

Lord of War Vol 3-331

Chapter 331: . Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy

The Northern Principality Alliance, also known as the Northern Principality Federation, is actually a federal government composed of thirty-six principalities. This is the second federal government to be born in the entire Marvel Continent—the first one is naturally the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce Alliance. . These thirty-six principalities, whichever came out alone, could not have any deterrent effect at all, I am afraid that even Sean could wipe them out.

But these thirty-six principalities are united, and the deterrence is very strong, even their old neighbor, Saint Joel's Empire, is not very willing to provoke them.

For a long time, the Saint-Joles Empire has been using internal division tactics to try to disintegrate and split the federal government, but so far thousands of years have passed, with little success. These thirty-six principalities may have some contradictions, frictions, disputes, and even small-scale conflicts and wars between each other, but once they face foreign invasions, these thirty-six principalities can immediately put aside each other. The hatred and contradictions between them have turned their guns to resist foreign enemies.

This kind of unity is only available in the Empire of St. Joels on the entire continent.

In the final analysis, these thirty-six principalities have a common belief: the  of war, Marz.

In the entire territory of the Northern Principality Federation, there is only one church, the church of Marz, the  of war and battle, that is, the church of God of War. Even the goddess of victory, who belongs to the same clergy system as Marz, can't spread the teachings of divine light here, let alone other gods. The existence of the Northern Duchy Federation is also the most critical and fundamental reason why Marz can become a higher god.

The territory occupied by the entire Northern Duchy Federation is no smaller than any of the seven empires. And its geographic location is also quite important: the Northern Principality Federation is located on the northwest side of the Miracle Continent. Although it mainly occupies the Northern Continent, one third of its geographic location belongs to the Western Continent. , So in fact this is a polity that straddles the Western Continent and the Northern Continent-it blocked the connection between the Saint-Joers Empire and the Western Continent, forcing the Saint-Joers Empire to be unable to carry out the Western Expedition.

In a sense. The existence of the Northern Principality Federation is the chief culprit in the West Continent's 10,000-year war. The Church of the God of War was also established from the Western Continent. It was through division, wooing, isolation, annexation, and a series of divine warfare that led to the Northern Principality Federation. The establishment of and established the current status of the  of war Marz. So later hundreds of churches, large and small, in the Western Continent also learned this method, causing the Western Continent to fall into an era of war. Among them, many races such as orcs, elves, dwarves, etc. have been involved. This caused the entire Western Continent to become extremely chaotic, and it lasted until recent years before finally showing signs of gradual stability.

Among them, the Emilia Empire is the empire born in this war. It is also the only existence in the Western Continent that can compete with the orc empire, the elven empire, and the dwarf empire. In the name of the seven empires of Marvel Land, it refers to the seven human empires, and does not include the empires of elves, dwarves, and orcs, but these three races do not care anyway. Because of their location. In fact, it is in the more western territory of the Western Continent—this is called Outland by humans.

However, although the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality is the chief culprit that caused the war in the Western Continent, in another sense, this federal government is also the source of peace in the Northern Continent—it blocked the Western Expedition of the Saint-Joles Empire, and at the same time It also blocked the possibility of many gods in the Western Continent from infiltrating the Northern Continent, and it also blocked the possibility of the Emilia Empire going northward like a buffer zone.

However, the development limit of the Commonwealth of Northern Principality probably only stops here-they cannot use force to expand externally.

There is the Emilia Empire in the Western Continent, and they can tolerate many countries in the Western Continent falling into war. From time to time, the battle of Gods broke out, but the Northern Principality Federation would definitely not tolerate the extension of its hand to the Western Continent. Once there is this sign, the Emilia Empire will immediately take action. And the Northern Continent also has the Saint-Joles Empire. There are three or four countries between the Saint-Joles Empire and the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy. However, these countries are all vassal states attached to the Saint-Joles Empire, so as long as the North As soon as the Principality Federation moves, the Empire of St. Joel will be able to know immediately.

In fact, if the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy really wants to expand, they are more willing to expand north, because the Church of God of War aspires to become the second St. Joel's Empire.

But unfortunately, the force is not enough.

The Northern Principality Federation can only be regarded as a first-class kingdom at best, and there is still a gap from the super-first-rate kingdom, because the Northern Principality Federation does not have a legendary powerhouse. There are only forty high-ranking sanctuary powers in the entire Northern Principality Federation. Although with the help of the God of War church's secrets of faith, it can briefly burst out of combat power comparable to the legendary powers, but the sequelae are very large, and the maintenance time is only limited. It varies from three to five minutes.

The Church of God of War has five legendary powerhouses, but only the strength of the thirteenth and fourteenth ranks. In addition, there are two Saint Sons with high-level sanctuary strengths, through the Divine Surrender, you can briefly gain the strength of the 16th-order super strong, but once the Divine Surrender is over, these two holy children will have to pay their own lives as a price— —On the entire continent, apart from Xuefanio, Sean has not heard of any church whose sons and daughters are still alive after God descends.

And the seven empires, which one does not have a legendary powerhouse with more than two digits?

The four paladins and the three legion commanders of the Saint-Joles Empire are all legendary powerhouses of the fourteenth order. In particular, all three of the four paladins except Nazar can allow angels to enter with costumes. Awakening state, this can increase their strength to the level of the 16th-order super strong. In addition, the head of the Darkface Knights and the three black-robed cardinals of the Cardinal of the Morning Light Vatican are also legendary powerhouses.

And this is the legendary combat power announced by the Saint-Joles Empire. In private, no one knows whether there is any hidden combat power.

Malz is a high-level divine power. From the perspective of divine power, he may be able to sit side by side with the Lord of Morning Light and God of Morning Light, Legzain, but this does not mean that the secular power of the Church of God of War can surpass the Church of Morning Light. They just protect themselves from being invaded and annexed by the Saint-Joles Empire. If they want to launch an invasion against the Saint-Joles Empire, even if the Church of the God of War dares, the Northern Principality Federation will not dare.

So based on these many factors, the Northern Principality Federation also has an extreme atmosphere of Chongwu, and gradually there is the custom of "Principality Parade"-in the Northern Principality Federation, there are not many others. It is the nobility most. Even if they are not aristocrats, ordinary civilians also have the habit of treating the "Parade in the Principality" as their own rite of passage, but they can't form any mercenary regiments or legions, so they usually become servants formed by a certain nobleman. The squad leader of the corps or join some well-known mercenary groups as their own goals.

Whether it is for civilians or nobles, the coming-of-age ceremony can be favored by the  of war. Even get the blessing of a  of war. This is the crucial result-not only the nobles without inheritance rights can get new titles, but even the common people can also get knighthoods or rewards. And those noble families who have inheritance rights also use this to determine who is more qualified to succeed the family title, and even expand the family's influence, title, territory, and so on.

In the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, it's important to travel in the Duchy.

There are only two kinds of people who will destroy the Principality's parade: either they are other descendants of the same family who are fighting for inheritance rights, or they are rival families who do not want anyone to become stronger due to the ritual of the God of War. If it is the former. It can only be said to be short-sighted people. Once such a situation occurs in a family, it is basically enough to prove that the family has begun to go downhill; and if it is the latter, Sean will re-examine the girl in magic leather armor.

About the Northern Principality Federation, the Church of God of War, and all related information, quickly filtered through Sean's mind.

Many of the guilds where Sean belonged were priests who believed in the  of war, Marz, so Sean knew better about the magic arts possessed by this church. Naturally, I also heard a lot about the Church of God of War. I also know more or less about the professional system and power structure within the church.

"Are you a warrior knight?" Sean's gaze fell on Denny, who was about five or six meters away from him. Then asked.

Generally speaking, if a knight has a firm belief in a certain  and joins the church to which this  belongs, he can be called a temple knight of this church. Templar knights generally shoulder the responsibility of defending the safety of the church, its personnel, and the people. They are the sharpest swords of the gods in the secular world, and they are also the group of people who die the fastest when the battle of Gods breaks out.

Blessing a knight refers to a knight who believes in a certain  and is blessed by that god, but has not joined the church to which the  belongs. Such knights can often perform low-level magic arts that are unique to the god. If they are lucky enough to be favored and valued by the  and receive special blessings, they can even perform some more profound and unique exclusive magic arts.

People who don't know much about the clergy system can hardly distinguish the difference between a knight of the temple and a knight of blessing.

However, these all refer to "usual conditions".

The Church of God of War does not fall into this normal situation.

The cause of this factor is the parade of the principality-because no matter what kind of person, as long as they successfully make the parade of the principality, they can all be in the main church of the Church of War: the God of War blessing ceremony held in the Great Sanctuary of Marz Get the blessing of God of War. Of course, there are good and bad blessings, but even in the worst case, the person performing the God of War ceremony can gain a little personal attribute improvement. However, the general knight profession can obtain one or two low-level gods unique to the Church of War God. Surgery.

Therefore, the Northern Principality Federation has a special advanced class that is unique in the whole wonderland: the Knight of God of War.

In the game, all professional knight players who have completed the parade of the duchy can be transferred to the knight of the  of war. As for the quest rewards obtained, they are truly diverse, ranging from attribute increase to low-level magic arts to high-level magic arts, and so on. If you are lucky enough to be able to obtain the magical technique of "Bonus of War," then it is equivalent to having a ticket to knock on the doors of all the top guild elite groups.

Shaun glanced at Tenny and saw that the other party didn't care about him. Shaun smiled again and said, "You have already completed the tour of the Principality? What kind of blessings did you get at the God of War ceremony?... Have you got the gift of war?"

Tinny finally reacted a little more this time: He glanced at Sean from the corner of his eye, and then let out a contemptuous snort from his nostrils.

"It seems that I haven't grasped it." Sean didn't care about the other person's attitude at all. He looked in the direction where the woman had left just now, "Let's talk about your lady."

"What do you want to do?" This time, Denny finally responded to Sean directly, but when he said this, he was full of murderous aura.

"This time, I forgive you, but next time if you intend to kill me again, I don't mind killing you." Sean suddenly turned his head and stared at Denny with cold eyes.

At this moment, Denny suddenly felt a sense of panic being stared at by a beast!

Chapter 332: .The flicker of the stick [second more]

"Who are you!?" Dinny's weight suddenly sank, and he made a Zama movement, and the sword-blade spear in his hand was also raised flat. The vigorous momentum radiated from his body, and the whole person suddenly became more. Kind of fierce momentum like a beast.

Sean still sat leaning on the old tree, and didn't seem to care about Tenny's actions at all.

From the Tenny's reaction set out in just a few simple sentences, Sean has roughly an accurate judgment. With Denny's strength, it is still impossible to break his magic seal. The defensive power conferred by the silver scales, so even though Denny is already a high-level silver master at this time, it is not too great for Sean. Threatening——Perhaps Tenny has mastered the [God of War Gift] this magical technique to be able to pose a threat to Sean.

And this Tenny has another very obvious weakness, that is the lady he calls.

Shaun thought for a while, it seems that the weakness of every knight is the princess in their minds. But what he was certain was that the girl was definitely not the daughter of the Grand Duke, but he wanted to be able to be maliciously sabotaged on the Principality's cruise, either because the family was prominent, or she was extremely capable. Shaun recalled carefully, since being teleported by the scroll to the present, everything he has seen about the Rose Mercenary Group, as well as the courage and means displayed by this girl, Shaun is more willing to believe that it is the latter. .

Thinking about it this way, Xiao En suddenly felt a little bit of care in his heart.

As the saying goes under the big tree, it's good to enjoy the cold. What Sean wants is to pass this weak period of physical injury safely, and the mercenary group has seen him before and regarded him as a rose mercenary group. A member of, I will definitely not let go of myself. This is no longer a problem that can be solved by explanation. With the behavior style shown by those mercenaries before, Sean believes that the other party will definitely choose to kill people directly and worry free when he sees his strength at this time is so weak.

And the rose mercenary group, look at the style of that girl. Sean knew that she must also want revenge. At this time, time has passed for so long, I am afraid that her subordinates are already dead, so the only witness is him, so I am afraid that I will not let myself leave easily. Besides, even if that girl is willing to let herself go. I'm afraid there will be a lot of troubles next. Sean felt that it would be better to get asylum in this mercenary group. The mutual benefit of the two parties would be cost-effective.

After making up his mind, Sean didn't bother to continue arguing with Danny. He just glanced at the God of War knight, and then scolded: "Don't quarrel, I didn't see what I was thinking about. If you want your lady If you can reach the Great Sanctuary of Marz alive, then you'd better tell me your origins. And what kind of enemies your family has.... This is not a fight within the family. With the strength of your lady, it will not be affected. People in your family are the victims."

The specific urinary * of the nobles of the Northern Duchy Federation, Sean still knows roughly.

It can be said that the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy is a group of very realistic guys.

Only those who are ambitious but have little strength will be pushed out as victims to die. Generally, as long as they show a little bit of strength and potential, they will not be easily consumed as victims. Therefore, this is also why if a family's internal struggles dare to involve the parade of the principality, it must be the reason why the family is going downhill, because the really strong families will never allow anyone to engage in such small actions.

Tinney looked at Sean with some uncertainty. However, there is no slack in guard.

Because he really couldn't confirm the specific identity of Sean, he could only see from the few words of Sean. Obviously they knew very well about their Northern Principality Federation. If it weren't for Sean's typical Zenas appearance, Tenny would think that Sean was the young master of a powerful noble family with the background and strength of the Northern Principality Federation.

"Forget it, it's no use telling you this kind of elm head." Xiao En curled his lips, and then simply closed his eyes and calmed down.

As long as Dinny did not break through to the golden realm for a day, his breath flow was very obvious. After all, he was not a full-time assassin. So in front of him, even if Sean closed his eyes to rest his mind or even went to sleep directly, he would not think there was any problem. But if he was in front of him at this moment a Golden Knight of the God of War, Sean would not dare to be so careless. The God of War Knight who could step into the Golden Realm, even if the blessing he received from the God of War ceremony was not very good, they were too Very dangerous person.

Seeing Sean seemed so relaxed, Tenny was even more afraid to relax.

He didn't understand why Sean looked like an ordinary person, but only a change in his eyes could bring him such a great deterrent. But from the fact that he can easily judge the current situation, Denny knows that Sean is definitely not a simple person no matter how stupid he is, so at this time he must protect Sean even if he is not happy in his heart.

The most important thing is that he knows why the young lady left him.

Miss needs Sean to identify those enemies.

About two hours later, Sean suddenly opened his eyes. This reaction caused Denny to subconsciously grasp the handle of the sword-blade gun in his hand.

"Your lady is back." After Sean had a short two-hour break, his physical condition was a little better. He checked his panel attributes, and at this time he also used a little energy when he stood up. It is roughly judged that he can display the strength of the upper bronze at this time, and if the light body technique and adrenal stimulation are activated, he can also reach the level of the lower silver peak.

Although you can't use the two ultimate moves of calming soul and requiem, but with the current level of swordsmanship, you are not afraid of people below the golden realm.

After all, before stepping into the golden realm, Sean successfully won the domain-level strongest silver title of the strongest silver in the Southern Continent.

Xiao En looked at the forest road where he had walked. The first person who appeared was the head of the rose mercenary group with a gloomy face, followed by the young woman of the same age- Xiao En was already I know that this man named Denny and another woman are the two deputy heads of this mercenary group. Behind the two commanders, the group members of the Rose Mercenary Group followed, but at this time each group member was carrying a corpse on his back.

The equipment on these corpses has been stripped off, leaving only a set of linings, and Sean even saw the corpses of several women. Fortunately, the bodies of these women were only stripped of their equipment and weapons, and they were not humiliated before their deaths. It's just that Sean knows that it's not that the mercenaries don't want to humiliate these female mercenaries, it's just that the time is too late. If it weren't for Sean's escape at the time, what would the cat-and-mouse-like siege end in the end? Well, I can already guess it.

A total of thirty-seven corpses were neatly placed on a small clearing in the forest.

Everyone's eyes fell on the head of the mercenary group.

"Leader?" There was a young mercenary with a bit of childishness still showing tears on his face. I am afraid that he will not be more than twenty years old, but he has the strength of upper-ranking bronze at this age, which is quite good. He whispered and sobbed, "These people..."

"There is a Chapel of God of War in the town ahead, we can bury them to..."

"If I were you, I wouldn't do that." Sean suddenly interrupted the girl.

For an instant, everyone turned their heads and glared at Xiao En, the murderous intent that spread out seemed very strong and obvious.

But is it possible for Sean to be frightened by this killing intent? He had seen more intense killing intent than this, and he didn't even care about the killing intent emanating from this mercenary group, which probably had no more than a hundred people. In his thoughts, the murderous aura emanating from these recruits can only prove that their standards are pretty good.

Sean sneered, looked at the girl, and then said: "Those who killed them took away all their weapons and equipment, obviously they were pretending to be bandits and robbers.... Then I ask you, yours. Will these people fail to beat bandits and robbers?"

Rather than waiting for the girl to answer, a mercenary nearby shouted: "Don't say it is the same number. Even if the number is doubled, we can't lose!"

"When I saw just now, their number is not much larger than you." Sean shrugged, and then continued, "And the equipment is not even as good as yours... By the way, when you go to collect the corpses, those around you What happened to the fortifications surrounded by the carriage?" As soon as Xiao En's words fell, the expressions of the three leaders including the girl changed slightly, while the other mercenaries had obviously not reacted yet, but Sean was obviously not. To listen to the answer: "Relying on the fortifications, a group of people with poorer equipment than their own forcibly broke the line of defense. Everyone did not stay. They still have enough time to clear the battlefield afterwards... Oh, I don't know about your Northern Principality Federation. Which bandit group has such a strong strength."

Because of the customs of the Northern Duchy and the parade customs of the Duchy, there are not many other things, that is, the most mercenary regiments and legions. Therefore, in the Federation of the Northern Principality, there are relatively few thieves groups. Even if they have general strength, they are not very good. Those who come from aristocratic families can easily pick up a mercenary group or legion, and they can easily clean up these thieves and groups. Robbers.

Sean doesn't know the strength of the Rose Mercenary Group, but this girl and her men must be very clear about how many catties she has. People in the Northern Principality Federation are very realistic, and strong is strong. Weak is weak, never disdain to pretend and deceive. Therefore, they knew very well that the ability to wipe out these 37 companions so easily would definitely not be too weak in strength, at least it would be able to defeat their lone team.

"Underneath is the head of the Rose Mercenary Group, Emily De Romilance." The head of the Rose Mercenary Group was quick-witted, and directly gave a noble salute to Sean, and then he said in a deep voice. Said, "Your Excellency, what should I do is the correct solution?"

Hearing Emily's words, the corners of Sean's mouth rose slightly: It's easier to fool such underage girls than shrewd businessmen.

Chapter 333: .Follow the flicker to the end [third more]

After hearing Emily's introduction, Shaun felt a little bit surprised about her family origins, in addition to feeling that this girl was pretty good.

Nowadays, there are fewer and fewer noble families who use "De" and "Feng" as their middle names on the Marvel Continent. Generally speaking, those who can use these two words must be survivors who have experienced the most difficult years of the Ashes. The bloodlines of such families are often very advanced bloodlines. Therefore, some real powerhouses will inevitably be born in their families, and these powerhouses are qualified to pass on their names as middle names from generation to generation.

Emily's family has no other middle name, so there is only one explanation.

The founder of this family was an exiled nobleman.

He must have made such a big mistake that he can't even use his family name, so let alone those middle names that can be passed on to future generations.

D, has the meaning of "of".

Emily's name is actually "Emily of Romance".

If it were Feng, then it would be much more interesting: Emily from Romirans.

Judging from the meaning of these two ancient middle words, Feng was born earlier than Germany, so the origin of the family history of those middle names with the word Feng can even be traced back to the end of the twilight era. But now, the remaining meaning of these two ancient middle names is to prove the excellence and strength of their family bloodline, nothing more.

And this, also happens to be the least counterfeit.

Because according to the ancient rules of aristocracy, once a family with this middle name has not had blood awakening for three consecutive generations, then the fourth generation must cancel this middle name. And when will this family be able to give birth to the awakened person of the ancient blood for three consecutive generations, when will it be able to restore this middle name.

Emily can use this ancient middle name, at least it shows that this is a family with ancient blood awakening. Even if there is no Awakener in this family, at least Emily is within three generations. This can also be used to prove that Emily's blood is strong and has great potential-at least hers is much higher than others. .

Unfortunately, it is not Feng.

Shaun thought with regret.

If the middle name is Feng. Then his bloodline must be one of the top five among the bloodlines of the people. In the case of De, the scope is much wider, and the legendary bloodline is also possible. After all, in the situation of the Ashes, the inheritance of bloodline power has long been no longer as active as it was at the beginning. It feels as if the power of the entire world was passed down here and a fault occurred.

"The middle name is good. It's a long way to go." Xiao En smiled, after thinking about it, he decided to start the topic with this middle name, "Has your family come to the Northern Principality Federation for three generations?"

A look of shock appeared on Emily's face.

Others may not understand what Shaun said, but as a direct member of the family, Emily was instilled with the honor of being the middle name of the family since she was a child, so as soon as she heard what Shaun said, she immediately understood what Shaun said. What is meant. She carefully observed Sean's expression. It was found that Sean's question was obviously not just asking casually. But obviously he has a clear understanding of his middle name.

Ancient aristocratic law, many aristocrats often put this sentence on their lips. But in fact, many nobles can't tell or understand what the rules are in this ancient noble law, but Emily knows that their family has a copy of the ancient noble law. It clearly lists all the "rules of the game" that belong to the nobles, which is the glory of the Emily family.

Shaun didn't know what thoughts flashed in Amis's mind, but he knew. The conversation with the middle name as the entry point is very suitable for pretending to be coercion.

Suddenly shook the little girl.

"It should have not been three generations yet." Sean said to himself. "But you may be the third generation."

"Presumptuous!" The God of War knight named Denny shouted angrily, "You can comment on the Romance family."

Shaun didn't speak, just smiled, but this smile looked a bit nasty.

Denny seemed to want to say something, but Emily suddenly reached out a hand to stop Denny, and then said in a low voice: "Get out!"

At this moment, her aura facing Tenny is not the humility she had when facing Sean before, but full of the majesty of a superior.

Shaun's eyes narrowed slightly, and he thought things were starting to become very interesting.

"Miss..." Denny's face changed slightly, he didn't know what he had done wrong.

For this kind of ancient nobleman with a long history and heritage, they naturally have a set of methods to train knights loyal to their family. Tenny is obviously a knight cultivated by the Romirans family since childhood. This knight values honor and loyalty and other chivalry more than their own lives, so they also look at the orders of their loyal objects like gods. The will of the same is very important.

Knights like Tenny's are most afraid of following the wrong owner.

But very lucky, the owner Tenny followed: Emily, obviously a good owner.

Emily's face was still calm, and seeing that Denny hadn't even stepped back, she turned her head and looked at Denny, her eyes had become colder, and the aura of the superior was even stronger. At this moment, Denny finally lowered his head, and then slowly backed three steps, not daring to see Emily again, he knew that his master was already a little angry with him.

"I'm sorry, sir, I made you laugh." Emily turned her head to look at Sean again after seeing Dinny stepping back, her face smiling like a flower.

Sean slightly praised in his heart: As expected of a big family from an ancient nobleman, this kind of noble etiquette has been taught so perfect that he can't spot any flaws at all. In fact, Emily's approach is actually saving Denny, and Sean is very clear that the only things that are not clear are the people around him and Denny himself. Because at this moment, Emily has regarded Sean as a person of the same background as herself.

Sean was even thinking that the other party must think that he and the Guardian are separated.

In fact, Emily really thinks so.

Because according to her father, someone who has enough knowledge about the middle name "De". Must be a great noble of the same background. In the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, the only family with this ancient middle name is the Romance family, and there is no semicolon. So Emily guessed that Sean should come from the Emilia Empire. If it is the Empire of St. Joles. There should be a very strong aura of believers in the body.

"If you go back up, it is indeed the third generation in my generation. The Romance family... was created by my grandfather." Emily said softly, and the mercenaries all around showed a surprised look. Because they have never seen Emily show such a gentle look, "But... you should be aware of it. In my generation..."

"Well. It just happened to be the critical point recorded by the laws of nobility." Sean nodded thoughtfully.

Judging from Emily's words, Sean knew that her grandfather was definitely not a blood awakened person, otherwise he would not be exiled by his family. And her father's generation, unfortunately, no one has awakened the blood, so it depends on Emily's generation whether he can retain the honorable middle name of "De". However, the feeling that Emily gave to Sean at the moment was very promising, it was just a matter of blood. Even the gods did not dare to brag about guarantees at will, because this was beyond their rule domain. It's not something they can control.

"I understand roughly." Sean nodded, "Then you obviously hope this time of the God of War ritual, hoping to activate the blood in the body, right?"

Emily nodded, her face felt a little helpless.

"Then this time, it will ruin your Principality's cruise, and only those who know the secret history of your family." Xiao En frowned slightly, his face looked a little unsightly, "It seems that this matter is a little bit involved. Woolen cloth....."

"Your Excellency..." Emily said cautiously.

The entire Romirans family, in order to preserve the honor of "Germany", is already at a level that does not count the cost. Even if there is only a little hope, the Romirans family will not give up. This is also the reason why Emily treats Sean so respectfully. Intuition tells her that Sean should be able to help her, and she has always trusted her intuition very much. At least without this intuition, she would not have it. Today's achievement.

"I'm thinking about whether to help you or get out of the business." Xiao En touched his chin. "You obviously have a lot of involvement in this matter. Those idiots in the Northern Principality Federation don't have such knowledge.... so....."

"Your Excellency, what do you need?" Emily gritted her teeth. As expected, she was a very courageous person, and she just asked Sean to make a price.

"What I need, you may not be able to afford it." Sean smiled and then shrugged. If his smile was seen by Enkos, Enkos would definitely say it was the most standard devilish smile he had ever seen. NS.

And every time the devil shows such a smile, it often means that someone is out of luck.

"If you don't tell me, how do you know if I can afford to give it?" Emily said in a deep voice, with a look of stubbornness in her eyes, "Even if I can't afford it, behind me is the Romilans family, My father, my grandfather, and those of my tribe may not be able to afford it!"

At the end, Emily's face already has a kind of pride and pride.

But Sean shook his head: "If you can't afford it, your family can't afford it either."

"Your Excellency, what do you need?" Emily frowned, but her eyes didn't flinch. "Please tell me, no matter what the price, I will definitely find a way to get it for you."

"If I speak, you don't have any right to choose." Xiao En said lightly, maintaining a sense of mystery. He hasn't done it ten or eight times. Naturally, this moment is extremely obvious." If I speak, then you can only agree, and you have no right to refuse. If you refuse..."

Sean smiled, did not say anything, he just glanced at everyone around him.

But everyone who was swept by Sean's gaze felt an inexplicable chill.

Emily is not only very courageous, but her reaction is also very quick, and her thinking is very fast. She understood what Sean wanted in an instant: "As long as you can awaken my blood, then I am Your belongings."

"Miss!"

"grown ups!"

"Head!"

Hearing Emily's words, the complexion of everyone around him changed instantly, and they made a mess of shouts.

But Emily just stretched out one hand, and everyone was quiet. She just stared at Sean, and then continued saying every word: "No matter what you want me to do, I won't frown. ! And... From now on, the person I believe in will only be you!"

Everyone looked at Xiao En, this time it was not as simple as killing intent.

"Just call me Sean." Sean burst into laughter suddenly, not caring about the murderous eyes of the guys around him.

Chapter 334: . Emily's potential [fourth more]

"Sean...sir." Emily thought for a while, and added the word adult.

Sean wasn't commenting on this, but he still added: "I need a soul contract."

The murderous aura around is stronger.

"Yes." Emily gritted her teeth. Anyway, it's already like this. The soul contract is just a guarantee, and it's not harmful to each other. "If you can't wake up my blood, then I won't It must be at your disposal."

"It's fair." Xiao En smiled, "Then I need to ask about the core secrets of your family now, you see..."

"You guys watch around." Emily waved her hand.

Although the people around are still a little dissatisfied with Sean, they know that this involves Emily's core family issues, so they have to spread out. Even Denny and the other girl did not stay. They both chose a direction and were responsible for security patrols. Suddenly, only Sean and Emily were left within a 50-meter radius. In the silent forest, for some people with better ears or full-time intelligence spying, they are actually able to distinguish clearly, but if the communication between Sean and Emily deliberately lowers the voice, then unless it is above the golden level The assassin comes, otherwise it doesn't make sense.

"I said, you answer." Before Emily took the initiative to speak, Sean spoke first, "It's best to be as concise as possible, and don't use two words if you can describe it in one word."

Emily's heart shuddered, and she immediately realized a problem: there is a ghost in her mercenary group!

"Do you know your real family name?" Sean asked.

"Roland."

"Yeah, the family of one of the four great gods and generals of the Emilia Empire." Sean gave a soft whistle, not loud, but also with unbearable excitement, which gave Sean a feeling of picking up treasures. .

When Utopia was contaminated by darkness due to civil strife, most of the ancient families that received the inheritance of Germany and Feng died one after another, and the remaining small part was divided into two groups. A group of them went to the current Millennium Covenant Empire, but basically they could not be passed down to three generations, and the family name could no longer have the names of Germany and Feng. Nowadays, although most of the families of the Millennium Covenant Empire also have some blood awakeners, it is obviously not enough compared with the Utopian era.

And another group of people went to the Western Continent. Then he was involved in the tens of thousands of years of war in the Western Continent.

These people have their ups and downs. Some have completely disappeared from the long river of history, and some are still struggling, but after all, because of the utopian experience, these people quickly united together and finally formed the Emilia Empire. However, it has been passed down for tens of thousands of years. Of the 18 ancient nobles who originally lived on the Western Continent, now there are only five left who can continue to retain the names of "Germany" and "Feng".

These five families. It is the cornerstone of the entire Emilia Empire. That is, the family of the four great gods and generals and the royal family.

Rolando, one of the four great gods and generals, his bloodline is the third holy beast species in the bloodline of ten thousand: the dragon, snake and mysterious tortoise. The most intuitive manifestation of his bloodline talent is that he has a very strong intuition. This kind of intuition can almost be said to be able to achieve the level of good fortune and avoid evil, and once the bloodline is stimulated, the offensive and defensive attributes can also be greatly improved. It can be said that this kind of bloodline was originally in the game. It is the most coveted bloodline of players who pursue offensive and defensive careers: an increase of thirty-five points of strength and thirty-five points of endurance.

The Rolando family is also responsible for the defensive line of the border between the Emilia Empire and the Orc Empire.

Sean suddenly felt a little emotional. This kind of underage girl is better to cheat, and I am afraid it is not so easy to fool after changing to Emily's father's generation. Of course, if Emily's Principality Parade is over, I'm afraid it's not so easy for Sean to flicker. It can only be said that the time he is in at this time is indeed a coincidence, so he can succeed. Flicker to Emily.

"The activation method of the Dragon Snake Black Tortoise...I know a quick way." Xiao En thought for a while, and already had a decision in his heart. The bloodline of He has directly entered the method of the highlighting stage.... As for whether the brand can be born, or the spirit power can be produced, or even the final real name stage can be reached, it depends on your own efforts."

The awakening of the bloodline ability generally refers to the bloodline entering the first stage, that is, being completely explicit, letting it know what its bloodline originated from. However, for families with the inheritance of the ancient middle name, the bloodline awakeners refer to the people who have entered the second stage, which is the real start for them. And only those who have been born with blood stigma can become the core members of this kind of family.

After the blood brand appears, the fourth stage is to produce blood and soul power, allowing the blood to penetrate into the soul and resonate with the soul. Not only can the soul power become more powerful, but it can also allow people with blood to grasp some very special inheritance memories. And only after the soul is strong enough, can he condense his own real name from the soul, which is also a sign that the bloodline has entered the final stage.

If you want to become a super strong, you must have your own real name. This is already the consensus of the entire Marvel Continent.

Those legendary powerhouses who cannot give birth to their real names will eventually be stuck at the fifteenth level. The reason why the angel costumes of the Saint Joles Empire can give the wearer the power of the sixteenth order is because of the awakened angels. Pretending is equivalent to a real name, it can draw power from the void. So whether or not they have blood inheritance is whether these strong people have a ticket to become super strong.

Of course, you have to be able to enter if you have a ticket.

And blood awakening means that you have stepped into the gate with the ticket.

"No matter how disgusting, I can accept it!" Emily gritted her teeth. Anyway, she can sell her soul, so what is she afraid of.

This kind of courage can only be possessed by people like Emily who have been educated by the ancient nobles since childhood. From this point of view, Emily is much better than the descendants of all the nobles in the Kingdom of Lane.

"Then I understand, let's go to the nearest temple first, and then make a soul contract." Xiao En stood up, "After the soul contract is signed, I will help you pick out the inner ghost, and then go to the other party by the way. Trouble... You better control your strength. You can't break into the golden realm without my permission."

When Sean said this, it was as if she was speaking to Oriana, Emily had a strange feeling in her heart, but she nodded obediently. Indicates that I understand. She didn't notice the change she showed at this time. Subconsciously, he regarded Sean as his elder, just like his uncle in his family.

"That... these people..." Emily glanced at the thirty-seven corpses, her eyes a little unbearable.

"Bury them on the spot, register their identities, and send the pension to their mansion later." Xiao En said lightly, "Do you really want to take it back and bury it in the cemetery of the God of War Church? "

Emily did not speak, but looked at Sean quietly. But there is some persistence in his eyes.

"Don't be silly." Sean curled his lips. At this time he has begun to greet other mercenaries to come back, "If you take these corpses back, you will be targeted by many people immediately. By then, your real enemies will not take action. Your final result of the Principality Parade this time. It won't be any better.... Marz only looks at the results, never the process, so even if your journey is as exciting as a holy war, the people of the Church of God of War will only think that your assessment is not qualified."

The Principality Parade of the Northern Principality Federation. Now a very complete set of rules and regulations has been formed.

Juveniles participating in the parade of the Principality must first go to the local Ares Church to register. This includes family identity, personal strength, longing for goals, and so on. For a person with an excellent background like Emily, if her goal is too low, she will naturally not win the favor of the God of War. Therefore, in the parade of the Principality, the most advantageous are those of civilian origin.

In the four-year tour of the Principality, all the resources collected must also be donated to the Church of God of War. Along the way, the Ares Church will not intervene in anyone's parade of the Principality. Even if the participant is dead, the Ares Church will not help, but they will record the gains of those who participated in the Principality's parade and guarantee them. Resource trophies are not obtained through purchase, but made by real swords and guns.

Marz is not a benevolent god.

Hearing Sean's words, Emily fell into silence, but this time she did not insist on anything, but began to let her men bury the war dead on the spot, but silently recorded the names and identities of these people. , To send the pension back after the parade of the Principality is over.

"Don't worry, I will let you get revenge." Xiao En smiled suddenly, but this smile is full of blood no matter how you look at it, "Even if you don't want revenge then....Because Whether or not your blood can be awakened, it will completely fall on the other person. I don't want my investment to fail."

Emily clenched her fists, then nodded heavily, expressing understanding.

And Xiao En, his gaze fell on the mercenaries who were working silently at this time.

I have to say that the quality of the people produced by the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality is generally high. The youngest of these people are only 17 or 18 years old, and the oldest is only 24 years old. The average age is about 23 or 4 years old. between. This is a group of very young and energetic people, and everyone has a very strong foundation. They are all high-ranking bronzes. As long as they work hard, they can break through to the lower-ranked silver. There is even hope that they will be in the 30s. Into the upper silver before the age of.

As long as you can enter the upper silver before the age of thirty, then the lowest achievement in this life can also become a gold strong, even the lower gold is also a strong. Especially the customs of the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, it is destined to be the golden powerhouse from the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, who is absolutely truly strong without any moisture. The God of War knight named Denny beside Emily and another female deputy commander, in the eyes of Shaun, have great potential. It is not a problem for the two to break into the sanctuary. The only difference is the upper saint. The domain is just a middle sanctuary.

The Rose Mercenary Group is a mercenary group with great potential.

Even if these young members can only survive ten or twenty people in the end, ten or twenty golden powerhouses are definitely a very terrifying combat power. At least the Romance family will not fall into the hands of Emily and their generation. On the contrary, even if they can't awaken their blood, they can continue on their way to a glorious family prosperity.

Of course, the Romance family, honored by the ancient aristocracy, will certainly not be satisfied with this.

"Tell me about the history of your family." Sean suddenly a little envious of such a hard-working and hard-working family, especially in Emily's body, Sean also saw the shadow of Asuna.

Chapter 335: .Fifth-Order True Eye [Fifth More]

A team of ten people suddenly walked out of the woods.

These people are wearing all-black leather half-length armor. This half-length armor is different from the general half-length armor that covers most of the body. It looks more like random pieces together. However, these parts just protect their heart, chest and abdomen, and back vests and other key parts, and only the special leather as the connecting belt will not affect their combat movements.

Lightness and superior defense are the biggest advantages of this half-body armor.

In the entire 36 duchy of the Northern Duchy, there is only one Chamber of Commerce that sells this type of half-body armor—the Hope Banner Chamber of Commerce, which belongs to the Romance family. In fact, this kind of half-length armor looks quite good to imitate, but in fact, when you really operate it, you will find that the level of craftsmanship is quite high, and it is not easy to imitate it. And the Romance family is not afraid of others imitating, because there is a mine in their territory that produces the ore required for this half-length armor. If other ore is used as a substitute, the defense will be inferior. If the ore material is increased, then It will increase the cost, so no one will copy this kind of half-body armor over time.

The half-length armor worn by these ten young people is slightly more refined than the Romance half-length armor on the market, and the protective surface is obviously slightly larger. It is obviously from the private circulation of the Romirans family. The exclusive half-length armor of the Romance Family Guard.

Undoubtedly, these ten young people are members of the rose mercenary group of Emily de Lomirens.

Like the general veteran mercenary group, when the rose mercenary group advances, it is also divided into three parts to advance in layers.

Generally, a group of scouts are scattered in front of and around the large army. They are responsible for alerting and exploring. If they encounter an enemy, they will provide intelligence feedback as soon as possible, and they are not in love with war. And the large force of the mercenary group. Emily, Denny, and another deputy commander named Mary are sitting in town. Once the enemy encounters an enemy in the front, they will immediately carry out reinforcement operations.

The last part is responsible for the  and protection of the trophies captured during the four-year parade of the Principality of the Rose Mercenary Corps.

But it's a pity, just earlier today. The logistic unit of the Rose Mercenary Group was brutally attacked. Thirty-seven members of the regiment responsible for protecting the luggage and the spoils died in battle. And even their spoils and baggage were all looted by the enemy, and those that could not be taken away immediately were all destroyed in a destructive manner, which is equivalent to saying that the Rose Mercenary Group is truly nothing at this moment.

And the Rose Mercenary Corps, which had been maintained at a size of about a hundred people, had only about sixty people left at this time.

Change to the ordinary mercenary group, after this kind of thing happened, even if there is no internal conflict and fall apart. It must be a mess.

But the Rose Mercenary Group did not. Their cohesion is not like a mercenary group, but more like a legion. This point really went beyond Sean's expectations-especially after he knew the identity of the mercenary group that was killed, he was even more surprised. Therefore, I also deeply admire Emily's tactics and training methods: if she didn't really understand the way of military formation, she would be a famous general.

Ten members of the Rose Mercenary Group appeared from the woods, and then carefully observed the surroundings, then walked to the trail outside the forest one after another.

About four or five hundred meters away, a light is on.

That is a small town.

Because before the incident of the tragic attack on the logistics forces. They have already learned about this small town, so they know that the scale of this small town is not small. There is a church of the Church of the God of War in the town-in the church classification of the Church of the God of War, the Marz Cathedral is the highest headquarters, followed by 36 large churches belonging to the 36 capitals of the dukes , And then there are churches, cathedrals, churches, and chapels.

Generally speaking, only small towns with large scale and traffic will build churches, otherwise it will be just a small church.

There is a church, which means that there is at least one white-robed priest sitting here.

The strength of the white-robed priest is not high, and is only equivalent to the Tier 5 profession, that is, the strength of the lower silver. But where there are white-robed priests, there will definitely be ten to fifteen Ares knights dedicated to the Church of God of War. These people are also not high in strength, only between the lower silver and the upper silver, but they are real representatives. Because of the official power of the Church of the God of War, no one in the entire Northern Commonwealth dared to provoke the Church of the God of War.

So in general, no matter how tragic the war is, as long as it can enter the jurisdiction of the church of the God of War, the fighting must be stopped.

In the game, players call this a mandatory safe house.

As soon as the situation was safe, the ten members of the Rose Mercenary Group were immediately divided into two groups, and one group went to the town to find a place to stay-there is no need to worry about no place to live in a small town like this. A group of people went back to Emily to report the situation. In nearly four years of experience, they have turned these things into a kind of physical instinctive response, so there is no need to negotiate, ten people are divided into two batches very tacitly.

Not long after, Emily, Sean and others appeared from the woods. Although everyone had tired eyes in this team, they did not exude the slightest laziness when they walked. Instead, they still kept it. With vigilance. This situation is simply not like a mercenary group. At least many people who saw the Rose Mercenary group for the first time would not think it was a mercenary group: Sean was able to tell it before, it was purely because of him. Too used to the difference between mercenaries and legions.

Sean followed Emily in the middle of the team. Although the hostility of the mercenary group to him was no longer so strong, some people still seemed aggrieved. But Sean doesn't have the idea of being so bad that he needs to take care of these mercenaries. He only needs to control Emily. These mercenaries are Emily's private property and have nothing to do with him. ——Even if Sean wants to use this mercenary group, he only needs to give Emily an order.

Before, he would be chased and killed so embarrassed by those people because Xiao En's body was severely injured, but after several hours of recovery in the forest, his current strength can be stabilized. The only real threat to him is the combination of Emily, the three high-ranking silvers, and those members of the mercenary group who are only bronze level are completely ignored by Sean, anyway, as long as Emily is unfavorable to him. He can easily break through and leave at any time, and then turn around to eat away Emily's Rose Mercenary Group.

Suddenly, Sean, who was walking halfway, stopped.

"What's the matter?" After Emily saw Sean stop, she also stopped moving.

The entire mercenary group immediately stopped advancing at this moment, without any signs or preparations. It was abrupt as if the time of the whole world stopped flowing. A faint breath of killing. It also radiated from the rose mercenary group.

Sean has seen the high quality of the Rose Mercenary Group more than once, but every time he can always find that the Rose Mercenary Group has a more eye-catching performance.

"It's nothing." Xiao En sighed helplessly. Although he admired this mercenary group very much, but sometimes it made him quite helpless, "It just accidentally twisted his foot and felt a little uncomfortable. "

"嗤." Someone chuckled.

"Do you want me to support you?" Emily was so smart that she immediately noticed Sean's strangeness.

can make her feel dangerous. And completely occupied all the initiative in the conversation. People who make her unable to rise up a bit of resistance will twist their feet while walking? Even if Sean really did something like this, she wouldn't believe it. People who hurt themselves while walking are usually frizzy people. The more calm and sophisticated people are, the less likely this is to happen.

"It's okay, I can go." Sean nodded.

Soon, the team moved on.

This time. Xiao En didn't make any more noise, but followed the person in charge of the investigation to the hotel where he was staying to register. It was dark at this time. Every household in the town lit up their lights, and those who had a little money lit oil lamps, and the only church in the town who could use magic lights was probably the only church in the town.

Thinking about the soul contract in his heart, after signing up, Sean took Emily to the God of War Church.

The soul contract is different from the wizard contract.

The mage contract is a death contract between two mages. It directly affects each other's souls and can be signed anytime, anywhere. But if you want to sign a soul contract between a fighter and a fighter or a fighter and a wizard, you need a more solemn and sacred environment. It doesn't mean that after a contract is made, both parties can sign a name. Of course, in some special occasions, this method is also possible, anyway, as long as it is quiet and safe enough, there is no big problem.

There is no big problem in signing a soul, especially in front of a * of high power like the God of War, the soul contract swearing in his name will be marked by the mark of the God of War Marz. If Emily does not act in accordance with the content of the soul contract, then she will become a blasphemer of the God of War and will be eternally pursued by the Church of the God of War, and even her descendants will not be able to return to the glory of the God of War.

The signing of this contract was very smooth, almost without twists and turns.

But when the contract was completed, Sean noticed a very peculiar fluctuation, as if some lofty will suddenly cast a trace of attention on him. Moreover, this kind of attention made Sean's blood boil and excite so much, and Sean instantly felt a bloodthirsty impulse. It's just that this kind of attention comes quickly and disappears quickly, and Sean is also a firm-minded person, so this reaction disappears completely in an instant.

However, it still attracted the extreme attention of Sean.

He raised his head slightly and stared at the statue of Marz. At this moment, there was a sudden explosion in Sean's mind, which almost made Sean feel dizzy.

【Your true eye has broken through the limit, has been promoted to Tier 5, and gained a new ability: Divine Observation. 】

Immediately afterwards, Sean's eyes lit up with a faint golden luster, and the statue of Marz that he was staring at seemed to be transparent in an instant, leaving only a hair-like red color. The silk thread is floating.

That is the unique divinity of Marz!

Chapter 336: .God stealer [sixth more]

Shaun's eyes were full of shock.

How could the Marz sculpture in this church possess a trace of Marz's divinity!

Even if this trace of divinity is so weak that it can be ignored, divinity is the most unique existence of a  after all. It includes a god's character, beliefs, abilities, duties, and many other aspects. A mortal absorbs the power of the divine nature, and can immediately obtain a powerful power. Of course, it is more likely to be directly ignited by the power contained in the divine nature, and eventually become a human-shaped torch.

If a  falls, his divinity is likely to be completely blown out. At this time, if someone acquires a trace of his divinity, but can't control it after absorbing it, then it is very likely that the  will be occupied by this god's magpie nest. Become a victim of its resurrection. If someone can obtain the divinity of a deity's name and erase its imprint, then this thread of divinity is likely to become a non-attribute divinity. As long as you collect enough non-attribute divinities, then you can Turning into a divine fire, if a thirteenth-order legendary powerhouse ignites the divine fire, then he can immediately be promoted to a demigod (order fourteen) regardless of the constraints of the world law.

Sean changed his mind, and suddenly understood why a trace of Marz's divinity was born here.

Emily is a native of the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, so she is undoubtedly a believer of the God of War. However, she made a soul contract with herself and sold her soul to herself as a bargain. In this way, after she died, she would not be able to enter the kingdom of God of War. In a sense, her behavior was equivalent to Betrayed the God of War-It is simply impossible for people who do not believe in the God of War to obtain the gift of the God of War.

As talented as Emily, it is even possible that the geniuses of the Church of God have betrayed Marz. It would be weird for Marz not to pay any attention. This is also the sensation of blood ignited in Sean just now. It was caused by Marz's anger, but it was a pity that Marz didn't make any mistakes because of the rules of the world wall - at least for this moment. Marz regards Sean as his enemy for robbing believers.

So, under the attention of Marz, when Emily signed the soul contract, the faith in the * of war that belonged to her was directly taken back by Marz, just because of some reasons that Shaun could not understand. The process of taking back the power of faith was not smooth. Instead, it was condensed into a trace of divine power and preserved in this sculpture of Marz.

If Sean's True Eye does not reach the fifth rank to gain new abilities at this moment, then he will not be able to see this trace of divine power. As time goes by, this trace of divine power will eventually Will also be taken back by Marz. But before that, this divine power can make this church a direct channel for Marz's will to come, and anyone who prays in this church can speed up the gathering speed of his divine power. Of course, Marz It is also good. The power of faith can be condensed more directly. Carry out the screening and filtering in advance, and then it can be directly turned into his power, without the need to condense and purify.

唔, if there is no Sean.

This can indeed be regarded as a mutually beneficial benefit: it is good for Marz, the * of war, and for the followers of Marz.

Divinity, but a very rare thing, and the power of a god's divinity is also limited.

It can divide and then bestow on believers. Let believers gain powerful strength, but this division is also a division from the whole. Rather than being born at will. So this trace of divinity appears here, which means that Marz's total divinity is now missing such a trace of divinity.

"Help me keep the wind!" Sean said in a deep voice without hesitation.

"What?" Emily did not react.

"I said, let you help me out." Sean repeated it again, "No, let anyone from the God of War church come in."

"Wait, you want..."

Before Emily's words were finished, Sean was already moving.

This Marz sculpture is less than five meters in height. With Sean's strength, it can almost climb to the top in one jump. In Emily's stunned mouth, Sean climbed directly above the statue of Marz, then activated the Eye of Reality, and began to observe the specific location of this trace of divine power-he now can't use the Black King, he can't do it at will. The cut, but he also has his own soil method, directly poses the black king's posture from the storage space, and then summons it in mid-air.

When the Black King appeared, he penetrated directly into the head of the sculpture of Marz.

With the sharpness of the Black King, how could this statue made of ordinary rock block it, and it was cut directly in, and Sean didn't plan to actually cut the sculpture in half, so he almost put it away depending on the situation. The black king. After doing so many times, he finally cut out a long piece of stone around the location of the power of the divine, and then Sean made a cross-cut on the back of the sculpture of Marz, and directly took out the piece of stone.

The stone strip was pulled out, the power of the divine vibrated suddenly, and he was about to leave the air. Xiao En, who had been prepared, took out a colorless magic spar and printed it on it. In an instant, the gray crystal suddenly turned into a red crystal stone, and a dazzling red light suddenly burst out of it. The light was as clear and translucent as blood, and the brightness was so strong that almost the entire hall was dyed. The bright red color and the intense brilliance made the person looking at the crystal suddenly feel a kind of boiling warfare as if to completely ignite the blood.

Shaun's skin suddenly turned crimson, with a white mist emanating out, which was a sign that the blood in his body was completely boiling.

Not daring to stay, Sean reinserted the stone on top of Marz's head, then quickly jumped back to the ground, then took out a few pieces of gadgets from the storage ring, and then wound the crystal again. It was smeared, and finally the dazzling red light was completely concealed, and it looked like an ordinary red crystal stone. And that boiling fighting intent was gradually extinguished at this time, but the awe-inspiring fighting intent unique to Marz, the * of war, could not be concealed anyway.

There is a rapid sound of footsteps, which suddenly sounded.

Sean quickly took out a few more things, made this crystal into a necklace on the spot, and put it on Emily's body. At this moment, he couldn't even avoid suspicion at all. Pulling open Emily's collar directly, she threw the crystal in and covered it.

Even though the crystal had been processed multiple times by Sean, it still had a high temperature and was directly thrown into the clothes by Sean. Emily almost let out a scream.

The door of the room was suddenly knocked open. Ten war knights, the white-robed priest, and Denny and others all rushed in.

Then, what they saw was Sean looking at Emily exaggeratedly, and then knelt down in front of Emily on one knee, still with unconcealed shock on his face. The others didn't know, so they were still standing at the gate of this hall with a dull look at this time, some of them didn't know what was going on here. The reason why all of them will rush over. In addition to seeing the dazzling red light, more is to feel the will and breath of the * of war Marz.

It's just that, in this hall, apart from Sean and Emily, there are no other people, so everyone is still at a loss.

But at this time, Sean suddenly jumped up, and then pointed at everyone very exaggeratedly and said angrily: "You see the saint of the church. You dare to look directly at it so impolitely, don't you fear that the God of War will sin against you? !"

"Holy...saint?" The white-robed priest still didn't react.

at this time. Sean had already rushed up, slapped his hand directly.

He used very hard, and still used dark power and ingenuity, and directly flew several teeth of the priest, and he beat the priest several times. It is better to be held by Denny so that he did not fall down. land. Xiao En's slap slapped the fifth-order white-robed priest directly. Since he became a priest of the God of War Church, no one has dared to be so rude to him, so he didn't react for a while.

The ten war-god knights next to him, seeing that Sean actually dared to beat the priest, immediately wanted to do it against Sean.

"You dare to touch me and try to see if the great my lord Marz will drain your divine power and make you useless!" Sean held his head up without fear, and didn't care about these war-god knights. The weapon, on the contrary, looked contemptuous and looked like a villain, "Huh! Why don't you dare to touch me! Don't you want to take me down?"

Seeing that Sean reacted so confidently, these God of War knights did not know what to do for a while.

This is one of the biggest drawbacks of the Church of God of War.

The believers of Marz are all warriors who are not afraid of death, but these guys rarely go out with their brains. They are basically the type with long muscles and no brains. So when Sean was so intimidated, these people seemed at a loss.

But at this time, the white-robed priest reacted. His face flushed red, and he threw away Denny's holding his hand, and then pointed to Sean's nose and cursed: "You dare to hit me." Do you know who I am! You are provoking the entire Church of God of War, you..."

Xiao En first slapped the white-robed priest's hand and sneered: "You are disrespectful to the saint, and you dare to be disrespectful to me, a miracle witness, so what if I hit you? Don't say it's you, even if Now that the pope of the Ares Church is here, he dare not do anything to me!... Can you represent the entire Ares Church? Absurd! This is the church of our Lord Marz, not yours alone, you Is...want to take the place of our lord Marz in vain?"

Hearing Sean's words, all the warriors instantly distanced themselves from the white-robed priest.

joke!

If this white-robed priest really had this idea, and these war-god knights stood so close to him, they would be unlucky together.

Looking at the reactions of the warlords, Sean curled his lips in disdain: a typical head stuffed with grass.

In the whole process, only Tenny's face was puzzled.

Because he had a walking experience with Sean, he knew very well that Sean is a typical atheist, and it is not an exaggeration to even say that he is a blasphemous. But at this moment, he was acting even more fanatic than the most devout fanatic of the God of War Church, and it seemed as if he had been directly brainwashed by the God of War. Denny was not stupid, his eyes quickly fell on Emily, he knew that the problem must lie in the red.

Feeling Denny's gaze, Emily shook her head slightly, Denny immediately stopped saying anything, but quickly moved away from the white-robed priest.

Only Emily knew the whole process.

Sean is not a * blazer, but a * thief who is more terrible than the * blazer!

At this moment, if she still doesn't know what the crystal that Sean stuffed into her chest is. Then she would not be Emily de Romans.

That actually belongs to the divine power of the * of war Marz!

At this time, the temperature of the crystal that seals the divine power of Marz, the * of war, has gradually decreased, but the decrease in temperature also made Emily more combative and awe-inspiring. Suddenly she had an invincible idea and confidence. She even believed that as long as she took action, she could reverse the outcome of all battles! She was suddenly eager to make her name reverberate on the battlefield!

This is not unreasonable arrogance. It is a kind of self-confidence from the depths of the soul.

If it weren't for Sean to emphasize that she could not be promoted. At this moment, she would not be struggling to suppress the huge aura in her body, but would let it radiate out wantonly, allowing her to directly break through the golden realm.

"You...you are spitting blood!" The voice of the white-robed priest came from Emily's ears.

She raised her head and glanced, not knowing what happened just now, but what is certain is that this hapless white priest slapped Xiao En again.

"God blazer, I have seen your true face!" Xiao En's face sank. The whole person's momentum also became awe-inspiring and strong. Emily's heart was startled. Sean just hurriedly felt the breath of the God of War, Marz. At this time, he was able to simulate the awe-inspiring fighting spirit of those fanatics of the Church of God of War, "You must be the Saint Joel's Empire. Here comes the spy!... My Lord Saint, please give him the punishment of my lord!"

"You, you nonsense!" The white-robed priest yelled, "You...you are all liars, she can't be a saint. She..."

Shaun's face looked strangely ferocious, killing intent and war intent intertwined. Exuding a terrible power, it was as if Sean had been blessed with the "God of War" divine art at this moment. He turned around and walked towards Emily, his voice so low that he felt heart palpitations: "He insulted the saint, insulted our lord Marz, please give the saint to the punishment!"

Emily looked at Xiao En's gaze, with a hint of surprise, she didn't know how to punish her.

Just then, Sean's mouth moved.

Emily immediately understood the shape of Sean's mouth, and her voice followed: "The brilliance of my lord Marz is shining, and the fighting spirit is dreadful but inviolable. My lord said that the betrayers will eventually face the punishment of divine fire. There will be no relief forever."

Silence.

The whole hall fell into silence, without any movement.

After more than ten seconds, the white-robed priest finally let out a frantic laugh: "Haha! Saint! What a * saint, you liars! You dare to pretend to be a saint of the God of War Church, you are dead! Go!... Take them down for me!"

Ten war knights, after looking at each other, the murderous aura on their bodies finally radiated. They raised their weapons, and then began to approach Sean and Emily. At this time, Denny also suddenly took out the sword-blade gun and prepared to resist. The three God of War knights seemed to have expected this scene to be normal, and turned around to surround it.

Shaun's mouth moved again.

Emily was really a little flustered this time, but she continued to read: "My lord said, anyone who raises a gun at me is the enemy of my lord, and those who go with the treachery are all defiled. Divine power is bound to be. Leaving you."

A thunder sounded.

The ten God of War knights suddenly groaned in pain. They could feel that the divine power was really leaving them at this time. This feeling of helplessness and panic made them scream, and immediately began to beg for mercy. . And the white-robed priest hadn't reacted to anything. He just watched these war-god knights fall a little sluggishly, but the next moment, he made a terrible scream, and the red flame seemed to be out of control. In general, it erupted from its body and ignited it completely.

Shaun's mouth rose slightly.

Emily's heart seemed to fall into the abyss.

Chapter 337: .Holy Woman Manufacturing Plan [Seventh more]

"Don't be afraid, the church of God of War will soon know what's going on, and another priest in white robe will be sent over soon." Sitting in the room arranged by the Church of God of War for the saint Emily, Xiao Ehn's legs were placed on the table, humming one to the other.

Emily is warm all over, but her heart is cold.

She wanted to tell Sean that she was not afraid of the God of War church, but you.

But when this word came to her lips, she couldn't say it anymore.

She really didn't understand, who on earth was Sean and why he knew how to punish God. This is completely impossible.

Because as far as Emily knows, the thief only steals the power of God, but it does not mean that they can use the power of God. The goal of most * stealers is to make themselves gods, so they steal the power that belongs to gods and use them to ignite their own sacred fire. This process is very difficult, because once God finds out, then all the churches in the entire continent will be sent out to annihilate.

A * stealer on the Continent of Miracles has a hatred value for the major churches, not much lower than that of demons and demons, and even higher than that of blood.

Compared with the thief, the blasphemer is a harmless creature, and the atheist is even more cute as a white rabbit.

If it is said that the power of Marz's divine punishment was displayed by Sean, Emily was horrified. But in fact, she could clearly feel that the divine punishment came through her transmission, and had nothing to do with Sean. This made her feel extremely frightened, because she didn't even know why. Able to lay down divine punishment.

"Do you think it is cruel for me to kill the white priest?" Xiao En hummed again, his face with unprecedented joy, he now understands what is going on in the fifth stage of the True Eye's [Divine Observation] Yes, this is simply a GM cheat code background. By observing him, he can learn the correct way to use the divine.

And Emily is his first guinea pig.

Sean glanced at Emily, who was sitting very upright, but her body was still trembling slightly. He didn't try to break the relationship, but Shaun was still very satisfied with this experiment. At least. His current investment can be regarded as very successful. As long as this plan continues, Emily's soul belongs to him, so the crystal that preserves Marz's divine power is on Emily, and Sean doesn't care at all.

Since he can give it to Emily, he can naturally get it back.

"If he doesn't die, it will be difficult for you and me to live." Seeing Emily didn't mean to reply, Sean began to explain. "He knows that I and you are going to sign the soul contract through that evening prayer side hall. From the moment you sign the contract. You have betrayed the God of War, so even if your Principality Parade is over, you will No blessings can be obtained from the God of War ceremony..."

Emily's face became a little ugly.

"Of course, this is a normal situation, but it's okay to hide it from Marz. I have several ways to profit from the God of War ceremony, but it's impossible to get too high a blessing." Sean Not caring about Emily's look at all, he glanced at Emily's chest. But Emily knew that Sean was not looking at his full twin peaks. It's the divine crystal sandwiched by the twin peaks, "but it's pretty good now. You can use the most advanced God of War ceremony as a saint, and the blessings you can get will be great."

Emily saw Sean withdraw her gaze, she couldn't help but feel a little angry, but she didn't understand why Sean didn't look at herself at all.

To be honest, Emily's beauty can indeed be regarded as outstanding.

Asuna looks mediocre and can have an unforgettable charm. Emily has an awe-inspiring temperament that is not inferior to Asuna, and her appearance is even more charming, and her figure is also very amazing. No matter where she goes, Emily has always been the focus of the crowd. But since she met with Sean, Sean didn't take Emily at all, which made Emily more or less unconvinced.

It's just how Emily would know that Sean is really indifferent, because he really looks at beauty.

Especially there is another Noro who is many times more beautiful than a beauty.

Nolo, male.

Each time Sean thinks about this, he has an urge to cut something with scissors—or the Black King.

I don't know if the black king who became a divine weapon regrets his birth when he thinks of what he has done before?

"Oh, sorry, I'm a bit distracted." Sean could feel Emily's dissatisfaction, but he was too lazy to break it. "Anyway, now, you are a saint, a true saint, as long as that piece of divinity The crystal is still on your body, you can use the divine punishment. All the people who believe in Marz in the Northern Duchy Federation will no longer be a threat to you.... Well, in a sense, you have already overridden you. Above the entire Northern Duchy Federation."

Speaking of this, Sean deliberately added another sentence: "In a sense."

Emily did not dare to lose her temper to Sean even if she was dissatisfied. The chill in her body has not dissipated until now: "Then, I still don't understand..."

"I don't understand why the white-robed priest was killed, right?" Sean seemed to be in a good mood, and he interrupted Emily again, "Where did I just say? Oh, yes...betrayal , Unable to obtain the blessing of the God of War.... He knows our business, and naturally knows that you are not a saint, so if he does not die, I will announce the identity of your saint, then he has our handle, which is very for us Not good... I don't like being threatened and controlled."

You like to control others!

Emily whispered inwardly.

"So, since I want you to be a saint, all insiders must be dealt with." Sean shrugged, and finally put his legs off the table, "It's not that I am cruel, or I am cruel. And This is the rule of survival in this world. I only saw spite and greed in the eyes of the white-robed priest... Heh, a ridiculous clown, so I just cleaned up the parasites for Marz."

Listening to Sean taking a mouthful of Marz, there is no respect for God at all. Moreover, the behavior he did was completely the behavior of a  stealer, and Emily felt a little uncomfortable. It was just the long-term noble education that made her understand that there was nothing wrong with what Sean said. If he were replaced by his own family elders, the result would not be any better.

Do not. should say. It's impossible to handle it better than Sean.

The ten war knights who had personally taught Emily, the saint, also transferred their inner belief objects to Emily under the temptation of Sean's words and Emily's symbolic forgiveness. This is where Emily is afraid of Sean, because he is like a demon, bewitching everyone around him—not just faith. There are behaviors, meanings, and even life. This is a realm that only God can do.

Emily wants to know, is Sean a god?

You must make the people of your mercenary group more dependent on you as soon as possible. It is best to be able to believe in you. The divine crystal on your chest will intercept the power of faith, so that the power of faith can be transformed into Your strength.

"I am not a god, what do I need the power of faith for?" Emily really didn't understand.

"Haha, there are many benefits." Xiao En laughed strangely, "Have these powers of faith. You can not only use them to temper yourself, and quickly improve your strength. You can also bestow the power of faith to your followers." The guardian next to you is called Denny, right? You can try to strip out some of the power of faith that is now condensed in the divine crystal, and then give it to him as a gift from the gods, which can make him directly become A strong man in the golden realm."

Hearing Sean's words, Emily's eyes opened wide, with a face of disbelief: "This...isn't this... God's power?"

"As long as you own that divine crystal, you are equivalent to possessing part of the power of a god." Sean shrugged and said calmly, "However, I don't recommend that you do it often, alone. At the critical point of breakthrough, the accumulation is almost complete. You can only use this method to improve their strength when you only have the last little help. Otherwise, even if you have a group of sanctuary powerhouses, it is meaningless, because they are basically I didn't realize the gaps and secrets of those realms."

Emily was stunned, obviously not recovering from the shock.

But Sean didn't care too much. He continued: "But you'd better pay attention. Before your strength is strong enough, don't provoke the Pope of the Church of God of War. Be low-key and obedient. Wait until you are strong enough. After becoming strong, let's talk about what you want to do.... Train a few powerful people as soon as possible. These people must be loyal enough and willing to sacrifice their lives for you."

"What do you want me to do?" Emily has realized that what Shaun needs her to do may not be easy.

"I only need you to become a saint now and work hard to bring the entire God of War church under control." Xiao En said lightly, "As for the future, let's talk about it later. You know it now, and it's no good for you.... ...But you have to be careful, don't let people in other churches know that you can give others the power of faith, or even change their ability to bless the God of War, otherwise...you will die."

"You are not a thief..."

"I never said that I was a  stealer." Xiao En smiled slightly, "but from this moment on, you are a  stealer.... You only need to remember one thing, I can train you, I can also let you fall at any time.... I don't need you to do anything for me, but once I ask you to do something for me, just don't forget how you promised me."

Emily swallowed, then bowed her head obediently.

Looking at Emily's surrender, Sean was very satisfied with his actions this time. It seems that this saint's manufacturing plan might really be able to be promoted?

Chapter 338: .trouble

At the very beginning, Sean didn't actually think about the saint's manufacturing plan. He just wanted to find a place to heal his injuries and restore his body. Emily seeks his help, like a small deer running into a trap by herself, and there is no second result other than being at the mercy of Sean. Of course, Sean did have a way to activate and awaken Emily's bloodline before he would agree to Emily's condition.

Otherwise, how could Sean's character go with Emily.

This is completely different from his low-key rehabilitation policy.

It was just that he did not expect that he would gain a trace of divine power in the church of the God of War church. This was a totally unexpected joy.

Of course, this unexpected joy is also thanks to Sean getting some weird things from the Mermaid Capital. If there was no Conferred God Crystal that could contain the power of the divine nature, and there was no deceitful muddy sand that could conceal the power of the divine nature, Sean would certainly not have such courage.

Marz knew that his divinity had been stolen, even if it was such a tiny bit, Sean would not want to stay in the Northern Duchy.

But now, Emily is in the same boat as Sean, so no matter what Emily thinks, she has to help Sean hide it. If someone finds out that there is a Marz divine crystal on her body that is covered by the deceptive mud, then it is not Sean who died first, but her, and then the whole family behind her, and all of them with Amy. The person Li is implicated is Sean in the end.

In a way, Emily is now much more nervous than Sean.

It's just that, although the start looks very smooth at the moment, there are actually many things to deal with, otherwise a bad one will be self-defeating.

The selection of saint son and saint woman is actually not as complicated as outsiders imagine.

On the Continent of Miracles, most of it is because there is more or less blood flowing in the body. Then he awakened by some chance coincidence, which attracted the attention of God. Usually, under such a result, the gods will soon issue oracles, and then the church will immediately send guards to greet them. Naturally, it is the responsibility of the safety of these saints and saints along the way. After all, often when they awaken, their strength is not high.

Emily. At this time, there was only high-ranking silver, not even the golden realm, but it was quite in line with the identity of the saint who was left out and then accidentally awakened the blood of the gods.

After Emily performed a divine punishment on the white-robed priest last night, Marz will definitely feel that, so he will inevitably drop the oracle and announce the birth of a new saint. This is also the real reason why Sean dared to be confident, because in the Void Duchy there are two saints, Xuefanio and Hitley. He was really familiar with the church's approach.

only. Emily's actual identity does not stand up to scrutiny.

Because her family was separated from Rolando in the Emilia Empire, her blood must be dragons, snakes and mysterious turtles. Even if there is a mutation in the middle, it must be the bloodline related to the iron turtle. Unless someone in the Rolando family marries another person whose bloodline level is not lower than that of the holy beast, then it is possible to give birth to a new bloodline. But no matter what kind of bloodline, it will definitely not be God's blood.

With the current strength of the Church of God of War, even if it cannot be traced that the Romirans family was separated from the Rolando family. But at least it can be investigated that this is an outsider family. In this way, even if Emily's grandfather married someone from the Northern Principality Federation and gave birth to offspring, he wanted to give birth to a saint-level daughter. Probably not Emily's generation will be born.

In addition to this problem, Sean also has another problem that must be dealt with.

He must find a way to suppress Emily's blood.

Since she is a saint, her blood must be the blood of the God of War, not other blood. So if people discover that Emily's blood is a dragon, a snake, a mysterious tortoise, then Emily will definitely be treated as a deceiver-of course, whether it is a deceiver or a thief, the end will be the same. Just after boarding the thief ship of Sean, Emily is likely to be punished as a deceiver and discover that she is actually not a deceiver but a thief. It is not easy for Mi Li to die.

Fortunately, the blood of the Dragon Snake Black Turtle improves the attributes of strength and endurance, which is somewhat close to the blood of the God of War, so as long as the breath can be concealed, there is no big problem. The only thing you need to pay attention to is the old fox of the Pope. Now that many policies of the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy are quickly moved closer to the Saint-Joles Empire under the strong push of the Pope, this old fox will definitely find ways to fight. Emily wooed herself.

The role of the saint son and saint woman is very clear to all church personnel.

Of course, this kind of clarity means that the strength of this saint child or saint woman can be improved extremely safely and securely. If it is only a mediocre ability, then it is naturally impossible to be taken seriously. Is it possible that the Church of God of War can only have two sons? Obviously impossible. However, the entire Northern Principality Federation and even the entire Northern Continent would only remember the two most famous sons of the God of War Church.

Emily, with the blessing of divine power, it is impossible for her to keep a low profile.

"You'd better send someone you can trust, immediately go back to your family, and discuss with your family members about your life experience." Sean thought for a while, still felt that Emily was too young. I'm afraid I can't handle it well, and the two deputy heads next to her are not that old. Maybe they have spent a lot of time outside, but I'm afraid they can't do anything about this kind of big conspiracy.

This is the first time for Sean to arrange chess pieces by himself. He doesn't want to waste it like that. What's more, he hasn't got any income so far, but he invested a divine crystal first. Sean would definitely vomit blood in depression.

After Emily saw Sean's tricks like a thief, she was a little afraid of Sean. Although she was not obedient to Sean's words at this time, as long as she was afraid of Sean, then Sean If that happens, she can't not think about it. Moreover, Sean's performance has always been very calm, so when Emily saw Sean's expression become solemn, she immediately realized the seriousness of the matter.

Under Sean's explanation and popular science, Emily has a clear understanding of some church practices.

At this time, she didn't have any staff or staff, so she could only follow Sean's arrangement, and quickly recorded the life experience that Sean had fabricated for her, and then handed this document to Denny, who asked Denny to immediately take it. Delivered to his father's hands.

"You can only trust Danny?" Looking at Danny, he didn't say anything, but took a deep look at himself and then left. Sean frowned.

Emily nodded, her expression rather helpless: "Tenny is the guardian knight who has watched me grow up, so I can only trust him.... Lord Shaun, you also know that a family needs to be nurtured. How difficult is it to be a dead man who is willing to sacrifice and dedication. Even if my family is from the Rolando family, it is impossible to train so many dead men. I can have a guardian knight like Tenny's, which is already very good. Now, most of my brothers and sisters don't have as much luck as me."

"So you must train a few more trustworthy people as soon as possible." Sean frowned. "If all goes well, after going to the Marz Cathedral this time, you will never be able to return to your own family again.According to the rules, you can bring all these people of the Rose Mercenary Group, and only these people will be the most loyal to you. In the future, if you want to expand the scale of the mercenary group or recruit entourage guards, that's it. It's really mixed."

"You mean, the Pope?" Emily's learning ability is very fast, and Sean has only trained it slightly, and she has basically been able to draw inferences by analogy.

"He will definitely send one or two people to watch you on the surface, don't think about it." Xiao En said lightly, "but the next question is how many checks and balances he will prepare for you in secret... ...Don't doubt Tenny's loyalty. An elm head like him will certainly not have other ideas, and considering that your next cronies can only be cultivated from the existing staff of the mercenary group, I think our current The top priority is to find out the inner ghost."

"This...isn't it easy?" Emily frowned, which made her look cute.

"It's not easy to say that it's easy, but it's not that hard to say that is difficult." Xiao En said lightly, "Now your mercenary group knows that you are already a saint of the God of War Church, and soon The Pope will also send the Knights of the God of War to greet you, so if your enemies want to solve you, they will definitely take advantage of the present.... At least, they must know your true identity, so they will also know what your bloodline is. This is a hole card they can use."

Emily's pupils shrank suddenly, and she was already aware of a more serious problem.

Her identity as a saint is fake, and she knows it very well, and her family knows it very well, so she has the practice of forging her own life experience. Emily had never considered her enemy before. At this time, when Sean reminded her, she remembered that according to Sean, her enemy was probably not from the Northern Duchy Federation, but from Ai. People from the Melian Empire, even members of the Rolando family itself.

In this way, they will definitely know the true identity of Emily.

If they use this as a hole card to threaten their father and grandfather, and even the whole family, then the consequences...

Unthinkable!

Emily looked at Sean with horror, and begged: "Sir Sean..."

Just then, a knock on the door suddenly sounded, interrupting Emily's voice.

Chapter 339: .traitor

A knock on the door interrupted the conversation between Sean and Emily.

Emily wiped her cheek lightly, and the begging color on her face quickly returned to normal.

She can be weak in front of Sean, but she cannot be weak in front of other people.

"Come in." Sean answered directly for Emily.

The door was quickly opened.

is a Ares Knight from the Ares Church.

Sean remembered this person, who seemed to be the captain of the ten war knights in this church.

According to the division of the forces of the God of War Church, the Knights of the God of War consist of a large team for every 100 people, and a small team for every 10 people, each with a leader and a deputy captain. A flag with a population of more than 1,000 is set up with one commander and two deputy commanders, each of which constitutes a battalion, with one commander and one deputy commander, and ten battalions as regiments, with one commander and deputy commander each. This is also the largest scale of the armed organization directly under the Church of the God of War. It is called the Knights of the God of War. It is currently one of the five eighth-level knights in the entire Marvel Continent second only to the Knights of the White Wings.

In terms of military power alone, the Knights have always been about half a level stronger than the general Legion, and the God of War Legion is more than half a level higher than the regular set level of the Marvel Continent because of the divine arts that are biased towards war duties. Basically, the God of War. The Knight Order is the equivalent of a ninth-level legion. However, this ninth level is to show off when facing other knights and legions. In front of the real ninth level knights: Pure White Wings, it is still not enough to show off.

can be called the pure white wings of the only ninth-level legion in the whole continent, but it is not in vain.

"My Lord Saint, Lord Sean." The God of War knight saluted both Sean and Emily.

The ten war knights became honest after being taught by Emily.

In fact, if Emily did not leave her hands, the power of these ten people would be completely drained. By then, even if they were still in the ranks of the Knights of the God of War, they would not be able to perform any magic because of the loss of their power. The combat effectiveness will inevitably be reduced by half abruptly. However, because Emily returned the divine power to them later, and did not incorporate it into the divine power, the strength of these war-god knights was not compromised.

Of course, with this method, Emily can be regarded as half-conquering these ten God of War knights.

But I want to really make these ten God of War knights work for Emily. So the current situation is not enough. At the very least, they have to taste some sweetness for them before they can truly convince Emily.

Emily now has the title of a saint, and she can do many things very conveniently. It is also a very simple thing to regain these fanatics. The only thing she needs to do is to show the miracle a little bit-of course it is impossible to perform it in front of the Pope and the other saints and sons, otherwise Emily will surely usher in a lot of trouble. With her current strength, a targeted assassination conspiracy is enough to make her disappear completely.

"I told you about your business before. How did it go?" Xiao En asked. The attitude is casual and indifferent.

The war-god knight secretly glanced at Emily and saw that Emily did not have any displeased attitude, he said, "According to your orders from Lord Sean, all the members of the Rose Mercenary Group have been invited here. , I have also arranged a place for them to stay.... This is the deposit returned by the hotel. Please check and accept it, my lord."

The Church of God of War has a very high status in the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, just like the Church of the Morning Light in the Empire of St. Joels.

So people who heard the church of God of War came to invite in person. The hotel owner also refunded the deposit immediately, not daring to be greedy for ink.

"Good job." Sean nodded. Then he gestured to Emily.

Emily was taken aback first, and then when she saw Sean's mouth move slightly, she immediately reacted: "My lord said that those who act heartily for my lord must be rewarded."

Soon, the tip of Emily's right index finger condensed a white light spot about the size of a fingernail.

There is a strong and pure God of War power exuding from the light spot.

The war-god knight who had been bowing his head finally raised his head and looked at Emily in disbelief. And as Emily stretched out her hand a little, the light group shot into the center of the warrior knight's forehead, and a crimson aura burst out of him. The power aura belonging to the strong was instantly in the knight's. The body was scouring, which made him feel comfortable wanting to make a groan.

However, the power generated by this light ball comes and goes fast.

It was only two or three seconds, and the sense of abundance of power completely disappeared.

However, the eyes of the God of War knight showed joy and excitement.

In the short two or three seconds just now, he felt that his vindictive energy had become more condensed, and his vindictive energy had also become thicker, as if he had inexhaustible strength all over his body. But more, it was the world's original power that he felt in just a few seconds-possessing this understanding of power, which made him enough to never go wrong in any direction when his strength was improved. Therefore, according to his all-time promotion situation, at most three to five years is enough time for him to become an upper-level golden powerhouse.

And now, he probably only needs a few months to become a low-level golden powerhouse, and after a year, he will be able to completely consolidate his own strength.

It's a pity that this warrior knight is already a bit older

Even though he disguised it well, Sean still thought that this guy might have reached forty years old. Coupled with his current strength at this age, it is almost impossible to reach the realm of the sanctuary at this time. Even if it can be achieved by luck, it is only a lower sanctuary, unable to become a strong person above the middle sanctuary. And this was the effect that Emily had consumed about a quarter of the soul's original power of the previous white-robed priest to shape the war-god knight.

This price is actually a loss.

It's just that he can't bear to let his children get caught up with the wolf, and Sean must ask Emily to give the temple knight some sweetness, and let him taste the benefits that he can't refuse, before he can face Emily and Shaw with another constant mentality. Well, only in this way can he be a qualified pawn. Of course, more importantly, he will go to other people to promote all the miracles about Emily, which can allow more people to take refuge in Emily.

"So, is there anything else?" Sean saw that the God of War knight still had a look of astonishment on his face, but his look at Emily had turned into a frenzy. Sean said again. "What about the things that I want you to pay attention to?"

At this time, Emily could finally hear that Sean had just arranged a task for the God of War knights of these churches when he was not paying attention!

"Yes, it is exactly what you said. After we arrived at the hotel and heard about our intentions, there was still someone who insisted on staying. She said she had something to tidy up, and she would move in tomorrow after finishing tidying up. come over."

"She?" Sean raised his eyebrows.

"Yes, she." The God of War Knight didn't know why Sean had a surprised expression suddenly, but he still asked: "She has a short light gray hair that is freshly combed and clean. And... wears a set. Light black leather armor. There is a long braid on the right waist, and a long sword is tied to the left waist."

If the knight only said light gray hair, then Sean and Emily would not really have any impression of the Rose Mercenary Group—at least there are almost four or five women in the Mercenary Group. The hair is short gray. But what he said was that this woman was wearing this light leather armor, so there was only one person in the entire Rose Mercenary group except Emily who would wear such a costume.

"Mary...it...it's impossible." Emily looked incredulous. At this moment, she didn't even know that Sean was using these Ares knights to investigate the internal traitors in her team, but for this result, Amy Li couldn't accept it at all, "Sister Mary...she can't betray me. She...she..."

"Let's take a look and we'll know, why bother to guess so hard." Xiao En curled his lips.

The war knight watched Emily carefully. Then he peeked at Sean cautiously.

He didn't quite understand why Sean was so strong, as if he was a holy son. However, the Church of the God of War does not prohibit the saint and son from contacting other people privately. Unlike the Church of the Morning Light, the Son and the saint must dedicate their body and mind to the Lord of the Morning Light. Therefore, this Knight of the God of War does not want to risk offending Xiao. Well, if the relationship between Sean and Emily is really a lover, then I am afraid that if I offend Sean, the result will be terrible.

"Take us to the hotel." Sean waved his hand, "By the way, take your men with you."

"Yes." The war-god knight nodded, then stepped back and left.

But just as he walked out of the room, Sean suddenly spoke: "Your lord, I hope you can remember one thing."

"My lord, please say it." The war-god knight said.

"Master Emily can give you power, and naturally you can take back those powers." Sean smiled, and then said softly, "But as long as you don't offend Master Emily, I believe Master Emily will definitely not. It's up to you... Master Emily doesn't know much about the Ares Church. She now needs someone who understands the operation of the Ares Church to help her understand the Ares Church faster, so that she can quickly adapt to the saint's. Identity... I wonder if you have anyone you can recommend?"

The heart of the God of War knight shook slightly, but he did not hesitate, but bowed his body lower: "Master Shaun, if you don't dislike my low strength and shallow knowledge, I am happy to help. You, and the Lord Saint, are more quickly integrated into the Church of the God of War....Of course, those of my subordinates, they will also be happy to be able to help the Lord."

"I see." Sean smiled and nodded, "Then your lord..."

"You can call me Shawshank, Lord Shawn." The war knight said humbly.

"Okay, Shawshank." Sean continued, "We ran into some troubles on the way here....So, Lord Emily and I will probably need to stop by to solve these troubles..."

"We will follow Master Emily and fight together!"

"Then let's go, go to the hotel first." After Xiao En said, he winked at Emily, who also got up quickly, but looked a little dumbfounded like a puppet. Seen Shaun shook his head helplessly.

However, Sean also knows that Emily is still underage, even if she has been practicing for nearly four years, but this is also some inherent ethos in the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality. I am afraid she hasn't seen the real sinister heart, so these things are estimated to be too. Can't be anxious, can only adjust slowly.

Soon, the group returned to the hotel where they had stayed.

It's just that when Emily opened Mary's door, the room was empty.

This result made Emily's face suddenly white.

But then, Emily's behavior made Sean nod in admiration.

She closed the door silently without saying a word, her face returned to normal, but her eyes looked very cold. She slowly turned around, looked at the ten war-god knights around, and then randomly clicked one of them, and said, "Go back to the church and gather my mercenaries.... Then, some of you can tell me that Mary is gone. Where?"

"I know." Shawshank said suddenly, "I had a mind before, so she was seen all the way along the way."

Shaun raised his eyebrows and glanced at Shawshank sideways. He suddenly felt that this guy was a talent.

He didn't tell Emily about Mary's departure right away, but waited until Emily found out and asked about it before truthfully telling it. This approach has a completely different meaning from the departure he told Mary directly. At least this can prove that Shawshank's brain is much better than Tenny's. It's a pity that the potential is not as great as Denny's, otherwise it would be able to replace Denny's position.

"Good job." Emily nodded.

After all, she has served as the head of the mercenary regiment for four years. She is just not good at conspiracy, but it does not mean that she has no decision-making power. Once Emily has a decision, her ability to act is enough to amaze anyone, and Sean actually valued Emily's courage, so she chose to help Emily. .

"Master Emily, this is the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy." Shawshank didn't dare to take credit, but said modestly.

Northern Principality Federation, the second holy place like an iron barrel on the Marvel Continent.

Here, the Church of God of War is everything.

Being stared at by the Church of the God of War, then all people who believe in the God of War will be the eyes and ears of the Church of the God of War. In the Northern Principality Federation controlled by the Church of God of War, this is more effective than the surveillance of intelligence personnel.

"Lead the way!"

"Yes!"

The Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy is a very complex political force.

The number of nobles canonized by the entire Principality Alliance is probably the highest in the entire Marvel Continent. Even the five empires with the longest inheritance history cannot compete with this Principality Alliance for the number of nobles. Because most countries, even those principalities, will be controlled and strictly screened on the canonization of nobles, and it is impossible to say that anyone can canonize a noble title.

The more a country with a long history, the more difficult it is to obtain the title of nobility.

But it is different in the Commonwealth of Northern Duchy.

As long as you have money, you can get a noble title. Except for the marquis, which cannot be purchased by money, any other titles can be obtained through donations called "for the honor of the country". In this respect, the princes of the thirty-six principalities do everything they can to collect money. Not only have they fought a price war, but there are even many confusing benefits and concessions-in the game. , Players like to call this a "recharge package".

E.g.

In the Principality of Don Quidditch, you only need to donate 10,000 pan-continental gold coins, and you can get the title of knight. If you donate 50,000 pan-continental gold coins, you can even get a baron to become a baron-of course you don't expect any territory. Ah, castles, towns and the like, but if you are willing to spend a lot of money, then you can own these things.

Donate one hundred thousand pan-continental gold coins. You can choose to become a viscount or a baron with a small territory-the territory is not large, probably enough to build a castle, and there is also a small village for you You have experienced the addiction of nobles: pretending to be forced, collecting taxes and so on.

If you think your territory is small?

no problem! With another 100,000 pan-continental gold coins, you can own three villages, or a small town, you can choose.

If you are afraid of being invaded by other lords?

Still no problem! You only need to spend 50,000 pan-continental gold coins, and the grand duke of the local duchy will send an army to your castle. Provide you with two years of protection-players call it a truce token, which is the most commonly used thing in war web games. Of course, you still have to pay for all food expenses during this army's stationing, but you don't need to pay for other expenses.

If you want to experience the tyrannical dominance unique to nobles. I want to play a war scene. No problem too!

Even if you are a total war idiot, as long as you have money, the Duke of the Principality can still provide you with the best quality service. From conscription, training, and equipment purchases to staff, staff, and generals, everything you can think of is available. Even in the middle of the war, if your war is unfavorable, you can even spend a sum of money to hire other troops to provide you with support.

Of course, if you think the price of Don Quidditch is too expensive.

Then other principalities will definitely welcome you.

The Jazz of the Principality of Rodorne only needs 9,000 Pan-Continent gold coins!

The Principality of Celoa also requires nine thousand pan-continental gold coins. But they gave away a small fortress for free!

This is the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy.

The renminbi warrior holy land described by the players.

So in this place. Loyalty is often very cheap.

It's like there is a saying.

"Loyalty, just because the chips for betrayal are not enough."

Along the way, Emily had a cold face. As the large group left the town and began to carefully explore the forest, Emily's eyes gradually became colder. But Shaun knew that at this moment, Emily was growing rapidly. Her experience tonight alone may be more exciting than her experience in the past four years-of course, strictly speaking. That is, the past four years have been a foreshadowing and accumulation, and then finally broke out tonight.

Emily faded away from immaturity and greenness overnight, and became mature.

But the biggest change is probably her mind.

Anyone, as long as they experience a hard-hearted betrayal, whether they like it or not, they will mature quickly.

It's just that the price is often no longer trusting others easily.

Shaun rubbed his chin, he was quite satisfied with Emily's change, it didn't hurt him anyway.

In fact, Sean will be eager to solve the inner ghost at this moment. In addition to the fact that the Pope must send a strong team to meet Emily, Sean also has an eagerness to control Emily. . The most basic of the soul contract between him and Emily is to awaken Emily's bloodline. If he can't do this, then Emily's soul cannot be controlled by Sean, and Sean can also Lost the most direct means of controlling Emily.

So in any case, Sean decided to keep the Rolando family member.

The only way to awaken Emily's blood is in him.

The size of the team is relatively large, but in terms of command, Emily, the mercenary group leader, performed very well. She did not let the entire mercenary group act together, but scattered them, let them spread out in small groups, and conducted an infiltration investigation of the jungle near the town, leaving only Sean by her side. And the ten war knights.

But even if the entire rose mercenary group are all scattered, each team still maintains a certain distance of support from each other. Basically, as long as the signal is sent for a few minutes, there must be at least three groups of people around. The team can arrive to support. Unless the opponent has a very powerful person to intervene in the battle, it is impossible for the Rose Mercenary Group's overall quality to last for a few minutes of fighting time.

Although Emily did not know the specific situation of the level of the enemy army, listening to Sean's previous description, Emily did not find it difficult.

Entering the jungle, the vigilance of the entire mercenary group is obviously much higher.

The war knights led by Shawshank were obviously also veterans of jungle warfare: they wore heavy full-body armor, armed with a sword-blade gun, and a long sword at their waist, and a square iron shield on their back. But with such a heavy load on the body, they didn't make any violent noises when they walked in the forest road, except for occasional light noises when the armor and weapons collided with each other due to the movement of their bodies. They didn't make any other sounds during the entire operation.

is as quiet as a group of thieves.

The rank of God of War Knight is a relatively special profession. The lowest level of its rank is Tier 3, and then it can be promoted all the way to Tier 6, and in this process, no matter which Tier it is at, it is collectively referred to as the God of War Knight. However, starting from the seventh tier, the God of War knight must decide the future direction of specialization. This also allows them to have different promotion branch routes. However, in general, it can be divided into three types: war holy knights who can perform high-level magic to cooperate with battle; fearless of any challenge and battle environment. A war paladin characterized by powerful physical attack methods; and a combat paladin that combines divine art and physical attack methods.

Because of their professional specialties, the God of War knights have special passive skills with full weapon proficiency and full armor proficiency. Basically, they can use all types of weapons and armors. But in most cases, the Knights of God of War like to wear heavy armor and use long weapons. The former allows them to have amazing defensive capabilities, while the latter allows them to have a larger attack range.

As a unique profession of the Northern Duchy Federation, the Knights of God of War left a very deep impression on the people on the Marvel Continent.

Sean has been silently observing these war knights.

These people are basically at the level of the silver realm. Among them, Shawshank and the deputy commander have the strength of the upper silver. At this stage. The personal fighting style of the God of War knights will basically begin to show up, which is an important measure for judging their future professional professional direction. But what surprised Sean was that these ten people were obviously taking the battle paladin route-that is, focusing on the balance between divine and martial arts.

In the Church of God of War, the number of fighting paladins is not too much-mainly because the representative feature of fighting paladins is balance, which is destined to be difficult for them to have prominent abilities in one aspect. Especially after the Pope of the Church of God of War is a radical person, the Church of God of War clearly admires the path of the war paladin. High-level magic arts are all about looking at the face. But most people don't have that good luck.

is like Denny, because the blessings obtained in the God of War ceremony were only low-level divine arts. So the path he chose was a war paladin.

At this time, Sean probably understood why these ten God of War knights were sent to this town to act as protectors.

Battle Paladin is not taken seriously in the church of God of War.

However, I am afraid that even the Church of God of War did not expect that the personal basic strength of the ten Shawshank will be so solid: they can wear such a heavy armor, and they still bear a shield, a sword and a long weapon, but they can remain like an assassin. High speed and low noise, not everyone can do it.

There was a slight rustling sound.

Emily raised her right hand suddenly, and the whole team stopped immediately.

Soon, several members of the Rose Mercenary Group appeared in front of Emily.

They did not speak, but compared a few gestures. Emily squinted her eyes, and then quickly responded with a few gestures. At the same time, she explained to Sean in a low voice: "The target was found. ."

Sean nodded slightly, without saying anything.

In fact, he understands these gestures.

The Northern Principality Federation has the largest number of mercenary groups in the entire Marvel Continent, and its level of mercenaries can be said to surpass the entire Marvel Continent by at least ten years. In the original game, the various mercenary group gestures learned by the players were all learned from the Northern Principality Federation, and even Kane, who is now known as the Mercenary King of the Marvel Continent, is from the Northern Principality Federation. So how could Sean fail to understand these gestures?

It's just that he doesn't mind Emily's explanation.