others know, you will definitely drown Sean with saliva. Seven or eight pieces of earth are not very demanding!

"There are two pieces left there." Noro said helplessly, "How many more pieces do you want? Those two pieces are enough to increase your physical strength by at least one level."

Shaun was disappointed again.

He didn't want to think about it. Three pieces of earth fragments appeared at once, which was already extremely shocking. Not to mention the seven empires, even if it falls into the hands of the Kingdom of Lane, it will immediately be able to cultivate three powerhouses in the lower sanctuary, and even if there are special methods like Noro, these three lower sanctuary After the strong have absorbed the essence of the remaining earth elements from the earth fragments, their domain strength can even be comparable to those of the middle sanctuary and upper sanctuary.

"Oh, you don't understand." Sean curled his lips.

As for his bronze body, Sean had a complete process strategy for a long time. He just didn't have time to do this task, and he didn't need to rely on any external force to strengthen his body. Of course, for him who has the "player" template, this kind of physical strengthening does not need to take more than ten years as Noro said. He only needs to complete this "sanctuary mission", his body It will automatically become a bronze body.

"Bah, don't have to take it anymore." At this time, Noro seemed to be really mad at Sean, and he couldn't help but poke fiercely, completely forgetting his life and taking control of Sean's thoughts.

In this regard, Sean's reaction has always been straightforward: He snapped his fingers.

Harding and others heard a peculiar sound of falling to the ground, and they turned their heads, except that Harding, Oriana, and Lanster had night vision capabilities, and they could see that Noro fell to the ground, and before Harding I have already seen Sean's methods of dealing with Noro, so I know that Noro must have died again. Besides, Oriana and Lanster both showed a dazed look, and Hitley even directly asked questions. What happened.

"Nothing, Noro accidentally fell down." Sean replied.

Harding knew that it was Noro who had killed himself, so he stopped saying anything and turned to move on.

Lanster and Oriana's expressions are a bit strange, a dignified sanctuary powerhouse can actually walk down by himself? It's just that Harding didn't say anything, and Sean didn't seem to want to explain. The two people who were a little afraid of Sean naturally didn't dare to ask questions and continued to move forward obediently. In fact, both of them couldn't wait to ask Hitley, the silly bug, to ask questions quickly.

But it's a pity, just as the two of them were confused about Hitley's positioning, this little confusion really believed, so after an oh, she continued to advance cautiously-she was pulling Harding's clothes corner , So if Harding moved, she naturally moved with it.

"Get up if you don't die." Sean kicked Noro, and then continued, "Two yuan is two yuan. It is better than nothing. Hurry up and lead the way."

"Bah!" After Noro got up, he opened his mouth again, but after seeing Sean snapping his fingers again, he hurriedly closed, "Don't be insufficient, those two earth fragments are It's so long and thick, compared to the piece I just took, it's really thick and long!"

Looking at Noro stretched out his fingers and gestured. Although Sean felt that Noro's words sounded strange, he couldn't help being shocked.

Because of the length of the Noro stroke, it is almost as long as the middle finger, and the width is the * and index finger together.

Such a piece is equivalent to seven pieces the size of a fingernail that Noro just held in his hand!

Chapter 294: .are you human?

Sion had never heard of such a large piece of earth.

In fact, any kind of material will have a standard unit for judging its value.

Like an earth stone crystal, the standard unit is one gram. If there are large earth crystals, the value is calculated according to the standard unit of how many grams. However, because the main purpose of earth crystals is to construct the portal of plane space, there are few other uses-even this time. Even the teleportation network that the entire continent is laying does not need to use materials of this level-so even if the earth stone crystals are very precious, no one will look for it.

Perhaps the legendary wizards, sages, and prophets of Fort Solomon, the northern solitary tower, and the observing spire will have a lot of demand for this kind of stuff.

As for the fragments of the earth, almost no one has seen this kind of thing, so it is naturally impossible to judge the standard unit.

But looking at the way that Noro is so familiar with the road, the standard unit of this thing is about the size of a fingernail, and it may also be priced according to one gram.

"According to a verse." Noro saw Sean's doubts and immediately corrected him.

At this time, driven by huge profits, Sean has already ran from the back of the team to the forefront, and his speed has obviously increased a lot.

"A section?" Sean was a little confused.

"En." Nodded, "The resolution of the law is calculated based on a percentage. Once a law is resolved 100%, then it means that you have thoroughly mastered the relevant abilities of this law. It is possible to derive the superior law from this.... In fact, to put it bluntly, the world law is a pyramid. The higher the pyramid, the stronger the law and the closer to the core of the world. The sanctuary strong will understand The first rule reached. There are high and low, strong and weak, but basically we all call it the 'primitive law'."

"This is not the original law of the world, but the original law belonging to the sanctuary strong. And the domain of our sanctuary strong is actually a small world. It is a world manipulated and changed by ourselves. The rules in this world The more and more perfect, the more complete the functions in this field and the more complete the world." Noro's words are obviously much easier to understand than the system introduction words in the cloud in the game. Sean quickly understood these differences, "Like my domain. My original law is the 'earth'. This law is naturally very perfect for me, and I even derived the superior law from this. 'Gravity', but in fact, the power of this law is only 70% of the resolution on the basis of the law of the entire world. This means that the power of the law of the earth that I can borrow can only reach 100% at most. Of thirty."

According to the original game system . When the resolution of the power of the law reaches 30%, 60%, and 90%, each can get a law strengthening effect. This strengthening ability. It can be an increase in the effect of the original domain ability, it can also be a new ability, or even a new function in the domain.

Nolo's law resolution is 70%, which means that his field has been strengthened twice.

One of the enhancement effects is the product of the "gravity" effect added to Noro's domain.

The player is different from the NPC.

The NPC in the game will only die by the power of one rule. Only a few geniuses will choose two or more different rules to analyze.

But players are very clever creatures.

Generally speaking, after the resolution of the power of law reaches 50%, every 1% increase requires a lot of time and energy. Players who only seek to be stronger will naturally not spend everything on this aspect, so they often get the first enhancement in the power of the law-that is, after the resolution reaches 30%, they will immediately switch to another. An analysis of the power of a law.

Therefore, in the player group, although some players are only the ninth-level lower sanctuary, they have as many as three or four domain laws. Of course, the resolution must be stuck at 30%-their purpose. , Just to get the law strengthening effect that time. It has to be said that this wide-spreading mode has indeed allowed many lucky players to obtain an extra domain skill when they first strengthened.

Like Noro's "gravity", it can be regarded as his domain skill.

The increase in skills in this field is generally a choice that will only appear when the law resolution reaches 60%.

It can only be said that some players are indeed face fighters who grew up drinking the milk of Goddess of Luck.

"What's going on in this section?" Sean asked.

He only knows that the knot was a speed unit in the age of the Earth Federation, and it was usually used to calculate the sailing speed of a ship. However, in Miracle Continent, it is definitely not used to express the speed of navigation. Although a person's resolution of the law is fast or slow, this direct absorption method is definitely not calculated by speed.

"Each knot is equivalent to at least one percent of the resolution." Noro said, "It is difficult to determine the exact point, but about every eight knots of the law fragments can be used as at least ten percent of the resolution.... ...Under normal circumstances, it's good to be able to get a section of the rule fragments, and those that are often in stock will also be used at the critical point of impact. After all, the resolution of each section of the rule fragments can be steadily increased by 1% , And the higher the resolution, the tighter the time it takes. Therefore, when used at 59% or 89%, it becomes extremely precious."

The so-called critical point of the law refers to the time when 30, 60, and 90% are reached.

Once is 100% mastered, then this law is equivalent to something that can be realized-the Godhead. The reason why the gods can become gods is because their law resolution reached 100% and they chose to realize, and smoothly completed the integration with themselves-this process is called igniting the fire of the gods. As for the priesthood, it is actually something that has evolved from its own domain skills and is also embodied; and the rise of the kingdom of God also embodies the domain and places it in the barrier space of the world law.

"The two pieces of earth fragments, each has eight sections." Noro continued.

"Eight quarters?" Sean let out a low whisper, counting like this, but it is more valuable than he guessed, "Why didn't you take it away? If you absorb them all, then your law resolution can reach 100%. Ninety out of it?"

"Too much dependence on the fragments of the law. It is not a good thing for me now." Noro shook his head, "Only through my own insight, will I be able to obtain a more perfect legendary ability in the future. If it is born from the fragments of the law. , Then its legendary ability is not very good, probably just a little more powerful than the general high-level sanctuary..... So the sanctuary powerhouse like us, generally only absorb one section. Then wait until after becoming a legendary powerhouse , Will absorb it without scruples."

Legend, there is still a long way to go to the current Sean, even in the game, he did not become a legendary powerhouse, so naturally he does not understand these. But listen to what Noro is saying now. Sean can generally understand. Why can only one golden power be born from a fragment of a rule like this? Because after the golden realm powerhouse absorbs a piece of law fragment, he will generate the corresponding law power, and can create the corresponding field with this, and the function of the corresponding law fragment will completely disappear, and other people It's useless if you get it.

However, even if there are a large number of law fragments, it can only catalyze the resolution of one law, and without special means, it still cannot make its own domain stronger. And for the natives in this world, this kind of unconscious catalysis will also cause them to cut off the possibility of becoming a legendary powerhouse-to put it simply. Fragments can be used to cheat, but only one or two sections can be used. Too many words are of no benefit to them.

And this way of cheating, for the player, there are no side effects at all.

Nolo doesn't know the real situation of Sean, but he has no idea of using these two pieces of earth fragments. Sean can also guess one or two at this time.

These two pieces of earth are not only to strengthen his physical use, but also to enable Shaun to grasp the relevant laws of the earth. Although everyone has different perceptions of the laws, there is such a pioneer as Noro, Xiao Well, I can still take less crooked roads. It's even possible to master the "gravity" domain skills that can be called metamorphosis like Noro. Even because Noro knows the special secrets, Sean can absorb the remaining earth elements when he becomes a lower sanctuary. Make your field stronger and stronger.

I have to say that Noro, the guard, is very loyal to Sean-even if Sean often uses the power of the contract to punish Noro.

Think about it, Sean is also a little touched: "Actually, I don't need these external forces."

"Oh?" Noro raised his eyebrows. He didn't expect Sean to understand what he meant, which made him feel a little embarrassed.

"About the path to the sanctuary, I already have an idea and preparation, and I have also been exposed to the power of the law, but the current I can't withstand the consumption of the domain." Sean thought for a while, and decided to talk to Noro. In the end, lest this guy always thinks about "pull the seedlings and encourage" to himself, "I am currently unable to advance to the sanctuary only because of some external factors. After I solve these urgent matters, I will You will begin your own journey to the sanctuary.... At that time, you can also take a vacation with peace of mind."

Hearing Sean's words, Noro immediately heard the overtones: "So the one-year vacation you promised me at the beginning is actually that you have made all the preparations yourself?"

"Nonsense." Sean gave Noro a blank look. "People in the whole South Continent know that I never make a loss-making business.... If I hadn't already figured out a way out, do you think I will give you a one-year vacation? Don't let you I'm not Sean if I'm exhausted."

Nolo was silent.

He suddenly felt that he missed the dark world a little.

But this kind of thought flashed in his mind, and soon he turned his head to look at Sean, his eyes even a little bit of horror: "You mean, you only need one year of preparation to be able to enter Sanctuary?"

When Sean received the mission about the bronze body, it took me more than three months to complete the mission. Judging from the one-to-three time ratio between the game and reality, it happens to be close to one year of game time. So Sean also prepared himself for a year to complete the task of this bronze body, and in fact, because Sean had already done it once, this time he felt that the speed of completing the task should be faster. It may not take another year.

"Almost." Xiao En nodded, but he also knew that this situation was really shocking.

Like Harding, although he looks like a young man, the life of the demon is very long, who knows how many hundred years old he is now? And Rorty Kabas was already a high-level golden peak powerhouse when he came to the surface, and he was stuck in the surface world for more than ten years before he became a sanctuary powerhouse. Similarly, there are Vinia and Marton. These two elves, no one knows how long they have been stuck in the golden realm, but judging from the situation at the time, more than ten years is indispensable.

As for Xuefanio and Cecilia, these two people can't be judged by common sense either. One is a direct descendant of the gods, and the career promotion method of the priest department is also different from other careers; and Cecilia, She was able to step into the sanctuary. In addition to awakening her own bloodline and the strength of this bloodline was strong enough and the grade was high enough, the hand that Rek helped to fuel the flames was also indispensable.

And Rina?

After Andrew intervened, this guy could no longer be regarded as a human. In a sense, Rina is also taking the "racial transformation" potion, because now under the real eye of Shaun, Rina's race column is clearly a dragon.

Normal people, from the upper level of gold to the sanctuary, it will take at least ten years to slowly polish them, and finally they will be able to obtain the success that is natural. From the golden realm to the sanctuary realm recorded in the history of the miracle continent, without any bloodline mutations and external forces and other factors, it took eight years for the real genius to finally be promoted from the upper golden peak to the lower sanctuary. .

is the "higher gold peak", not the upper gold. If the time from the upper gold to the upper gold peak is calculated, it is 13 years.

And Sean?

Others may not know, but Noro is very clear.

It has only been two or three years since he became the top golden pinnacle. And this is because Xiao En said that he was imprisoned by many trivial matters, so he slowed down the time to enter the sanctuary. If he was given a year of retreat, he could directly become a sanctuary powerhouse.

The news really shocked Noro.

"Can I ask a question?" Noro suppressed the shock in his heart, and then asked cautiously.

"What's the problem?" Sean asked.

"Excuse me, are you a human?" Noro glanced up and down at Sean, "I mean, is your race really part of the normal world system?"

"Go!"

Chapter 295: .Assault 【Three more ask monthly pass】

Because this corridor has only one exit, and all the dark blades have been taken care of by Noro, so even if the formation is out of touch, everyone will not encounter any danger.

So it was Sean and Noro who arrived at the exit first.

In front of Sean, it was a huge courtyard.

In terms of area alone, it is not smaller than the hall that Shaun saw when he entered the mermaid capital. And compared to the dull and single color of the original hall, this courtyard is full of a truly beautiful atmosphere.

It can be clearly seen that the artificial terraces are scattered around the entire courtyard. The closer to the core of the courtyard, the more the terrain develops downwards, which looks like a basin. It's just that there are many flowers and plants around this basin that Shaun doesn't know at all. Under the activation of the real eye, looking around, all these flowers and plants are blue and green quality materials. It is something that can be used in alchemy and pharmacy.

In addition to these valuable flowers and plants, the beauty of this courtyard is also top-notch.

An artificially mined stream flows slowly along the top of the terraces to the middle of the basin, where it accumulates into a central lake. The area of the central lake is not small. Xiao En estimated that it would have an area of about an acre. In the middle of the central lake, there is also a piece of artificial land on which only a pavilion with the same area as the land was built. However, this pavilion is not covered, but is open-air.

In the middle of this pavilion, there is a round platform about one meter in height, and the two pieces of earth fragments are placed on the round platform. The piece of earth that Nuolo picked up before was near this round platform. He originally wanted to take the two pieces of earth together by the way, but in the end he didn't know the reason for it, so he didn't take it. There are four roads leading to this pavilion. It happened to be in the four directions of the entire basin-at the location where Sean appeared at this time, there was a stone ladder extending down, and going straight along the road to reach the pavilion.

"Now I finally know why you didn't take those two pieces of earth." Xiao En curled his lips, "This trap is really obvious."

Nolo shrugged. Noncommittal: "I'm not familiar with everything here. I don't know about those puppets. I'm afraid that rash actions will bring unnecessary trouble to the team.... So I decided to wait for you to come and see here. Under the circumstances, you can make a decision after judging which guard it is."

The judgment of Noro is undoubtedly the most correct.

In the entire team, no one really knows all the puppet creations of the entire Mermaid Empire better than Sean.

Lanster's understanding is the kind of half-knowledge. Most of the time he couldn't even call the names of those organ puppets.

Only Sean. It is the real understanding and clarity.

He knows what series and models of mechanism puppets will be visited under what circumstances, he also knows the strengths and weaknesses of these mechanism puppets, and knows what methods to use to deal with them. No one knows why Sean understands the stuff of an empire that has been destroyed for a long time, but no one doubts the accuracy and rationality of Sean's words. They only know that what Sean said must be correct.

Only Noro is not blindly believing in Sean.

Because of his relationship with Sean. It's not ordinary at first.

"It should be the sea knight in the knight series." Sean frowned, "but it may also be the water goblin of the assault series.... Considering the dark corridor we passed before. I prefer the latter. ."

Just as Xiao En spoke, Harding and others also rushed over.

They were taken aback after hearing Sean's words, so this meant that the enemy they had to deal with was another model they had never seen before. But soon, everyone was attracted by the sight in front of them. As a family of beauty-loving mermaids, the courtyard in front of them is naturally very luxurious and beautiful. It is not inferior to the elf palace of the silver moon elves. What is even more rare is that in this courtyard, where traces of artifacts can be clearly seen. If it's not for obsessive-compulsive disorder, you have to stare at the details, this courtyard seems to be full of natural harmony beauty of nature.

"What really needs to be cared about is the central lake." Shaun said, "Many people may focus on the cylindrical trap, but in fact, with the character of the mermaid, there is no need to arrange extra traps. , Because they rely very much on their own mechanism puppets.... And the mechanism puppets that are related to water are the only sea knights of the knight series and the water elves of the assault series."

"Special series are also possible." When everyone was silent, Lanster, who had not spoken much, suddenly interjected.

"Well, special series are indeed possible." Xiao En nodded, "but special series are not mass-produced works. All special series models are unique individuals, and there are not many special series produced in the history of the mermaid. Most of the organ puppets of the series are still destroyed in various wars and battles.... But if it is a special series, I cannot be sure of the specific situation until I see this model."

"Then what shall we do now?" Harding asked, "Should I get the two pieces of earth fragments or explore other areas first?"

The conversation between Sean and Noro just now did not hide the others, and everyone naturally heard about the role and value of the earth fragments. It's just that all the people present are truly proud and genius-level figures, especially if you hear Noro's overuse of the law fragments that will cut off the road to legend, these people will naturally not produce these two pieces of earth fragments. What interest.

Lanster is probably impossible to become a legendary powerhouse in his life due to his racial talent, so there is no problem with this kind of law fragments even if they are overused. It's just that as a mermaid, he's close to nature is the element of water. This element originally restrains the element of water. For Lanster, apart from making him feel uncomfortable, there is no gushing out, so it is naturally impossible for him to come into contact with it. And use the laws of the earth.

Basically, except for the value of Noro and Sean, these earth fragments can be regarded as waste to everyone else.

In this courtyard, in addition to the passage behind Xiao En and the others, there are two other openings.

One is directly opposite to the entrance of Xiao En and the others. The other is on the right hand side of everyone.

These three entrances and exits are exactly three points of an equilateral triangle.

Sean looked at Noro, and then asked: "Have you ever explored the other two entrances and exits?"

Noro shook his head, with a rare embarrassment on his face: "When I came here, I was attracted by the fragments of the earth. So I just surveyed the surroundings of this courtyard. I didn't go to the other two passages. Check it out.... The murderous aura in this courtyard is not strong, at least it's much calmer than the passage we have just now. The only thing that makes me feel strange is around the stone pillar."

"The power of the water element here is too strong, whether it is for the water fairy or the sea knight, it is very beneficial, if even you feel tricky and dangerous. We rushed to get those two pieces of earth fragments. On the contrary, it is very likely to fall into Crisis." Sean thought for a while, and then said, "According to the original plan, we first find the power energy room and close the central magic circle. Let's come again."

Hearing what Shaun said, everyone nodded, and no one chose to object.

It's just that the problem now comes again. That is, there are two choices in the direction of progress. In which direction should I start exploring?

"Principle of proximity." Sean said. "Start from the right side first.... But before that, Lanster, you first go around and see if there is the mermaid heart you mentioned. Harding, you are responsible for protecting Lanster and avoiding the possibility of being attacked. As for Noro..."

"I understand." Noro sighed, almost when Sean clicked his name, he was already walking towards the entrance on the right.

Obviously, only he can do this kind of investigative physical work.

As Xiao En's orders began to be given, everyone began to do their own things.

Lanster, accompanied by Harding, began to walk down the stone stairs.

Although this is a terraced terrain, you can see the entire terrain from a high place, but because the terraces in the courtyard are planted with many flowers, flowers, and grasses, and the area of the courtyard is very large, there is really no way to make it clear at a glance. , Even if Lanster's eyesight is better. Therefore, he can only start to take the most stupid method, which is to explore the ground by an inch of land around the terraces of the entire courtyard.

Oliana and Hitley are the lowest strength in the whole team, so they stay in place, only this position is the safest.

However, Sean didn't intend to make Oriana too easy. Taking advantage of the exploration and investigation, he naturally asked Oriana to continue practicing swords. [Mystery Swordsmanship. Modification] This sword skill can only be learned through this stupid method, and there is no shortcut. As for judging whether Oriana has the talent to learn swordsmanship, it is Sean who has the final say, and Oriana herself has the final say.

Just when everyone started to get busy, Noro, who had already walked to the entrance to the right, suddenly let out an angry shout, not only the domain was fully expanded, even the black king in his hand also burst out an extremely dazzling and dazzling black Light.

Everyone has not been able to react from this sudden outbreak of fighting, and a very dazzling white light has already erupted at the location of this passage.

This light looks like a crystal barrier, with countless light patterns wandering in the air. At first glance, it looks like a huge light shield composed of countless diamond-shaped crystals. However, the existence of this light shield actually blocked the sword energy that Noro shot. Even if Noro did a hasty shot, he did not try his best, but the sword burst out. The power of, at least is equivalent to the full blow of the upper gold powerhouse.

But this blow was completely blocked by this light shield-everyone saw it, and only black sword energy exploded on the light shield, and then turned into countless black electric snakes on the light shield. Wandering, finally disappeared gradually.

Nolo, also with the powerful impact generated by this hastily shot, jumped out to the side and stood a few meters away from the entrance.

At this time, Noro looked extremely serious and serious, and the aura of a strong man who belonged to the middle sanctuary also broke out, especially his domain, which was completely enveloped at the entrance of the passage. Harding on one side entered a fighting state in the next second after the conflict broke out at this moment, and rushed to Noro's side in three steps and two steps, and he and Noro faced this passage. The mouth formed a horn.

"What's the matter?" Sean was also rushing over quickly, and asked.

Only when his voice fell and he saw the mechanism puppet slowly walking out of the passageway, his face suddenly changed!

Chapter 296: .Silver Wall

The reason why Xiao En's face changed drastically was because he recognized this organ puppet.

The Holy Wall of Silver!

This is an organ puppet that looks exactly the same as an elf, and its level of detail has completely reached the level of being fake. If it weren't for the special environment where Xiao En and the others were in at this moment, and the organ puppet didn't have the slightest biological aura, maybe Xiao En and others would think that they were also ancient elves with pure blood.

The method of making puppets for the special department is different from that of the other five departments.

Basically, all special department puppets have a body, and the armor they wear is not made directly from the template, but independently made as an external device.

So this mechanism puppet is wearing a silver-white light armor. The perfectly streamlined special light armor is just tailor-made for the body of this institution puppet-in fact, it is true, so the full-body light armor sets off this institution puppet to be taller and more powerful. . Its weapon is a very ordinary looking spear, that is, a spear with a spear head and a handle, but the whole body is shiny with silver-white metallic luster, which seems to be made of metal.

This mechanism puppet does not wear any shield, because it does not need it.

As its name suggests, this organ puppet possesses a constant protection skill called "Glory Crystal Wall"-which is what everyone has seen before, blocking the barrier of Noro's hastily erupting sword energy. . This skill can be immune to all energy form attacks below the eighth level-in other words, all offensive magic below the seventh level, magic arts, and vindictive energy equivalent to high-level gold are unlikely to break this barrier.

And this is also the most powerful place of the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor.

In Xiao En's memory, it is impossible for the Sacred Wall of Silver to appear in such a place!

You should know that the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor is a product of the First Mermaid Empire, and it is a special institution puppet numbered No. 3.

Number three. It is the serial code of the special system puppet, which means that this organization puppet is the third created among all the special system puppets.

Ordinary people cannot understand the serial code of the puppet of the special department.

But for Sean, who has read almost all relevant information about the Mermaid Empire in detail, he really knows what this serial code means too much.

Special system puppets, a total of only ninety-nine puppets were produced during the two mermaid empires. Nearly 80 of them were destroyed in various wars during the two empires. Especially the Great Patriotic War of the Second Mermaid Empire. More than 60 of them were destroyed. At that time, if it were not for the existence of more than 60 puppets of special type organs and a large number of puppets of legion type organs, the Second Mermaid Empire would have been eliminated fifteen years in advance.

But even so, there are still more than a dozen special types of mechanism puppets that have not been destroyed by the war.

Among them, the serial codes in the top 30 are all special models produced during the period of the First Mermaid Empire. From the 31st to the 99th, they were produced in the Second Mermaid Empire-that is, during the Atlantis Empire.

The biggest difference between the two is that the period of the First Mermaid Empire was established at the end of the Dawn Era. At that time, the priesthood of the gods had been completely stabilized. There is also a class distinction between the people of God and the people of the people, so various countries, or tribes, have begun to appear on the mainland, but on the whole it is still peaceful to get along with each other, even if there are occasional conflicts and wars, it is not Will lead to the complete demise of one of them.

The Second Mermaid Empire period was established after the Ash Age. That was the second empire built by the surviving mermaid clan after the first mermaid empire was destroyed in the Twilight War of the Gods. It's just that at that time, many of the glorious technologies of the First Mermaid Empire had been lost, and there were also gaps in the inheritance.

So you can imagine. The special organ puppets made during the two mermaid empires are naturally quite different.

This difference is not only caused by technical factors, but also a difference in material selection. In particular, the special mechanism puppets of the First Mermaid Empire also possess combat intelligence that the special mechanism puppets of the Second Mermaid Empire did not possess.

However, there is one thing that the special type mechanism puppets made during the first and second mermaid empires are the same, that is, the higher the sequence code, the higher the performance of the special type mechanism puppets. It also means strong combat effectiveness.

Even if...

Silver Sacred Wall is not a puppet of special organs known for attacking.

But this is a real number three!

According to Sean's understanding of the comparison of the power of the organ puppets, the combat effectiveness of the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor will not be weaker than that of the ordinary lower sanctuary. Although these organ puppets cannot expand the domain, nor can they fight with the power of the law, all the special organ puppets have many powerful skills, such as [Glory Crystal Wall], which is the many powerful skills possessed by the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor. One of them-if you have to replace the concept of understanding, this is the domain equivalent to the sanctuary powerhouse!

When seeing the Sacred Wall of Silver, Xiao En quickly explained some of the characteristics and abilities of this organ puppet. Of course, the [Glorious Crystal Wall] as its signature ability was naturally focused on the description. After hearing what Shaun said, Lanster and Orianna instantly understood that they and others would not be able to play a role in this battle. Because Lanster doesn't even have the strength of the lower level gold at this time, and Oriana may be able to rely on close combat combat methods to get close, but she doesn't think that this mechanism puppet that can push Noro back will make herself close to close combat. possibility.

At this moment, Xiao En really feels that even if he encounters the No. 1 mechanism puppet, he is not willing to encounter the No. 3 mechanism puppet!

The Silver Sacred Wall, which was exposed to everyone, would not know the thoughts of Sean and others. It glanced at the six people present, and then completely ignored Hitley, Oriana, and Lanster in the distance. Focus on the three of Noro, Harding and Sean. In fact, to be precise, it was Noro and Harding. Sean was only standing closer to the two, so he was included in the observation field.

If the attention of this organ puppet is to be divided into ten points, then Sean will get one point of attention, Harding will get three points, and the remaining six points will all be focused on Noro's body.

This is the combat wisdom possessed by these special organ puppets made during the First Mermaid Empire.

They can clearly judge the threat of the enemy to themselves.

Undoubtedly. Rinoro has the strongest strength among the people present, so it is naturally the most threatening existence.

Before Xiao En and others could react, the Sacred Wall of Silver had already rushed towards Noro with a stride.

The light blue magical light bursts out behind him-even if it completely simulates the Silver Moon Elf and the Dawn Elf, the essence of this thing is still a man-made product, and it is the pioneer of the alchemy puppet and the flesh and blood puppet. Therefore, it is natural not to expect that the internal structure of this thing is the same flesh and blood form as a creature-with the help of this magical light burst. The Sacred Wall of Silver quickly passed a distance of more than ten meters and came directly in front of Noro.

And the spear in his hand, naturally, pierced out without hesitation.

The tip of the gun is slightly raised,

But there was a silvery white light, shining from the tip of the gun, almost the instant the spear stabbed. This silver light burst out the most dazzling brilliance. Countless gun shadows suddenly burst out in dense, almost covering the entire upper body of Noro.

The whistling sound of tearing the air came out densely with the shadows of the guns, and almost every gun shadow has the terrifying power equivalent to the fourth level of magic.

But what really shocked Xiao En was that he actually saw the shadow of the soul of the town in this densely packed gun shadow!

"Don't make it hard!" With a roar almost subconsciously, Sean had already taken out an iron sword from the storage space, and then supported it from the side.

The spear is different from the long sword.

According to the ancient war chess game to divide the difference, then the attack distance of sword weapons is one, and the attack distance of gun weapons is two.

So this also caused. The attack from the Sacred Wall of Silverlight seemed to be extremely powerful, but in fact it was still a certain distance away from Noro. Originally locked by the aura of the Sacred Wall of Silverlight. Enolo, a combat veteran, would definitely choose to counterattack, but after hearing Sean's roar, even this feeling of being locked in by the air machine made him feel unusually uncomfortable, and even made him feel tingling all over his body. , He still chose to retreat.

One retreat, one advance.

Shaun and Noro, relying on the soul contract, actually formed an extremely tacit cooperation.

The long sword in Xiao En's hand, without hesitation, burst out the same dazzling sword shadow towards the right side of the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor.

Fifty sword shadows!

Shaun didn't have the slightest thoughts, as soon as he shot it was the strongest killer move he currently has: Soul Relief!

At the moment when the soul of the town appeared, everyone's eyes were all attracted involuntarily, as if the flow of time in this world had stopped. An inexplicable suction drew the minds of everyone present, as if it was fascinating, even if it was as strong as Noro, it couldn't help but produce a momentary sway of spirit - it made him feel a moment of chill, because he It is very clear that an existence stronger than him is not to mention a momentary loss of consciousness, even a short breath of distraction may have very serious consequences.

At this moment, Noro finally understands why Sean is telling him to retreat.

Because of this sword skill of Sean, it was very similar to the spear skill displayed by the Holy Wall of Silver. Although the spear skills displayed by the Holy Wall of Silverlight do not have such an illusion that attracts the mind, and the power is probably less than half of the sword of Sean, if he insists on the previous character, I am afraid that he will be here. Take a big loss in one blow.

may not be seriously injured, but it will more or less definitely affect the next level of combat.

Noro's heart was awe-inspiring. The fighting wisdom of this mechanism puppet is too high, he knows that he can use the strongest means to trick himself into the game, so as to weaken his fighting level-selected from the Holy Wall of Silver From the perspective of combat skills, it is obvious that it never thought of being able to kill Noro in one blow from the beginning. As long as it can weaken Noro's combat effectiveness, it can send out more attention to fight Harding and Noro at the same time.

As for Sean and Oriana, they were actually ignored by the Holy Wall from the beginning-if Sean's distance is really close, it would not even be divided into Sean's attention. Body.

But at this time, after Sean took the shot, the situation was naturally completely different.

Shaun's soul-saving, there is no significant improvement, still can only pierce fifty swords.

He remembers clearly, Beth told him once. Every time a soul-suppressing power is increased by 10%, fifty more swords must be pierced, and the power of the soul-saling can be increased only when it reaches a multiple of fifty. So there is no difference between fifty swords and ninety-nine swords. Therefore, Sean has not devoted all his energy and proficiency to this aspect. Intuition told him that the [Mystery Swordsmanship. Change] that Beth once taught him is the root of all this.

Suppression has a special effect that drew people's mind, but the premise of this effect is that the opponent has mental power.

Silver Sacred Wall, obviously cannot be regarded as a human, so it will not be affected by the special effect of the soul-suppressing at all. And that powerful special skill on it is obviously also a constant type of protection skill. So it was almost the moment when the soul of the town was approaching. Sean saw a white stream suddenly gleaming in the air.

This streamer is like an electric current that suddenly bursts in the air, turning into countless white star points, flowing in the air at an extremely fast speed. The invisible and colorless diamond grid follows these white electric currents. The flow suddenly emerged from the air. It is as if there is an invisible protective cover that can not be seen by normal human flesh beside the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor. This protective cover is composed of countless transparent diamond-shaped chips. When these electric currents flash by, transparent The diamond-shaped chip also followed in a flash in the pan.

Glorious crystal wall!

This is the special ability possessed by the Sacred Wall of Silver.

next moment. Fifty sword shadows hit the [Glory Crystal Wall] in such a dense array, and immediately burst out a very harsh continuous explosion.

Ding-ding-dang-dong sounds one after another.

But no matter how intense these sounds are. But stabbing on this brilliant crystal wall only caused the entire protective cover to produce a ripple like a rainstorm falling on the lake, and it seemed that it could not shake this brilliant crystal wall.

But in fact, it is not the case.

One, two, three, and five sword shadows crashed into it, although they could not pose any threat to the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor.

But when ten, twenty, thirty, and forty sword shadows attacked a small area in an instant, these attacks produced countless small cracks on the barrier. Once there are too many small cracks, they will be connected into huge cracks, which will naturally shake the protective effect of the entire brilliant crystal wall. It's just a pity that the magic power stored in the Sacred Wall of Silver is obviously very large, so these small cracks were repaired as soon as they appeared.

Only Sean, as the person involved, was able to notice this harm so closely.

In fact, this is also the reason why Sean's vindictive spirit is not pure enough and his strength is not strong enough.

If he already has the strength of the sanctuary at this time, his sword skill will definitely break through the protective ability of the shining crystal wall, directly endangering the silver sacred wall itself. But unfortunately, the effect of [Glory Crystal Wall] is to be immune to all energy damage below the eighth level, so even Sean can do nothing-he can cause such dense traces of damage on the Radiant Crystal Wall, forcing the Sage of Silver The wall had to consume magic power to repair it, which was already a strong proof of the sword skill of soul-suppression.

After fifty sword shadows were released, the sword shadows all over the sky disappeared.

At this time, the attack that the Sacred Wall of Silver had originally sent towards Noro stopped at the same time.

The attack skills of both sides actually have an unspeakable tacit understanding!

And the Sacred Wall of Silver, also turned his head suddenly at this moment, staring at Xiao En-its blue pupils like the sea, even emitting a strange light. Sean's scalp exploded at this moment, and a strong tingling and cold sensation enveloped Xiao En's body in an instant. He knew that at this moment, he had directly become the enemy of the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor. Target!

Chapter 297: . Shot must be O

Sean's scalp was numb, and a strong murderous intent completely shrouded him. At this moment, Xiao En seemed to feel that his blood was completely frozen!

The Sacred Wall of Silver will not be polite to Sean.

The spear in his hand slammed into Sean's heart without hesitation.

At this moment, Sean, who was originally only given one point of attention, was directly promoted to seven points of attention!

At this time, Sean is the most dangerous enemy in the eyes of the Sacred Wall of Silver!

Unfortunately, the leaks in the house happen to rain overnight.

Silver Sacred Wall's spear stabbed at the same time, a sudden sound of metal cracking sounded.

Xiao En subconsciously wanted to resist and raised his right hand. Before the long sword was swung out, the blade was broken into dozens of pieces of iron.

With ordinary quality weapons, it is naturally impossible to withstand the high-speed explosion of the soul, I am afraid that even high-quality weapons are enough.

At this time, Sean raised his right hand, just holding a bare sword hilt.

The fear of death caused Sean to feel the terrifying pressure of facing the soul for a moment. Even if he obviously wants to move away from the Holy Wall of Silver, even if he just lowers his body, the consciousness from his mind is still unable to be transmitted to his limbs, as if his neuron connection and induction have been cut off. Same.

Shaun can't move!

Others may not have noticed Sean's strangeness, but one of the people present still noticed it.

Hitley!

In her vision, she could see Sean's body covered by white light spots. She didn't know exactly what these light spots were, but these light spots made her feel uncomfortable, and subconsciously wanted to dispel these things.

And Hitley, has always been a silly bug who does more than his brain.

So without the slightest hesitation, Hitley's hand suddenly waved, and then pointed away.

Sean's body suddenly burst out with extremely bright white light.

Sean knows this magic.

The caress of the goddess of life.

This is a powerful magical technique that combines healing, restoration, and purification. As one of the representative skills of advanced magic, this magic can not only heal injuries. It can also get rid of almost all the negative effects of unknown effects. It's just that usually in battle, few priests of the Church of Life are willing to use this magic, because this magic is also a high-level magic in any case, and it takes a lot of divine power and grace to be able to perform it.

Hitley's willingness to perform this magical technique was actually a bit beyond Sean's expectations.

After all, unlike Xuefanio, she can communicate directly with the gods. Possess almost inexhaustible and inexhaustible grace and power. Even Hitley has undergone very special training. But in essence, she can only be classified as a genius, and it has not allowed her to break away from the category of normal people. Therefore, the use of this magical technique also consumes Hitley.

The light of the divine art is extremely dazzling, but the divine power is very rich and pure, and Sean can even feel that the goddess of life seems to have a will to himself at this moment. He wasn't sure whether this feeling was an illusion, but after the bright white light burst out. Sean felt relieved. All his action abilities have also been restored-at this moment, he didn't even know that he had just hit a certain special skill of the Silver Sacred Wall, so he was suppressed.

At this time, his mobility was fully restored. As soon as the spear was about to stab himself in the cutting edge of his hair, Sean, fighting for the price of being scratched on his left arm by the spear, quickly moved out of his body, and at the same time took out a handle from the storage space. New iron sword.

A splash of blood splashed out in the air.

It's just the scar on Sean's left arm. It is also healing quickly at a speed visible to the naked eye.

This is the effect of Advanced Recovery and Healing.

While Shaun retired, this time it was Harding's turn to take the lead.

For the failure to protect Sean just now. Harding felt a little self-blaming in his heart, so he vented all his anger to the Holy Wall of Silver.

After entering the sanctuary, Harding's combat effectiveness is naturally not comparable to before. Today, he doesn't even need to call out the flesh and blood armor completely when fighting, he already has the special ability of local summoning and transformation. Therefore, at this time, Harding only had his hands attached to flesh and blood armor, and the swords of each move were faintly flowed with black and red brilliance. With this brilliance flow, there was a roar of wind and thunder.

But as Harding's opponent, the Sacred Wall of Silver, the reaction at this time was strange.

Because its fighting attention is not on Harding's body at all, facing Harding's violent marching onslaught, the Sacred Wall of Silverlight is even just casually swinging a gun to resist, except for possible flaws that will launch a counterattack. In addition, it does not actively attack Harding at all.

[Glory Crystal Wall] can only be immune to energy-type attacks, but it is obviously not immune to a close-to-fist style like Harding. Therefore, in addition to hard-wired Harding's attack skills, in fact, the Holy Wall of Silver has no good means of resistance.

But at this moment, it seems that the Sacred Wall of Silver has been crushed and beaten, and it did not launch a counterattack for the first time, and even thought of not wanting to fight Harding.

This is a strange thing.

After changing to an ordinary long sword, Sean was taken aback for a moment. At the moment of such a distraction, the Sacred Wall of Silver had already swept his shoulders and stabbed his shoulders—three attacks were completed in one go, and he directly forced Harding back. .

Shaun's face changed suddenly, and he remembered the scene he didn't like to see when he was at the outpost.

"Protect Hitley! That guy is OT again!"

It was almost the words of Sean who just yelled out, forcing Harding to retreat from the silver sacred wall, and a powerful advancing flame burst out behind him, rushing directly towards Hitley volley. Its speed is extremely fast, a few minutes faster than when it hit Noro directly before, and almost only a silver-white brilliance shot across the air like a meteor.

The Silver Wall is raging, and the airflow generated when it volleys in the air is extremely powerful, and the surrounding air is as if it were being ignited by flames.

Almost in the blink of an eye, the Sacred Wall of Silverlight had already flown above Citley, and with a spear, he dived straight down in the air like this.

this moment. Hitley finally felt the death threat that Sean felt before. Even the one she brought, even Oriana next to her was directly enveloped by this awe-inspiring aura. She also felt the huge threat of death, her hair was even directly erected, and her figure was also at this time. The completely uncontrolled recovery became the unique fighting form of the werewolf clan.

Facing such an awe-inspiring enemy. Oriana let out a wolf howl. Then unexpectedly burst out of extremely rare courage, from the bottom to the top, pounced towards the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor. Looking at Oriana's attack, no matter what reaction the Silver Sacred Wall makes, it is obviously impossible to kill Hitley with a single blow. Its attack is destined to deviate, but if it is Oli If Anna pounces, then it is very likely that it will have an instant downwind position.

The shrewd battle calculus quickly flashed through the mind of the Silver Sacred Wall. The next second it hovered in the air. The original straight shot was also changed to sweep, and slapped Oriana heavily.

The crisp fracture sound suddenly sounded!

Obviously under this blow, Oriana was definitely injured!

In addition to fractures, the powerful impact force directly flew Oriana from the top terrace to the next three terraces. Everyone can only see that Oriana is almost like a ball. After falling from a high place to a low place, she bounced twice. She did not know which flower bush she rolled into, leaving only a very clear picture on the ground. Blood stains.

Oliana is now working hard to change to swordsmanship. But the most powerful combat technique in itself is still the martial art of hand-to-hand combat. It's just that her proud martial arts hadn't even been used, so she was swept away by the Sacred Wall of Silver as rubbish—even though she had the same fighting style as Harding. Will not trigger the instinctive protection of the Silver Sacred Wall, but the gap between her and the Silver Sacred Wall is still too great.

After all, she does not have as much combat experience and skills as Shaun.

And the Sacred Wall of Silverlight, as if doing something trivial, after shooting Oriana, her figure suddenly sank and fell heavily on the ground, almost reaching zero face-to-face with Hitley. The distance to the degree of contact, and then the spear in its hand pierced hard at Hitley again!

A black figure suddenly flashed, appearing abruptly on the side of the silver sacred wall, and the black long sword in his hand suddenly swept out.

This time, Noro did not use the sword aura to attack, but directly adopted a tough physical attack method.

As a sanctuary expert who is good at swordsmanship and assassination, Noro's attack speed is naturally very fast, at least a bit faster than the Silver Sacred Wall before killing Hitley. Therefore, in the face of Noro's strong attack, the eyes of the Holy Wall of Silverlight that have not changed, finally look sideways—in its battle calculation data, Noro's threat value at this time has once again risen to the highest point, and the center The system even tells it that if it does not block or evade the blow, then it is likely to be directly hit.

Following the central system's warnings and battle calculation data, the body of the Sacred Wall of Silverlight tilted slightly to the right while retreating, and the spear changed again.

This is the first time that the Sacred Wall of Silverlight holds both guns in both hands!

is just used to resist Noro's attack.

The black king slashed on the handle of the spear, and the black and white rays of light suddenly burst out, forming a weird yin and yang fish pattern, and then the explosion of these two forces melted into each other in the impact, but the spear was not affected. The black king cut to pieces.

However, in terms of strength, it is obvious that Noro is better.

While blocking this blow, the Sacred Wall of Silver Radiance also moved backwards, and two long ravines were plowed on the ground with both feet.

And at the moment when the Holy Wall of Silverlight stopped, before it had had time to pull out of the gully, Harding had already rushed to its side—repelled by the attack of the Holy Wall of Silverlight in one go, and also caused the Ou Lianna's life and death are unknown, even Hitley almost died because of it, and Harding felt only a moment of shame.

So the attack at this time, Harding's momentum is unprecedented.

His right fist slammed under the left rib of the Holy Wall of Silver, a powerful force burst out suddenly—everyone could even clearly see a stream of air from behind the left side of the Holy Wall of Silver Erupted from the side. And after the punch, Harding didn't stop, the left fist followed abruptly—the same air flow erupted out, and this time, everyone could even clearly see the body of the Silver Sacred Wall bend slightly. .

The attack of two punches in succession is not the end, but just the beginning!

Immediately after, Harding's boxing began to strike out one after another, completely using the Holy Wall of Silver as a sandbag.

With Harding's fast punching, there is no trace of boxing, only the vague shadow of the boxing. The Sacred Wall of Silverlight seems to have lost the ability to resist, and the figure is even more squatting.

Chapter 298: .Broken the shell [third more]

For a long time, no one knows what Harding's domain capabilities are.

However, the realm is originally the secret of the extreme privacy of all the sanctuary powerhouses. Since Harding doesn't say it, of course others will not ask, because this is very impolite behavior. Even Sean has never asked about the domain abilities of these sanctuary powerhouses under his command, because these are their own secrets. The only thing he knows is the domain abilities of Cecilia and Noro. .

Of course, even if Sean knew, he never said it.

Today, it's Sean, or it's the first time everyone has seen Harding display domain skills.

This ability is no stranger to Sean.

shock.

This is a domain skill formed from the laws of the atmosphere. Like Noro's [Gravity], it is an ability that can only be learned after the resolution breaks through the critical point. And considering that Harding has just become a sanctuary not long, Sean believes that his resolution will never reach 60%, so he can acquire a domain skill at 30%. I have to say this. Ting's luck is indeed good.

With such a personal attack by Harding's domain skills, even if the Sacred Wall of Silverlight wants to fight back, it is already in a state of powerlessness-in fact, it is not that it does not want to fight back or get out of the current situation. But it is really powerless. If Harding's attack is a little slower, then the Holy Wall of Silver will be able to escape from this situation, but on the contrary, his attack frequency changes very fast, and it is also full of irregularities, which leads to silver. Every time Huizhi Sacred Wall accumulates a little strength to prepare to resist, it will be directly defeated by Harding without mercy.

All this is the real reason that caused the body of the Sacred Wall of Silver to squeeze up, and completely lost the ability to resist. And as the body gradually creaked, under Harding's attack. The body of the Sacred Wall of Silver had even begun to be completely drawn by Harding's attack, and both feet began to lift off the ground slightly, and the whole figure was hit by Harding and floated in the air.

But in fact, Harding's attack method seems very fierce, but in fact, the damage effect on the Holy Wall of Silver is not significant.

If Harding's mastery of atmospheric laws skills is not shock. It's a penetrating word. Then I am afraid that under Harding's fierce space, the interior has long been messed up, maybe the core will be destroyed. However, the effect of concussing this domain skill is indeed very minimal for enemies of non-physical life forms.

Don't look at the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor at this time completely unable to move, but once Harding can't continue this high-frequency attack, let the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor get breathing time. Then it will recover immediately.

At this moment. Others may not know, but Noro and Sean do know that Harding is in a difficult situation.

"Kick it to fly!" Noro saw that Harding's forehead was slightly sweaty, and he knew that Harding's stamina was exhausted too quickly.

Each of Harding's punches has the effect of domain skills. This is no more than Noro's gravity suppression, especially since Harding has hit hundreds of punches in just a few minutes. This consumption is more expensive than Noro. The use of gravity to suppress it for several hours is more troublesome.

Hear Noro's roar. Harding gritted his teeth and immediately started following Noro's instructions.

He didn't know what Noro was planning to do. But at this time, he can only choose to trust his companions and cooperate. As a result, Harding's shots are getting bigger and bigger, and the frequency of his attacks is getting faster and faster. Under such conditions, the Holy Wall of Silver will float a few millimeters in the air every time he punches, and wait until he counts again. After a hundred fists came down, the Holy Wall of Silver had already climbed to the top of Harding's head.

At this time, Harding's attack range began to appear a little insufficient.

But Nuolo asked to fly, so Harding finally gritted his teeth and let out a roar when he was about to reach the limit of his distance. An unknown blood-colored totem appeared on his body, and then he punched. Boom in the chest and abdomen of the Sacred Wall of Silver.

The power erupted from this punch can almost be said to be the strength of Harding's whole body.

So after a gas wave that almost spread out to a radius of hundreds of meters toss, the Holy Wall of Silver was immediately knocked into the air and floated to a height of hundreds of meters. And after climbing to such a height, the Holy Wall of Silver Light also began to fall back down. Only because the destructive effect of the shock has not been completely removed, the Sacred Wall of Silverlight has not been able to control its own figure, although it has begun to emit flames behind it, trying to stabilize its figure and stay in the air, but it is intermittent. The flamethrower only made his situation worse.

Right now!

A black crescent sword energy nearly ten meters in length suddenly burst out, and then blasted towards the holy wall of silver.

Sword Qi broke out.

This is an energy-based attack method.

The natural defensive ability possessed by the Holy Wall of Silver is immune to this type of energy attack. Therefore, facing the attack of this black sword energy, the Sacred Wall of Silver had no intention of even twisting and dodge in mid-air. It was still trying to stabilize its figure and then regained its fighting state. The impact caused by the successive concussive attacks from Hardina is gradually disappearing from him.

But when this black sword aura came into contact with the radiant crystal wall, the alarm system of the sacred wall of silver finally ran away completely.

The diamond-shaped chip grid that was enough to block the attack of Shaun's soul had a huge crack at this moment, and the crack was still spreading, and even the huge magic power of the Silver Wall itself could not be quickly repaired. . What's more terrifying is that the impact of this sword aura is not like the sword aura that Noro hurriedly emitted when he encountered a sneak attack at the entrance of the passage. When it touched the brilliant crystal wall, it exploded into countless black electric snakes. , But continued to impact with a persevering spirit.

Soon, the crack created by the impact of the black crescent sword energy began to spread and spread, until it spread across the entire brilliant crystal wall!

However, at this time, you can see that the black crescent sword energy has been consumed almost, and it seems to be a little weak in succession, and it is gradually dissipating. With this breathing time, the cracks on the Radiant Crystal Wall began to be repaired bit by bit.

Is it going to fall short of success! ?

The faces of all people were shocked.

This sword aura that was almost poured into Noro's full blow, obviously requires energy to be activated, otherwise Noro would not ask Harding to knock the Holy Wall of Silver into the air without any help. A place that can only be beaten. And after this blow was issued. Noro wants to issue this extremely powerful attack again, so he must wait for the CD skill to finish.

At this time and a half, everyone felt a sense of powerlessness in life.

And this is also the reason why Sean hates the No. 3 special organ puppet so much. This thing is notoriously difficult and resistant. If it is changed to the number one. Maybe it will be more dangerous. But at least it won't make people feel so weak and aggrieved.

Turtle combat skills have been the most maddening fighting method since ancient times.

Co is at this moment.

Harding suddenly jumped, and the whole person jumped up suddenly-the sanctuary powerhouse, even the lower sanctuary, has the ability to fly and stay in the air for a short time. It's just that Harding's way of staying in the air seems a bit unique, because every time his feet are lightly in the air. It seems that there is something that makes it step on by force. This allowed him to float up quickly and approach the descending Silver Sacred Wall at an astonishing speed.

Obviously, this peculiar ability to stay in the air is also one of Harding's domain effects.

and quickly approached the sacred wall of silver, Harding of course was not to watch the cracks in the sacred crystal wall up close.

I saw Harding shook hands with each other, and then suddenly lifted above his head, looking like he had turned himself into a hammer. Then under the gaze of everyone, Harding's arms suddenly fell on the brilliant crystal wall-the protective ability of this silver sacred wall was only revealed during an energy-type attack. It doesn't usually appear, so it can't actually block normal physical contact means. But the situation is different now. When the Radiant Crystal Wall is fully revealed, all physical contact means will also collide on the Radiant Crystal Wall instead of directly acting on the body of the Silver Sacred Wall.

Therefore, Harding's hammering with ten fingers clasped his hands, naturally, fell fiercely on the shining crystal wall, and then burst out a wave of air that spread and spread larger than the air wave that just sent the holy wall of silver into the sky. wave.

A burst of crisp cracking sound, sounded without suspense!

The egg shell of the Sacred Wall of Silver, at this time was finally completely broken!

Almost at the moment when the eggshell was broken, the color of the full body light armor on the Sacred Wall of Silver suddenly darkened. It had suffered the damage caused by so many punches by Harding before, and it was completely in the light armor at this moment. The Shang also followed: It was actually a dense crack!

OK!

Sean, who knows the characteristics of the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor, immediately knows what the state of the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor is now!

Under this effect, all attacks will cause more than 200% damage to it, and it will no longer be immune to any energy-type attack methods. Even the lowest-level magic can directly hit him, causing damage!

"Sword!" Shaun shouted at Noro.

The latter immediately threw the Black King towards Xiao En with his heart and soul.

I saw Sean dash forward, and at the moment he received the Black King, he turned and dashed towards the sacred wall of silver that had fallen heavily to the ground.

When Xiao En approached the front of the Sacred Wall of Silver, this special type of mechanism puppet was climbing up from the ground with difficulty, standing staggering a little. When it saw the arrival of Sean, it wanted to attack with a gun, but at this moment it was in a state of breaking defense, its attack action was countless times slower than before, and it looked like it was playing in slow motion. , In this way, it is naturally impossible to threaten Sean.

And Xiao En, holding the right hand of the Black King suddenly raised, a breath of incomparable tranquility suddenly burst out of Xiao En.

It's not more awe-inspiring than the self-defeating aura that suppressed everything before.

This time, Sean's shot has a peaceful and peaceful taste.

Looking at Sean's shot, although everyone was not taken away by him, a very subtle tranquility rose from the depths of their hearts, as if they had frankly accepted the fate of death. No matter who it is, even if it is as strong as Noro and Harding's, after seeing Sean's shot at this moment, the manic mood has been completely calmed.

Requiem!

The first form of the Seven Souls that Shaun learned from Beth a long time ago!

Long ago, when Sean performed this trick, it would be accompanied by extreme physical weakness. But now, after becoming a powerhouse of the upper golden pinnacle, the description of this skill in Sean's skill panel has also been changed, and all side effects have been cancelled.

The Black King, in Xiao En's hand, pierced directly into the heart of the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor without any hindrance.

In this position, it is the power core of all the puppets of the special department.

As long as this place is destroyed, these special system puppets will immediately stop all functions.

When Sean's black king pierced in, the Sacred Wall of Silver, which brought great trouble and threat to people, its eyes finally lost all its brilliance!

Chapter 299: .Mythical Equipment

"Go and see Oriana!" Sean shouted towards Harding.

After hearing Sean's words, Harding and Lanster immediately ran towards the location where Oriana fell. There are many flowers and plants around, and they grow quite luxuriantly, so this makes them a little hard to find. Fortunately, the blood stains around are quite obvious, and Oriana has not recovered from the werewolf state. Following the many traces revealed by the blood stains and friction, the two managed to find Oriana who was already in a coma.

Shaun pulled the Black King from the heart of the Sacred Wall of Silver, and then saw Harding make a safe gesture, Shaun finally breathed a sigh of relief.

Hitley and Noro have rushed to Oriana's side, and they are treating Oriana at this time.

Actually, Oriana's injury is not very serious.

At the moment when was flew away by the Holy Wall of Silver, she actually tightened the muscles of her whole body, so the actual damage was exempted a lot, but because of the excessive strength, the bones were impacted. As for the blood stains and other bruises and falls behind, this is also an unavoidable problem. After all, if you don't spit out the blood, this kind of congestion is not a good thing to accumulate in the body-most of the time the orcs will be unpretentious. The bleeding caused by these internal injuries was vomited.

Only humans and elves can swallow them in a desperate manner and increase their internal injuries.

Under Hitley's healing, Olianna's breathing quickly stabilized.

Because there is no internal injury, these injuries are not particularly serious, but what needs to be avoided is to fracture again in a short time-with Hitley's level of healing, within about a day, Oriana's injury can be healed. Fighting hard with others again and again vigorously.

Besides, Harding is just a bit mentally exhausted, and Noro is a bit collapsed.

In general, the entire team did not suffer much loss of combat power.

After confirming all the conditions. Xiao En, who was in a decent state, returned to the wreckage of the Sacred Wall of Silverlight.

Seeing that the light armor on his body was completely broken, Xiao En sighed very regretfully.

This light armor looks like it can't come off, but it's actually a mythical quality suit, to a certain extent. This is a set of angel armor comparable to a myth. In the game. This set called "Sacred Radiance" is the only mythical set that can be acquired after the third expansion is opened before the demon invasion event. Sean clearly remembered that the guy who had been crushed by the chief knight of his guild had achieved this status by accident and finally had a record of turning defeat into victory.

So for this set of equipment, Sean was particularly impressed.

But now it seems that this light armor is obviously in an unusable state.

just touched it a little bit. The whole set of equipment has been broken into countless pieces of iron. This level is already completely "unrecyclable".

Xiao En sighed helplessly, and didn't know how those people recovered the equipment.

In the next second, Sean showed a pensive look.

The capital of mermaid, obviously has never been discovered in the game, because at least until the fifth expansion is opened, there are still no legends related to the mermaid capital in the game, and even several sacred treasures of the mermaid clan. Never appeared. In the game at that time, the player's source of information about the mechanism puppets. Most of it is because of Atlantis, a large-scale dungeon exploratory copy-this kind of copy concept was only introduced when the fourth expansion was updated.

Exploratory copy. There is no difficulty choice for this type of dungeon. They all have built-in fixed difficulty based on different game historical backgrounds. The refresh time of the dungeon CD is one week, one month, and one quarter. The three CD times correspond to small, medium, and large. Exploring copy. Because it is an exploration dungeon, this type of dungeon does not limit the number of players in the team. If the player feels that the strength is strong enough, two people can also explore a large exploration dungeon; Tens of thousands of people formed a legion to explore.

Of course, once you enter the dungeon, the dungeon ID is fixed. At that time, in addition to new players who have not yet entered the dungeon, players with different dungeon IDs will be separated after entering. Therefore, at the time, some players with relatively strong capabilities were extremely rare in the number of copies of their own. After all, large-scale exploration copies can only be entered once every three reality months; naturally, some players who want to hold their thighs will also stare at those who are more powerful. The guild copy ID.

So as the only large-scale exploration copy at the time, the second mermaid empire "Atlantis Empire" copy, countless players visit every day. Naturally, there are countless histories about organ puppets and the Mermaid Empire, and Sean has absorbed countless information about the Mermaid Empire during this period.

But he can be sure.

Silver Wall is definitely not a copy of the Atlantis Empire.

The official has made an explanation on the special system puppets. These puppets have unique ID codes, which are one-time codes. Once they are destroyed, they will never be refreshed. It is exactly the same as those smart NPCs. of. Therefore, as the only a dozen puppets of special type organs in the world, they are naturally extremely precious, and each of them will have at least one or two pieces of mythical quality equipment.

Shaun frowned.

If the mermaid capital has not been discovered from beginning to end, then the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor must have been discovered on the Marvel Continent. Only in this way can it be possible to explain why someone has obtained the "Holy Radiance" equipment.

Thinking of this, Xiao En looked at the passage that had just appeared on the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor, and he probably knew where the passage led.

"Are there any good things?" Noro frowned and raised eyebrows sometimes when he saw Sean, he walked over and asked.

"What good things can there be." Xiao En shook his head and smiled bitterly. "This light armor is good, but it's a pity that it's all broken into pieces. Even if you recycle it, it's useless. I can't even recognize these materials, even if they are all recycled. Ways to re-smelt...Others, nothing good."

"I think this gun is pretty good." Noro picked up the spear that the Sacred Wall of Silver Splendor was holding just now.

This spear is the oldest ordinary spear shape, which is very different from the more mainstream modified spears nowadays. This spear is silver-white all over, with a unique metallic luster on it. Just now, Sean's attention was focused on "Holy Radiance". After all, this set of equipment was too famous, so I ignored other things. At this time, when Noro reminded him, Sean focused his attention on this spear. superior.

After all, it can block Noro's full blow from the Black King. The degree of sturdiness is definitely guaranteed. Because there is not even a shallow mark on it.

But after taking it from Noro's hand, Sean still gave a slight sigh.

The feeling of starting with this long gun is much lighter than imagined. It looks like it is made of metal, but in fact it is not. The barrel of this long gun is made of wood, and only after the completion of the production is painted this layer of metallic luster-the twilight era. The craftsmanship level of weapons and armors is much higher than today. Because at that time, alchemy has been integrated into the forging process, and even the magic circle is engraved in the production of equipment-this layer of metal luster, in addition to preventing the rotting of the gun body, may also be enhanced The role of gun defense capabilities.

It's just a pity that because of the metallic luster, Sean can't recognize the raw material of the gun, but it shouldn't be too bad.

As for the spear tip, Xiao En also couldn't see what material it was made of, but he could barely see that these materials were mixed with several materials such as Star Steel, Demon Crystal Dust, and Bai Youjing. These materials have a common characteristic. That is to increase the sharpness, but also to reduce the weight of the gun head itself-Sean guesses. The main material of this gun head must be some kind of very heavy ore.

With such a spear, even if Sean doesn't need to glance at the real eye, but simply evaluates it based on the materials, he knows that this thing will never be too low.

According to the situation before the Ashes, one cent for materials and one cent, this long spear must be a very powerful piece of equipment.

But when Sean opened the Eye of Reality, he was still shocked.

[Silver Penalty Spear, Myth, Hardness 800, Piercing 620, Strength +25, Agility +20, Spear Skill +5, Spear Skill Damage +400%, each attack has a 15% chance to trigger the effect "Silver Penalty" : This attack ignores all physical and magical defenses, and causes an additional 200% damage, which must destroy magical armor; equipment requirements: none.]

[Item description: You don't know its origin or the materials used to make it. The only thing you know is that the powerful aura exuding from this spear is far more powerful than any weapon you have seen.]

Mythical equipment!

This looks ordinary, if it weren't for Noro's reminder, Sean didn't even have the idea of picking it up to check the spear, but what he used to be a myth-level equipment?

Shaun was deeply shocked.

"What's the matter?" Seeing Xiao En looked a little dazed, Noro asked again.

"Fuck, the value of this stuff... is very high." Xiao En swallowed, no matter how big his family is now, he can't really calm down.

Because this piece of equipment is mythical equipment!

is the first mythical equipment that Sean has started!

"This thing looks ordinary, I almost threw it away. I didn't expect it to be a powerful piece of equipment!" Xiao En hurriedly put this long gun into the storage space, and then settled down. It was so powerful. If his equipment hadn't been hidden by himself, he would really be a little worried.

甬 No matter if there are any other gains in the mermaid, but Xiao En also knows that just getting this mythical spear is a worthwhile trip.

"You have to know, there is a saying that makes people not look good." Noro hummed, and he looked at me quickly and praised me quickly.

It's a pity that Sean completely ignored it.

What he was thinking now was that this spear could probably be used by Xina. After all, she learned a lot of spear skills from Rina, and now she is also taken by Rina to participate in the battle of the bad blood plan. If it wasn't for Rina to be destined to become a dragon knight in the future, and he had to get her a dragon knight as soon as possible, he would want to use the Holy Spear of Silver Punishment for Rina, and let Xina use Rina's previous one. .

After such a harvest, Sean's mind became a little more active.

He directly set aside all the light armor fragments on the Sacred Wall of Silver, and then began to search for this organ puppet little by little.

Of course, the way Sean is now, it seems to be indescribable.

All special organ puppets are not made directly according to the elves' combat attire. Instead, a perfect elf body was created first, and then related system design was started to determine the future specialization combat direction of this special organ puppet. Only after this direction is determined, will the corresponding equipment be produced according to its characteristics, and then will the core of combat skills be entered and final adjustments made.

So this time. Xiao En swept all the light armor fragments on this organ puppet. What was revealed was the body of this mechanism puppet that was exactly the same as the silver moon elf.

But what is amazing is that the main body model of the Sacred Wall of Silverlight is actually a female elf!

So, Sean, who was searching for something on his body, looked extremely trivial.

"Hey, I don't see that you are this kind of person." Noro teased beside him.

Sean sneered, then snapped his fingers casually.

Nolo suddenly began to scream.

This misfortune came out of the mouth, and Noro never remembered it. Every time I always have to kill myself. Now as soon as I heard Noro screaming. Almost everyone is completely immune, and no longer casts a pitiful look at him, but a look of helplessness or gloat.

Of course, Tonoro screamed fortune. At this time, no one wanted to see what Shaun was doing. They all rested on the second terrace.

And Sean, naturally, will not have any thoughts and thoughts about a robot-like thing. For him, this search job is simply without psychological obstacles. There is even time to comment on the exquisiteness of this organ puppet's body. Of course, after searching on the surface, nothing good was found. Sean unceremoniously picked up the Black King, and then directly began "dissecting".

In this scene, I was a little stunned to see Noro.

Shaun's quick-and-doing, resolute character, made Noro a little bit unable to adapt.

Of course, the organ puppet that was dissected did not show the internal organs that Noro imagined, or that it was actually a human brain.

Inside the organ puppet, there is still a loading area that differs from other organ puppets—similar to circuit boards and motherboards. There are many magic nodes and similar circuit lines made of Mithril with excellent magic conductivity. The same lines, there is even a magic power store, magic power converter, element collector-these things are only used in relatively large magic experiments now, but because basically all magic shops sell it, so this thing It's not worth much.

Sean guessed that this should be the real reason why special organ puppets are stronger than other types of organ puppets. After all, if other types of organ puppets are closed, they will cut off their magic reception, and these organ puppets will lose some special features. Skill. But this kind of special organ puppets can rely on these three functions to put themselves in a state of continuous cycle work, so even if there is no power and energy supply from the magic array, it will not cause their combat power to decrease.

These things, Xiao En thought for a while, or removed them all, and then received them in the storage space, he always felt that they might be useful in the future.

But after putting all these things away, Sean discovered that there was actually a smaller-scale circuit board block under the circuit board that occupied two-thirds of the internal space. However, unlike the magic node and magic transmission line of the motherboard, this circuit board is drawn with a magic array with six grooves on it, four of which have only some powder on it at this time, and the other two grooves are inserted into it. There are two tetrahedral crystals.

When he saw this special circuit board, Sean also showed a strange look on his face.

Chapter 300: .Skill crystal [first more]

Gemology, at the very beginning, was used as a necessary knowledge classification for magicians and arcanists. △ ¢ Appointment Novel,

Of course, this refers to the knowledge of the aborigines, and players will not involve these knowledge.

However, the game always has a way to integrate these gadgets into the player's life-such as life and occupation, such as other necessary knowledge, and the player's unique system auxiliary functions, so most of the time the player can recognize the gems. Unlike npc, only people with corresponding status and occupations will have relevant knowledge.

Like Sean, his profession was originally a warrior system, so naturally there is no need to involve such things. But his life occupation is a blacksmith, and he is also an alchemist who can create magical equipment. Therefore, Sean will more or less dabble in gemology and alchemy, but the upper limit of his knowledge and expertise is not as good as magic. The teacher and the arcanist are so profound.

But at this moment, Sean can still clearly distinguish that the four grooves with only powder in them should have been inserted with the same crystals as the other two grooves. But it's probably because of some reasons in the fight just now or some time ago that caused these crystals to shatter, leaving only these powders. Sean blew it lightly, and all the powder had drifted away with the wind, choking people like dust.

Sean waved his hand, swept away the dust, and then turned his gaze to the two remaining crystals.

The crystal above the pentagram magic circle showed a gray and dark color, and it felt as if something had been burned. Only the other crystal inserted in the middle of the magic circle showed a milky white luster, but at this time the milky white luster seemed a little bleak. It feels like energy failure.

These crystals, Sean could not recognize their nature and scientific name. This is what he finds strange.

The mermaid empire is not a country based on magic and martial skills, but they are in a variety of "bypass" academics such as alchemy, magic circle, mechanism, and puppetology. But it has the ability to surpass the current era. Things like the steam studies made by goblins today, the magic circle made by the guys looking at the spire, the puppets that the old scholastics are studying in the northern solitary tower, and the alchemy of the sky library, etc., are actually leftovers from the Mermaid Empire. The stuff-but even so, their achievements today are not as good as one-tenth of the Mermaid Empire.

Perhaps, under the impetus of Sean, the launch of the teleportation magic circle is truly a big step forward to the scientific research of the mermaid empire. Only after the official launch of the magic device, the entire Marvel Continent will enter a new round of technology. revolution. But even if it enters the era of magical devices, it will only narrow the scientific research gap with the mermaid empire to one-fifth, and want to truly reach or even exceed the level of the mermaid empire. Before Sean came into this world, he hadn't appeared yet.

So, Sean didn't think that the special type mechanism puppets made by the mermaid guys would have no meaning inside.

tried a little, and after confirming that these crystals were not in any danger, Xiao En stretched out his hand and took out the black crystal, then opened the real eye and swept it.

The next second, Shaun's face was shocked.

【Infinite Gun (damaged):——. 】

【Item description: This is a very rare skill crystal. After special means, the skills sealed inside can be resurrected! But unfortunately, this skill crystal has obviously been completely destroyed, but if you don't mind, you can still use it as an obsidian for decoration. 】 is actually a skill crystal!

Shaun picked up another crystal with a slightly bleak color without hesitation.

no doubt. This is also a skill crystal, and it is still an undamaged skill crystal!

【Glory Crystal Wall: Skill crystal, special. myth. Incidental skill "Glory Crystal Wall": It can deploy an absolute defensive cover with a radius of three meters, immune to all energy launching martial arts below the eighth level (including the eighth) and the elemental and arcane systems below the seventh (including the seventh) magic. Equipment restrictions: armor type; core array. 】

【Item description: This is a very rare skill crystal. After special means, the skills sealed inside can be resurrected! But please note that once it fails. This crystal will be broken, and you will not have any chance of coming back. 】

Shaun's face was filled with excitement.

The value of this thing is no longer under the Holy Spear of Silver Punishment, and even in a sense, far exceeds the Holy Spear of Silver Punishment!

Skill crystals are very rare special items in the game.

Although it does not allow players to directly acquire skills, it can directly incorporate skill crystals into the equipment through forging means, so that the equipment comes with the skills granted by the skill crystal. It's just that the skills of the skill crystal are different, and the equipment restrictions are also different: like the previous skill crystal of the infinite spear, it can only be integrated into the spear weapon at first glance. Crystal Wall, as the signature skill of the Sacred Wall of Silver, naturally can only be integrated into armor equipment.

But what Shaun didn't understand was what this "core array" meant.

In the game, let alone him, even his guild didn't get skill crystals, so he didn't know anything about this kind of stuff. At that time, there were only a few skill crystals in the entire game, but the most advanced ones were only rare qualities, even the legend did not reach. Now Xiao En thought about it, it should be the person who obtained the skill crystal in the game secretly, at least in the hands of the team that obtained the "sacred brilliance", there should be this "brilliant crystal wall" skill crystal.

As for why he didn't see this skill later, Sean guessed that there were only two situations.

One is that the forging and smelting failed, so the skill crystal is broken; the other is that the skill crystal has been preserved and has not been used.

But no matter what the situation, it has nothing to do with Sean.

Now that he has such a skill crystal in his hand, he still feels pretty good. However, before figuring out what the "core array" means, Sean dare not use this skill crystal at will. Of course, even if Sean wants to integrate into the equipment, he currently has no good equipment worthy of. He incorporated this skill crystal into it.

"Looking at you smiling so happily, this thing seems to be a good thing." Noro doesn't know what a skill crystal is, but he can judge the specific situation of the harvest from the face of Sean.

"It's okay." Xiao En smiled and nodded. After playing with the skill crystal, he received it in the storage space, "It's really a pretty good thing."

A weapon equipped with mythology, coupled with a very rare skill crystal, Sean obtained two mythical quality things from this mechanism puppet. This made Sean begin to feel that these mechanism puppets are not that way. I hate it. At this time, Xiao En even began to expect that all the puppets he would encounter next would be special-type organ puppets. Then, even if he didn't go to the secret vaults and treasure houses, he would not feel uncomfortable with this trip.

Anyway, the most valuable item in the secret vault is the mermaid crown, but no one can use this thing except the mermaid.

Although Lanster is a mermaid, but this guy didn't come for the mermaid crown. Sean really couldn't figure out why he came to this mermaid capital. But on the other hand, since Lanster did not come for the mermaid crown, Sean felt that it didn't matter whether he went to the secret vault or the treasure vault. He now wanted to find puppets of special organs to fight. These are all world-class bosses of the only nature, and the drop is absolutely so good.

Moreover, among all the special organ puppets, No. 3 is the most difficult to deal with, No. 1 has the highest combat effectiveness, and No. 2 has the most special skills. In addition to other special organ puppets, Sean doesn't find it difficult. of.

Thinking of this, Sean glanced at his taskbar.

When he entered the Water Demon Vault, he received a total of four missions.

【Task Objective 1: Find the entrance of the Mermaid City】

【Task Objective 2: Enter the treasure room of the Mermaid City. 】

【Task objective 3: Without disturbing the guardian spirits, obtain the mermaid crown. 】

[Task Objective 4: Dungeon exploration degree reaches 100%]

Now task objective one, he has already completed it. And mission objective two and mission objective three show that it is in progress. As for the mission goal four, he has completely explored the entire water monster secret store, and the exploration degree has only reached 20%. Then the remaining 80% must be in this mermaid capital, and the current display is that the exploration degree has reached 23. %, in order to completely complete the mission objective four, Sean still has to go to the secret vault and treasure vault.

Although in the taskbar, there is still a question mark on the punishment for task failure, but Sean always feels that if the task fails, it might cause some unnecessary trouble. So after a lot of deliberation, Sean decided to run all these tasks. As for the request of the Mermaid Crown, Sean felt that if he could complete it, he would complete it.

The guy who guards the heroic spirit is not easy to mess with at first sight, Xiao En didn't plan to fight this kind of guy who can protect the treasure of the family.

"Then what shall we do next?" Noro asked.

"A day off, anyway, time is right." Sean shrugged, "After Oriana recovers, we will take the two pieces of earth."

"Didn't you say you are not in a hurry?" Noro was taken aback.

"We can even kill the Holy Wall of Silver Splendor, and do we care about other organ puppets?" Shaun gave Noro a blank look. "With the combat power of you and Harding, it is not a problem to deal with these organ puppets. The most is cost. It's just a moment...but don't worry, I will tell you how to quickly solve these puppets."

"Okay." Hearing Sean's words, Noro sighed helplessly, and then nodded in resignation.